Chapter 1 - I Would Not Be Responsible

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Beams of sunlight shone through the mottled shade, tiny dust particles seemed illusory and unreal under the rays of the sun, adding touches of immortality in the vast forest.

Gu Mengmeng stood in a pool of water and stared at the man a step away from her.

He looked down in a condescending manner, like a deity. His black and lush hair casually fell on his back like inky clouds, resulting in a unique appeal.

Underneath the dashing eyebrows lay a pair of petal-shaped eyes, filled with an amorousness that would trap anyone senseless. An aquiline nose and red lips of moderate thickness showing a dazzling smile, although faintly, made Gu Mengmeng lose her mind, completely forgetting her current situation.

With a blank mind, she could only stretch one hand out to touch this elf-like man instinctively.

This was, perhaps, what was said to be blinded by looks.

The man looked at the small hand Gu Mengmeng stretched out to him and frowned faintly, not for anything else, but just a little angry at her lack of vigilance.

If the person that came was not him, would she also be standing in the water, dressing in some strange yet so provocative clothing and stretching out her smooth, white arm unguardedly like what was happening now? Just the thought of the possibility of other beasts looking at her in this state angered him inexplicably.

The anger came bizarrely and he did not even know what happened to him. But before he could react, he had already pulled the wet female out of the pool and into his arms.

She was so tiny that he could wrap around her in one arm. After holding her in his hand, it felt as though she was weightless.

According to legend, this lake belonged to one of the Five Elements, the messengers of the Beast Deity that was born every year would emerge in one of the Five Elements, Metal, Wood, Water, Fire and Earth randomly. It was said that the date of arrival of the new term of messenger was near, could it be her? But she was still so tiny, like a virgin...

Would the Beast Deity send an underage female as a messenger?

While the man was lost in his thoughts, so was Gu Mengmeng in hers.

This man was so unbelievably handsome, a hundred times more handsome than the Prince Charming senior in the swimming club of her school.

Swimming club? Prince Charming senior?!

Thinking of that, Gu Mengmeng regained her composure immediately! Her body shot up and she started to glance around.

Oh my god!

She was clearly in the swimming complex practicing swimming while finding opportunities to run into Prince Charming senior, how did she end up here in just a change of breath?! The towering ancient trees here definitely did not resemble the swimming complex in school!

Realizing the unusualness of the little girl in his arms, the man tightened his grips and forced the girl that was still glancing around to notice him. If her clear and innocent eyes were not looking at him, he would feel very uncomfortable.

Gu Mengmeng turned and stared at the handsome man just inches away. Her hand was on her lap but she hesitated.

This must be a dream, she should be able to wake up once she pinches her thighs.

Once she woke up, this handsome man would definitely be gone, but if she did not, would she drown in the swimming pool?

Gu Mengmeng fell into a tough struggle between beauty and her life.

In the end, beauty won.

Gu Mengmeng grinned widely, took the initiative to put her small hands around the man's neck and rested her head on it, before rubbing a few times to experience the skin texture of the handsome man. She found a comfortable angle and heaved a sigh of relief, said, “Anyway, it is just a dream, it doesn't hurt to be a little more uncouth.”

Man: “...”

Gu Mengmeng raised her head in all seriousness and looked at the man in front of her closely. Like a lascivious landlord, she squinted her eyes and said, “For you, I am taking the risk of getting drowned. So... A kiss would surely be acceptable?”

Man: “...?!”

Gu Mengmeng noticed the man's obvious look of refusal and smacked her lips. Putting her small hands on his cheeks with a snapping sound, she moved closer like a hungry tiger pouncing on its prey and pecked him on the red lips.

Although he could have easily avoided her with his skills, he was unable to react in time and could only watch her tease him. He would have thrown her out and punished her ferociously like his usual bad-tempered self, but just looking at her slightly taunting and witty appearance, he felt an itchiness in his chest, as though it was being scratched by a cat. The feeling was very strange, like something was uncontrollably hitting his ribs aggressively, wanting to break out from his chest. Was this a sign of danger? But damn this feeling of liking it.

Vilely, Gu Mengmeng watched as the tip of his ear turned pink and the devil deep down in her heart felt great satisfaction. Holding back the strong urge to laugh, she patted the man's shoulders and said, "Someone as handsome as you is unlawful itself. So, even if I kissed you, I would not be responsible."

Man: "...!"

Was he being teased by someone before getting ditched now?! What was he supposed to say during situations like this? Never had he encountered scenarios like this before!

Having her little interest satisfied, Gu Mengmeng was delighted. Although the senior from the swimming club could not be considered as a Prince Charming compared to the man in front of her now, she still had to wake up. If she did not wake up now, she might not be able to wake up in the future.

So in all regrets, Gu Mengmeng waved her paws at the man that had just been molested by her and still did not recover from the shock. Silently composing a soundtrack for herself, she acted like a natural prodigal and amorously said, "Meeting me is your greatest misfortune. Forget about me and continue on with your happy life. Bye~"

Upon finishing, Gu Mengmeng pinched her inner thigh real hard.

"Hiss..." It hurts!

Hurts?! Why would it hurt?!

With tears in her eyes, Gu Mengmeng looked at the part on her thigh that had turned purple from the pinching and her brain stopped functioning again...

Chapter 2 - Elvis

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

It actually hurt, meaning that she was not dreaming!

Gu Mengmeng felt like crying without tears. She had the strong urge to roar at the sky and asked if anyone could explain to her what on earth was going on?

She had just experienced the inhumane National College Entrance Examination and successfully went into College S. Her four years of shameless college life had just begun, how did a swim lead her straight to here? W... where is this place?!

Gu Mengmeng's brain went blank and she could not think at all. There was only one baffling thought in her head: Had she travel to the past? Just like some story?

Thinking about that, Gu Mengmeng again noticed the man hugging her that had kept quiet throughout.

According to story plots, the first male to appear was usually the male lead. Well...

A royal highness? An emperor? Head of a cult or a miracle-working doctor?

“May I ask who are you, sir...?” Gu Mengmeng selectively forgot that she had just teased the man moments ago, the prodigal character that she had let herself to be, the forced kiss, the “I would not be responsible”, let us forget all that nothingness together.

The man was filled with curiosity at the little female in front of him. Her mood was ever-changing and her delicate small face always had eye-catching emotions, sometimes taunting, sometimes playful, sometimes charming, sometimes as fearful as a deer.

“Elvis.” Elvis blurted out his name.

“Greetings Mr. El, I am Gu Mengmeng,” Gu Mengmeng stiffly nodded her head as a form of salute, while she quickly searched for anyone with such a surname in her head. To her disappointment, however, she could only recall Erkang from My Fair Princess, although she vaguely remembered Erkang’s surname being Fu.

“Gu... Mengmeng.” Elvis playfully repeated Gu Mengmeng’s name and felt an uneasiness in his heart, as though telling him that this strange name would be of great significance to him.

“Mr. El, may I ask what dynasty is it now? Is this the Qing Dynasty?” Although Gu Mengmeng knew that the question seemed really weird, just like someone suddenly holding your hand on the streets and asks you if this is the People’s Republic of China. You surely would feel that he was crazy!

If possible, Gu Mengmeng would also want to find opportunities to probe a maidservant around her, but the current situation... Ha! Appearing in a polka-dotted bikini was strange enough even without asking what dynasty it was. A dead mouse feels no cold, what could possibly be worse than being viewed as a maniac?

“I am Elvis, not Mr. El.” Elvis corrected her coldly. He did not like her calling his name wrongly.

Gu Mengmeng watched as Elvis looked at her directly. Why on earth did she see anticipation in his look?

For some reason, Gu Mengmeng followed Elvis’s will and called, “Elvis.”

After seeing Elvis nodding with satisfaction, Gu Mengmeng laughed lightheartedly. Little did she know her smile had blinded Elvis’s eyes and also occupied his heart.

Gu Mengmeng had only a piece of bikini covering the key areas on her. Elvis had already taken a closer look at her when he pulled her into his arms, she had no signs of mating nor smells of other males. This had confirmed his guess. Gu Mengmeng was a virgin.

This piece of knowledge had made Elvis delighted, as it meant that if he brings Gu Mengmeng back to the tribe, he would be her first partner. The thought of this quirky little creature one day becoming his partner made Elvis grin slightly, showing an evil but attractive smile.

He then untied the hide on his waist and wrapped it around Gu Mengmeng. He did not mind being naked himself, since everyone regardless of gender behaved like this in this world, but he would mind if someone else saw Gu Mengmeng. Just the thought of someone seeing the beautiful Gu Mengmeng made him feel suffocated, even wanting to dig out all the beasts' eyes.

Being wrapped tightly, Gu Mengmeng lied in Elvis's arms, with only her clear big eyes showing. The male hormones on the hide made Gu Mengmeng's heart pound, and she even forgot what she was asking.

Which dynasty? Why does it matter?!

Having handsome men is key!

Elvis was satisfied at Gu Mengmeng's coveted look, with her clear eyes showing only his reflection. This made Elvis contented wholeheartedly. He had started to understand why those males became like idiots after mating, even if their partner asked them to die immediately, they would split open their chests without hesitation and cut their hearts out to offer to the females.

Comparing to the smile of the little girl, his life meant nothing.

Chapter 3 - The Saint Nazaire Tribe

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Elvis appeared at the Saint Nazaire Tribe hugging Gu Mengmeng, it caused quite a commotion.

This was because Elvis had an eccentric hobby, he had a strong hatred towards the touch of females. The tribe's most beautiful female, Nina, had frequently expressed favor towards him, but he had avoided her like the plague. This had resulted in him being single until now, while it also spread rumors of him liking males.

Today, he had actually showed up in the tribe hugging a female and it would be a miracle to attract no attention.

The female in Elvis' arms looked as tiny as a cub, with her whole body covered by a hide that showed only her big eyes as she resembled a deer lost in the woods. She had an aura of innocence and purity, one so clear that it made everyone feel cruel when they failed to smile at her.

When they looked closer, was that beast hide not Elvis' personal hide skirt?

Hiss...

What to do? The more Elvis tried to cover it up, the more curious everyone was.

"Elvis, where did this little female come from?" Someone asked, which led to a wave of echoes.

Elvis frowned and felt displeased, but right now the crowd was too overwhelming. Although it would be easy to break through the crowd, the people were nonetheless his fellow tribesmen who held no ill intentions. If he were to forcibly break through, deaths and injuries would be inevitable.

As he looked at those familiar faces, Elvis felt himself unable to do it and he could only stop and answer with a black face, “I picked her up.”

“Picked up?” The crowd burst into cheers. “Our Saint Nazaire has yet another precious female?! Great! That’s great!”

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and she was perplexed.

Female...

What a weird greeting?

Before Gu Mengmeng could criticize further, she was taken aback by a face that appeared right in front of her. Even before she could see who the person was, they had already bent forward and sniffed intensely. He then cheered delightfully and said, “The little female has no smell of other males on her, she is still an unmated female!”

“No mates, this little female has no mates!”

Gu Mengmeng could not bear it any longer. She stretched out her small, white hands and with all her strength slapped the man that had been sniffing at her.

Although Gu Mengmeng could not approve of their use of the term “female”, it was also the first time she heard the word “mating”. She felt a sense of shame, as if someone had made a broadcast that “Gu Mengmeng was a virgin” with a loudspeaker in the school’s radio room.

With her small face still flushed, Gu Mengmeng stretched out her tiny head from the hide and stared furiously at the man that had been slapped. “Didn’t your mother teach you that you would be hit if you molest a girl?!”

Silence...

Ever since Gu Mengmeng stretched out her head, the air around her had visibly condensed and froze. Everyone turned and looked at Gu Mengmeng with expressionless faces.

Only then, did Gu Mengmeng feel the danger.

She was surrounded by strong, well-built men who had heights of at least 1.9 to 2.2 meters. Being only 1.7 meters, Gu Mengmeng felt like a child as she was hugged by Elvis with only one hand.

Gu Mengmeng could barely look in the eyes of the surrounding strong men even while being hugged by Elvis. At that moment, she felt a little regret. During times of huge discrepancies in power between her and the enemy, it would be unwise to infuriate them, especially when this was not on the metro where there would be a helpful passerby nor were there aunties from the neighborhood committee calling 911 for her.

Well... Would it be too late if she apologized now?

Just as Coward Gu was contemplating how to apologize without being beaten to death, the man that had just been hit, suddenly grinned widely. He gently touched the side of his face that had been slapped and he said, completely mesmerized by her, "Little female just touched me... She likes me..."

What?!

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded.

Chapter 4 - Her Partner Would Be Personally Chosen By Me

“Little female little female, I am Collin, I am strong and able to protect you, choose me as your partner.”

“Little female little female, I am Barete, I have sharp fangs and claws, I can catch a good deal of prey for you. You will never be hungry again if you be my partner.”

Elvis's mouth twitched. If everyone had not been obsessed with Gu Mengmeng's beauty till they lost their minds, they would have realized that he was about to lose his temper. It was an obvious sign of danger.

However, it turned out that males were sex-driven creatures regardless of which world they were in.

Although Gu Mengmeng had always dreamed about being a Helen of Troy surrounded by handsome men, when it actually did happen, she was still shocked. Shivering, she instinctively leaned more into Elvis's arms. With her hands around his neck, Gu Mengmeng hid her face into Elvis's neck and decided to be an ostrich.

Elvis was just about to hit the fellow tribesmen, his hand was already halfway in the air but he stopped on the spot. The soft and gentle breath he felt on his neck had made him swoon. Gu Mengmeng's trust and reliance on Elvis was clearly indicated by her arms wrapping tightly around him, while the unique, elegant scent of a female between his breaths distracted him.

Undeniably, he liked the feeling of being dependent by her,

So much so that the surrounding commotion seemed almost non-existent. His ears could only hear her soft breaths.

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng in one hand and turned the other hand that was about to be used to beat up others to pull up Gu Mengmeng's hide clothing, wrapping her up again. Delighted by Gu Mengmeng's reliance, Elvis was in a very good mood, being even gentler than usual when treating the fellow tribesmen, as though the person that blew up moments before was someone else.

"She is still underage and can't find a partner for now," Elvis said in a deep voice monotonously, yet asserting an unquestionable dominance. "Lea and I will be choosing her partner after she mature into adulthood."

Elvis did not reveal the possibility of Gu Mengmeng being a messenger for the Beast Deity, one reason being he was unsure of this himself, and the other being that the current Saint Nazaire was unable to protect a messenger that would drive the whole Beast World crazy for her. This was what Lea had discussed with him, if the next term of messenger arrived in their lifetime and they happened to be lucky enough to find her, then this information had to be kept secret first, until it could no longer be held back.

In the meantime, all they had to do was to make Saint Nazaire even stronger, until they were confident of protecting and keeping her here even if the news of the presence of the messenger of Beast Deity shocked the entire Beast World.

Elvis's words calmed the seething crowd a little, but just a little.

Barete was one of the best warrior in the tribe, although he could not be compared with Elvis, he was considered outstanding among the rest. The sweet smell of this little girl had made his heart flutter. Just the scent of her body alone was able to make Barete willing to devote himself completely to her and even sacrifice his very life, not to mention her immensely beautiful face.

So he stepped forward with his head held high and said, "Leader, please let me take care of this little girl."

“You?” Elvis lifted one eyebrow and looked at Barete with anger.

Barete could sense the formidable pressure exerted by Elvis, he would have already knelt down with respect in normal circumstances, but now he clenched his teeth and stood tall. He felt that this was Leader testing his determination...

Of course, it was a not-so-beautiful misunderstanding.

Because Elvis's rage was not some tests. If not everyone here was a bachelor, or even someone with just a little dating experience could tell that Elvis was being jealous.

Just as Barete was making the request, Elvis had already pictured the details of Gu Mengmeng living happily together with Barete.

With bulging veins, Elvis looked at Barete with squinted eyes, signaling danger.

Meanwhile, sweat had been trickling down Barete's cheeks. The immense pressure had made it difficult for him to even breathe, but looking at the small female in Elvis's arms, he stood his ground and did not move back an inch.

Chapter 5 - The Most Beautiful Female in the Tribe

Barete's persistence was viewed as a taunt by Elvis. Elvis moved his lips with a condescending sneer.

Snatching people from him? You must be tired of living.

Elvis stepped forward, next to Barete, and put his seemingly weightless hand on Barete's shoulder. In that split second, Barete's face twisted. Before he felt the pain on his shoulder, Barete had heard his bone crack.

Barete stared at Elvis in shock and horror, he did not even know what he did wrongly. Why did Elvis became angry all of a sudden?

"Move, move, get out of my way." A voice was heard in the spooky silence and the world that was halted went back into motion.

Males being males, it was normal for them to attack each other. Although Elvis usually do not get involved with his fellow tribesmen, Barete was a warrior nonetheless and it would be normal for Elvis to test his abilities as the Leader. Since Barete had already requested to take care of the little girl, how can that be allowed without trying him out?

With this in mind, the naive males brushed the matter off.

A gap was torn open in the densely packed crowd, the single males surrounding Elvis and Gu Mengmeng was separated to the sides and an empty path appeared.

Holding her head high, an orc that was visibly shorter than others walked through the path and stopped at a step away from Elvis. She fiddled with her messy and sticky hair, striking a pose she considered flattering, and said with a high-pitched voice, “Elvis, you are back~”

Elvis frowned impatiently. Compared to the female in front of him, Barete was not considered a trouble at all. So he let go of his grip and Barete stumbled a little before being supported to receive treatments from Lea.

“Elvis, I heard that you picked up a female? That’s great! Our tribe has four females now.” The female seemed used to Elvis’s cold shoulder and did not feel disappointed from his impatient look. She carefully took one small step forward as she was speaking.

Sure enough, the moment she moved her feet, Elvis had immediately took a huge step back, increasing the distance between them even further.

“Elvis, why do you have to do this? I just want to meet the new little female, we will be living together in the tribe after all. With me, the tribe’s most beautiful female, making friends with her, I believe she can fit into the tribe not long after.”

Gu Mengmeng could not help but to turn back and took a glance at the orc that self-proclaimed to be the most beautiful. The glimpse almost made her fall off Elvis’s arms.

Puffy hair, tiny eyes, upturned nose, underbite and most importantly, she did not have any eyebrows. Baring her yellow teeth, anyone would have mistaken her smile for a snarl.

Her shoulders lay directly beneath her face. Her head was connected straight to her body. Damn! She had no neck!

Waist... Yes, she does have a waist!

Her waist was as wide as Gu Mengmeng’s shoulder length. It was not even an exaggeration to call her a pregnant woman, that waist size had to be someone pregnant with ten babies at the same time!

The smell of urine from her could not even be covered by her sweat. Not that Gu Mengmeng was cursing her, but the smell of urine around her was really strong, just like... in the zoo?

Gu Mengmeng felt her aesthetics had collapsed, how in the world did someone with such a look have the courage to self-proclaim as the most beautiful female in the tribe?

Gu Mengmeng suddenly felt she was able to understand the excitement around her just now.

If Puffy Hair could be considered the most beautiful in the tribe, wouldn't she, with a slightly below average look in the modern world, rule the entire universe with her beauty?!

Chapter 6 - Gu Mengmeng liked him?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis turned down Puffy Hair's advances visibly, not even answering a single word. He repeatedly told himself what Lea said: females are precious resources fundamental for the tribe to become stronger. No matter how angry he was, he could not kill her for the tribe.

Noticing that Elvis had not been responding to her, Puffy Hair took Elvis anger-suppressing look for him being obsessed in her beauty. That's right, she is the most beautiful female in the Saint Nazaire, she is so kind and accepting towards the new little female. Why would any male not fall for her?

Thinking about that, Puffy Hair bared her yellow teeth and walked towards Elvis again, shaking her fat waist.

"You! Don't come near me!" Gu Mengmeng could not take it any further. She could close her eyes to avoid her ugliness, but the odor coming off her was just too pungent. Surely she can't stop breathing!

Puffy Hair was taken aback by Gu Mengmeng's cry. Never in her life had someone spoken to her like that. She was momentarily stumped and just stopped there obediently.

Gu Mengmeng could not care less what Puffy Hair was thinking, she hugged on to handsome Elvis and said, "The smell on her is so strong, it is making me vomit. Can you bring me to somewhere else first?"

Elvis's eyes shined brightly with approval.

She had asked him to bring her to somewhere else, does this mean that she did not like the males that had expressed their affections to her? Even Barete that requested to take care of her did not make her feel anything special?

This is almost equal to Elvis himself being the only unique one in her heart. So... even if this little female is still underage, her taste in males is not too bad after all!

If Gu Mengmeng had known what Elvis had in his mind, she would have rolled her eyes and tell him that he was overthinking, she was just choking from Puffy Hair's body odor and wanted to leave, that's all.

But this was not important. Although Elvis was usually not too interested in females, he would still follow the basic rules of the Beast World.

The requests made by females to their pursuers had to be unconditionally satisfied by all the pursuers, as it was a test from the female to the male. Only those that passed the test could win her love.

In normal circumstances, the highly prized female would not even make requests to males she was uninterested in.

So...

Does this equal to Gu Mengmeng liking him?

Realizing that, Elvis nodded his head seriously.

He was the Leader of Saint Nazaire's, how can he disappoint the little female that was in love with him? Hence, Elvis went on all fours and turned into a wolf on the spot. Using his teeth to gently toss the hide with Gu Mengmeng inside, the tiny Gu Mengmeng was flung onto his back.

Leaving, what an easy task.

But since it was a test given by Gu Mengmeng, Elvis was determined to put up his best performance.

A goldlike black wolf carrying a small lump disappeared into the distance, leaving behind an afterimage.

“Did... Did Elvis put the little female onto his back just... just now?”

“Y... Yes, I... I supposed...”

“It can’t be, only partners can be on the back... Elvis... Little female... Impossible... Our eyes must be playing tricks on us.”

“Ha... Haha... We must have mistaken.” The flabbergasted male beasts collectively began to question their own eyes, before forcing a few laughs and self-deceivingly said, “Elvis must have just ran off with a little female in his mouth, we must have saw wrongly as he was too fast.”

“That’s right, that must be it.” Once someone had started, another person immediately echoed.

Chapter 7 - Who Do You Think You Are

“Elvis will never mate with a female, he has eyes only for Lea... Hiss! Why did you hit me?” Words that blurted out of someone’s mouth were interrupted and the person only realized he had spoken his mind until he noticed his friend’s grimace.

Elvis’s sexual orientation was no secret, but knowing is one thing, saying it out loud is another!

The man that was hit cleared his throat awkwardly and tried to cover-up by saying “What I meant was, the little female is still underage and Elvis would never mate with her now. Without mating, he would not let little female on his back, or else if little female matures into adulthood and does not choose him as her partner, Elvis is being disloyal to his future partner. Even if it is some beast as strong as Elvis, females would not choose him. So Elvis definitely did not let little female on his back. Yes, that’s what I meant.”

Someone kept quiet throughout the entire self-deceiving discussion. It was Barete, whose shoulder had been crushed by Elvis.

Just now, he clearly saw Elvis flinging little female onto his back without hesitation.

So, his rival in love was Elvis? It was no wonder he was so angry...

What to do? Barete felt his morale being boosted to a whole new level. The little female that he liked is indeed the most unique, she is even able to make the lifelong bachelor Elvis want to find a partner. He had a good taste after all!

Ah, so proud of himself!

“El—VI—S—!” Puffy Hair had only reacted from Gu Mengmeng’s cry of “Don’t come near me” when Elvis had already disappeared into the distance. Her face red with anger, she shouted Elvis’s name at the top of her lungs, stomped her foot and went to chase after them.

Although her speed could not be compared to that of Elvis, she knew what direction he was going.

Being the most beautiful female in the tribe, only she was suited to be with a male as strong as Elvis. Damn that bitch, what did she do to Elvis to trick him into letting her on his back, even leaving someone as beautiful as her aside!

Never, she would never forgive that bitch that did not even dare to show her face!

Puffy Hair ran towards Elvis’s cave aggressively. Her partners and pursuers exchanged glances before chasing after her. But after a few steps they were all stopped by a figure.

“Barete, get out of my way!” Roared Puffy Hair as she stood on the spot with arms akimbo and legs apart. She stretched out her neck and glared at Barete with her mung-bean liked eyes.

“Nina, why are you in such a hurry?” One side of Barete’s shoulder had been crushed by Elvis and his right hand dangled weakly at the side. Although in pain, he still imposed an aura of being able to guard against a thousand men alone. Just him standing there had made Nina, her three partners and other pursuers lose all their courage to continue chasing after Elvis.

“I am going to kill that bitch to save Elvis’s reputation,” Puffy Hair... Oh, oops, her name was Nina, said in a self-righteous way, as though Elvis was hers.

Barete sneered sarcastically and looked at Nina, “Why does Elvis’s reputation have to be saved by you? Who do you think you are?”

Chapter 8 - Playing Hooligan Will Be Beaten Up!

Gu Mengmeng was in a state of bewilderment till Elvis had brought her into a cave and placed her onto a pile of hay. With an O-shaped mouth, She stared straight into Elvis as he turned from a pitch dark wolf back into the unruly human form, unable to utter a single word.

What was unfolding right in front of her was beyond Gu Mengmeng's understanding, it was turning her world upside down!

What happen to animals not allowing to become fairies after nation founding?! Hello, is this 911? A wolf had transformed into a fairy, and he is ridiculously handsome!

Even though he was a black wolf, he had skin as fair as snow. Just standing at the opening of the cave against the light, Elvis looked like a god with a faint halo of light around him.

His broad shoulders, narrow hips, well-defined rock hard abs and the perfect abdominal V shape were all letting her imagination run wild... Wait a minute, Gu Mengmeng's gaze followed the V shape downwards and suddenly stopped. Something feels funny, what is it...

“AHHHHH—!” Gu Mengmeng let out a shrill scream that almost ruptured the eardrums of Elvis, whom had an excellent hearing.

A slight frown creased his brow but Elvis did not utter a word. He just silently watched as Gu Mengmeng screamed, until her face turned red from it, a clear sign of lack of oxygen. Elvis then stepped forward, with one hand around Gu Mengmeng's waist and another behind her head, his red lips slowly pressed onto hers, followed by...

Ffff.

Elvis breathed a mouthful of air into Gu Mengmeng's mouth.

Gu Mengmeng was stunned. Staring at Elvis with her beautiful eyes, her face was red as a tomato, unsure if it was due to embarrassment or lack of oxygen.

With hands resisting against Elvis's chest, Gu Mengmeng asked cautiously, "What are you doing?!"

"I am saving your life," Elvis replied calmly.

"Saving... my life?" Gu Mengmeng was even more stunned.

"Inhaling without exhaling will result in death," Elvis replied in an upright manner and Gu Mengmeng could not even refute.

Gu Mengmeng twitched her lips indignantly. A certain form of dismay is being unable to defeat if one fights, while also unable to win if one quarrels. Gu Mengmeng's eyes analyzed Elvis's face repeatedly for a while before finally regulating her breath. As though she was self-comforting, she said, "All right, looks being justice, you are so handsome and everything you say must be right."

Elvis could not quite understand Gu Mengmeng's words, other than the fact she was praising him, so he nodded and accepted the compliment gladly.

A feeling of powerlessness overwhelmed Gu Mengmeng. The god must have been fair, giving Elvis his magnificent looks while balancing it with a below-average intelligence.

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's shoulders with a feeling of caring for a handsome mentally disabled person. She said in a coaxing childish way, "I am fine now, will you let go of me?"

"No," Elvis answered matter-of-factly, "It is pretty comfortable to hug like this."

Gu Mengmeng ground her teeth in anger, she stretched her small thin arms and waved her nonthreatening fists in front of Elvis. “Didn’t your mom tell you that playing hooligan will be beaten up?” She said in a seemingly ferocious way.

Elvis searched his memory carefully, before shaking his head. He tilted his head to one side and looked at Gu Mengmeng with his shining eyes. He asked in a very sincere way, “What is playing hooligan?”

“Playing hooligan is you hugging me like this! Also, blowing air into my mouth! Any body contact without the other party’s consent is playing hooligan!” Gu Mengmeng said in a forceful tone with powerful words.

But...

“It was you that started playing hooligan on me, isn’t it?” Elvis was not sure of what playing hooligan is, but it must not be something nice judging from her threatening gestures. So he returned all of Gu Mengmeng’s accusations to her with a wicked grin.

Chapter 9 - Be the Unique Hooligan

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yes, she was the one that did it by the lake, teasing Elvis by touching and kissing him, but that was because she thought she was in a dream.

Gu Mengmeng's face turned red and let out a roar after a while, "Me taking initiative is called love, you taking initiative is called playing hooligan!"

"Why?" Elvis inquired shamelessly, aiming to ask until Gu Mengmeng was speechless, but his attitude being extremely sincere, Gu Mengmeng could not find any fault in him.

All right, just because he was handsome, everything he does is right in Gu Mengmeng's eyes.

But...

Even handsome men cannot be naked!

Gu Mengmeng could not get out of Elvis's arms, her strength was no more than a tickle to Elvis.

So Gu Mengmeng could only turn her face to the side and said in a low, muffled voice, "That's because you are not wearing anything!"

Elvis was stunned for a moment, before lifting the corners of his mouth and brought his face closer to her, ignoring her dodging. His warm and moist breath fell onto Gu Mengmeng's ears, with a coarse and tempting voice, he asked, "if, I put on my clothes and then take the initiative... Is it considered love?"

“Erm... Erm...” Gu Mengmeng’s heartbeat fluttered at Elvis’s sudden ambiguous movement. God knows how much she was a coward although she looked like a slut. What she did to Elvis today had been her most daring act for years.

She had always teased the boys in her class back in school, the more they hide away from her, the more excited she gets, but if they are the ones taking initiative, she would run away as fast as lightning.

So, all the love theories Gu Mengmeng had in class, remained as theories only...

Elvis did not understand why Gu Mengmeng blushed out of the blue, in addition to her heartbeats beating so loud he could hear it pounding without sticking to her chest.

He only felt that the faint scent around her was sweet-smelling and went closer to smell it, why did she look ill suddenly?

Elvis frowned. If Gu Mengmeng was sick, he should have taken her to Lea and get her treated, but he did not want other males to see Gu Mengmeng in this “sick” state for some unknown reason.

Not even Lea.

Although, they had a promise long ago...

Elvis let go of Gu Mengmeng, even though he was very unwilling, he followed her will.

He did not to be the beast that “play hooligan” according to what Gu Mengmeng had said, because he could clearly sense her dislike towards the word. Most importantly, he did not want to be like the rest.

He remembered Gu Mengmeng using the word on Barete when they just entered the Saint Nazaire tribe.

Even if it was playing hooligan, Elvis was going to be the unique hooligan. How could he be compared to Barete?

With this in mind, Elvis held his head high with pride. He looked at Gu Mengmeng with the corner of his eyes and pointed at the hide around Gu Mengmeng with his long, skinny finger. “But my clothes are on you.”

Gu Mengmeng had the urge to vomit blood.

Was she digging a hole for herself? What did she say about taking initiative with clothes on being love? What does she do now? Elvis wanted to express his love, so does she have to run around this fairy cave in a bikini?

Monkey King, where are you! I am caught by a fairy!

Chapter 10 - Meeting a Pervert

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

No matter how badly Gu Mengmeng wants to fling the clothes off her, throw it on Elvis's face powerfully and say "To you!", She could only look at the 'surefire' bikini that was supposed to attract the senior's attention and a thousand alpacas ran across her head.

This bikini had looked stylish in the swimming complex, but why did it look so embarrassing when it was changed to being in the cave?

Gu Mengmeng pulled her collar up and tightened Elvis's hide dress around her. Although feeling guilty, she held her head up and questioned, "Do you not have any other clothes to wear?"

"I do." Elvis answered in his ever sincere tone.

"Then why can't you take any other piece and wear it?" With puffed cheeks, Gu Mengmeng complained about Elvis's selfishness and ungentlemanliness inside her mind, but it remained a small rant within herself, the current situation could not let her be so demanding. After all, Elvis was a wolf, he was being rather polite by not eating her up.

"But I like this one," Elvis's eyelashes fluttered and a thick shadow scattered beneath his eyes, adding some ambiguity to his simple words out of nowhere.

Yes, he liked this hide skirt because it had her fragrance on it.

Gu Mengmeng let out a sigh, she had no other choices as the clothes belonged to Elvis, anyway. So she settled for the second best and asked, "Then could you let me wear another one? Once I find something suitable to wear, I can change out and return it to you."

Elvis was deep in thoughts. He did not answer her, but slowly walked towards Gu Mengmeng step by step.

Gu Mengmeng moved backwards instinctively, her head buzzed alarmingly.

Is... is he going to eat her? Just because she wanted to borrow a piece of clothing? He is that selfish?

“Well...” I will not borrow anymore, alright?

Before she could finish her sentence, her entire body had been locked within Elvis’s arms.

Elvis’s left hand circled around Gu Mengmeng’s shoulder, right hand around her waist, and he rested his chin on Gu Mengmeng’s head with his advantage of being tall. “You are so skinny,” he murmured.

Gu Mengmeng smiled wryly. If she was in the modern world, she would be so happy hearing this compliment, yet she could not feel any joy now.

This had to be a remark on food...

“Haha, so sorry for being this skinny...” Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and murmured.

“It’s okay, it is not your fault.” Elvis was filled with heartache thinking about Gu Mengmeng’s apology. It must had been tiring for her when she was by the Beast Deity’s side. After all, one must go through so much hardship and tests to be able to serve the great Beast Deity.

But everything will be alright now. Now that she had come to his side, he would take great care of her and fatten her up.

Gu Mengmeng did not know what Elvis was thinking, she only felt that this conversation could no longer go on.

Oh please, still so picky, nobody is begging you to eat me up! Have you considered my feelings of getting eaten?!

Just as she was about to refute, Gu Mengmeng felt her shoulder lighten. The hand that was resting on her shoulder had moved to her butt.

Gu Mengmeng exploded on the spot. She felt a rush of blood to her head, her face must have been so red by now.

What the heck! This must be the real sexual assault, right?!

The first time she met a pervert in real life, and it was a real wolf!

Chapter 11 - You Can Change, I Won't Stop You

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was infuriated. Even food has their feelings. You can eat if you want, I can't fight with you but to let you do whatever you want anyway but if you are going to play hooligan when you are eating me, it is you at fault!

She was going to get eaten up anyway.

With that in mind, Gu Mengmeng became more gutsy. She suddenly curved her knee and was ready to give Little Elvis a forceful kick. If the situation was ideal, she could probably die without much pain.

However, being the best out of all the male beasts, Elvis had an instinctive reaction towards any signs of danger. Hence, when Gu Mengmeng's knee was at least a foot away from Little Elvis, Elvis had leaned to one side and let go of her.

Regarding Gu Mengmeng's sudden attack, Elvis understood it as what she had said, 'any body contact without the other party's consent is playing hooligan' and he kept quiet. From his understanding of Gu Mengmeng's addiction towards playing hooligan to others but having zero tolerance of someone doing it to her, it was not difficult to comprehend her low-level attack.

Seeing Elvis suddenly releasing her, no longer blabbering about her returning his clothes and walking further into the cave, leaving her alone, Gu Mengmeng was at a loss of what to do.

Is he... angry?

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis's obscure naked back in the dim cave, her face bewildered in the wind.

When Gu Mengmeng recovered from her daze, Elvis had already walked back from the innermost area covered by the winter snow, holding a white hide dress in his hands.

Elvis stood in front of Gu Mengmeng and handed over the hide dress to her. He raised his chin slightly, signaling that the dress was for her.

Gu Mengmeng carefully touched the pure white hide dress and asked with her head tilted, "I can borrow this one?"

Elvis had wanted to say this was gifted to her, but in order to have a legitimate reason to strip her in the future, he held back his laughter and silently approved that this was indeed 'lent' to Gu Mengmeng.

Girls yearned for pretty clothes naturally, it was an irresistible temptation for them.

Being a heavily obsessed plush lover, Gu Mengmeng was practicing self-restraint by not jumping towards it the moment Elvis had taken the dress out. Now that he had said it was for her, why the need to be so reserved?

In the past, even prisoners receive a satisfying meal before getting beheaded. Maybe here, it is the norm to give someone beautiful clothes before eating them?

Gu Mengmeng held the hide dress and did a rough measuring on herself in starry eyes. Feeling that the sizing was just right, she could not wait to try it on, but Elvis showed no signs of leaving. Gu Mengmeng frowned.

"I'm going to change, could you please excuse yourself for a while?"

"Why?" Elvis leaned against the wall of the cave with a faint smile. He really liked the expression on Gu Mengmeng's face when she saw the clothes.

"Because I'm going to change!" Gu Mengmeng was speechless.

“You can change, I won’t stop you.” Elvis could not wait to see her wearing his handmade hide, not even for a second.

Gu Mengmeng weighed the situation in her heart. Elvis had seen her in bikini back in the lake, moreover, he had hugged her the whole way back, what is there to be seen had already been, seen anyway. It would be too late to feel shy now.

In addition, if she did not take off the hide on her now, this Elvis would have ‘nothing to hide’ in front of her the whole time. If this continued, Gu Mengmeng was afraid that her moral integrity would be shattering into pieces.

Because now, she was quite getting used to seeing Elvis without clothes on. Although she would try to avoid looking at Little Elvis, she would not scream even if she saw it accidentally.

Ah, Mr. Integrity, please do not leave me!

Chapter 12 - Gu Mengmeng's Unintended Teasing

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng turned around. She let go of the hide around her and it fell down her smooth white skin, which dropped to her feet like a wingless butterfly.

Gu Mengmeng had wanted to make it quick, immediately wearing the new white dress Elvis had lent her after she took off the current one, But things did not go as she planned. The more anxious she was, the more she could not wear it properly. Amidst the panic, she could not even identify the front and back of the new dress correctly.

Just when Gu Mengmeng was struggling with the new skirt, Elvis that was standing behind her felt a rush of blood to his head. Something warm was flowing out from his nose, but he could not even raise his hand to wipe. He was dazzled by her white back and could only stare at her with breathing pauses.

The sight of the hide dress dropping was slowed by his eyes and put on replay in his head. The scene that came with a Gaussian blur and beautifying effect had called for Elvis's unfamiliar yet natural urge to arise.

He wanted to hug Gu Mengmeng in his arms forcefully and bully her until she cried, but his feet, being as heavy as lead, could not move at all.

His breath became heavy and Elvis felt as though ten thousand horses are galloping inside his chest.

His blood-filled eyes squinted wickedly and dangerously.

But Gu Mengmeng was not aware of that at all. Not only was she being negligent, she even turned around and looked at Elvis with her clear and innocent eyes. She pouted and said, “Will you help me? I don’t know how to wear this.”

This had increased Elvis’s natural desire without any doubt. Although her back had almost made him lose his self-control, he could not carry out any of the thoughts he had by just looking at Gu Mengmeng’s eyes.

He had wanted to bully her till she cried, but now, he felt that this pair of clear eyes were more suitable for smiling.

Taking two deep breaths and resisting the evil urge within him, Elvis moved slightly to soothe his numbed body. In the most stiff and strange manner ever, he walked towards Gu Mengmeng, took over the crumpled piece of clothing and quickly lay it out in just few moves, without saying anything.

“Oh.” Gu Mengmeng obediently clenched her small hands into fists and rested it on Elvis’s stretched out hands with palms downwards, just like a kitten asking for food.

Lub dub— Lub dub dub—!

So intensely teased by Gu Mengmeng, Elvis’s heart palpitated at its fastest speed and almost jumped out of his throat.

Elvis bit his lower lip and withdrew the hand with hers on it. He rubbed Gu Mengmeng’s head forcefully, messing up her hair. Looking at her with disheveled hair, Elvis finally heaved a sigh of relief.

The burden he felt in his heart lessen without seeing her face.

“What are you doing!” Before Elvis could feel relieved, Gu Mengmeng had moved the hair that was covering her face to one side with her hands and complained.

The way Gu Mengmeng fiddled with her hair looked just like her resting her chin on her hands. Due to the difference in height, she was always looking up to Elvis and this pose... definitely was giving the 45 degrees kill.

Elvis's nose started to bleed again. God knows how he was able to see most of her beautiful figure with only bikini on, in addition to her innocent face, from his angle. Her elegant figure appeared obscure under the messy hair Elvis had resulted in, which looked even more attractive being half hidden.

Chapter 13 - Breaking! Thousand-Year Wolf Dying from Blood Loss!

Elvis felt his blood froze and his fingers were too numbed to even move.

He did not even know how much willpower he had in order to fit the white hide dress on Gu Mengmeng. He believed that the discomfort he felt would lessen once he had helped her wear it.

But...

It did not go as planned.

The huge white rabbit dress was fluffy and soft, with the longer hair removed during tanning, leaving behind fur of one centimeter thickness. The flawless, pure white fur had made Gu Mengmeng look even more lovely and adorable, with her round shoulders showing from the sleeveless dress, white and smooth.

Below the shoulders were two even and plump arms, resembling white lotus roots. As Elvis's nose filled with her scent, his heartbeat was pounding non stop in his chest:

These arms had hugged around my neck moments before.

The A-line design did not emphasize on one's waistline, yet the unintentional crease at the waist had illustrated Gu Mengmeng's figure to be even more irresistible and letting his imagination run wild.

Even further down, her pointed butt had supported the second curve of the dress, a beautiful sight obviously.

The hemlines stopped abruptly at a fist's length above Gu Mengmeng's kneecap, her straight legs were as beautiful as a jade sculpture with the perfect shape.

Elvis felt the warm liquid flowing out of his nose at a more rapid rate, while Little Elvis stood firmly with its head held high, showing its mighty figure.

"Are you okay?" Gu Mengmeng was worried that Elvis might die from loss of blood if this continued.

The first werewolf in history to die from... a nose bleed?!

Ha! This would definitely make the headlines in the modern world with the title 'Breaking! Thousand-Year Wolf Turned into Man Form Ended up Dying from Loss of Blood in a Single Day. What Lies Beneath the Truth? Fall of Humanity or Loss of Integrity?! Please Watch Channel Nonsense Tonight at 8 pm, See You There!'.

Elvis felt a little panic towards Gu Mengmeng's concern. While he did not want her to see him in such a terrible state, he also felt warmth.

Conflicted, Elvis did not know which side he was leaning more towards.

Just when he was struggling, a sharp and screeching voice pierced through the cave from the opening, "Elvis, get the hell out here!"

Elvis frowned. All the anxiety and sweet atmosphere had been destroyed by this scream. Bending down and wrapping the hide dress that Gu Mengmeng had just changed out from around his waist, Elvis signaled her to rest at the nearby pile of hay with his chin, then turned around to deal with the frantically screaming Nina.

Nina did not know what was happening inside the cave between Gu Mengmeng and Elvis, due to the extreme territorial behavior in the Beast World. No males shall be near other males' territories without permission, or else they would be attacked. Even though Nina was a female, she was not well-liked by Elvis. Every time she tried to come near Elvis's cave, her partners would receive a beating from Elvis.

No choice, the rules in the Beast World were as said, the troubles females got into were settled by their males.

The number of times Nina's partners had received beatings increased and Elvis became more and more rough, the last time he even warned Nina that if she come near his cave again, he would not brush it off even if she was a female. From then on, Nina had exercised more self-restraint. She would stand two meters away from the cave and scream at the top of her lungs, until Elvis get fed up and come out to meet her.

But this time, she did not come to disturb Elvis, but to...

Chapter 14 - Bitch! Get the Hell Out!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Elvis, you have to uphold justice for me! That bitch, she abetted Barete to beat up my males and even shame me. Sob sob, she must have done it out of jealousy of my beauty.”

Elvis’s veins bulged. The anger resulting from Gu Mengmeng’s teasing had nowhere to vent, and Nina’s words had ignited a flame in his eyes, just like throwing a matchstick into a warehouse of explosives.

Elvis walked past Nina, without even stopping for a second.

Barete had started a fight with Nina’s males? Ha, a battlefield, just nice for some stretching.

Orcs were sensitive to smells, with Elvis being the best out of all. Barete and Nina’s males seemed to have put up an intense fight, he could smell blood easily from so far away. Hence, Elvis effortlessly located where they were and dashed off without looking back.

On the other hand, Nina that came to ask for help did not leave with Elvis. She sneered, turned around and walked into Elvis’s cave.

That bitch! Not only did she get near Elvis, wear his clothes, she even went into his cave?! Unforgivable, totally unforgivable! Even she, the most beautiful female in the tribe, had never entered his cave before, how could that bitch?

With that thought, Nina aggressively walked into Elvis’s cave.

She thought to herself, if that bitch could go in, so could she! Even if Elvis came back and got angry, the most he would do was to beat up her males, so what if they were beaten to death? She was after all the most beautiful female in the Saint Nazaire Tribe, there were an uncountable number of males wanting to mate with her, even if her current partners were beaten to death, it was them being too weak to be blamed. Those rubbish, nobody cares if they die.

“Bitch! Get the hell out!” Being certain that Elvis would never hurt a precious female like her, Nina became more confident. For the first time in her life, she gave a command in Elvis’s cave like she was the female owner.

Gu Mengmeng had heard the conversation from inside as the cave was really not well-soundproofed. Looking at the manner Nina was coming, as though she was the first wife catching the mistress, even a fool could tell that she was not being friendly.

Could this Puffy Hair be Elvis’s partner?

Gu Mengmeng sighed silently just thinking of that, such a waste of Elvis’s good looks. Being the first to be introduced, even if he was not the male lead, just being together with this ugly Puffy Hair had ruined her values.

Thinking about that in her head, Gu Mengmeng darted to the edge of the cave opening and tried to hide herself there, with her back against the cave wall. But before she could steady herself, Nina had rushed in. The white hide dress on Gu Mengmeng stood out so much that Nina could not even pretend to not notice her. Hence, the two stood on the spot and stared at each other in silence, as though time had stopped.

“Would you believe me if I said it wasn’t intentional?” Gu Mengmeng let out an awkward laughter and asked timidly without moving.

“What?” Nina could not understand what Gu Mengmeng was saying out of the blue and she felt confused whenever she had conversations with Gu Mengmeng.

Nina was caught off guard and was hit right in the head, before seeing stars and losing strength in her legs. She wobbled for a while and uttered “You...” before fainting.

Chapter 15 - Concealed Advance

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng threw the wooden stick away before laughing guiltily: “I didn’t hit you on purpose. Whether you believe it or not, I’m leaving first.”

Good-looking guys were precious and the value of love was even higher. However, she would have to sacrifice the two if her life was threatened.

This place was simply not for someone to linger in. Psychopaths were found everywhere. Gu Mengmeng strongly felt that she had fallen into a trap. Although Elvis was good-looking, he was still a demon. To make matters worse, he was a carnivorous demon. Who knew, he could just eat her up upon any little provocation.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng decided. Currently, Elvis was sent away by Nina and there was nobody left in the cave except for the unconscious Nina. Only an idiot would choose not to run!

Gu Mengmeng wanted to enter deep into Elvis’s cave to see if there was anything she could “borrow” for a while to defend herself. But the cave was too dark. Just less than ten steps in, Gu Mengmeng could not see anything. Thus, she gave up her idea of snitching and instead, travel light. Protecting herself was more important.

Gu Mengmeng kept close to the wall and headed outside stealthily like a thief. She did not know that to the senses of an orc, her strange behavior was far from being concealed. Moreover, her fragrance that stood from the crowd and her eye-catching rabbit-skin dress made it difficult to not see her.

Fortunately for her, females in this world had a highly respectable presence. They could do whatever they wanted and even the most unusual behavior would be pardoned and acknowledged. Being males, they had a very high tolerance and acceptance towards the females. Hence, although they had long discovered Gu Mengmeng, the bunch of males could only pretend not to see her since she was deeply immersed in and enjoying the fact that nobody caught her. When they were about to face her, the males avoided the little girl automatically and cleared a path for her, allowing her to enjoy her “concealed advance” to the fullest extent.

When Gu Mengmeng finally realized that she was walking in circles, it was the third time she had walked to the entrance of Saint Nazaire. And this time, Elvis, Barete and the orcs that were originally watching the fun stopped moving to look at Gu Mengmeng, puzzled.

They could not feign ignorance any further, she had been there for the third time...

Seeing how she had been discovered, Gu Mengmeng did not bother hiding anymore. She patted her tiny hands, stood upright and walked openly, waving to Elvis and Barete, “Hi, are all of you busy? I... I was just casually looking around. Please continue, do not mind me.”

Once Gu Mengmeng finished speaking, the whole scene instantly erupted.

“The little girl says she’s here to see me!” A male broke the silence.

“Don’t be full of yourself, the little girl is obviously here to see me!” Another male exclaimed. He had just shoved the male beside him away mercilessly to step forward a little in order for Gu Mengmeng to see him better.

“Come on, the little girl is so beautiful, why would she like you? She is definitely here to see me.” Again, another one who knocked the second male aside squeezed himself in front of Gu Mengmeng.

Previously... was there that many people?

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded.

She totally had no idea that just because she took the initiative to greet everyone, her game of concealed advance had ended. The males that followed her all the way stepped forward in an attempt to make themselves familiar to the beauty.

Compared to Gu Mengmeng's concealing techniques, these males were considered to be experts among the well-experienced. Of course, Gu Mengmeng was not able to spot them. Thus, Gu Mengmeng was taken aback by the scene of dozens of males surrounding her, from just over ten of them initially.

Did they... found out that she hit Nina? That's why she was intercepted by everyone?

Having the typical guilty conscience, Gu Mengmeng did not catch what these thirsty males said at all.

Chapter 16 - Barete's Hatred

“Why did you come out?” Elvis asked. He was not pleased although he was not sure why but he did not like the sight of the males surrounding and fawning Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders. If she said she intended to escape, will Elvis perform swallowing a living person in public?

She scanned her surroundings and saw Barete standing not too far behind Elvis. His right hand still sagged in an unnatural manner while his body was filled with wounds of different sizes and severity. However, he still stood up straight, not showing any signs that he was like weakly breathing his last gasp.

Coincidentally, this type of manly sight filled with blood and sweat was to Gu Mengmeng’s liking. This was practically a wilder version of Yoo Sijin in ‘Descendants of the Sun’, and even better, a Yoo Sijin injured after a mission. Stop being so handsome!

Thus, Gu Mengmeng bypassed Elvis and walked straight to Barete, gently touching the wound on Barete’s chest with her index finger, “It’s very painful isn’t it?”

Barete was taken at a loss after her sudden concern and he felt the blood in his entire body rushing to his head. Besides his crazily frantic and deafening heartbeat, Gu Mengmeng’s voice was also repeating endlessly in his mind, “Very painful, isn’t it? Must be very painful...”

Barete shook his head stiffly, both of his eyes fixed on Gu Mengmeng. Although he already saw Gu Mengmeng not too long ago, he was still mesmerized by her stunning beauty.

After all, Gu Mengmeng was still a freshman. Being openly stared at with such a bewitched but not at all frivolous look by a good-looking guy, her vanity was deeply satisfied. This was more pleasing than complimenting her looks through words. Thus, Gu Mengmeng grinned widely at Barete, rebutting, "There's already so much blood dripping out, how is it not painful?"

Barete's eyes followed Gu Mengmeng's to the wound on his own chest. That was Elvis's work, but he still knew when to stop. So, although Barete's flesh was slitted open and even bleeding, his bones and internal organs were not damaged. It was really nothing much to fret about for a male.

But...

That mere superficial wound actually invited the little girl's concern.

Gu Mengmeng's fingers brushed across the sides of Barete's wound lightly. The wound was so deep that the bone could be seen and blood rolled down along his chest, wetting half of his beast-skin dress. But, this fellow did not frown even the slightest bit, what a tough man!

Gu Mengmeng gave Barete a thumbs up deep down in her heart.

Looking up, Gu Mengmeng's face was met with the rays from the sunset as she looked at Barete, her clear and bright eyes curving up, forming a shape that resembled crescent moons. She said, "I am Gu Mengmeng, how about you? What's your name?"

"Ba... Barete."

Barete's voice was shaking! His heart beat wildly, shaking till his entire body shook along as well.

The little girl told him her name and even asked for his name!

Gu Mengmeng, she's called Gu Mengmeng!

"Barete." Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, implying that she remembered this name.

Barete felt that his beast life was fulfilled at that moment. There was nothing else more blissful other than the little girl he liked remembering his name! If there was, that must be her not only remembering his name but also telling him hers!

Barete felt that he was the most blessed male beast in the entire world.

At the same time, he grew hatred towards the single males in the entire clan.

Chapter 17 - Damn.....It Was Too Embarrassing

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng pulled Barete over to the stream for a walk. Her initial idea of taking advantage of the situation to avoid Elvis and escape was ruined as Elvis followed them from behind at a comfortable distance with a darkened face.

Behind Elvis was an even larger bunch of single males with their eyes spewing out hearts and kisses. They looked as if they can't wait to throw Barete aside so that the soft little hand can also hold their own. What a pity, between them and Barete stood Elvis whose face was as dark as coal. There was no one who dared to overtake Elvis.

After reaching the stream, Gu Mengmeng could not stand the chill on her back anymore and could only let go of Barete, supporting him to under a big tree, "Just sit here for a while and wait for me."

"... Ok," Barete felt a sense of disappointment after Gu Mengmeng let go of his hand.

He did not know what did Gu Mengmeng want to do, but he still held back the urge to wrap that soft little hand into his for eternity and nodded his head.

Gu Mengmeng was a precious female. Barete felt that he should be satisfied since she had already walked such a long distance with him while holding his hand. He should not request any random demand from Gu Mengmeng just because he felt like it. This would not only invite dislike from the females but he would also be looked down upon by the other males.

After all, the females in this beast world were the most favored. As a male, having the chance to dote on a female was a blessing in three lifetimes, it was too much to request a demand from a female.

However, Gu Mengmeng was unaware of Barete's thoughts. She just felt the chill on her back reduce by a lot after letting go of Barete and she heaved a sigh of relief silently. Peering at her surroundings, she realized that the leaves here were so much bigger than those in the present world.

The tree that Barete was leaning against had its leaves shaped like an elephant's ears. They were deep green and had a thickness of around 1cm with a countless number of them stacked and crowded together. Gu Mengmeng chose a leaf that was as big as two palms but as she walked under the leaf, she found out that the height of it was higher than she expected.

She thought that she could reach for the leaf just by stretching her arm, but she failed despite trying her best for some time.

The atmosphere became a tad awkward. Tens of males surrounded Gu Mengmeng in perfect silence, watching her jump on the spot a few times until her face became red. They were puzzled at what she was doing.

Gu Mengmeng was sullen. Damn... it was too embarrassing.

Pulling up her sleeves, she glared at that leaf and uttered, "Just you wait, I don't believe that I'm not able to take you down!"

After that, Gu Mengmeng turned around and marched to under the tree, nodding her head at Barete with her face full of confidence. Seeing how Barete was going to stand up, she hurriedly held his shoulder and said, "It's alright, just sit here and not move."

"... Ok," Barete sat back and maintained the position Gu Mengmeng ordered, not moving a single inch. Not even blinking his eyes a bit.

Gu Mengmeng grew up wilding around, climbing a tree or to a roof was not a big obstacle for her. Thus, like a wild monkey, she grabbed the thick tree trunk and climbed upwards. Although it was a little tiring, she eventually climbed to the tree branch and with caution, she successfully plucked that leaf she took a fancy to.

“I picked it~” Gu Mengmeng was elated beyond words, she has finally proven herself in front of Elvis and the rest and not remain as a joke.

Now then, here came the problem... why did the tree look a little too high?

How... was she going to come down?

Chapter 18 - Forcefully Salvaging Her Dignity

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng hesitated for a moment. She could actually just ask Elvis or Barete to pull her from below or simply just jump down on her own. But the way she climbed up was in such an imposing manner. If she called someone to catch her, wouldn't that be too shameful? She, Gu Mengmeng, would never do something like that – starting off with such vigor but ending poorly.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng bit the leaf in her mouth and backtracked a little by a little slowly in an attempt to return the same way. However, she had no eyes grown on the back of her head after all. The end of Gu Mengmeng's dress was caught by a branch as thick as an arm, causing her to fall from the tree after losing her balance.

Fortunately, Gu Mengmeng had fast reflexes, and she hugged onto the tree branch with both arms as tightly as she could, preventing her from kissing the ground.

Though Gu Mengmeng was biting onto the leaf, this fall did not force her to release it. It was not due to this leaf being so important, it was just that she was unable to react amidst all the chaos.

Elvis stepped forward in front of Gu Mengmeng. He was now standing where her belly button was and lifting his head to glance at Gu Mengmeng who was grabbing onto the branch for dear life with a leaf in her mouth.

She was stuck in an ugly situation. There were a few patches of peeling on her snow white rabbit-skin dress and her initial pale and charming little face was filled with dirt, giving off a filthy look. Now, she resembled a wild monkey dangling from a tree more, one that could climb up but could not get down.

Elvis knew that females liked to do things without rhyme or reason and he had seen many other cases more baffling than what Gu Mengmeng did. But it was different this time. He was neither fed up nor disdained. Instead, he felt his blood boil and anger crept in. The leaf in her mouth was exceptionally unpleasant to look at.

Just as he was about to lose his temper, he looked up to see Gu Mengmeng's arm being grazed and fresh red blood oozing out, filling the air with her scent. What a heart aching scene.

The burning fire in Elvis was put out upon the pitiful sight of Gu Mengmeng. In the end, it ended in smoke, which left together with Elvis's sigh.

Opening his arms wide, Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng and said, "Come down, I will catch you."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head while biting the leaf. That fall was really scary but after hanging like this for a while, she had already calmed down. She was just at most one metre away from the floor. She would not get injured from jumping down herself.

If it was like this, she would not need Elvis to catch her from below. Or else, the facade put on earlier would have gone to waste.

Just as Gu Mengmeng was contemplating which suave pose to use upon jumping to salvage her dignity, Elvis frowned and lifted himself slightly, leaping up in a perfect arc. He grabbed the branch Gu Mengmeng was holding onto easily and then bent that thick branch with his strength in a graceful and calm manner, as if he just lightly touched it.

Elvis stood on the ground, pulling the branch towards him until Gu Mengmeng's sight was on the same level as him. Staring at Gu Mengmeng's innocent eyes that were filled with astonishment and worship, he unexpectedly felt a sense of enjoyment and the rare sight of the sides of his mouth creeping up surfaced. A breathtaking visual out of this world was sent into Gu Mengmeng's sight, spewing the scent of his male hormones into her nose as he mocked her in amusement, "Do you like this branch that much? How about breaking it into half for you?"

Chapter 19 - His Special Gu Mengmeng

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Just like that, Gu Mengmeng inched closer to the ground following Elvis's strength, her sight fixated on Elvis's eyes to his jaw, next his neck and then his chest... ding~safely landed.

Damn it, in that split second, Gu Mengmeng felt that her previous behavior of climbing the tree with so much vigor and hanging from it was extremely foolish.

She held it in till her face was as red as a tomato but she could not throw a tantrum. Instead, she clenched her teeth and said, "Thank you!"

Fuming, she ran to the stream with the leaf, folded it into a conical shape and scooped a leaf full of water before unfolding it back. As she walked past Elvis, she tilted her head to the other side and snorted neutrally before leaving.

Elvis was dumbfounded.

Supposedly...

He helped her, didn't he? Or else how long did she want to hang on the tree for?

But why was she fuming mad? And, the way her two cheeks bulged roundly was so adorable.....

Elvis felt a baffling sense of pride. Because other females would only order males around and would not need to complete things like climbing the tree to pluck a leaf. Not to say hanging from a tree...

Wow, his Gu Mengmeng was so special, one and only in this world~

However...

Elvis did not have the chance for his smile to bloom when his face froze like icicles.

This was because Gu Mengmeng was using water to clean Barete's wound slowly, her actions gentle and detailed while her gaze fixed on Barete's wound. At the same time, she commented, "Your physique is so good, the bleeding actually stopped. But it still has to be cleaned thoroughly or else an infection will be very troublesome."

Elvis's fingers curved up slowly and eventually clenched together into a fist, his eyes looked as if they were on fire.

So, she went to great trouble to climb the tree, pluck the leaf and even almost fall from it, dirty the skirt he gave, injuring her slim arm, all of this, just for Barete?!

Like Elvis, Barete who was currently being treated by Gu Mengmeng and the other males who wanted to make themselves known to her were also taken by surprise.

Throughout history, it was an unquestionable principle for males to take care of females. The most gentle female was also said to just merely smile at males sometimes or comment a few words of consideration and honor. The way Gu Mengmeng took care of a male on her own... was simply unimaginable, even in dreams.

And such a fine chance actually landed in the hands of Barete?!

Although the elephant-ear leaf was very big, it could not store much water. To make matters worse, the surface area of Barete's wound was very large, the water from a single leaf was not enough to clean it thoroughly. Thus, Gu Mengmeng shook the leaf, her face filled with a smile that nurses carry (please pardon the fact that Gu Mengmeng has already delved into character naturally, treating herself as Kang Moyeon in ‘Descendants of the Sun’). She stood up, getting ready to bring back more water from the stream.

Just as Gu Mengmeng stood up, her whole body was lifted up from the waist with her feet off the ground. This sudden movement gave Gu Mengmeng a scare until the elephant-ear leaf, that took her so much energy to pluck, dropped to the floor. She struggled for a while before realizing that the person holding onto her waist was Elvis. She immediately stopped moving and could only furrow her brows while asking, “What are you doing? Hurry and put me down, Barete’s wound has to be washed thoroughly or it will get infected.”

“Yeah,” Elvis responded lightly, then bent forward to pull Barete who was still not moving an inch against the tree up. He swung his arms with force, throwing Barete directly into the stream.

“What?! What are you doing!” Gu Mengmeng was taken aback by the sound of Barete being thrown into the water and she raised her brows, glaring at Elvis.

“Someone will help him wash,” Elvis gave the bunch of males at the side a look. The males who were long jealous till their teeth ached swarmed into the stream and started ‘taking care’ of Barete with all their might. A few of them whose bodies were big and burly stood on the outside on purpose to block Gu Mengmeng’s view. All of this were in vain as they forced their smiles towards Gu Mengmeng, exposing themselves.

Elvis was very satisfied as he nodded, “And, this will be much cleaner.”

Chapter 20 - Males Hurt Too

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Just when the bunch of males were so involved and excited in ‘taking care’ of Barete, an injured male ran over, stumbling along.

“Elvis, Nina’s injured.”

This sentence, despite not being loudly spoken, sent a cold air through the atmosphere.

To a tribe, there was nothing more precious than a female because females were the deciding factor of a tribe’s prosperity. The injury of every female was, thus, deadly serious to a tribe, especially in such a small one like Saint Nazaire where there were only three females. Nina’s injury was definitely not a trivial matter.

No matter how much Elvis was uninterested in Nina, he could not brush the matter aside.

“Where is Nina?” Elvis frowned, asking in a neutral tone.

“She has been sent to Lea,” The male answered.

Elvis nodded his head, motioning the male, with his gaze, to explain Nina’s body condition in detail.

The male followed Elvis tightly as he said, “We didn’t see Nina when we just came back to the cave so we went to find her. When we found her, she was lying unconscious in the cave with a huge wound on the top of her head and blood gushing out. Quentin sent her to Lea for treatment so I rushed to inform you.”

Elvis listened to the informant while walking to Lea’s cave. He did not look at Gu Mengmeng on purpose so as to prevent her from realizing that the reason why he was rushing to see Nina was to separate Barete and her.

After all, despite having mated with a male, the female could still find other males for mating. Furthermore, he did not have an official status yet.

Elvis's thoughts clashed with each other. On one side, he wanted to have Gu Mengmeng to himself while on the other hand, he was afraid that his possessiveness and jealousy will become a nuisance to her. Thus, all he could do was to seek his private benefits in the name of public matters and to act as if he was very busy.

So, Elvis did not notice how Gu Mengmeng was feeling more guilty than he was.

Nina was still unconscious until now? And her head was wounded, and she kept bleeding? Damn it, was it because she used too much force earlier and killed her?!

"That..." Gu Mengmeng squeezed out a weird smile through her stiffened lips and tugged on the front of Elvis's clothing, "Go and finish your stuff if you're busy, I'll stay to look after Barete."

"No way," Elvis rejected without much thought.

"Why no?" Gu Mengmeng garnered her courage to ask.

Elvis stopped for a moment. The reason why he was so anxious to bring Gu Mengmeng away was to put distance between Barete and her so when Gu Mengmeng suggested staying behind, he blurted out his reply without time for any thought.

Why? Because he was jealous!

But this reason, as if... probably... most likely... perhaps... would not be appropriate.

Thus, Elvis cleared his throat and acted calm before saying, "Nina is injured, we have to see her first."

“But Barete’s also injured!” Gu Mengmeng would never visit Nina, over her grave.

What a joke, she was the murderer!

“It’s normal for males to get injured, you don’t have to think too much about it,” Elvis face darkened further. He realized that he exceptionally hated Barete. This name was particularly getting on his nerves when Gu Mengmeng said it.

“Your logic doesn’t make sense! Males hurt too when they are injured and they also need people to take care of them,” Gu Mengmeng moved her body to protest even though her slim body did not affect Elvis in any way but attitude was still required.

Elvis was speechless.

Males hurt too.

But, they were already used to pain, just like how breathing came naturally, until they forget that... males hurt too.

Chapter 21 - A New Tactic of Hitting Up Girls?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Taking advantage of Elvis blanking out, Gu Mengmeng garnered all her might to escape from him and then scampered towards Barete.

This image, to Barete, was like heaven. But, to Elvis, it was a bottomless chasm.

Eventually, Elvis did not chase Gu Mengmeng and just turned around to leave with his brows furrowed.

Yes, males hurt too.

Elvis's hand brushed against his left chest, the suffocating pain carving straight into his bones even though no blood could be seen. On the other hand, the main culprit of this hardship was currently running towards another male, eagerly treating a mere superficial wound.

Gu Mengmeng was completely fleeing for her life, of course she could not care much about Elvis. Her entire mind was filled with thoughts on how to avoid the people of Saint Nazaire to the greatest extent to ease her escape. This was the real reason why she chose Barete. Compared to Elvis who could bend a tree branch with his bare hands, the severely injured Barete was a more ideal choice.

The scene that enveloped Gu Mengmeng when she reached the stream was a little strange.

Most of the males had followed Elvis to visit Nina at Lea's cave. Although there were many of them who had decided to pursue Gu Mengmeng, females were still the most precious treasure in the tribe. Males had the obligation to protect all females in the tribe before mating. So, now that Nina was severely wounded, they had to find out what exactly happened.

There was two to three pursuers of Gu Mengmeng left by the stream. The reason they stayed was not because they did not care for Nina, but because the cause of injury was not clear. If any wild or ferocious beasts were to invade or attack, it would be very dangerous when a female was weak and vulnerable so there must always be males protecting every female by her side.

As compared to the huge bunch of males who left with Elvis, it was easier for Gu Mengmeng to find an opportunity to shake off these three innocent males.

But compared to these three who she could not even name, Barete who was still in the stream appeared particularly... special.

He maintained a strange pose, half lying in the stream, his wound soaking in the water just like that. His flesh, which was exposed, wrinkled up as a result while the flowing water in the stream entered his mouth and nostrils from time to time. He was in agony evidently but he still did not move a single inch.

“Barete? What happened?” Gu Mengmeng could not think more, and she instinctively rushed forward to help him sit up.

Barete looked at Gu Mengmeng, asking in a rather awkward tone, “Can I move now?”

“Huh?” Gu Mengmeng was unable to respond straight away.

“Didn’t you ask me to sit and not move just now? So...” Barete was a little guilty. Actually, when he was thrown by Elvis just now, he secretly moved a sharp stone once to avoid hitting it. Even though he knew that Gu Mengmeng would not know about it, he was still feeling guilty so his volume became softer and softer.

“Ah?!” Gu Mengmeng smacked her forehead as she did not know whether to laugh or cry, “So when Elvis threw you earlier, you did not dodge. When so many of them ganged up to beat you, you did not escape just because I asked you not to move?”

“Yeah,” Barete nodded his head frankly.

Gu Mengmeng felt a weak whack on the back of her head as she asked herself, the corners of her lips twitching, “Is this a new tactic of hitting up girls?”

Sigh...

“I asked you not to move because I was scared that your wound will worsen if you stood up and it was not beneficial for your recovery. I did not ask you to be a punching bag and not dodge a single bit when they hit you,” Gu Mengmeng held onto Barete’s arm and helped him up.

The scene of a 1.9 meters tall Barete being unable to lift his head up upon getting scolded by Gu Mengmeng was quite cute.

Chapter 22 - Let's Escape Together

Gu Mengmeng supported Barete back to under the tree, checking his wound in detail. But strangely, although Barete's body had a few bruises added to it, the deepest wound did not show any signs of tearing and bleeding again. It was just that after soaking in the water for quite long, it appeared white and even wrinkly.

"Barete," Gu Mengmeng hesitated for a moment. Although implicating an injured man was immoral, she could not hide Nina's injury any further. Elvis and the bunch of burly males could return any time. Gu Mengmeng really did not have much time to consider the problem of going against her morals.

"Yeah?" Barete responded softly, his eyes never leaving Gu Mengmeng since the start.

Gu Mengmeng bit her under lip, her thoughts entangled for a while before she suggested, "Let's escape together."

"Escape?" Barete did not object. Females in this beast world were always like that, once they say go, they will go.

It's just that... why escape?

Although Gu Mengmeng felt that Barete was very gentle towards her and that he was the only one she could count on at the moment, she did not reveal her true identity to him. After all, everything here was too odd. Before she figured everything out, she could not expose herself.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng replied, half speaking the truth, "I was the one who injured Nina. I would definitely not be spared when Elvis and the rest comes back later..."

Barete's heart ached upon seeing Gu Mengmeng's scrunched-up face. He could not help but place his hand on her brows as he comforted her gently, "You're a female. No matter how angry Nina's partner is, he won't make things too difficult for you. If they do, I will be there to fight them. Elvis will also protect you so we don't have to escape."

We, is such a beautiful word.

The moment Barete finished speaking, he felt a sense of warmth in his chest. His eyes sparkled tenderly as he looked at Gu Mengmeng, as if he was expecting but also afraid to hear her correction.

To his relief, Gu Mengmeng was too immersed in her own worry and did not seem to feel that Barete's 'we' was inappropriate in any way.

"Why will Nina's partner fight you when I was the one who hit her?" Gu Mengmeng could not understand this logic.

Barete raised his brows and said proudly, "Because I am your pursuer."

"Huh?" What had these two got to do with each other? Gu Mengmeng was confused.

"Normally, the grievance between females are settled through battles by their males. But you're still a young female without any partner. Strictly speaking, any male can't hurt you so if they are really angry or can't wait till you mate for revenge, it's up to your pursuers to battle with them."

"That means if you win, they will forget about the fact that I hit Nina and will not find trouble with me in the future?" Gu Mengmeng's large and captivating eyes sparkled, as if there were stars in them.

Barete nodded his head, holding back the urge to rub Gu Mengmeng's fluffy little head.

"What if you lose?" Gu Mengmeng continued asking.

"If I die in the hands of Nina's partner, another of your pursuer will step forward to accept the battle. Until one of your pursuer wins or Nina's partner gives up.”

Die...

Such a grave matter, how was Barete able to talk about it so easily?

Gu Mengmeng frowned, pressing her thin lips into a line. Her eyes were full of doubt but she was not sure how to raise the question.

Chapter 23 - Harboring Ill Intentions

Gu Mengmeng thought for very long and could only say, “You better not like me.”

Barete was stunned, but he immediately grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng’s hand that she wanted to retract, “I’m very strong, I won’t lose.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “I’m not doubting your ability, I just don’t want to implicate you. Like what you said, I’m still a young underage female. No matter how angry Nina’s partner is, he won’t harm me. You shouldn’t take on the risk for my sake, fists don’t have eyes grown on them, there’s always not a definite winner when it comes to battles.”

Barete wanted to add something but Gu Mengmeng tugged onto her lips and revealed a sly smile, “And anyway, I was already planning to leave. I’m sure Nina’s partner would not abandon her when she’s injured just to chase me wherever I went right?”

“You’re... still leaving?” Barete was a little disappointed. He thought that Gu Mengmeng liked him but she still preferred to leave alone than to give him a chance to fight for her.

“I don’t belong here. I’ll have to leave sooner or later,” Gu Mengmeng dusted her butt after standing up, leaning on Barete’s shoulder to whisper to him, “Shield me.”

Barete did not have the time to respond when he saw Gu Mengmeng clutching on her stomach, groaning out in pain, “Ouch, ouch, my stomach is very painful.”

“Mengmeng!” Barete was worried to death. Just as he was about to carry her up and head over to Lea, he saw Gu Mengmeng sending him a message by twitching her eyes with all her might.

“I’m fine, I’m fine. I just have to find somewhere to settle my business.” Although using feces excretion was not a bright idea, it was good enough for her plan.

“Oh....oh ok, ” Barete finally understood Gu Mengmeng’s idea after contemplating long. He hesitated for a moment but still nodded his head, eventually.

Males are not supposed to defy the desires of females.

“Off you go, I will be guarding you,” Barete clenched his fists tightly, straining every nerve to suppress the impulse to pull Gu Mengmeng back into his embrace as he could only say, “Be careful, don’t walk too far.”

I will go and find you.

This sentence was cried out as loudly as Barete could in his heart.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, smiled at Barete in return and scurried away urgently as if her backside was set on fire.

The three males that was guarding Gu Mengmeng wanted to chase after her but was stopped by Barete. He did not say anything as he just looked at the elephant-ear leaf in silence, his expression blank but no words came out.

Gu Mengmeng ran for a distance and upon realizing nobody was after her, she heaved a sigh of relief. She sprawled out on her back lying on the floor, gasping heavily in deep breaths like a fish out of water. After she finally caught her breath and was about to get up to advance further, she realized that she did not know where she was.

The sky already turned pitch black and her surroundings were filled with towering old trees. Gu Mengmeng could not differentiate where she was heading. She originally wanted to return to the stream where she was discovered by Elvis to see if there were any clues for her to return to the present world but now, she was completely lost.

Moreover, this ancient forest was scarily quiet. Let alone the sounds of birds chirping or insects creaking, even the blowing of wind could not be heard.

She was too occupied with running away earlier and did not seem to realize that this dark forest was absolutely terrifying when it was quiet. Listening to her deafening heartbeat, Gu Mengmeng forced out a smile to embolden herself, “It’s alright, it’s alright...”

Snap.

Something broke.

Amidst this complete thick silence, this trivial sound sent a chill down Gu Mengmeng’s spine as she broke out in cold sweat.

“Who? Whos’ there?! I saw you!” Gu Mengmeng tried to put on a bold front.

A pair of glimmering green eyes appeared amongst the complete dark curtain. Gu Mengmeng’s sight was almost fully blinded in this setting and she was unable to see the other party’s features. She could only figure out the other party’s build from the position of its eyes. This height... a bear?!

Chapter 24 - Harboring Ill Intentions 2

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

How about lying down and acting dead? Bears do not eat dead prey right?

But are bears nocturnal animals? Damn it, Gu Mengmeng really regretted not watching 'Animal World' properly these few years.

"Gu Mengmeng," Just when Gu Mengmeng was feeling desperate and at unrest, the owner of those green eyes started talking. Although she could not see its face clearly, Gu Mengmeng could clearly feel a chill in the air. Because that was a person who had squeeze out her name word by word from between his teeth, evidently harboring ill intentions.

"Who are you?" Gu Mengmeng stepped back out of instinct, her back leaning against a big tree to prevent her stomach and back from being attacked. Picking up a wooden stick at the side and blocking herself from her chest, she stared at the green eyes warily.

As the green eyes approached closer step by step, Gu Mengmeng's whole body tensed up together with the crunching sound of the leaves getting stepped on.

"I'm not going to restrain myself further if you come any closer!" Gu Mengmeng raised the wooden stick, contemplating on whether she could reach the height of the green-eyed person if she jumped.

"Not going to restrain yourself? When you attacked Nina, you already did not restrain yourself." The green-eyed person walked in front of Gu Mengmeng until the distance between them was merely a step.

Gu Mengmeng strained her eyes and managed to see the contour of its face.

Not a bear, not a bear.

Gu Mengmeng heaved a sigh of relief, her brain then quickly starting to operate.

“You’re Nina’s male partner?” Gu Mengmeng thought, she had only transmigrated to this world for less than half a day. If there was any foe of hers, there was only Nina.

“Yes, I am Nina’s male partner, Quentin.” Quentin said as he grabbed Gu Mengmeng’s neck, his fingers compressing in slowly without an ounce of pity, “When you return to the arms of the Beast Deity, please remember to complain clearly that it’s I, Quentin, who killed you, this has got nothing to do with Nina.”

Even though Gu Mengmeng could not see Quentin’s expression, she could absolutely feel the burning intention to kill herself through her slim neck.

Without any thought, Gu Mengmeng waved the wooden stick mercilessly against Quentin’s head.

There was a cracking sound and the wooden stick split into two. Gu Mengmeng’s arm was numb from the hit but Quentin’s head did not even tilt a single inch.

“You hit Nina like that earlier, didn’t you?”

Gu Mengmeng’s strike not only did not create any physical harm to Quentin, it made him more furious.

Gu Mengmeng felt both her legs leaving the ground slowly, and it became harder to breathe

She clutched onto Quentin’s fingers with all her might, aspirating, “I’m... a young female... you... you can’t... can’t kill me...”

“If you had stayed in Saint Nazaire, I definitely couldn’t hurt you. Or else I will cause Nina to be banished... but you actually ran out yourself. Without the protection of the tribe who else would know I killed you?” Quentin sniggered coldly, exerting more strength on his hand, “I would not let anyone that hurt Nina off. Even if you’re a young female, you’re no exception.”

Gu Mengmeng was breaking down at the moment, who said males were not allowed to hurt young females?

Who said females were treasured here and that all males would take care and protect them?

Barete, you landed me in great trouble!

Chapter 25 - A Close Shave

“Quentin,” a voice was heard from above them, just when Gu Mengmeng almost stopped breathing.

Quentin paused for a moment, as if there was a moment of hesitation. But the next second, he exerted more force onto his hand, clearly wanting to defy all odds to finish Gu Mengmeng once and for all.

Snap.

Following a rattle, the grip around Gu Mengmeng’s neck loosened. The surrounding air entered her nostrils and mouth abruptly and she gasped in deep mouths of air like a fish out of water, greedy and urgent.

“Ah——!” Quentin’s wail pierced through the entire forest. A bloody severed hand was thrown randomly next to him

Gu Mengmeng landed in a soft embrace of a person who then patted her back gently to soothe her breathing, as if he was not the one who severed Quentin’s arm earlier.

“Don’t be scared, don’t be scared, everything’s alright.”

Gu Mengmeng was feeling very weak after the lack of oxygen and could only huddle up like a spineless cat in the male’s embrace. Although his voice was soft, it made Gu Mengmeng felt at peace. He was apparently a stranger, but at this very moment, he gave her an absolute sense of security.

Gu Mengmeng could not understand why she trusted this male who surfaced suddenly either. She just felt that his embrace was very warm, enticing her to rely on him unknowingly.

“Yeah,” Gu Mengmeng forced a response with a dry throat and stopped talking.

“Are you willing to follow me back to Saint Nazaire?” The male asked again.

Gu Mengmeng glanced over at the wailing Quentin, feeling a sense of sadness. Even though he was loathsome, he said something that made the most sense.

In this world, without the protection of a tribe who else would know if she were to die?

And furthermore, deep in this old forest, even if Nina’s partners did not come to seek revenge, Gu Mengmeng was also not able to survive for more than three days. Instead, it was better to return to Saint Nazaire tribe first. There was at least Barete this acquaintance of hers. If Elvis insisted on eating her, she could still run away then.

Thinking about it, Gu Mengmeng then nodded her head, giving her consent.

After getting Gu Mengmeng’s permit, the male seemingly heaved a sigh of relief. Using one hand to support Gu Mengmeng’s butt and another to stroke her neck, he carried Gu Mengmeng in his arms like how one would carry a child and tried to let her feel more comfortable.

Walking two steps forward, as he passed Quentin, the male stopped. He looked down on Quentin in a commanding position and said, “Return to Saint Nazaire with me to accept the deity’s punishment.”

“Yes.” Quentin clenched his teeth, holding back the intense pain as he followed behind the male and tottered back to Saint Nazaire, slanting to one side.

Gu Mengmeng experienced fleeing and getting chased for murder, almost losing her life over the span of one night. Extreme restlessness and fright depleted much of Gu Mengmeng’s energy and furthermore, the male’s embrace was too comfortable and gentle. She fell asleep very soon.

When she woke up, she was already back to Saint Nazaire tribe.

“You’re awake?” Elvis’s expression was cold, as if he was trying to hold back his anger that he could not bear to lose on Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng blinked and blinked, scanning her surroundings and realized that she was currently in Elvis’s cave without anyone here.

That person last night... was definitely not Elvis.

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and asked, “Where’s the person who saved me last night?”

As soon as Gu Mengmeng’s question was asked, Elvis threw a fist on the wall of his cave. Fragments of broken rock bits were sent everywhere, giving Gu Mengmeng a scare till she huddled herself up and wishing that she could retract back into her own shadow.

Chapter 26 - The Deity's Punishment

Realizing Gu Mengmeng's fear, Elvis suppressed his own anger.

"Lea is hosting the rite of the Deity's Punishment. He will visit you tonight."

Gu Mengmeng noticed that although Elvis looked angry, he did not have the intention to hurt her so she grew braver and stuck her small head out from the dark, "What is the Deity's Punishment?"

Elvis pressed his lips together, frowning. He did not want to tell Gu Mengmeng anything related to the Deity's Punishment because he was afraid that Gu Mengmeng would be interested in the person executing it or the person receiving it. He particularly did not like the feeling of Gu Mengmeng shifting her attention to other males besides him.

However, as he met Gu Mengmeng's crystal-clear eyes that shone curiosity, Elvis could not bear to reject her and could only suppress his jealousy till he almost suffered from internal injury and satisfy Gu Mengmeng's thirst for knowledge.

"It's a grave crime to harm a female. Any tribe would not be easily excused. Hurting a young female was even more disrespectful to the Beast Deity, so the criminal has to stay exposed to the sun for three days in the altar. If he did not evolve back into beast form, this means that the Beast Deity has forgiven him and he just has to be banished from the tribe."

Elvis said as he observed Gu Mengmeng's facial expression. He realized that when he was clearing her doubts, Gu Mengmeng would stare at him intently with her clear eyes that resembled a fawn so he cleared his throat and continued,

“However, if the criminal was unable to maintain human form and evolve back into beast form, this means that the Beast Deity is in a thundering rage and the criminal’s skin must be skinned to make a flag. This flag would be raised on the peak of the Beast Deity Mountain by the tribe’s witch doctor to ease the Beast Deity’s anger.”

Gu Mengmeng obtained an important message from Elvis’s words: maintain human form and evolve back into beast form.

So...

Saint Nazaire did not only have Elvis as a werewolf, everyone else was ... a demon too?!

What the heck, I did not even complain much after you transmigrated me to this place where birds peed and pooped anywhere they wanted and this place did not even have any WIFI, why the heck was this place also filled with demons?!

Monkey King? Where’s my Monkey King? Praying for a monkey, one that can tumble over clouds, fly to the sky, enter the ground and defeat demons!

Elvis read Gu Mengmeng’s attitude of how life meant nothing to her in a different way. He thought that she must have guessed who was the one receiving the punishment. That explained the dreary and heavy expression on her face.

Ah, it’s so upsetting! I really want to execute the punishment myself!

“That...” Gu Mengmeng pressed her lips, calculating the benefits and cons of both escaping and staying in her mind. She decided to stay decisively.

Firstly, the world was so big, she would get lost easily.

Secondly, who asked her to be a frail beauty who lacked the physical strength. How was she able to outrun a bunch of demons?

Since she decided to stay, Gu Mengmeng decided that she should suck up to Elvis. After all, everyone here seemed like they were all very scared of him.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng shifted forward after mustering her courage and used two fingers to pinch a corner of Elvis's beast-skin dress with caution, her eyes filled with innocence and naivety. She said with a clearly fawning tone, "Elvis, do you accept sidekicks? Those that can act cute."

"Sidekicks?" Elvis raised his eyebrows in uncertainty, not sure what Gu Mengmeng meant.

"Yeah, sidekicks." Gu Mengmeng nodded her head heavily and said, "Those that follow behind you, serve you tea, pour you water, give you a massage, eat, shop and even chat with you everyday."

Chapter 27 - Rightful Status (Elvis Taking Up The Position?)

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis had to say that Gu Mengmeng's suggestion tempted him.

The tip of Elvis's ears turned pink secretly as he tilted his head to the other side awkwardly to prevent looking at Gu Mengmeng and said in a rather stiff tone, "If you become my sidekick, would you not leave me... again?"

In the next second, Gu Mengmeng nodded her head firmly, "As long as you're willing to defend me, I'll not leave you even by a foot and I'll not go anywhere at all."

Bullshit, this world was so dangerous, who knows when one will get eaten after running off. It was better to get eaten by Elvis instead of other demons Gu Mengmeng did not know, at least he was good looking~ Confucius once said: The way good-looking people eat would not be too ugly!

(I would have to trouble you fellows to press onto Confucius's coffin for me, I am afraid he would crawl out from there to strangle me to death.)

The seven words 'not leave you even by a foot' captured Elvis's manic heart successfully. In just a short moment, the heart that was beating crazily out of control actually stopped beating for a few seconds.

Although Elvis still did not understand what was the exact meaning of sidekick, he deciphered that it was around the same as a partner. Or perhaps it was a language that the Beast Deity and messengers of the Beast Deity's used for communication, that was why he did not know about it.

After all, other than partners, what other relationships were distanced less than a foot away?

Thus, Elvis held his head up high and walked in front of Gu Mengmeng in big strides, pulling Gu Mengmeng into his embrace. Placing his chin on the pit of her neck, he announced with a sincere voice that resembled a cello, “Ok, from today onwards, you are my sidekick.”

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly. Although Gu Mengmeng was still a young female and was still unable to mate, she was already his sidekick and this could most likely approve his identity as her future partner right?

With this identity, Elvis liked the feeling of hugging Gu Mengmeng even more.

He thought that this warmth that flowed from his chest to his limbs must be the feeling of happiness.

Gu Mengmeng totally had no idea that Elvis would understand ‘sidekick’ as ‘engagement’. She merely treated Elvis as a demon of great enthusiasm and warmth so she hugged him back, patting his back twice at the same time, fawning over him, “Leader, from today onwards, I will be following you, you have to take care of me, ok?”

“Ok,” Elvis replied readily. Taking care of his female was naturally his duty.

Gu Mengmeng felt that she fished an extremely fat one and could live freely in Saint Nazaire in the future. Nina’s partners would not dare to find her trouble right?

Thinking about it, Gu Mengmeng heaved a sigh of relief.

As one loosens up, the cumulative energy used up will surface.

Growl~growl~~

Gu Mengmeng’s stomach started to protest.

About 17-18 hours have passed since she transmigrated here and she had not eaten anything yet.

“Leader...” Gu Mengmeng clutched her stomach with one hand and put another around Elvis’s neck, looking at him pitifully and putting on an expression requesting for food.

Elvis’s brow furrowed.

It was his negligence, females were different from males. Males were able to stand three days without eating, a meal could last them for three days but females were not able to stand it.

“I’ll find something for you, stay in the cave and wait for me. Don’t run off.” Elvis said, but he did not let go of Gu Mengmeng.

He knew that his priority was to take care of a female but hugging her rightfully like this felt too good. He could not bear to release his hand that was holding her.

Chapter 28 - Rabbit or Deer?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“No!” Gu Mengmeng’s reaction was even bigger than Elvis so she simply wrapped both her hands around Elvis’s neck, putting on a not coming down even if she dies’ front, “Bring me along, what if Nina’s other partners trouble me after you leave?”

“Hmm?” Although Elvis was enjoying Gu Mengmeng’s reliance a lot, but how could his female live her life in anxiety like this?

Elvis felt that he ought to have a ‘heart-to-heart chat’ with Nina’s partners.

“You promise to defend me.....” Gu Mengmeng said shamelessly.

“Ok.” Elvis rubbed Gu Mengmeng’s little head gently, his mind suddenly surfacing the adorable look of her staring at him while supporting her cheeks with both of her hands after parting her hair that was made messy by him.

Actually, it was just yesterday.

But at the time, she was not his sidekick yet.

He was feeling rather happy and the corners of his lips curved slightly upwards unknowingly. Carrying Gu Mengmeng out of the cave, he let the radiant sunlight shine on his face, giving a bright glow. From afar, he looked like a warlord who descended from the ninth heaven.

Elvis and Gu Mengmeng’s appearance at Saint Nazaire caused a huge commotion. It was partly because of Gu Mengmeng’s beauty, no matter how many times one saw it, it was quite astonishing in the beast world. It was also due to the fact that the rite of the Deity’s Punishment was being executed. What Quentin did to Gu Mengmeng invited public outrage.

Laying hands on a young female was an action too vicious! Especially on a beautiful young female like Gu Mengmeng.

Everyone wanted to come forward to comfort Gu Mengmeng but seeing how she was huddled up in Elvis's embrace, frightened like a little white rabbit, they could not bear to do it.

After all, every male in Saint Nazaire was responsible for the terrifying experience she went through due to their lack of protection.

"Why are they looking at me like that?" Despite how slow-witted Gu Mengmeng was, she felt something wrong with close to hundred pairs of eyes staring at her, thus she whispered next to Elvis's ear.

Elvis's ears were more sensitive than any other ordinary orc. Gu Mengmeng's soft breath caused his heart to tense and beat wildly.

Seeing how Elvis was not answering, Gu Mengmeng looked up, distancing herself from Elvis's face. She tilted her head to look at him with an expression that resembled a well-behaved child who was waiting for an answer badly.

Elvis did not answer Gu Mengmeng's question. He was still unwilling to disclose too much about the Deity's Punishment.

"Rabbit or deer?" Elvis tried to switch a topic.

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng was confused.

"Rabbit meat is smoother while deer meat is softer. Which do you want to eat?" Elvis thought for a while and continued, "Or are you craving for something else? If the tribe doesn't have it, I can hunt for you."

"Oh, no need to trouble you." Gu Mengmeng's curiosity long vanished into the ninth region of heaven after Elvis's words. After all, satisfying her own needs was more serious.

Deer meat sounded very nourishing but Gu Mengmeng felt that as a good citizen who abides by the law, she dared not try first class national protected animals so she grinned and said, “I want rabbit meat.”

Elvis nodded his head and headed towards the cave where the tribe stored their food. Due to the overly cold air in the cave, he placed Gu Mengmeng at the cave entrance. Gu Mengmeng contemplated, Elvis was just in the cave, Elvis will definitely save her in time with his speed as long as she shouts loudly. She then let go of Elvis’s neck and waited at the entrance, well-behaved.

Not long later, a piece of bloody meat that have a strong iron smell appeared before Gu Mengmeng’s eyes. Elvis held the meat and said, pampering her, “Eat.”

Chapter 29 - You Want to Eat It With The Skin?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was completely dumbfounded.

Eat? Eat it raw?!

Let alone eat, Gu Mengmeng felt nauseous just after seeing the bloody look. She almost vomited after retching a few times.

“Leader, lent me some fire.” Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis pitifully.

“Fire?” Elvis frowned, clearly not understanding Gu Mengmeng.

As long as he had it, he will give her everything she wants, let alone lending it to her.

Even though he did not have it, as long as he knew what it was, he will snatch it at all costs to prevent her from not having it.

But...

Fire?

What was that?

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis, feeling extremely unfair.

Damn it, both of their expressions were dumbfounded but why was his of a much higher quality than hers? He was clearly a life idiot who did not even know what was fire!

Gu Mengmeng sighed heavily, thinking silently in her mind: This superficial society that looked at appearance...

“Leader, can you find two dry tree branches for me? One thicker by a little, yeah... as thick as your arm. The other one thinner, around the same thickness of my two fingers.” Gu Mengmeng said as she gestured, trying to let Elvis understand her.

Elvis looked at the rabbit meat in his hands and turned to look at Gu Mengmeng in expectation, passing it to her, “Eat this first, I’ll find you some wood.”

Gu Mengmeng stepped backwards out of instinct and said with a slightly awkward tone, “Leader, I don’t eat raw meat.”

“Raw meat?” Elvis looked down at the rabbit.

Its skin was just peeled, how fresh was it! Why was she not eating it?

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng in doubt, “You want to eat it with the skin?”

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched, yeah, there was not any fire here, that was why there can’t be cooked meat. Since there was not any cooked meat, how would Elvis know about raw meat?

Sigh, just because their living environments were different, the generation gap between them was as vast as the Pacific Ocean.

“Leader, I will need to start a fire with the branches before I can eat. Or else... I’ll die.” Gu Mengmeng tried to simplify her explanation, avoiding terms that Elvis could not understand. Or else until she finished explaining everything, Elvis would not need to find tools to help her start a fire anymore because she would have starved to death.

Elvis was unaware of Gu Mengmeng’s plans. He only understood Gu Mengmeng’s words literally and knew that she wanted firewood and fire. It was the procedure that messengers of the Beast Deity had to go through before eating or else they will die.

Die.

This was an extremely shocking word.

How could his Gu Mengmeng die because she did not have tree branches?

“Ok, wait here.” Elvis threw the rabbit meat at a side, disappearing as quick as wind to find wood for Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng stared at the bloody rabbit meat that was beyond recognition, lying on the floor and she sighed in silence.

No matter how good-looking Leader was, he was still a barbarian from ancient times who only knew that meat had to be peeled before eating. But why didn't he know that the ingredients had to be cleaned first?

Sigh, seems like I can only produce ample food and clothing with my own hands.

As Gu Mengmeng thought about it, she picked up the rabbit meat from the floor stealthily, wanting to wash it in the stream at the tribe and then attempt to cook it by starting a fire with the dry tree branches Elvis returned with.

Due to the previous attempt to escape, she ended up walking around the tribe for half a day. However, now there was a blessing in disguise. At least Gu Mengmeng could find the landmarks in the tribe.

The way to the stream was to walk across the big empty land in the center of the tribe before walking for a while more.

But, why was the empty land surrounded by so many people?

Chapter 30 - Barete Receiving The Punishment

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng held the piece of untreated rabbit meat and squeezed into the crowd with a mentality to join in the fun.

Although Gu Mengmeng's physique was tiny, in this beast world where the disparity between the proportion of males and females were wide, males had innate senses towards females. Furthermore, Gu Mengmeng had a unique strong but pleasant scent. Thus, the crowd of males discovered Gu Mengmeng shortly after and shifted towards both sides habitually, making way for her.

"Huh? Thank you, thank you~" People still made way for her even when she just wanted to join in the fun. It was the first time Gu Mengmeng experienced something like this, she expressed her gratitude in a slightly awkward tone as she headed forward. At the other end of the crowd, she saw a familiar figure.

"Barete?!" Gu Mengmeng's eyes widened, her face filled with disbelief.

Barete was kneeling on an enormous rock together with Quentin. The rock was half a person tall with a surface area of approximately five to six square meters. The entire rock was exposed in an open area without any shelter. Who knows how long did Barete and Quentin kneel for, both of their mouths were so dry till their lips cracked but Barete was still kneeling upright, not ruining his strong manly image at all.

However, Quentin who was kneeling beside Barete looked much more tragic. Although his severed arm was not bleeding anymore, he clearly looked more frail as his dry lips were dreadfully pale. Judging by his condition, under this sunlight, let alone evolving back into his original form, he will probably be roasted into barbecued pork in less than three days

And in contrast to the condition of those two males was another male standing on the stone platform. Even though the three of them were all exposed under the sunlight without shelter, his skin appeared to be crystal-clear, as if the sunlight could not inflict any harm on him and instead plate him with a layer of a golden ray.

Vastly different and even further from the image of a descended war lord like Elvis, this male was standing graciously upright, looking like a cold and unreachable flower. His holiness challenged the courage of anyone to have even the slightest sinful thought.

Mr Holy sized Gu Mengmeng up and gave her a small smile, “You’re awake.”

“Huh?!” The voice sounded so familiar. Gu Mengmeng was in a trance for a short while before she suddenly realized that this was the voice that gave her an incomparable sense of security last night. When he said “don’t be scared, don’t be scared, everything’s alright”, she was miraculously not scared.

Gu Mengmeng climbed on the stone platform, overjoyed as she went in front of Mr Holy, “You were the one who saved me yesterday right?”

“It was a blessing from the Beast Deity that allowed me to find you in time.” The male’s voice was light, but it gladdened the heart like sweet meandering spring water.

Gu Mengmeng smiled brightly, her eyes curving upwards, “I still have to thank you. If it wasn’t for you, I would have lost my life.”

The male did not reply and instead, merely nodded his head with a slight smile.

Gu Mengmeng moved closer to the male and asked softly, “Why is Barete kneeling here? What did he do wrong?”

Mr Holy looked at Gu Mengmeng, then turned to look at Barete before answering, “As your pursuer, he not only failed to accomplish the responsibility of protecting you, he also prevented Tiel and the rest from protecting you, causing Quentin to have the direct opportunity to take advantage of which almost caused your life. This is a grave mistake that needs severe punishment.”

“Ah?” Gu Mengmeng felt terribly sorry. She was the one who escaped but the one receiving the punishment was Barete, this was too unfair.

Moreover, Gu Mengmeng did not forget that Elvis once said, the so-called Deity’s Punishment was to stay exposed to sunlight for three days. If he could not endure anymore and evolve back into beast form, his skin would be skinned off.

Chapter 31 - You Are Now Being Kidnapped By Me

Contemplating for a while, Gu Mengmeng stepped a small step forward with her chest out and said, “I was the one who let Barete stop the rest, this isn’t Barete’s fault. If you have to punish someone, punish me and release Barete.”

Gu Mengmeng’s words caused a huge commotion.

All along, it was males who would take the place of females when they made a mistake. This was the first time a female stood out to receive the punishment for a male.

Mr Holy was not affected by the commotion. He seemed like he could not hear the rustle from the crowd at all and still maintained a calm and gentle look towards Gu Mengmeng as he smiled slightly, “You’re a young female, a favorite of the Beast Deity. No matter what you do, you would not get punished.”

Gu Mengmeng was overjoyed. She turned around to look at Barete before turning back to Mr Holy and questioned, “If it’s like that, Barete need not receive the punishment anymore right?”

Mr Holy continued smiling, but he shook his head, “It’s a fact that he did not protect you well and he has to get punished.”

“But, I was the one who did not allow him to follow!” Gu Mengmeng emphasized.

“When he promised you, he was already ready to receive this kind of punishment.” The male’s manner was extremely gentle, but he did not yield a single inch.

This caused Gu Mengmeng to feel very infuriated, what was all this goddamn gangster logic?

Clenching her teeth, a thought suddenly formed in Gu Mengmeng's mind so she smiled slyly, asking Mr Holy from sideways, "Since I'm a young female, there won't be a problem if I did anything right?"

Mr Holy's interest was ignited by Gu Mengmeng's sly look. He nodded his head to affirm Gu Mengmeng's words with some expectation and looking on.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and walked next to Barete, pulling his arm, "Get up, you're now being kidnapped by me."

Barete did not understand Gu Mengmeng, kidnapped... what was that?

Deep down, Gu Mengmeng looked down on the generation gap for the umpteenth time and she explained with patience, "It means that you must listen to me now and do whatever I asked you to."

Barete forced a smile, not caring if this type of smile caused his dry lips to crack till blood oozed out. He perfectly acted out what was a tough man with a tender heart who was desperate to pamper the female.

"Ok, I will listen to whatever you say, after I'm done with the punishment..."

"You'll have no life left after you're done with the punishment. I don't care, you have to listen to me now." Gu Mengmeng was pissed off by Barete this block-head. He actually did not know how to cooperate even with her shielding him with the title of a young female! What a ninny-hammer.

"Mengmeng, be good and knock if off. When I'm done with the punishment, I'll listen to whatever you ask me to do. But now, I really can't get up or else..." Barete looked at Gu Mengmeng in a difficult situation, not sure how to finish the rest of his sentence.

Gu Mengmeng held her head high with arms akimbo, asking, “Or else what?”

Gu Mengmeng was not convinced that there was something scarier in this world than losing one’s life after being exposed to the sunlight and even getting his skin skinned.

Barete looked down, the brows on his forehead furrowing into a dead knot that could not release no matter what. With his lips pressed into a straight line, he clearly made up his mind to not open his mouth.

Mr Holy took a leaf as big as a small umbrella from somewhere and held it over Gu Mengmeng’s head to block off the sunlight. He peered down at Barete and Quentin in a commanding position, helping Barete answer, “If he ran away from the Deity’s Punishment, the rage of the Beast Deity will land on his female.”

Chapter 32 - The Most Severe Punishment on A Male by The Beast Deity

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng dissed them deep down in her heart: Were there no other goddamn fresh ideas? Everything was just about females and females. Was it worth it to sacrifice their lives just for the ridiculous rage of the Beast Deity?

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes in her heart but looking at the two males before her, one kneeling there after being implicated by her while the other being her benefactor who saved her life just last night. Although she disliked their idiocy and superstition, she could not say much. After all, everyone had the right to believe in their rightful set of beliefs.

However, forcing Gu Mengmeng to watch Barete suffer under this sunlight for three days, she was still unable to do it.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng sat next to Barete in a fit of a moment, elbowing Barete's arm and asked, "Aren't you a male virgin? You don't even have a female, why are you scared of the Beast Deity venting his anger on your female?"

Barete blushed slightly and fixated his gentle gaze that was forged from his flesh and bone on Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng pointed at herself with her index finger, asking, "Don't tell me you're afraid that the Beast Deity will vent his anger on me?"

Barete nodded his head.

The Beast Deity's rage will extend to the female and this was the most severe punishment on a male by the Beast Deity.

Although Gu Mengmeng was not his female yet, Barete still could not take the chance and let Gu Mengmeng risk her life.

Gu Mengmeng was pretty dumbfounded but at the same time, touched. Thus, her attitude softened by quite a lot and she continued asking, as if she was chatting with him, "Besides kneeling under the sunlight here, are there other rules needed to be abide by?"

Barete shook his head, expressing that he had no idea. Then he looked up at Mr Holy, as if he was troubling him to answer on his behalf.

Mr Holy deliberated for a moment before answering, "No, as long as they can maintain human form for three days, this means that the Beast Deity has forgiven them."

"Oh~" Gu Mengmeng meaningfully nodded her head, then gave an extremely sweet smile to Barete while tilting her head.

"Mengmeng, go back first. This is the Platform of the Deity's Punishment, it won't be good if you sat here for too long." Barete was a little worried, he was afraid that the Beast Deity will vent his anger on Gu Mengmeng after realizing that she climbed onto the platform.

But, Gu Mengmeng paid no attention, and she raised her chin, saying, "What is there that's not good? I'm a young female, a favorite of the Beast Deity, no matter what I do, I would not get punished."

"But..." Barete wanted to say something but was interrupted by another voice.

"Gu Mengmeng." Elvis appeared with a darkened face while holding onto two wooden sticks, one thick and one thin.

Elvis should not be blamed for his anger. He rushed off frantically to find her some wooden sticks just because he was worried that she was too hungry and was more worried that she would die from the punishment of the Beast Deity. But her? In a split second, she actually climbed onto the Platform of the Deity's Punishment and even huddled so closely with Barete who was still receiving the punishment.

“Leader~I’m here~” Upon hearing Elvis calling for her, she stood up immediately, waving at him.

Elvis’s anger was entirely dispersed by Gu Mengmeng’s delicate and bright smile. He took a large step forward and climbed up the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment easily just in a step. He said as he passed Gu Mengmeng the wooden sticks, “You can eat now, right?”

Gu Mengmeng clutched onto her stomach, giggling guiltily.

How nice was she to forget that she was still famished because of Barete?

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was aware of her mistake but did not correct it, Elvis was annoyed but amused at the same time but he was at his wit’s end and could only sigh, saying, “Hurry and eat.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head eagerly and sat down crossed-legged. Observing the wooden sticks in each of her hands for a long time, she passed Barete the thinner one and instructed, “Come, help me sharpen the tip a little.”

Chapter 33 - She Liked Lea!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Barete received the wooden stick, at a loss before sharpening it earnestly.

Barete was very excited internally. He knew that he was currently receiving the Deity's Punishment but he could not control the strong current inside him.

Elvis was the one who brought Gu Mengmeng back to Saint Nazaire while Lea was the one who saved Gu Mengmeng from Quentin. But Gu Mengmeng handed the tree branch to him in front of the two of them. Was this a proof that among the three of them, Gu Mengmeng liked him the best? After all, females will only give the males they liked the chance to do something for them.

Elvis who had the same thought as Barete had his face darkened even more. When she had not found Barete, she stuck with him closely but once she found Barete, she immediately left him.

Yet, the main culprit Gu Mengmeng had no idea that Elvis's and Barete's imaginations went as far as where the heavens were and was diligently analyzing how to place the thicker wooden stick for stabilization.

"Leader." Gu Mengmeng looked up softly at Elvis, handing him the thicker wooden stick, "Can you split it from the middle?"

Elvis's expression became a lot better. Look, Gu Mengmeng handed him the thicker one, this shows that he was more reliable than Barete."

Thus, Elvis received the wooden stick haughtily from Gu Mengmeng. He exerted strength slightly from his fingers, splitting the wooden stick from the middle with a 'crack' sound.

Gu Mengmeng instinctively clapped and exclaimed as a way to fawn him over, “Leader is so capable, you’re really awesome, exactly what I wanted!”

Honestly, Gu Mengmeng’s boot-lick was over exaggerating but just nice, it worked perfectly for the males in this beast world. The males at the bottom of the Platform started to scan their surroundings in all directions to search for a thicker wood than the one Elvis just split in order to perform well in front of Gu Mengmeng.

But poor them had no idea that Gu Mengmeng was not in the mood to notice them because all she wanted was to eat now.

Gu Mengmeng laid the wood Elvis broke flat on the ground and eagerly waited for the one Barete was sharpening.

Gu Mengmeng’s gaze seemed to contain some form of magic which caused all males present, including Elvis to follow her gaze and all stare at Barete simultaneously. This, in turn, caused Barete to start feeling anxious, he did not know that sharpening a wooden stick under the view of the entire tribe was so damn stressful.

“What about me? Should I do something too?” The neglected Mr Holy condescended on his own accord. He kneeled on the ground on one leg, hooking Gu Mengmeng’s chin with his hand gently, turning her small face towards himself. Using a natural and graceful smile to look at her, his long and narrow eyes seemed like it could bewitch someone, how was it possible for one to be this charming?

Gu Mengmeng spaced out due to this pair of eyes until no words came out. All she could do was open her little mouth slightly, blinking her eyes adorably while making eye contact with Mr Holy.

Witnessing the scene, Elvis clenched his fists secretly.

Because the look on Gu Mengmeng’s face was no different from when she met him for the first time at the lake.

She liked Lea!

This was the conclusion Elvis made. Honestly, he should feel happy but the flame in his chest told him that he was far from being as noble he thought he would be. He was selfish, and he wanted to possess Gu Mengmeng solely, not sharing her with anyone.

Even if it was Lea, he was unwilling to share.

This inadvertently erupted a beast pressure that caused the bunch of males below the Platform of the Deity's Punishment to feel a strong sense of oppression. Those that were weaker almost passed out while Lea and Barete who were involved could feel it more vividly.

Chapter 34 - Boring Wood to Start a Fire

Lea maintained the position of kneeling on a leg and hooking Gu Mengmeng's chin. Meanwhile, he turned his head towards Elvis slightly, his smile still as calm as ever, "Elvis?"

After being called out by Lea, Elvis then recovered. He retracted his beast pressure and shifted his sight to another direction so as to not see the unpleasant sight.

Gu Mengmeng also recovered from this slight change and she despised herself from being smitten over guys but she could not do anything about it as Mr Holy's looks were indeed violating the rules too much. If Elvis looked like a conquering and unbeatable warlord who could face thousands of soldiers, Mr Holy was a thousand-year demon fox, having the ability to capture one's sight entirely. From faraway, the cold and unreachable flower was inviolable but after noticing him closely, he also had a charm that forced one to continue staring at him, just like a whirlpool, firmly attracting everyone's attention.

Gu Mengmeng smiled awkwardly, handing Mr Holy the wooden stick Elvis broke earlier, "Beauty, I have to trouble you to drill a tiny hole as deep as this."

Lea nodded his head, letting go of Gu Mengmeng's chin. He extended out his slender and pale finger while the nail on his index finger lengthened to the length of around five centimeter under the naked eye before he gave the wooden stick a light touch. The tiny hole as deep as what Gu Mengmeng described was done.

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback.

What the heck, this kind of manipulation existed?

Please forgive her, she had still not temporarily accept the fact that the good-looking guys around her were all demons.

“Mengmeng, is this ok?” Barete finally sharpened the wooden stick, and he handed it in front of Gu Mengmeng’s face, forcefully interrupting the moment of her being all smitten over him.

“Ah? Oh oh, can can.” Gu Mengmeng felt that her loss of cool once again was too embarrassing thus she took the wooden stick Barete just sharpened and focus all her attention on boring wood to start a fire, unwilling to look up at Mr Holy again.

However, despite the fact that more than 80 percent of the entire tribe was staring at Gu Mengmeng around the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment, not one male knew exactly what she was doing.

But, was that important? Not a single bit important!

Regardless of what females were doing, males just had to support them~

Hence, the bunch of onlookers stared intently in great delight at Gu Mengmeng rubbing the wooden stick not understanding the reason why she was doing so. She rubbed till perspiration formed on her forehead but not a single inch of smoke was formed.

Till Gu Mengmeng’s energy was completely depleted and after she could not lift both her arms up anymore, she sagged in a corner weakly, staring blankly at the two wooden sticks in confusion. Elvis then asked, “Is the procedure over? Can you eat now?”

Gu Mengmeng looked up, her big eyes watering, “Leader, please help me.”

“Hmm?” Elvis’s heart started palpitating upon being stared at Gu Mengmeng in this way. Her pitiful look could really cause one to indulge in a train of thoughts and be impulsed to have her completely.

Gu Mengmeng huddled closer to Elvis while groaning and pushed the two wooden sticks to in front of him, “Leader, help me rub these please. I have no energy left.”

Although Elvis could not understand why he had to rub a wooden stick on another, since it was what Gu Mengmeng asked for, he will naturally not reject her. Thus, Elvis squatted down and started using the sharper end of the thinner wood to rub against the notch of the thicker one with strength, just like how Gu Mengmeng did earlier.

Shortly after, a wharf of smoke started forming.

Gu Mengmeng: Goddammit, boring wood to start a fire had to look at appearances too?

Chapter 35 - Flame Devil and Fire

Seeing the wharf of smoke, Elvis paused his actions for a short while. Although the smell was very light, it seemed that he could smell the scent of the Flame Devil.

“Hey, don’t stop!” Gu Mengmeng finally managed to see a glimmer of hope. If Elvis stopped, the smoke would be dispersed by the wind.

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was being so anxious, despite his hesitation, Elvis still continued to rub the wood.

As expected, not long later, a tiny flame could be seen.

Gu Mengmeng was wild with joy as she grinned from ear to ear. She frantically grabbed a bunch of dried leaves and placed them around the tiny flame to stoke the fire even more. Just when victory was nearing them, Gu Mengmeng felt her feet being lifted off the ground and then she was being carried around the waist by Elvis who jumped off the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment in two to three steps. He stared at the tiny flame in furrowed brows, his expression filled with precaution against it.

Not only Elvis, the surrounding males looked like they were facing a mortal enemy and the whole atmosphere became sullen in a second.

“What... what’s wrong?” Gu Mengmeng asked ignorantly.

“The Flame Devil is very dangerous and will occasionally engulf the entire tribe.” Elvis’s expression was very solemn, and he looked like a general who was ready to enter the battlefield anytime.

“Flame Devil?” Gu Mengmeng repeated Elvis’s words in doubt, her big eyes scanning the surroundings in all directions, searching for an enormous monster that could engulf the entire tribe anytime.

Elvis tapped Gu Mengmeng's little head then raised his chin up towards the direction of the leaves that were on fire at the Platform of the Deity's Punishment.

Gu Mengmeng pointed at the tiny flame that could be put out anytime, asking in a half serious and half skeptical tone, "The Flame Devil you were referring to, is this?"

"Yeah." Elvis nodded his head in utmost cautiousness.

Gu Mengmeng stared at it for a long time before she noticed Barete and Quentin kneeling on the platform, not moving a single inch. They looked as if they were dying as heroes for the tribe. Gu Mengmeng was then affirmed that Elvis was not joking.

Damn it, the generation gap was indeed as vast as the Pacific Ocean!

Gu Mengmeng wriggled, trying to jump out of Elvis's embrace. But Elvis strongly held the belief that the Flame Devil was an extremely dangerous thing and was unwilling to let go no matter what happened. The more Gu Mengmeng wriggled, the tighter Elvis held her.

Gu Mengmeng's attempt was useless and seeing how the tiny flame that took so much energy to start was about to get put out, she had no choice but to cup Elvis's face, forcing him to shift his gaze from the tiny flame to her. She tried to make herself appear trust-able and said with the firmest expression she could put on, "That's not the Flame Devil, that's fire. As long as you use it appropriately, the entire tribe will benefit."

"Fire?" Elvis was still frowning, he wanted to believe Gu Mengmeng so badly but he had witnessed how the Flame Devil engulfed an entire beast city with his own eyes. The beast city that had a hundred years of history ended up in ashes and the orcs who escaped by chance were all frightened and could never forget the sky being covered in red light and the brutal scorch for eternity.

Beasts had a natural fear towards fire and Gu Mengmeng knew about it. But, if she slowly continued to disseminate the uses and effects of fire to Elvis, the tiny flame which was not started easily would extinguish entirely.

Ah, Gu Mengmeng was famished.

If the flame was to extinguish, when would she be able to eat roasted rabbit meat?

Flame Devil...

Platform of the Deity's Punishment...

Beast Deity...

An idea flashed in Gu Mengmeng's mind. She whispered to Elvis, acting mysteriously, "Both the Flame Devil and fire look very similar but they have their differences. Flame Devil is an evil punishing the people while the fire of hope is a good reward to the people. It is the light and warmth bestowed upon everyone by the Beast Deity. If all of you continue treating fire as the Flame Devil, the Beast Deity will definitely be furious."

Chapter 36 - A Female Who Showed Exceptional Concern

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

As expected, superstition had to be cured by another superstition.

Gu Mengmeng was greatly thankful for the frauds she was exposed to in the present world either directly or indirectly that used religions to con others so that she was able to easily bluff these ancient people who had never seen much of the world.

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes with each other. Elvis had already told Lea about the potential possibility that Gu Mengmeng was a messenger of the Beast Deity so these words from Gu Mengmeng confirmed the suspicion of her identity as a messenger of the Beast Deity.

It's a pity that Gu Mengmeng herself was not aware that her way of speaking carelessly had caused her image to go far beyond one's reach so much so that in the near future, a stir would be created in the beast world.

Currently, Gu Mengmeng was just thinking of the rabbit meat that was awaiting to be freshly cooked.

Since they had confirmed Gu Mengmeng's identity as a messenger of the Beast Deity, Elvis naturally did not doubt her words. Although deep down, he still regarded the Flame Devil with reverence, since Gu Mengmeng had said her words, he was willing to risk his life and give it a try.

Thus, he placed Gu Mengmeng on the ground and tried to approach the flame warily.

The pace Elvis that demon was advancing in was too cautious that Gu Mengmeng could not hold it in any longer. She sighed and simply bypassed Elvis, walking towards the direction of the flame in big strides herself.

Orcs had extremely sharp hearing, and they were not far from Elvis either. Thus, what Gu Mengmeng said was heard by majority of them but they did not know about Gu Mengmeng's identity as a messenger of the Beast Deity so they kept a 'wait-and-see' attitude towards her words.

After all, when females became willful, when had they ever considered the welfare of the tribe?

But just as Gu Mengmeng was walking towards the fire herself, undaunted by it, an incomparable shock could be felt by the onlooking males.

Elvis and Lea who were left behind by Gu Mengmeng felt it more intensely. Even though the petite figure facing the fire was clearly so feeble to the point that it appeared that she could not withstand anything, she gave the appearance of infinite strength at that very moment. They cannot help but follow her steps, trust her and support her.

Meanwhile, Barete and Quentin who were originally kneeling beside the fire felt the shock as though they were struck by lightning. Even Quentin's heart had grown a sense of awe towards Gu Mengmeng upon seeing her walk towards them. She looked like she had a secret with her and going against her was simply finding one's death.

Perhaps, Lea's timely appearance was not a coincidence, it was really meant to be.

The Beast Deity cared exceptionally for this female.

Quentin decided silently in his heart that if he could survive the Deity's Punishment this time, he would keep his eyes on Nina in the future and not let her provoke this little female.

Gu Mengmeng couldn't care less about the turbulent waves in their hearts and she just hopped over happily to the fire in twittering steps. In one hand, she grabbed a bunch of dried leaves and threw them into the fire to prevent it from going out and on the other hand, she handed the rest of the wooden stick to Barete who was still kneeling on the rock, "Come, help me to break this into smaller pieces."

Barete received the wooden stick blankly, exerting strength on both his hands and then the wooden stick was broken into bits with a crack.

Gu Mengmeng's eyes shimmered like stars in worship and she stuck both her thumb up, praising, "As expected, tough man! Handsome~"

Generous compliments towards males were non existent in the beast world. So, no matter how many times Gu Mengmeng praised like this with some form of exaggeration and in a slight joking tone, it would still set the hearts of males on fire. It was the same for Barete, Elvis and Lea.

Chapter 37 - Since You're Handsome, Whatever You Said Made Sense

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis sat down cross-legged next to Gu Mengmeng.

Yes, he was scared of the Flame Devil.

But even Gu Mengmeng was able to sit so close to it. As the tribe leader and the first warrior in Saint Nazaire, he could not possibly sit further from it than a young female like Gu Mengmeng. Did he still want his reputation or not?

And furthermore, Barete this fellow was kneeling there all the time, not moving an inch. How could he let Gu Mengmeng think that Barete was more courageous than him?

Although Elvis did not quite understand the meaning of a tough man, but it should be a compliment.

The worship gaze of Gu Mengmeng should only belong to him!

Thinking about this, Elvis gave his muscled arm a tug, pulling Gu Mengmeng into his embrace domineeringly. Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was struggling, he raised his eyebrows and said, "Side-kick, didn't you say that you would not leave me by even a foot?"

Sure, since you're handsome, whatever you said made sense.

Gu Mengmeng stared at the rabbit meat in grievance and then turned to look at the stubborn Elvis who was unwilling to let go of her. She decided to curve to save the nation, "Leader, you're hungry too right? How about letting me handle the meat and roast it for you to try a rare sumptuous meal?”

“Roast?” Elvis felt that Gu Mengmeng was glowing with a mysterious hue. She was like a treasure-house filled with secrets and would puzzle one but also enchant one with every action she did.

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed.

Was she dumb to rely on these fellows who survived on eating raw meat and drinking blood in this world where they called fire as the Flame Devil to understand what was cooking and to know what was stir-fry, roast, fry and deep-fry?

Gu Mengmeng, you’re a brave and quick-witted girl, you can do it!

Gu Mengmeng rooted for herself in her heart before squeezing out a slightly flattering smile as she squinted her eyes and said, “It means to handle the meat and make it more delicious.”

Elvis was not convinced, wasn’t rabbit meat just rabbit meat? What was there to be more delicious about...

“Leader, as a sidekick, I have an obligation to provide a better life for you.” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head seriously, deeply touching herself. What a competent and outstanding sidekick she was~

Elvis threw the piece of meat into the crowd. The beasts who were already itching to try showed off their natural beastly strength and shoved each other, just like how a rugby team would fight in the Olympics. After all the chaos, a healthy-looking beast managed to snatch the bloody and dirty rabbit meat. He then walked to Gu Mengmeng in a discreet and stately pace, as if he was a world champion carrying his trophy and looked at her with much expectation.

“How to handle it? Just speak your mind and let Collin do it.” Elvis’s gaze landed on Gu Mengmeng’s face, not shifting away at all.

Gu Mengmeng felt wholeheartedly that this treatment where the males all clustered around her was not what any ordinary person could enjoy. When hundred differently styled good-looking males who all had strong builds and perfect appearances view your order as an honor, it was truly difficult to deal with.

Gu Mengmeng smiled awkwardly at Collin, saying, “Please bring this rabbit meat to the stream and wash the blood and internal organs thoroughly with water, ok?”

“Yeah, of course.” Gu Mengmeng’s politeness made Collin blush, no other females spoke this gently to him before. Let alone washing a piece of meat, he would not say a single word even if Gu Mengmeng asked him to pluck all the hair off his body.

“Thank you~” Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and gave a sweet smile.

“No... no need.” Collin’s blushed even more. He held the rabbit in one hand and scratched the back of his head with the other, backtracking in small steps.

Plop!

As proven, one would fall while walking backwards.

Chapter 38 - Barete's Inferiority

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Collin was very quick in handling the rabbit meat. In an instant, he returned with a thoroughly washed meat.

Gu Mengmeng received the rabbit meat blissfully and instructed Collin to find a thinner tree branch and sharpen one of the ends before skewing the meat through the branch. She tilted her head to look at Elvis and consulted him in a fawning and docile tone, "Leader, can I shift there to sit? I can't put my abilities to good use if you hug me like this."

Elvis liked the feeling of Gu Mengmeng huddling in his embrace just like how she was originally part of his body. He felt that he was only complete when he was hugging her.

But, he did not bear to disappoint her.

Thus, he nodded his head, allowing her to leave his embrace. However, when she was just less than half a meter away, he already felt the distance between them.

Gu Mengmeng was so hungry until she saw stars flying before her eyes. No matter how many handsome guys were standing in front of her, they could not compare to how good-looking the rabbit meat was.

"Roasted rabbit meat, my favorite~la la la la~" Gu Mengmeng hummed a little song in mixed accents while turning the rabbit meat.

Her self-contentment brought about another wave of shock to all the males in Saint Nazaire.

Gu Mengmeng knew how to sing?!

It was said that only females from the Mermaid Tribe had this ability, Gu Mengmeng had it too?!

Gu Mengmeng turned around unintentionally, catching Barete staring at her with a face filled with astonishment and shock. Thus, she lightly hit Barete's arm with her elbow, "Why are you staring at me like that?"

Barete regained his composure abruptly then lowered his head, frowning.

For the first time, the proud warrior of Saint Nazaire, Barete, avoided the sight of his favorite female.

He started to doubt, was he good enough? Was he really fit to be Gu Mengmeng's pursuer?

"What's wrong?" Gu Mengmeng was more surprised. Barete had always been a straightforward male and had neither concealed anything nor acted bashful. Although his interest towards her came a little sudden and abrupt, but people were this strange. After someone whispered that they liked you for a hundred times, this person would definitely become a little special to you, regardless.

Even if you did not accept him, or did not even give him any response, as long as he did not disappear all of a sudden, you would definitely not adapt to it.

Gu Mengmeng was now like that.

All day long, Barete would wish that he could plant his eyes on Gu Mengmeng so badly. This time, she approached him on her own accord, so why was he avoiding her?

Barete clamped his lips and gave an irrelevant answer after seeing the tree branch that Gu Mengmeng was turning nimbly, "You're not scared of the Flame... Devil?"

Gu Mengmeng grinned and answered, "As long as you use it appropriately, fire would not become Flame Devil. Look, isn't it helping me roast this rabbit meat lovingly?”

Barete nodded his head on appearance, holding back more thoughts he had in his heart.

When this flame was ignited, he was holding onto the determination of sacrificing himself for her. It was fine even if he was engulfed by the Flame Devil but he definitely could not stand up and run away to prevent the Beast Deity from venting his anger onto Gu Mengmeng. But this determination, to Gu Mengmeng’s light-heartedness, looked extremely shabby.

He wanted to become a more outstanding male, a male that could match up to Gu Mengmeng.

But now, he was not sure whether he could even survive the Deity’s Punishment...

Gu Mengmeng thought that Barete’s anomaly was due to his fear towards fire so she heartlessly joked, “Since you’re so scared, why didn’t you run off just now?”

Chapter 39 - I'm So Hungry, I Wanna Eat So Badly

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Barete stared at Gu Mengmeng's eyes, his resolute face filled with strict determination, "I want to protect you."

Thump, Gu Mengmeng's maiden heart was tugged on brutally by this not-so-gentle sentence of Barete.

How could she forget? Mr Holy said before that if one avoided the Deity's Punishment, the rage of the Beast Deity would be vented on his female.

Even though Barete and her only knew each other's name and nothing else, but this fellow was so persistent in affirming her as his partner and was also willing to risk his life for her.

A touching relationship was not about him being unafraid of everything. It was instead about him being so clearly afraid of everything but because he needed to protect you, he did not shrink back.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's mouth curved upwards unknowingly. Barete was indeed a tough man, she was charmed by him!

As they chatted, the rabbit meat was roasted until it was tender on the inside and golden-brown on the outside. The seductive aroma made the famished Gu Mengmeng's stomach rumble out of hunger. She gulped her saliva and after going through a war with her thoughts, she still decided to tear a rabbit leg for Elvis.

After all, she was not sure how long did she need to stay here for so this boot still had to be licked.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng swallowed her saliva and handed Elvis the left hind leg of the rabbit, as an attempt to fawn him over. Her face clearly wrote the words ‘I’m so hungry, I wanna eat so badly’ but she said, “Leader, would you like to try my skills?”

Elvis did not take the rabbit meat from Gu Mengmeng but this did not prevent him from feeling pleased to a large extent due to Gu Mengmeng’s actions.

She shared her food with him.

Under extreme hunger, she shared the food that she cooked on her own with him.

Thus, Elvis benevolently forgave Gu Mengmeng unilaterally for her negligence earlier towards him when she was chatting with Barete. He smirked haughtily and pushed the rabbit meat back to Gu Mengmeng, replying coldly, “Females have priority to enjoy all the food. Furthermore, as the Leader of Saint Nazaire, I can’t snatch the food from females.”

Gu Mengmeng was long famished, despite this rabbit leg not being seasoned, the aroma from the roasting was enough to let her salivate.

Let alone a rabbit leg, Gu Mengmeng felt that even if she was given a whole cow, she could finish it in the blink of an eye.

But considering the plan of boot-licking, the rabbit meat stopped just before Gu Mengmeng’s mouth as she ascertained once more, “You really don’t want to have a try? I’ll eat it then, there won’t be anymore left once I eat.”

“Eat.” Elvis’s smile was light, and it encompassed a form of connivance. Although it was slight, it was easy to notice the meticulous care in it.

Gu Mengmeng’s tolerance had already been maximized to the fullest. Even if Elvis were to snatch her food now, she would not let him.

Holding the rabbit leg with both hands, she chomped on it in large bites, chewing it well.

Based on the standards in the present world, the way Gu Mengmeng ate looked quite shabby.

But in the eyes of Elvis, Barete, Lea and the bunch of males, it was extremely adorable.

That delicate small face was so deeply satisfied while her tiny mouth that looked as tasty as a cherry was stained with the oil from the food. It did not make her look unkempt but instead, she looked more lively and adorable. Seeing how she was chowing down the food, the males could not help but swallow their saliva too.

Chapter 40 - Hello, I'm Gu Mengmeng.

The aroma in the air was already so fragrant and seductive, they now believe more strongly that the delicacy in Gu Mengmeng's hands that was handled before was definitely incomparably tasty, more tasty than any tastes they could imagine.

Just when Gu Mengmeng was about to eat her second rabbit leg and give a burp of the century under the eyes of the crowd, the males under the Platform of the Deity's Punishment were pushed aside to make way for a passage. The males who were squeezed to both sides were naturally unhappy but when they realized that it was a female from the tribe, they shook their head out of embarrassment and shifted away on their own accord.

"Sandy, we're sorry, the food that Gu Mengmeng made was seriously too fragrant, so we didn't notice your smell..." The males apologized while shifting to both sides.

"Yeah, it's fine." Sandy gave an awkward laugh. Although she was a female and the males in the tribe treated her well, but when compared to the first beauty Nina, Sandy was already used to being neglected. "I smelled the fragrance too, so I came to have a look."

"Whoa whoa, the food that Gu Mengmeng made smelled so delicious. Moreover, Gu Mengmeng's not only beautiful, she's also gentle and kind hearted. If you want to eat, you can tell her, I'm sure she won't reject you!" Gu Mengmeng's Supporter Number One exclaimed.

"Yes yes, I saw that she even shared some with Elvis. She's already willing to share with a male, females are definitely not a problem." Gu Mengmeng's Supporter Number Two added.

Sandy smiled bashfully. She was just attracted by this intriguing aroma but if she really stood in front of Gu Mengmeng, she would be too embarrassed to ask Gu Mengmeng to share the food with her.

After all, she had six males. If she begged others for food, her males would become a laughingstock.

She did not want her males to get ridiculed at not being able to provide for their own female. Because of her, they were already bullied enough by Nina and her partners.

Gu Mengmeng who was still on the platform was full from the meal. She had the typical big eyes but also a small stomach. Just earlier she felt that she could finish a whole cow but now, her stomach clearly told her that her understanding towards herself was not very comprehensive.

Just when she was getting ready to share the leftover rabbit meat with the rest, Gu Mengmeng heard the discussion under the Platform of the Deity's Punishment. Looking over at the source of the voices, Gu Mengmeng saw Sandy.

Sandy had neat short hair that made her look refreshing and sunny. She had a tranquil and gentle smile, one that was slightly shy but not coy. Her skin was a healthy shade of wheat and she was slightly stocky, between the standards of robust and obese. Although she did not fit the beauty standards in the present world, her chubbiness was quite adorable.

Although both of them were females from Saint Nazaire, there was a clear distinction between Sandy and Nina.

Gu Mengmeng had a natural liking towards cute and meek girls.

After all, being surrounded by a bunch of males for two days, other than Nina this annoying bitch, Sandy was the first female Gu Mengmeng had seen.

Who said that people of the same gender repel? Gu Mengmeng wanted to hold Sandy's hand so badly to leave a favorable impression and actually carry out an example to tell this world what was regretting not knowing someone earlier and feeling like old friends at the first meeting. Do all of you know that?!

Gu Mengmeng patted her butt after standing up and walked to the end of the Platform of the Deity's Punishment. Bending her legs, she sat down on the end, her legs dangling naturally off the Platform. Sitting down like this, Gu Mengmeng was taller than Sandy by around a head. She went against the sunlight and stuck out a slim and pale hand towards Sandy, her radiant smile as warm as the sunlight. Many years later, when Sandy recollected that day, she would still smile warmly, mimicking Gu Mengmeng,

“Hello, I'm Gu Mengmeng.”

Chapter 41 - Sandy, The Female

Sandy wobbled a little after being taken aback by Gu Mengmeng's radiant smile. She glanced upwards at Gu Mengmeng in a trance, feeling a palpitation that no words could describe.

She was so beautiful, beautiful to the point that Sandy was unable to come up with any descriptions even after searching her dictionary as she felt that there were no appropriate words available. Moreover, this beautiful female did not look down on her just because she was a half-orc, she even... stuck her hand out.

Sandy timidly stuck her hand out but stopped just before Gu Mengmeng's nails.

Could a half-orc like her touch this beautiful female?

However, Gu Mengmeng did not give Sandy any time for self-pity as she stretched her hand forward, holding tightly onto Sandy's chubby little hand.

Yeah, pinching it felt so good~

"I made roasted rabbit, let's eat it together~" Gu Mengmeng tried to appear more affectionate after seeing how Sandy was being so shy though she was clearly salivating. She resembled the little girl who was Gu Mengmeng's neighbor when she was young.

Sandy was originally attracted by the aroma of roasted rabbit and now that she was being pulled by Gu Mengmeng, she could not restrain herself anymore. But looking at the male behind her, Sandy's face became red as she said softly, "I'll just try a bit."

Gu Mengmeng was not a stingy person, she hit Sandy with her shoulder lightly while affectionately holding onto Sandy's arm, winking to signal

Although Sandy was a half-orc, but she was also a precious female so the rabbit that Gu Mengmeng roasted was left untouched at its original place other than the two legs Gu Mengmeng herself had eaten.

This was the first time Sandy was standing on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment, she was initially nervous but facing the temptation of delicious food and the warmth from Gu Mengmeng, this tense feeling was not enough to force her to back down. She imitated how Gu Mengmeng sat and then sat down cross-legged next to her. Her dewy eyes were clear and transparent while the little gluttonous thought written over her face.

Seeing how she was charmingly naive, Gu Mengmeng’s heart softened even more.

Nimbly breaking the leftover rabbit meat into smaller pieces, she picked the piece with the most meat and gave it to Sandy. She then gave an equally meaty piece to Elvis like how she would present a dog leg.

Although he was not the first person Gu Mengmeng gave her food to, considering the fact that Sandy was a female and that Gu Mengmeng had already offered him the food first before she started eating, Elvis was already very satisfied.

A rabbit, despite it being a little bigger than those in the present world, was eventually still a rabbit, how much meat did it have?

Gu Mengmeng held the little meat left in her hands, looking at the males who were all eagerly staring at her.

Damn it, don’t look at me with a face full of eagerness! Gu Mengmeng was breaking down internally.

This small amount of meat was definitely not enough to share among three people but Mr Holy’s status did not seem ordinary, it would not be nice if she did not give him. On the other hand, Barete received such a cruel punishment for her and even though he was clearly so afraid of the fire until he wanted death, he continued kneeling on the spot without moving a single inch. He was just scared that the Beast Deity whom nobody had seen before would vent his anger upon her. Their friendship was clearly there and if she did not give him the meat, even Gu Mengmeng would view herself as trash. Meanwhile, looking at Collin who helped wash the rabbit meat earlier, although she did not know him well, at least he contributed physically. If she did not give him... would that be fine?

Sigh, the trouble of being short on supplies.

Just when Gu Mengmeng was being put on the spot, a sweet and soft voice was heard from behind her. Although it was quite inaudible, from Gu Mengmeng's point of view, it helped to save her from a critical situation.

“Gu Mengmeng, that... can I eat some more?”

Chapter 42 - Nina's Provocation

“Sure, of course you can.” Gu Mengmeng chuckled, turning around to pass Sandy all the meat left, smiling while saying, “You’re a female that’s very precious. You should eat first if there’s food, right right?”

The three males who did not get to eat were a little disappointed but giving the meat to Sandy was better than giving it to other males so they did not say much and merely nodded their heads. Among the three of them, Collin was the one who agreed to the largest extent. He looked at Gu Mengmeng in shock and worship, saying,

“You’re the most kind-hearted and gentle female I have ever seen. You’re not only nice to your pursuers, you are even so gentle and friendly towards other females. Gu Mengmeng... you... you are really extremely special.”

Gu Mengmeng was a little embarrassed from the compliment. After all, strictly speaking, the rabbit was considered as something she had left over. Even though Sandy did not seem to despise and instead was touched, giving something like this to her made Gu Mengmeng at shame. Being shouted out so loudly by Collin, Gu Mengmeng felt more guilty.

“Exactly!” A sharp voice rang across, dampening the hot atmosphere on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment.

As soon as Gu Mengmeng heard this voice, goosebumps appeared starting from the bottom of her feet. It was not fright, it was disgust...

Looking towards the source of the sound, as expected, Nina was stomping towards them in resentment, twitching her fat butt. Despite how uncomfortable the males were, they still had to make way for Nina. After all, she was a female.

Nina cared less for what others thought, all her thoughts were focused on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment.

This wretched female! Actually dared to hit her! She would make her pay for what she did.

Nina's partner evolved into beast form and lied on the ground, letting Nina step on his back to reach the Platform. Nina's hands that resembled Doraemon's were supported by another two of her partners each, as if she was a queen. Her oppressive air was truly terrifying.

Sandy was used to Nina's bullying so when she saw her, she wanted to hide behind her own partner out of instinct. However, her male was standing under the Platform. Just when he wanted to climb up and help her, he was stopped by Nina's partner and was unable to reach her at all. Sandy was so anxious and scared until her eyes could not help but turn red.

"I say Sandy, although you're just a lowly half-orc, you're still a female of Saint Nazaire in any case. You have the courage to eat this kind of food which came from an unknown origin? You're just a useless glutton to those who know you but for those who don't know you, they would think that your male is so useless until you're going around begging for food out of hunger." Nina's sharp and blunt voice shot through the air. Although her original aim was Gu Mengmeng, she was filled with anger upon seeing how Sandy and Gu Mengmeng were getting along well.

Those who got along well with Gu Mengmeng were all her enemies!

Thinking about it, Nina's choice of words became harsher. Folding both her hands before her chest, she looked at Sandy in disdain, saying,

"Oh my, don't tell me it's true that your partner can't satisfy you and let you go hungry? If it's really like that, I can share some bones and internal organs I left behind with you so that you can feel more full and not go around begging for food like this. Tsk tsk tsk, what an ugly sight, why does our Saint Nazaire have females like you? I really feel ashamed of being in the same tribe as you, too embarrassing!"

Gu Mengmeng held in for as long as she could and finally could not control herself anymore. She took a big step forward and pushed Nina mercilessly, raising her chin and retorted, “You didn’t have enough of being hit? The wound on your head has healed? Did you come here to ask for a beating?!”

Chapter 43 - Do They Still Have Any Shame?

Looking at Gu Mengmeng running towards her as though she was going to beat her up, Nina instinctively took a step back.

After all, Gu Mengmeng was the first person to ever hit her and she could still feel the pain on her head.

Although males could not attack females, they would not just stand there and look at their females being bullied. So the two males that were originally supporting Nina automatically stepped forward and blocked her behind them like two Door Gods.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth in anger, she pointed to the males' noses and scolded, "This is a fight between women... females, males get the hell out!"

Indeed, there was an unsaid rule in the Beast World that males were not allowed to intervene in a fight between females.

In normal circumstances, females in the Beast World seldom got into conflicts. The problems between them were usually solved by asking their males put up a deadly fight against each other. Situations such as this requiring the female to attack personally, never happened before.

Looking at the Door Gods standing firm to their ground with no intention of moving, Gu Mengmeng became even more angry. She rolled up her sleeve and said fiercely, "What now? Are you gonna fight with me too? Yesterday you asked Quentin to kill me, and he failed, so today you two are planning to be the substitute and kill me in front of all the Saint Nazaire tribesmen? Come at me! Do you think I'm scared?!"

Nina's two males glanced at Quentin kneeling at one side and signaling them. They raised their hands and wanted to tell Gu Mengmeng 'You can hit us if you want to fight, just don't hit Nina', but before they could do it, the originally fierce Gu Mengmeng fell onto the ground the moment their hands moved.

Now, Gu Mengmeng had sacrificed much for these. It was a solid fall and Gu Mengmeng felt as though her butt had split into eight parts.

Tears were shining in her big watery eyes and she looked at Elvis with a pitiful look. She resembled the female lead in Qiongyao's novel that had a grieved yet firm look when bullied by others, and said with her trembling voice in an almost crying tone, "Leader, help me..."

What?!

The Door Gods looked at each other in astonishment.

Did they touch her just now? They didn't... did they? Then why did she fall?

Was it because she was too feeble and was blown down by the wind resulted from them raising their hands?

These people from the modern did not know for sure, this was Gu Mengmeng acting on the spot, with the name being 'feigning injury'.

Mm-mm! Osaka definitely owed Gu Mengmeng 10086 Academy Awards.

Males had a sharp eyesight in the Beast World and Elvis was not far away from her, in addition, Elvis was on guard ever since Nina appeared, afraid that Gu Mengmeng would be taken advantage of. Hence, he clearly saw that Nina's males did not touch her at all.

But, was that important?

What mattered was that Gu Mengmeng had fallen, and whether it was due to them was unimportant.

Elvis dashed towards the Door Gods like a swirl of wind and Gu Mengmeng could not even see his movements without blinking. When she finally saw it clearly, Nina's partners had been held on their neck by Elvis with their feet above the ground.

“Bang” A swirl of dust flew up the Platform of the Deity's Punishment.

The Door Gods were directly thrown off by Elvis.

Quentin's act was already held in contempt by the rest of males downstage, and now Nina's other partners dared to attack a little female in front of everybody, it was not something anyone could have done!

Orcs were also people!

Do they still have any shame?!

Hence, the two Door Gods turned into punching bags for anger venting, while Nina, whose head was previously held high, seemed to be a little guilty...

Chapter 44 - Gu Mengmeng Abused Her Power to Bully Others

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After the troublesome males were dealt by Elvis, Gu Mengmeng instantly got up from the ground and stood half a step behind Elvis with an expression resembling an evil person achieving his ambition. She held her head high and looked at Nina with a manner even more arrogant than the way Nina had looked at Sandy. She said,

“Ugly monster, you were so arrogant just now, weren’t you? Come, now tell me, who was the one that has a dubious background? Eh?”

Elvis lifted one eyebrow and with the corner of his eyes, he looked at Gu Mengmeng whom was obviously abusing her power to bully others. That glance was filled with utmost gentleness.

Elvis felt a sense of pride deep down in his heart being able to become her tower of strength.

Hence, this was the first time that Elvis, someone who had always stayed away from troubles stirred up by the females, felt that the conflicts between them were not all that boring and troublesome. He stood on the spot acting like a patron and enjoyed the show put up by Gu Mengmeng.

Originally, Nina already had mental trauma from Gu Mengmeng, she had only dared to provoke Gu Mengmeng because of the presence of all her males, but she never expected Elvis to intervene. Just the two standing together was an impassable Himalaya to her.

Nina was scared. She instinctively wanted to run away but could not tolerate the loss of face especially after Gu Mengmeng’s scream of “ugly monster” that had hurt her sensitive heart. After all, she was the most beautiful female in the entire tribe, how could her beauty be criticized?

So, Nina, with her last bit of courage, her flat chest up and head held high, said, “I... I was speaking to Sandy, what has it got to do with you?”

“Sandy is my friend, you talking to her is my business!” Gu Mengmeng hugged Sandy’s shoulders and secretly held her trembling hands, not bothered by the sweaty hands. Gu Mengmeng raised her chins and signaled to Sandy, before asking, “Right, Sandy.”

“Y... yes. We are friends.” Sandy was always timid in front of Nina and she still could not look at Nina in the eyes even with Gu Mengmeng backing her up. She could only hide behind Gu Mengmeng like a scared chick.

But...

Gu Mengmeng’s tiny figure could not even cover half of Sandy’s plump body, making the scene a little funny.

But Nina could not be bothered with teasing about their body shapes, she could only feel herself almost blowing up.

She understood if she could not provoke Gu Mengmeng, as that bitch had Elvis and Barete backing her up, but how dare Sandy, as a lowly half-orc, go against her openly? Is the sky falling?

“Sandy, come here!” Nina said, while pouncing over to grab Sandy from behind Gu Mengmeng and teach her a lesson.

How could Gu Mengmeng allow her to prevail? At the same time, Nina was pouncing over, Gu Mengmeng had pulled Sandy aside to dodge the attack, while sticking out her leg that sent Nina tripping like a dog eating its feces.

Just nice, she stopped right in front of Quentin.

Quentin wanted to lend a hand to Nina, but his wrist was held by a smooth white hand. With a faint yet charming voice, someone said, “If you are helping Nina up now, this would not remain as a small dispute between the females. Are you confident of winning Barete, Elvis... and me?"

Chapter 45 - Nina Wanted to Divorce

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Quentin withdrew his hands that was already stretched out halfway.

Originally, he could have tied with Barete, even winning if he used his full strength, but with his broken arm now, he could never win Barete.

Moreover, Gu Mengmeng not only had Barete around her but also Elvis and Lea.

Looking at Quentin slowly putting down his hands and finally clenching it into fists, Lea let out a slightly disappointed cluck of his tongue and said, "I thought you would be willing to give me a chance to show off."

Quentin did not answer. He locked his brows and made eye contact with Nina whom was lying in front of him.

Nina had heard the full conversation between Lea and Quentin, but she did not think that Quentin had remained silent to help her. Instead, she felt Quentin was a timid coward, allowing Gu Mengmeng to bully her because he was scared of Barete, Elvis and Lea.

Nina dared not to vent her anger at Lea and Elvis, but she would not be so polite in front of Quentin.

Lying on the ground, Nina hit the ground with her hand forcefully to show her anger. Her chicken-eyes turned round from glaring and she pointed her finger at Quentin's nose, scolded fiercely, "You useless piece of trash that can't even settle small matters. Now you are just going to watch me getting bullied?! I don't have a male as useless as you, I am going to divorce with you, I will!"

Quentin did not answer. He looked at the frenzied Nina deeply with restraint, a look that made people pitied him.

How many things did he do for Nina that were against his personal beliefs? Even if he was going to be abandoned by the Beast Deity, he had done everything to make Nina happy.

But, this was her second time saying she was going to divorce with him...

Nina's words had resulted in a strange silence at the scene. Even the males fighting intensely with the two other partners of Nina had stopped and looked at the Platform of the Deity's Punishment, frowning.

It was indeed detestable for Quentin to lay his hands on Gu Mengmeng, but he was willing to withstand everyone's anger to do it all for Nina.

But Nina said she was going to divorce with him... This had made everyone disappointed. Even the Door Gods that were beaten to the ground looked at Quentin with pity.

But Nina was unmoved. She supported her weight with her elbows and sat on the ground, panting. Resembling a shrew scolding on the streets, Nina pointed to Quentin and scolded, "I was willing to mate with you in the past only because you could fly. And now? Your wings are broken. Are wingless eagles considered eagles? You answer it yourself! What's more, one of your arms are broken too, a disabled beast like you can't even be compared to a half-orc, what do I need you for? We might as well divorce today, and from today onwards, you shall never introduce yourself as my partner!"

Gu Mengmeng felt angry by just listening, but before she could go up and rebut Nina, Sandy held Gu Mengmeng's arm and shook her head.

Gu Mengmeng thought Sandy was worried of her stirring up trouble, so she patted the back of Sandy's hand and assured, "It's alright, I am not scared of her!"

Sandy pulled Gu Mengmeng who was about to dash back out. With a troubled look, she whispered into Gu Mengmeng's ears, "Don't go, you can't help Quentin."

Chapter 46 - Not Allowed to Divorce Even with Broken Relationship?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng looked at Sandy with a confused face, not knowing why she said that.

Sandy pressed her lips together and lowered her volume further, “This is an unsaid rule between the females that we do not intervene anything between them and their males.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at Sandy, thought for a while before nodding her head.

Indeed, even an upright official finds it hard to settle a family quarrel. It was not suitable for her as an outsider to intervene.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and held back her raging chivalrous heart. She decided to be a humble onlooker and watch this ‘Break-up Arena’ live on stage.

“I would have long broken up with Nina if I am Quentin,” Gu Mengmeng twitched her mouth scornfully and tilted her head slightly to tell Sandy.

Gu Mengmeng kept her voice very low, but the crowd had heard it.

Her words were even more unacceptable than Nina saying she wanted to divorce with Quentin. It was an idea that would shake the whole world.

Sandy was also shocked, her big adorable eyes blinked and looked at Gu Mengmeng. After what seemed a long time, she said, “A male can only have one partner in their entire lifetime. Once they were divorced from their partner, they would receive the punishment from the Rage of the Beast Deity. Even if those that are stronger are able to survive it, they will become stray beasts. The lead the life of the walking dead, not feeling joy and warmth for the rest of their lives, in addition to getting chased and killed by all orcs. That type of life... is so pathetic.”

“What?!” Gu Mengmeng’s eyes opened wider than Sandy’s. Not allowed to divorce even with a broken relationship between the couple? This was an utmost inhumane rule, making divorce seem like destroying the whole galaxy, even getting chased and killed by everyone? What has me divorcing got to do with you?

Sandy was confused looking at Gu Mengmeng’s shocked reaction. Wasn’t this common sense? Why did Gu Mengmeng act as if she doesn’t know about it at all?

Gu Mengmeng looked at Sandy’s expression and realized she had probably overreacted.

Maybe, in this world where the gender ratio was unbalanced to the extreme, this rule acted as a form of protection for the females? Otherwise, just the personality of the females in the Beast World would make males want to strangle countless number of females like Nina.

Although Nina was loathsome, the Beast World could not continue to breed and raise offspring if all the females were strangled to death.

After thinking through it, Gu Mengmeng looked more relaxed. She shook her head and said, “Never mind then, why do we have to join in the fight between them couples? Come, let’s go back and eat. Your rabbit meat seems no longer warm, may I help you heat it up?”

Talking about food, Sandy immediately forgot Gu Mengmeng’s oddness moments ago. With shining eyes, she nodded and answered softly, “Gu Mengmeng, the rabbit meat you cooked was so delicious, unlike any I have eaten before. It has a... a... I don’t know how to describe it, but it was really delicious.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, “Eat more if you like it.”

As she was speaking, she took the remaining rabbit meat in Sandy’s hand and put it back to roast on the fire pit. But the location was even nearer to Nina and Quentin, making Gu Mengmeng look like the popcorn seller in front of a cinema, not missing out anything on screen without buying tickets.

The smell of roasted rabbit spread out and Nina’s tongue twisted, she could not even scold Quentin fluently. Looking at the Sandy’s blessed face as she satisfactorily munched on a piece of rabbit meat, Nina had almost bid her tongue as well.

Damn!

Nina was furious. She was the most beautiful in the tribe, when did it become the lowly half-orc female Sandy’s turn to enjoy delicious food first?

Chapter 47 - Beat You up Every Time I See You!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nina was furious. She marched forward and threw the rabbit meat Gu Mengmeng had roasted for Sandy on the ground before Gu Mengmeng could react. She then said arrogantly, “I said you are not allowed to eat, are you deaf?”

Gu Mengmeng had already detested Nina. Although she won’t be speaking up for Quentin like Virgin Mary, it did not mean Gu Mengmeng could take her way of things. Moreover, Nina had looked for trouble ever since she appeared. She was all ready to beat up her just now, but she turned to look for Quentin halfway during their argument, resulting in Gu Mengmeng holding back all her anger.

Now, she came to look for trouble again, even throwing Sandy’s food on the ground.

Looking at Sandy’s grieved look, Gu Mengmeng raged.

“Eh, do you have some kind of problem? You expect us to follow when you say do not eat? Who are you to give orders?!”

With Gu Mengmeng’s push, Nina staggered backwards. But she did not trip this time as she had come prepared.

Nina was taking the anger of Quentin being silent on Gu Mengmeng. What was so good about this skinny young female? Barete liked her, Elvis liked her, even Lea showed support and affection towards her now. Damn! These supreme males were originally supposed to belong to the most beautiful female in the tribe, herself!

So, Nina imitated Gu Mengmeng and pushed back, refusing to lose out.

Nina's bloated body that lacked training was obviously no match to Gu Mengmeng's slim one. Just lowering her body slightly, Gu Mengmeng had easily dodged Nina's attack. Then, she raised her fist and punched into Nina's fat stomach.

What the hell. Gu Mengmeng's fist sank entirely into Nina's stomach. She felt like she had punched into a pile of fluffy cotton wool, not being able to find the sweet spot. Gu Mengmeng felt dissatisfied.

But even if it was like that, her years of boxing and free combat training had not failed her. Being someone that had never been hit before the heavy blow almost claimed Nina's life. She dropped down to the ground and burst into tears. "Ah, this is murder! This young female is going to kill me... Someone quick, come and save me!"

Nina had thought her 'pitiful' cry of help would definitely arouse the males' protectiveness. She had clearly seen Elvis's muscles bulging when Gu Mengmeng did the same thing. He had an earth-shattering expression, as though anyone against Gu Mengmeng deserved to die.

Hence Nina imitated Gu Mengmeng, with some addition of her acting skill, and defined what was said to be 'roaring-like-a-pig-being-slaughtered kind of pitifully look'.

But her acting did not all go to waste, at least her males felt heartache. However, Quentin was kneeling on the Platform of Deity's Punishment and dared not to move, while the two downstage who dared could not.

Gu Mengmeng had been angry and now Nina's screaming were adding to her annoyance. She jumped onto Nina's body and slapped her for a dozen times, while scolding, "Who asked you to scream? Who asked you to scream! You want to scream? Let's see if you can still scream now!"

Gu Mengmeng did not stop until Nina's face were all swollen.

Nina had never encountered something like this before and she was shocked beyond words by the beating. Looking at Gu Mengmeng riding on her body, she did not even have the courage to push her off.

Seeing Nina had finally become well-behaved, Gu Mengmeng dusted off her hands and stood up. She looked at Nina in a condescending manner and said, “Remember this, My name is Gu Mengmeng and Sandy is my friend. If you dare to bully her again, I will beat you up every time I see you!”

Chapter 48 - Hit Me Back If You Can!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“I... I am a female... You can’t hit me.” Nina protested with a trembling voice, she felt indignant despite being scared.

Feeling ridiculous, Gu Mengmeng snorted coldly and raised her fist towards Nina’s face. Nina jumped back in shock and curled up in a ball, in a miserable yet funny state.

But Gu Mengmeng’s fist stopped a finger away from Nina’s nose and she pointed at herself with her thumb. She laughed confidently and mockingly, “I am going to beat you up anyway, hit me back if you can!”

“You... you are so barbaric!” Seeing Gu Mengmeng with no intention of continuing to punch her, she said with a swollen face and her voice was unclear as if a marinated egg was stuffed into her mouth.

“Thank you for your compliment!” Gu Mengmeng clasped her fists and laughed scornfully, before turning to the adorable Sandy, totally ignoring Nina that was looking for her teeth all over the ground behind Gu Mengmeng.

This was the first time Sandy had saw Nina being taken advantage of, so pathetically in addition. Although she felt the way Gu Mengmeng handled things was a bit too strange, but so what? The important thing was that they were able to vent their anger out!

Sandy pressed her lips and smiled discreetly. She held Gu Mengmeng’s hands and said softly, “Please don’t dash out all by yourself in the future, what if you get hurt?”

Gu Mengmeng grinned, looking totally different from her beating up Nina fiercely moments before. With a warm smile resembling an innocent older sister next door, Gu Mengmeng comforted her, “Relax relax, I will run away if I can’t win her. I am not stupid, I won’t dash out if I know I can’t win.”

Sandy smiled, she liked Gu Mengmeng so much.

Friend...

She did not know this relationship could exist between females.

Sandy sat back to the small fire pit. Maybe because of Gu Mengmeng, the Flame Devil that she was once afraid of made her feel warm at this moment. The orange-red flamed seemed so gentle, so holy.

“Eh! Don’t eat it!” Gu Mengmeng stopped Sandy from picking up the food that had been thrown away by Nina and stuffing it into her mouth. Looking at Sandy’s confused face, Gu Mengmeng really wanted to lecture her on the basics of food hygiene.

But, how does she get past the huge disparity of knowledge?

Gu Mengmeng shook away the three wrinkles on her head and said in the most direct way, “It’s cold, don’t eat it.”

Sandy pouted and looked at the half-eaten roast rabbit with her big watery eyes. Her pitifully look had melted Gu Mengmeng’s heart.

Ah, Gu Mengmeng, you are so cruel! How can you stop a foodie from eating?!

Gu Mengmeng scolded herself in her heart, before finally succumbing to Sandy’s foodie cuteness. She held Sandy’s small hands and said, “I will go and ask the Leader if there are anything else to eat on his side. I know how to make many many delicacies, let’s throw away this one, alright?”

Hearing that there were many delicacies, Sandy nodded her head immediately and Gu Mengmeng felt as though she could see many shiny stars in her eyes, so Gu Mengmeng returned a similarly bright smile to her. Gu Mengmeng felt herself liking Sandy more and more~

Elvis overheard the whole conversation between Gu Mengmeng and Sandy as the Platform of the Deity's Punishment was only around five square meters big. Just looking at Gu Mengmeng turning over and looking at him with a slightly pleading look, Elvis felt as if his heart had received a heavy blow.

He realized that a critical hit with advance notice hurt even more!

"Here." Elvis handed over the roast rabbit that Gu Mengmeng had given him without hesitation.

He had resisted his taste buds and did not eat a single bit as he had wanted to preserve the meat for collection.

But how could any delicious food ever be compared to Gu Mengmeng's smile?

He would even steal or go through hell to grant her wish if that's what she had wanted.

Chapter 49 - Touching Is No Big Deal

Gu Mengmeng looked at the roasted rabbit Elvis had handed to her and asked, as if she was wrong, “Leader, do you not like the food I cooked?”

Elvis stopped, he frowned and shook his head.

Why would he not like it? He liked it so much that he would have gobbled it down in one mouth, only god knows how much he treasured it such that he resisted the temptation to keep the roasted rabbit.

“Then why didn’t you eat it?” Gu Mengmeng pouted and looked at Elvis with a pitiful look.

Gu Mengmeng’s big eyes looking at Elvis had distracted him. He could only stretch out his slender fingers and casually stroked Gu Mengmeng’s hair. Looking at her furry head, he could not help but feel a strange sense of satisfaction.

“I saved it for you in case you feel hungry after a while,” Elvis did not even know how gentle and sweet he sounded at that moment.

Gu Mengmeng sighed silently. It was really difficult to survive in the Beast World, even someone as wickedly handsome as Leader know the head-shot kill. What if she could not resist... Damn, how is this different from teasing the husky in the neighborhood?

Gu Mengmeng shook her head inside her heart and repeatedly told herself, “I am a good person believing in socialism, my morals are upright. Zoophilia and stuff, it’s okay to watch cartoons about it, but in real life... Well, she herself could not do it anyway.”

Elvis did not know what Gu Mengmeng was thinking, but looking at her shaking her head, he thought that she did not believe him. He panicked and was at a loss of what to do. Under the emergency situation, he stuffed the entire roasted rabbit into his mouth and showed that he did not dislike Gu Mengmeng's cooking by actions.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis suddenly choking himself and was utterly confused. Did everyone in the Beast World act like this? Any disagreement and someone will commit suicide? Choking to death... It was quite a unique way to die.

Just as Gu Mengmeng was stunned, Elvis had swallowed the entire roasted rabbit down his throat.

The taste...

As if he had open the gate to a brand new world.

He did not know meat could be eaten like this.

Elvis could not describe the excitement he felt. He held Gu Mengmeng's small shoulders tightly and brought her into his arms. He said in the most affectionate voice, "It was so delicious!"

What the heck!

Gu Mengmeng almost bit her tongue.

It was an eye-opener to hear someone saying "It was so delicious" more affectionately than "I love you" in her lifetime!

"Le... Leader, I can always make for you in the future if you like it." Gu Mengmeng resisted her disobedient little heart and repeatedly stressed to herself, "Elvis is a husky, Elvis is a husky~".

That's right, Elvis is a husky.

Thinking about that, hugging and touching are no big deals~

“No.” Elvis rested his chin on Gu Mengmeng’s furry head and stroked her head seemingly casually, but in reality, he almost could not contain his excitement and said, “In the future, I will cook for you, I got to take care of you as I am Leader after all.”

Gu Mengmeng gave two thumbs-up to Elvis with shining eyes and said in the most sincere tone, “You are the best Leader in the whole universe and in the entire history of mankind!”

Elvis could not understand much in this whole string of compliments.

But Gu Mengmeng’s worshiping expression had solidly delighted Elvis.

He lifted the corners of his lips in a proud curvature.

Elvis looked at the fire pit that was carefully attended to by Barete and grinned wickedly while confidently: Why would he lose to Gu Mengmeng’s other pursuers? It’s impossible... in any field.

Chapter 50 - Beauty Lea

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Looking at the pile of objects suspected to be a chunk of roasted meat with some charred parts and some bloody ones, Gu Mengmeng deeply felt that her compliment for Elvis moments ago was too exaggerated.

She had a deep understanding now that looks did not represent everything, not cooking skills, at least.

It was a talent to be able to turn a piece of fresh meat into a biochemical weapon.

Eat it? Gu Mengmeng definitely could not eat it.

But if she straight away say that she was not going to eat it, she could not resist Elvis's hopeful eyes.

Gu Mengmeng struggled for a while before deciding to sacrifice her stomach to please Elvis.

After all, Leader is the truth, while looks are justice.

With a determination that she was ready to die for this, Gu Mengmeng took a bite into Elvis's masterpiece. Her mouth was filled with a charcoal taste and there was a clucking sound whenever she chewed it. Gu Mengmeng's taste buds had activated the self-protection mechanism and she could not even taste anything... Yes, her tongue was already numbed.

The only thing she worried about now was whether her white teeth could withstand the challenge posted by the roasted meat that was as hard as a stone...

Her stomach churned, followed by painful cramps.

Sweats trickled down Gu Mengmeng's head, making her forced smile looked extra heartbreaking.

Males were born with sharp senses. Elvis had realized that he probably screwed up when he saw the way Gu Mengmeng had looked at the piece of roasted meat. However, he was still a little hopeful that maybe it was just not looking appetizing while being delicious? After all, he had put in 100% courage and a full loving heart to roast it.

But Gu Mengmeng was full of sweat with just one mouth. This had made Elvis recall her saying 'Or else... I'll die' when she asked him to find wood the last time.

It seemed like the Beast Deity World had a unique way of cooking food and the Messenger of the Beast Deity would really die if she eats the wrong thing!

Elvis's heart ached just thinking about that.

He stepped forward and hit away the roasted meat on Gu Mengmeng's hand. He said with a black face, "Stop eating it."

"Leader..." Gu Mengmeng was a little worried. Frankly speaking, Elvis had treated her well, but she was still afraid of him, especially when Elvis showed signs of anger.

Maybe, it was because she had seen Elvis in his original form. Humans have an instinctive fear towards beasts, especially animals like wolves, tigers and leopards.

"Try this piece?" A tree branch with roasted meat was stretched in front of Gu Mengmeng's face. Gu Mengmeng looked up and saw Mr. Holy beaming with an aurora resembling god coming to her rescue.

"Thank you, beauty." Gu Mengmeng still did not know Mr. Holy's name, but he always jumped out to provide her sense of security at crucial moments.

He did this when Quentin almost killed her last night, and so did he when she was scared of Elvis's rage now.

Somehow, his words of 'don't be scared, I'm here for you' rang in Gu Mengmeng's ears.

Mr. Holy replied with a faint smile, "If beauty is a nickname, mind if you add my name behind it?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded, then shook her head. She lowered her head in shame and said, "I don't even know your name even though you saved my life... Sorry."

"Lea." Mr. Holy's voice sounded as gentle as a church choir and naturally making people feel joy in their heart. "Promise me this, remember my name and never forget it, will you?"

"Beauty... Lea." Gu Mengmeng broke into a bright smile with her eyes turning into crescents, clearly reflecting Lea's shadow.

In this moment, it was as though there were only the two of them in the entire world.

Chapter 51 - A Little Ashamed

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis felt uncomfortable, but he did not know why. He only knew that he really did not like the way Gu Mengmeng was looking at Lea now. It made him uneasy, anxious and gloomy.

But, he could not stop Lea from getting in touch with Gu Mengmeng.

The whole Saint Nazaire and he must unconditionally support any factors that could keep Gu Mengmeng in the tribe.

Even though, he was hoping so much that the factor was him, and only him.

But if it was not him, or it was not only him, then he rather it be Lea than anybody else.

Lea was undoubtedly the most difficult person to handle as an opponent, but also the most reliable person if he was your companion. Elvis knew that it would be the best situation for Saint Nazaire and Gu Mengmeng if Lea and he became Gu Mengmeng's partners.

So, Elvis resisted his bulging veins and looked at the pink atmosphere radiating continuously around Gu Mengmeng and Lea with clenched fists. But he did not dash out, destroy it and take Gu Mengmeng away despite everything.

If Gu Mengmeng's Messenger of the Beast Deity identity leaked out, she would be more safe with Lea and he protecting her together.

Elvis could only resist his urge of rushing up to attack Lea by repeatedly telling himself that in his heart.

But the period of time that seemed endless and hard to endure for Elvis was actually less than a minute. Because Gu Mengmeng could not resist her body's physiological reaction no matter how much she was falling for the beauty. In some strange and tricky sense, Elvis's perfect combination of charred and 'fresh' roasted meat had won Lea's beauty.

Gu Mengmeng felt her stomach almost cramping from the pain. She could not even open her mouth to eat no matter how well Lea had roasted the meat.

Gu Mengmeng covered her stomach, bent down and curled into a ball in pain. The situation had made everyone extremely worried, especially Elvis who was remorseful that he had let Gu Mengmeng ate something that he did not even try before. He was being too careless.

Lea was Saint Nazaire's witch doctor and taking care of the tribe's females was his top priority job, so he was the first to react seeing Gu Mengmeng showing signs of pain.

The roasted meat that he had spent much effort on was thrown away to the side casually. Lea stepped forward and hugged Gu Mengmeng into his arms, using the way of holding a baby to ensure the greatest comfort and relaxation. His slender and pale fingers brushed lightly across Gu Mengmeng's forehead and he asked gently, "Don't be scared, tell me where you feel uncomfortable. I can cure you."

To be frank, Gu Mengmeng felt a little ashamed.

But the joy in her heart was indescribable. Is there any girl who does not like to be treasured? Imagine someone as handsome, gentle, capable and thoughtful as Lea, hugging you softly as though he was hugging the most precious gem in the whole world, staring attentively only at you with eyes that could overturn the world, as though pouring his entire life of tenderness on you. The slight frown spilled his concern, you could feel his soft touch on your forehead, as though electricity flowed from his fingertips straight to your heart.

But Gu Mengmeng could not open her mouth to explain. Now, she felt that Elvis's dark cuisine was nothing compared to the familiar sharp pain she felt on her lower abdomen, as if the warm flow was going to control her neanderthal powers!

Damn, Great Aunt [1. Great Aunt was used to discreetly refer to a female's menstruation on the Internet], you are really my blood-related aunt!

Chapter 52 - Gu Mengmeng Had Matured into Adulthood! the Males of Saint Nazaire Are Overjoyed!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The sweet scent had gradually spread out and the whole Saint Nazaire was overjoyed.

Yes, another female in Saint Nazaire had matured into adulthood.

Even though it was only her second day at the tribe, she was Saint Nazaire's female after all!

Every female maturing into adulthood was a celebratory event for the tribe. One reason was that the ratio of females being born was extremely low, in addition to their weak nature, it was not easy for them to survive until adulthood. The second reason was that all the unmated males had the responsibility to nurture and protect the young females since the day they were born, hence on the day they mature, the tribe would host a grand campfire for the matured female to choose the male that she liked, among all single males, as her partner.

To be the first partner of a female was crucial to a male's life afterwards. No matter how many partners the female had in the future, the first partner's status in the family was always the next important followed by the female. Also, since females were generally the hands-off boss and did not care about anything at all, the first partner actually had full control and commanding power over the whole family.

In addition, although Gu Mengmeng, who matured into adulthood today, had only come to the tribe for two days, she had brought way too much shock to Saint Nazaire.

She had brought in delicious food and the fire of hope given by the Beast Deity.

She was kind, friendly, righteous and extremely beautiful.

A female like this, was going to mature into adulthood today!

The happiness came too suddenly, the males of Saint Nazaire were bound to be in a frenzy.

In contrast was Elvis's conflicting mind, Lea's silent smile and Barete's unbearable pain.

Well, Barete was one of the best among Gu Mengmeng's pursuers and she had obviously treated him differently. If he could express his love for her during the campfire tonight, even if he could not become the first partner, he definitely could become one of them.

However, right now he must kneel on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment for two more days.

In these two days, he could only watch as Gu Mengmeng chose others.

However, Gu Mengmeng, who had caused the entire commotion, did not know what her Great Aunt meant to the males in Saint Nazaire. She could only look at Lea gently smiling beside him with a red face, thinking of how to tell him that he could not cure menstrual cramps even if he was the most famous doctor alive.

"I..." Gu Mengmeng wriggled slightly, trying to stand up from Lea's arms.

Although she felt that his arms were warm and comfortable, it was just too embarrassing to stay in his arms for someone with Great Aunt and not having sanitary pads on.

But Lea tightened his grip and stopped her from moving. His eyes scanned the males under the Platform of the Deity's Punishment that were even more excited from Gu Mengmeng's small movement as a signal. Lea's rosy lips moved closer to her ears and said with a rich and deep voice resembling the cello, “Don’t leave me.”

Gu Mengmeng instantly had goosebumps over her whole body, literally.

Was she being teased?!

She had watched countless Korean dramas, but in the end she was teased by an ancient beast?!

Gu Mengmeng’s small hands pressed against her fast pounding heart, swallowed saliva and battled with her values.

Damn, Beauty Lea had already said that, should she pounced into his arms?

Lea looked back at Gu Mengmeng and his lips slowly edged closer, until it was at no more than two millimeters away from her nose. A warm and moist breath scattered onto her nose. The ambiguity that came head-on caught Gu Mengmeng totally off-guard.

“Your eyes... looked like they want to eat me up.”

Chapter 53 - Do You Want to Go Back to Elvis's Place, or Mine?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Arhwoo~

Gu Mengmeng could almost hear herself howling like a wolf in her heart.

Resist, she must resist!

Gu Mengmeng endured her heart beating too fast from the teasing, she pursed her lips and replied, "I'm alright, you can let go of me."

Lea's slender fingers hooked her chin lightly, as though he was deep in thought, but he kept quiet. He led her face to tilt to the direction of the green-eyed males down the platform, away from his own face, before turning her chin back and said with a half smile, "Sandy might not be able to protect you."

What the heck!

Tens of thousands of alpacas dashed across in Gu Mengmeng's mind.

What was going on? Are the werewolves collectively transforming under the full moon? How did all the honest-looking handsome men just now turned into the beasts in the zoo staring at the zoo-keeper with their food?! Unfortunately, Gu Mengmeng herself was equivalent to the food!

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback. She circled her arms around Lea's neck instinctively and struggled more into his arms. She couldn't care less about which aunt anymore, her life was more important.

Gu Mengmeng's movement of such an extent had made the fragrance spread even thicker. Lea that was hugging onto Gu Mengmeng was undoubtedly affected.

His heart was pounding, once, twice, strong and forcefully.

This distant feeling made Lea frowned, though it was unnoticeable to everyone, except Elvis.

“Not getting down?” Lea shifted his attention to Gu Mengmeng, making himself seem no different from normal and not letting anyone noticing his oddness.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head violently.

Getting down, are you kidding me?! Damn, she could foresee that once she left Lea, these green-eyed creatures were going to tear her apart and gobble her up, not even leaving behind bones.

Lea smiled in satisfaction looking at Gu Mengmeng’s reaction.

Slowly yet swiftly getting up without any extra movements, he supported Gu Mengmeng’s little butt with one hand and his other hand was loosely hanging at the side. To prevent herself from falling, Gu Mengmeng had to circle her arms around Lea’s neck without relaxing at all.

Their faces were next to each other and Lea was distracted by Gu Mengmeng’s smooth skin and sweet scent. Although he was doing his best to control his emotions, he had revealed too much ambiguity in his tone.

“Do you want to go back to Elvis’s place, or mine?”

Gu Mengmeng’s heart skipped a beat.

The more dangerous the outside world was, the more tantalizing the ambiguity was.

Gu Mengmeng buried her entire face into Lea’s neck and hence did not see Lea’s breath almost stopping from being at a loss of what to do at her little acts.

“Bring me to Leader then, he will protect me.”

I can also protect you!

This sentence had almost slipped out of his mouth, but Lea had stopped it at his throat. The sentence, having gone through a few changes, finally turned into a single ‘alright’.

Lea walked past Elvis and their eyes met. Many years of braving countless dangers together had brewed the connection between them which allowed for silent conversations.

Tonight, the campfire celebrating Gu Mengmeng’s adulthood would definitely be interesting.

But the final winner could only be the two of them.

Elvis and Lea walked side by side, protecting Gu Mengmeng whom was hiding in Lea’s arms like an ostrich. They walked past the eager males and no one dared to do anything under their strong pressure.

On the other hand, Barete stared at the figures of them leaving and punched onto the ground of the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment. The stone cracked, while his fist was full of blood.

Chapter 54 - Just Thinking of That Was so Embarrassing!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was still in a state of shock back in Elvis's cave.

The male beasts had followed till outside of Elvis's cave and stopped at the edge of his territory. They dared not to come closer due to Elvis's strong beast pressure, but they did not leave and continued to loiter around the area.

Gu Mengmeng was almost in tears from the scare. She could win Nina, but that did not mean she could also win a pack of strong male beasts.

"Leader, you won't let them eat me up, will you?!"

Elvis's face was black throughout, signaling that he was in an extremely bad mood.

His little sidekick was coveted by all the single males in the tribe, nobody would be feeling happy from that! Besides, she had promised that she would be his sidekick and not leave him even by a foot, but she had been sticking onto Lea and hardly sparing a glance to him.

"You still know that I'm your leader?" Elvis voice was filled with some anger.

"Leader..." Gu Mengmeng whined with a sobbing tone.

"Relax, it ain't their turn yet."

Gu Mengmeng lifted her eyebrows. Leader... had finally decided to eat her?

Just when Gu Mengmeng was at a loss, Lea had took out a soft and white hide from somewhere deep inside the cave with much familiarity. He folded it in half and put some herbs unknown to Gu Mengmeng in the middle. Gu Mengmeng had only known they were herbs because of the strong traditional medicine smell, similar to the acupuncture place below her house.

With a needle, Lea then sewed the hide into a flat and comfortable cloth of suitable size. Without saying anything else, he lifted Gu Mengmeng's dress and made her shook her body in shock. She held onto the hemlines and stared at Lea unbelievably. She wanted to scold 'pervert' but the word could not come out of her mouth as she looked at the holy face and calm expression.

"It will be more comfortable for you to use this as a pad." Lea said calmly, making the alarmed Gu Mengmeng look like she was misunderstanding his good intent.

But, you can't lift someone else's dress no matter what good intent you have!

Gu Mengmeng coughed awkwardly. She snatched away the uncivilized version of a sanitary pad in Lea's hand, while nodding, retreating backwards and saying, "I can do it myself."

Lea's slender fingers brushed through Gu Mengmeng's hair and held the back of her head steadily, while his other hand circled around her waist in an intimate and natural way. As though they were originally supposed to be hugging each other, Lea brought her into his arms naturally.

He went close to Gu Mengmeng's ears and said alluringly, "You have to get used to relying on us, or else... we will be so hurt."

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng was confused, she could not understand what Lea's words meant at all.

Relying on them... but surely not to the extent of helping her to change sanitary pads right?!

Embarrassing, just thinking of that was so embarrassing!

“It is a male’s greatest shame to be not relied on by his female.” Lea rubbed his nose tip against Gu Mengmeng’s ears lightly and a warm breath went into her ears. A tingling sensation spread to her whole body and Gu Mengmeng felt that her brain could no longer function at all. She could only hear Lea’s alluring voice, “Try to trust us, rely on us, let us belong to you, then... gain all of our loyalty. Isn’t that great? Huh?”

Chapter 55 - The Fox Seductive Fragrant

“Belong to... me?” Gu Mengmeng asked with misty eyes that were lacking the clear look. She seemed to be in a chaotic state, while also looked lost. Her lips were lifted, but that smile was blank, unlike her usual unbridled one.

“Yes, belong to you.” Lea’s voice was still calm, with slightly curved lips and a confidence of controlling over everything.

As though he was the god looking down on humankind.

Elvis secretly released some beast pressure and interrupted the affectionate interaction between Lea and Gu Mengmeng.

Lea glanced at Elvis, confused.

Elvis took over the almost unconscious Gu Mengmeng from Lea’s arms, frowning. He looked at Lea with criticism and disapproval. “She is the Messenger of the Beast Deity.”

“That’s why she must stay in Saint Nazaire.” Lea sounded as if he could not read between Elvis’s lines, or as if he was using this attitude to remind Elvis ‘This is the simplest and most effective method’.

Elvis frowned even more as he himself knew that Lea was right. As the leader of the tribe, he should be considering for Saint Nazaire. Moreover, using the fox seductive fragrance to make the messenger stay was one of the methods he had approved of at the start.

However, at that time, he did not know that this unknown Messenger of the Beast Deity would be the Gu Mengmeng that always surprised him, delighted him, made him break his rules and be irresistible towards, and one that called him 'Leader'.

"She would blame us after she wakes up." Elvis stared at the unguarded, sleeping Gu Mengmeng in his arms. Just thinking of the eyes raging and filled with resentment when they opened again made his heart ache.

"To her, it's just two more outstanding males following her, she has no loss. Besides, if she was angered because of the fox seductive fragrance, the person that she would not forgive is me, not us." Lea seemed to have everything planned from the start, no matter if the ending was good or bad. "If it really turns out like that, you should kill me in front of her to vent her anger. It is worth for me to sacrifice my life to make the messenger of the Beast Deity stay in Saint Nazaire and make the tribe stronger than ever."

"Things have yet to proceed to this stage yet." Elvis interrupted Lea's words. Throughout the years of braving countless dangers together, he had treated Lea as a family member long ago, they were blood brothers. Although the thought of sharing Gu Mengmeng with Lea had made him feel as though a fish bone was stuck in his throat, he treasured Lea like a brother without Gu Mengmeng's matter though.

But Lea gave a faint smile and looked towards the entrance of the cave as if deep in thought. "If she could mature into adulthood a few more years later, or just a few more months later, I don't have to use the fox seductive fragrance to mate with her. But it has to be now. Even if you and me are different to her, it was not much distinctive from the rest of the males. You know, if we want her to really stay in the tribe, her first baby have to be from either one of us. Only then can Saint Nazaire keep her forever. If not, she can leave with her males anytime she wants, while we... we could only choose to betray Saint Nazaire, or become stray beasts."

Elvis clenched his fists instinctively. Some lines were not meant to be crossed.

But if he were to sacrifice Gu Mengmeng for his ambitions, his principles, his bottom line, he did not have the heart to do it.

Lea was probably right, Gu Mengmeng would not suffer any loss if they mate with her when she was seduced by the fragrance. Even if she dislikes them because of the fragrance, she could always choose other partners, ignoring Lea and him, or even divorcing with them in just a single thought.

All along, it was Lea and him taking the greatest risks, but why... he could not make up his mind just looking at the unguarded Gu Mengmeng in his arms.

Chapter 56 - Blinded by Lust

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“She will not belong to anyone, nobody can take her away.” Elvis turned around and carried Gu Mengmeng onto the pile of grass to let her sleep more comfortably.

Lea did not stop Elvis from leaving, he only watched him in silence. Lea managed his mood when Elvis had settled Gu Mengmeng down and walked back. Lea’s eyes were deep, as though they could see through everything, his voice was calm and he stated lightly, “You have fallen in love with her.”

Elvis did not reply, but only frowned and looked back at Lea. After a long time, he nodded his head almost unnoticeably.

Indeed, he loved Gu Mengmeng. This love came strangely without any reason, but he had fallen for her totally.

Lea and he had planned for Saint Nazaire for so many years, but with so many calculations, he had miscalculated his pumping heart.

So, this was what it felt like to fall in love.

Gu Mengmeng had used her lively big eyes to teach Elvis how to make his heart beat.

Hence, he would never let go of this mischievous female.

Fortunately, Gu Mengmeng happened to be the Messenger of the Beast Deity and Elvis did not have to face the choice between the tribe and her.

Lea did not seem to be surprised at all.

Indeed, that female was the Messenger of the Beast Deity, she had countless shining factors that made people fascinated over her, she was beautiful, intelligent, kind and gentle. Most importantly, she represented the Beast Deity, the highest authority of the Beast World. It was an honor itself to be able to stand next to her. How could any male not fall for her?

“What about Barete? Do we need to give him a warning?”

“There’s no need.” Elvis had the pride of being the tribe’s Leader, or in other words, he had the pride of being a male.

Lea nodded. He had full confidence towards Elvis’s capabilities, or else he would not have bet everything to support him and help him to reach the top, making Saint Nazaire the strongest tribe in the Beast World, reproducing or even surpassing the magnificence Sauder had once achieved.

“I will not tell her anything about what happened today. But, let this be the last time.” Elvis warned Lea seriously. He had zero tolerance towards anything related to Gu Mengmeng.

Lea raised his head and looked to somewhere outside of the cave, without an actual focal point. His eyes seemed empty, so was his voice. He sounded close yet distant, “It will be the best if she is willing to stay in Saint Nazaire. But what if that’s not what she wants? What if one day, she falls in love with another male...

“She’s mine.” Elvis interrupted Lea. What he meant was clear, his status of being the first partner would not change no matter how many partners Gu Mengmeng would have in the future.

“I’m glad that you have so much confidence in yourself,” Lea smiled and said. He took a deep breath and turned to walk towards the opening of the cave, leaving Elvis an aloof figure and a faint line “I’ll go and prepare the campfire, while chasing away the males at the cave opening on the way.”

Elvis did not stop Lea from leaving, he only let out a faint sigh.

Indeed, he also wished that he could have that much confidence till the very end.

Gu Mengmeng slowly woke up not long after Lea had left. She did not feel much uneasiness, but felt drunk. She could only remember herself in Lea's arms and wanting to pounce into Lea and Elvis after she was blinded by lust. But she did not know that she had ended up like this because of Lea's fox seductive fragrance multiplying the tiny affection she had in her heart infinitely, she just thought that she became more courageous due to her lust. Lea was still fine, but how did she dare to think of Elvis too? Isn't she scared of Elvis eating her alive once he was pissed off?

Chapter 57 - Who Is This Awkward Guy?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Come here,” Elvis waved to Gu Mengmeng and said, “I know you have woken up.”

Gu Mengmeng, who had originally wanted to continue acting asleep, was left with no other choice but to open her eyes. She rolled up from the pile of grass and smiled in an awkward yet polite manner, “Leader.”

“Who will you choose, tonight?” Elvis’s figure looked ambiguous in the shadow and Gu Mengmeng could not see him clearly even from such a close distance.

“Huh?” Gu Mengmeng’s heart paused for a split second due to Elvis’s words. Who would she choose tonight? Like an emperor choosing which concubine to sleep with? Lea’s ambiguous movements and alluring words were put on automatic replay in Gu Mengmeng’s mind and her face blushed naturally.

Damn, Lea had looked like a transcendent flower on the highest mountain, why did he know so much about flirting? Even being a bad influence to my Leader! Give me back the cool and abstinent Leader, who is this awkward guy?! I must be having a fake Leader now!

Gu Mengmeng criticized silently, without bothering to manage her facial expressions. Hence the politeness on her face had disappeared, leaving behind awkwardness.

Elvis pulled Gu Mengmeng straight into his arms, his chin against the top of her head to prevent her from noticing his anticipatory look.

He knew Gu Mengmeng was a little scared of him, but not the reason behind it. He wished Gu Mengmeng could look at him in the same affectionate way as she had looked at Lea, but she never did except during their first encounter.

“Who will you choose as your first partner tonight during the campfire?” Elvis had tried to keep his tone calm, but he did not know how jittery he sounded. He looked forward to her answer, but was also afraid of hearing names other than his.

Well sorry, Gu Mengmeng definitely went against Elvis’s hopes.

Because a nuclear bomb had just been dropped in her brain!

“What first partner?! Leader, have you forgotten? I’m still a young female! Underage!” Gu Mengmeng covered her chest with both of her hands instinctively and looked at Elvis with her guard up. She thought: Even if this is the Beast World, but surely even beasts have morals to abide to? Everyone will rage if you did it to underage young females, wouldn’t their greatest Beast Deity come and settle this issue?

“You have matured into adulthood today.” Elvis rubbed his chin against Gu Mengmeng’s head with a gentle smile in his eyes. “You are going through estrus today.”

“What the?!” Gu Mengmeng blurted out. “I am an innocent girl, why the heck would I go through estrus?”

Elvis tilted his head and looked at the raging Gu Mengmeng with a pampering smile on his face.

The scent on Gu Mengmeng was not covered by Lea’s medicine pouch at all, instead, it had represented an unspoken ambiguous feeling, making it even more irresistible. Like an invisible hand, the sweet scent was tearing his every nerve, with a voice repeatedly muttering in Elvis’s ears:

“Your female, she has matured!”

Gu Mengmeng was a little creeped out by Elvis's smile. She cleared her throat, lowered her head in a defeated manner and said, "Leader, I wasn't scolding you, I was just expressing my shock. I'm really a young female, it's impossible for me to go through estrus. You gotta trust me, really!"

Elvis circled around Gu Mengmeng's shoulders, bent down to match her height and looked at her straight in the eye. He said, "If you continue to be this excited, the beast pressure I'm exerting might not be able to suppress the males outside. They are Saint Nazaire's tribesmen and I don't want to hurt them."

Chapter 58 - Relationship Between Menstruation and Estrus

“What’s them on a rampage got to do with me?” Gu Mengmeng pouted in unhappiness, she would not want to be blamed for that.

“They are only acting like this because the seductive smell of you on estrus. Elvis smiled without a choice. He really wanted to hide Gu Mengmeng away in a place where nobody could covet her, if possible.

However, she was the Messenger of the Beast Deity.

“I’ve already said that I am still a young female and I won’t go through estrus!” Before she could finish her sentence, Gu Mengmeng recalled something. With a face blushing like burning fire, she swallowed her saliva and asked, “Leader, do you call menstruation as estrus?”

“Menstruation?” Elvis clearly did not know what Gu Mengmeng was talking about.

“Erm.... it refers to the few days that women... oh I mean females, that are very grumpy have extremely bad mood.” Gu Mengmeng tried to explain to Elvis with common sense, but Elvis only showed an even more confused face...

There are only a few days that females experience bad mood? Why did he feel like females seem to be grumpy everyday?

“Just... just like me now, I am bleeding even though I am not hurt.” Gu Mengmeng felt that her bottom line had been crossed by a thousand miles in these two days. Why the heck was she explaining to Elvis what is menstruation?!

Elvis nodded at the anticipated Gu Mengmeng and said, “Yes, your current situation, is called estrus.”

Gu Mengmeng covered her face with both of her hands, feeling as though ten thousand alpacas were repeatedly running in her heart.

Damn, so young females were those that have not been through estrus, while those that had were considered mature. She had become an adult for five years, but she had acted young in the Beast World, even attracting a bunch of demons to celebrate it for her. What kind of setting is this? What happened to being a queen after transmigration? Didn't we agree on being either the imperial concubine or a favorite concubine, or even the head maidservant that had cheats on? Why did she transmigrate to this extreme matriarchal wild world where everywhere you see are males? Had her years of watching “Beyond The Realm Of Conscience”, “Empresses in the Palace” and “Scarlet Heart” gone down the drain?

Gu Mengmeng's heart was crying!

Gu Mengmeng's world was crashing down!

However, Elvis was calm. Although he did not know why Gu Mengmeng looked strange, the way she moulded her palm-sized small face into a steamed bun looked extremely cute.

So Elvis, without thinking about the current situation, poke her puffy face with his fingers and asked playfully, “Estrus is called menstruation in the Beast Deity World?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head instinctively, but with just two nods she had noticed the problem.

The Beast Deity World? Elvis had known that she did not belong to this world?!

Gu Mengmeng looked up at Elvis suddenly, with her lips pursed and her blinking eyes showing shock and anxiety.

Someone that did not belong to our tribe would not be loyal to us and must be killed.

Elvis would not be this type of person... right?

“Le... Leader...” Gu Mengmeng could not help but start to stutter, her teeth were chattering uncontrollably. She swallowed her saliva and rubbed her neck that have broke out into a cold sweat. Gu Mengmeng’s mind was filled with the image of Elvis turning into the beast form and biting into her artery with his canine.

“Eh?” Elvis’s heart dropped. He did not know why the little girl playing in his arms moments before suddenly looked at him while being guarded. He preferred her in her heartless and unbridled form, such carefulness did not resemble Gu Mengmeng.

His Gu Mengmeng would be beating people up like that way she had slapped Nina on the platform, she would be happy like the way she had eaten roasted meat with Sandy, she would be looking at him eagerly and saying “Leader, please protect me...” when she was in trouble.

Of all the ways it could go, she should not be as cautious and timid as she was now.

Chapter 59 - Gu Mengmeng the Backup Food

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng became even more nervous when she saw Elvis frowning, which naturally led to a heavier flow...

The wild version of sanitary pad Lea had prepared could not absorb Gu Mengmeng's blood at all, hence a coquettish red liquid flowed down from her thigh and totally crushed Gu Mengmeng's pride.

What the heck, what the heck, what the heck!

It was embarrassing enough for her period to soak through her pants, and now it was flowing down right in front of Elvis. Gu Mengmeng felt like she had never been as embarrassed as this in her entire life.

So she bent her knee, squat down and started bawling her eyes out.

"Eat, just eat, I couldn't fight you or run away from you, anyway. I couldn't do anything if you want to eat me up. But can you be a little gentler when you are eating? I'm scared of pain... Sob sob..."

Elvis was confused by Gu Mengmeng's crying. Originally he had no idea why she was afraid of him, now that he had heard her saying he was going to eat her up, he was even more at a loss for words. Wasn't his affection and pampering obvious enough to her? Or... could it be that in the Beast Deity World, males express their love to females by eating them up?

Elvis felt very fortunate that nobody liked Gu Mengmeng in the Beast Deity World.

"Unless I die, there's nobody that can hurt you, don't be afraid now." Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng pitifully. He had always known, the Messenger of the Beast Deity must have been through many challenges to serve by the Beast Deity's side. But he did not expect that the males in that world were so cruel.

If Gu Mengmeng had known what Elvis was thinking, she would have explained to him properly. Anyone suddenly falling into a place with a bunch of green-eyed monsters and getting surrounded by them would be aware of the crisis, besides, she was clearly guarded by the boss monster!

However, Gu Mengmeng clearly did not know how to read minds and hence did not know what Elvis was thinking. She wiped her tears and said with misty eyes, "So you are not going to eat me?"

"No," Elvis was adamant.

"Not even in the future?" Gu Mengmeng continued asking.

"Not even in the future." Elvis's heart stopped for a second and his eyes became as gentle as water, because of her mentioning the word 'future'...

Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes. She asked with the end of her lips slightly raised, "Are you really not going to treat me as back-up food?"

Elvis petted her small head affectionately and promised in seriousness, "What you are worrying about will never happen, stop having random thoughts."

Gu Mengmeng sniffed, before finally breaking into a smile, "You should have said earlier that you won't be eating me! You made me worry for so long."

Elvis also heaved a sigh of relief looking at Gu Mengmeng finally relaxing. After this hassle, the anxiety and anticipation in his mind were disrupted. In this atmosphere, he also could not continue asking Gu Mengmeng who was she going to pick as the first partner tonight.

"Gu Mengmeng." A careful call was heard from the entrance of the cave.

“Sandy?” Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and poke out from Elvis’s side. She looked at Sandy standing at the entrance, too afraid to come in, smiled and said, “Did you come here to play with me?”

Sandy was still a little scared of Elvis, although Elvis had never done anything to her. Moreover, the other males and she could lead a stable life in Saint Nazaire was all thanks to Elvis’s strength and Lea’s knowledge. However, she was still scared of him due to some unknown reason.

So Sandy waved to Gu Mengmeng and said, “Could you come out for a while? I have got something for you.”

Gu Mengmeng’s heart was almost melting from Sandy’s move that resembled a lucky cat and she quickly nodded her head. But just as she had dashed out two steps, she was lifted by the waist, while her legs were still in the action of running towards Sandy in midair.

Gu Mengmeng’s face turned into a steamed bun from the anger. She turned her head and looked at Elvis lifting her. “Leader, you are lifting me again,” she complained.

Chapter 60 - Sandy's Gift in Return

“I’ve already said, I don’t want to hurt them,” Elvis said fiercely. It was as though he was answering himself while also persuading himself not to beat up the males drooling over Gu Mengmeng outside his cave.

“Erm...” Gu Mengmeng instantly admitted defeat. She waved to Sandy and said, “It’s inconvenient for me to go out, how about you come in?”

“I... I don’t dare to...” Sandy lowered her head with a troubled look, discreetly glancing at Elvis with the corner of her eyes. She looked totally adorable.

“Leader...” Gu Mengmeng was a smart person, she had realized Sandy seemed to be extremely afraid of Elvis back on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment. So she swung with her weight into Elvis’s arms, as though she was on a swing, and said with a fawning tone, “Leader, I am feeling really uncomfortable now, can you let Sandy in to talk to me, please?”

Elvis was satisfied at Gu Mengmeng’s self-initiated hug. But he’s a neat freak, except for Lea Gu Mengmeng was the only person that could enter his cave. Nina had been punished by Elvis because she had frequently intruded into his cave without permission just relying on her female status, angering Elvis.

Hence, everyone in Saint Nazaire knew that Elvis would not let anyone into his cave. It was also normal for Elvis to be such a ‘neat freak’ due to the extreme territorial behavior of males in the Beast World. Elvis had only allowed Sandy to enter his territory because Gu Mengmeng and her were good friends, but the entrance of the cave was the maximum, Elvis was still unwilling to let her into the cave.

But Gu Mengmeng had to go out if he did not let Sandy in.

Looking at the drooling males outside, Elvis nodded with a black face, as a sign of permission for Sandy to enter.

“Thank you Leader~” Gu Mengmeng thanked him with clasped fists, before jumping down from Elvis’s body and pouncing onto Sandy.

Sandy had never been so warmly treated by any females before and was not used to the situation. Sandy, with a red face, let Gu Mengmeng do whatever she wants on her, rubbing here and there, before taking out a parcel wrapped tightly with leaves like a girl confessing to her first love. She handed it to Gu Mengmeng and said, blushing, “This is for you...”

“What is this?” Gu Mengmeng bluntly took it over while asking.

The feeling was a little sticky and there was a faint fragrance to it. Gu Mengmeng’s brows twitched and felt an immense joy. She put in her finger that had dipped into the thick liquid and tasted it... slightly sweet!

“This is yellow sauce, it is the most precious food I have, although it cannot be compared to the roasted rabbit meat you had given me.” Sandy observed Gu Mengmeng’s expression carefully, god knows how much she was afraid of Gu Mengmeng disliking the yellow sauce she had just given her. Although it was rare, it was not something as unprecedented as what Gu Mengmeng had given her. Besides, she only had this much...

“Sandy, thank you so much!” Gu Mengmeng gave Sandy a tight hug and rubbed her small face on Sandy’s plump face with great satisfaction to show her how overjoyed she was. “You are really my lucky star. With this, we could improve our meals!”

Sandy also laughed along with Gu Mengmeng. She was delighted that Gu Mengmeng did not look down on her gift in return and treated her so genuinely and warmly.

In her memories, no female had treated her this nice except for her Mother Beast, just because she was merely a half-orc...

Gu Mengmeng's smile resembled the warmth of the sun, influencing the people looking at her to laugh along with her naturally.

Chapter 61 - Just Not Eat It If the Worst Comes to the Worst

“It was great to be able to help.” Sandy’s sweet voice was like a breeze blowing past like flower petals, there was a fragrance in addition to the gentleness.

“You did not just help, you have saved my life.” Gu Mengmeng hugged the yellow sauce with both of her hands and sniffed exaggeratedly. She said, “With this honey, roasted meat in the future will not be so plain. Sigh, even though I also wanted oil, cumin, chili sauce... Honey is good enough for now. Other things can search slowly next time, one day we will definitely find them~”

“Honey?” Sandy tilted her head. She really liked Gu Mengmeng, but sometimes she always could not understand what she was saying.

Gu Mengmeng raised the leaf in her hand and explained like Ms Gu, “This yellow sauce have another name, honey. That’s what it is called in my place.”

“Oh.” Sandy nodded although she did not fully understand it. She knew that Gu Mengmeng was a female brought in by Elvis from outside the tribe, hence she understood the name ‘honey’ as a dialect from Gu Mengmeng’s original tribe and did not take it to heart.

“Can you tell me where did you find this? I can also go and get some next time...”

“No!”

“No!”

Before Gu Mengmeng could finish her sentence, a simultaneous objection was raised by both Elvis and Sandy, with an unusual uniform and firm attitude that would not accept objections at all.

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback by the sudden teamwork between the two of them. One roar came from her left while another came from her right, totally catching her off guard and almost making her drop the honey onto the ground.

“Why not?” Gu Mengmeng was confused. Sandy was not a selfish person and she would not reject her because of unwillingness to share the honey to Gu Mengmeng, if not, she would not have taken out the honey out of her own will today. Elvis was even more strange, as a carnivorous wolf, why would he grapple with honey?

Sandy held Gu Mengmeng’s shoulders with both of her hands and said intensely, “If you want to eat, please ask your partners to help you gather. I can even ask Bode to lead the way and tell them where’s the cave of the yellow needle insects. But please be sure not to go on your own, you understand?!”

“Why?” Gu Mengmeng was still confused.

“Alas, just listen to me and don’t ever go on your own, will you?” Sandy was so anxious. Gu Mengmeng was the only female that had treated her with kindness, she did not want her to risk her life for some food. Thinking of her possibly dying near the cave of the yellow needle insects had made her tears trickle down.

“Hey... Sandy, don’t cry, don’t cry...” While also being a soft-hearted girl herself, Gu Mengmeng could never see people cry, especially her friend. It was her soft-spot.

Gu Mengmeng stuffed the honey into Elvis’s hands and carefully wiped Sandy’s tearful face with her smooth white hands. She said in a manner as gentle as a kindergarten teacher coaxing a child to stop holding on to his mother’s thigh, “Good Sandy, please stop crying. Looking at you with the tearful face. It's just some honey, I won't go if you don't want me to. I will just not eat it if the worst comes to the worst. Stop crying, uh?"

"Re... really?" Sandy asked with shaking shoulders, sobbing.

"I won't go and gather honey if you stop crying. Even if it means that I have to eat plain roasted meat everyday, I won't do something that will make my good Sandy cry." Gu Mengmeng raised three of her fingers to point at the sky in all seriousness and promised, "Good Sandy, you gotta believe me, alright? Uh?"

Chapter 62 - Sandy's Inferiority

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Roasted meat was delicious,” Sandy answered while still sobbing. Although she did not know why Gu Mengmeng mentioned roasted meat when they were talking about the yellow sauce, she felt the need to speak up for the roasted meat being the first, kind-hearted female to try it in person.

“How was that consider delicious? It was just something to get by with living. Just wait until I make more delicious food for you in the future.” Gu Mengmeng patted Sandy’s back. Looking at Sandy’s shining eyes with the mention of food, Gu Mengmeng had realized that nothing was better than using food to comfort a foodie.

Sandy looked at Gu Mengmeng with anticipation written all in her eyes. She swallowed her saliva but shook her head and said, “I am just a female half-orc, I don’t deserve to be treated so nicely.”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and asked while blinking, “What’s wrong with a female half-orc?”

Sandy touched her fluffy ears in an inferior way, she wanted to cry but forced out a smile and said, “It’s difficult for a female half-orc to bear offspring. I have matured for two years and did not have any single child until now. This was why I was constantly bullied by Nina, even my males were sneered at by Nina’s.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at the lonely Sandy and her heart ached a little. She recalled Nina’s looks and compared it with Sandy’s. With her aesthetics, Sandy was much more beautiful than Nina, but that Puffy Hair Nina was called the most beautiful female in the tribe, while Sandy got bullied until she could barely raise her head.

At first, Gu Mengmeng had thought that the aesthetics of the males in the Beast World was problematic and Nina's cross eyes, upturned nose and yellow teeth were deemed to be the standard of beauty. But from what she heard now, it seemed like the most beautiful female in the tribe was just a different extent of evolution?

Nina had no animal traits on her, while Sandy had a pair of fluffy bear ears. She was called a half-orc just because of the pair of ears that had not evolved into human form? So she was considered to be of a lower status? So she was bullied by the ugly Nina?

What the heck, so what if Sandy had difficulty reproducing? Her own males did not even look down on her, wasn't Nina, an outsider, going too far?!

"How many children does Nina have?" Gu Mengmeng raised her head and asked.

The hand that was touching her ears became more forceful unconsciously, and a bloodstain was formed on her fluffy ears but answered Gu Mengmeng as though she did not realize it at all, "Nina had matured in the same year as me, she had given birth to a nest of eaglets for Quentin last year, but none survived last year due to some unknown reason." A faint jealousy could be heard in Sandy's voice.

A nest...

Gu Mengmeng was shocked by the quantifier.

"It is as good as none if all did not survive and how could she laugh at you?" Gu Mengmeng did not care less about rubbing a bottle of chili sauce onto Nina's wounds. Nina had never showed mercy when she was bullying Sandy, now Gu Mengmeng would even poke her soft bone to make Sandy happy.

"But..." Sandy felt that Gu Mengmeng's logic was not.. wrong? Even though Nina was the perfect female, she did not produce a single cub for the tribe. How could she laugh at her?

“Ah, stop saying ‘but’ Gu Mengmeng nudged Sandy with her shoulder and interrupted her little worry. Then, she cupped her hands around her mouth and whispered to Sandy, “Sandy, do you still have the pads for estrus? Lend me one, my current one is barely withstanding.”

Sandy had just noticed the zigzag bloodstains on Gu Mengmeng’s thighs and quickly nodded her head. She babbled like a machine gun, “Yes, yes yes yes I do have. I will go and ask Bode to help you take it.”

“Eh...” Gu Mengmeng wanted to stop Sandy, it was so damn embarrassing to ask a male to help her take sanitary pads.

But Sandy had dashed out of Elvis’s cave like a wisp of wind and ran towards Bode whom was waiting for her at the edge of Elvis’s territory. While running, she yelled, “Bode, quickly go and help me take some pads for estrus, Gu Mengmeng’s flow is too heavy and she need that pad, take more!”

Chapter 63 - Did Leader View Her as a Rival in Love?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng smacked her head, what was meant by nothing left to live for? What is meant by having the worst friend?

Gu Mengmeng looked at Sandy's anxious and sincere face, she had a deep understanding about these two terms now.

However, before Gu Mengmeng could dissed Sandy, she felt a warmth on her back as her whole body fell into Elvis's arms.

"Leader?" Gu Mengmeng did not understand what happened to Elvis suddenly. The back hug... kill? Had he not promise to not eat her up? But why did she felt as though Elvis was opening up his mouth and all ready to bite into her neck behind her?

"You said you won't eat me... sob sob sob..." Gu Mengmeng's little heart trembled.

"Lea had prepared a few of the pads for estrus, they are right over in the cave." Elvis pitied Gu Mengmeng for having to live in terror and uncertainty everyday in the Beast Deity World, hence she was always this cautious and always afraid of people eating her up.

He also felt like a failure, she was still so scared even though he had sincerely promised her that he would protect her. Her frightened looked resembled a rabbit, and it made people heartache while also wanting to protect her.

"Eh?" Gu Mengmeng let out a groan, why did she borrow sanitary pads from Sandy in this case?

“If you like the yellow sauce, I will go and gather it for you, don’t worry.”

“Erm...” Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes suspiciously, why did she always have the feel that Leader had been acting strangely ever since they were back from the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment? Was it because of Lea?

Gu Mengmeng suddenly realized that she had learned an incredible thing!

Leader did not allow others to enter his cave, not even precious females like Sandy and Nina, but not only could Lea openly walk in, he could also put sanitary pads into Elvis’s cave as he pleased without angering Leader.

It was no wonder that Leader had asked her who was she going to choose as her first partner just now, all because of Lea’s baffling ambiguity a while back?!

What the heck, did Leader view her as a rival in love.

The more Gu Mengmeng thought about it, the more she felt like she was right. She then nodded her head in all seriousness, patted Elvis’s arms and said earnestly, “Leader, I have understood, be rest assured now.”

“You... have understood?” Elvis’s heart raced, and he looked at Gu Mengmeng, pleasantly surprised.

Elvis turned over the Gu Mengmeng in his arms and looked straight into her watery eyes. His eyes were as dark as concentrated ink and he himself could not even express clearly the hidden surges inside them.

But she said she had understood.

Does that mean that she had already known his feelings for her?!

Gu Mengmeng tiptoed and tried her best to reach Elvis’s shoulders but height being her weakness, she could only reach Elvis’s chest to her best abilities. So she smacked his well-defined chest muscles like a hooligan, thinking to herself ‘don’t regard me as an outsider, we are sisters. ‘ “Leader, I will be standing by yourself regardless of what others say, I will not allow anyone to destroy your happiness!” Gu Mengmeng frowned slightly and nodded her head seriously with a rare look of determination.

Little did Elvis know, he and Lea were forced to form a couple in Gu Mengmeng’s mind. He had taken Gu Mengmeng’s words for her promise and approval of his feelings. She said she would stand by his side and guard his happiness, did not mean she was going to be his partner?!

Chapter 64 - Elvis Playing Hooligan

Elvis felt much more settled with Gu Mengmeng's promise and started to look forward to tonight's campfire. Even he had some sort of vanity and wished to be approved by Gu Mengmeng and become her first partner in front of all the tribesmen.

It was the first time Elvis looked forward to the sun setting as he thought about himself getting an official status tonight.

"Gu Mengmeng, Gu Mengmeng, come over here, this is for you!" Sandy waved the uncivilized version of sanitary pad in her hands, ran towards Gu Mengmeng breathlessly and stuffed the pad to her. "Quick... quickly change into it. The sun is setting soon... Bo... Bode said that the campfire was almost ready."

Gu Mengmeng had a complicated smile, she would have believed that Sandy was purposely making fun of her if not for her sincere expression.

Damn! There are dozens of pairs of green eyes staring at her outside the cave and they seemed to turn even greener hearing that she was going to change sanitary pad.

Gu Mengmeng was perplexed.

Was there really a need for her to be the center of attention just because she was on her period?!

Elvis took two steps forward and stopped in front of Sandy. He said expressionlessly, "Bring your partner to reserve a seat near the campfire, Gu Mengmeng will be there with me soon."

“Ye... yes.” Sandy was still scared of Elvis after all and she did not dare to stay any longer seeing he had already sent out the ‘expulsion order’. Sandy retreated a step timidly, before stretching her neck to look at Gu Mengmeng and she said, “I will wait for you at the campfire then, come quickly.”

“Okay, see you later!” Gu Mengmeng was gentle towards Sandy anytime.

Sandy leaving had caused a commotion between the males. She had too much of Gu Mengmeng’s smell of estrus on her, which was making the single males too excited to control themselves. Fortunately, there were Bode and the others protecting Sandy from the uncontrollable males.

Right after Sandy had left, Elvis tore a thick hide from the side and with two blows, he punched the hide into the edge of the top of the cave entrance and forcefully embed it onto the walls, forming a simple curtain that blocked the sight of the drooling males outside.

On the other hand, it had make Gu Mengmeng a totally blind person.

“Le... Leader... I can’t see.” Gu Mengmeng was exploring aimlessly in the dark with her two arms stretched out in front.

“I’m right here. ” Elvis frowned and took a few big strides towards Gu Mengmeng, before holding her small hands that were exploring in the dark and brought her into his arms. “What happened to your eyes,” Elvis asked.

“Nothing happened to my eyes, why?” Gu Mengmeng held onto Elvis’s arms tightly, not letting go of it and curled onto Elvis like a kitten in search of a sense of security.

Elvis thought, everyone had their unspeakable pasts, the injury of her eyes must have brought pain to her, which was why she did not want to mention it. Elvis frowned almost unnoticeably. He suddenly felt that her smile was too dazzling, even though both her mind and heart were undergoing torture, she still persevered and put on a smile, hiding her pain and licking the wounds all by herself afterwards.

Without further words, Elvis scooped Gu Mengmeng into his arms placed her onto his thighs, before swiftly flipping up her dress, pulling down her panties and changing her into the sanitary pads that were just sent over by Sandy. He then helped her tidy up her clothes, brought her back into his arms and placed her at his chest level.

Chapter 65 - Billionaire Elvis

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was stunned the whole time.

What the heck?!

That was so rule-breaking! Even though they were ‘sisters’, it was Gu Mengmeng’s first time letting someone help her change a sanitary pad. Although Elvis was acting swiftly throughout the whole process, without any lustful thoughts, she still felt so damn shameful?!

“Le... Leader...” Gu Mengmeng tidied up her thoughts but still could not find any words to express her feelings at that moment.

“I will be your eyes in the future.” Elvis voice was as deep as an ancient European piano from the last century, with a smooth, solid and soul-shocking sound.

Eh? Gu Mengmeng facepalmed. Why did she sense a strong sense of pity in Leader’s words? Was she being discriminated against due to her race? Discriminated by a damn wolf?

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to scream: The reason why I couldn’t see was because you had blocked the entrance, not because I am blind, alright?!

But Leader looked so emotional now, seems like it is not the right time to say it...

Gu Mengmeng bit her lower lip and pouted in defeat with her head down.

You are the most powerful with night vision.

“You should change to a new hide dress, this one... is not good.” What Elvis did not mention was that this hide dress was full of Gu Mengmeng’s smell of estrus that was able to make all the males boil. He did not like her to show her attractive side and had even more dislike towards the sight of everyone coveting her.

“Erm... But I don’t have anything else left to wear.” Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders helplessly. Could anyone understand her despair of transmigrating with just a set of bikinis?

“Yes, you do.” Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and walked further inside the cave. Gu Mengmeng was extremely insecure in the dark and she hung onto Elvis’s neck tightly with both of her hands. Even though she had gotten used to the darkness, she still felt a lack of security.

Until Elvis stopped his footsteps, Gu Mengmeng then stared at what was in front of her unbelievably with her big eyes.

There was an indistinct light source in the dark, flickering and unable to see clearly.

Originally, Gu Mengmeng had thought that she stayed too long in the dark and something was wrong with her eyes, but when Elvis walked to the light source, flip it up with his hands, a fist-sized luminous pearl suddenly appeared in front of Gu Mengmeng’s eyes.

What the heck?!

A billionaire!

Strictly speaking, the brightness of the luminous pearl could not even be compared to a candle, besides, the faint green light was shining on people as though they were in the midst of the making of a horror movie. But to Gu Mengmeng at that moment, it felt like a gift from the who... Oh, from the Beast Deity!

Resembling a baby looking at his milk bottle, Gu Mengmeng’s hands reached out to grab the luminous pearl with her full strength. Elvis did not hesitate and directly handed it to Gu Mengmeng. He smiled and asked, “You like it?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded intensely, “Yes yes, I like it, I like it so much!”

“Then take it and play with it.” Elvis said casually, as though he was just giving an Alpine candy to the neighbor’s child.

Gu Mengmeng hugged the luminous pearl in her arms, afraid that she would accidentally drop it. Overjoyed, she touched the pearl here and there, while saying, “I will just look at it and return to you later.” But her eyes had never left the luminous pearl for a single second.

Elvis said with a pampering smile, “I can give you anything you like.”

Gu Mengmeng let out a wide grin and hugged the luminous pearl in satisfaction. She said, “Thank you Leader, you are so rich and generous!”

Chapter 66 - You Can't See!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis let out a helpless laugh. Gu Mengmeng was always special, treating something so normal in the Beast World like a piece of treasure, while things that held huge significance in the Beast World were right at her fingertips and she did not care a single bit. For instance, although the yellow sauce Sandy had given her was rare, it was still something attainable for someone with capabilities. Another example would be this luminous pearl, although it emitted light, it was useless to orcs with night vision. Only females would like its appearance and play with it. But the satisfaction in Gu Mengmeng's smile at the moment was as though she had been given some precious treasure.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng playing with the luminous pearl in high spirits, Elvis did not restrain her. He put her down on the floor and carefully protected her at the side, in case she bumped onto the walls or other things. As long as there was no danger, he let her ran around in the cave like a child, holding the luminous pearl and shining it here and there.

While Elvis followed behind Gu Mengmeng with a faint smile. He liked his cave to be filled with Gu Mengmeng's smell and his territory full of her presence.

"Whoops!" Gu Mengmeng was too attentive and accidentally tripped over something. She was about to fall on her face...

Elvis noticed it and quickly grabbed Gu Mengmeng by her thin waist, just in time to avoid her from a close encounter with the floor. Gu Mengmeng, who had just survived the close shave, heaved a sigh of relief. She brushed off the nonexistent dust on the luminous pearl in her arms and said, "well, all's good, it did not break."

Elvis was a little angry. The most important thing in times of danger should be protecting herself, she would definitely have bruised her arms if not for him guarding her just now, and she was saying all these was to shield that damn pearl?!

Elvis lifted Gu Mengmeng by her armpits in front of him and kept her at eye level. He said in a low voice, "Promise me, protecting yourself should be the priority in any circumstances."

"But this luminous pearl is the first present Leader had given me." The sight of Gu Mengmeng's innocent look shining under the faint light of the luminous pearl hit straight onto Elvis's heart.

Elvis's lips raised uncontrollably. It was a pity that the light from the luminous pearl was too dim, or else Gu Mengmeng would definitely be stunned by the smiling Elvis. "Time's almost up, I will help you change into another set of clothes." He couldn't wait to become Gu Mengmeng's official partner.

"Eh?" Gu Mengmeng almost bit her own tongue upon hearing that. The shame she felt from changing the pad had not disappeared and he was going to help her change? Would that not mean she was going to be totally exposed? No way no way! Gu Mengmeng's head shook like a pellet drum and said, "It's alright, it's alright, Leader, I can change myself."

"You can't see." Elvis was persistent.

"I can I can, I have the luminous pearl Leader had given me." Gu Mengmeng let out a stiff laugh and raised the pearl on her hands, signaling to Elvis that she really could see.

However...

Elvis held the Gu Mengmeng-fist-sized luminous pearl with one hand, like a normal person holding a small mandarin orange, before slightly applying force...

Snap.

The luminous pearl pearl was crushed into powder like an exploded mandarin orange, to the extent that it became impossible to fix.

Chapter 67 - Elvis Helping Gu Mengmeng to Change

“Now you can’t.”

—_—“^...

Leader, I would definitely think that you are playing hooligan if I didn’t know that you like Lea.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to cry without tears, that huge luminous pearl was just crushed like that...

“Leader...” Gu Mengmeng’s said in a sobbing tone as she felt heartache for the luminous pearl. Why are you, as a gay, competing with a female like me!

Her wronged look was really adorable, Elvis started to fall for the feeling for bullying her and seeing her look at him helplessly.

In the absolute darkness, the only thing Gu Mengmeng could depend on would be Elvis, so she circled around Elvis’s neck with her little hands and had a face full of ‘nothing left to live for, but unwilling to die’ bitter look, feeling heartache for the crushed luminous pearl.

Meanwhile, Elvis was totally unaffected in the dark. He calmly took a deer hide dress and helped Gu Mengmeng change into it. Although he was not very used to doing it, it went through successfully with Gu Mengmeng’s cooperation.

Gu Mengmeng had her whole mind on the luminous pearl and she had believed Elvis and Lea were a couple, hence she had treated Elvis like a sister. Moreover, there were no light in the cave and she could not notice Elvis's uneasiness. Hence, she innocently let Elvis changed for her without being on guard.

But Elvis, on the other hand, was not as comfortable as her.

Originally, he had wanted to change the dress full of her estrus smell in order to get her approval at the campfire and become her official first partner as quick as possible. But when he really undressed her and saw her exquisite figure, Elvis felt like his body was a dead trunk being engulfed by the Flame Devil and every single cell in his body was burning.

Something seemed to boiling in his blood, gushing ferociously. There was also a voice next to his ears repeatedly saying: eat her up, eat her up...

Of course, that 'eat' was not referring to the literal meaning.

Logic was telling Elvis, he had gained Gu Mengmeng's approval and promise, as long as they have been through the process at the campfire, he would be his official partner and naturally eat her up afterwards. But if he could not resist his temptation now, everything might go to waste. What if Gu Mengmeng dislike him before mating and refuse to accept him as the first partner?

Moreover, she was going through estrus and unsuitable to mate now.

Gu Mengmeng had changed, but Elvis did not rush to bring her out of the cave. One reason was the uncomfortable feelings caused by the excited state of his body, another being the crowd of green-eyed males not dispersing outside the cave.

So he remained still and hugged onto Gu Mengmeng, while trying to calm his boiling blood and also secretly releasing a stronger pressure towards the outside, making the excited males restrain themselves to a certain extent. Gu Mengmeng was his, Elvis's female, how could she be coveted by anyone?

Gu Mengmeng, who did not know any of things going on, was still grieving over the luminous pearl, while touching the dress on her. Although she could not see the style in the darkness, she could feel that the sizing was just right, to the extent of being customized. Since she also did not want to face the beast-liked males, whom might get out of control any moment, Gu Mengmeng started chatting with Elvis and no one mentioned about getting out.

Chapter 68 - Gu Mengmeng's Wild Thoughts

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

It would be the best to drag the campfire until it ended up being canceled, Gu Mengmeng would never want to find some first partner in the Beast World. What if one day she went back, how would she explain to others that the creature in her arms was not her pet but her son?

“Leader, where did this dress come from? It is just right for me.”

“I made it.” Elvis answered calmly, but there was a little expectation in his eyes.

Will she like it? She will like it right...

“Wow? Not bad! Leader, you are so niu [1. Internet slang to describe someone being impressive or awesome, with a literal meaning of ‘cow’], you even know how to make clothes.” Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and sank into her thoughts.

Originally, she had thought that the strong Elvis must be the ‘top’, while Lea the transcendent flower must be the ‘bottom’ judging by his looks. But the situation seemed to have a chance of taking a turn, Gu Mengmeng did not expect Leader to know how to make clothes from his personality...

Gu Mengmeng was thinking of Elvis sewing with needles and thread sitting on the bedside, while Elvis lay on the bed, with one leg casually stepping on the side of the bed, his elbow against the edge and his hand supporting his head, he gently looked at Elvis helping him to make his clothes in silence.

Pooo~

Gu Mengmeng felt the blood in her nose boiling. Damn what a sight, she felt that her blood supply was already empty, what should she do? Urgent, waiting for an answer on the spot!

“All males make clothes for their female.” Elvis did not understand why Gu Mengmeng called him a cow? He was obviously a wolf... But it did not sound like a bad thing and he gladly accepted it.

“Oh...” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head quietly. So Leader’s tailoring skill had been trained by making clothes for Lea and she had benefited from Lea?

Thinking of Lea’s clothes today on the Platform of Deity’s punishment, Gu Mengmeng recalled that the quality seemed great.

Tsk, Leader really had no weakness. He had the force to bring peace and stability to the tribe, while at the same time having the knowledge to sew and cook.... Erm, let’s not mention cooking, Gu Mengmeng felt her stomach churning just thinking about the charcoal roasted meat.

Well, nobody’s perfect, Leader had done his best.

Besides, Lea seemed to be talented in cooking, it was just nice for the two of them to complement each other.

You helped me make my clothes, I helped you cook meals, ah, so sweet~

Elvis totally did not know how wild Gu Mengmeng’s thoughts were going. Looking at the joyful Gu Mengmeng, he innocently thought that she had laughed because she liked the clothes he had made for her.

“You were sound asleep when Lea brought you back yesterday. I made it while staying by yourself. There are a few others for you to change too.” Elvis said gently.

Gu Mengmeng nodded in silence, while drafting another peculiar setting in her mind.

Lea was the strong and knowledgeable father, saving the daughter, Gu Mengmeng herself, by appearing like a hero when she encountered danger. On the other hand, Elvis was the mother, staying by the bedside of the unconscious daughter, making new clothes for her while tearing, in order to keep his faith of his daughter waking up one day, to stop himself from breaking down.

Damn, the more Gu Mengmeng thought about it, the more she felt like she was right.

It was no wonder that both Elvis and Lea treated her so well, all because of their desire for a complete family!

Gu Mengmeng looked towards Elvis's direction in the darkness and developed a strange pity towards him from the miserable Qiongyao romance plot she had drafted in her head. So she stretched out her little lotus-root arms and willingly circled around Elvis's necks. Her hands patted on Elvis's back lightly and comforted him, "I know, I know it all."

A shade of attractive pink surfaced on Elvis's ears and he nodded stiffly.

Chapter 69 - A Mother's Love Towards Her Children Was Boundless, as Expected

His feelings, she knew it all...

Elvis felt so blessed.

“Then let’s get out now, we shouldn’t let Lea wait too long.” Gu Mengmeng thought to herself, although she did not know how long she would be staying in the Beast World, but since she had licked Elvis’s boots, she should just lick it completely. Even if she might be slightly disadvantaged in terms of seniority, what relationship could ever be more stable than a parent-child one? Besides, the pair of godparents she had gotten had incredible capabilities, and they were powerful and influential, what had she got to lose?

Elvis’s smile froze for a second. In the end... he would not be able to have her all by himself. The moment she woke up this morning, she had sought for Lea; the way she looked at Lea on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment was so affectionate. Together with the influence of the fox seductive fragrance...

It seemed like tonight, Lea would definitely become Gu Mengmeng’s partner together with him.

Although it was the best ending and he would rather the person to be Lea if he had to share Gu Mengmeng with other males, regardless of whether he viewed it from the tribe’s angle or his personal feelings, Lea was the best option, his heart still hurt when he really had to face the situation, even though he knew all the rationale behind this.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng in his arms whom could not wait to find Lea, it was the first time Elvis had a strange feeling in his heart. It felt sour and made him anxious and agitated. It was unrelated to danger, but gave him a heartfelt helplessness. Elvis did not know that the name for this feeling was ‘jealousy’, he only felt uncomfortable at his chest area.

“Who do you like more, me or Lea?” Elvis was shocked himself that he even asked such a lame question.

But Gu Mengmeng burst out into a chuckle.

Damn, wasn’t this the question that parents always ask their kindergarten children?

Who do you like more, mommy or daddy?

Oh my god, she did not expect herself to be asked this type of question when she was already in a university.

The first trick to answering this question was to not offend anyone, or else she would be hated on for her entire life and regularly get sneered at. Gu Mengmeng, who was an expert at this, cleared her throat and said in an authoritative way, “I like both of you, both of you had treated me so well, I like both of you~”

True enough...

Elvis’s heart sank.

She liked Lea, as he had expected.

“Who do you like more between the two of us?” This question concerned the future status in the family, it was important to determine who was going to be the first partner.

As expected...

The first follow-up question after ‘mommy or daddy’ would be: You can only choose one!

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips and thought, Leader, it was you whom forced me to use the ultimate trick!

Hence, Gu Mengmeng turned the situation around and asked back, ” What about Leader? Do you like Lea or me more?”

“You. ” Elvis answered without hesitation.

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched. What the heck, a mother’s love towards her children was boundless, as expected~ Even the godmother loved her child more than her husband?!

“What if Lea and I both fell into a river, would you save me and let Lea drown?” Gu Mengmeng did not give up and continued asking.

“Lea can swim,” Elvis answered calmly, “Besides, you are a female.”

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed. Why could Elvis answered the question that had tortured Chinese men for thousands of years so easily?

Well, ‘you are a female’ was really a sure-fire reason for anything in this place where the gender ratio was extremely unbalanced.

“You still haven’t replied to me, who do you like more between me and Lea?” Elvis continued asking.

Chapter 70 - Give Me Back My Daddy Lea

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng thought, it seemed like it was impossible to bluff her way through, while the asking-back technique had also failed, even the ultimate trick was easily resolved by Elvis, now she had to face the problem directly.

After thinking for a while, Gu Mengmeng answered, “I like Leader more.”

“Why?” Elvis’s heart finally returned to its original position after being in his mouth, he suddenly felt some of his facial muscles becoming uncontrollable, such as the end of his lips.

Gu Mengmeng thought, she could not possibly have answered that daughters were always closer to the mother’s right? So she touched her new clothes and said seriously, “Because Leader had made new clothes and found food for me, you treated me so well.”

Elvis felt as though his heart was soaked in yellow sauce, it felt extremely sweet.

Slowly getting up, Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to the entrance of the cave and casually tore down the hide that was punched into the walls.

The clear moonlight scattered onto Saint Nazaire like a layer of light and thin silk, making everyone feel peaceful and calm.

The male beasts that were guarding outside the entrance had left in groups after being unable to withstand Elvis’s beast pressure.

Tonight was Gu Mengmeng’s Coming-To-Age Ceremony anyway, it might even be more effective to go straight to the campfire and reserve a good spot than just waiting outside Elvis's cave, which had a much higher risk of danger.

Hence, it was already crowded when Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to the campfire. Although the males had automatically cleared a pathway for Gu Mengmeng, she could not take how they lined up the path to welcome her.

At first, she could still keep a polite smile awkwardly, but with the voices of 'Gu Mengmeng, choose me as your partner...' coming from the males, she chose to bury her face into Elvis's neck cowardly.

What the heck, Gu Mengmeng cried in her mind. She felt like she was at the scene of a large scale matching making session and the weirdest thing was that she was the only female guest among all present.

"Gu Mengmeng." Gu Mengmeng heard Sandy's voice among all the hassle.

The friendly call had made Gu Mengmeng feel a sudden illumination, her deer-like big eyes searched for the source of the voice and sure enough, she saw Sandy waving to her.

However...

What the heck!

What is that behind Sandy?

Logs of the thickness of one's thigh were stacked into a tower in the shape of #, but it was not lit up, while Lea, dressed in bright red all over, stood on the top of the wooden tower. Seeing Gu Mengmeng had arrived, he started chanting something, while waving his long sleeve, it was an exaggeration to call that a 'dance', it looked more like a sorcerer's dance.

Gu Mengmeng would have thought that Lea was wearing a red wedding suit standing on a high place threatening for marriage with his life, if not for the bright red clothes totally resembling the shaman in a television series.

Gu Mengmeng could not even be bothered to think about love and hate Qiongyao style relationship between Elvis and Lea at that moment, she only wanted to roar at the sky and asked if anyone could return her holy daddy Lea to her? This maniac doing the sorcerer's dance must be a fake!

Seeing Gu Mengmeng's lost look, Elvis explained voluntarily, "When every young female matures, the tribe's witch doctor will pray to the Beast Deity for good fortune and hoping the Beast Deity can bless this female for her to give birth to more strong cubs for the tribe.

Gu Mengmeng pointed to Lea in extreme unwillingness and asked, "So he is praying for me now?"

"Yes." Elvis nodded.

What the heck!

Gu Mengmeng cursed in her head, before waving to Lea and shouting, "Lea, stop praying and come down, I don't need the Beast Deity's blessing."

Chapter 71 - Fall of the Qing Dynasty!

“Knock it off.” Elvis frowned. He could let her joke around other things but such words like not needing the Beast Deity’s care should not be spouted out as she pleased.

“I really do not need it!” Gu Mengmeng thought in her head. Being a pure lady who had not even officially dated before, was skipping the step of praying for kids too fast an advance? Damn it, I still wanted to enjoy two more years of single-hood!

Elvis remained silent, looking at Gu Mengmeng in a grave manner. Although he was not angry, his expression was solemn and projected a sense of power.

Although Gu Mengmeng could not feel the pressure from beasts, she at least knew how to observe the speech and expressions of others. Thinking how the Beast Deity was the absolute authority in this world, Gu Mengmeng could not help but shake her head.

The Qing dynasty had already fallen! Why were all of you still so superstitious!

As a typical protector of Atheism, Gu Mengmeng really wanted to disseminate the world outlook of Science to Elvis and the rest. But... she was too scared!

Thinking to herself, Gu Mengmeng truly thought that if she continued to despise the Beast Deity, her godmother Elvis would choose righteousness over family loyalty and burn her alive... oh, and BBQ at the same time.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat, whispering to Elvis's ear while acting mysterious, "The Beast Deity had already bestowed me with a lot of welfare. If I hoped for more, that will become being greedy without knowing my boundaries and I will suffer from the wrath of the Beast Deity!"

Elvis paused, looking solemn. He was clearly believing Gu Mengmeng's words.

After all, Gu Mengmeng was a messenger of the Beast Deity!

Thus, Elvis lifted his head high and howled towards the heavens.

Gu Mengmeng who was at the VVIP seat saw the whole process in close view. The shock could not be described merely in words. She just felt the cells in her entire body contracting, her limbs turning cold and her little heart palpitating wildly.

After Elvis's howl, sure enough, Lea who was standing on the wooden pagoda stopped his Shamanic-ritual-like prayer. Jumping lightly a few times, he easily jumped off the wooden pagoda which stood as high as two stories, standing firmly in front of Gu Mengmeng and Elvis. His long and narrow eyes stared at Gu Mengmeng in slight uncertainty, as if he was waiting for her explanation.

After all, Gu Mengmeng was the first person who interrupted the prayer of the witch doctor.

"That..." Gu Mengmeng did not know why her heart started thumping wildly out of control once she met eyes with Lea. Despite her telling herself countless times that Lea was her godfather, and that she was being carried by her godmother, she still could not control her frantic heartbeat.

Feeling her throat turning drier, Gu Mengmeng swallowed her saliva with difficulty. Her fair-skinned fingers were twisted together while her head was looking down. She explained softly, just like a child who made a mistake, "That place is too high up and it's very dangerous. If you don't have anything important, it's better to not go there..."

Lea breathed out a light smile, his long and slender fingers hooking onto Gu Mengmeng's chin gently, forcing her to look directly at him. The corners of his lips curved upwards, forming a very nice shape. It was due to the presence of the large red dress that deliberately made the original holy, cold and unreachable flower, Lea, appear perfectly charming at the moment.

“You're worried for me? Hmm?”

The Lea now resembled a demon and a sin. He was obviously captivating one's soul but was so beautiful to the extent where one would be willing to dive in deeper.

Perfect holiness and perfect seduction was a perfect combination on Lea. His every move caused people to be so dazzled by him until they were unable to restrain themselves.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head out of instinct, then suddenly regained her composure, “It's Elvis who's worried for you. It's him... it's him...”

Chapter 72 - Gu Mengmeng Being Blown Messily by the Wind

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea felt rather unexpected, tilting his head to look at Gu Mengmeng who was in Elvis's embrace, holding back his laughter and asked, "You're worried for me? Because I was praying at a high place?"

Elvis also looked at Gu Mengmeng in surprise, not understanding why she said so. She clearly said earlier...

Elvis suddenly recalled Gu Mengmeng's favoritism towards Lea. When they were in the cave, she mentioned that she liked him and also liked Lea so she would marry them together today. Did she said that for the relationship of their future family to be harmonious?

Elvis felt a slight pain to his heart.

She really... thought it through thoroughly.

Although Elvis assumed that he would not have any problems getting along with Lea, this was Gu Mengmeng's well intentions after all and he could not bear to let her down so he summoned up courage to nod his head as he said, "Yes. It was too high up, very... dangerous."

When Elvis said the word dangerous, he almost bit onto his own tongue.

Guilty, he was too guilty!

When he and Lea fought alongside each other, they climbed steep cliffs and jumped over towering ancient tree branches, all as though they were walking on flat ground. Now, he actually said that he was worried because it was too high...

Lea was clear that this was not Elvis's intention, but he did not expose them. Instead, he just nodded, giving a smile that was full of meaning. Then, he shifted his gaze back to Gu Mengmeng who was holding back till her entire face was red, pulling back his hand from her chin and conveniently brushing it against her face, the arc sketching the outline of her face. The casual act successfully teased Gu Mengmeng but the next moment, he asked nonchalantly, "Let's skip past the prayer ritual and directly start the battle."

Elvis nodded, lifting Gu Mengmeng above his head while holding onto her armpits before placing her on his shoulders. Exchanging gaze with Lea, they then moved their limbs in silent convention and climbed to the top of the wooden pagoda as quick as lightning.

When Gu Mengmeng realized what was happening, she was already standing on the top of the wooden pagoda, blown messily by the wind.

And the main culprits Elvis and Lea were standing on her both sides, overlooking the beasts at the bottom of the pagoda who were itching to try as well. Meanwhile, they maintained a posture of protecting their surroundings well.

"Leader... what is this for?" Gu Mengmeng was truly afraid that her prophecy had come true, surely it didn't mean that this wooden pagoda was really used for burning her? Even if she was made into BBQ, she was not enough to feed all of them.

F f f!

In a second, Gu Mengmeng regretted earnestly over her actions. She should not have taught them how to use fire, all's well now, she fell into her own trap!

"Among those males who successfully climb up later, if you like any of them, tell us and we will show mercy." Elvis looked solemn and serious. He truly hoped that he would be the last one standing up here. An additional Lea already made him very uncomfortable, if there were more males, he predicted that his agony would increase by a few times.

But, if Gu Mengmeng liked them, despite how much pain he was in, he would endure it.

After all, in the beast world, there was no male who could possess a female solely by himself.

And furthermore, such a beautiful female like Gu Mengmeng would never lack pursuers. He must learn how to endure and adapt because no matter how much pain he was in, he could never give Gu Mengmeng up.

“No, I would not show mercy.” Lea gave an evil smirk and raised his brows at Gu Mengmeng, adding, “I can only share you with people I acknowledge.”

Chapter 73 - The Sudden Change In Style at the Matchmaking Session

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After Lea finished his words, Gu Mengmeng suddenly recalled that the so-called night campfire party, to put it bluntly, was a round of matchmaking session for forceful marriages. Heavenly god, mother earth! Who the hell would immediately marry on the day they became an adult? What the heck, those who set this as a rule in the beast world must have a loose screw somewhere right?!

Gu Mengmeng darted out from her seat after a quiver, shaking her head wildly while hugging onto Lea's thigh, "Daddy Lea, please don't show mercy, I don't want to be taken away by the others!"

Lea gently placed his slender and large hand with a visible bone structure on Gu Mengmeng's head, covering half of her sight with his fair wrist. From Gu Mengmeng's view, she could only see Lea's thin lips curve up slightly, resembling poppies blooming on the opposite bank, flirtatious but fatal, giving off a charm that made people willing to dive deeper in.

"As you wish." Lea shifted his gaze from Gu Mengmeng's face and eyes met with Elvis. They smiled at each other before nodding their heads, as if having a tacit agreement from their thorough understanding of each other.

Although the custom in the Beast World was many males to a female which male was willing to share his female with others? It was just that they did not dare to obstruct and was not able to obstruct as well.

Since Gu Mengmeng had said that she did not want any other males herself, they naturally would not invite wolves into their house by opening the door themselves. After all, Gu Mengmeng only needed Elvis this wolf!

While Gu Mengmeng was talking to Elvis and Lea, the males at the bottom of the wooden pagoda were already locked in a huge fight. Although they were males from the same tribe and mates who experienced life and death, when it comes to pursuing a female, none of them would be willing to give way. The baseline was just to not murder, injure or cripple one another. Each of their futures was submitted to the will of Heaven and how far their capability could bring them.

The first male who reached the top of the wooden pagoda was Collin, the one who helped Gu Mengmeng wash the rabbit meat at the Platform of the Deity's Punishment. He was now, covered in either his or the blood of someone else, which resulted in hair being stuck onto his boorish face. He gave Gu Mengmeng an honest smile that implied that their engagement was imperative, not being bothered by his injury and the fierce fight earlier at all.

"Gu Mengmeng, I'm here." Collin stayed on the spot, knowing that he could not defeat Elvis or Lea who were guarding the top of the pagoda. He was also well aware of his own abilities and did not even think of battling over the title of first partner with the two of them. He was just satisfied with joining Gu Mengmeng's family and even though he could only stand far away from her, as long as he could complete tasks like helping Gu Mengmeng clean the rabbit meat, he was already very happy.

So, he did not advance rashly because Elvis and Lea would see him as a challenge.

"Are you willing to take me in as your partner? I'm very strong and have a lot of strength. Whatever is your command, I will definitely complete it." Collin said while nodding earnestly to show his deepest sincerity.

But in fact, Gu Mengmeng was already dumbfounded after being taken aback by the blood on Collin.

What the heck wasn't this a matchmaking session? Shouldn't there be pink bubbles everywhere? Shouldn't everyone be sending flowers, singing or showing off their talents to win her heart? Why was there a sudden change in style, changing it into something bloody...

Was this still a matchmaking session? Was it really not a violent street fight by the secret societies?

Gu Mengmeng was so terrified till her blood solidify while she uncontrollably tugged onto the end of Lea's dress with her pale fingertips tightly. Hiding more than half her body behind Lea, she still could not help but stick out half her head to show her concern, asking timidly, "You're injured?"

Chapter 74 - Lea's Angry

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Collin heard Gu Mengmeng, his first reaction was not touched but distraught.

He carelessly wiped away the blood on his face and explained urgently, "I'm only a little injured and will be fine after one or two days. I won't become a crippled beast."

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback for a moment. Understanding Collin's intention, she became anxious and stepped forward from behind Lea, forgetting about her fright. She walked towards Collin and explained, "I didn't mean it like that, I was just..."

"If you don't have the intention to take him in as your partner, do not randomly care for him." Lea clutched onto Gu Mengmeng's wrist, pulling her back into his embrace in just a light tug after she walked one or two steps away. Then, he looked up at Collin whose face was filled with expectations and said, "If you want to become Gu Mengmeng's partner, you have to defeat either me or Elvis. Or else, you would not be acknowledged by us."

Collin furrowed his brows. He was aware of his own abilities and also knew Elvis's and Lea's. It was impossible to defeat them just on his own. But, he also could not give up on Gu Mengmeng. Thus, he breathed in deeply and stepped a large step forward into the Challenge Area, announcing with due care and respect, "Lea, I, Collin, challenge you."

Lea nodded leisurely, as if Collin's decision was within his predictions.

Lea handed Gu Mengmeng to Elvis and tilted his neck slightly to both sides to warm up his body. He moved in slowly step by step on Collin, stretching his slender fingers one by one. His nails lengthened visibly under the naked eye. As Lea inched closer with each step gracefully, the blood on Collin's face was replaced with perspiration.

Supposedly, his armed skills were almost on par with Lea but his innate crisis consciousness was clamoring out continuously, warning him that battling with Lea was not a wise move.

But as he saw Gu Mengmeng who was being hugged by Elvis behind Lea and after meeting eyes with her worried and concerned pupils, Collin could not submit to his internal fear. Whatever happens, he could not run away in front of Gu Mengmeng.

Since a battle was necessary, then he would take on the battle!

However...

"Where are your eyes looking at?" Lea squinted his long and narrow eyes, his tone mild but slightly furious. Clutching onto Collin's neck with his sharp nails, he easily lifted the male who clearly looked burlier than him, "You actually dare to be distracted while battling with me? Am I being looked down by you? Huh?"

Collin held onto the hand that Lea used to clutch his neck with his both hands but could not move the fingers that were as hard as steel and iron by a single inch at all. The words 'unwilling to be defeated' were written all over his red face despite him being helpless. His blood-streaked eyes looked at Gu Mengmeng in reluctance to part with her, not wanting to shift away for a moment.

"You should rejoice over the fact that you are a member of Saint Nazaire." A graceful light smile was maintained on Lea's face but upon a closer look, Collin could clearly see the coldness in his smiley eyes.

Lea's angry, he's really angry.

Collin did not have the time to see Gu Mengmeng again when he felt his whole body leaning backwards after losing balance and he fell from the two-stories tall wooden pagoda like an abandoned doll.

The last sound Gu Mengmeng heard was a mere loud “Bang”. That was the sound of Collin hitting the ground.

But in this situation, this sound did not attract the slightest attention from the other males nor did it reduce their enthusiasm.

Making it to the top of the pagoda meant that they would challenge Elvis and Lea and this kind of result was within expectations. What they were fighting for was just a possibility. Despite how low this possibility was, they would never give up!

Chapter 75 - The Psychopathic Coming-Of-Age Ceremony

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Don’t... don’t hit anymore.” Gu Mengmeng shook her head as she shouted but her shout did not seem to help much. The males at the bottom of the pagoda were still trying to climb up with all their might, turning a blind eye to the mates who were thrown down by Lea one by one. Lea was still standing upright like a death lord, thick blood dripping from his nails but a peaceful and enchanting smile still hanging on his face.

This was the first time his hand was tainted with the blood of mates from Saint Nazaire.

“Leader, hurry and stop Lea. They are all one of us, why must it end up like this?” Gu Mengmeng asked timidly while huddling up in Elvis’s embrace like a terrorized kitten.

“I can’t stop Lea unless you want to take in all single males from Saint Nazaire as your partner. This battle would not end until they give up on their own and not climb up again.” Elvis’s expression was solemn and did not seem to be joking even the slightest bit. “Even I, the tribe leader of Saint Nazaire, could not snatch the qualification away from other males to pursue you.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “But I won’t choose them as my partner, these injuries are meaningless!”

Elvis placed a finger gently on Gu Mengmeng’s lips, holding the back of her head and pulling her in. Gu Mengmeng’s little face was then sent near to Elvis’s lips.

Elvis first landed a light kiss on Gu Mengmeng's forehead then moved his lips along her face to her ears, sending a warm breath into Gu Mengmeng's ears that was moist and low, "I'm glad to hear you say that but don't be so cruel to them. At least give them a chance to fight for you."

"No! Since I won't choose them, why must they still be injured for this fake hope?" Gu Mengmeng witnessed how they were bathed in blood one by one. A few faces that she did not even see before were thrown down by Lea without mercy after they rushed up the wooden pagoda. It was two stories high, Gu Mengmeng did not even have the courage to check whether the males who fell off one after another were still alive.

And this kind of bloody situation was still ongoing, just to strive for a chance that she would not give them at all.

No, it should not be like this.

On the other hand, Elvis just smiled while hugging the agitated Gu Mengmeng, placing his chin on her head, his gaze following the direction where another male was being thrown down by Lea, reasoning unruly, "Fighting for the female they like is the pride of every male. Regardless of whether it's a lose or win, it's all unlimited honor. You can choose to not accept them but don't deprive them of the chance to show their sincerity to you, get it?"

"But..." Gu Mengmeng did not understand what these straight males were thinking in their heads sometimes.

She knew that beasts' hearings were extremely good, they could definitely hear her when she shouted so loudly at them just now. But despite it, they still tried to climb up as soon as the male before them fall. Even though they clearly knew that they could not defeat Lea or Elvis, they did not have the slightest sense of backing out and instead became braver as they fought, as if they were proving Elvis's words to be true.

"Today's your Coming-Of-Age Ceremony, you just have to sit here properly and see how we fight for you, that's all."

Gu Mengmeng truly felt helpless, it was merely her period that came and in the end, a blood raining scene was caused... what the hell were all these?

The males rushed up with enthusiasm but was thrown down without having the chance to speak with her. For those who could still get up, they continued climbing up as if they did not know what pain was and ended up being thrown down again.

Gu Mengmeng just wanted to ask, which retard came up with this psychopathic Coming-Of-Age Ceremony?

Chapter 76 - Gu Mengmeng Becoming The First Beauty Of The Tribe

This meaningless bloodshed lasted for a night. When the sun from the next day rose from the horizon and after the first sunlight shone on Gu Mengmeng's face, a loud cheer that would rouse the deaf erupted from the bottom of the wooden pagoda.

Gu Mengmeng turned around blankly, looking back at Elvis who was hugging her throughout. Her eyes were numb and hollow from all the nerves that had reached their limits.

Yes, tonight Elvis did not need to raise a finger at all, Lea defended against all the single males from the tribe alone.

"It ended." Elvis patted Gu Mengmeng's back gently, lifting her above his head while holding her armpits to welcome the first sunlight from the morning sun.

The beasts at the bottom of the wooden pagoda became more excited, their cheers echoing through the heavens.

Gu Mengmeng still did not understand what was the meaning of the Coming-To-Age Ceremony but thanking her lords, it finally ended.

Elvis jumped from the wooden pagoda in a few leaps while carrying Gu Mengmeng. Standing in the middle of the heavily wounded males, he pointed to the two-stories tall, intersecting parallel wooden pagoda and said, "Look, that's your campfire."

Gu Mengmeng looked towards the direction Elvis was pointing to. The wooden pagoda was covered in red and the wood was already soaked in blood. The old blood solidified into a slurry form, wrapping around the logs, as if it was meant to cover a layer of plasma around them. Against the sunlight, it looked like a static campfire flaring like a fountain in front of them. And Lea, who was walking towards them leisurely, his coquettish red coat fluttering in the wind, was the finishing touch of the picture which made it alive.

Although the males were all injured badly, they were still abnormally excited. Their own determination and spilled blood was utilized in Gu Mengmeng's Coming-Of-Age campfire.

Gu Mengmeng did not know where did the males get that sense of pride from. She just felt her eyes watering up and pit pat, tears streamed uncontrollably down her face and she lied in Elvis's embrace, sobbing silently.

"Congratulations, Gu Mengmeng. From today onwards, you're Saint Nazaire's First Beauty." Sandy observed an entire night from afar. Her state was in complete opposite to Gu Mengmeng's, instead, she was extremely excited the whole night and only regained composure from all the excitement when Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng down from the wooden pagoda.

Then, she suddenly realized that Gu Mengmeng's campfire was so much redder, brighter and stronger than when Nina matured into adulthood two years ago.

This implied that the males of Saint Nazaire acknowledged Gu Mengmeng more and as a matter of course, that was why she became the new First Beauty of Saint Nazaire Towards the title of First Beauty, Gu Mengmeng did not feel much about it. Truthfully speaking, being prettier than Puffy Hair was nothing to feel proud about. Moreover, Gu Mengmeng just felt that she was physically and mentally exhausted now and her emotions that she suppressed for a night finally exploded upon seeing Sandy. She also did not know where she had the energy from but she exerted all her strength to escape from Elvis's embrace and threw herself to Sandy. Hugging Sandy's thick waist, Gu Mengmeng started to wail bitterly, crying while shouting, “Sandy... what the heck was all that? How many people had to sacrifice their lives for a mere birthday celebration? And my birthday wasn’t even yesterday... it was just my period that came, why the heck should they shed blood like water... sob sob...”

Sandy was a little taken aback by Gu Mengmeng’s cries. Her Coming-Of-Age Campfire was so beautiful, if it was hers, she would be happy to death so why was Gu Mengmeng so heartbroken over it?

Sandy thought to herself but she did not bear to ask Gu Mengmeng further when she was crying so badly so she could only pat her back and console her softly, “The males in Saint Nazaire would never kill their own people. Don’t worry, nobody died, really.”

Chapter 77 - Gu Mengmeng Could Not Catch Up

Sandy comforted Gu Mengmeng for almost half a day but she still could not stop crying. The hearts of the males by the side all ached, but they were also at a loss of what to do, even Elvis and Lea could only look at each other and shake their heads, being at their wits end.

“Gu Mengmeng, don’t cry anymore. How about me roasting some rabbit for you, ok?” Sandy felt her heart being tugged at and the only solution she could come up with was that delicious roasted rabbit meat.

“Sob sob... add some yellow sauce... burp.” Gu Mengmeng cried out all the suppressed emotions within her and felt better. And with Sandy’s company, her emotions slowly calmed down.

She originally did not eat her dinner yesterday and thought that the night campfire party would have some nice food so she did not pester Elvis to take care of her meal. Who knew that the so-called night campfire party actually needed the blood of males to dye it?

After being on tenterhooks for an entire night, Gu Mengmeng was honestly pretty hungry. Now that Sandy mentioned it, Gu Mengmeng wanted to eat more badly now.

“Ok, ok, ok. I’ll give you all the yellow sauce in Saint Nazaire so don’t cry anymore.” Sandy held onto Gu Mengmeng’s little hand, her large eyes clearly reflecting Gu Mengmeng’s figure.

Sandy really could not understand Gu Mengmeng. Sometimes, she was braver than anyone else and although her fearless look worried others, she appeared reliable; but sometimes, she was as delicate as a baby cub and her tears tortured their hearts in terrible anguish. However, they could not bear to chide her and just wanted to give her the best things in this world to exchange for her smile.

The males already blanked out at Gu Mengmeng’s crying and upon hearing her open her mouth to raise a request, what else was there to not consent to? Nobody was needed to instruct them as the few who had yellow sauce in their homes all ran back to get it spontaneously. A short while later, leaves of different sizes with yellow sauce in them were placed in front of Gu Mengmeng but this gave Gu Mengmeng a huge scare.

She thought that “give you the yellow sauce in the entire tribe” was just a comforting phrase said between bosom friends and it was just a passing remark. Sandy resembled the soft-spoken girl from their hostel room who was obedient and adorable. Once, when one of them was given a huge scolding by the professor for reporting attendance for the whole hostel room and came back crying, she also comforted her by saying, “It’s ok, it’s ok, I will give Luhan to you. From today onwards, Luhan belongs to you only. When both of you get married, I will still give you a thick red packet!”

True that, at that time, Luhan and Guan Xiaotong had not announced their relationship yet but it was decided just by Gu Mengmeng’s one sentence. Wasn’t those just words for comforting...

Damn it, did the people in this Beast World not know what was joking? They were so honest until Gu Mengmeng could not catch up with them.

“Gu Mengmeng, I’ll find you some yellow sauce now. I’ll find you as many as you want, so don’t be angry anymore, ok?” Collin limped towards her and seeing her stony expression, he guessed the reason why she did not smile was because the yellow sauce was too little. Thus, he volunteered himself and said, “I am very familiar with yellow needle insects and can definitely help you extract a lot of yellow sauce.”

“Co... llin?!” Gu Mengmeng looked up and saw Collin’s face that was so swollen until she could not see his original look anymore but she actually felt that this was the happiest scene she had ever seen. Not having the time to take care of the packets of yellow sauce in her arms, Gu Mengmeng stood up abruptly and hugged Collin, exclaiming in agitation, “You didn’t die?! You didn’t die! That’s so wonderful, thank the lord that you’re still alive...”

Chapter 78 - Gu Mengmeng, Congratulations!

Collin was taken aback by Gu Mengmeng's sudden warm hug. His body froze like a wooden stick being nailed on the spot, unable to move and all he could hear was his heartbeat deafening to the extent of stirring the death and enlightening the blind.

Sandy stared at the agitated Gu Mengmeng by the side and then glanced at Collin. Recalling Collin's undaunted and courageous look last night, she sighed deeply, suppressing the slight jealousy in her heart.

Without doubt, such an outstanding male like Collin should pursue a perfect female like Gu Mengmeng, how could he ever like a half-orc like her? Witnessing Collin's great efforts last night, Sandy had already guessed it. The slight chance left at the end was merely having to battle Elvis and Lea. There was a possibility that Gu Mengmeng would even take Collin into account.

But looking at it now... the way they hugged each other looked like a match made in heaven.

Sandy forced her smile. After all, today was the first day her only best friend, Gu Mengmeng, became an adult.

If Collin could become Gu Mengmeng's partner on the first day she started her family, even if his title could not match up to Elvis's or Lea's, he would not be bullied by others in the future.

That was great too.

Thinking about it, Sandy smiled and walked towards them, giving her heartfelt blessings, "Gu Mengmeng, congratulations on becoming an adult.

Elvis, Lea and Collin are all great males. I believe they will take care of you well in the future.

“Huh?!” Gu Mengmeng was petrified on the spot, as if she was being struck by lightning.

Gu Mengmeng could understand if she mentioned Elvis and Lea since they were her godfather and godmother and they were considered as family. But what has this got to do with Collin?

Seeing a bunch of question marks all over Gu Mengmeng’s face, Sandy hesitantly pointed at the two of them who were still hugging together, “Didn’t you decide to take Collin in as your partner?”

Gu Mengmeng followed the direction Sandy was pointing to with her chubby little hand and looked down at herself. After realizing what she was doing, she then released Collin abruptly and pushed him away fiercely. However, Collin was not pushed that badly and instead, Gu Mengmeng staggered two steps backwards due to the counterpressure from overexertion. She shook her head and waved her hand while walking to Sandy. Holding onto Sandy’s plump little hand with both her hands, she looked like a wife who was trying to prove her innocence after being defamed for having an affair as she explained,

“No no! Mating or what is impossible! I just thought Collin died because of me last night so I was very guilty. When I saw that he was well, I was just too happy. This has nothing to do with taking him in as a partner or not.”

“But you hugged him.” Sandy looked at Gu Mengmeng, her eyes filled with puzzlement.

The females in the Beast World were very precious, so they were protected by the males. To put it bluntly, they were spoiled till they became arrogant and willful. No matter how much the males risked their lives through immense dangers and difficulties for them, they would treat it as what the males ought to do and would not be grateful to them nor care about whether they are alive or dead. Anyway, males were all around, if they die, their ability was to be blamed! Regarding this point, just look at Nina.

Their own males may not even get a hug just because they were still alive, not to mention other males.

Wasn't it because he was already a chosen partner when a female acted this agitated and concerned?

Gu Mengmeng shook her head till it resembled a rattle drum and explained urgently, "Do you know that I came from the outside? Over there, friends could care for and hug each other. All of that is very normal. Some even kiss each other when they meet. This has nothing to do with engagement, it's just a way to show manners and to be friendly."

Chapter 79 - I Don't Have Manners!

“Care, hug... kiss.”

A bloody iron smell enclosed Gu Mengmeng as Lea caressed Gu Mengmeng's face with his finger, that looked like nail polish was applied, and gave it a hook, pinching her little chin. Repeating the three key words, word by word, his smile had a profound message and caused goosebumps to form all over Gu Mengmeng's body.

“Daddy Le... le le lea... listen to my explanation.” Gu Mengmeng's knees softened, and she almost knelt on the ground out of fright.

For the entire night, she saw an evil version of Lea, a Lea who did not even show mercy when he threw the males from the same tribe down a two-story tall wooden pagoda last night.

Gu Mengmeng strongly felt that she was in a situation where she was kissing her Prince Charming for the first time after pursuing him for a long period but when she turned back, her parents were standing right behind her.

This was a stimulation that even the most extreme horror films could not create!

F f, what to do?!

“Yeah, I'm listening.” Lea did not reduce his smile, and he stared at Gu Mengmeng, seeing how she was going to continue fabricating her story.

Gu Mengmeng racked her brains and contemplated for very long but still could not come up with an explanation that Lea could accept while describing the meaning of “social interaction” and “friendship” at the same time. Damn it, this Beast World, was there pure friendships between females? Even the males had enacted out the movie “Brokeback Mountain”, how was she able to explain what was ‘pure friendship’ to Lea?

“Leader...” At the critical moment, find Mother! That was Gu Mengmeng’s last weapon.

Looking at Elvis with her sullen little face, she wanted to seek help initially. However, Elvis’s expression was cold, clearly implying that he was standing on the same side as Lea.

F!

Didn’t all family education involve one coaxing and one coercing? When Father was hitting the child as harsh as he could, shouldn’t Mother throw herself out and hug onto Father’s thigh before saying, “If you want to hit, hit me instead. Don’t hit him/her, he/she is still a child!”

Why was it that both her Father and Mother were on the same side when it came to her? Where’s the coaxing? Where was the person that should do the coaxing?

At that moment, Gu Mengmeng felt that her life was meaningless, and she clenched her teeth, raising her head before saying, “Yes, in our world, care, hug and kiss all represent manners. But I – DON’T HAVE MANNERS!”

Lea’s smile softened, looking as if he was pampering her. He pinched Gu Mengmeng’s little chin lightly and shook it twice before letting go of her face. In turn, he pulled her arm and threw her back into Elvis’s embrace. And his movement blocked Collin’s entire sight while he fiddled indifferently around with his sharp claws, commenting in a carefree tone, “Although the campfire ceremony has ended, if you want to challenge me, I will still accept it.”

Although Collin really liked Gu Mengmeng and that hug earlier ignited an impulse in him to battle till death,

Despite how much he wanted to continue feigning ignorance or acting like he could not hear Gu Mengmeng's words, it was impossible to ignore how badly she wanted to distance herself from him and prove her innocence.

He did not mind if Gu Mengmeng did not like him. As long as he could take care of her and make her feel safer and happier, he would not take it to heart whether he was liked or not. But he did not want to make things difficult for Gu Mengmeng because that would defy his original intentions. So, Collin waved his hands, declining, "No no, I know I can't win you. But I won't give up, when I become stronger, I will challenge you again. Hopefully at that time, you would not reject my challenge too."

Lea's expression did not change from the start as he smiled and nodded, "Alright, I'll wait for you."

Chapter 80 - Give Lea a Title?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and wiped off the dried tears on her little face lightly. His gaze was gentle and pampering while his voice was very very light. He was talking to Gu Mengmeng, but it seemed as if he was just talking to himself. “No manners are a good thing, you should continue maintaining, get it? Hmm?”

...

Gu Mengmeng gave up trying to diss internally anymore. At least she had gone through the three-values-of-life examination of Mao Zedong Thoughts, Deng Xiaoping Theory & the Three Represents, as well as, Marxism-Leninism, required for youths to understand what five stresses and four beauties were needed in the revolutionary culture. What a joke, she was now being criticized of not needing manners, the three values were crumbling!

“Ok, first, I’ll announce the partners you have chosen before going on a hunt for Lea to roast you some rabbit.” Elvis was trying to put on a calm facade so as not to let Gu Mengmeng spot his expectation.

Although Lea was the only one taking on the challenges from the males last night, nobody would suspect Elvis’s abilities. And everyone was aware of Gu Mengmeng’s reliance on him and Lea so they would not doubt their identity of first partner.

Now, all they needed was Gu Mengmeng to open her little mouth and say something, give them a title, that’s all.

However...

“What partner?” Gu Mengmeng was confused, “I thought nobody defeated Daddy Lea last night? Can’t we just go home directly?”

Elvis gave a slight smile. Being a messenger of the Beast Deity, Gu Mengmeng still did not know about the rules on this Beast World but at least her muddle-headed expression was lovable.

“Yeah, Lea worked hard for an entire night. You should give him a title.” Elvis did not mention himself on purpose because Gu Mengmeng’s attitude already explained everything. She referred his cave as ‘home’ and also wanted him to bring her ‘home’. This implied that she had already acknowledged him as his identity of first partner.

This was because after the females in this Beast World mature into adulthood, they had to live in the cave of their first partner whom they had chosen on their Coming-To-Age Ceremony. They will then refurbish their caves after mating to let the females live more comfortably. But the basis was definitely the territory of the first partner.

So, his identity was confirmed and there was nothing else to talk about.

“What? What title?!” Gu Mengmeng’s eyes widened at Elvis and she turned her head blankly to look at Lea who resembled a blood-dyed lotus before adding with a dumbfounded expression, “Daddy Lea can’t mate with me! That’s against moral principles and the Heavens and Earth wouldn’t tolerate it!”

Lea felt his heart being tugged at mercilessly. He looked down at its position and then looked up at Gu Mengmeng, stunned.

She was indeed very different.

This numb heart had experienced two strange anomalies because of her.

Lea walked slowly towards Gu Mengmeng, his brows slightly furrowed. He was not angry, but he seemed to be hurt as he caressed Gu Mengmeng’s face with his slender fingers tenderly. His gaze was filled with hidden bitterness that nobody understood, “Is it because you despise me and don’t like me, that’s why you don’t want me?”

“No no!” Gu Mengmeng shook her head immediately and said, “You’re my Daddy Lea, how can I despise you, don’t like you and don’t want you?”

“Then why don’t you want to accept me as your partner?” Lea did not know why his emotions were so easily carried away by Gu Mengmeng. He originally wanted to mate with her just because she was the messenger of the Beast Deity. But now... his uncontrollable heart clearly told him that it was not just like that, he cared for this little female in front of him so that was why he defeated all the males who rushed up the wooden pagoda one by one without knowing what tired was. If it was not because of the deep affection he had for Saint Nazaire, he would have lost control of his own emotions and conduct a mass slaughter last night.

Chapter 81 - The Relationship Between Elvis and Lea

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“You’re my Daddy Lea!” Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea in confusion, thinking to herself, “Why are you saying that you want to mate with me in front of Elvis? What was all this ...?”

Lea squinted and asked, “What exactly is the title of ‘Daddy’? Is it the same meaning as ‘Beauty’?”

F!

Gu Mengmeng broke down internally.

Did you not sit on the Kiddie Ride before? Had you not heard of this children’s song called: My Daddy’s Daddy is Granddad...

Gu Mengmeng really could not disseminate the ethical relationship to Lea and could only try to send a signal to him by winking while saying, “Elvis is watching, what are you doing!”

Lea was more confused, was there a problem with... Elvis watching...? Elvis would not be against it.

“Lea, let me tell you. If you continued to stir up trouble, Elvis would really be angry. I can’t help you then!” Gu Mengmeng patted Lea’s shoulder earnestly.

But just after she finished talking, Elvis said softly, “I’m not angry...”

F! Gu Mengmeng stared at Elvis in shock. Feeling disheartened suddenly, she turned back to Lea and said, “You’ve seen, this tactic is useless...”

“Huh?” Lea looked into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes, hooking her chin with his finger lightly, forcing her to look back in his and then said slowly, “Don’t avoid my question. Tell me why aren’t you willing to take me in as your partner? Why... don’t you... like me? Huh?”

Gu Mengmeng swatted Lea’s hand, pushing away his hand that was pinching her chin, “That’s enough, don’t act anymore. I told you that this tactic is useless. Look at Elvis, he won’t be jealous at all. How about you telling me directly the reason why did both of you quarrel? This daughter of yours can help work things out for you. It’s better to reconcile faster.”

Elvis totally did not understand what Gu Mengmeng was saying and could only explain with difficulty, “Lea and I did not quarrel.”

But Lea seemed like he thought of something and tilted his head back to give a huge laugh for quite a while. He only brought his laughter to a stop when Gu Mengmeng had goosebumps. Putting one hand on Elvis’s shoulder, he turned his head, which appeared seductive due to the blush, slowly to look at Elvis but his gaze was fixed sideways on Gu Mengmeng. Just as his lips were about to touch Elvis’s cheek, he stopped abruptly and turned to look at Gu Mengmeng, straight in her innocent large eyes that were filled with anticipation, “You thought, Elvis and I are partners?”

“Huh?!” Gu Mengmeng found herself in a predicament after being exposed. Didn’t they agree to only sense it and not explain it? Why did he say it out so carelessly?

Elvis’s reaction was bigger than Gu Mengmeng’s. He was completely stunned, like being struck by lightning, and to make matters worse, it was to the extent of charring both inside and outside.

His face darkened like coal and he squeezed out a sentence, word by word, through his teeth, “Lea and I are males!”

Seeing how Elvis reacted, Gu Mengmeng said helplessly, “I know, but so what? You shouldn’t care about what others think about you. You’re also not living for those that only spread rumors! It’s because you always mind what others think and are not willing to face up to your own feelings, that's why Lea was forced to become like this!"

The more Gu Mengmeng went on, the more agitated she was. She pulled Lea over and pointed at him, saying, "Look at him, look at him! Imagine how much he was forced by you to have come up with this idea of mating with me, just for you to face up the feelings between both of you? When are you going to stop avoiding it!"

Looking at Gu Mengmeng's serious face that became angry at the "cowardly" him, Elvis really wanted to rip open Gu Mengmeng's little brain and see what it actually contained!

Chapter 82 - Lea Degenerating?!

Do you want Daddy's Tail?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

On the other hand, Lea, who was involved, acted as if he was suffering from injustice while holding in his laughter. He nodded his head in cooperation and looked at Elvis, taking pleasure in his misfortune.

An extremely thick and large vein popped out on Elvis's forehead as he clenched his teeth, roaring, "Lea!"

Being roared at by Elvis, a pair of triangular fluffy ears suddenly appeared on Lea's head, the position being the same as Sandy's little bear ears. The difference from Sandy's brown ones was that it was so white until no foreign particle could be seen on them.

This action of Lea gave Elvis a huge scare. The temper that he was about to lose was suppressed and put out in his chest. Orcs that had completed their evolutions would not show signs of beast formation so could it be that Lea's ears... meant that he's degenerating? But were there no previous cases like this in the Beast World before?

Just when Elvis wanted to say something, Lea started swinging his large furry tail. This short move shocked not only Elvis but also all the orcs in Saint Nazaire tribe.

Lea... degenerated?

He was so shocked by Elvis's roar that he degenerated?

"Le... Lea..." Elvis frowned till his brows formed a dead knot as he opened his mouth but did not know what to say.

The reason why Saint Nazaire was able to win a place for themselves among extremely strong enemies was not only due to his martial skill, it was also due to Lea's plans that supported their victory. Regardless whether one of them was missing, Saint Nazaire would collapse and become the target of attack anytime by other tribes, especially after Gu Mengmeng, the messenger of the Beast Deity, had appeared. Once Gu Mengmeng's identity was exposed, Saint Nazaire would become a common target for all. But why was it at this time Lea had... degenerated?!

Compared to the anxiety of others, Lea was much more relaxed and pleased. His large furry and soft tail was swinging behind him like a cat teaser, attracting Gu Mengmeng who attempted to hug it by extending both of her hands involuntarily. Those huge innocent eyes were fixated on Lea's tail and never shifted away since the beginning. Pink bubbles formed all around her and her eyes were sparkling with surprise.

Lea would not let Gu Mengmeng have it her way, as though he was teasing her on purpose. Whenever she was about to grab hold on his tail, he would get away and sweep past her dirty little hands by a little bit. But of course, he would not distance himself too far from her and instead, made his tail visible just in front of her. This caused Gu Mengmeng to throw herself forward again and again, resembling a cat that was being lured by a cat teaser.

Lea smiled slyly, shaking his head at Elvis to motion him not to worry and then pointed at Gu Mengmeng with his chin. Elvis turned behind in uncertainty and realized that Gu Mengmeng was so overwhelmed with joy by the teasing of Lea's large tail until she had drifted off into a state where she had forgotten her own presence.

Elvis still did not understand, frowning at Lea for enlightenment but Lea smiled and said nothing.

Some things were not needed for everyone to hear.

Lea shook his large tail, walking closer to Gu Mengmeng and finally placed his furry tail into Gu Mengmeng's arms. Being able to hug it, Gu Mengmeng lightly rubbed her face on Lea's tail out of satisfaction. That face filled with satisfaction and happiness could not be feigned.

At this moment, Lea felt his heart being gently tugged on by a pair of little hands and that touch numbed his entire body before a light sweet feeling crept through it.

He wanted this female.

Lea moved his face, that resembled a blood-tainted white lotus, closer to Gu Mengmeng who was playing delightfully, asking in a slightly flirtatious tone, "Do you want 'Daddy Lea's' tail?"

Chapter 83 - Gu Mengmeng On Lea's Back

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head hastily, her sparkling big eyes full of anticipation.

To a fur-lover like Gu Mengmeng, this large tail was too attractive.

“If you take me in, this tail... and my entire body are all yours.” Lea stepped in front, leaning forward to match up to Gu Mengmeng’s height. He had already retracted his sharp fingernails from his slender hand and all that’s left were his white and slim nails. He caressed Gu Mengmeng’s little face gently, as if with a current in the touch, while his tone was endlessly flirtatious and filled with extreme seduction.

“But...” Gu Mengmeng had indulged so deeply into the large tail until she could not break out from it but her intellect was still present, even though only a bit of it was left.

Swoosh.

Lea gave a slight tug and the large tail that Gu Mengmeng was hugging onto disappeared from her arms.

Gu Mengmeng stuck out her hand to catch it out of instinct but to no avail. On the other hand, Lea evolved into a snow-white fox, staring at Gu Mengmeng in a sensual way while maintaining a holy and arrogant posture. He lifted one of his front paws slightly next to his lips, stuck out a little pink tongue and started licking his paw casually.

Pfft...

Gu Mengmeng's blood tank was emptied and the last bit of her intellect was completely gone as she threw herself forward and hugged Lea's neck, huddling herself in Lea's pure white fur in satisfaction. A light grassy fragrance, mixed with Lea's unique scent, wafted into her nose. That was a hidden wildness that could not always be seen and that's why people yearned so much for it when it reappeared.

Lea smiled slightly in his heart. It was rare to see a female who liked the original form of a male that much. If he had known earlier, why did he use his fox seductive fragrance on her last night? Wasn't it faster to evolve into his original form?

Lea nibbled softly on Gu Mengmeng's neck with his mouth and threw her on his back. He then crooned lowly to Elvis before whirling away like lightning.

Elvis could not help but shake his head as he evolved into wolf form and followed closely behind.

The males at the bottom of the wooden pagoda could only watch both the black and white spot disappear before them while not one of them was qualified to chase after them.

"Just now... was Lea carrying Gu Mengmeng on his back?" Male A asked.

"Yeah, I didn't see wrongly this time round. Lea was definitely carrying Gu Mengmeng on his back." Male B answered.

"If it's like that..." Male A suddenly thought of the day when Gu Mengmeng came to Saint Nazaire. That day, Elvis also threw her on his back and ran away. At that time, they all thought that they had seen wrongly but recalling that moment, they realized that both the strongest fighter and the smartest witch doctor in Saint Nazaire were willing to submit themselves to the rule of Gu Mengmeng and pledge their lifelong loyalty to her.

"Yeah, we didn't see wrongly that day. Elvis... already carried Gu Mengmeng on his back at that time." Male B and Male A thought the same way. The two of them who were severely wounded fist-bumped each other in sync as they said while standing in front of the sunlight, “Looks like we have to work harder to improve our skills if we want to mate with Gu Mengmeng. Or else, we wouldn’t be acknowledged by Elvis and Lea.”

“That makes sense.” Male A agreed.

But what nobody realized was that behind the crowd, a pair of vicious eyes was currently glaring in hatred towards the direction where Gu Mengmeng, Lea and Elvis disappeared. The owner of those eyes used all her strength to pinch the arm of the male beside her with her dry and lumpy hand.

However, the male was so busy comforting her by hugging her by her shoulder gently that he did not have the time to tend to his bleeding arm as he said, “It’s ok, Nina. Don’t be angry.”

Nina released her hand and a piece of skin on the male’s arm was ripped off, “Don’t be angry? How can I not be angry? That wretched female snatched Elvis away, snatched Lea away and even snatched away my identity as First Beauty of the tribe! I want her to die, to die!”

Chapter 84 - Gu Mengmeng Going Back On Her Actions After Pouncing?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea and Elvis returned to Elvis's cave one after another. Stopping at the entrance, Lea, who evolved in human form but kept his tail and ears in beast form, did not care whether others would view him as a lowly half-orc at all. He turned around and leaned on one side seductively, hugging Gu Mengmeng in his embrace with his large tail. Using his tail to continue teasing the delighted Gu Mengmeng, he asked her in a pampering expression, "Can I go in? Hmm?"

Gu Mengmeng could not bear to release his large tail and besides, Lea had entered Elvis's cave before so why should she reject him? Thus she hastily nodded her head, "Can can, of course you can."

Lea nodded in satisfaction and exchanged gaze with Elvis, "Leave everything here to me, you can go and hunt."

Elvis did not evolve back into human form, he was afraid that he would expose his own jealousy.

Gu Mengmeng liked Lea's original form so much but she did not even turn to look at his original wolf's form at all.

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was huddling in Lea's embrace in satisfaction, Elvis suppressed his jealousy deep down in his heart with difficulty and nodded his head before turning to run away.

Challenging the limits of his body with speed so as to numb his irritated heart, he told himself continuously, "Both Lea and I are Gu Mengmeng's partners, we just need to make her happy.”

After Elvis left, Lea hooked onto Gu Mengmeng’s little chin gently, turning her head to look at him. Seeing how she was innocently hugging onto his tail and unwilling to let go of it, Lea felt his heart acting abnormally again. It seemed that a warm current was spreading across his entire body from his left chest and this feeling was very warm and comfortable, causing one to be sentimentally attached to it.

“Tell me, in correspondence of ‘Daddy Lea’, what should Elvis’s title be?”

Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes and answered without much thought, “Old Godmother.”

Lea raised his eyebrow. He was unable to differentiate between ‘Daddy’ and ‘Godmother’ and he also did not know that ‘Old Godmother’ was the brand of a chill sauce. He could only compare the two literally and by their pronunciations before nodding his head in commendation, “Yeah, I like the title of ‘Daddy Lea’ more. Come, call me that again.”

Gu Mengmeng blushed. She only called him that because she blurted it out due to her intention of fawning him over but now just the two of them were present. This evil fellow still requested for her to call him Daddy in such a flirtatious manner... doesn’t he know how shameful it is?

“Not calling?” Lea looked away with his beautiful eyes and said as if he was deeply hurt, “When I wasn’t yours yet, you called me so affectionately but now that I’m yours, you’re unwilling to call me by my nickname?”

“What?!” Gu Mengmeng was completely taken aback as she asked in shock, “Don’t speak so carelessly, don’t speak so carelessly. I didn’t even pounce on you so when did you become mine?”

“Pounce?” Lea, surprisingly, foreseen Gu Mengmeng’s reaction and just pondered on interestingly on the word ‘pounce’ and then asked sincerely, “You were the one who pounced on me from Elvis’s embrace in front of the entire tribe just now and even hugged me, touched me and played with me for such a long time. Now... are you going back on your actions and turning against me?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and hands and felt that even a hundred mouths could not explain herself.

How the heck was she supposed to explain that the 'pounce' did not mean 'pounce'?

Her momentary lust for fur was to be blamed. Why was she not able to control all her prehistoric strength just after seeing his white and flawless fur skin? But it was a fox that she pounced on, and it was even those highly posh breeds!

Chapter 85 - Believe Me, I'm Serious

“From today onwards, you’re not allowed to say that I’m not yours. Do you get it? Hmm?” Lea used one hand to gently grab onto Gu Mengmeng’s hand that was moving like a car window wiper and pulled her into his embrace. Gu Mengmeng was then drowned in Lea’s fluffy large tail as he patted her little head at times, saying in a slightly sulky tone, “I don’t want to be abandoned.”

Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Lea’s tail tightly while grieving tearlessly, “Daddy Lea, I’m not abandoning you... but I really can’t mate with you.”

“You’re not abandoning me but you can’t mate with me... are you still planning on matchmaking Elvis and I together?” Lea laughed evilly, his hand on the floor to support his jaw. He looked at Gu Mengmeng in a flirtatious way, “If Mengmeng likes it, I can cooperate occasionally but if you intend on making it true in the long run, even if I agree, Elvis would not agree to it.”

Pfft—!

Gu Mengmeng felt that the blood from her nose was boiling! The emptied blood tank was in a deficit!

Lea, does your Mother know how dirty-minded you are?! To think that Gu Mengmeng even felt that Lea was as holy as a cold, unreachable flower when she first saw him. Lea really could not be touched, his image had collapsed so fast that within one night, he had walked further and further down the road of rotten dirty-mindedness and based on the trend, he was most likely not turning back.

Lea held Gu Mengmeng's hand gently, his gaze was so gentle until water could be wring out from his eyes. Looking at Gu Mengmeng with tender and loving eyes, he said, "Gu Mengmeng, promise me... no matter what happens, you can't abandon me, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng did not know why but she felt her heart being tugged on mercilessly. Lea's gaze was clearly smiling tenderly but Gu Mengmeng seemed to see a wound that nobody knew about in those pair of eyes.

Lea... what did he go through before?

Gu Mengmeng stopped joking around and frowned slightly. Staring back at Lea, she deliberated over it for a long time but still shook her head, "I can't promise you something that I'm can't accomplish. You're very good but I can't mate with you."

"Why?" Upon hearing Gu Mengmeng's rejection, Lea's chest tightened as he continued pressing on without much thought that it took him by surprise too.

Why... was he so concerned with the reason? Based on his original character, no matter what her reason was, he always had ways to force her to abide by him.

But why was he so concerned with 'why' now?

Gu Mengmeng looked down, not having the courage to look into Lea's eyes.

Rejecting someone was something that would pressurize one internally, especially when it was rejecting Lea whom Gu Mengmeng saw as a Prince Charming of a higher social position than her, the pressure was even higher. And when the Prince Charming was staring at her, clearly looking so lovesick, the pressure was so much higher than the atmospheric layer.

"Marriage... oh no, mating is a big event that regards an entire lifetime and can't be decided casually nor sloppily."

Lea hooked Gu Mengmeng's chin gently. He liked the way she stared at him. When he saw his own reflection from her clear eyes, he felt a sense of satisfaction that no words could describe and the way she was avoiding him made him feel restless.

But this time, Lea felt that he had thought it the wrong way.

Why would his heart feel like it was pierced through by sharp claws and that the pain was lasting for such a long period of time that he could clearly feel the depth of every inch of it when he saw her eyes being filled with guilt and apology.

"I'm willing to pledge my lifelong loyalty to you, not sloppily nor casually." Lea tugged on his arm and pulled Gu Mengmeng in his embrace. Avoiding her serious gaze, he leaned his face on hers closely and whispered to her ear, "Gu Mengmeng, believe me, I'm serious."

Chapter 86 - Lea, I'm Sorry.

“We only knew each other for three days...” “You still have a lifetime to slowly understand me better.” With one hand, Lea supported the back of Gu Mengmeng’s head and with the other, he hugged onto her waist tightly. He was afraid that he would hurt her if he exerted a little more force but he was also afraid that she would escape from his arms and never return if he used a little less strength.

Gu Mengmeng attempted to push Lea away but was not successful. As compared to males, even if she had worked out for two years, she was still a weak girl without any strength to even truss up a chicken.

“Lea, I’m sorry.” Gu Mengmeng gave up on struggling and let Lea hug her like that. She knew that the males in this Beast World had extraordinary hearings so judging based on the distance between Lea and her, even if her voice was very soft, Lea could definitely hear her clearly, thus she said, “A lifetime is too much of a promise. I’m not able to entrust my entire life to someone I only met for three days.”

Lea felt her spine froze. He thought that his heart was not going to hurt again after experiencing all the stuff back then, but... he was wrong.

“But you accepted Elvis...” Lea looked down, slightly dejected.

“Huh?” Gu Mengmeng’s brain was a little slow at processing things. She kind of knew something was deadly serious but she could not point out what exactly it was.

Lea observed Gu Mengmeng's reaction and asked her suddenly, not knowing whether to cry or laugh, "Are you also not... planning to mate with Elvis?"

"Are you kidding me! Elvis is my Old Godmother!" Gu Mengmeng jumped up out of instinct and all of a sudden, a thought flashed through her mind...

Elvis helped her change her pad before...

And it seemed like he also changed the clothes on her entire body...

F!

Weren't they close sisters and also he, her godmother?

Gu Mengmeng gave a huge sigh while looking up at the sky: She was set up by a damn wild wolf!

Lea gave a soundless laugh and squinted his eyes, looking far away. He asked in a manner that appeared carefree but encompassed a slight murderous intention, "So, the first partner you wish to have is... Barete?"

"How can it be?" Gu Mengmeng shook her head heartlessly, "I've only treated Barete as my friend."

"Those friends who you can 'care, hug and kiss'?" Lea raised his eyebrow and asked.

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed, can we not bring this up again?

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was not answering, he used his large tail to pull Gu Mengmeng into his arms. Her slim waist was pressed close to Lea's solid muscles while her two legs were off the ground. There were nowhere she could lean on besides on Lea so she could only wrap both her hands around his neck to maintain her balance. However, her upper body leaned backwards out of instinct, distancing herself from Lea as far as possible.

But Lea was not the type of male to let her have it her way! He already supported the back of her head with one hand and fixed her in front of him at a distance of around a fist. He said with a faint smile, “Mengmeng, if you feel that three days is too short and is not enough for you to believe in my sincerity, then, before you feel that the time is enough, let me be your ‘friend’, those... friends who you can ‘care, hug and kiss’.”

As Lea talked, he slowly advanced closer, his target was obviously those soft and delicious lips of Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng placed both her hands in front of her chest and blocked Lea’s kiss. She gave a fake laugh and said, “Heh... Hehe... I’m fine with being friends. Let’s start from being friends.”

“Friends can kiss.” Lea was unhappy.

“Friends can also be classified into many types, not every friend can be kissed,” Gu Mengmeng said seriously.

“No.” Lea looked up and said in a slightly ordering tone that was filled with arrogance, “I want to be your only friend. Besides me, you can’t have manners towards any friend, or else... I’ll kill him.”

Chapter 87 - Call Me Daddy

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea's expression was dead serious and caused Gu Mengmeng to recall his resolute killing spree last night and the vague impression hidden deep in her memory: under the raven moon and dark night, a man whose looks could not be seen clearly, held her with one hand while he used the other hand to... easily tear away Collin's arm and save her from the hands of the grim reaper.

She would not doubt Lea's words. In the Beast World where martial skills were the most important and where only the strongest could enjoy the fruits of their abilities. Lea had enough ability to fulfill every word he had just said and even if he really did it, nobody would feel that it was inappropriate – the winner was king and that was the correct principle.

But the environment where Gu Mengmeng lived in and was educated from young had destined the fact that she could not follow how everyone sees a life here as worthless and that it was common to lose a life. She also could not accept how others could die for her anytime.

“Lea, this world is so wonderful but you're so hot-tempered. This is wrong, wrong!” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head in seeming earnest, trying to persuade Lea into giving up the ruthless idea.

Lea's sensual gaze was fully fixated on Gu Mengmeng's little face and he lifted her chin with his index finger. After seeing how she was looking up at him, the corners of his lips curved upwards and formed a charming smile that only a graceful and noble unsurpassed beauty from a generation would have.

“Call Me Daddy.”

Nobody knew why Lea liked this title so much. Even though he did not know what 'Daddy' meant.

Gu Mengmeng's lips twitched, how did the scene before her change so quickly?

She even suspected that the words Lea said earlier was to poke fun at her deliberately.

"Not calling!" Gu Mengmeng looked away haughtily, she was still a baby!

"Are you really not calling?" Lea was not furious. Instead, he casually landed eyes on Sandy who was walking towards them from afar while swaying his large tail and said, "I guess that this world is not that wonderful."

Gu Mengmeng followed Lea's gaze and noticed that Sandy had already reached the borderline of Elvis's territory and was taking a bunch of things that she could not decipher.

Carrying it step by step closer to them, Lea purposely stretched out his slender and bony fingers one by one in front of Gu Mengmeng and sharp nails started growing out at a rate which a naked eye could catch.

F, was this a sign of him losing his temper?

Gu Mengmeng gave up her principles immediately and hugged onto Lea's thigh, crying, "Daddy Lea, please be calm!"

Lea looked at Sandy and then at Gu Mengmeng, acting as if he was hesitant. He asked her with 30 percent threat and 70 percent expectation, "Sandy and I, who do you like better?"

Gu Mengmeng cozied up to him without principles, "I like Daddy Lea!"

Lea then gave a satisfied smile and retracted his nails. Touching Gu Mengmeng's tiny nose lightly, he said, "Don't call others Daddy, this title should only belong to me."

"I'll do as you say, Daddy Lea." Gu Mengmeng nodded her head like how garlic was pounded. She did not have any objections on going around calling anyone her Father so what was there to not agree on?

“Good girl~” Lea was extremely satisfied. Although he did not receive an acknowledgment from Gu Mengmeng to become her partner, being able to live with her was a pretty good improvement.

Lea did not want to force Gu Mengmeng too much to avoid terrorizing her. Thus, he ruffled her fluffy little head and said, “Go and play with Sandy. Elvis should be back soon, Daddy Lea would roast you some rabbit later.”

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to tell Lea that calling himself ‘Daddy Lea’ was an action only a teenager who was going through puberty would do. But just as she wanted to say it, she chose to swallow it back into her stomach and nodded her head obediently, “Alright.”

Chapter 88 - An Experience Never Before

Lea released Gu Mengmeng gently and steadily placed her on the ground. He then extended his large tail slowly and stretched it to the fullest together with the pace Gu Mengmeng was running to Sandy. Till the end of his tail could not even reach her, Lea then retracted his tail and stared at Gu Mengmeng's radiant smile in a pampering way, his heart ruminating what Gu Mengmeng said just now.

The world is so wonderful...

Yeah, indeed very wonderful.

Never before.

Lea turned around to start a fire. Although he was afraid of the Flame Devil too, it was something Mengmeng needed to have when she was having her meal so he would not mind even if his bones were to become firewood.

On the other hand, Gu Mengmeng flew at Sandy in a lively mood. Taking the item that she was carrying, she asked at the same time, "Why did you come here with so many things?"

Sandy passed Gu Mengmeng some items and said, "You just left like that and forgot to take the yellow gravy everyone gave you."

Gu Mengmeng patted her forehead after suddenly realizing. She then rubbed her palms together with an expression of a money grubber, "Ah ya ya, that's great~ Sandy you are indeed my biggest lucky star. Just nice, Elvis went out to hunt, let's honey roast the meat later~"

Sandy remembered that Gu Mengmeng mentioned before that her original tribe called yellow gravy as honey.

Thinking of roasted meat, Sandy swallowed her saliva out of instinct. But, seeing how Lea was starting a fire behind Gu Mengmeng, Sandy fiddled with her fingers and said pitifully, “Elvis and Lea became your partners today and this day is too precious to them. I...”

Sandy saw the yellow gravy in Gu Mengmeng’s arms and imagined what kind of intriguing taste would the sweet yellow gravy and delicious roasted meat create when they met each other. That must be a delicacy like never before...

Wiping away the saliva that dripped from the corners of her mouth, Sandy suppressed the intense torment internally and said, “I’ll come and have a meal with you some other time.”

Just after Sandy finished talking and turned behind to walk away, her plump little legs stood rooted to the ground and she could not move them a single inch at all.

Watching Sandy’s struggling figure and how she deliberately left her chubby hand behind her for Gu Mengmeng to hold it, Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud with a chuckle. She walked in front of Sandy and push the yellow gravy into her arms before saying, “Lea, Elvis and I are not in the type of relationship you’re thinking about. If you want to know more details, how about staying behind to enjoy the roasted meat and we’ll chat while eating?”

“Huh?” Sandy’s mind was drowned in two enormous vortexes. The left one was wondering why Gu Mengmeng was saying that she was not in the type of relationship she was thinking about with Lea and Elvis. The right one, on the other hand, was... when would the roasted meat be cooked?

What to ask first? Sandy was incomparably struggling.

Seeing the struggle on Sandy’s face, Gu Mengmeng hit her with her shoulder, “Don’t daydream anymore, come over and help.”

“Ah? Oh... ok.” Sandy could faintly feel a sense of excitement in her heart.

Help! Gu Mengmeng asked her to help!

Since young, she just needed to wait to eat, drink and get taken care of by her beast Father when she was small and her partners when she grew up. The only thing all of them said was, “Wait here obediently, it will be done soon.”

For the first time, someone asked her to help.

Sandy was so agitated till she almost cried but Gu Mengmeng had no idea what she caused Sandy’s heart to experience.

Wasn’t it normal for bosom friends... to help?

Sandy followed behind Gu Mengmeng’s every step and pinched the sides of her dress with her little hands in constraint, her eyes shimmering with expectation and tense at the same time.

What was Gu Mengmeng going to ask her to do? It seemed that she... did not know how to do anything.

Chapter 89 - Daddy Lea Is So Reliable!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng hopped towards Lea with Sandy. Meanwhile, Lea had started a tiny flame by learning from how Elvis bored wood to start a fire earlier on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment.

Lea's brows were slightly furrowed. Animals' sense of smell were much more sensitive than humans' and furthermore, beasts had a better sense of smell than animals so this smoke obviously choked Lea.

All along, Gu Mengmeng was someone who took pity on good-looking people so seeing how Lea was feeling unwell, her heart ached a lot. She hurriedly took away the wooden stick in Lea's hands and said, "You're done, you're done, Daddy Lea, go and rest now. Leave everything here to Sandy and I."

Lea's lips curved up slightly. He liked the way Gu Mengmeng was caring for him. Pulling in his large tail, he encircled Gu Mengmeng and placed her behind him. He used his body to block the smoke from her and said while looking at her gently with the corners of his eyes, "This will choke you and my heart will ache."

Pound... pound...

Daddy Lea definitely knew how to hit up girls. Gu Mengmeng felt her bones falling apart, and she almost drowned in that light smile of Lea that could mesmerize everyone.

NO! NO!

Gu Mengmeng turned her head to look at Sandy who was sitting at one side, well-behaved, "Those squatting and smelling over there are your males?”

Sandy looked over at the direction where Gu Mengmeng was pointing to and then turned back to Gu Mengmeng and nodded, “Yeah, that’s Bode and the rest.”

“Why don’t they come over?” Gu Mengmeng could not understand.

Sandy seemed to be already used to Gu Mengmeng having no common sense, so she did not think too much about it and just explained patiently, “This is Elvis’s territory. Without his permission, other males can’t enter as they wish. If it wasn’t because of you, females like me wouldn’t be able to enter as well.”

Gu Mengmeng asked with a blank but adorable expression, “Has Elvis always been this solitary and not interacting with others?”

Sandy could not help but smile as she shook her head, “Elvis is not solitary. Every male has his own territory consciousness and other males can’t trespass as they wish or else it will be considered as a challenge and they will be attacked.”

Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes and touched her chin before saying, “What if I need to find you in the future? What if I enter the territory of other males... would I die very badly?”

Lea, who was adding dried leaves into the fire, added casually, “Don’t worry. You have Elvis and I, nobody can hurt you.”

Both of Gu Mengmeng’s eyes shone like stars and she clasped her palms together in front of her chest, looking at Lea in worship, “Daddy Lea is so reliable!”

Lea laughed and did not say anything. He just added a large handful of dried leaves into the fire out of joy and almost put out the tiny flame which was just started.

“Gu Mengmeng, why are you calling Lea ‘Daddy’? What does ‘Daddy’ mean?” Sandy tilted her head and looked at Gu Mengmeng, asking, resembling a curious baby.

“Daddy...” Gu Mengmeng felt a strong sense of despair. The combination of Daddy and Mummy was the first words she picked up when she was learning language but she did not know how to explain these titles by their literal meanings.

After thinking for a long time, Gu Mengmeng forced out her words, “Daddy is the most reliable male in this world and will save us from any danger and obstruction. Regardless what kind of difficulties we face, he will step in front of us to protect us and ensure our entire lifetime’s safety. Daddy is the only male in this entire world that would never abandon us or betray us.”

She said, only...

Lea’s heart contracted out of control. This was the first time he heard this familiar yet unfamiliar word from a female.

Was... the only she said... referring to him?

Chapter 90 - I Only Like Pretty Guys

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Oh... so Daddy is a title you use to call your partner. Hehe, then I’m going to call Bode ‘Daddy Bode’...” Sandy thought that ‘Daddy’ was the same as ‘Honey’ and was just a type of dialect but just before she could complete her sentence, she felt a chill down her spine. Looking around for the source of the chill, she only saw Lea holding a wooden stick on fire with one hand while looking at her with a light smile. That smile was cold and caused one to shudder uncontrollably.

Snap.

The wooden stick in Lea’s hands were broken into bits and some sparks flew on Lea but he paid no attention to it and just maintained that cold-blooded smile. He said in a clear voice, “This title belongs to me.”

“Oh... oh oh...” Sandy tucked her neck back in injustice and nodded her head. Having a partner like Lea is so terrifying, and he even threatens females. He was not like this in the past... weep weep weep, I really want to cry but I’m scared, I felt so wronged.

Seeing how the atmosphere was a little awkward, Gu Mengmeng fake laughed and held Sandy’s little hand, hugging on it and said, “Daddy is not the meaning of partner. It’s just a type of blood relationship, a family love and a connection that can’t be cut off no matter what happens. It’s very simple but also very complicated. I’ll explain more to you if I have the chance in the future. Let’s discuss more about roasting meat, alright?”

“Yeah.” Sandy nodded her head, not fully understanding, but she did not want to probe any further. She just wished that this ‘Daddy’ issue would pass by quickly because Lea's face was darkening even more and he looked like he was extremely furious.

Because... huh?! Did Gu Mengmeng said earlier that 'Daddy' was not the meaning of partner?!

"You're not planning on mating with Lea?!" Sandy picked up the main point in shock and completely neglected Lea whose vein bulged up on his forehead because of her shout.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head honestly, "In our world, nobody mates the moment they become an adult. We have to start being friends first and only when we have a certain understanding of each other and when the feeling is right, then we can become lovers. After dating for a few years and being used to each other and after everything is suitable, we can then seek the approval from both families and then become partners under the well wishes from all our relatives and friends."

Sandy was puzzled, wasn't friends... like between her and Gu Mengmeng?

"Then do they become lovers in the future?" Sandy asked in uncertainty.

"Pfft..." Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud honestly, "My sexual orientation is straight, I only like pretty guys~"

"Do you... not like me anymore?" Sandy's eyes started watering, and she looked like she was about to cry. She finally made friends with someone after much difficulty and if Gu Mengmeng did not like her anymore... then would she... then would she... then would she become a lonely person again?

Although her partners were very nice to her and loved her dearly, there were eventually some words that she could not confide to her partners. But Gu Mengmeng was different. Even though they only met each other for a short two days, but Gu Mengmeng was very friendly and special. She really liked Gu Mengmeng a lot.

“Haha~” Gu Mengmeng laughed heartily, giving Sandy a full hug and rubbing against her furry little ears while saying, “The ‘like’ I was saying refers to the choice of mates. Being good friends, bosom friends, I still like you a lot~”

“Really?” Sandy asked, half in doubt. Her innocent and clear big eyes darted till Gu Mengmeng’s heart softened for her.

“Of course it’s real, you’re so kind and pure, so gentle and cute, so cordial and real, so friendly and intimate, why would I not like you?” Gu Mengmeng cupped Sandy’s chubby face and ‘Mu~Ma!’ sent her a kiss through the air.

Sandy blushed and giggled, “I also like you the most.”

Chapter 91 - Lea Selling His Looks?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Over in your world, do all females and males start from being friends, then lovers and finally become partners?” Sandy blinked her innocent large eyes and tilted her head to ask.

Gu Mengmeng played with Lea’s large tail while nodding her head, answering, “That’s not always true too. We have a phrase called ‘falling in love at first sight’. That means that two people, among the bustling crowd, recognized each other as their other half that they were searching for many years at first sight. Then, they get married whenever they wish. Oh, marriage means mating.”

Sandy nodded her head, not fully understanding and then asked further, “Then why didn’t you fall in love with Lea at first sight?”

“Cough... cough!” Gu Mengmeng almost choked to death on her own saliva. Peeking at Lea secretly, she saw that he was indeed smiling but why did that smile look dangerous and gave off a feeling that he could rush up to Sandy and strangle her to death? Gu Mengmeng groaned internally, “I say Sandy, can you please notice your surroundings more! Why are you rubbing someone’s nose in it!”

But unspoken criticism was unspoken criticism and Gu Mengmeng still had to come up to ease the situation. Thus, she shrugged her shoulders and avoided Lea’s stare which clearly wrote, “Please begin your performance. I’m waiting for your explanation.” in guilt.

“I...” Gu Mengmeng wanted to open her mouth to say something, but she almost bit her own tongue.

Sandy did not want to give up and worsened the situation, “Don’t you like pretty guys? Lea’s so pretty.”

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed. She decided to award Sandy with the ‘Worst Friend’ award.

However, Lea laughed and whispered to Gu Mengmeng’s ear like a spring breeze, “In this entire Beast World, I’m afraid that there’s no other males who looks better than me so... how about you like me? Hmm?”

“Heh... hehe...” Gu Mengmeng thought in her heart, was Daddy Lea selling his looks? Was he really not scared that she would pounce on him after being seduced by him till she lost all control? Oh, he must not be aware that in the present world, there’s a phrase called ‘fast food love’ which meant that one could leave without taking responsibility after eating finish.

Just when Gu Mengmeng was distressing over how to answer, she saw a black wolf, that looked as if its entire body was painted, speeding towards them from faraway with something hanging from his mouth.

It was strange as Gu Mengmeng was not an ounce scared seeing a ferocious beast pouncing towards them. Instead, she felt extremely familiar and intimate. Jumping off from Lea’s tail, she waved at the black wolf and called out, “Leader~~”

Elvis’s heart warmed up. This was the first time he understood the meaning and importance of family.

In that dark and cold cave, a petite person was waiting for him to return.

So, he quickened his pace unknowingly when he was hunting just now and felt that something was pulling him to return earlier.

So, this was called anxious to return home as fast as possible.

But that was because she was waiting for him and he just could not wait to see how she was waving at him.

Elvis reduced his speed while evolving back into human form to prevent crashing into her due to his high speed.

Elvis calculated the distance just nicely and just after he finished evolving and reducing his speed, there was still half a small step distance between them when he stood firmly in front of Gu Mengmeng. Holding a bunch of rabbits in his hand, he could not wait but pull Gu Mengmeng into his embrace by grabbing onto her shoulder with his other hand gently.

Although she was tiny, she was so soft till it felt that she would spoil the moment if he exerted a bit more strength. However, at that moment, he felt a wonderful strength that no words could describe that caused him to yearn for and become insane.

On the other hand, Gu Mengmeng who was stuck in his embrace was becoming more insane internally.

Leader, where's your beast-skin dress?!

Chapter 92 - You Help Me Wear

Chapter 92: You Help Me Wear

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Le Le... Leader, your shirt...” Gu Mengmeng said each word, trembling. Her entire body was stiff, and she did not dare to move a single bit.

Yes, she was a girl who had slight infatuated female instincts, but that was only within the boundaries of talking. When it came to real actions, she only had the intention but not the courage.

“Hmm?” Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly, not bearing to release her as he was enjoying the endless warmth she was bestowing to him. The happiness that spread across his entire body made him dive in deeper and he was more captivated by her.

“Where’s your... shirt?” Gu Mengmeng swallowed her saliva. Every fine hair on her body was reminding her that she was being hugged by a naked male and any random, accidental touch would cause goosebumps all over her skin.

“I’ve lost it on the way.” Elvis would never reveal that his beast-skin dress was hooked away by a tree branch because he was too anxious to see her and ran too quickly. And in the two seconds when he turned back to pick it up parsimoniously, he evolved back into beast form and directly ran back to her.

Gu Mengmeng swallowed her saliva once again. Unspoken criticism about Leader was indeed true, he was really rich and generous. He broke the luminous pearl that was as big as a fist into bits and also threw away the fur coat as he wished.

Rich and generous!

“That... Sandy is still watching.” Gu Mengmeng really wanted to push Elvis away but her careless move would most possibly touch something that she should not touch. So Gu Mengmeng could only remain stiff and even her breathing was done with utmost caution so as to prevent the huge movements from causing useless ‘misunderstandings’.

Elvis’s lips curved upwards, and he felt a strange feeling spreading in his heart.

She... minded the fact that another female was looking at his body.

“You help me wear.” Elvis extended his hand towards Lea and Lea then took his beast-skin dress that was hanging near the entrance of the cave and threw it to him.

Elvis received the beast-skin dress Lea threw over steadily and used one finger to dangle the end of the dress in front of Gu Mengmeng. Meanwhile, he assumed the posture of going naked unless she helped him wear the dress.

Gu Mengmeng was finally released, and she hurriedly stepped one tiny step backwards to distance both of them. But this backtrack made her... see him much clearer!

Gu Mengmeng whose face was as red as a pig’s liver snatched away the beast-skin dress on Elvis’s finger and wore it around his waist messily, tying a dead knot in a flurry. After confirming that it would not fall, she finally heaved a sigh of relief. Awkwardly changing the subject, she said, “Leader, what did you bring back?”

“Rabbits.” Lea picked up the bunch of rabbit bundled up by grass that he threw aside earlier and handed it to Gu Mengmeng.

Yeah, when he squatted down, he realized that Gu Mengmeng wore this beast-skin dress really well. Although it was tied so tightly into his flesh that a slightly larger movement would snap the dress, the feeling of suffocation was actually not that bad! Look look, the line of the red mark on his waist had such an aesthetic feeling and was so artistic! Oh, the pain made every cell in his body so excited till it felt so wonderful.

Elvis's smile became bigger. He decided that unless Gu Mengmeng helped him take down this dress herself, he would keep wearing it!

Gu Mengmeng's face was still burning hot. She did not care about Elvis's abnormal behavior or Lea's deep gaze and just took the bunch of rabbits away and asked while furrowing both her fine brows that resembled crescent moons, "Leader, did you catch the offspring of this family of rabbits?"

"Huh?" Elvis replied a one-syllabus word cheerfully. He did not know what was an offspring.

Gu Mengmeng lifted the bunch of rabbits in her hand and asked again, "The bottom of the nest too? You did not leave any behind right?"

"Yeah," Elvis nodded his head, still cheerfully.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched, and she sat down cross-legged before starting to unravel the rope used to bind the rabbits together. Meanwhile, she said, "At least leave the offspring alone or else we would not have any more rabbits to eat in the future."

Chapter 93 - Raising Males As Beast Pets?

“Alright.” Elvis did not care much about the source but as long as she said it, he would be willing to do it.

Gu Mengmeng untied four rabbits and scanned her surroundings before handing them to Sandy while she ran off nearby to pull off some tree vines. The tree vines did not look thick, but they required quite a bit of strength to pull them off. Gu Mengmeng pulled till the skin on her palms were torn but only two to three vines were pulled off. She could only grip onto the tree vines while turning back to ask Elvis pitifully, “Leader, help.”

“Ok.” Elvis’s eyes were filled with connivance and indulgement. He slowly stepped forward and gave a slight tug. The tree vines then all crashed onto the floor “Enough?” Elvis asked while looking down at Gu Mengmeng who was squatting down to pick up the vines.

“Enough enough.” Gu Mengmeng picked and chose a large handful of vines in satisfaction and then skipped over to Sandy. Sitting down cross-legged, she threaded the vines one by one and started making a simple cage with her bare hands. She asked while threading, “Leader, did you only get rabbits? No others?”

“Huh?” Elvis’s eyes sparkled with the intention to laugh.

He thought that messengers of the Beast Deity could only eat rabbits so he was very worried throughout the way back because he was afraid that he could not catch enough rabbits to last her through winter before the season came. Did her words mean that messengers of the Beast Deity could eat animals other than rabbits? Then this would increase her survival rate greatly and to Elvis, there was no news better than that.

“Like cows, sheep, pigs, etc.” Gu Mengmeng said while threading the cage.

Elvis thought for a moment, the difference between animals like cows, pigs and sheep from rabbits should be that they have four legs, right? Following this pattern, Elvis tried and ask, “Cows, sheep and pigs are rare, how about tigers, leopards, wolves, etc. Is it fine?”

Gu Mengmeng was so scared till she gave a huge shudder and she looked up at Elvis in shock, was it really good to have such strong tastes?

“You still eat wolves?” Gu Mengmeng could not accept the fact. Why did Elvis eat wolves when he was a wolf himself? Won’t he have a feeling of eating his own kind? Thinking about it, a mental load started to form.

However, Elvis was indifferent to it and he just shrugged his shoulders, “It’s the fate of the weak if they end up as food.”

“Haha...” Gu Mengmeng was speechless. In this savage age, it seemed like there’s nothing wrong with the weak being prey to the strong and the survival of the fittest in natural selection. Thus, Gu Mengmeng could only shrug her shoulders and not reply. Instead, she quickened her speed and not long later, her cage was done.

Sandy was already looking at Gu Mengmeng with her sparkling eyes filled with worship and she truly felt that Gu Mengmeng was glowing.

Gu Mengmeng opened the little door on the cage and placed the rabbits in one by one, then tied a vine into a knot to act as a lock. Lastly, she placed the cage at a cooler place in the cave and turned back to tell Sandy, “Let’s raise these four as pets for fun.”

Sandy tilted her head and blinked, asking, “Why aren’t we raising males as beast pets? They can not only make us happy, they can also take care of us.”

The corners of Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched...

She criticized in her heart, “Sandy, can you not use this innocent expression and tone to say such strong words?”

What was raising males as beast pets, f... why did it felt like a landlord raising a concubine? How could a good youth of socialism do such a thing?!

Thinking about it, Gu Mengmeng eyes darted towards Elvis and Lea.

Damn it, the original form of these two fellows were exactly like Nyanko Sensei after he evolved into a cool form in ‘Natsume’s Book of Friends’ and the dark version of Sesshoumaru in ‘Inuyasha’. This type of physique... could be pets? Are you kidding me?

Chapter 94 - Gu Mengmeng Dying

“Huh?” Lea noticed that Gu Mengmeng was sizing them up and inched his face closer to her, harboring evil intentions. He said flirtatiously, maintaining an extremely intimate posture, “Do you want to raise me as a pet beast?”

“No no, how can I!” Gu Mengmeng felt a sense of terrible embarrassment after being caught in action and she immediately denied while shaking her two little hands.

“Why can’t you?” Lea seemed like he was quite disappointed. He gave his big hand a tug and Gu Mengmeng fell into his embrace, half-lying in his arms. Lea lifted Gu Mengmeng’s chin with his index finger and his wet lips stopped just at the tip of Gu Mengmeng’s nose. Just upon licking it lightly, Gu Mengmeng’s nose dived deep into him. Her whole body shuddered, and she stared at Lea whose face was just before hers in bewilderment, not daring to say a word.

Lea then felt the unfairness in his heart subside. Although he did not say anything... but when Elvis was hugging Gu Mengmeng just now, her reaction made him jealous.

This light taste shall act as a remedy.

Lea smiled slightly in satisfaction as the tip of his tongue was recollecting her one and only flavor on his taste buds.

Slightly sweet and tasty.

“If it’s pet beasts... how about a snow fox? One with an entirely pure-white body that is indescribably beautiful and striking and knows how to pray and treat illnesses...” Lea suddenly gave a smile that was full of meaning and placed his lips near Gu Mengmeng’s ears before biting lightly on her delicate earlobe. He breathed out and said, “And one that can warm your bed.”

Pfft...

Blood started dripping down out of control from Gu Mengmeng’s nostrils.

F! Daddy Lea was too rule-breaking!

“Oh no, Gu Mengmeng, you’re bleeding!” Sandy appeared much more anxious than Elvis and Lea and her growl brought both of them who were staring blankly back to reality.

Why was blood dripping out from the nose? Was her brain injured? When... did someone cross Lea and hurt Gu Mengmeng when he was bashing people last night? That was impossible...

The two males were immersed in confusion.

Gu Mengmeng lifted her head up and pinched her nose, shaking her hands at Lea and Elvis who were still deep in thought, “I’m fine, I’m fine. It’s just too dry here and I’m not used to it.”

Lea and Elvis looked at each other and did not know how to reply her.

They did not experience this kind of situation before and at that moment, even Lea did not know what to do.

“Sandy, can you accompany me to the stream to wash my face?” Gu Mengmeng stretched out her hand like a blind finding his way and tried to head towards Sandy.

Elvis beat her to it and gently held onto the wrist of the hand that Gu Mengmeng stretched out, placing Gu Mengmeng into his arms. He said with a heart loaded with worry, “I’ll accompany you.”

“Oh... oh oh.” Gu Mengmeng really wanted to say that she was just being teased by Daddy Lea until she had a small nosebleed and it was not any fatal terminal illness. Elvis really need not put on a face that looked like she was in critical condition.

But... seeing how he was so worried for her, weirdly, Gu Mengmeng felt at ease.

Yeah, kids who have mothers are all babies.

Elvis's pace was extremely fast and even though he was carrying Gu Mengmeng, his speed was not affected at all and it seemed as if the 60 kg Gu Mengmeng was just a small cotton ball without any weight.

Lea ran together with Elvis the moment he advanced his first step and the smile on his face was long replaced by a worried look. He did not say anything but only one word faintly, "Together."

Sandy was extremely urgent but her speed could not catch up to Elvis's and Lea's so she could only run behind them, puffing hard. She was only carried by Bode to the stream after she exited Elvis's territory.

The way Elvis and Lea ran towards the stream frantically one after another and the estrus fragrance that Gu Mengmeng was emitting had already attracted the attention of the people in the tribe. Furthermore, Sandy this worst friend was close behind and cried out while chasing after them, "Hurry up hurry up, Gu Mengmeng's dripping a lot of blood. I don't know whether she will die. I'm worried to death, run faster."

Yeah, the news of Gu Mengmeng dying had spread across the entire Saint Nazaire in a blink of an eye.

Chapter 95 - Why Are We Still Going Through Gender Discrimination?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Gu Mengmeng, Elvis and the rest reached the stream, the nosebleed had already stopped but since they had already come all the way here, she should just wash her face conveniently.

When Gu Mengmeng was about to wash her face after rolling up her sleeves, she heard a rustle behind her. Gu Mengmeng who was squatting at the bank of the stream froze immediately. What the heck was this situation? A male whose face was swollen with bruises rushed over frantically, looking as if... he was looking at someone for the last time.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head while staying rooted to the ground. She did not have the time to ask what was wrong when she was hugged by Sandy who was rushing at the front of the crowd. Sandy whimpered with her face covered in tears, “Gu Mengmeng, don’t hide from me anymore, what exactly is wrong with you? Hurry tell me!”

“I’m... I’m just suffering from a little excessive internal heat.” Gu Mengmeng answered honestly, “See, I washed my face and I’m fine now.”

Sandy did not believe her and tried to look into her nostrils after cupping Gu Mengmeng’s little face. After checking it, she felt that it was not thorough enough, and she placed her nose closer to smell in detail for quite some time. She then heaved a sigh of relief after confirming that her nostrils were not bleeding anymore and said, pouring out her grievances pitifully, “If you’re sick, you can’t hide it from me.”

“I’m fine, I’m fine. Don’t worry, I’m well.” Gu Mengmeng hugged Sandy’s shoulders and comforted her.

“Who would bleed from the nose just anytime? Don’t try to lie to me... sob sob... I only have you as my best friend, if you die... I... I... sob sob,” Not comforting her was better, after Gu Mengmeng started consoling Sandy, Sandy was more upset. Her tears fell from her eyes as if they were free-of-charge and she cried till Gu Mengmeng could not help but sigh.

This Sandy was good in all aspects but she just liked to cry too much. She really was a through and through softie.

“Ok, Sandy, if you cry again, I’ll be drowned by your tears.” Gu Mengmeng soothed Sandy while wiping her tears, “Don’t cry anymore. Look, the stream has fish, shall I roast some fish for you?”

“Fish...?” Upon hearing there’s food, Sandy tried to catch her breath while forcing back her tears. Her eyes that were not free from tears yet looked as bright as the night sky that was being washed by water, clean and transparent.

“There, just that one.” Gu Mengmeng pointed at the fat fish which was swimming freely around in the stream and did not seem to be scared of humans at all.

“Water shuttles are very hard to eat, the smell is very raw and there’s even pricks.” Sandy looked at the fish and curled her lips, despising it. Shaking her head, she pulled Gu Mengmeng’s arm and acted coquettishly, begging like a spoiled child, “Gu Mengmeng, let’s just roast rabbits. Elvis caught quite a number of rabbits just now, besides those that you’re planning to raise, there should be enough for the two of us.”

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was not swayed by her words, she looked at the water shuttles with glittery eyes. Making up her mind, she stomped her feet and said, “At most, I’ll eat less and let you eat your fill first, alright?”

However, Gu Mengmeng held Sandy’s little hand and pulled her in front of her. She pointed at Elvis and Lea with her chin and then pointed at Bode and the other males who ran with her all the way and then asked, “Everyone’s here looking at only both of us eating? You have the nerve?”

Sandy scanned her surroundings and then nodded in certainty, “I have the nerve, why should I not have it?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled helplessly, “The rabbits were caught by Elvis and we still need Lea’s help for the cooking. At the end, while I’m eating, everyone’s looking, while I’m sitting down, everyone’s standing, what is all these? No way no way, I can’t do it. If we want to eat, we should eat together, or else let’s all not eat. What era is this already, why are we still going through gender discrimination?”

Chapter 96 - What A Fair Leader!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Obviously, Sandy did not know what was gender discrimination because it was the correct principle in the Beast World to always let females have priority access to all resources.

However...

It was the correct principle for females in the Beast World to be willful, especially the First Beauty of the tribe like Gu Mengmeng. Whatever they wished to do, they would do it. Let alone a mere water shuttle, even if Gu Mengmeng picked up a rock from the ground and claimed it to be a delicacy, males would still stand out to chew it into powder form and comment on its good taste.

Anyway, males would be the one who finishes the bad-tasting food so Sandy did not persist further and treated it as playing around with Gu Mengmeng. Thus, she nodded her head and said, "Alright then, I'll follow whatever you say but let's make it clear that after you roast the water shuttle, let's roast meat."

"Ok." Gu Mengmeng nodded and then looked behind Sandy to see Elvis, Lea, Bode and other males of Sandy who wanted to come closer but were dreadful. She touched her chin and gave a sneaky smile, "We can't let Elvis prepare everyone's ingredients all alone, right? How about asking the few from your family to help out?"

Sandy turned back to look at Bode and just when she wanted to nod her head, she hesitated and peeked at Elvis and Lea with the corners of her eyes. She whispered to Gu Mengmeng softly, "Helping out is fine but Elvis has to agree first."

Gu Mengmeng glanced over at Elvis in uncertainty and shrugged her shoulders, not understanding her meaning, "What do you mean?"

Sandy scrunched up her nose towards Gu Mengmeng, putting on a despising expression. Then she inched closer and whispered in an even softer voice, “Elvis is the leader of the tribe and he has priority over hunting rights. Wherever he is, as long as one steals his prey within the area which he has his scent, that would be considered as a challenge and the person would be punished relentlessly by him. Bode and the rest... are not Elvis’s competitors.”

Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth, forming a ^0^ expression and nodded her head, not fully understanding the issue. She then turned back and look at Elvis, asking him, “Leader, can we ask Sandy’s males to help us prepare the food?”

Elvis patted Gu Mengmeng’s little head in an indulgent way and after confirming that she was not bleeding from the nose anymore, he felt his chest relaxing and his mood became brighter together. Pulling Gu Mengmeng into his arms in one tug, he hugged her with one hand and his eyes were filled with connivance that could melt into water anytime. He said with a deep and thick voice that resembled the sonata of a cello, “Everything here is up to you.”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and stuck out a thumb at Elvis, “What a fair leader!”

Elvis was already used to Gu Mengmeng blurting out words that were not heard before and he did not even bother to find out what was the meaning of fair. Watching her expression, he figured out that it did not seem to be a bad word so he accepted it with pleasure.

Gu Mengmeng jumped off from Elvis’s embrace and raised her head, like a fox assuming the majesty of the tiger. Thinking herself slightly to be a small person intoxicated by success, she cleared her throat and announced, “Those who want to eat later, prepare your own ingredients.”

Once Gu Mengmeng said those words, the males’ excitement were all ignited.

“Gu Mengmeng, can we eat with you?” Amidst all the cheers, this question was raised one after another.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, “Of course, food is tastier if we eat all together.”

“Oh~~” A loud cheer erupted for a moment and all single males went their own ways to hunt for prey.

This was a good chance to showcase their sharp skills to Gu Mengmeng and the reason why she planned all of these must be to test them and see whose hunting ability was the strongest. That was why she asked everyone to stay for a meal. After all, they were entering winter and the hunting ability was naturally the first factor in choosing a partner!

Thinking about this, the single males felt a stronger vigor to hunt. All of them converted their vigor into strength and challenged the hardest difficulties. After all, they had to rely on this only chance to see whether they were able to find themselves a partner before winter came!

Chapter 97 - Elvis's and Lea's Wet Performance

Gu Mengmeng was still unaware at that moment that she would be faced with a wide variety of strange ingredients later. Upon seeing how everyone was so enthusiastic and full of energy, she grinned from ear to ear and thought that everyone was just hungry.

“You all.” Gu Mengmeng waved her hands at Bode and five others, “Can you help me catch two fish?”

Bode did not answer and just stared at Sandy, as if he was waiting for her to make her stand.

Sandy nodded her head without hesitation and said, “Of course, Bode can swim extremely well.”

Bode was pleased by Sandy's praise and his gaze was filled with laughter and indulgence, as if he was saying, “I simply can't do anything with you.”. He nodded his head and instructed, “Wait for me on the land and don't get near the stream, understand?”

Sandy twitched her tiny lips, clearly being upset. Gu Mengmeng would ask her to help but Bode and the rest were still treating her like a useless trash and would only ask her to wait by the side.

“Be good.” Bode cupped Sandy's chubby face with both hands while his gaze was filled with anticipation, expecting her promise.

“I know, hurry and go.” Sandy was not willing, but she did not intend to resist any further. Being used to... was such a scary phrase.

After getting Sandy's promise, Bode then nodded in satisfaction. He landed a light kiss on Sandy's forehead and said gently, "Wait for me."

Then, he took off the beast-skin dress on his waist and evolved into a leopard before he leaped into the water in a yellow flash.

Perhaps because the people in the Beast World did not fancy fish, the big fish that were plump and sturdy did not have any sense of crisis consciousness at all and even after such a ferocious beast like Bode jumped into the water, they paid no attention and continued swimming or eating, not viewing Bode as their predator a single bit at all.

Bode lifted his claws and slammed the water, splashing it up to a height of around one meter. The droplets had not even fallen back into the stream yet and two fish which were as thick as Gu Mengmeng's thighs landed on their backs in front of her.

"Cool!" Gu Mengmeng complimented him out of instinct and looking at the two fish, her mind was spinning in a flash: sour fish with pickled mustard greens, fish fillets in hot chili oil, sweet and sour mandarin fish, braised fish with soy sauce, as well as, fish meat steamboat...

What the heck, what the heck, what the heck!

Gu Mengmeng swallowed her saliva while dissing the Beast Deity severely in her heart.

What exactly was this rotten place? Where was there not even a seasoning...

Weep weep weep, whenever it was time to eat, Gu Mengmeng would yearn for the present world tremendously. Instant noodles was really the best treasure in the world.

Just when Gu Mengmeng was lamenting about the lack of seasonings, Lea and Elvis had already stepped into the stream. However, they did not evolve and maintain their human form.

It was because Elvis could not bear to take off the beast-skin dress that Gu Mengmeng helped him wear while on the other hand, Lea did not want Gu Mengmeng to see him being wet. After all, a drenched fox was not beautiful and striking anymore.

True, Bode was Sandy's partner and would absolutely not pose as a real threat to Elvis and Lea but... being worse off than other males in front of their own female, would they still have any face to continue living? And moreover, why were they letting other males prepare the food that their female was going to eat?

Once this pair of brothers reached a common consensus, what other things could they not accomplish?

Thus, not long after, the fish in front of Gu Mengmeng were stacked into a tiny mountain.

Gu Mengmeng who regained composure hurriedly shook her hands and said, "Ah, enough enough! We can't finish eating so many, don't catch anymore."

"Enough?" Elvis stood upright and looked at Gu Mengmeng, half of his calves in the water. The surface of the water reflected his broad shoulders and slim waist that formed an inverted triangular build. Every inch of his muscle was sturdy and strong but they did not appear as exaggerated and artificial as those trained from the equipment in the gym. Every line on his body was so smooth until it made one lost in wild and fanciful thoughts while the water droplets that reflected the sunlight created a halo of light effect around Elvis.

Chapter 98 - Little Wife Staring At A Pervert

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The part that caused her life havoc was the seductive Lea who was standing next to Elvis. Even though Lea had already explained to Gu Mengmeng that Elvis and him were not in the relationship that she was thinking about, but this scene was too visually attractive. Gu Mengmeng felt a warm feeling creeping through her nose, damn it, a nosebleed felt like it was on its way.

“Leader, Daddy Lea, hurry and come on up.” Gu Mengmeng was anxious, she did not want to experience the entire tribe looking at her, as if they were attending a funeral, any second longer.

Elvis frowned and rushed quickly to Gu Mengmeng. He did not dare to hug her because of his wet body and he could only touch her shoulder while asking solemnly, “What’s wrong?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands and laughed awkwardly.

Could she really say that she was about to spew out blood from the nose upon seeing that gay scene of Elvis and Lea?

“Really?” Elvis did not quite believe her.

Lea followed Elvis closely back to shore and stood behind him, observing for a while. He eventually extended his slim and bony hand to touch Gu Mengmeng’s forehead. After making sure that her temperature was normal, he then pressed his palm onto Gu Mengmeng’s chest but his heart that just relaxed after realizing that she was not having a fever earlier starting pounding hard again.

This heartbeat... why is it so fast? And it seemed that it was getting faster.

Lea furrowed his brows and just when he wanted to say something, he heard a loud clap and a clear slap landed on his face, followed by Gu Mengmeng's female high-pitched scream that was so deafening until it could break a rock.

Lea was so baffled by the hit while Elvis was taken aback directly by Gu Mengmeng's scream. And even Sandy who was standing at a corner, watching the fun, was dumbfounded and did not know what happened.

Bode, who reacted the slowest, leaped out of the water in quick steps and blocked Sandy behind him. He looked around defensively and thought that an enemy had invaded.

Gu Mengmeng screamed till the last gasp of air in her chest was emptied and she then stopped with a red face. She crossed both her palms in front of her chest and grabbed onto her own shoulders, glaring at Lea relentlessly, looking as if she wanted to cry although she was not crying. She resembled a little wife who was glaring at a pervert after being teased.

Lea pointed at his nose in confusion and tried to sound her out, "What did I do wrong?"

F?!

Gu Mengmeng looked at the crowd who were all taken at a loss except for her and felt too deep for tears.

Damn it, if it was in the present world, Lea's action would definitely be classified as sexual harassment. But in this era... what the hell even was this era? She just hugged Collin and Sandy wanted her to take him in as her partner but why was nobody doing her justice when her chest was attacked?

She clenched her teeth and Gu Mengmeng replied fiercely, "Nothing!"

How the hell was she going to explain that the body of females could not be randomly touched? Telling these orcs, who did not even know what was 'Daddy', that molestation should not be overlooked would definitely be futile.

Gu Mengmeng was extremely sullen but she could not speak her mind and just had to hold all the anger until her face puffed up like a bun. Staggering to the mountain of fish, she paused her steps and turned behind to Sandy, calling her, “Sandy, come and help.”

“Oh... ok, I’m here.” All along, Sandy could not catch up to Gu Mengmeng’s pace and she did not know why she was happy or angry all of a sudden. But she knew that Gu Mengmeng had her own principles, and she believed that Gu Mengmeng would never be wrong.

As Sandy was replying Gu Mengmeng while walking towards her, she was stopped by Lea in less than two steps.

An evil visual, who was holy and seductive smiled while fixing his gaze on Gu Mengmeng with his long, slender and wandering flirtatious eyes all along. He widened his red lips slightly and said in a light tone, “I’ll go, you stay here and accompany Bode and the rest.”

Chapter 99 - Self-Harming Is the Most Foolish Act

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“You have secrets in your heart?” Lea stared at Gu Mengmeng’s face that were getting increasingly red from him approaching, with a slight bit of warmth hidden in his smile. If one did not look closely, it would have felt the same as other times, but the warm aura around him was not a lie.

“No... nope.” Gu Mengmeng denied flatly.

Lea did not insist, but put her small hands against his left chest, where his heart was at, and lightly pulled her waist towards himself. Gu Mengmeng was then pressing against his chest.

“I’ll let you touch me back, so don’t get angry, alright?”

As though getting electrocuted, Gu Mengmeng immediately wanted to take back her hands, but Lea did not allow her to. He covered her hands with his and pressed them against his heart. With a tilted head and gentleness in his eyes, he asked, “There is a secret in my heart, if I dissect it out for you, will you stop being angry at me?”

“Huh?” Gu Mengmeng’s thick eyelashes fluttered and looked at Lea, confused.

“We have promised.” Lea smiled, before revealing his sharp claws right in front of Gu Mengmeng and cut against the edge of Gu Mengmeng’s hands into his flesh, inch by inch.

“What are you doing!” The scarlet red blood trickled down from Lea’s fingertips. Gu Mengmeng was stunned for a second, but immediately broke free of Lea’s grip on her hands forcefully, before holding his wrist that were turned into sharp claws to stop him from hurting himself. Gu Mengmeng felt an immense anger, she glared at him with eyes wide open and said, “Self-harming is the most foolish act!”

“But... it is also the most effective.” Lea withdrew his nails and tightened his arms, Gu Mengmeng who was holding on to his wrists then flew into his arms. Lea hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly, using the force like he was grinding her into his body, as though this was the only way to prove her existence.

“You feel heartache, am I right?” Lea asked with a bit of gratefulness and palpitation with the smile in his eyes.

The injury just now was merely a scratch to his fur, which would heal even before the sun sets, but such a small wound could result in such a big reaction from her...

Although self-harming was foolish, it was.... worthy.

“Yes, I felt heartache!” Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and pressed onto Lea’s wound heartlessly. Half of her fingertip disappeared into the flesh and the warmth of blood from it burned Gu Mengmeng’s heart. “Aren’t you just bullying me because I will feel heartache for you? I am telling you, anyone that makes me sad will not have a happy ending!”

“Urgh...” Lea curved his back and his forehead was filled with tiny droplets of sweat, but his eyes still looked at Gu Mengmeng affectionately and did not leave her face for a single moment.

Seeing that Lea was in huge pain, she quickly withdrew the hand that were pretending to be fierce, but her wrist was firmly grabbed by Lea, not letting her escape just like that.

“You haven’t seen the secret yet.” Lea held Gu Mengmeng’s hand and directed her towards his wound, smiling seductively as though the person bleeding was not himself. He said alluringly, “Open my heart and I will show you.... who it belongs to.”

“No no, I don’t want to!” Gu Mengmeng pulled back her hand with all her strength, but how could she beat Lea in terms of strength? Seeing that her finger tip was almost going to touch Lea’s wound, Gu Mengmeng’s eyes were filled with pleas. She said in a sobbing tone, “Please, don’t do this.”

Chapter 100 - The Process Being Wrong?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“You can’t bear to do it? Uh?” Lea totally disregarded his wound, as though it was something unworthy of mentioning. He kept his faint smile throughout and approached Gu Mengmeng with his handsome face. He said with a calm voice, “Then please forgive me, stop being angry, alright?”

Seeing that Lea had stopped holding on to her, she pouted and said, “Then you have to promise me not to self-harm in the future.”

“As you wish.” Lea let go of his grip on Gu Mengmeng’s wrist and turned to hold her slim waist, slightly lifting it and hugged her into his arms. He rubbed himself against her small face, before continuing to ask, “Tell me, what did I do wrong just now? I wouldn’t want to see you angry again, it’s... painful here.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea pointing to his bleeding wound and let out an aggrieved whine. The aggrieved feeling of “being molested” had disappeared from Lea’s interruptions. Now that she heard him saying his heart felt painful, Gu Mengmeng felt the rare sweetness in her heart, together with a little warmth.

What? Could this be the Stockholm syndrome?

“In my hug and still distracted by something else? Who are you thinking about? Uh?” Lea squinted his slender eyes. Ambiguity and jealousy combined perfectly in his both fairy and devil resembling face, clashing into an extreme allurement.

“No no, I wasn’t thinking of anyone...” Gu Mengmeng did not know why, but even though Elvis’s original form was fiercer than Lea’s, she seemed to be more scared of Lea.

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng suspiciously, his eyebrows raised and signaled Gu Mengmeng to answer his previous question.

Gu Mengmeng looked at elsewhere guiltily, her face was burning and even her throat was dried. She could only squeeze out a really thin voice and said, “You can’t touch a girl’s body as you like...”

Lea smiled wickedly, his index finger hooked Gu Mengmeng’s chin lightly and held her small face towards him. Staring at her as though looking at a delicious food, he licked his lips ambiguously and asked haughtily, “Then what do I do if I want to hug you.”

“Hugging is not considered...” Gu Mengmeng answered as she blushed.

As though he had discovered something new, he looked at Gu Mengmeng and smiled wickedly. Gu Mengmeng was stunned by the smile, before blushing even further and she sputtered, “I am not asking for hugs!”

“Oh? Oh.” Lea widened his smile, he like Gu Mengmeng’s embarrassed look, it was so adorable.

“What do you mean by ‘oh’?! I was really not asking for hugs!” Gu Mengmeng could not explain herself even with a hundred mouths. She pushed Lea as she wanted to get out from his arm, but this evil fox pressed his chest wound against her. The moment she used a little bit of force, he would definitely bleed. Gu Mengmeng ground her teeth, thinking to herself, you were so sure that I could not bear to do it, right? You got it, you were right! I really could not do the damn thing.

Lea did not answer Gu Mengmeng’s explosive questioning, but lifted her chin with his index finger and asked, “Where else will you be angry when touched, except for the heart? Tell me, alright?”

At the side, Elvis ears shot up instinctively when Lea asked the question.

Gu Mengmeng said fumingly, “Anywhere covered by clothes cannot be touched.”

Lea considered for a while, before suggesting seriously, “Then the next time, I will help you undress first.”

Gu Mengmeng was dying from anger, her heart roar maniacally:

Excuse me!

Tell me you are not being serious!

The key point was never the process being wrong?!

Chapter 101 - Amorous Mood, so Pleasant!

Gu Mengmeng was dissing like crazy in her mind, while there was already a commotion where a group of males came running.

Gu Mengmeng saw the plethora of preys on the males' hands and felt her blood froze.

Damn, at first glance, it was all strictly protected animals like tigers, lions, bears, and there were some with unknown names that Gu Mengmeng had never seen before, but with just one look she knew they were precious. On the other hand, the males threw the animals around like cabbage, together with the fishes Lea, Elvis and Bode had caught, forming a pile.

What the heck...

Gu Mengmeng felt like choking and she asked the sky silently: Is the Beast Deity not going to care about reckless waste of God's gift?

Lea followed Gu Mengmeng's sight and glanced over, his lips raised into a beautiful curvature. These males were really willing to make huge sacrifices. It was almost into winter and these long hidden fat preys were most likely eyed by them long ago, but they had saved for the time when they could not endure the cold winter, right?

In order to please Gu Mengmeng, they had taken out the food stored for the winter, they were indeed blinded by love.

"You like it?" Seeing Gu Mengmeng staring straight at them, he could not help but ask. "Elvis and I had some food stored too, I will go and hunt it if you like?"

“Hunt even more?” Gu Mengmeng stared at Lea, spooked, but she softened her tone when she looked into the pair of beautiful eyes. She forced out a smile and weaken her tone, “Let’s handle all these first, it will be such a waste if we can’t finish it.”

Although that’s what she had said, Gu Mengmeng was determined to only eat the fish.

Damn the tigers and such, she could not bear to eat them!

“Okay, I will listen to you.” Lea continued hugging Gu Mengmeng, showing no signs of letting her down, just like how he had brought her back to the tribe that night after saving her from Gunter.

Looking at the pile of mountain-high food, Gu Mengmeng jumped down from Lea’s arms, her arms behind her back, shook her head and looked at the muscular, fit and handsome males, as though she was filming “Descendants of the Sun 2”. Yes, she was the devil female instructor, even though there was no Song Joong-ki here, there were Elvis and Lea, together with a whole bunch of males, available for teasing as you like. Snap snap, the sudden amorous mood could not even be described by a single word ‘pleasant’?!

“Gu Mengmeng, the tiger that I had hunted is the tiger king in this area, the best among the beasts, it is strong and eat the healthiest animals everyday,” Said some male that Gu Mengmeng could not even remember the name and not as handsome compared to Elvis and Lea.

Gu Mengmeng gave him a thumbs-up and said, “Well done well done, you had the might of Wu Song.”

The male that caught the tiger muttered to himself: Wu Song? Is that a new adjective? Does it have the same meaning as the ‘tough man’ that was used to praise Barete? They should be around the same... But who cares about the meaning, it was Gu Mengmeng whom had just praised him!

“A tiger is nothing. Gu Mengmeng, look at mine.” Another male was unconvinced and bumped that ‘Wu Song’ whom was smiling sheepishly from the compliment out of the way and presented a pure white big fox in front of Gu Mengmeng. He said proudly, “This snow fox is the female among the wild foxes, it is a delicate creature and usually hides in the cave, waiting to be taken care of by the male foxes. This meat definitely tastes fresh and tender, even the taste of the blood is much sweeter than an ordinary tiger king and alike.

Chapter 102 - When Nothing Works, Boot-Lick Will Surefire

Gu Mengmeng looked at the one that had hunted the tiger with his face red, almost ready to fight, she quickly stepped out to calm them down, “Warrior! You had the courage to hunt snow foxes, aren’t you scared Lea will beat you up?”

The one that had hunted the snow fox looked at Gu Mengmeng blankly, before looking at Lea and asking sincerely, “Why would Lea beat me up?”

Lea did not answer the hunter, but grabbed Gu Mengmeng’s waist and lightly knocked on her head. Looking at her hugging her head in pain, he was amused but did not want to forgive her so easily, so he combined the most gentle smile and a slightly cold tone and asked, “You are treating me like a wild fox?”

Gu Mengmeng tucked her neck in and waved her hands, “No no, daddy Lea you are so strong and powerful, how could you be compared to a mere wild fox?”

“Oh?” Lea was obviously enjoying Gu Mengmeng’s flattering, even though he knew that there was little truth in it. But so what if it was a lie? He liked everything she said.

“Really really.” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and emphasized sincerely.

“Good.” Lea kissed on Gu Mengmeng’s earlobe and left a mild bite, before releasing her in satisfaction and letting her scan through everyone’s prey like a supervisor.

Gu Mengmeng blushed, she still could not get used to daddy Lea’s ambiguous acts no matter how many times he had done it... Everyone was watching.

“Coughs coughs,” Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and said, “Everyone’s prey was great, but I won’t look through all due to time constraints. In order to make everyone enjoy delicious food, I need a team of people to accomplish a very important task, who’s willing to go with me?”

“Me...” The word echoed all over, almost shocking Gu Mengmeng.

“Stop stop stop, I don’t need that many people, around three to five is enough. Everyone share the workload to ensure efficiency.” Gu Mengmeng thought to herself: It is so pressurizing for the people to be too enthusiastic.

Elvis went up and hugged Gu Mengmeng, before scanning through the boiling males with a cold face, his natural beast pressure successfully controlled the situation.

“It is enough for Lea and me to follow you along.” There was an absolute confidence in Elvis’s calm voice.

But that was exactly what Gu Mengmeng did not wish to happen, because if they did follow along, ha, she could drop the idea of getting things done.

So Gu Mengmeng said fawningly, “No, daddy Lea and you are the only two in the tribe that can start a fire except me. These much of food need quite a few fire pits. If I brought you two along, who can start a fire? Who dare to start the fire? No no, you two have to stay here to start fires.”

Hearing what Gu Mengmeng had said, Elvis and Lea felt a sense of pride unable to describe with words.

She said, they were irreplaceable.

Gu Mengmeng thought: The ancestors did not lie to me, when nothing works, boot-lick will surefire.

So Gu Mengmeng decided to strike while the iron is hot and whispered into Elvis’s ears, “Besides, look at them going mad every moment, if it was not for daddy Lea and you controlling the situation, the tribe will be gone by the time I am back.”

Elvis did not catch what Gu Mengmeng had said clearly, because her warm breaths had scattered onto his ears and the tingling sensation spread to his entire body. His heart was pounding deafeningly, the sound of ‘lub dub’ almost broke his eardrums.

Chapter 103 - Bode's Provocation

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Leader, just let me go, please?” Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis’s arms from left to right, acting coquettishly without shame. “Oh...” Elvis nodded stiffly and answered. “Yay, Leader you are the best~” Gu Mengmeng said while giving a kiss on Elvis’s face, before dashing out. But she had barely made three steps when Lea grabbed her arm and pulled her into his arms. “What about me?” Lea moved his handsome face closer. Gu Mengmeng blushed and her heart raced. She glanced around nervously, before self-deceivingly choosing a timing when nobody was looking to give a kiss on Lea’s face too. Then, she turned and dashed out as though she was running for her life.

While running, she shouted, “Carl, Bode and the person that had caught the snow fox just now, you three follow me.”

Carl obviously had no objections. When he heard that Gu Mengmeng was the first to call his name, he dashed to the spot behind Gu Mengmeng which was the closest to her without hesitation, as though he was always ready to respond to Gu Mengmeng’s call.

On the other hand, Bode was slightly unwilling, but when Sandy pushed him forcefully, which was a clear sign to ask him to listen to Gu Mengmeng’s arrangements, he held back his awkwardness and followed her.

The slowest among them was Oakley who had caught the snow fox, he was taken aback by the sudden blessing.

“Oakley, quick.” Collin voluntarily took up the role of the co-leader of the special operations team. After all, he was the closest to Gu Mengmeng here, his relationship with her consisted of helping her to wash the rabbit.

“Oh... oh oh, coming, coming!” Oakley did not dare to make the rest wait, afraid that others would steal the opportunity of being close to little female.

Hence he hurriedly rushed to them.

Thank goodness for Gu Mengmeng's slow speed... Well, it was too easy to catch up. So Oakley carefully considered whether he should pretend that he could not catch up with them? But will that make Gu Mengmeng think that he was too useless?

Just as he was hesitating, Bode said impatiently, "Let Collin carry you, it's faster that way."

Gu Mengmeng twitched her lips and answered, "I have my own legs!"

Bode glanced at Gu Mengmeng's pair of skinny legs and let out a sneer. "Ha, I could tell."

Gu Mengmeng was just about to blow up when she saw Bode dashing out a dozen meters and saying with his head held high in the distant, "Hey, the little female with legs, run if you can."

"You!" Gu Mengmeng stomped her feet and said, "You are so good at running fast, huh? Wait until I go back and tell Sandy you bullied me!"

"You..." Bode's face turned black and kept quiet, controlling his temper.

The most important reason why he had purposely provoked Gu Mengmeng was that Sandy's attention was all on this little female ever since they had met. 'Gu Mengmeng' here and 'Gu Mengmeng' there, he would have treated Gu Mengmeng as a weaker male rival in love if not for the fact that Gu Mengmeng had already gone into estrus.

It was embarrassing to compete with a female, but what could he do? He was also desperate, his little female could not see anyone other than Gu Mengmeng now and all the males in the family were facing the risk of falling out of favor.

"What 'You'?! " Gu Mengmeng would never lose out in terms of attitude to Bode. If she could not win the first fight, Bode would look down on her, then what if one day Sandy was bullied by Bode, how then could she back Sandy up? Even though the possibility of this happening was not high, she would rather be wrong than miss out on any chances.

Chapter 104 - Sandy Has Me, Why Does She Need You to Accompany Her?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng let out a snort at Bode, before saying with her head held high, “If not for Sandy, do you think I would have brought you along?”

Gu Mengmeng would not admit the fact that she had brought him along because the only ones in the tribe that she could remember the name and present at the scene only left with Collin and Bode, other than Elvis and Lea.

Even though Bode was indignant, he had no other choices. He could start a fight with Gu Mengmeng if she was a male, until one of them loses, but Gu Mengmeng was a female and he was not Quentin, he could not bear to hurt females.

Besides, if Gu Mengmeng was hurt by him, Sandy would not forgive him, let alone what Elvis and Lea would do to him. Thinking about how Sandy worshiped Gu Mengmeng, Bode shook his head sullenly and retreated a step back. He tilted his head to one side and asked impatiently, “So what did you want the three of us to do? Tell us quickly so I can go back and accompany Sandy after finishing.”

Gu Mengmeng’s lips curved and let out a naughty smile, “Sandy has me, why does she need you to accompany her?”

Well, that had stroked the right cord, Bode could not refute the taunt at all. He let out a heavy breath and felt even more sullen.

Seeing that Bode had admitted defeat, Gu Mengmeng was slightly proud of herself. You want to argue with me? Ha, I can quarrel to your death!

Gu Mengmeng turned around and saw Collin and the other guy standing at the side, she stroked her chin and asked, “Did I just hear Collin calling you Oakley?”

“Yes, my name is Oakley, belonging to the species of lynx, Oakley smiled faintly. If one looks closely, he would have resembled Lea slightly, but not as fairy and devilish as Lea. He could only be considered an average handsome person.

Gu Mengmeng nodded, while thinking and repeating after him, “The species of lynx... It was no wonder you could hunt the precious female snow fox.”

Oakley grinned from ear to ear and had an upsurge of emotions: Did you know? Gu Mengmeng had just complimented me!

Oakley did not pay much attention to what Oakley was thinking, she tilted her head and asked Collin, “Oh, I still do not know what species you are.”

Collin smiled innocently and answered, “I am from the species of a bear, same as Sandy.”

“Oh, it was no wonder you knew bees so well.” Gu Mengmeng thought for a while, before looking at the Bode whom was drawing circles and cursing some unknown person. She asked, “Hey, Sandy said you know where is the cave of the bees... Oh, no, I meant the yellow needle insects, right?”

“You had asked the three of us out to gather the yellow sauce?” Bode shook his head like he had encountered a formidable enemy. He refused, “No, no. Sandy had purposely told us not to bring you to the cave of the yellow needle insects. If you need the yellow sauce, you can ask Elvis or Lea to help you find. They are the strongest warriors of Saint Nazaire and they can definitely help you gather a large amount.”

“Tsk, I was only asking if you know the place, where did all these rubbish come from?” Gu Mengmeng glared at Bode and stepped back on to a large rock, resembling a female bandit robbing people on the road. Of course, if she had a stronger build, or if Bode was skinnier, the scene would not have looked so funny.

Bode had wanted to deny flatly and say that he had no idea, but if he did that, it was equivalent to saying Sandy had lied. Sandy cared about Gu Mengmeng so much, if Gu Mengmeng distanced herself from Sandy because she thought that Sandy was a female that likes to lie, Sandy would definitely be heartbroken. Clenching his teeth, Bode finally nodded and said, “I know.”

Chapter 105 - Hehehe

Gu Mengmeng stared at Bode for a while with her thick, fluttering eyelashes, before realizing that he had no intention of continuing his sentence. She frowned and slapped Collin's stomach, making a crisp sound when her smooth little hand got in contact with Collin's well-defined abdominal muscles. Gu Mengmeng had wanted to intimidate Bode aggressively to make him spill the whereabouts of the bees, but she was numbed from fingers to forearm as she had underestimated the hardness of Collin's muscles.

"Ouch..." Gu Mengmeng let out a cry, feeling as though she had lost her hand.

"Oh my, Gu Mengmeng, what happened to your hand? Was it painful? Sorry, sorry, it was all my fault..." Collin was filled with heartache, he held Gu Mengmeng's hand carefully, but did not know what to do with it. "How about we ask Oakley to bring you back to Saint Nazaire and let Lea check your hand? You can leave the yellow sauce to Bode and me, we will definitely bring it back to you, alright?"

Why would Gu Mengmeng say yes to returning back? So she swung her numbed hands and said, "No it's alright, I am fine."

"But... Collin was worried for her, he wished that his eyes could turn into X-rays and inspect every cell in Gu Mengmeng's hand beneath the skin.

"No 'but', listen to me." Gu Mengmeng stood akimbo. So what if she had lost the aggressiveness? She need to pose even if she had screwed up!

"Gu..." Collin had wanted to say something, but Gu Mengmeng's finger was pressing against his lips. With the charming little face inches away from him, Collin swallowed his saliva instinctively, but did not say further.

After Collin was settled, Gu Mengmeng then turned around and continue to threaten Bode, “If you know the rules, you should readily tell me where’s the cave of the yellow needle insects. If not, hehehe...”

Bode looked at Gu Mengmeng, whom was as weak as a cub, with the corner of his eye. Her forced wicked smile was not threatening at all on her sweet face, instead, it had made people feel that she was adorable. Although she could not be compared to his Sandy, she was well-deserving of the title of the most beautiful in Saint Nazaire. But this little creature... wanted to intimidate him? Too naive!

“Then what? Are you going to complain to Sandy again? Go ahead, Sandy will definitely not blame me on this. In fact, Sandy would be angry at me for actually bringing you to the cave of the yellow needle insects.” Bode crossed his arms and leaned on a tree at the side, clearly not taking Gu Mengmeng’s warning to heart.

Seeing that he was a tough one, Gu Mengmeng had no choice but to change her strategy. She shook her head in despair and sighed. “Alright, if you are so persistent, I will not pester you further. But Sandy was looking forward to my roasted meat with yellow sauce, now we have everything prepared except for the yellow sauce... Sigh, how disappointed will that foodie be if she could not eat the roasted meat with yellow sauce? Just thinking of her innocent eyes filling with tears, it would make anyone sad. But Bode, you can relax, even if you can’t satisfy Sandy’s little wish, I will not diss you in front of Sandy, the males in the tribe will also not make fun of you. Moreover, Sandy will not think that you do not love her because of you unwilling to do such a small thing for her.”

“You...” Bode finally understood that this was the undisguised threat to him! Damn, this was what ‘hehehe’ had meant?!

“It’s alright, you can relax.” Gu Mengmeng interrupted Bode and continued on her own, “No matter how disappointed and sad Sandy will be, she will at most ignore you for a dozen days. Even if some other males grabbed the opportunity to win her heart and become her most trusted partner, it will just be a lowering of the family status for you and being made fun of the most useless first partner without backbone. It's all minor matters, am I right?"

Chapter 106 - He Could Not Tolerate the Fact!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“You!” Bode was so angry he wanted to bite someone! But Gu Mengmeng was a female! Why? Why isn’t this infuriating Gu Mengmeng a male?

“And you two!” Gu Mengmeng turned to look at Collin and Oakley, “Nobody should let out the fact that Bode was unwilling to help Sandy look for the yellow sauce. Sandy is so obsequious and she will shed tears at the slightest things all because she had always been bullied by Nina. If the tribe knows about this, god knows how many criticisms Sandy will receive. By then, the damn Nina will definitely make fun of Sandy being a half-orc, she will say things like ‘Bode did not want to do such a small thing for Sandy because she is a half-orc’. I don’t want Sandy to be hearing these mean mocking, so zip your mouths and nobody shall leak a single word!”

Collin and Oakley looked at each other, thinking to themselves: the words had sounded like Gu Mengmeng was protecting Sandy, but why did it also feel weird at some parts?

“I will bring you there!” Bode finally relented. He would not be bothered if he was the one being mocked or ostracized, he was even prepared if Sandy was to have new partners in the future, but he could not tolerate the fact that Sandy would be bullied by Nina just because of this incident!

“Really?” Gu Mengmeng turned to look at Bode with suspicion written all over her face.

“Yes.” Bode did not know why, but he had always felt that he has always lost out ever since he had met Gu Mengmeng. They had fought Nina’s partners at times when Nina bullied Sandy, while they were beaten by Quentin, he could at least fight for Sandy. But damn, the moment he encountered Gu Mengmeng, just her blabbering mouth could make him powerless.

Aggrieved, he felt so aggrieved.

Bode thought firmly, he has to ask Sandy to stay away from Gu Mengmeng after he returned to the tribe, if not one day she will definitely be led astray by Gu Mengmeng.

But, that was the future. What matters now is that he has to bring Gu Mengmeng to find the yellow sauce, while ensuring that she would not be killed by the yellow needle insects. If not, he could not go back and explain to Sandy.

Thinking about that, Bode cleared his throat and said, "I can bring you there, but you must stay with Oakley from a distance. If anything goes wrong, Oakley will bring you and run away."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Oakley, suddenly felt like the backs she had seen since she came to the Beast World were all so powerful. Back in the past who would have thought that one day she was going to be riding on a black wolf and snow fox? Later, she might even be riding on a lynx.

"Okay, that's settled." Gu Mengmeng answered without hesitation, making Bode suspicious that she was not even planning on following the conditions.

It was later proven that Bode's instinct was indeed right.

When the four had finally arrived near the hive, Gu Mengmeng pushed Bode aside and walked in front while shaking her head. When she was below the beehive, she looked up. Well well, not bad, 100% natural honey, the hive was big and firm, she could vaguely see the golden bees in the hive, while the worker bees were busy going in and out, such a prosperous scene.

"Gu Mengmeng, what are you doing?!" Bode was beyond shock. Even if it was Elvis and Lea, they would not dare to be near the yellow needle insects so rashly. This insolent little female just strutted towards it like that? Isn't this asking for trouble?!

Chapter 107 - Why Isn't Gu Mengmeng a Male?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng shrugged at Bode and said softly, "As long as you don't get startled so easily, the yellow needle insects will not attack suddenly. Calm down, just remain calm."

Bode's vein bulged, screaming for the hundredth time in his heart, "Why isn't Gu Mengmeng a male?!"

Gu Mengmeng did not like to waste time, so she returned before Bode exploded. She dusted herself before dividing the roles, "Collin, you are strong, help me look for some dry branches and moist leaves."

"Alright." Collin had no objections to Gu Mengmeng's arrangements, he nodded and answered before starting to gather the things Gu Mengmeng needed at one side.

"Oakley, could you help me start a fire when Collin is done preparing the things." Gu Mengmeng was more polite towards Oakley as she was not that familiar with him. But Gu Mengmeng's 'politeness' had disappointed Oakley... It must be because he had not worked hard enough the night Gu Mengmeng matured into adulthood and he did not perform as well as Collin, hence Gu Mengmeng was treating him like a stranger.

Oakley decided, he must put up a better work in the following days, hence he nodded firmly and promised to finish the task.

Gu Mengmeng turned around and looked at Bode, her fair and thin fingers drew some circles in front of Bode's eyes. She dragged her voice and said, "You..."

“Yes?” Bode was still impatient. He completely did not understand what this female was trying to do, she said she wanted to find the yellow sauce, and she threw a tantrum when he was unwilling to bring her along, now that she was here, she wanted to light a fire...

“It’s okay, your job was already done, there’s nothing for you to do next.” Gu Mengmeng looking detested, she turned her head away and stopped bothering Bode.

Since dried branches and moist leaves were available on the spot and easy to gather, Collin was fast. During the time that Gu Mengmeng and Bode was expressing dislike at each other, he had already carried a large pile of dried branches and a dozen moist leaves back to the place.

“Gu Mengmeng, are these enough?” Collin said as he took out two separate branches under his arm and continued, “Here are two dried ones, I saw Elvis and Lea lighting a fire with dried branches so I took two too, are we going to use it?”

“Yes yes yes!” Gu Mengmeng nodded intensely and answered, “Collin, I couldn’t tell! You looked so humble yet you pay so much attention to minor details!”

A little embarrassed, Collin scratched his head, before sitting down cross-legged and ready to follow the method to bore wood and start a fire. But within just a few turns, the dried branch snapped into two.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and took over the branch from Collin. “Leave this to Oakley, you have other important things to do later.”

Collin was also embarrassed, he did not know that boring wood to start a fire was a delicate work, but he was much contented seeing that Gu Mengmeng was not disappointed in him because of this. Hence, he simply left the branches to Oakley and stood at the side to watch with Gu Mengmeng.

Although Oakley was not as smart as Lea, he had mastered the trick not too long after. A wisp of smoke rose and Gu Mengmeng immediately threw in the dead leaves, before pointing to the leaves resembling elephant ears at the side and she said, “Collin, pull two pieces out and start fanning.”

Collin reached out to tear two pieces out and started fanning.

Gu Mengmeng’s face turned black, she looked back and asked, “Why are you fanning me, I am asking you to fan the fire!”

Chapter 108 - Brain Is a Wonderful Thing

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

With everyone's help, Gu Mengmeng's fire-lighting plan was successfully executed in no time. Seeing that the fire was blazing, Gu Mengmeng wanted to compliment Collin and Oakley, but she noticed that the two had a hideous look on their faces as they were clenching too hard on their jaws.

Well, being scared of fire is in every animal's nature. Gu Mengmeng shrugged in despair.

Not expecting the two that was scared of fire to help out anymore, Gu Mengmeng had to add the moist leaves one by one into the fire pit by herself.

Soon, there were thick smoke rose up, as though condensed ink was added into a tank of clear water, forming an enchanting and beautiful ink stain.

Gu Mengmeng had chosen the windward side to start the fire, when the wind blew from the back, the thick smoke was naturally swept towards the beehive.

At first, a few worker bees came out to check the situation, followed by a swarm of bees pouring out of the hive like a rapid stream of water, escaping to the opposite direction as to where the smoke was coming from, totally ignorant to the culprit Gu Mengmeng whom was just standing near them.

When the bees had almost all flown out, the remaining few had become unconscious from the thick fumes and Gu Mengmeng used the wet leaves to put out the fire.

The fume looked scary, but the fire was not massive.

After finishing the cleanup, Gu Mengmeng dusted her hands that turned black from the ashes and looked at the three shocked males with her head held high, proudly accepting the admiration and shock in their looks.

“Alright, you all surely know what to do next?” A pair of lively big eyes was engraved in her dirty little face, signaling the trio to ‘start working’, but the trio just looked at her with a blank face, as though they totally did not comprehend the whole situation from the start.

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed, well, having a brain is a wonderful thing, but sadly not a single one of them had one.

If she had not been afraid of Lea and Elvis stopping her, she should really have brought the two of them along.

Despaired, the trio were the only ones capable, while Bode could not even be counted on.

Gu Mengmeng sighed, before cheering herself up and patting Collin’s shoulder. “Collin, hug me.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned and detested him, “You are a two-meter tall, strong man, why are you pretending to be shy?! It does not suit your character!”

“Uh?” Collin did not know how to answer to Gu Mengmeng’s dissing and he looked down in as though he was bullied, thinking to himself, “I must be too stupid to make Gu Mengmeng angry again...”

“No blushing!” Gu Mengmeng was going mad, she could not stand a strong man with the build of Arnold Schwarzenegger appearing like a little wife in front of her. Who was the one that risked his life to climb the pagoda and was blood-soaked? Eh? Can the Beast Deity quickly come and take this sissy fake away!

“Oh.” Collin nodded intensely, but he had no idea how to not make his face blushed, while the more anxious he was, the redder his face got.

How? He was so helpless...

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed and gave up on Collin’s character. She turned to Oakley and said, “Oakley, you hug me.”

Gu Mengmeng clearly saw a flock of crows flying past her.

Damn! She had only wanted someone to hold her higher to reap the hive, why did it become as though she was aroused and needed hugs from all over? Can they stop playing around!

Chapter 109 - I Got It, Let's Go!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng said with a black face, “Forget it, I should not have counted on you, I will climb up the tree myself.” Gu Mengmeng shook her head and gave up on the idea of using words to communicate with this group of males, before walking to the beehive herself. But how could Collin and Oakley let her go there herself? So they kept their romantic thoughts and hurried over.

Collin blocked in front of Gu Mengmeng and was ever ready to use himself as a shield to protect her, while Oakley followed closely behind her, ever ready to bring Gu Mengmeng away if the yellow needled insects start an attack.

Even though Bode had always felt Gu Mengmeng to be extremely annoying, she was a precious female after all. Besides, she was someone that Sandy treasured, he was prepared to sacrifice himself to protect Gu Mengmeng if there was any danger. This was the responsibility of being a male.

Gu Mengmeng let out a long sigh. The damn bees were long gone, yet these guys were edging forward in a minesweeping way as though they were the Japanese soldiers raiding into a village. Damn, when they reached the spot the bees would already be back.

“Go somewhere else if you are scared, will you stop delaying my yellow sauce gathering?” Gu Mengmeng pushed away Collin who was blocking in front of her.

Collin had an in-depth understanding towards the yellow needle insects and was well aware of their abilities, hence he was even more worried about Gu Mengmeng. He licked his lips and said, “How about you stand here and wait, I will go over and retrieve it for you, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng did not insist, she nodded and said, “Okay, you go and break off half of the hive back, half is enough, don’t take everything.”

“Ha... half?”. Collin’s eyes widened. Back in the past, the record was a palm-sized chunk when they used all their strength. That time, the two males never returned to Saint Nazaire.

“At most two-third, not any more, they will not come back and build their hive here the following year if you take everything. That’s a no-no, you understand?” Gu Mengmeng did not know about Collin’s worry and thought that he had felt it was too little.

Collin clenched his teeth. He decided that he would not let Gu Mengmeng down even if he was to be killed by the yellow needle insects. So he nodded his head with the determination of sacrificing himself and said, “Alright, I will definitely bring it back for you, wait for me here.”

Gu Mengmeng did not understand where did Collin’s solemnness come about, but she heard him explaining a few sentences to Oakley and Bode, if anything happens, he asked them to bring Gu Mengmeng out of here immediately. After that, he turned into a bear determinedly and dashed towards the beehive.

Have you ever seen a black bear almost as tall as one story bolting on all fours? Why was she feeling like the poem “Did the hero leave lonely, never he comes back truly”, Gu Mengmeng almost wanted to start singing “A Branch of Plum Blossom” behind Collin.

Collin did not hesitate, he immediately gave a blow to the beehive and dug out half of the hive, before turning to run back, while shouting, “I got it, let’s go!”

Then, someone, either Oakley or Bode, grabbed Gu Mengmeng by her collar and took to their heels along with her out of the place. Looking at the scenery moving back at the speed of light, Gu Mengmeng felt like breaking down.

Damn, the bees did not even come after us, why are you guys running?!

But the three males did not give her a chance to speak and dashed back to Saint Nazaire.

When Gu Mengmeng could finally walk on the ground, she felt as though she had sat eight times on a roller coaster, the sky was turning upside down and all she wanted to do was vomit.

Then, before Gu Mengmeng could find a tree to hold on to and vomit for a while, there was a deafening cheering behind her. She was lifted off the ground by the crowd of males before she could react to what was happening.

What the heck, roller coaster v2.0 upgraded...

Chapter 110: The Males in the Beast World Could Not Stay Calm

Gu Mengmeng could not stand the torture and she screamed from the shock, “Leader, save me!”

Before she finished her sentence, she had fallen into a pair of arms. Her face was pale from the tumble was lightly pressed against Elvis’s chest. If she listened carefully, she could hear the forceful heartbeats that was comforting her panicked thoughts, but it could not suppress her urge to vomit.

Sadly she had nothing much in her stomach, she retched but nothing came out. Gu Mengmeng fell into Elvis’s arms weakly.

Damn, she did not expect herself to end up in an exciting roller coaster ride in this Wild ancient world after escaping from Happy Valley and Disney. What’s more, she did not even have the safety belt on!

Gu Mengmeng felt like she had fallen sick and she even lacked the strength to scold anyone.

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng with heartache and helplessness. He held her little face and said, “Never did anyone bring back such a large amount of yellow sauce, while you accomplished it with just three males, Collin, Oakley and Bode. Looks like I should give up my title of the first warrior of Saint Nazaire to you.”

Gu Mengmeng accepted her fate and sighed, “This was the reason why they became mad and throw me up in the air?”

Elvis scanned across the boiling males that did not calm down even until now and nodded. “Yes, you are the pride of Saint Nazaire.”

Gu Mengmeng had a heartfelt despair, why were these people always going mad at minor issues? It was just some honey, did they have to go crazy about it? Was she imagining things? Why did she feel something was not right about the way the males were looking at her? It was.... it was like... damn are they thinking about eating her up?!

“Xiao Meng,” Elvis patted Gu Mengmeng’s back and said, “I’m so happy to be your partner, you are the greatest pride.”

“Part... ner?!” Gu Mengmeng wanted to kill herself, she had just explained clearly to Lea that she had no intention of mating, but had forgotten that Elvis was still in the misunderstanding.

Eh, I treated you as Leader, but you wanted to sleep with me?!

“Mengmeng.” She was interrupted by Lea just as she was about to explain. Lea whispered into Gu Mengmeng’s ears with a voice that could only be heard by the two of them, “Everyone in the tribe is looking, go back and say anything you want there.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at the hot-tempered male beasts, she pursed her lips and nodded.

Elvis had treated her so well, she could not let Elvis lose face by being rejected in front of the entire tribe and listening to her saying he had thought too much.

“Let’s eat first, I am almost starving to death.” Gu Mengmeng let out a radiant smile and kept the matter till they were back home at night.

However, Elvis was obviously not going to be her godmother now, then... can she still stay in his cave?

Although Elvis did not know what Gu Mengmeng and Lea was talking about, he had an ominous feeling about it. But he could not bear to ask Gu Mengmeng when he looked at her smile, he did what she wanted and only nodded.

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look for Sandy in the crowd. From the distance, she saw a spot isolated by the crowded riverside, there were a few people, but she could not see clearly from far away, although her gut feeling was telling her it might be Sandy. Hence, Gu Mengmeng sprinted towards the spot while shouting Sandy's name.

With Elvis and Lea with her, Gu Mengmeng darted across the crowd effortlessly. After reaching, she saw that there were three females, with Sandy being one of them and she was wiping her tears at the side.

Chapter 111 - Nina Lacking the Intelligence

“Nina, you again? Are you asking for trouble now?” Gu Mengmeng pulled Sandy behind her in a protective stance, she frowned and rolled up her sleeve, all ready to pounce on Nina.

Nina had suffered under Gu Mengmeng before and never will she taunt her directly again. Besides, Gu Mengmeng was different from Sandy, her males were Elvis and Lea, even if her whole family of males were to go up together, they were no match for the two of them. So Nina toned down and said innocently, “I didn’t do anything, aren’t you the one that called the entire tribe to eat by the river? Can’t I come along?”

“You can if you actually came here to eat, but why are you bullying Sandy?” Gu Mengmeng did not believe that Nina had not bully Sandy and the latter was just standing there tearing by herself.

“She has you backing her up, why would I dare to bully her? Ask her if you don’t trust me, what did I do to her?” Nina put up a hypocritical face, she pointed to Sandy with her fat chin and signaled for Gu Mengmeng to ask herself.

Gu Mengmeng turned around and held Sandy’s hands gently, “Sandy, don’t be scared, I’m here. Tell me if she did bully you, I will punch her for you.”

“She did not bully me, but was bad-mouthing about you. I could not stand it and argued with her, then she asked her males to beat up Adali badly, sob sob...” Sandy looked at Gu Mengmeng as though a grieved little wife had found her pillar of support, the more she said, the sadder she got and her tears could not stop at all.

Although Gu Mengmeng did not know who was Adali, if he had stood up for Sandy, he must be one of her partners.

Gu Mengmeng did not even have the strength to diss, Nina had already beaten your husband severely, and you were still saying she did not bully you? Then what extent of bullying were you expecting?

But Sandy was all tears and Gu Mengmeng could not bear to say it, she could only hug her lightly, patted her on the back and comforted, “Alright, it’s okay, we can ask Daddy Lea to look at Adali after this, it’s gonna be alright. As for Nina... leave it to me and stop crying, you won’t be as pretty if your eyes were swollen into peaches.”

Gu Mengmeng sent the sobbing Sandy over to Bode, whom was grinding his teeth and wanting to fight with Nina’s partners with his life. Gu Mengmeng signaled him to comfort Sandy, before turning to look at Lea. She did not say anything, but the word ‘Please’ was obviously written in her clear eyes.

Lea had wanted to stay and protect Gu Mengmeng, but he could not reject her looking at Gu Mengmeng’s expression. Elvis was here, and it was more than enough.

“I will go check out Adali and leave this here to you.” Lea said to Elvis before turning and leaving.

After everything was settled, Gu Mengmeng turned her neck as a form of warm-up. She lifted one side of her lips and smiled evilly at Nina, “I have warned you not to bully Sandy, if not I will beat you up every time I see you again. Are you really lacking the intelligence or did not treat me seriously?”

“What... what are you going to do?!” Nina had tasted the power of Gu Mengmeng’s little fists which looked light, but were extremely painful when hit on.

“What am I going to do? Keep my promise of course. Others will think that I am a person that fail to keep to my words if I did not beat you up today!”

Gu Mengmeng said as she pounced towards Nina, in a manner as though she was going to tear her up into spicy meat strips, resembling a frantic stray cat, evil and dangerous. The males at the side that could not interrupt a fight between females were breaking into cold sweats at Nina and thinking, “Why didn’t Nina learn her lesson? Why did she have to offend Gu Mengmeng... Gu Mengmeng was someone that could snatch the yellow sauce away from the yellow needle insects unharmed.

Chapter 112 - Are You Treating Me like a Fool?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“You... you can’t hit me!” Nina pulled one of her males to block in front of her, before having the chance to finish her sentence, “I’m pregnant and it must be a female. If you hit me now, Elvis won’t protect you even if you are the most beautiful in the tribe.”

Gu Mengmeng’s hand stopped in midair and she felt like ten thousand alpacas were dashing across her mind. She knew that Nina was a half-assed person, but she had never expected her to be this half-assed.

“Are you treating me like a fool?! You weren’t even pregnant when I beat you up two days ago, how did you get pregnant in the blink of an eye?!”

Gu Mengmeng remembered clearly that she had hit right on Nina’s stomach on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment. If she was pregnant, that punch would have definitely led to miscarriage. But nothing had happened to her that day, and she got pregnant just after one night? Do you think you are Miyue? Getting pregnant through dreams?

“I... I am definitely pregnant!” Nina’s face turned red, but she decided to deny all the way.

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and mocked, “There’s nothing in your stomach except for shit. If you don’t believe, the truth will be told when I punch it now.”

As she was saying, Gu Mengmeng went past Nina’s partner and caught Nina behind her partner as though Gu Mengmeng was playing the game of The Eagle Catches the Chickens. Nina dodged around in panic, while wailing, “Gu Mengmeng, why are you so evil? Not even letting the unborn female in my stomach go!”

“Quiet! Don’t run away from me if you got the guts!” Gu Mengmeng did a fake to the left, which tricked Nina to run towards the right. Gu Mengmeng darted and caught Nina right on. “Run, run if you can!” Gu Mengmeng said.

Gu Mengmeng twisted Nina’s wrists behind her back. She held Nina’s wrists with one hand and grabbed her puffy hair forcefully with the other, pulling Nina’s unbearable face in front of her. Gu Mengmeng said word by word, “If you are not that intelligent, just stay by yourself humbly, if you have the guts to bully Sandy, you need to be able to bear the consequences.”

After finishing her sentence, Gu Mengmeng kicked Nina with all her strength, before giving her another kick to her butt. As expected, Nina fell to the ground at the sound of the kick, in an extremely pathetic manner.

When Gu Mengmeng was just about to pounce onto Nina again, she was blocked by someone.

“Gu Mengmeng, if you have any discontent, you can ask Elvis or Lea to fight with me. Even if you kill all of Nina’s partner, including me, we won’t bear any grudges. Nina is one of the precious females in Saint Nazaire after all, please do not hurt her any further.”

The dried and hoarse voice, the awed yet unwavering look, the single arm which did not appear pathetic nor decadent at all, all these had an image of unyieldingness.

Gu Mengmeng looked up, and she saw the familiar face of Quentin, as expected.

Gu Mengmeng still had some worries towards Quentin, she was, after all, almost killed by him two days ago.

Gu Mengmeng was never a person to go beyond her limits blindly, she knew she had no chance of winning against Quentin. So she retreated backwards, while asking with her head held high, “What? Are you going to do it again? You didn’t kill me the last time, so you are trying again today? I am telling you, my Leader is right here and you can’t hurt me.”

Elvis took the opportunity to hug Gu Mengmeng with one arm. Although he was only taller than Quentin by half a head, the natural pressure of the king made him much greater than Quentin. It was an absolute domination of power. Elvis looked at Quentin whom was holding on to his last breath as though he was looking down at some tiny ants and said, “You do not qualify to even fight with me. Ask your entire family of males to come battle me!”

Chapter 113 - So What?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The word ‘battle’ from Elvis took the whole crowd by surprise and everyone remained speechless, as if they were holding their breath and were afraid that breathing slightly louder would bring trouble to themselves.

“Elvis... you’re killing all the males just for her?” Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was being hugged by Elvis, Nina figured out that Gu Mengmeng could not jump down and hit her again for the time being. Furthermore, Quentin had rushed forward and her nerve grew bigger. Stepping from behind Quentin, she stared at Elvis as if he was Chan Sai Mei and censured him, forcefully biting on each word,

“Back then, as I wanted to prove my fertility abilities to you, I gave birth to a nest of baby eagles that year when I became an adult. But because I wanted to bear the first nest of baby wolves for you, I forced Quentin to smash all the eggs in the nest. I don’t blame you for keeping me at a distance these few years and as long as you agree to mate with me, I ensure that once I go through estrus next spring, I’ll mate with you and give birth to your first nest of baby wolves. Give up that Gu Mengmeng. We are entering winter and she is going through estrus now? This is destined that there wouldn’t be a good ending. Even if both of you mate and she successfully become pregnant, do you think that her scrawny and fleshless little body could last her through the long winter? How is she able to give birth to healthy babies for you?”

Elvis was expressionless, and he clutched onto Nina’s neck with one hand, lifting her off the ground easily. He squinted his dangerous eyes slightly and warned her with his cold voice that could freeze into icicles, “You’re not worthy to comment on Xiao Meng.”

Quentin held onto Elvis’s wrist and despite being only left with his last gasp of air after going through three days of Deity’s Punishment, together with the overwhelming murderous intention and pressure from Elvis that caused his breathing to become awfully arduous, he still forced himself to open his mouth in difficulty with his last breath upon seeing Nina almost breathing her last, “She’s a female!”

The corners of Elvis’s mouth curved upwards in a scornful way and his pupils darted towards Quentin, staring at him with the corners of his eyes before asking, “So what?”

Quentin clamped his lips tightly. He knew and just because he knew, he chose to bring Nina over to seek shelter at Saint Nazaire that time.

The rules on this Beast World were essentially useless to Elvis.

No, to a male who has mated, there was nothing more important than his own female. He even went to kill Gu Mengmeng after one sentence from Nina and moreover, this person was Elvis!

Quentin felt his sight turn yellow and everything became blurry. It was the signs of fainting. If he could not think of something soon, Nina would most likely die before he fainted.

Quentin used the last bit of his consciousness and formed a sentence, “Gu Mengmeng... would be scared.”

Although this sentence consisted of merely five words, it indeed dispersed Elvis’s hidden murderous intentions successfully. He looked down at Gu Mengmeng who was huddled up in his arms and recalled her wailing because of the night campfire party that night she matured into adulthood and he felt his heartstrings being tugged at painfully. He swung his hand and threw Nina far away before rubbing the hand that was used to strangle Nina’s neck on his beast-skin dress. Then, he patted Gu Mengmeng’s back gently and comforted her, “Don’t be afraid, I’m here.”

Seeing how Nina was saved, Quentin finally could not support his frail body anymore and both his legs gave way before he fell straight to the ground. Even though he might not be able to open his eyes again in the future, his lips were still curving upwards.

As long as... she was fine, everything's great

Chapter 114 - Marrying An Unlucky Wife Would Definitely Invite A Lifetime Of Unnecessary Suffering

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was truly terrified. Although she dared to land a finger on Nina and tear her to pieces, she never had the intention to kill someone. Although she relied on Elvis's reputation and acted carelessly without consideration, she only wanted to frighten Nina's partners, like a fox assuming the majesty of a tiger. This was to prevent them from behaving recklessly and blindly so that she would not suffer great losses.

When it came to a human life, Gu Mengmeng was still not brave enough.

Looking at the few males protecting Nina from the front, Gu Mengmeng did not dare to provoke any of them who had the magnanimous look of the five heroic men from Lanya Mountain. The damn conclusion she made: marrying an unlucky wife would definitely invite a lifetime of unnecessary suffering.

"Elvis, don't be like that." Gu Mengmeng's arms were still wrapped around Elvis's neck and she lied on the pit of his neck, comforting him, "Although Nina and I don't get along well, the one who's on the losing end has never been me. We're all from the same tribe and will see each other all the time. There's no need to make things so crazy, alright?"

Elvis temper vanished upon hearing Gu Mengmeng's gentle and soft coaxing. Actually, there was no need for the fight to be over life and death. All he needed to do was to stand there and casually emit a little beast pressure for Nina's partners to be unable to take care of their lives. But his anger was ignited and initially he wanted to destroy them using the most brutal methods. However, Nina offended Gu Mengmeng and Bode's interception spoiled the rules. Deeper down, he could not deny that the restlessness and agitation he felt was because of Gu Mengmeng's hesitation to speak and Lea's ambiguous, "Let's talk when we're back."

Luckily, Gu Mengmeng was still in his arms and was hugging him back warmly. He could then deceive himself in believing that it was maybe him over thinking it.

Elvis reacted back to Gu Mengmeng's gaze gently and nodded his head, "I'll listen to you."

Gu Mengmeng could then relax her heart that was suspended in mid-air and she gave a bright smile, "I knew Leader is the best."

Elvis accepted Gu Mengmeng's compliment with pleasure and then placed her on the ground, allowing her to run to Sandy. From an angle that Gu Mengmeng could not see, Elvis glanced over at Nina's partners discreetly. That one glance was filled with a cold murderous intention and a deep warning. There was no words spoken, but it caused Nina's partners to shudder in panic and creep down to swear allegiance. They carried Nina up from the floor and ran far away, hiding at the edge of the crowd and did not dare to let Nina get any closer to Gu Mengmeng.

And nobody showed any interest in Quentin, who was lying unconscious on the ground.

Gu Mengmeng held onto Sandy and wiped her little face, saying, "Alright, don't cry anymore. If Nina bullies you next time, just hit her back. You're at least a member of the bear tribe too, don't tell me you're scared of her?"

"But she's a complete female and I'm just a half-orc female..."

"Tsk! I'm going to get angry if you continue being like that!" Gu Mengmeng kept a strict face, "So what if she's a complete female? So what if you're a half-orc female? You just have an additional pair of ears more than her! How pretty they are, I bet she wants them too. You don't know how much I like this pair of ears, if they're grown on my head, I'll be so tremendously beautiful."

Sandy touched her own ears. This was the first time she did not feel inferior when touching them and instead felt a slight sense of warmth.

"You... really like them?"

"Of course I like them. These are Sandy's ears and they are my favorite part of Sandy." Sandy blushed and nodded her head, "I also like Gu Mengmeng the most."

Both the females grinned from ear to ear while Elvis and Bode glanced at each other for a moment, their moods becoming heavy. If they liked each other the most, then... what about them?

Chapter 115 - Barete Did Not Survive

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng and Sandy walked towards the main firepit, holding hands while Elvis and Bode followed them from behind. Walking pass Quentin, Gu Mengmeng paused her steps and turned behind to Elvis, asking him, “Didn’t Nina’s partners bring Quentin away with them? He will die if they left him here.”

“I’ll ask someone to send him over.” Elvis did not want Gu Mengmeng to care for other males, including those who had already mated.

Luckily, Gu Mengmeng did not have any favorable impression towards Quentin. But she was kind and would not ignore him if she saw him dying in front of her face.

However...

“Huh? Quentin had already come down from the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment so where’s Barete? Why didn’t I see him?” Gu Mengmeng asked while looking around, she really did not see Barete’s shadow at all.

Collin stood behind Gu Mengmeng and answered with his head lowered and brows furrowed, “Barete did not survive. He died on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment last night. Now...”

“F!” Upon hearing that, Gu Mengmeng did not bother to think much and retracted her hand that was holding onto Sandy’s. Pushing Sandy towards Bode, she said, “All of you can eat first, I’m going to check on Barete.”

Gu Mengmeng did not have the time to contemplate when she jumped onto Elvis’s back directly and shouted, “Leader, hurry hurry hurry, Platform of the Deity's Punishment!"

Elvis frowned, his dislike towards Barete grew bigger.

But despite being unwilling, he still did not defy Gu Mengmeng and he evolved into his wolf form before rushing to the Platform of the Deity's Punishment with Gu Mengmeng at lightning speed.

Gu Mengmeng climbed onto the Platform of the Deity's Punishment on fours and checked Barete's breath with her finger. Although it was weak, but he had not stopped breathing yet.

"Good news, good news. He hasn't stopped breathing which means he still can be saved." Barete was punished because of Gu Mengmeng and if he died like that, Gu Mengmeng did not know how she was going to forgive herself.

Looking up, she saw that the bunch of males who were waiting to eat near the stream had followed them like a swarm of bees. Gu Mengmeng did not even bother feeling helpless as she spotted Collin from the crowd in one glance. Thus, she sent him on an errand, "Collin, help bring some water over."

"Ok." Collin did not ask why. His skills were on par with Barete and they were rivals but also friends these past few years. If they were lucky enough, they might still become a family in the future because of Gu Mengmeng. If Barete died like this on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment, he would be very sad. But if Gu Mengmeng could bring him back to life, let alone bringing some water over, he would be willing to even slit his throat and provide him with his blood.

The Platform of the Deity's Punishment was originally near the stream and thus, Collin used less than a minute to get some water with a folded leaf.

Gu Mengmeng carried Barete's head up and placed him on her thigh before receiving the leaf from Collin's hands, sending the water drip by drip into Barete's mouth. However, Barete was already unconscious for long and swallowing was a problem. The little water flowed out from his mouth like how it flowed in.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and took up the leaf, pouring the water into her own mouth. She then pinched open Barete's mouth and fed him all the water using her own mouth.

The water rumbled down Barete's throat and he finally swallowed his first mouth of water in three days.

After his body was nourished, he finally started to show signs of recovery. Gu Mengmeng pressed on and just when she sent the water into her mouth to get ready to feed him, her wrist was grabbed onto by Elvis. Elvis's eyes were filled with ink that could not be melted and his thin lips clamped into a straight line. He shook his head and although the movement was not big, it encompassed firmness and resolution without a doubt.

Chapter 116 - I Will Use The Rest Of My Life To Protect You

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis pulled Gu Mengmeng back into his arms and overlooked Barete from a height. He randomly grabbed a deer that had just died and was not handled yet from a male and placed the vein of the deer into Barete's mouth, letting the warm blood flow down Barete's throat to nourish his body.

Barete's eyes darted, and he forced open his dry eyes. Dimly seeing a figure, his lips curved up uncontrollably, "Gu... Mengmeng..."

"Yeah, I'm here." Gu Mengmeng wanted to escape from Elvis's embrace but Elvis's arms did not move a single inch just like iron and he did not allow her to escape even a little bit. Gu Mengmeng was helpless and could only give up on struggling. Staring at Barete with eager eyes, she said, "Why are you so foolish? Why did you really kneel for three days three nights when they asked you to? You stubborn fellow, if your life is gone, you really have nothing."

"As long as... you're safe, my life... does not matter," Whenever Barete said a word, he felt a pain in his throat like it was being slitted by a knife. But this pain made him feel an exceptional sense of happiness. He was grateful for the compassion of the Beast Deity that helped him achieve his last wishes. He would use the rest of his life to protect Gu Mengmeng. Only like this would he not have regrets when he had to return back to the arms of the Beast Deity.

"Fool." Gu Mengmeng felt her eyes watering. For someone he had only known for a few days, he actually was willing to sacrifice himself to this extent.

“Since you did not die, go home and rest.” Elvis did not like how Gu Mengmeng was looking at Barete and what he did not like more was how much she was caring for him. Thus, he gave no chance for explanation and jumped off the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment while carrying Gu Mengmeng. Walking back in large steps, seeing how Gu Mengmeng refused to give up hope and continued stretching her neck to see behind her, he whispered in her ear, “The recovery abilities of males are all very strong. Since he had woken up, he would not die. Sandy’s still waiting for you. If you don’t go back any sooner, she would definitely cry again.”

“Oh, yeah yeah yeah, Sandy’s still waiting for me.” Gu Mengmeng looked away from the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment and looked in front of her. She rubbed her stomach and said, “I’m already hungry so Sandy must be hungry too. Hurry hurry, let’s go back and eat something.”

Elvis sighed silently, was his decision wise? Why did he feel that a wolf was at the front door while a tiger was at the back door? Barete and Sandy, who should he guard her from first?

Despite thinking all about this, Elvis did not slow down his pace as Gu Mengmeng was hungry.

When they returned to the place they were supposed to roast the meat, Gu Mengmeng truly wanted to shake her head and walk away.

Damn it, do you know the image of the ground being littered with corpses and blood flowing in rivers? Casually landing eyes on the left, you would see the claws of a tiger and landing eyes on the right, you would see the head of a wolf...

F! Beast Deity, seeing how savage your people are, aren’t you going to do something?

“What’s wrong?” Elvis’s gaze had always been fixated on Gu Mengmeng and he naturally did not miss her little sorrowful expression.

Gu Mengmeng sighed helplessly, wrapping both her arms around Elvis’s neck. The ground was covered in blood and she did not want to get down.

“Gu Mengmeng, you’re back.” Sandy rushed over to welcome Gu Mengmeng and gave her a sweet smile.

Gu Mengmeng saw Bode standing behind Sandy and said bluntly, “This floor is so dirty and you dare to let Sandy run around on it?”

Bode was pretty mad over the chiding and wanted to retort back but Elvis’s coercion and Sandy’s shielding caused him to lose the nerve to talk back at her.

Chapter 117 - Gu Mengmeng Roasting Fish

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Following Gu Mengmeng's order, Bode carried Sandy up and stood behind Elvis.

Seeing this, Gu Mengmeng then nodded her head in satisfaction and pointed to the clean ground near the stream, "Leader, let's go there."

"Alright." As long as that place had Gu Mengmeng, that would be a good place.

Elvis brought Gu Mengmeng to the stream while Bode also carried Sandy over. After both females stepped onto the ground, they held hands and started another round of interaction like bosom friends. Elvis and Bode could not even get in a word and just stayed silent while sighing to themselves, waiting for these two fellows to remember about them.

Growl growl~~

A cry was heard from Sandy's stomach and at that moment, Gu Mengmeng realized that they had not eaten yet. Smiling, she said, "Leader, help me start a fire here. Bode, bring two of those fishes that Elvis and Lea caught over here."

Bode clenched his teeth but he still did not have the courage to bare his teeth at her and could only follow her instructions unwillingly in grievance.

Due to his experience in starting a fire, Elvis was now able to handle it with ease and in a short while, a small roasting fire place was ignited. Gu Mengmeng took the big fish from Bode and scraped off the scales of the fish with a thin rock she picked up from the river. She used Elvis's sharp claws to open the fish's stomach and removed its few internal organs before throwing them away. After that, she washed the fish meat in the stream and started roasting it after piercing it through the tree branch Elvis had prepared earlier using a cross fixation method.

The aroma of the fish meat became richer as time passed and Sandy, who initially despised it, also could not control herself from salivating and had already asked Gu Mengmeng when she could eat it for eight times.

Gu Mengmeng acted mysterious and said, “It’s ready soon but it still lacks a secret weapon.”

“What is it?” Sandy could not help but become nervous as her voice turned extremely low. The way both of them were talking resembled secret society gangs making deals.

However, to the males who had surpassing hearing abilities, they really did not need to do it because the males could hear them perfectly clear.

Gu Mengmeng hooked her fingers, asking Sandy to move her ear closer to her. Sandy, of course did it and Gu Mengmeng whispered to her ear, “Yellow gravy.”

“Huh?” Sandy thought that Gu Mengmeng wanted the yellow gravy to roast rabbits only, and she was still regretful that nobody hunted for rabbits today despite extracting so much yellow gravy. Yellow gravy could be roasted together with this water shuttle?!

It’s too unexpected, too surprising!

“Bode, hurry, bring the yellow gravy that Gu Mengmeng brought back over here, all of them!”

Finally, Bode was so touched that he almost cried. For the entire day, he finally received an order coming from his Sandy. After being ordered around by Gu Mengmeng for a day, he could finally be ordered by his own female. That happiness is something all of you would not understand!

Bode did not walk too far off when he came back with Collin who was carrying all the yellow gravy from today and those that the males in the tribe had contributed to soothe Gu Mengmeng previously.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled, “I can’t use that much, let’s share with everyone. All present will have a share. Try it first.”

“How can we do that? This precious yellow gravy is not even enough to give females, how can the males eat it too?” Collin looked at the yellow gravy in his hands and his heart ached. Although he used Gu Mengmeng’s method and extracted it very successfully this time round. He was unable to ensure that the next time would be this successful as well. If it was shared among the males, what would Gu Mengmeng eat?

Chapter 118 - The Deeply-Rooted Gender Discrimination

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Ha! The gender discrimination in this Beast World was really deeply rooted. Looking behind Collin, Gu Mengmeng saw a bunch of males who were all nodding their heads profusely to express their greatest approval and she did not know whether to cry or laugh. She dusted her hands and stood up, raising her head up high before saying, “Although the yellow gravy is precious, it’s not something rare. As long as all of you can help me find the nest of the yellow needle insects, I assure you that the yellow gravy in Saint Nazaire would have an endless supply. But there’s one important point, that is you can eat as much as you want, but don’t waste it.”

If it was in the past, the males would treat Gu Mengmeng’s words as a little female speaking nonsense and they just had to go along and agree with her. Then, even if they had to sacrifice their lives, they had to live up to their promise.

But now, it was the other way round. This lean and petite female felt like she was emitting such an enormous strength that nobody could resist. Her words convinced people and did not allow a single iota of suspicion to occur.

Males are allowed to eat yellow gravy too?

Such a precious thing... in endless supply?

Everyone stared at Gu Mengmeng and felt an upsurge of emotions. They had to be stronger or else how could such a tiny female bear the burden of making Saint Nazaire more prosperous? She was too delicate and should be protected and taken care of!

Gu Mengmeng clearly was not aware that her words made the males act as if they had consumed stimulants and it was those that were effective throughout the year. From today onwards, the males in Saint Nazaire put in more effort to cultivate themselves and regardless whether it was hunting or protecting their territories, they had a drive they never experienced before. They wanted to become stronger, so strong until they could protect Gu Mengmeng.

Of course, that is a story for another time, let's not talk about it for the time being.

Although Collin felt his heart ache at the yellow gravy, since it was what Gu Mengmeng ordered him to do, he would accomplish it.

But the males kept the yellow gravy carefully in the leaves, just in case when the females did not have not enough yellow gravy to eat, they would give theirs up to them.

Gu Mengmeng also did not force them anymore as this type of perception that was deeply ingrained in them was hard to remove. Besides... taking care of females was not a bad thing, why should she persist to change it?

Gu Mengmeng took the tail of a wolf that a male was planning to throw away and washed it clean with stream water before soaking it with honey and brushing it evenly on the surface of the roasted fish. Then, she slowly turned the fish over until the honey was roasted to a golden brown and the air was filled with a sweet, slightly burned smell. Gu Mengmeng then took the roasted fish down from the frame. She tore a small piece and sent it into her mouth to try the taste. Sure enough, roasted fish with honey was so much more delicious than the roasted rabbit that had no taste at all.

Gu Mengmeng was not a petty person, and she split the fish into two, giving one half to Sandy and the other half to Elvis.

Sandy was already salivating for such a long time and as expected, she burned her tongue when she bit her first bite down. She pitifully stuck out her pink tongue and gasped for air. The extremely adorable scene made Gu Mengmeng chuckle, and she took the fish and handed it to Bode, instructing him to blow it first before giving it to Sandy. Then, she folded the leaf into a conical shape, scooped it with water and gave it to Sandy for her to cool down her tongue.

Once Sandy had something to eat, she did not bother talking to Gu Mengmeng anymore and pounced into Bode's embrace, her large eyes revolving around the roasted fish in Bode's hands.

Gu Mengmeng also did not bother dissing Sandy neglecting her friend after seeing food. She returned to Elvis and sat down next to him obediently before preparing to roast another fish for herself.

But she did not even touch the second fish yet when Elvis sent a small piece of fish meat to her mouth, "I've blown on it already, it has cooled down."

Chapter 119 - Calling Male Partners Daddy?

Gu Mengmeng felt a warm sensation in her heart and she grinned while opening her mouth, swallowing the fish meat Elvis sent to her mouth into her stomach.

The temperature was just nice and the fish bones were also picked out...

Leader was actually such a caring person.

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was eating so satisfactorily, Elvis also felt his heart warm up. Fortunately, she was still willing to give him the chance to take care of her. Perhaps that sentence, "Let's talk when we're back" was just him over-thinking.

While eating the food Elvis was feeding her, Gu Mengmeng handled the second fish speedily, but she had not finished scraping all the scales off the second fish when Sandy could not wait any longer. A pair of chubby little hands were laid on Gu Mengmeng's shoulders and she stuck out her head to ask, "Gu Mengmeng, Gu Mengmeng, is it done yet? I still want to eat... I didn't know that this water shuttle could be this delicious~"

"Not yet, you have to wait a while longer. I'll give all of this to you after I finished handling this." The way Gu Mengmeng treated Sandy was truly like a parent spoiling her children without any principles.

"Can you teach Bode? Let him learn from you and after he got a hold of it, he can roast it for us." Although Sandy was salivating, her heart ached upon seeing Gu Mengmeng's little hand being soaked in the water for such a long time, it must be very cold. Furthermore, although the water shuttle did become delicious after Gu Mengmeng's roast, the smell when handling it was still very smelly.

When other females were going through estrus, weren't all their supplies being provided for like an ancestor? But Gu Mengmeng was the First Beauty of Saint Nazaire and she was actually kneeling near the stream roasting fish... moreover, it was for her.

The more Sandy thought about it, the more touched she was. She jumped onto Gu Mengmeng and gave her a full embrace with both her hands. Her furry little ears quivered, giving off the sound of fluttering wings as she said like a young and ignorant child, "Gu Mengmeng, it would be great if you're a male, then, I would definitely mate with you and would never leave you for my entire life."

Gu Mengmeng touched Sandy's nose with her wet fingers and smiled, "Yeah yeah, if I'm a male, I would definitely marry you as my Wife."

"Wife?" Sandy tilted her head, looking at Gu Mengmeng, asking, "What's that?"

"It means partner. At our side, we call our female partner 'Wife'." Gu Mengmeng answered while brushing honey on the fish.

"Your tribe is so funny, female partners are called 'Wife' while male partners are called 'Daddy'." Sandy blinked her big eyes and smiled in an exceptionally innocent way.

Gu Mengmeng helplessly peeked at Elvis who looked clearly unhappy and explained immediately, "Daddy means Father, it does not refer to male partners."

"Huh? Why is Lea your beast Father?" Sandy became more puzzled.

Gu Mengmeng choked, speechless as she looked up at the heavens...

"Come, your fish is ready, eat." Gu Mengmeng allowed no time for explanation and stuffed the roasted fish to Sandy, hoping that food could seal the little ancestor's mouth.

“No need no need, Bode said that after seeing you roast it twice, he has learned it already. Keep this fish for yourself, I'll wait for Bode to roast one for me.” As Sandy said, she pushed the fish back to Gu Mengmeng and told Elvis in the same way Gu Mengmeng instructed Bode, “Take good care of Gu Mengmeng and blow it first before giving it to her or else it would hurt when she scalds her tongue.”

Perhaps, this was the first time someone talked to Elvis like that.

But, Elvis was not angry and instead, he felt that the nuisance Sandy who loved to cry and create chaos was actually quite adorable.

On the other hand, Sandy only had the nerve because of Gu Mengmeng and after saying that to him, she felt her knees giving way and she immediately ran back to Bode to have her fish.

“If ‘Wife’ means female partner, then is the title for male partners... ‘Leader’?” Elvis's voice was as light as the swaying of the spring breeze but to Gu Mengmeng, it sounded like thunder... F! How was she going to explain?!

Chapter 120 - Only Tactics Would Win One's Heart

After seeing Gu Mengmeng's expression, Elvis knew her answer. He hardly hid his disappointment but could not bear to scold either so he pulled Gu Mengmeng into his arms and placed his chin on her head, asking, "Then, in your tribe, what do you call your male partner?"

Gu Mengmeng huddled up in Elvis's embrace like an ostrich and replied pretty guiltily, "Husband."

"Good girl." Elvis's lips curved upwards, giving off a cunning smile.

You can say that he's deceiving himself and you can also say that he's burying his head in the sand but in the end, didn't he hear the title from her with his own ears?

Gu Mengmeng blushed red, damn, Leader's cheating tactics were really as deep as the sea! She was actually tricked by Elvis again? Didn't they all say that foxes were the most sly? Why didn't Lea trick her but instead it was Elvis who came up with so many tactics and tricked her again and again until she became speechless and even a little damn excited?!

Just when Gu Mengmeng felt her little heart palpitate wildly, she heard Sandy call her name pitifully, "Gu Mengmeng..."

Gu Mengmeng stuck her head out from Elvis's arms to look at Sandy and saw her looking at herself with a wronged expression. Her stare was really lovable. Gu Mengmeng took advantage of the situation to jump out from Elvis's embrace and walked towards Sandy. Holding her hand, she asked, "What's wrong? Who made our cute Sandy upset?"

Sandy had a sullen look that looked like she wanted to cry as she gave Gu Mengmeng the fish in her hands, “Have a taste, Bode made this.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at the fish meat. The color was well-distributed and the duration of roasting was just in place. The handling method was clearly the exact same as hers and even the way the cross was fixated was according to the method she did. The aroma smelled of the scorched smell of honey and there were even several sparkling drops of honey on the surface. It was obviously coated on after the fish finished roasting.

This was supposed to be custom made according to Sandy’s likings, so why did Sandy look not too satisfied with it?

Gu Mengmeng tore a small piece of meat and sent it into her mouth to have a try. Once it entered her mouth, her brows furrowed closely together, and she cried, “Pah!”

“Look, even Gu Mengmeng finds it awful.” Sandy was furious. She used up all the yellow gravy Gu Mengmeng gave her just for this water shuttle but now...”Sob sob sob, I don’t have any more yellow gravy, am I going to go hungry today? Sob sob...”

Gu Mengmeng soothed the little foodie, not sure whether to cry or laugh as she patted her back and comforted her, “It’s alright, it’s alright. Isn’t it only yellow gravy? I still have a lot of it, if you don’t have enough, I can go search for it again. How can my cute Sandy go hungry when I’m here?”

“Really?” Sandy lifted her face up as if she had just suffered from injustice. She grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng’s waist and did not let go of her two hands from the beginning. Upon seeing Gu Mengmeng nod her head seriously, she then melted into a smile, “I know Gu Mengmeng’s the best to me, I like you the most most most most!”

Bode was baffled and could not lift up his head. He clearly followed Gu Mengmeng’s methods but why did Sandy not like the food he made? The appearance looked clearly the same...

Gu Mengmeng did not expose him and gave the fish Bode roasted to him, “Food shouldn’t be wasted, you eat it.”

Bode understood that Gu Mengmeng wanted him to have a try to see where the problem was. Thus, he did not delay any further and took the fish to have a try. Just after the meat entered his mouth, Bode’s brows furrowed together, “I clearly put a lot of yellow gravy but why is it bitter?!”

Chapter 121 - Gu Mengmeng's Beauty Feasting The Eyes

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng laughed sneakily, "I'll tell you after you finish eating the fish you roasted yourself."

The males in the Beast World were not as pampered as females and they even ate bones that were hard to chew on before. This little bitter taste meant nothing to Bode. To provide Sandy with delicious delicacies in the future, Bode sent the entire fish into his mouth without even blinking and swallowed it after chewing on it a few times. Then, he looked at Gu Mengmeng with bright, piercing eyes, as if he was scared to miss any word she said.

Gu Mengmeng shared her roasted fish with Sandy and then took out another fresh fish from the ground to let Bode slit open its stomach. She pointed at one of the internal organs and said, "Do you see this? This is called gall bladder. If you accidentally cut it open when you're gutting the fish, it would taste exactly the same as the one you just ate."

Bode stared at it so intently until both his eyes were about to sink deep into the fish's stomach. No matter how much the raw smell of the fish was choking him, he could withstand anything for Sandy!

The rest of the males glanced at the females eating the fish and then looked down at the wolves, tigers and leopards they were carrying...

After hesitating for a while, there was still no one who had the nerve to defy Elvis's pressure to ask Gu Mengmeng how to eat those foods. Recalling how Gu Mengmeng mentioned to not waste food before, the males skinned the fur off their prey and directly ate them raw like how they did in the past.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng while eating, the food was tastier despite not being handled before.

However, on the other hand, Gu Mengmeng suffered. A bunch of ferocious beasts stared at her with jealousy while chewing on the brains of tigers and the claws of wolves, making loud chomping sounds in the meantime...

Gu Mengmeng was so terrorized by the scene of them licking their lips with their bloody red tongues until she almost forced her way out.

The trembling Gu Mengmeng leaned herself into Sandy's arms and buried her head into Sandy's shoulders, begging for comfort, "I'm not going to invite everyone over for dinner anymore. The way they eat looked so terrifying."

Sandy scanned her surroundings while munching on her roasted fish, sighing rather nonchalantly, "Don't all males eat like that?"

"The males in my tribe don't eat like that..." Gu Mengmeng wanted to cry so badly.

"Gu Mengmeng, tell me more about the things in your tribe." Sandy was long curious about Gu Mengmeng's tribe so she touched her mouth that was stained with honey and looked at Gu Mengmeng with an earnest gaze, requesting her.

"Yeah, alright." Gu Mengmeng thought for a while. There were only two topics that girls found it easiest to talk about: love and shopping. She looked around and realized that there was not even a village shop in here. Thus, she gave up on shopping since there would definitely not be any common things to talk about. So, she decided on love.

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and started telling Sandy about Korean dramas. Of course, she automatically replaced the main characters in the story with male and female while the story originated from 'Descendants of the Sun'. When Gu Mengmeng held Sandy's little hand and looked into her eyes deeply and tenderly, she asked her in a deliberate sorrowful way,

“Should I confess or should I apologize for kissing you without permission?”

Sandy cupped both her hands and breathed in deeply. Shrugging her round shoulders and nodding her head profusely like a chick pecking on rice, she wanted to express something, but she realized that her vocabulary was so much more limited than what she imagined it to be.

“It’s too much, how could you carelessly kiss a female without permission? And, you even abandoned the female alone at the dating venue?! A male like him is too useless!” Sandy did not have the time to come up with a word to express her internal emotions when she realized that a bunch of males who had evolved into human form were surrounding Gu Mengmeng in a circle to listen to her story, the scene resembling a movie screening back in the old countryside days.

Chapter 122 - Gu Mengmeng Telling A Story

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched, and she gave a fake laugh. Damn it, the longest generation gap was neither from the present world to the ancient times, nor was it one not knowing that the person in front of her likes her, but instead it was gender!

Allegedly, the difference between the chromosomes of a male and a female was even bigger than that of a male and a gorilla.

In the past, Gu Mengmeng thought that all of those were bullshit, but now, she believed it.

Sandy clearly looked like she had become Yoo Sijin's fan-girl despite the powerful current of time, thus she raised her objection, "What do you know? If your tribe is in danger, do you still continue to date and not protect your tribe?"

The male who had raised his thoughts previously tucked his neck back and hurriedly explained himself, not wanting to make Sandy upset, "What I meant was, what if the female was faced with danger after the male left her at the dating venue just to protect his tribe? How can he leave a female alone outside when there was nobody around her to protect her? Especially when it's under attack on the tribe..."

Just after the male finished speaking, another male rushed to agree with him, "Yes, if Saint Nazaire was attacked, we will fight hard until our death and sacrifice our lives willingly to protect the tribe. However, the aim of protecting the tribe is to not let the females get injured. So, that's why every male with a female at home would leave at least several males to protect his female, just like how Sandy only has six males. Stronger males from the tribe would still be sent to protect her. Leaving a female alone in such a dangerous environment is something a male should never do.”

Upon hearing this, Sandy felt uncertain, and she turned her head to ask Gu Mengmeng, “Then why did Yoo Sijin leave Kang Moyeon alone? Was it to protect other females in the tribe?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and shook her head, fabricating a version that did not belong to ‘Descendants of the Sun’ on her own, “The war was too cruel, he didn’t even know whether he could make it back alive. If he brought Kang Moyeon along, won’t that be implicating her into the danger as well? Isn’t it better to make sure someone makes it back alive?”

These questions made the entire crowd silent, as if these were questions they did not ponder about before. Because the rules in the Beast World were very simple, attack means attack and defense means defense. Only one of them could win. There was only life or death and success or failure and the choice of sending a female away first did not exist.

But if they really met an opponent whose abilities were so much stronger than theirs that even Elvis and Lea could not withstand a single blow in front of their enemies, then, sending away the tribe’s females first... while they return back to fight hard so that they could gain more time for the females to escape. As long as they could run to any tribe, they could still receive proper care, that...

However, Elvis felt his heart being tugged at and he locked Gu Mengmeng in his embrace, speaking in a gentle voice that resembled dripping blood, “The reason why you didn’t want to announce your first partner is because you’re waiting for him?”

“Huh?” Gu Mengmeng’s spine froze, not catching Elvis’s pace at all. Waiting for... who?

“Your original tribe was faced with a strong enemy and to protect you, he sent you away first and let you escape alone while he returned back to block off the enemies to gain more time for you... So, that was why you were alone when I found you in the pond, right?” Elvis did not even dare to look at Gu Mengmeng's eyes. The way his heart was being torn apart made him suffer in so much pain. This had nothing to do with jealousy nor family status. His heart just ached at the thought of her original tribe experiencing such cruelty.

Chapter 123 - The Wonderful, Bubbling Joke

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Was this what you wanted to say to me earlier?” Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly, pressing her against his chest. Only like this would the pain in his chest be reduced. “It’s fine, from today onwards, I’ll protect you, take care of you and not let you receive any form of hurt even if I have to sacrifice my own life. If he comes to find you one day... I can give up the place of first partner to him.”

Gu Mengmeng did not know whether to cry or laugh. She did not know that one day, she could be shipped with Yoo Sijin. F, this was really a wonderful, bubbling joke.

“No no, Leader, you’ve misunderstood. This is another person’s story. I had already said that the female lead is called Kang Moyeon, not Gu Mengmeng.”

“Your consideration really make my heart ache. This must be the reason why you looked as if you’re preoccupied by some troubles these past few days.” Elvis’s words were not a question but a statement. In his heart, he had firmly believed that Gu Mengmeng was the female lead in the story she was telling. This was especially so when he linked it to her crying at her Coming-To-Age Ceremony. He was more certain that the reason why she cried then was because of the absence of the male named Yoo Sijin...

If her heart wished that Yoo Sijin was the one to protect her, the title of first partner would naturally not belong to Elvis.

No wonder, the reason why she was so ambiguous about her answer and was unwilling to publicly acknowledge his identity of first partner was because she left the title for that person.

Thinking more about it, Elvis's heart became filled with a sour taste.

He hated himself for not meeting her earlier. Why did he let that Yoo Sijin beat him to it...

"I swear I'm really not Kang Moyeon. Although I know Yoo Sijin, he doesn't know me at all. This is really just a story. If I'm lying, you can let the Beast Deity take me away." Gu Mengmeng shot out her words in one breath and then took a deep breath before adding, "And Leader, if you don't release me, my waist would be broken by you."

Elvis then noticed the strength he exerted on his own hand and he hurriedly released Gu Mengmeng. Frowning, he asked her, "Let me take a look, did I hurt you?"

Gu Mengmeng could finally breathe smoothly and she supported herself on Elvis's forearm while leaning forward to catch her breath before saying, "I'm fine, I'm fine, luckily you released me in time."

"I..." Elvis brows furrowed into a dead knot. He clearly knew that he had such a strong opponent but he chose to cross the line at this time. Being afraid of an enemy that had not appeared yet was really not Elvis's style. But since it was regarding Gu Mengmeng, he really could not suppress the many uncertainties in his heart.

"It's fine, I was just joking. Look, I'm doing good." Gu Mengmeng noticed Elvis's low spirits and patted his shoulder, saying, "Leader, Yoo Sijin really has got nothing to do with me. Even if I know him, he has already mated with Kang Moyeon and we're separated by the Himalayas Mountains that is a distance nobody could overcome. We would not have any interaction this life so don't worry about nothing, alright?"

However, Elvis did not stop frowning at Gu Mengmeng's words and instead, his ruthlessness lingered in the atmosphere that even such a slow-witted person like Gu Mengmeng could sense the strong murderous intent.

"So, he abandoned you because he chose Kang Moyeon and that's why you were roaming about such a dangerous forest alone?" Elvis just felt his heart shudder. If he did not find her in time, how long was she going to soak herself in that pond? What if she met ferocious beasts? What if she met stray beasts?

Thinking about how horrible it felt, Elvis clenched both his fists, “Where is he, I’m going to kill him to seek revenge for you!”

Chapter 124 - Lea's Childish Revenge

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was completely dumbfounded, and she finally realized what was happening after half a day. She started rolling on the floor and exploded into laughter, sounding like a pig.

Elvis was taken at a loss by her laughter but his anger started to vanish slowly.

Lea was rushing back after he finished treating Adali's wound and halfway back, he was stopped by Nina's partners to treat the superficial wound on Nina's neck as well as Quentin.

In one glance, Lea recognized that Nina's injury was Elvis's masterpiece. In the past, no matter how angry he was, he never injured a female before. This time, he was actually forced till he could not hold back anymore. Nina must have provoked Gu Mengmeng. Thinking of this, Lea secretly added yellow root into Nina's medicine and seeing how Nina was howling in agony by the stinging sensation, Lea smiled while maintaining a holy expression, thinking to himself, "Serves you right for provoking my Mengmeng."

But after he finished doing it, Lea was taken aback.

He actually... intervened into the conflicts between females? And in such a childish way?

Ha, Gu Mengmeng's influence was really not something to be underestimated upon.

Thinking about it, Lea really wanted to return back to Gu Mengmeng's side. Even though they had not mated yet, his instincts told him that being by her side was like being at home.

When he rushed back, he saw Gu Mengmeng laughing till she could not stand up straight and was rolling on the ground. He did not know what she was laughing at but the corners of his lips curved up out of instincts and his gaze was as gentle as flowing water.

Lea walked to Gu Mengmeng and carried her off the ground. Patting off the soil on her body, he said, “What made you laugh so hard? Tell me too.”

“Daddy Lea.” Gu Mengmeng laughed till both of her cheeks ached. Upon seeing Lea, she finally suppressed the exaggerated intention to laugh and she leaned on Lea’s shoulder, her shoulders shaking as she forced back her laughter and said, “Leader thought that I had something going on with Yoo Sijin and he wants to kill him now.”

Lea raised his brows, savoring this name ‘Yoo Sijin’ that he had not heard before.

“Yeah.” Gu Mengmeng eventually could not hold back anymore. The more she tried to not laugh, the more she wanted to laugh. She huddled in Lea’s arms and turned on the shaking mode.

Lea turned to look at Elvis and said gently, “Together?”

“Pfft...” Finally, Gu Mengmeng exploded into laughter again and the entire sky of Saint Nazaire resounded her crazy laughter “Ha Ha Ha Ha...”

Until Gu Mengmeng finally had enough of her laughter, she shook her hands forcefully, “How should I say for all of you to believe me, it’s really just a story. It has nothing got to do with me at all.”

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes and then nodded, “As long as it’s from you, we’ll believe it.”

No matter how much they were doubting it in their hearts, even if Yoo Sijin appear before them now, as long as Gu Mengmeng said that it was false... they would believe it.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head while sighing, these two males were obviously not believing her but they were too stubborn and did not want to admit it. But what could she do, you could never wake a person who was pretending to sleep, right?

“Good, good.” Gu Mengmeng thought, time would prove everything. If she was unable to explain to them what was television dramas, she could only let time wash away everything. A while later, if the legendary Yoo Sijin did not appear, they would naturally forget about it.

Gu Mengmeng jumped down from Lea’s embrace and prepared to roast another fish for Lea. But as she held Lea’s hand, she smelled a familiar smell.

Gu Mengmeng stared at Lea with her large innocent and clear eyes, resembling a baby deer as she lifted his wrist up while asking, “Daddy Lea, hurry, tell me, what did you touch just now?”

Chapter 125 - Lea Graduated From New Oriental?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea brought his hand to the tip of his nose and gave it a smell. It was a light yellow root smell that was left behind after tricking Nina.

His deep gaze looked uneasy, could it be that... Mengmeng had found out about him intervening in the conflicts between females?

Lea appeared tranquil on the surface but internally, he felt constrained and uneasy as he started speaking softly, "Yellow root."

"Where? Is there any left? Give me some! Please!" Gu Mengmeng grabbed tightly onto Lea's forearm with both hands and with every word, she crept closer to Lea. When she finished her last word, her entire body was almost touching the tip of Lea's nose.

Lea was pretty overwhelmed by Gu Mengmeng's sudden enthusiasm. The yellow root was not any rare item, why was she so anxious over it?

But, since she liked it, even if he had to empty out all the mountains of Saint Nazaire, he would do it.

"Yes, no matter how much you want, I have it." Lea smiled gently and ruffled Gu Mengmeng's head. He then evolved his white and fluffy large tail out conscientiously and swung it in front of Gu Mengmeng at times. Next, he 'accidentally' allowed Gu Mengmeng to catch it whole in a half-loathing and half-consenting manner and his large tail was lastly cuddled by Gu Mengmeng.

Lea did not mind the raw fish smell on Gu Mengmeng's hands on his body and he just stared at her playing delightfully in a conniving and indulgent way. He set up a new fireplace with Elvis near the stream before Elvis explained Gu Mengmeng's methods to him in a simpler way as the former handled the raw fish. Lea referred to Bode's conscientious roasting process and together with Elvis's account, he attempted to roast a fish himself.

He tore a piece of meat and tasted it, yeah, there was no strange taste, Mengmeng could eat it.

"Mengmeng, come, open your mouth." Lea blew on a small boneless piece of meat and sent it to Gu Mengmeng who was playing in great fun with a tail alone.

Gu Mengmeng obediently opened her mouth and when the fish meat entered her mouth, her eyes sparkled brightly. Surprise was written all over her large innocent eyes as she looked at Lea, praising him, "Daddy Lea, you're really a master chef! This fish is roasted until the outside is crispy and the inside soft. The honey and the fish meat goes so well together. This is truly perfection in the world."

If she was not hugging onto the tail and was not busy, Gu Mengmeng really wanted to give Lea 10086 likes herself.

Lea was especially enjoying Gu Mengmeng's exaggerated praise and no matter how many times he heard it, it was always effective. Thus, he gave the roasted fish to Elvis and let Elvis feed Gu Mengmeng while he turned around to handle the second one.

His Mengmeng was really too skinny. Since she liked to eat it, he would prepare more for her then.

The speed of Lea's hands was really tremendously fast. Gu Mengmeng had just finished eating half a fish when he had already roasted around seven to eight fish. Gu Mengmeng really looked up to Lea for taking care of seven to eight grills at the same time, was this a newbie who had just came into contact with fire? This must be a newbie who had graduated from New Oriental.

But when Lea placed the seven to eight fish that were all around five pounds in front of her, signaling her to eat them, Gu Mengmeng froze...

“Daddy Lea, I’m full.”

Lea frowned, clasping his thin lips slightly while asking, “You’re eating so little?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, implying that her appetite was just this big. She had already eaten half a fish that was at least one and a half pounds. One reason was because she was really famished and the other was because Lea’s cooking skills were not too bad. Moreover, the delicious taste of the primitive ecology fish made her appetite bigger. If it was a normal day, she could never finish so much food.

Chapter 126 - Give A Chance To Other Males

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea did not force Gu Mengmeng any further, and he said, “Then I’ll bring these fish back and you can eat them when you get hungry later.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands, “Don’t don’t don’t, fish don’t taste good when they turn cold. Elvis and you have been taking care of me all this while and both of you have not eaten yet, how about you two eat them?”

Elvis and Lea glanced at the fish and then looked at Gu Mengmeng. There were so many such things in the water and even if the entire Saint Nazaire eat it together, it would not run out in three to five years. On the other hand, although yellow gravy was rare, Gu Mengmeng looked like she had a way to get it without much sweat and since Bode and Collin had helped Gu Mengmeng extract so much yellow gravy, both of them would be able to get it too.

Since the ingredients were not rare, they had no reason to decline any further. Thus, the two of them shared the few big fish and chatted while eating, discussing how to improve it the next time.

Gu Mengmeng’s little stomach was so full till it became round and she dusted her hands before going off to find Sandy.

Finding Sandy among the crowd was not difficult. After all, besides Nina who was thrown away by Elvis, the only females left were Gu Mengmeng, Sandy and that female with an unknown name. Ignoring the unfamiliar female, Sandy had always been on good terms with Gu Mengmeng and Bode even wanted Gu Mengmeng to teach him how to roast fish so their fireplace was not that far from Gu Mengmeng.

When Gu Mengmeng walked to Sandy, she saw a sullen Sandy and an utterly exhausted Bode in a sorry plight. One of them was pouting unhappily while the other was walking rounds around the fireplace, his whole face being covered with black soot.

“What’s wrong?” Gu Mengmeng sat next to Sandy, tilting her head to ask.

Sandy twitched her lips and said, “I’m hungry.”

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look at the busy Bode, “How long has he been doing that?”

Sandy said, “He has been like that since the start but not a single water shuttle could be eaten... Gu Mengmeng, I’m really hungry. Can you help me roast a fish? Just one will do~”

Just when Gu Mengmeng wanted to agree after rolling up her sleeves, she was being carried by Lea as he said, “Mengmeng is also a female and needs to be taken care of, like you. If Bode’s cooking skills could not satisfy you, how about giving a chance to other males?”

As Lea finished talking, the males who were surrounding them offered their work immediately, “Sandy, how about trying the one I roasted?”

Lea did not say anything else, and he just walked in the direction of Elvis’s cave while carrying Gu Mengmeng. After walking a distance, he then said, “It’s not a good thing for Sandy if she gets too reliant on you.”

“Why?” Gu Mengmeng could not understand, “Isn’t it just a fish? It’s nothing if I just roast one for her. After all, she’s a precious female, she can’t always go hungry.”

“The way you make the food is very special. It requires time and talent to learn it. Bode and the rest did not seem like they have the talent to. But if Sandy’s taste buds were spoiled by you and if Bode and the rest could not make such delicious food like you, won’t you be preparing food for Sandy the whole time?” Lea’s voice was very gentle and had the effect of comforting someone.

Gu Mengmeng did not object to Lea's words but once she recalled the wronged look on the little foodie Sandy's face, her heart would still ache.

Lea smiled gently as he observed all of Gu Mengmeng's expressions. Seeing how she was not objecting, he continued, "And furthermore, we are entering winter soon. When the snow covers the mountains for a few months, nobody can leave their caves. In these few months, even if you're willing to prepare food for Sandy, you also can't send it to her. And if Sandy can't eat the food Bode and the rest prepare... when it becomes warm next year, there would only be three females left in Saint Nazaire."

Chapter 127 - Changing Clothes Again?!

“I don’t think it’s... to that extent...” Gu Mengmeng did not think that her care towards Sandy would cost her her life and she stared at Lea, not believing him. However, the way Lea looked did not seem like he was joking either so she could only sigh and say, “Alright, I get it. Let’s find a time to teach Bode and the rest. I feel that your cooking skills are really superb, if they could be half as good as you... no, if they could only be a third as good as you, Sandy would not need to go hungry.”

Lea smiled and nodded, giving his consent.

Returning back to Elvis’s cave, Lea found a new set of clothes from the deep end of the place and said, “Your clothes are dirty, take them off and change a new one.”

Gu Mengmeng looked down at herself. She was indeed covered with fish scales from head to toe and there was no need to smell her closely to be able to smell the stench of raw fish. She could not tolerate herself anymore, not to say Elvis and Lea who had an extremely sensitive sense of smell.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled awkwardly and received new clothes from Lea’s hands, saying, “Huh? Another new one? Where’s the rabbit-skin dress I wore previously?”

“Thrown away.” Elvis answered with ease.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched, “Thrown... thrown away? Why?”

“Dirty.” Elvis answered rather simply.

“F!” Gu Mengmeng blurted out an expression and then hugged tightly onto the deer-skin dress she was wearing, not willing to let go of it as she cried, “Wasting is shameful! How can you throw away clothes that can be worn again after washing as you feel like it? This is too much, too much! What a reckless waste of God’s good gifts!”

Elvis and Lea looked at each other and felt helpless again towards Gu Mengmeng’s tripped train of thoughts.

This silly girl was willing to share the yellow gravy that was treasured in the Beast World with everyone without frowning a single bit. On the other hand, she treasured the beast-skin that can be taken from anywhere.

Lea carried Gu Mengmeng up and said while taking a rough measurement of the new clothes, “The tribe only has four females but we also have 127 males. Even if the females change five sets of clothes everyday, there will still be a lot of skin from the food consumed by the tribe to be thrown away.”

Skin from the food...

Gu Mengmeng recalled the food that the males ate today: tigers, cheetahs, snow foxes...

All of them had high-quality skin and in the present world, not even money could buy them, why did it become a one time use thing here?!

No wonder Elvis threw away the beast-skin dress whenever he wished and his heart did not even ache at all.

Gu Mengmeng felt her heart being tugged at. Forgive her for being an insignificant townspeople and even one that was money-mad. Recalling all the precious animal fur that were thrown away like that, Gu Mengmeng felt her heart dripping blood.

Gu Mengmeng cupped both her hands and looked up at the sky, sighing deeply, “Beast Deity, please don’t interfere in the divorce matters of others anymore. Can you please take some time to manage this extravagant common practice of your people?!”

“Why? Are you feeling uncomfortable?” Elvis showed his concern.

“Yeah!” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head heavily twice, putting on a serious front.

“Where are you feeling uncomfortable? Let me take a look.” Out of concern, Lea placed the clothes at a side and grabbed onto the hand Gu Mengmeng was pressing on her chest, wanting to see whether she was injured somewhere.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “Once I heard that you two wanted to throw away my clothes, my whole body start to ache, especially my chest. As long as you two promise to not throw them away, I will not ache anymore.”

Lea completely could not understand what illness did this symptom belong to? He shifted his gaze towards Elvis, waiting for him to come up with an idea.

Compared to Lea, Elvis was a lot more calm. Considering the fact that she cherished that luminous pearl so much, he had some form of idea in his mind. Thus, he nodded his head, “We’ll listen to you and not throw them away. I’ll build a cave for you solely to put all the clothes you wore before, alright?”

Chapter 128 - Discarding Him After Making Use Of Him?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Oh my f, a billionaire was truly different, he wanted to gift her with a house once he opened his mouth? Did he know the cost of a Chinese imperial court in the present world? A wardrobe... Gu Mengmeng stared at Elvis with fiery eyes.

However...

Gu Mengmeng looked down at the filthy clothes she was wearing and then looked at the new clothes Lea had put aside.

She really wanted the new clothes. But... she did not want to exchange herself for them.

Some stuff still needed to be clearly talked out.

Gu Mengmeng breathed in deeply and when she looked up again, the atmosphere in the cave became quite solemn.

Lea knew what Gu Mengmeng was going to tell Elvis, and he turned around to leave quietly. He guarded at the entrance to prevent others from interrupting.

Elvis frowned, the uneasy feeling surfacing once more, enclosing him in an unknown sense of fear.

“Leader.” Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth and continued after thinking for a while, “You know that I don’t belong here. The custom here is vastly different from the place I was originally staying at. Over at our side, we won’t marry immediately after we matured into adulthood and both males and females have equal statuses. Males taking care of females was a virtue and not an obligation. The females who were being taken care of will be grateful and not treat it as a matter of course...”

Elvis listened to her quietly, his thin lips clamping into a straight line. His heartstrings were taut, and he was deadly afraid that Gu Mengmeng would say that sentence he did not want to hear.

But in the end, Gu Mengmeng still said it.

“So, I can’t mate with you. I really can’t entrust my entire life to someone I only know for three days.” Gu Mengmeng looked down, not having the courage to meet eyes with Elvis. Although the time they knew each other was very short, she was aware of how well Elvis treated her. But the more she knew, the more she could not take advantage of his liking towards her. She knew that the way she was saying all of these was very cruel but a shorter pain was better than dragging it in the long run. She could not possibly tell Elvis, “I have always treated you as a friend” while Elvis delved deeper and deeper, right? Those are only what those fake bitches would do.

Seeing how Elvis was not answering, she breathed in deeply before continuing, “I can understand if you’re angry. I should have told you clearly from the start. I’m sorry to have caused you to misunderstand. I can understand if you’re not available to take me in anymore. I can head over to Sandy’s place and ask whether she can take me in for a period of time.”

Elvis did not say anything, and he just pulled Gu Mengmeng into an embrace, tightly locking her in his arms, not leaving a single inch of space between them.

Just a second ago, Elvis truly experienced an excruciating pain, just like how a dull knife was piercing his heart. Every word from Gu Mengmeng tore his heart apart, and he used every single bit of flesh and blood in his body to engrave the feeling of losing her.

It was painful, so painful until he could not breathe, so painful until he did not even have the energy to shout, “I’m in so much pain.”

Elvis could not ponder over other things. He only knew that if he did not pull Gu Mengmeng into his arms, the wound on his left chest that he could not see would probably cost him his life.

“Elvis, you’re hurting me.” Gu Mengmeng understood how sad Elvis was because his embrace made her feel the same. The thumping of his heart was transmitting her his emotions through their clothes. Her every sensory organ was telling her that she was doing such a cruel thing until Gu Mengmeng felt a tremendous sense of guilt, as if...

As if she did not reject Elvis but instead, abandoned him, and it was like discarding him after making use of him.

Chapter 129 - Gu Mengmeng's Revival Skills

Elvis heard Gu Mengmeng's cry of pain but he could not control his shaking arms. He was afraid that if he released her by even the slightest bit, Gu Mengmeng would vanish like the wind and never come back as long as there was space for her to escape.

"Elvis," Gu Mengmeng heard her bones cracking after being so tightly hugged at but she did not bear to scold him and just call out his name again.

"Xiaomeng, don't leave me." Elvis said.

Gu Mengmeng stayed silent, how could she promise something she could not accomplish?

"I'm not fighting for the title of first partner. Before you forget him completely... I would ask for neither cubs nor mating and even a title. I just want you to stay by my side and let me take care of you. Don't go, don't go..."

Gu Mengmeng paused for a moment and then realized that the "him" Elvis was talking about referred to Yoo Sijin. At the same time of feeling helpless, she also heaved a sigh of relief. Although it was a fabricated character, it at least helped to relieve her from the extreme urgency. She had nothing to lose from being shipped as a couple with Song Joong-ki, regardless.

Since Elvis firmly believed that she could not forget her old love and had also promised her that he would not XXOO with her before she forgets him, she just had to wait for Elvis to no longer have any feelings towards her for him to naturally give up the idea of mating with her.

Weren't males are like this? How much passion for love could they have?

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng squeezed both her eyes with all her might to appear like tears were going to drop any moment. She acted as if she was hurt from love and said, "Alright, before I give up on him, you can't force me. As long as you accomplish what you said, I won't leave. "

"Really?" Elvis leaned his upper body backwards using his height advantage and stared down into Gu Mengmeng's clear eyes. It looked like this was the only way for him to reassure Gu Mengmeng's promise: not to leave.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head cautiously and then smiled in a comforting way, "I just don't want to mate. Besides this, I still like Saint Nazaire a lot. Both you and Lea treat me very well and there's also the cute Sandy. I promised to make her all kinds of delicacies. If I leave like that, she would definitely cry very badly and whine that I went back on my words. I can't bear to see the tears of my baby Sandy."

As Gu Mengmeng said, she wriggled out of Elvis's arms and distanced herself from him before continuing, "But, since I can't mate with you, I can't accept your care for nothing. I can do some stuff with my own abilities to exchange for my food and a place to stay. Eating without returning something back is not my style."

Elvis wanted to say, "You staying behind is good enough."

But he did not have the time to speak when Lea appeared from outside and replied on behalf of Elvis, "Alright, why don't you teach me how you revived Barete? Telling this ability to the tribe's witch doctor would be considered as a large contribution to Saint Nazaire. As a reciprocation, I, the witch doctor and Elvis, the tribe leader, would be responsible for your food and life necessities this winter, how about that?"

Gu Mengmeng look at Lea and heaved a sigh of relief.

The atmosphere with only her and Elvis was really too awkward. Now with an additional person, it felt so much more relaxed.

Her eyes curved up as she chuckled and shook her hands, saying, “It’s not reviving, Barete was not even dead in the first place. He was just dehydrated and feeling faint after not eating, drinking and moving for three days. A little water to nourish him would be enough for him to wake up. But speaking of that, Barete’s body condition is really strong. Just drinking a few mouthfuls of water was enough for him to start walking. If it was at our side... he would have to be hospitalized for a few days to recover.”

Chapter 130 - The Unfair Treaty

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The Platform of the Deity's Punishment was seldom operated so fainting at the Platform and becoming alive again was never seen in history before. But from Gu Mengmeng's mouth, it became a trivial thing that was not worthy of mentioning at all.

Lea held in his laughter. Although they had only met for a short time, he was actually used to Gu Mengmeng's extraordinariness.

He only smiled and said, "Alright, since you have already taught me, you are considered having contributed to Saint Nazaire. You can now stay behind in ease right?"

"This doesn't count." Gu Mengmeng shook her head, "This is just simple basic common knowledge. Exchanging this sentence for a whole season of food, drinks and lodging is too unfair. Such an obvious biased exchange would not be protected by the law even if a contract was being signed."

Lea did not know what was signing a contract nor did he know what was protection by the law. But he understood what Gu Mengmeng meant overall. It was a matter of fact for other females to accept the care of males and even if it was not their own partners, it was handy of them to order any males around without reciprocation at all.

In the eyes of females, ordering you was already the greatest bestow on Earth, you still had the nerve to talk about reciprocation?

Ha, what a joke!

In the eyes of males, it was the same.

Gu Mengmeng was different.

Lea thought for a moment and replied, “Since you saved Barete’s life, your food for this winter will be prepared by him as reciprocation. Elvis and I will be responsible for your other life necessities. You can’t reject us anymore or else... we will be sad, alright?”

Lea hooked Gu Mengmeng’s chin gently and slightly lifted it. That holy and seductive smile was just in front of her eyes and it attracted Gu Mengmeng till she swallowed her saliva profusely.

Disappointing a beauty was not Gu Mengmeng’s style. Moreover, while Elvis and Lea provided lodging, Barete would provide the food, and these were the basic fundamentals for such a savage newbie like Gu Mengmeng to survive. Although using just a sentence as the terms of trade was too insincere, as long as she felt that she did something to reciprocate them, there was no need to explain so clearly through words.

Gu Mengmeng thought about it and squinted her eyes while nodding, saying, “Alright, alright, I’ll listen to Daddy Lea.”

Elvis, who was standing at a side, was expressionless. He was feeling uncomfortable. He did not know whether it was Gu Mengmeng’s difficulty to part with Yoo Sijin or whether it was Barete joining their family but he could still accept all of this as long as Gu Mengmeng was not leaving.

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief and nodded at Lea, expressing his gratitude through his gaze.

Lea was obviously much better at communicating with Gu Mengmeng.

Lea replied him with a smile. There was no need for words since they could clearly read what each other was saying through their eyes.

They were both males who had not received Gu Mengmeng’s acknowledgment and that unknown Yoo Sijin was a strong opponent. At this time, they had to combine everything they had to work together so that they could keep Gu Mengmeng when the male comes to find her one day. So, although accepting Barete was something they were not willing to do, it was better than letting Yoo Sijin snatch away Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng did not know what did the gaze between Elvis and Lea mean. She just felt a sense of relaxation after talking things out, like how all the chains that were locking her were being released. Without any troubles, she finally noticed the thing Lea was carrying. Wasn't this what she wanted?

“Daddy Lea, is that for me?” As Gu Mengmeng asked, her hands already snatched away the thing from Lea's hands. She observed it in detail before her eyes and put it to her nose to smell it seriously. This couldn't be wrong, couldn't be wrong! This was exactly what she wanted.

Chapter 131 - Daring To Battle With The Beast Deity

Looking at how much Gu Mengmeng was cherishing the yellow root, Lea could not help but smile as his gaze turned gentle out of instinct. He replied, “Yeah, the smell that you smelled on my hands is this. Do you know it?”

Gu Mengmeng grinned from ear to ear and nodded, “I know, of course I know. This is ginger.”

“Ginger?” Lea savored this word. Although its name was different, Gu Mengmeng did not seem like she recognized it wrongly. From honey, bees to fish, she had already come up with so many different names so much so that Lea was not taken aback by the new words Gu Mengmeng spluttered out. He just thought that he should get used to Gu Mengmeng’s naming of things so that she could live her life more comfortably. Thus, Lea did not correct Gu Mengmeng and did not tell her that in this Beast World, this thing was named yellow root.

“Yeah, using this to cook fish can remove its raw fishy smell. We can then cook one whole pot of fish and it will be fragrant, warm and less work is needed.” Gu Mengmeng explained and gestured at the same time. However, as she gestured, her tiny face suddenly became sullen, “What a pity, there’s not even a pot here... I shouldn’t have learned what business management that time. How nice must it be if I learned metallurgy? I can then make all kinds of pots and pans...”

“Pot?” Elvis picked up the main point from Gu Mengmeng’s words. He did not like the look of her frowning nor could he stand her disappointed and regretful expression of her. Whatever she wanted, even if he had to battle with the Beast Deity, he would not back off.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head as both her cheeks puffed up into two buns and she said, “All of you eat raw meat so you would definitely not need this thing. But I need it really badly... eating barbecued meat everyday, my stomach and intestines can’t stand it.”

“Where can I find the pot? I can help to find it for you.” Elvis said.

“I don’t think there’s any here...” Gu Mengmeng sighed, wanting to give up out of helplessness.

However, Lea circled his large tail and sat Gu Mengmeng firm on the end of his tail. He used his fluffy tail to act as a sofa, letting Gu Mengmeng sink into it comfortably. On the other hand, he sat sideways on the floor and played with Gu Mengmeng’s hair while asking her, “Tell us, what does a pot look like? Perhaps we have it here, just that the name is different?”

Gu Mengmeng had always been unresistant towards Lea’s large tail and she hugged onto his tail while combing its fur. She would not contemplate much over her words and would answer according to what Lea was asking.

“A pot is a utensil used to cook dishes. It can be placed on the fire to roast food. It is normally made out of metal but even if you give me a dollar now, I won’t know anything about metallurgy and would not be able to make a pot out for you too.”

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes, clearly not knowing what was iron.

Elvis was confident in Lea’s communication skills and he decided to not interrupt and instead, stand quietly at a side to wait for his further questions.

Lea said, “Besides iron, is there anything else that can make a pot?”

Gu Mengmeng thought seriously for a moment and replied, “There’s stainless steel too. Oh yeah, there’s also a pot made out of stone. Koreans used it to mix rice. But you also need metal utensils to cut the rock so without iron, there’s no way we can make a pot... sigh, I’m getting a sore throat from eating barbecued meat everyday.”

Gu Mengmeng completed her sentence, and she pouted her mouth to show her unsatisfactoriness but she was helpless too.

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes once again, a smile forming on both their faces without exchanging any words.

Chapter 132 - Be Careful, I Might Pounce On You

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Until Gu Mengmeng regained her composure from the delight of playing with the tail, a few stone pots similar to her description appeared before her eyes.

Gu Mengmeng blinked her large innocent and clear eyes, staring at the pots for some time before hitting her thigh all of a sudden and exclaiming, “Let’s go and find Sandy to eat!”

Please forgive her for being so captivated by that fluffy and white tail of Lea. She did discuss the large pot with them and in her memory, Elvis did make a few samples for her to see but she seemed like an outsider and was entirely not involved in the situation at all. Her entire heart was on that large tail that Lea was swaying. It was until Lea kept that large tail when Gu Mengmeng finally regained composure but at that time, Elvis had already finished making the final product of the pot.

Gu Mengmeng joyfully glanced at the pot that was so large till it could be used as a bathtub and thought to herself, “This time, Lea would not stop her from preparing food for Sandy, right? She is just putting more ingredients in when making food for her own family and sharing some with Sandy.”

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng wanted to carry the stone pot and head outside, but...

“Ouch!” Gu Mengmeng wrongly estimated herself and over-exerted her strength but the pot did not move a single inch at all. Gu Mengmeng held onto her waist and cried, “My old waist is going to break.”

Lea grabbed onto her hand and laid her flat on her stomach on his own knees. He used his long and slender fingers to press on her waist gently, using the perfect amount of strength as he said while rubbing, “You’re a female but you also always like to show off. Do you think that Elvis and I are just decorations? You’re even moving things by yourself? Are we two that unreliable?”

“I don’t mean it that way.” Gu Mengmeng grinned apologetically and said, “I don’t want to trouble others if it’s stuff I can accomplish on my own. If not, not long later, you two will be irritated by me.”

“What a fool. We will never be irritated by you.” Lea lifted Gu Mengmeng’s hand to his lips and landed a light peck on the back of her hand. He looked up and stared directly into her eyes with deep love and said, “It’s our honor to be able to take care of you. Give us this chance, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng felt that blood was going to spew out from her nose again. She immediately pinched her nose and raise her head, saying, “Daddy Lea, you’re breaking the rules!”

“Oh?” Lea looked sideways at Gu Mengmeng, putting on an expression that implied he wanted to hear more details.

Gu Mengmeng said, “You can’t place that wickedly handsome face so close to me. I’m afraid I can’t control myself and might pounce on you.”

However, Lea laughed all of a sudden and opened his arms wide for an embrace. He retracted his chin slightly backwards and smiled at her with his eyes that screamed arouse, “It’s my pleasure, please don’t stand on ceremony.”

Pfft...

Gu Mengmeng’s eyes widened as she pointed at Lea’s feet and shouted, “Daddy Lea, your moral integrity has fallen.”

Lea looked down and saw that there was nothing around his feet so he shook his head and said, “There’s nothing.”

Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud and pointed at Lea, saying, “You also know that you don’t have moral integrity!”

Lea obviously did not know what was moral integrity but judging from Gu Mengmeng’s expression, he must have been made fun of, right?

If it was in the past, he would have maintained a calm smile while torturing the other party till he regretted he was born in the world. But now, he just felt his inner self softening for her. Even if it was something that he should be angry about, his lips curved upwards uncontrollably together with her laughter. Facing Gu Mengmeng, he did not even have the capacity to get angry.

Chapter 133 - I'll Get Jealous

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

In the end, Gu Mengmeng still got her wish fulfilled as she brought the stone pot to Sandy. However, she was being lifted by Elvis and Lea, who carried one side each, while she sat in the pot.

Gu Mengmeng jeered at herself all the way. She finally knew what sitting in the pot felt like. Although it was something everyone was familiar with, looking from this position felt quite new.

When Gu Mengmeng reached the outside of Sandy's cave, Elvis stopped at a further spot from the cave quietly and handed Lea both the pot and Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and asked, "Leader, are you not following me in?"

Elvis smiled and patted Gu Mengmeng's head, answering, "Although I'm the leader of Saint Nazaire, I still have to follow the rules of territory."

Gu Mengmeng recalled, even though all of them belong to the same tribe, they had the mindset of territories among them too. Thus, she turned behind to look at Lea, saying, "Then, wouldn't you not be able to enter in too? How about you two wait a while for me here. I'll go in and call Sandy out. We can cook at another place together."

However, Lea gave a refined smile and said, "I'm the witch doctor so I'm not restricted by the territories. Moreover, Adali's wound looked quite serious, I can take a look as well."

"Adali..." Gu Mengmeng froze for three seconds and thought for a moment before recalling that he was Sandy's partner who was bashed so badly by Nina's partners after Sandy shielded her, thus, landing in an argument with

Nina. “Yeah yeah yeah, he was injured because of me. We should visit him.”

As Gu Mengmeng talked, she prepared to jump out from the pot to run towards Sandy’s cave. But the moment her legs landed on the ground, her arm was being pulled by Lea. He just exerted a little bit of strength to pull the entire Gu Mengmeng into his arms. Looking up at Lea who was carrying her with one arm, Gu Mengmeng felt that she saw countless pink bubbles filling the air.

Ah, so the revolution of the slow-motion shot and the background music really existed when the main characters of an idol drama hugged each other suddenly.

“Adali is injured because of Sandy, not because of you. You don’t have to be so concerned about him because... I’ll get jealous.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head blankly, feeling a sweet sensation in her heart. The only thought in her mind was: maybe, dating in the Beast World was not bad... if the partner was Lea.

Lea seemed to see something from Gu Mengmeng’s eyes. He could not explain it clearly but it made his mood extremely happy. He liked how Gu Mengmeng was looking at him, just like... she belonged to him.

Lea carried the stone pot in one hand and Gu Mengmeng on the other. The countryside woman image on him did not seem to ruin his seductive and holy aura at all. Perhaps it was because of his job but that stone pot in his hands looked like a religion instrument used to offer sacrifices to the gods and not a cooking utensil.

Lea did not reach the entrance of Sandy’s cave when Sandy had already come out of the cave. The expression on her face was not very good, and she forced a smile to welcome Gu Mengmeng when she saw her, “Gu Mengmeng, you’ve reached.”

Gu Mengmeng could not stand Sandy feeling upset the most, so she hurriedly jumped off from Lea’s arms and flew towards Sandy. At the same time, she gave her moral integrity a huge thumbs up after not valuing sex over friendship.

“What’s wrong? Did you not eat your fill just now? Just nice, I brought new tools over, let’s cook some food to eat, shall we?”

Sandy glanced over at the unfamiliar thing Lea was carrying. As a foodie, it was the first time she was not interested in food. She only held onto Gu Mengmeng’s hand and said, “Can you help me trouble Lea to give Adali a check? He’s seriously injured...”

Chapter 134 - This Was All Life

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Daddy Lea, let’s go in and see.” Gu Mengmeng held onto Sandy’s hand and turned around to ask Lea.

Lea patted Gu Mengmeng’s head and said, “As you wish.”

“That’s great, thank you, Gu Mengmeng.” Sandy heaved a sigh of relief as some form of laughter finally formed on her face.

Gu Mengmeng and Sandy walked together into the cave with Lea following behind them.

Once they entered the cave, Gu Mengmeng smelled a very strong iron blood smell. Her brows furrowed as her stomach felt as if there was something churning in it. The bloody scene at her Coming-To-Age Ceremony surfaced in her mind, sending a chill from Gu Mengmeng’s feet due to the shock which caused goosebumps all over her body.

“Gu Mengmeng, what’s wrong?” Since Sandy was holding onto Gu Mengmeng’s hand, she was naturally the first one to notice her abnormality.

Lea carried Gu Mengmeng up with one hand and wrapped her small frame with his tail as he comforted her gently, “Gu Mengmeng, don’t worry, I’m here.”

That fluffy tail of Lea and the warmth the embrace was emitting managed to comfort Gu Mengmeng’s unease. She wrapped her arms around Lea’s neck and looking into his long and passionate pupils, she nodded her head, then buried her tiny head into the pit of his neck. The bloody smell lingering near her nose was dispersed by his unique scent and Gu Mengmeng’s mood finally relaxed slowly after feeling Lea’s warm body temperature.

After seeing Gu Mengmeng regain her composure, Lea told Sandy, “Tell your partners to carry Adali out. This smell is too smelly, Mengmeng can’t stand it.”

After he finished speaking, Lea carried Gu Mengmeng and walked out of the cave.

After seeing some sunlight, Gu Mengmeng’s mood then completely returned. She looked at Sandy, slightly feeling bad. She felt that she was visiting a patient at the hospital but she told the patient, “I’m visiting you but I don’t like the strong smell at the hospital so you can visit me at the cafe outside the hospital.”

The most important point was that the patient was seriously injured and could not move on his own.

However, this was the Beast World, the witch doctor in the tribe had an extremely high prestige. The only people that could receive the utmost treatment from the witch doctor was probably females. Normally, males did not have the ability to call for the witch doctor. They would ignore small wounds since they would heal in two to three days. While larger wounds... ha, was there a need to waste the herbal medicine for treatment? Especially males like Adali who lost in a battle, did he still have the face to ask the witch doctor for treatment?

But for Gu Mengmeng, Lea was not only treating him, he was even treating him at his doorstep. Now, they were just asking him to come out from the cave, was it deliberately making things difficult for him?

Until Bode and another of Sandy’s partner carried Adali out, Gu Mengmeng realized that Adali was really seriously injured. The wound on his stomach had its skin peeled off, and the blood dried around the wound, forming something like a scab. Faintly, his internal organs could be seen from his wound. His face was as pale as a paper and fine perspiration were found all over his entire body. If this happened in the present world, he would definitely have to be sent to the resuscitation room. But now, he was being carried like a suckling pig by Bode and another of Sandy’s partner, one lifting both his arms and the other pulling his legs.

Gu Mengmeng shuddered and said, “Oh my god, the way you two are carrying him will split open the wound again. Hurry, find a flat and clean place to lay him down.”

Bode’s face darkened. This Gu Mengmeng really did not regard herself as a stranger at all, ordering him around was like a matter of course to her. And he, as Sandy’s first partner, was not as important as Gu Mengmeng whom Sandy only knew for two to three days.

Sigh, this was all life.

Chapter 135 - Congratulations, You Have Even Learned How To Be The First To Answer!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Sandy ordered one of her partners to retrieve a clean beast-skin mat from the cave to lay it on the ground while Bode and the other male placed Adali on the beast skin. Lea placed the stone pot aside and used his large tail to wrap Gu Mengmeng behind him, protecting her while he himself bent down to check on the condition of Adali's wound.

Gu Mengmeng knew that Lea was protecting her like that because he was aware of her fear towards the iron bloody smell. She felt a warm sensation in her heart but she was still quite worried for Adali. After all, it was a beast life, and he was Sandy's partner too. Although Lea said that Adali's injury had nothing to do with her but Gu Mengmeng still felt some sense of guilt in her.

Thus, she resisted the temptation of the large tail for the first time and climbed onto Lea's back. She lied on Lea's shoulder and stuck out her head to check Adali's wound together with Lea.

"Leaving it like this would definitely cause infection," Gu Mengmeng muttered to herself softly.

Lea turned behind and asked Gu Mengmeng, "Then, what do you suggest?"

Although Gu Mengmeng always claimed what happened to Barete was merely common knowledge, to Lea and everyone else, this was already a skill almost on par with the deities. Gu Mengmeng's high level of 'common knowledge' could suppress the witch doctors of many tribes in the Beast World.

So, Lea still took Gu Mengmeng's opinions seriously.

Stepping ten thousand steps backwards, even though Gu Mengmeng was just saying it for fun... so what? As long as Mengmeng was happy, let alone the only injured one was Adali, even if he himself was injured, he would still heed Gu Mengmeng's opinions and follow what she said.

As long as she was happy.

Gu Mengmeng was very elated that Lea was listening to her opinions seriously, this made her feel that she was very important.

But when she was going to open her mouth to speak, Gu Mengmeng was scared that she was displaying her competence in front of Lea this witch doctor. If she gave any wrong information and cause Adali his life, it would not be good anymore.

Lea noticed Gu Mengmeng's doubt, and he used his large tail to pat her back gently, soothing her, "It's fine, you just have to say what you want to say. Whether it can be done or not will be decided by me."

Gu Mengmeng then became at ease and she nodded her head before saying, "This wound has to be disinfected by an anti-inflammation medicine first so that the wound can seal itself up to prevent infection. But there's neither alcohol nor sewing needles here..." "Tell me what is it like? I can make it for you." Lea thought of it as something that could be replaced by other stuff like the pot.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "Alcohol can be produced through fermentation of grains but this is definitely not achievable in one to two days. Sewing needles..." Gu Mengmeng said and suddenly saw the stack of fish at the entrance of Sandy's cave, those must be the tools originally used by Bode to practice roasting fish.

Gu Mengmeng's eyes brightened, and she pointed at the largest fish and said, "Sewing needles can be replaced by fish bones."

Not waiting for Gu Mengmeng's order, Bode already brought over the largest fish automatically.

Yeah, the best method not to be ordered around by other females besides Sandy was to finish the stuff before she could open her mouth. That way, it would be his own initiative and not because he was ordered around by other females.

If Gu Mengmeng was aware of what Bode was thinking about, she would definitely say, "Congratulations, you have even learned how to be the first to answer!"

But what a pity, Gu Mengmeng was only concentrated on picking out suitable fish pricks from the fish bones and did not have the idle time to ridicule Bode.

"This, this is good." Gu Mengmeng found for a long time and finally found one that was not that thick nor that thin and its curved angle was just perfect. She handed the prick to Lea and said, "Daddy Lea, pierce a tiny hole at this place but don't ruin other parts, can you do it?"

Lea looked at the fish bones in Gu Mengmeng's hands and controlled his nails in the most precise way to slit a tiny hole in the shape of a rice at the position Gu Mengmeng pointed out. Gu Mengmeng stared at it again and again before nodding her head in satisfaction, "Yeah yeah yeah, just like that."

Now, she had the needle, Gu Mengmeng started looking down to scan her surroundings. Upon seeing the stone pot Lea placed at the entrance, she told Sandy, "Sandy, ask your partners over to start a fire. Then, find three tree branches this thick and a stronger bunch of tree vines. Oh, yeah, I need Elvis's help too, can he come over?"

Sandy agreed, "Of course."

After getting Sandy's approval, she turned her head and shouted at Elvis, "Leader, you can come over now, Sandy has agreed."

Actually, with Elvis's superb hearing abilities, Gu Mengmeng really need not shout so loudly because Elvis heard all of their conversations earlier.

However, being shouted by Gu Mengmeng like that, the feeling was completely different.

Elvis felt a gush of wind under his feet as he walked up to Gu Mengmeng and asked her, "What can I do?"

Gu Mengmeng said, "I remember that a lot of internal organs were thrown by the stream just now. Leader, help me ask, is there still anyone who needs the internal organs? If there's nobody, can you help me grab an intestine over. If they still want it..."

“I’ll go grab it.” Elvis interrupted Gu Mengmeng’s words. What a joke who would not dare to give him the things his Xiaomeng wanted?

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and suddenly thought of something so she pulled onto Elvis who was about to leave. She turned behind to ask Sandy, “What is the original form of your Adali?”

Sandy replied, “He’s from the bear tribe like me.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head as she said, “Leader, I remember that there’s several people who eat bears. Can you see if there’s any bear intestines left? If there’s some for you to choose from, just pick one back.”

Elvis did not ask why and he just nodded to agree. Then, he landed a kiss on Gu Mengmeng’s forehead and turned around to head towards the stream.

Lea was pretty envious, “Everyone has something to do, is it just me who’s so free?”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and said, “You’re the main surgeon today. This pair of hands are to do a surgery later, how can others do it too? If you hurt your hand, who will help Adali sew his wound up later?”

“I sew?” Lea was taken aback.

“Of course it’s you. If it’s not you, don’t tell me it’s me?” Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea’s slight nod and instantly smiled bitterly, “I only have theoretical knowledge and lack real-life experience. And I’m a coward who doesn’t dare to do it myself.”

Lea circled Gu Mengmeng into his arms with his tail and swayed it at times, “Alright then, I’ll listen to Mengmeng. Whatever Mengmeng wants me to do, I’ll do it.”

“Glib-tongued,” Gu Mengmeng added as she grinned. She was not angry and instead, she felt her mood rippling.

In no time, Bode and two other males had picked the tree branches Gu Mengmeng wanted and had also started a fire. Gu Mengmeng instructed Bode to tie three thick branches tightly together using the tree vines, with the angle between each branch to be around 120 degrees, forming an easy frame after the strength is evenly distributed among each branch. Gu Mengmeng used the tree vines to hang the stone pot up. She initially wanted to boil a pot of water on top of the fire for Adali's disinfection but she wrongly estimated the weight of the stone pot. The moment she hung it up, there was a 'Bang' and the tree vines broke while the stone pot fell straight down into the fire, sending sparks everywhere.

Lea's reaction was extremely speedy. He scooped Gu Mengmeng up and locked her in his embrace, turning around in a jiffy to block all the sparks with his back.

Gu Mengmeng truly was scared to her wits. She huddled in Lea's embrace and did not dare to move a single inch. After a long time, she then stretched out her neck to look at the situation but after moving slightly, she heard Lea call, "Mengmeng."

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng was quite guilty and she put her head down, resembling a child who had just made a mistake. However, she lifted her gaze up to peek at Lea's expression.

As expected, Lea could not even maintain his smile.

He supported Gu Mengmeng's shoulders with his arms and stared into her eyes after accommodating to her height and said, "Did you know how scared I was just now? If you're hurt even by a little bit, it would be more painful then slitting my heart."

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lower lip and said, "I didn't know that the pot was that heavy..."

"Yeah?" Lea did not accept her explanation. He was rarely strict like this and did not even allow any space for discussion.

"I know my mistake." Gu Mengmeng lowered her head, her attitude becoming pretty good.

“Where does your mistake lie at?” Lea did not intend to let her off. This female would dare to do anything if he did not educate her.

“The tree branch is too thin. I should have let Bode and the rest find a thicker one. Oh, no no, I should not even have hung the pot up. I should have built a stove instead, This way, it won’t fall at all.” The more Gu Mengmeng talked, the more she found herself reasonable. She nodded her head while saying, “Yeah, correct correct correct, I should have built a stove.”

“Gu Mengmeng.” Lea was really extremely furious. What was this female thinking in her head? Couldn’t she throw this kind of thing to a male for him to think of a solution? That pot was so heavy, if it landed on her, the consequences were so grave that he did not even want to imagine. But, she actually was thinking of building a stove now? Did she not know that she almost lost her life just now?

“And what else?” Lea was finally soothed after getting a guarantee.

Gu Mengmeng blinked her big eyes and tilted her head to look at Lea blankly.

Lea was so angry till he clenched his teeth and really wanted to rip open her brain to see what strange things were stored inside.

But what a pity, that hand that he lifted up eventually did not bear to even hurt her a little. He just pushed the middle of her brows slightly and said, “You need to get used to relying on me. In the future, ask me to do everything and don’t involve yourself in dangerous situations or else I will be worried, you heard me?”

as a severely handicapped person, those kind who can't even take care of their daily life and ask you to do everything.”

“Good girl.” Lea extremely liked the way Gu Mengmeng was acting, coquettishly and shamelessly. He did not know why but he felt that his left chest was filled to the brim. That feeling of replenishment made him feel as if he was sitting above the clouds and floating around like in a dream.

“But will you be irritated by me, if Daddy Lea hates me, what should I do?” Gu Mengmeng pouted and asked.

“If you're worried that I would change, how about deciding my title as soon as possible? Let's mate when your estrus ends. This way, I'll be yours forever. If I change, the Beast Deity will take my life away for you, alright?”

Chapter 138 - Why Is It Me Again?!

Chapter 138: Why Is It Me Again?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Elvis carried two intestines back, Sandy had already ordered Bode and the rest to build a stove and boil some water.

Elvis was quite amazed by the boiling of water but the smell of the intestines in his hands were too strong so he did not dare to step close to Gu Mengmeng. He stood far away and said, “Xiaomeng, do you still need these things?”

Gu Mengmeng looked back and saw Elvis carrying intestines that were as thick as her arm. The bloody intestines were even dripping yellow water and the horrible stench caused Gu Mengmeng to almost vomit. But for the injured Adali, she clenched her teeth and said, “Yes, these things are very important.”

Elvis’s sense of smell was much more sensitive than Gu Mengmeng. The stench of the internal organs almost made him stop breathing but because they were what Gu Mengmeng wanted, he carried it back the whole way and suppressed the intention to throw them away. However, he was still not willing to pass these stinky things to Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng also did not have the intention to wash it on her own. She was kind but not to the extent of a Virgin Mary. Thus, she turned back and ordered Bode, “Bode, wash those bear intestines. Clean them thoroughly, both inside and outside.”

Bode slammed the table, “Why is it me again?!”

Gu Mengmeng spread her hands and said, “Because I can only remember your name.”

Bode thought to himself, “Damn it, f me...”

He was, however, helpless. Gu Mengmeng had such a strong backing, he did not dare to offend her at all. Let alone Elvis and Lea who were already emitting a strong pressure, just Sandy that unhappy look was enough to send a chill down Bode’s spine.

He submitted to his fate and pinched his nose, walking to Elvis. He took the bear intestines from Elvis bitterly and then evolved into a leopard, darting away to the end of the stream to wash the damn things.

Elvis stared at his own hands and said, “I’ll go off for a while, be back soon.”

“Alright.” Gu Mengmeng knew that Elvis had a sharp sense of smell so the remnants of the stench on his hands must have made him fall apart. Seems like he was going to wash his hands.

Sandy inched closer to Gu Mengmeng and smiled with a profound meaning, “Gu Mengmeng is truly the First Beauty of Saint Nazaire. Even Elvis had already gotten used to reporting to you now. He has to get your permission to even wash his hands now.”

Gu Mengmeng did not know whether to cry or laugh, “You’re thinking too much, Leader is just more of a gentleman.”

Sandy made no comment and just nodded her head to sweeten Gu Mengmeng. Then, she asked, “What are we going to do now?”

Gu Mengmeng used the soil to put out the fire and waited for the water to cool to a suitable temperature. Next, she called Sandy’s partners over to help move Adali over and used a small leaf, scooped with water, to wash his wound a little by a little. Then, she scooped some more water to help wash

Lea's hands thoroughly. Until Bode came back with an unwell face, she washed the bear intestines once more with warm water and let Lea tear the bear intestines into strips with his nails so that the fish boned needle can pass through them.

When all preparations were done, Gu Mengmeng handed the fish boned needle to Lea and said, "Daddy Lea, everything's in your hands now."

Lea received the fish boned needle but continued staring at Gu Mengmeng intently. He did not seem like he had the intention to move on to the next step.

Gu Mengmeng thought that Lea did not know what to do, and she guided him, "Daddy Lea, don't be nervous. Just sew the two sides of the wound to close it up, that's all. I believe you, you can definitely do it, all the best~"

Lea's lips twitched as he whined, "My hands will get dirty like that."

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and assured him, "Your hands were definitely be stained with blood, you can just wash it again."

Lea said, "But these hands were washed by you. How can I dirty them for other males?"

Gu Mengmeng was speechless, "..."

After Gu Mengmeng's continuous soothing and assurance that she would wash Lea's hands thoroughly herself after he was done treating Adali's wound, Lea then started sewing the wound up unwillingly.

Not to say, Lea was really brilliant in some professional aspects. The tenacity of the intestine was not very good, but he used ingenious angles and strength to sew Adali's wound up with a solid result despite having no experience. And Adali was also a tough fellow. Even though he was not dosed with any anesthesia, he did not even wince a single bit and just clenched his teeth tight while staring at Sandy. He looked like he could withstand anything as long as he could see Sandy.

The whole process took around three minutes. Gu Mengmeng's suspending heart finally relaxed after Lea finished his last touch perfectly.

Truthfully speaking, Gu Mengmeng was just an onlooker but she could feel the pain herself.

However, after all, he was the man of her bosom friend and she still avoided doing anything that would raise suspicion. So, Gu Mengmeng told Sandy, "Hurry and check on Adali. Lea and I will be going to the stream to wash his hands and we'll be back soon."

"Alright." Sandy also did not know how to take care of an injured person so she just followed Gu Mengmeng's words and sat next to Adali. She stared intently at Adali who was forcing a smile and helped wipe the sweat off his face gently.

Lea evolved into a snow fox and carried Gu Mengmeng on his back to the upper part of the stream. He did not say a word and just rushed into the water directly.

Plop plop, both Gu Mengmeng and Lea landed in the water.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled as she stood up. After wiping the water off her face, she saw Lea standing in the stream with nothing on. The stream water was just nice below his waist and the two abdominal lines that formed a V shape could be seen at times, causing one's imagination to run wild while his broad shoulders and narrow hips enhanced his beautiful body shape. He was not as muscular as Elvis and also did not appear to be full of power and energy like him which prevented people from belittling Elvis. However, he had his sense of muscular and sturdy beauty while the color of his skin was as clear and fair like a jade but there were no feminine sentiments in him at all. Gu Mengmeng could always see the seductive but holy aura around him but she was not once confused with his gender.

His silver white long hair was swept behind him casually and it reflected the crystal water droplets because of the stream water. Under the rays of sunlight, it seemed like it was emitting the halo of the rainbow.

F! Daddy Lea was too rule-breaking!

She really wanted to pounce on him, what to do?

Lea was standing on the spot with unsurpassed flirtatious hues of the generation contained between his eyebrows. He lifted his slim and bony hand from the water, causing countless ripples to form. With his palm facing upwards, his fingers naturally curved towards him and he stretched his index finger forward, then hooked it slightly while calling out with a husky voice, "Mengmeng, come over and help me wash."

Pfft...

Gu Mengmeng just felt something dripping from her nose, something that had a sweet iron taste and was scorching hot.

Gu Mengmeng used the back of her hand to touch it... damn it, she was really nose-bleeding again.

Lea's reaction was faster than Gu Mengmeng's. The water seemed like it did not obstruct him at all and he slid in front of Gu Mengmeng, hugging onto her waist with one hand. With his other hand, he lifted her chin lightly to shift her head up while frowning, his gaze filled with heart-ache.

His rosy lips inched downwards slowly, directly heading towards Gu Mengmeng's lips.

Thump... thump... Gu Mengmeng felt that her heart was jumping out from her chest and the blood from her nose was dripping more fiercely, not having any intention to stop.

First... first kiss? Giving it up here? When her face was filled with nose blood? F, others' first kisses were all romantic, why was hers so pitiful?

But, why did her heart feel like it was expecting something?

Just when Gu Mengmeng was almost prepared to close her eyes, Lea stuck out his pink tongue and gave Gu Mengmeng's tiny nose a light lick.

That dark red blood was stained on his lips like cinnabar, seductive till she almost could not recognize it.

Lea used his index finger to swipe Gu Mengmeng's blood off his tongue and sent it into his mouth. Then, he looked at Gu Mengmeng with mystified eyes, "Just as what I imagined, you're... very delicious."

F?!

Gu Mengmeng shuddered and regained composure from the crimson red romantic bubbles. She pouted while asking, "Daddy Lea, don't tell me you want to eat me?"

Lea thought for a moment and said, "That's a good idea."

Gu Mengmeng lifted her tiny face and wept, "Daddy Lea, please don't eat me."

Lea smiled and gave her nose another lick. This time, the lick was delicate and slow. Gu Mengmeng's entire attention was focused on the tip of her nose. She clearly felt every slight action of Lea and even clearly saw how he sucked her nose at the end.

He licked his own lips with his blood-tainted tongue while that seductive aura he was emitting stopped close to Gu Mengmeng. Lea's thumb gently stroked across Gu Mengmeng's lips and he didn't even bother hiding the desire in his long eyes, "Be my partner or food... what will you choose?"

"I I I... I choose neither!" Gu Mengmeng said as she began to struggle but her weak strength was not worth to even mention in front of Lea.

Lea used one hand to hug onto Gu Mengmeng's waist and the other to support the back of Gu Mengmeng's head, locking her in his arms tightly. That wickedly handsome face slowly inched closer to Gu Mengmeng's ear, and he whispered in an intimate tone, "How about, I choose it for you."

Lea's warm breath blew into Gu Mengmeng's ear. The good-for-nothing female's heart thumped. What the heck, she was at the crucial moment of life and death and she was actually being stuck in stirrings of love.

"No... no need..." Gu Mengmeng stuttered while rejecting him.

However, Lea did not have any intention to let go of her. Instead, he bent down slightly, sinking both their bodies half into the stream.

Without anyone knowing when, Lea had already carried Gu Mengmeng to a deep part of the stream. The water did not reach Lea's chest yet but for Gu Mengmeng, her legs could not even touch the ground at all. To prevent herself from drowning, Gu Mengmeng could only wrap both her arms tightly around Lea's neck and wept while sobbing.

Lea's gaze turned to the Gu Mengmeng in his arms and he said in an extremely seductive tone, "It's alright, it doesn't hurt... after I finish eating you, we will fuse together and that way, we will never separate from each other."

"Sobs... Daddy Lea, don't be like that. I don't want, don't want!" Gu Mengmeng struggled with all her might but to no avail.

Seeing Lea baring his sharp teeth and slowly heading towards Gu Mengmeng's slim and fair neck, Gu Mengmeng was so terrified till her face became pale and she even forgotten how to cry.

Dying in Daddy Lea's mouth? The whole drama ends here? So, the Beast Deity brought me here from the swimming complex just to add dishes for Daddy Lea?

Sob sob sob, damn it, I must have a fake Daddy.

Gu Mengmeng was imagining all the strangest and weirdest thoughts in her mind when her neck felt a warm sensation.

It was wet and slightly painful but it was not the type of agony being pierced by teeth. This feeling was a little weird...

Gu Mengmeng used the corners of her eyes to look at Lea who was lying on the pit of her neck and tried to sound him out, "Daddy... Lea?"

Chapter 141 - Got Hit On By Lea

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

A numb sensation rose to her neck. This feeling was foreign, but Gu Mengmeng knew it definitely wasn't that of her throat getting bitten off. She could feel her heart beating oddly in her chest, confused but not resistant, even a little... enjoyment?

After a long while, Lea finally released the grip of his mouth, gazing at the rosy mark on Gu Mengmeng's neck, as if he was admiring a piece of art.

"That looks really nice," Lea gently stroked the mark he burned on Gu Mengmeng's neck.

Gu Mengmeng touched her neck softly. There was no wound. She lowered her head and looked at her neck from the reflection of the water. A wave of heat rose to her cheeks, turning them bright red.

"Daddy Lea!" Gu Mengmeng covered her neck shyly and asked furiously, "How can you casually plant strawberries on my body?"

Dismissing Gu Mengmeng, Lea pinched her face. "You look especially pretty when you are bullied to the verge of tears."

Pfft...

Blood came spewing out of Gu Mengmeng's nose. Her small hands covered the neck that held her tiny red-hot face, puffing hard yet unable to retort.

She got hit on. Gu Mengmeng knew deep in her heart that she definitely got hit on by Lea.

"Your delicious looking expression, how about you show only for my eyes to see?" Lea said as he held Gu Mengmeng's wrist softly, slowly pulling her tiny hands toward his chest. His gaze swept across the sky with melancholy.

Every word from those thin lips opened up her heart like a cockle shell that has been softly touched by the warmth of a hand. A strange excitement traveled down that gentle yet sensitive nerve, heating up Gu Mengmeng's body from the inside and causing her face to become burning hot. She did not care about the hickey on her neck and used her only mobile hand to pat water on her burning face, in attempts to cool it down.

Under the rays of the sun and through the refraction of the water, Lea's smile seemed so unreal. It was beautiful like poppies in paradise, producing a fatal attraction.

Once again, Lea's lips slowly inched towards Gu Mengmeng's. This time... landing steadily right on hers.

Neither being invasive nor moving away, he only positioned his lips on hers, to convey how much he treasured and adored her.

After a long while, Lea slowly moved his lips away. He proceeded to ask, full of ambiguity, "Since I kissed you without permission, should I apologize, or should I confess?"

Gu Mengmeng's heart stopped for a moment. Why did this sentence sound so familiar?

After going blank for some time, she finally recalled that it was a quote that she had previously read to Sandy from "Descendants of the Sun", but because Elvis forcibly acted out a Qiongyao Opera, shipping her with Yoo Sijin, so she only told the story until that part.

Gu Mengmeng pouted, slightly displeased that Lea even had to plagiarize others' confessions, not willing to think of one himself. She mumbled, "What are you doing trying to copying him?"

Lea lightly held the back of Gu Mengmeng's head and kissed her forehead, then replied, "I am willing to copy anything as long as that is what you like. Even if it is having to annihilate myself to become someone else's shadow in your eyes... I am willing to do it."

Her heart was jabbed ruthlessly.

Gu Mengmeng felt immense guilt for her previous displeasure. Her hand that was placed at Lea's heart was not released throughout. She strategically laid on Lea's chest, placing the side of her face at his bare chest, listening to the sound of his strong and forceful heartbeat. Beating once... twice...

Getting into a relationship is too much, Gu Mengmeng asked herself and came to a conclusion that she was unable to make such a commitment.

But perhaps, dating sounds... not too bad.

Chapter 142 - Just Confess

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Just confess,” Gu Mengmeng whispered, her cheeks flushed.

The corners of Lea’s lips curved upward as if he had settled something in his heart, that later spread throughout his body.

Changing his position, he used his forearm to support Gu Mengmeng’s backside, carrying her like one would carry a child. He used his other hand to lift her chin up, with a gaze that could drown her, “I swear to the Beast Deity under my name that I will dedicate my loyalty to you in this lifetime. From today onwards, only you are my God, my life, my everything.”

Gu Mengmeng felt all the blood in her body rush to her head, making her face extremely hot.

She puckered her lips that were dry from the heat, replying hesitantly, “I mean, I am willing to date you... but I am not ready to mate.”

Gu Mengmeng had already explained her concept of love to Lea a long time ago, and Lea had kept in mind what she mentioned about the process of love. He was already very satisfied to be able to transition from “friends” to “lovers” in such a short period of time.

No matter how much he wanted to mate with Gu Mengmeng, being the one rightfully hers, he had to first respect her feelings. He did not wish to force her.

How could he aggrieve his woman?

“Tell me, what kind of relationship... is dating?” Lea inched toward Gu Mengmeng’s lips slowly, stopping a finger’s length away. Using a husky tone, he asked, “Is it a relationship where when I want to kiss you, I can kiss you?”

Gu Mengmeng knew deep in her heart the consequence if she had nodded at that moment. Her heart beating fast, she replied with a shy and expectant “Hmm”.

Lea lifted her little chin, softly directing her lips into his mouth.

This time, Lea’s tongue skillfully entered Gu Mengmeng’s mouth, wantonly and greedily tasting its sweetness.

Lea only released his grip on her reluctantly when she was almost about to suffocate.

Both their gazes were dreamy, and Lea clearly felt the strong beating in the left side of his chest. He knew exactly what that familiar yet unfamiliar feeling meant. Though he could not express it clearly, but once again, he was absolutely sure that he was unable to let go of a female like Gu Mengmeng in this lifetime.

After all, a cooler season was coming, and the stream was still somewhat cold. Lea was afraid that Gu Mengmeng would catch a cold, hence they did not soak in the water for too long. He did not know where he had lost the beast skin dress when he transformed, nor did he want to look for it. He simply carried her ashore, because he knew clearly that Elvis had caught up with him, and he had clean clothes for Gu Mengmeng to change into.

In other words, Elvis definitely saw everything that just happened.

Lea and Elvis had both hoped that they could successfully minimize Gu Mengmeng’s interest in Yoo Sijin before he arrived, or even to replace him. This was a common opinion and need not be discussed with words as they had such a tacit understanding. That was also why Elvis did not appear, despite having arrived nearby.

However, this did not represent that Elvis could tolerate Lea threatening his position as the first partner, and Lea did not actually mean to do so. So, Lea decided to bring Gu Mengmeng to Elvis, firstly to take clean clothes for her to change into, preventing her from catching a cold, and secondly to use that opportunity to give Elvis an explanation.

Chapter 143 - Just Call Me Daddy

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

But Lea's idea caused Gu Mengmeng to struggle, damn he was naked!

She didn't think much when they were in the water, but now that they are out...

The image was too vivid, and Gu Mengmeng's nosebleed was about to be uncontrollable.

"Daddy Lea!" Gu Mengmeng grabbed onto Lea's neck, stopping him from continuing to go ashore like stepping on an emergency brake.

Lea stopped in his steps, smiling lovingly, "You're still going to call me 'Daddy Lea'?"

Gu Mengmeng was tongue-tied, damn, feeling more embarrassed than before that she called her boyfriend Daddy.

"What kind of nicknames should there be between lovers?" While Lea asked that question sincerely, it sounded as if he was asking the obvious to Gu Mengmeng.

The redness in Gu Mengmeng's face did not fade throughout. Resisting the surge of emotions, she asked shyly, "Then... then what do I call you? Lele? Or Yaya?"

Lea clearly did not like any of the nicknames he heard, so he shook his head and replied, "Just call me Daddy, it sounds much nicer."

Pfft...

Gu Mengmeng could feel deeply that Lea was just trying to tease her.

However, Gu Mengmeng just could not get angry to Lea's face, and could only lightly punched his chest bashfully to express her anger. She might as well just call Lea by his name, instead of using any other title.

"Lea, do you really decide to just go back like this?" Gu Mengmeng's tiny eyes peeked downwards. Since Lea is now her boyfriend, she thought that sneaking a peek... should not be too much.

Lea followed her line of sight, looking down at his lower body that has been half-hidden in the water, asking sincerely, "What about it?"

"Your... your body will be bare for everyone to see." Gu Mengmeng thought she still overestimated her psychological endurance. Usually, she dared to say anything when she was joking around, but when the real thing is right in front of her eyes, for the first time, she only peeked once before quickly looking away. Even if it meant that she didn't see anything carefully, Gu Mengmeng still felt her heart rising to her throat.

Trying to understand what Gu Mengmeng was saying, Lea thought for a moment. However, he really could think of what was the issue. Didn't everyone... walk around like this?

Gu Mengmeng instantly felt embarrassed when she saw the 3 words "Do Not Understand" evidently plastered across Lea's face. She thought to herself, did this Beast Deity not care about anything else besides whether couples are getting a divorce? Did he not grasp even the basic morals?

A thought remains a thought, Gu Mengmeng did not care to diss the beast's Community Aunt style, only thinking of how she did not want to let random person see a fully naked image of her boyfriend. So she thought for a moment and begun to feign wanting to remove her clothes. She slowly unfastened her clothes while saying, "There are fish scales all over my clothes, making them smell fishy. Now that they are too wet and uncomfortable to wear, I will just remove them and we can run back to Sandy's both wearing nothing together, free for the tribe to see us bare and naked."

Lea smiled and pinched Gu Mengmeng's nose, "Elvis is already waiting for us with clean clothes. With me and him spreading our powers together, even the nearest mosquitoes dare not come near us. After you get changed, we will go to Sandy's together, then nobody will see us naked."

Gu Mengmeng held her forehead, could anyone feel her damn desperation? Although it is not puppy love, but sharing your first damn kiss with your boyfriend and having your mom carrying clothes a distance away, waiting for you to change into...

Chapter 144 - I Have Always Been Here

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

As Lea was speaking, Elvis walked out from the shade of the trees.

Gu Mengmeng lowered her head like a child that had done something wrong, not daring to look into Elvis' eyes.

She already knew that it was a misunderstanding with regard to whether Elvis was going to be her godmother. Yet, why was she still afraid to face him?

Gu Mengmeng did not wish to think into it, neither did she dare to, and could only look down while wringing her fingers.

“Change your clothes, wearing wet ones can make you sick easily.” Elvis stretched out his hands and took Gu Mengmeng out of Lea's arms, then said to him, “Come out once you've transformed back to your original form, she does not want others to see you like this.”

Lea nodded without question, transforming into a fox and shook off the water on his body. His fur instantly fluffed up, without a trace of being in a sorry plight like a drowned rat. It was as if it took him a second to be blown into place by a blow-dryer.

Sure enough, God treats different people differently after all. Gu Mengmeng recalled how long she would usually have to blow her hair dry, deeply feeling the biasness of God..

But, her boyfriend is truly good-looking. As a human or a beast, he has an attraction that makes you not want to take your eyes off him.

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to find a place to shelter from the wind, then started to remove her clothes.

Gu Mengmeng covered her chest, “It’s fine it’s fine, I can change by myself.”

Elvis stared at Gu Mengmeng with a distant gaze for a long while, his hands in mid-air. He finally slowly put down his hands, turning around desolately, “I will look out for you over there. Call me when you need help.”

“Oh, alright.” Gu Mengmeng felt a little guilty as she was the one who had flirted with Elvis, not knowing what was going on. From the moment they first met by the lake, everything she had done was sufficient for him to misunderstand. Although she did not mean it, now that she knew the concept of love in the beast world was different from that of her own, she had no reason to continue misleading him.

Moreover, since she had already decided to date Lea, she could no longer give Elvis any meaningless hope.

Then, Gu Mengmeng yelled while changing into her dress, “Elvis, are you still there?”

“I have always been here.” Elvis replied.

Gu Mengmeng: “Lea confessed to me, and I agreed to date him.”

Elvis gave a long pause, before slowly acknowledging with a “Hmm”.

Gu Mengmeng: “Back at where we lived, a female can only be together with a male. Since I have agreed to date Lea, I will not have any other lover...”

Elvis’ voice remained soft, as if he did not care. He then carefully asked: “Then... what about Yoo Sijin?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled while shaking her head helplessly: “Is that joke still not over? I thought I have already told you guys, that is only a story, there is no such person. Even if there is, his female is Kang Moyeon, not Gu Mengmeng.”

Silence, another long silence.

It was only until Gu Mengmeng almost thought that Elvis was gone when he asked, “Then... what about me?”

This time round, it was Gu Mengmeng’s turn to not know what to do. Her hand that was tying her shoulder strap suddenly halted, not knowing how to answer to that.

It was as if time stopped at that moment, as Elvis’”What about me?” replayed endlessly in her head. It was merely a simple sentence formed by 3 words, yet... she did not know how to reply.

Elvis turned around and walked over from behind the rock, taking the straps from Gu Mengmeng’s hands and tying them up for her while saying “Since you are now at Saint Nazaire, you only have to follow the rules here.”

Gu Mengmeng still did not say anything, only looking up at Elvis’ back lit face.

Elvis’ facial features were shrouded in the sun, unable to be deciphered, and Gu Mengmeng could not guess what kind of expression he had. She could only hear him say: “But you will set the rules here.”

Chapter 145 - My Lea

Elvis did not wait for Gu Mengmeng to reply further, only carrying Gu Mengmeng, who had worn all her clothes properly, in one arm while using his other arm to carry her dirty clothes.

These were supposed to be thrown away, but... she said to wash and wear them again, and he had agreed to her request.

Lea had transformed into a snow fox as promised, laying on the ground waiting for them in the distance.

He had heard Gu Mengmeng and Elvis' conversation. The slight joy in his heart was undeniable.

The only, far away phrase, but Gu Mengmeng said she would... give to him?

Which male can resist such a temptation in the beast world? Yet, Lea clearly knew deep down that he alone was unable to protect Gu Mengmeng. When the day comes that her identity becomes exposed, the beast world would become a mess. Then, how would he fight others while protecting her at the same time?

Lea felt sufficiently satisfied that Gu Mengmeng had said that, even if she could not fulfill her words.

"Just let Lea carry me on his back." Gu Mengmeng was slightly awkward, not knowing how to face Elvis.

It was obvious that Elvis's spine froze, yet he did not say much, only placing Gu Mengmeng on Lea's back. Then he told them: "You guys go over to Sandy's first. I will dig a hole for Mengmeng to deposit her old clothes. I will fetch the both of you later."

Lea replied Elvis something in the beast language that Gu Mengmeng could not understand. However, Elvis smiled bitterly while nodding, before turning around to take his leave.

When Lea and Gu Mengmeng returned to Sandy's hole, Adali woke up miraculously. His wounds had yet to heal, but he evidently looked so much better. Unless it was the momentary recovery of consciousness prior to death, he definitely will not die.

Upon seeing Gu Mengmeng return, Sandy immediately came to greet her, holding her tiny hands: "Gu Mengmeng, you're too magical. Look, Adali is looking so much better. This way, he would be able to recover in no time!"

Gu Mengmeng smiled, slightly embarrassed: "I merely spoke, it's all thanks to Lea."

Sandy did not think so, and went looking for Bode for a piece of beast skin to wrap around Lea's waist, lowering her voice saying: "Lea has never treated an injury like this, the idea was obviously yours. So, it is all thanks to you that Adali could survive."

Gu Mengmeng copied Sandy, lowering her own voice, whispering: "Why are we speaking so softly?"

Sandy gave Gu Mengmeng a look like she was stupid: "If Lea hears this, I'm dead."

Gu Mengmeng retorted innocently: "He can hear you even if you speak like this."

Sandy paused for a moment and looked at Lea with a full face of fear, biting her lower lip, unable to say anything. She then violently pulled Gu Mengmeng: "Gu Mengmeng, tell Lea to not be angry."

Gu Mengmeng laughed: "My Lea is definitely not so petty."

Sandy and Lea both stopped in their tracks.

My Lea...?

These two words were evidently sufficient in dismissing any signs of anger in Lea. After all, Sandy was still Gu Mengmeng's good friend, and Lea would not have a dispute with her. It was like how no matter how much Gu Mengmeng ordered Bode around, Bode would not flare up at her regardless of how unwilling he was. It was loving someone else on the account of another.

As compared to Lea being mild on the outside and wild on the inside, Sandy's attitude was more difficult to endure. She suddenly raised her voice, asking with a surprised expression: "Gu Mengmeng, do you mean that you're going to mate with Lea? This means that you will always stay in Saint Nazaire? Even if Yoo Sijin comes to find you, you wouldn't leave with him, would you?"

Chapter 146 - If Not Now, Then When?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng really did not want to continue with this Yoo Sijin joke anymore.

She sneaked a peek at Adali lying at the side, and he looked a lot better than before. Gu Mengmeng couldn't help but admire the recovery ability of the crazy male beast. Pulling through a critical condition with as little effort as taking a damn bath?

But after all, if she were to care too much about others' maleness, it would easily cause misunderstandings. Besides...

Gu Mengmeng's face turned red, subconsciously glancing at Lea, meeting right with his long, narrow and amorous eyes.

She smiled and looked away, but her heart was still filled with sweetness.

Pulling onto Sandy's arm, Gu Mengmeng replied: "No, no I'm not leaving, I can't bear to part with my baby Sandy."

Sandy hugged Gu Mengmeng's waist, her tiny face rubbing on her chest and her furry ears tickling Gu Mengmeng's chin, causing her to giggle uncontrollably.

"Alright alright, I see you probably weren't full from the meal just now. I brought the pot to make you guys another meal."

"Really?!" Sandy's gluttony side once again showed itself once Adali's condition stabilized.

Gu Mengmeng pointed at the stone pot and said, “Look, the person eating the meal has already brought over the cooking materials, how could I lie to you?”

Sandy nodded hurriedly, her eyes lighting up upon seeing the stone pot.

Forgive Sandy for not having seen much of the world. In her eyes, this pot has already been endowed with the title “Light of Artifacts”.

Gu Mengmeng was efficient and not soft-handed when commanding Bode. Bode was responsible for tasks such as collecting firewood to boiling water, while she squatted at the side handling the fish. Since she wanted to roast them for Sandy, Bode had already gotten rid of its scales and organs. Gu Mengmeng only had to use a sharp piece of stone to carve the fish, roughly cutting it into several large pieces. Then, she smashed the ginger that Lea had handed her, trying her best to chop them up.

Once the water in the pot was boiled, Gu Mengmeng handed the whole big fish bone, fish head and pot to Bode for him to stir continuously while she sat aside to chat with Sandy.

“What about me? What should I do?” Lea came over, seemingly dissatisfied that Gu Mengmeng had thrown him aside once she saw Sandy.

When did Gu Mengmeng ignore him? No one knew how many times her big eyes had peeked at him. She would have been more intimate with him if not for the other people who were around.

But since Lea presented himself to her, wouldn't it come off too oblivious if she weren't a little mushy?

At this thought, Gu Mengmeng wiggled herself into Lea's arms on her own accord, leaning on his chest, “Of course you should accompany me.”

Lea smiled with a gentle gaze, “Alright.”

Lea took the initiative to wrap Gu Mengmeng up with his huge tail. He did not seem to mind that his tail had become her mobile sofa. He only knew that his Mengmeng was in estrus, and he definitely would not let her sit on the cold floor.

Gu Mengmeng had always been fond of Lea's tail. Now, it is even more justifiable to stroke it. If not now, then when?

Sandy, who was watching from the side, could sense the slight change in atmosphere between Gu Mengmeng and Lea, as slow as she was. She could finally heave a sigh of relief. If this is so... Gu Mengmeng will always stay in Saint Nazaire, right? They can then always remain good friends, right?

At this thought, Sandy backed off to make some space for Lea and Gu Mengmeng while she went off to watch Bode cook the fish soup.

Chapter 147 - Were You Afraid That I Wanted To Seek Revenge But Couldn't Find Where You Live?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng only added the smashed ginger into the pot when Bode was almost done cooking the fish soup. When the soup boiled, she then added the fish for it to cook.

Actually, a meal cooked with only fish and ginger is similar to that of a meal eaten during the month of confinement, and really could not be considered a delicacy. The only reason Gu Mengmeng's cooking was so well-loved was because the food structure here was too scarce and simple.

The fish soup that was cooked for about two hours was simply exploding with fragrance, so much so that it attracted almost everyone in Saint Nazaire.

However, most males still followed territorial boundaries and did not step foot into Sandy's home, but those females who did not care about causing trouble did not bother respecting the boundaries.

With Nina taking the lead, she and another female whom Gu Mengmeng did not remember the name of walked in together. Nina taking long strides as though she was strolling about her own backyard, while the other female followed behind like a servant. Both of them approached Gu Mengmeng, one standing behind the other.

The wound on Nina's neck was still hurting, having suffered a few times in the hands of Gu Mengmeng. After looking around, she noticed that Elvis was not present, which made her calmer than before. Then, she cleared her throat pretentiously while pointing to Sandy's pot, asking: "Hey, what are you doing, you lowly half-orc female?"

Sandy stood up in a hurry, clasping her hands and replied, "It's... it's not me, Gu Mengmeng is the one who is making something delicious."

Gu Mengmeng knew Sandy was used to being bullied by Nina, so she was rather taken aback that she would talk back to Nina for her.

What reason did Gu Mengmeng have to not protect a friend who, for her, did not cower despite clearly being afraid?

Hence, she got out of Lea's arms, standing with a straightened back, her arms naturally wrapped around Sandy's. Since she was not as tall as Sandy, she appeared like a timid, tiny bird beside her. Yet this "tiny bird" was somewhat aggressive, and had frightened Nina till her legs were wobbly, even without opening her mouth.

Gu Mengmeng sneered contemptuously, instigating, "Why? Are you here to apologize and admit your wrongdoings to Adali?"

"Apologize?" Nina's sharp voice pierced through the air, hurting Gu Mengmeng's eardrums.

Gu Mengmeng dug her ears with her tiny hands, asking unhappily, "Why are you going to act as if nothing happened when you beat up someone like that? Did you strut here boldly because you were afraid that I wanted to seek revenge but couldn't find where you live?"

Nina was afraid that Gu Mengmeng would hit her. Furthermore, Elvis had told her clearly with actions earlier today: If she were to provoke Gu Mengmeng, he would kill her.

Since she was frightened, she did not appear as triumphant. However, at the end of the day, Nina had been "First Beauty of Saint Nazaire" for a long time, with the support of admirers all around her. She was used to being spoiled, and the self righteousness in her bones had caused her to not have a wise understanding of herself. She thought, since Elvis is not around, anyway...

She then mustered her courage, retorting, "When males and females fight, the outcome will either be injury or death. How could you blame me for that? Why must I apologize when his uselessness caused him to lose against my maleness?"

"Yo-ho," Gu Mengmeng said as she started to roll up her sleeves. Nina had seen this position twice, and her conditioned reflexes told her that this meant Gu Mengmeng was about to beat her up again. Frightened, she took two big steps back, staring cautiously at her. Gu Mengmeng did not bother about Nina, pointing right at her nose, "Since you presented your despicable self to me, I would be sorry if I didn't beat you up today."

Chapter 148 - Lea, What Are You Going to Do?

Gu Mengmeng had almost dashed to Nina when she was lifted by the waist.

Gu Mengmeng instinctively thought it was Elvis, she turned back and was ready to complain when she met eyes with Lea's smiling face.

Gu Mengmeng said, "Lea, why did you start lifting me up too?"

But Lea just tapped on her little nose sulkily. Looking at Gu Mengmeng swaying back and forth in his hands like a cub, unconvincingly held his hand and tried to bite into it, but was reluctant to use force, he asked, "What did you promise me?"

Gu Mengmeng blinked her big eyes and shook her head honestly, completely forgotten what she had said moments before.

Pointing at the stone pot that was boiling water, Lea raised his eyebrows and looked at Gu Mengmeng with narrowed eyes, as though considering the ways to punish this little bastard that would immediately forget whatever she said afterwards.

Gu Mengmeng followed Lea's finger and stared at the stone pot. It was after a while before she remembered that she had casually made promises to Lea when the stone pot was dropping just now, things like 'In the future, I will treat myself as a severely handicapped person, those kind who can't even take care of their daily life and ask you to do everything'.

Blushing, Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and swung into Lea's arms, giving him a full embrace.

Lea caught her steadily and waited for Gu Mengmeng to command him on female-related matters with smiling eyes.

Gu Mengmeng held her head high under Lea's encouraging and anticipated look, she pointed to Nina and said, "Lea, help me punish her, will you?"

"As you wish."

Lea's smile bloomed across his face visibly like a blossoming poppy, his voice was as rich as the fluent melody played by a cello and the four simple words had made Gu Mengmeng's maiden heart explode compared to any other time. Feeling like a cub waiting to be fed, Gu Mengmeng wished she could hold the fanboards and shout, "Lea is so handsome, boyfriend vibe to the max!"

Lea put Gu Mengmeng beside Sandy, he felt that Sandy's side was her favorite place other than his arms.

After settling down the fan-girl Gu Mengmeng, Lea turned to faced Nina. Although he was smiling, Nina sensed a shiver down her spine, even more chilly than the time Elvis had held her neck. She moved two steps back and stuttered, "Le... Lea, what are you going to do? I am Saint Nazaire's precious female."

"Indeed, you are Saint Nazaire's precious female," Lea said slowly, like a narrator stating facts in an organized manner. "But, Mengmeng is my female. To me, she is a million times more precious than you."

After that, Lea's nails grew out one by one, Gu Mengmeng could sensed the murderous intentions just by looking at him from behind, not to mention Nina whom was directly facing him. Nina's legs were like jelly and she fell to the ground like a worthless piece of garbage, she did not even have the strength to run away.

This time, Gu Mengmeng did not stop Lea. One reason was that she believed Lea know when to stop and he would never really take Nina's life no matter how scary he looked, the second was that Adali had almost lost his life with serious injuries, if Nina was not given a harsh lesson, Gu Mengmeng felt like she might not be able to face Sandy in the future. After all, she was involved in this.

As for the third reason...

Gu Mengmeng glanced at the males whom were getting restless at the boundaries of Sandy's home. The moment Lea had started to launch the attack, the males could not resist their prehistoric strength and dashed in, blocking in front of Nina.

Chapter 149 - Lea Killing All of Nina's Partners in the Blink of an Eye

The appearance of Nina's partners was what Lea had wanted.

Warming up his wrists, Lea said, "It is equivalent to ignoring Saint Nazaire's tribe rules for you to trespass others' boundaries. As the witch doctor, I cannot pretend that I did not see it."

Nina's partners looked at each other, Lea's words sounded wrong, but it also seemed like everything made sense. It was impossible for their brains to think of a rebuttal to Lea. Moreover, them trespassing boundaries was a fact, there was nowhere they could start arguing for this. So one of Nina's partners knelt down by Lea's foot in a submissive way, which was a position to show a beast's obedience. After all, they do not dare to go against Lea.

"We just wanted to bring Nina back and we had no intention of violating Sandy's boundary. Lea... Oh, I mean, Witch Doctor, please forgive us."

Lea did not buy the give-ins of Nina's partners. He casually played with his sharp claws and let out a faint smile, "Bring Nina back? That's a no. My Mengmeng had asked me to... punish her."

Nina's partners were shocked, they started at Lea with bewildered eyes and said, "But Nina is a female."

Lea's smile deepens into a suffocating charm, but also frightening as though it was soaked in poison.

“Indeed, Nina is a female.” Lea’s wrist turned and grabbed Nina’s partner that was blocking in front of him. He slowly raised his arm until the male’s legs were off the ground and kicking in the air but powerless to fight back. While Lea maintained his loving smile and said quietly, “But you guys aren’t.”

With that, he hurled the almost suffocated male to the side forcefully, while changed into a snow fox and jumped into the air. With the male’s stomach as a stepping stone, Lea started the fight with the rest of Nina’s partners whom had already changed into their original forms.

Forgive Gu Mengmeng for not seeing everything clearly, as it was simply too fast for her. The whole process was... approximately... three seconds?

Gu Mengmeng blinked, regained her conscious and walked towards Lea numbly. Looking at Lea’s clean hands and the seven or eight males laying by his feet, she was beyond shock.

The males that were in their beast forms were obviously unable to stand up. Everyone had only one wound, not deadly but strangely clean and uniform. All the wounds were at the abdomen and exactly the same as Adali’s, in terms of depth and shape. At least for Gu Mengmeng, it was as though the wounds were factory made, copied and pasted from Adali’s.

Lea chosen to transform into a beast as he knew Gu Mengmeng was scared of blood, one reason was to finish the battle quickly, the other was that, the stain from the beast form would disappear with him transforming back to human form again. So when Gu Mengmeng walked towards him, there was not a trace of blood on his body. He was lily white and as pure as jade.

Holding Gu Mengmeng’s small hands, Lea asked endearingly, “Is Gu Mengmeng satisfied with this punishment? If you want... I could make Nina have the same scar too.”

Gu Mengmeng immediately shook her head. What she meant by ‘punishment’ was merely a few punches that would bruise them, she did not think of asking Lea to bruised them so badly. But what was done could not be undone, she could not scold Lea as Adali was also injured to this state by Nina's partners.

“Forget it, I think they should have learned their lessons and won't bully Sandy in the future.”

The faint smile was on Lea the whole time, although it got a little colder whenever he was not looking at Gu Mengmeng. “You all should be fortunate for being a part of Saint Nazaire, if not...”

Deep moans were let out by Nina's partners in their beast forms as they could not return back into their human shapes. It was a total submission under an absolute difference in power. They clearly knew, if they were not a member of Saint Nazaire, Lea's claw would have definitely dug their hearts out and not just tearing their abdomens.

Chapter 150 - From Today Onwards, I'm Yours

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“My Mengmeng does not like the smell of blood, get lost yourselves or... I will do it,” Before Lea had finished his words, a few of Nina’s partners that did not dare to rush out just now started to walk in from the boundaries of Sandy’s place cautiously. They stopped and glanced at Lea every few steps they took. Seeing Lea just turning and hugging Mengmeng back to the stove with no intentions of bothering them, they mustered the courage to quickly run in and dragged their injured family members out. While the long-stunned Nina had to be carried away by one of her partners, her eyes were filled with shock and blankness, as though she could not comprehend what had happened.

After Nina had left, there was only Sandy’s family, Gu Mengmeng, Lea and the half-orc female that had followed Nina along, resembling a maidservant.

Gu Mengmeng looked at the half-orc female and asked, “Your master had left, why haven’t you?”

The female bit her lower lip, looking very anxious. After hesitating for a while, she asked timidly, “Can I... stay with you?”

“Oh?” Gu Mengmeng raised her eyebrows and asked, “Aren’t you Nina’s friend? It won’t be suitable for you to be with us, will it?”

That female shook her head like a pellet drum, with tears in her eyes, she said, “I am not friends with Nina, just that she was the perfect female, while Sandy and I are merely half-orc females. If we don’t listen to her, I will be bullied. I don’t want to be bullied anymore, please, let me stay with you, is that alright?”

Gu Mengmeng had a shallow understanding with the people in Saint Nazaire, so she looked at Sandy, asking for her opinion. Sandy pulled Gu Mengmeng's hand and looked back with a slight pleading look, probably because she felt the empathy being in the same situation as this half-orc female.

Gu Mengmeng thought, no matter what, one more friend was better than one more enemy. If the person had already expressed her good-will, why did she have to reject coldly? Moreover, although this female had always followed along Nina, she did not do anything to harm Sandy other than self-protection. Since Sandy had already pleaded for her, what was there not to agree?

So Gu Mengmeng stretched out her hand to the female and said, "Hello, my name is Gu Mengmeng."

That female held Gu Mengmeng's hand with both of hers, before bending her knees and kneeling on the ground... This posture was exactly the same as how Nina's partners had begged for pardon from Lea just now.

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, she wanted to pull the female up, but realized her weight was nowhere close to what she could have managed. A few tries and the female did not budge at all.

Gu Mengmeng asked, "What are you doing? Get up, get up!"

Lea rested his hand on Gu Mengmeng's shoulder lightly, he turned his face away and smiled, "She was showing her loyalty to you, she will get up if you pat her head."

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched. Why the heck was forging a friendship so similar to training a dog? What was with loyalty and what-nots.

But looking at the female lying on the ground refusing to get up, Gu Mengmeng could not do anything but to pat her head as a form of accepting her loyalty.

That female raised her head with eyes full of tears and looked at Gu Mengmeng, “My name is Maya. From today onwards, I am yours.”

Gu Mengmeng felt her veins bulged, why did the sentence “From today onwards, I am yours” sounded extremely awkward?

“Maya, friendship is something that is mutual, we are equal and I am not of a higher status than you, so you don’t have to be like this,” Gu Mengmeng said as she leaned into Lea’s arms. She looked at Lea’s side face and smiled, “Besides, I cannot make you mine. Only he... is mine.”

Chapter 151 - You Want to Compete with Me Too?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea felt a sense of enjoyment at Gu Mengmeng's words.

Just for this short while, let him enjoy the title of being the 'only'. Even though it might not be forever, today must have been the happiest day of his entire life.

With hands around Gu Mengmeng's shoulders, Lea looked at Maya as though looking at a rival in love, he asked, "What? You want to compete with me too?"

Maya was shocked, she leaned backwards and fell to the ground. She looked at Lea with horror and said, "No... No, Witch Doctor, I didn't mean to..."

"That's right." Lea held his head high haughtily and walked past Maya with Gu Mengmeng in his arms. These few steps were more coquettish than ever.

The fish bones at Bode's side were already stewed till milky white. Even Gu Mengmeng smelled the fragrance and was all ready to start eating, not to mention Sandy and Maya.

Gu Mengmeng hopped over to the pot and put in the sliced ginger, before adding in the fish meat after letting it boil for a while. After approximately five minutes, Gu Mengmeng clapped her hands and said, "It's done!"

Reaching her hands out to grab, Gu Mengmeng then realized that this pathetic Beast World did not even have bowls and chopsticks. She was able to hold the tree branches to eat while barbecuing, but how was she going to drink the fish soup? Hold the stone pot and drink from it?

Gu Mengmeng glanced around. Lea was confused, but he followed Gu Mengmeng's glances while asking, "What are you looking for?"

Gu Mengmeng described the shapes of bowl and chopsticks briefly. Lea nodded and seemed to be deep in his thoughts, before leaving a light kiss on her forehead and said, "I know where to find things similar to that, wait for me to go and get it."

"Okay," Gu Mengmeng nodded obediently. Boyfriends... are such capable beings.

Sandy and Maya crowded beside Gu Mengmeng and the three little heads surrounded the pot, sniffing and drooling over the fragrance. Just when they almost could not resist the temptation, Lea finally came back. But looking at what was on his hands, Gu Mengmeng turned into a stone on the spot as though she was struck by lightning.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea holding half of a tiger skull in his left hand, upside down. The eye area was shaved till flat, while the two furry ears were still dripping with water. It clearly showed that the thoughtful Lea had carefully washed the head after retrieving it. But, even a tiger skull dripping with water was scary, okay?

And look at his right hand, what were those things that suspiciously resembled the ribs of a tiger?

Gu Mengmeng took a few steps backwards instinctively, almost bumping into the stone pot behind her. Lea rushed to her in a sprint, he grabbed Gu Mengmeng's waist with the hand that was holding onto the bones of the tiger and she fell into his arms.

"You had promised not to make me worry," Lea said solemnly.

Gu Mengmeng's teeth were chattering in fear, she stuttered, "Erm... Erm well, well, can you put whatever is in your hands down.... before having a talk?"

Lea did not understand, but he followed what she said.

Gu Mengmeng looked at the half tiger skull and the ribs that were put aside by Lea and pulled him to somewhere further away before saying, “Did you actually want me to eat with that?”

Lea looked at the tiger skull and nodded his head genuinely.

Gu Mengmeng suddenly tripped and fell into Lea’s arms, she moved and murmured, “Can your interests be any less gory... That thing is too scary, I don’t dare to use it.”

Lea broke into a grin and comforted Gu Mengmeng by patting her head that was snuggling in his chest. “It is just food, don’t be scared.”

Gu Mengmeng had no tears left to cry, she could only let out a roar in her mind, “Can you please don’t use that loving expression and say such horrible things!”

Chapter 152 - Indeed, It Was Delicious.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Seeing that Gu Mengmeng was really afraid of that, Lea hugged her and said, “We won’t use it if you don’t like it, I can think of other alternatives.”

Gu Mengmeng immediately shook her head, she did not dare to let Lea think of other ways, if not god knows what skull he might bring back later.

Gu Mengmeng looked around, and an idea flashed into her mind. She pointed to the branches that Bode had brought back for lighting a fire and said, “This, this, we can use this.”

Lea followed her small hand and looked over at the branch that was no thicker than Gu Mengmeng’s arm, with a clearly confused look. “This?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head firmly and answered, “Yes, yes, yes, this indeed.”

Gu Mengmeng said while running out, gesturing for Lea to cut out about a branch of ten centimeters thick, before digging out the wooden core and creating a very vintage and simple wooden bowl. But the modern wooden bowls were oiled, water would surely seeped through this simple one and there would be sawdust if used directly. Hence, Gu Mengmeng plucked two big leaves from the tree and put it one on top of another at the bottom of the bowl. After that, she took another bowl and filled fish meat and soup into the one with the leaves.

Being someone that naturally cared for others, Gu Mengmeng wanted to pass the bowl of fish soup to Sandy, but was carried away from the pot by Lea to somewhere empty.

Lea was in his half-beast form, making a personal sofa for Gu Mengmeng with his big tail, while he sat cross-legged, his elbow resting against his curved knees and he looked at Gu Mengmeng, enjoying the sight of her eating.

Gu Mengmeng was using two thin branches as the chopsticks, although slightly difficult to use because of it being crooked, it was nonetheless better than tiger ribs.

Taking a piece of fish meat into her mouth, the taste was firm, sweet and fresh, the fish meat soup was something different after a few meals of the roasted meat.

Gu Mengmeng then used the chopsticks to pick up one slice and feed it to Lea. “You should try some, it’s not bad.”

Lea went closer to the fish meat and sniffed it with his nose, before curving his lips. Then, the mouth that seemed to be going after the meat turned and went past the wooden chopsticks, kissing onto Gu Mengmeng’s lips.

This kiss was only at surface level, but it made Gu Mengmeng’s heart skipped a beat.

Everyone... was looking.

But Lea did not care about others’ looks, he looked at Gu Mengmeng’s mouth tenderly, licked his lips and said, “Indeed, it was delicious.”

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips into a faint smile, looked down and continued to put the fish meat on her chopsticks into her mouth. She did not dare to look at Lea’s eyes and could only secretly eat what was in her bowl.

Too occupied with the sound of her heartbeat, Gu Mengmeng did not even realize when the food in her bowl was finished.

Lea took over the empty bowl that Gu Mengmeng had finished eating and asked, “Anymore? I can help you fill one more bowl.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head shyly and replied, “No, it’s fine. I am full.”

Lea frowned, feeling heartache that his Mengmeng only eat this little every meal. All the delicacies cooked with hard work went into Sandy and Maya's stomachs.

Thinking for a while, Lea whispered into Gu Mengmeng's ear, "But, I'm still hungry."

Gu Mengmeng then realized that she had finished all the food, not leaving a single bit for Lea. Hence she quickly said, "I will go and help you get a bowl."

Lea pulled Gu Mengmeng's small hands and said, "I'm Saint Nazaire's witch doctor, how can I fight for food with females?"

Looking at Sandy and Maya almost fighting over a few slices of fish, Gu Mengmeng did hesitantly, “Then...”

“You go help yourself to one bowl, then share some with me, alright?” Lea asked.

Gu Mengmeng nodded. As a capable girlfriend, how could she let her boyfriend starve? So she held her bowl and jumped out of Lea’s tails, dashed to the pot and grabbed a bowl full of fish under the gaze of both Sandy and Maya.

The steam from the fish meat rose to Gu Mengmeng’s small face, as though she was the only color in the world from Lea’s angle.

Opening his arms, Lea welcomed Gu Mengmeng that was walking towards him. Lea kept his tails and embraced her with his body, feeling the wonderful sensation of her inside his arms.

Being used to the numerous hugs throughout these few days, Gu Mengmeng did not reject him nor feel awkward. She simply picked up a slice of fish, blew it cold in front of her mouth before sending it to Lea’s lips. Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth like she was feeding some kid and said, “Come, open your mouth, ahhhh~”

Lea smiled, but used one hand to push back the chopsticks into Gu Mengmeng’s mouth. When Gu Mengmeng stared at him with her huge innocent eyes, Lea went closer to Gu Mengmeng’s lips again and kissed her. His agile tongue helped Gu Mengmeng chew the fish meat into smaller pieces, then releasing her small mouth unwillingly. Before he left, he sucked on her small tongue and some saliva dripped down from their separated lips, reflecting the sun rays and looking crystal clear.

Gu Mengmeng's face was bright red, it was only then did she realize the meaning of Lea saying "share some with me".

Such a way of sharing... exists?

Gu Mengmeng instinctively swallowed the fish meat in her mouth, but could not bring herself to feed another bite to Lea. She directly handed the chopsticks to Lea, shyly looking away and said, "You... You can help yourself."

Lea loved Gu Mengmeng's shy look, especially her little mouth, always having a seductive smell, making him want to try it over and over again.

Using a slender and bony finger to hook Gu Mengmeng's little chin, Lea said innocently, "But I don't know how to use these two sticks."

Gu Mengmeng pushed the bowl into Lea's hands and sprinted away like she was running for her life, while shouting, "Use your hands if you don't know how to use chopsticks."

Looking at Gu Mengmeng running away from him, Lea's heart sank. Did he force her too much in the end?

Although Gu Mengmeng was running away, she did not go too far and only went to look for Sandy and Maya.

The two little females that did not even dare to make a sound in front of Nina were fighting intensely for a pot of fish at that moment.

Gu Mengmeng walked to the middle and separated the two of them. "These fishes are everywhere in the river, just catch another two, cut them up and throw it into the pot if there aren't enough. We have the soup done, and it's not troublesome to cook more, what is there to fight?"

Maya's whole understanding of Gu Mengmeng was her punching Nina, adding to the fact that Maya had always been someone being bullied by Nina, so Maya was feeling both longingness and fearful towards Gu Mengmeng. Now that Gu Mengmeng had spoken, she naturally did not dare to continue fighting for the food. Moreover, she was eating the food that Sandy's partner had gathered. Even though she was a female, she would be too ashamed to snatch away the food from the rightful person that had not eaten.

So Maya took a step back obediently, before looking at Sandy sincerely and asked, "Sandy, can I let Nissan in? I want to ask him to catch a few more water shuttles and we can eat it together."

Sandy nodded as a form of approval, Maya then waved her hands and a wolf leaped in.

Gu Mengmeng took a step back instinctively, even though this wolf was almost half in size compared to Elvis and being in the shade of the ordinary gray. Having seen Elvis's original form, this great wolf looked just like the husky in her neighborhood. But even so, Gu Mengmeng's heart still skipped a beat due to mankind's natural fear towards beasts.

Lea did not miss Gu Mengmeng's fearful expression, so when Nissan walked past him, he 'accidentally' kicked him back to his original place.

Lea stood up and stretched, while signaling to Bode, "There are not enough food for the females, come with me to gather some back for them."

Bode suddenly felt his leopard life was glorious at that moment, for once he was not commanded by Gu Mengmeng! He felt so happy, although he could not explain why, he felt like he could finally hold his head high.

Bode followed behind Lea along the river, Lea signaled to Nissan with his eyes as he walked past him, Nissan immediately lowered his head and followed behind Lea without saying a word.

Lea's mouth moved, but of course Gu Mengmeng could not hear what he was saying as she was too far away. However, the other females had caught it clearly, Lea had ordered with a ghostly smile, that nobody shall show their original forms in front of Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng decided that since she had time, she asked Sandy to order her partners to make bowls and chopsticks of various sizes, just like how Lea made with wood. Using a trunk as wide as Gu Mengmeng's waist, they emptied the core, drilled two holes at the symmetrical sides and tied a vine to it, that was how a simple pail was made. Thankfully for the males' hands-on skills in the Beast World, although it was not as pretty as the one Lea had made, it could serve the main functions. The pail was not the best looking, but it could work.

While waiting for Sandy's partners to bring back water with the new tool, Gu Mengmeng added some water into the pot with the slightly bigger bowl, before mixing with the long chopsticks while humming songs and relaxingly waiting for Lea and the rest to come back.

But Sandy was too intrigued and did not spare a glance for the pot. She stared at Gu Mengmeng with eyes spewing out hearts and kisses and said, "Gu Mengmeng, you are incredible, you know how to do so many strange yet extremely useful things, you even know how to sing."

Gu Mengmeng broke into a smile, she looked at the cutlery on the floor that would only be treated as defective products in the modern world before being destroyed and she just could not take Sandy's compliment.

However, she was accepted the part on singing readily.

Clearing her throat, Gu Mengmeng smiled to Sandy and asked, "You like to listen to songs?"

Sandy nodded aggressively, with hands clasped together in front of her chest and she immediately turned into a fan girl.

As the legend goes, only the mermaid tribe in the deep oceans and some birds that were used to migrating knew how to sing, but Saint Nazaire was far from the ocean, while no species of bird that know how to sing would fly past here when migrating. Hence, the sound of singing was a luxury to Sandy, and even to the entire of Saint Nazaire.

Gu Mengmeng did not know that, she was simply flattered by Sandy's longing eyes, hence she hummed lightly to set the tune, before mixing the fish soup in the pot and started singing, "In addition to love we are also blessed with, the joy of chatting about dates with good friends... You are the dowry the most precious collection of mine, if you don't nod I won't marry the guy... I am a dowry, please take me by your side, don't marry the man that think I'm too noisy..."

Sandy and Maya was stunned, they were too occupied with looking at Gu Mengmeng with admiring eyes and completely did not notice that Lea, Bode and Nissan has brought back the cleaned fish. Until Gu Mengmeng sang finish the last note, she was embraced by Lea. The two females recovered from their daze and exclaimed, "Gu Mengmeng... your singing was so amazing, it is the most wonderful sound in the entire world!"

Chapter 155 - Lesson Learned

Gu Mengmeng did not reply to Sandy. Please forgive her, for she has always valued love over friendship, hence hibernating. Moreover, she and Lea are so infatuated with each other right now, of course Lea is the only one in her eyes. Sandy will definitely understand~ “You’re back. You’ve worked hard.” Gu Mengmeng took Lea by his neck and kissed his face.

Lea looked a lot more relaxed, yet it was still difficult to hide his disappointment: “You sang really well, it’s a pity... I could not listen to all of it.”

Gu Mengmeng was all smiles: “Isn’t it just singing? If you want to listen, I can sing to you every day.”

Lea raised his eyebrows, smiled and kissed Gu Mengmeng’s face: “I’m really looking forward to that.”

It was clear to Gu Mengmeng that Lea wanted to listen to her singing now, so without further ado, she snuggled up in Lea’s arms and sang Hebe Tien’s “My Little Happiness”. When she finished singing, she looked up and fixed her eyes on Lea’s sweet smile, only to see him gently raising her chin with his finger and put his lips on hers. After kissing for awhile, he started chanting in a slightly hoarse voice: “Gu Mengmeng, Gu Mengmeng, Gu Mengmeng...”

“Hmm?” Gu Mengmeng looked confusedly at Lea. He hasn’t called her by her full name for a long time, but now that he called her like that again, she felt a sense of unfamiliarity grew within her. This unfamiliarity pounded at her heart one time after another, messing up the rhythm of her heartbeat.

“I’m chanting your name, very seriously.” Lea kissed Gu Mengmeng’s forehead once again, and said affectionately: “Because I know, meeting you has been the happiest thing that has ever happened in my life.”

Gu Mengmeng couldn’t help but to laugh from the sweetness she felt in her heart. She hugged Lea while patting his back lightly: “They are just lyrics, you don’t have to take them too seriously. Many lyricists merely write songs pretending sadness without any substantial content.”

Lea did not say much, only kissing Gu Mengmeng on her tiny mouth again, then saying: “I’m going to cook fish for all of you to eat.”

Gu Mengmeng felt a little iffy. Why was Lea suddenly so friendly towards Sandy and Maya when he has only cared about her all along? She turned around again, only to see Bode with a flushed face. He took the initiative to take the bowl that Gu Mengmeng had just used, helping her to re-stack new, clean leaves and delivered them to her, “I won’t complain that you’re troublesome anymore. You’re really great, you’re really really great.”

“Eh?” Gu Mengmeng was at a loss. Why did everyone become so different just after a fishing trip?

Sandy noticed her confusion and walked over: “They definitely heard the song you just sang for Maya and I. Gu Mengmeng, you’re really nice, you definitely sang that so Lea wouldn’t dare to bully us in the future right?”

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to tell her that it was a misunderstanding...

But since it has come to this, Gu Mengmeng decided not to explain. After all, she had learned her lesson from the Yoo Sijin story.

Lea had made additional improvements on the basis of Gu Mengmeng, making the fish taste even more delicious than before. Although Gu Mengmeng was already full, she ate another bowl of fish. Lea, satisfied, carried Gu Mengmeng with the stone pot that Bode had washed and walked back.

Gu Mengmeng was still carrying a big bowl in her arms. It was the one that she had snatched back on behalf of Elvis when the fish had just been cooked by Lea.

The sunset dyed a light layer of afterglow on Lea's silver fur, presenting a mysterious color that was between pink and purple. The gentle breeze scattered some of the fur. From Gu Mengmeng's point of view, the word "Otherworldly" was clearly written on Lea's profile. After looking at him for a while, she fell asleep soundly.

Lea's embrace, truly brings one peace.

Chapter 156 - Good Morning, My Mengmeng

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Gu Mengmeng woke up the next morning, she felt sweaty and could only see pitch black in front of her eyes. She stretched out her arm and found herself surrounded by something that felt soft and furry...

Sensing Gu Mengmeng's movements, the thermostatic, living, furry 360-degree fully wrapped "bed" automatically separated into two, black on the left and white on the right. Gu Mengmeng sat up for a stretch, and could not help but exclaim "My goodness!" when she turned around and saw the two giants lying beside her.

After that, she pounced back to her original position and started rolling around.

Who else can experience the type of comfort alike to having a Husky on your left and a Samoyed on your right, both with gorgeous physiques, free for you to hug all you want?! All Gu Mengmeng wanted to do was to laugh out loud: If I can't do it, who can?

Lea and Elvis cooperated well with each other and did not transform back to human form, maintaining their posture while looking at the little female that is acting wildly on their bodies.

In the past, people who saw them in their original forms run without turning back, avoiding them like a plague. She, on the other hand, was the only one who seemed to love them in their original forms. Lea clearly knew from what happened yesterday that it was not because Gu Mengmeng had any special preferences for males in their original forms, because when Sandy appeared in front of her in her original form, she clearly reacted with a fearful expression.

The corners of Elvis' lips raised, smiling slightly as he saw Gu Mengmeng acting in a carefree manner, which warmed his heart.

But!

Damn, while he's in his original form, that smile, frightened Gu Mengmeng right away.

When they saw Gu Mengmeng's face suddenly turned pale, Elvis and Lea instantly transformed into their human forms, holding her, concerned: "What happened? What made you look so ghastly pale? Are you feeling uncomfortable?"

Once again, Gu Mengmeng's face turned bright red at light speed.

No shit! None of you are wearing any damn clothes!

Gu Mengmeng could already feel the serious impact on her nasal cavity, and two warm streams flowed down her nose. She turned around with a thump, stammering: "The beast... beast skin dress... Wear... wear them properly."

Elvis and Lea exchanged a glance, shaking their heads helplessly.

Elvis entered the cave to retrieve the beast skin dress while Lea flirtatiously twisted his hips and walked behind Gu Mengmeng, slightly bending down to accommodate her height, hugging her from the back. His lips barely a millimeter away from her earlobes, he said: "You are the only one here, why are you wearing so much?"

Gu Mengmeng's heart was beating like a drum. She felt as if her face could start steaming.

She swallowed her saliva: "I... I can't take it, I will nosebleed."

Lea's slender and pale fingers lightly brushed under Gu Mengmeng's nose, and as he expected, it was stained with a touch of bright red. A lick with the tip of his tongue sent the sweetness right into his stomach. Lea said in a meaningful tone: "Let me help you clean this up, alright? Hmm?"

Gu Mengmeng did not forget how Lea had helped her “clean up” her nosebleed in the stream. Once was enough, her tiny heart was unable to take another round of that. She then shook her hands: “It’s fine it’s fine, I will stop nose bleeding if you wear your beast skin dress quickly.”

Lea laughed, lifting Gu Mengmeng’s chin so that she would raise her head to prevent further bleeding, but when her head was raised, her eyes met right with Lea, who was standing behind, looking down at her. Lea, bare chested, gave Gu Mengmeng an ambiguous smile that belonged only to her, coupled with a lazy expression from having just woken up. He kissed her lightly on her forehead, saying: “Good morning, my Mengmeng.”

Elvis had definitely heard everything that had happened outside given his strong hearing ability. However, he had no choice but to act like nothing happened. He felt sufficiently happy that she could be the first person he saw when he woke up in the morning.

Carrying two beast skin dresses, Elvis wrapped one around his waist and threw the other one to Lea, “The male at Nina’s house is only barely living because of you. If you don’t visit him, he might not be able to survive.”

Lea took the beast skin dress reluctantly but did not wear it. Instead, he wiped Gu Mengmeng’s nose, wiping her small face clean, not bothering about the nosebleed that had dyed his dress, making it look like he was on his period...

“Mengmeng does not like Nina.” Lea said as he tied his beast skin dress, “I don’t like whatever Mengmeng doesn’t like.”

Elvis was silent, then he sighed, “I don’t like her either.”

Suddenly, the three of them looked at one another and laughed simultaneously.

Obediently, Gu Mengmeng took the initiative to help Lea tie up his beast skin dress, trying to ignore the period-looking blood stains. She patted him, gesturing him to sit down, which he did accordingly.

Gu Mengmeng stripped off a piece of beast skin, biting on it while holding Lea's silver hair, taking a strand behind each ear and tied them together. Then, she turned the ponytail inward, forming a simple hairstyle. Gu Mengmeng ran in front of Lea to take a look, then nodded with satisfaction, "I was just thinking about how this hairstyle would suit you yesterday. It showcases the heyday of your beauty without looking overly intentional, you simply look out of this world!"

Lea had never bothered much about his hair, but now that Gu Mengmeng complimented him like that, it made him think that his hair was actually not too bad after all.

With a big smile, Lea poked Gu Mengmeng's tiny nose, "I knew you were the most soft-hearted. You don't have to flatter me like this, I will go and treat Nina's partner. After all, he lives in Saint Nazaire, I won't leave him stranded as a witch doctor."

Gu Mengmeng also thought that her flattery was a little too exaggerated, but love is blind, beauty is in the eye of the beholder. Isn't there no fixed way to compliment your own boyfriend? Who can control the subjective consciousness of a girl experiencing her first love?

Lea stood up, pulling Gu Mengmeng's tiny hands, reluctant to part with her, "I won't bring you there with me since I know you don't like Nina. Later, let Elvis pluck some fruit for you to fill your tummy. When I'm back, I will help you to bring some water shuttles, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng recalled Elvis' "shocking" cooking skills, nodding sympathetically, "Alright."

Lea pulled Gu Mengmeng's tiny hands to his lips and gave it a kiss, before turning around to take his leave.

The atmosphere became slightly awkward, with Gu Mengmeng and Elvis being the only two left in the cave.

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat "Then, I'll be going to the stream to take a bath. Do you want to come along?"

Elvis nodded and carried Gu Mengmeng towards the stream.

It was only when they reached the stream when Gu Mengmeng realized that the clothes she was wearing was different from one she wore when she returned from Sandy's. She tilted her head and asked, "These clothes..."

Elvis replied, "I changed them."

The second half of Gu Mengmeng's sentence stuck in her throat, and was turned into an "Oh."

Gu Mengmeng did not dare to look back at Elvis after she answered, and could only squat beside the lake, splashing cold water on her face.

She could not put into words the weird sense of uneasiness in her heart, but there was a voice inside that kept on praying for Elvis to not say anything.

However, it was clear that Gu Mengmeng did not burn her joss sticks regularly, so the Gods clearly had no intention of protecting her...

"So have you come to a conclusion, regarding what I said previously?"

Elvis eventually spoke up. The previous question only consisted of three words... "What about me?"

Chapter 158 - Why Not Me?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng froze while washing her face. She pressed her lips together, looking into the water for a while, before finally deciding to face it.

Shaking off the water droplets on her hands, Gu Mengmeng stood up and faced Elvis, frowning subconsciously. She did not know why, but she felt guilty towards him.

Yet, isn't it useless to escape from something that you are supposed to face? Moreover, she had nowhere to escape to.

"Elvis, I know you treat me very well, but I really cannot accept you." Gu Mengmeng inched closer to Elvis, stopping three feet away. Raising her head, she said cautiously and seriously, "I know this is Saint Nazaire, and this place does not follow the rules in the world I came from. I am willing to try to do in Rome as Rome does and accept the customs here, but I really cannot accept... things like polygamous relationships."

Elvis stood rooted to the ground, like an iron sculpture. After looking at Gu Mengmeng for a while, he asked, "Why not me?"

Gu Mengmeng remained silent for a moment. Right, why not Elvis? He was the first person she met. When they first met, she mistook him for a dream. It was that much beyond one's grasp, that much dream-like. She hugged and molested him, and had memorably said, "I will not be responsible for this". It was just a joke then, but looking back, it seemed like it was destined to be.

Elvis was strong and was extremely good towards her.

But on the contrary, her heart leaned towards that flirty snow fox.

Many things just cannot be explained. Gu Mengmeng sighed helplessly, “How are there “Why”s when it comes to feelings? Are you able to say clearly, your reasons for liking me?”

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng silently, not speaking for a long time.

Gu Mengmeng smiled lightly, “Is it because I’m prettier than the other females here? However, no matter how good the visuals are, I will still age. Is it because I’m more knowledgeable than the other females here? However, even if I do not mate with you, I will still pass on the knowledge I possess to the people of Saint Nazaire. Sooner or later, everyone will learn the things I know. Then, will I still be special?”

Elvis is not Lea, neither can he express himself as eloquently as Lea can. But he knew that Gu Mengmeng was wrong. Even if she ages one day, or if she becomes ordinary, he was absolutely confident that he would still love her as much, or even more.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to continue saying something, but Elvis took two steps forward and embraced her. His voice was deep and husky, with a tinge of loneliness and pleading, “I won’t fight for the position of first partner with Lea, I just want to stay by your side.”

Gu Mengmeng pushed Elvis, but couldn’t make him budge. She wanted to speak, but Elvis did not give her any opportunities to.

“You have a special identity, and Lea simply cannot protect you all by himself. You need more, stronger partners, not only myself, and Lea knows this as well.”

Before Elvis finished, Gu Mengmeng retorted, “I’m different from the other females here, I’m not one to sit and wait for others to protect me.”

Elvis was startled, with a slight disappointment.

That’s right, she is a messenger of the Beast Deity, different from the other females who can only wait for males to protect them.

While Elvis was zoning out, Gu Mengmeng took the opportunity to slide herself out of his arms. Taking two steps back, she said “I will move to Lea’s cave when he returns later. I have troubled you all these while, thank you for taking care of me.”

Chapter 159 - You Don't Have To Go

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis' spine stiffened, and it was as if his blood had solidified in that moment. For a long while, he was out of breath, and could only stare right at Gu Mengmeng, whose determination and certainty shone through her clear and doe-like eyes. Elvis knew that such an expression was more than just the stubborn words of a female.

She was really going to depart from his life.

His left chest stopped beating for a while, then let out a deafening sound which was so loud it caused Elvis' eardrums to buzz continuously. Blood rushed to his eyes, blurring his vision.

Turning around resolutely, Elvis only said, "You don't have to go."

Taking big strides, he took his leave.

As she watched Elvis' back view, Gu Mengmeng felt as if she was going to be swallowed by her own guilt.

Damn, rejecting someone is truly stressful, Gu Mengmeng could only hope that she would never have to do it a second time.

She took a damn vow, that she would no longer be envious of the school belles for receiving confessions all day, and for rejecting people as easily as chewing on some potato chips.

What did Elvis mean when he said she didn't have to go? Was he going to let her stay in the cave instead? That's not right... Damn, she already rejected him, and now she is making him lose everything he has? Isn't that shameless?!

Gu Mengmeng could not do such a thing consciously, so she decided to first pack up her things and wait for Lea to come back before she moves to his place.

Back at the cave, Gu Mengmeng looked down at her feet that were hurting excruciatingly, finally understanding why Lea and Elvis always carried her every time they went out, practically never allowing her to walk by herself. She took too long, and it was only now that she noticed their concern for her.

Looking around, Gu Mengmeng was limited by her vision and could only see within 10 square metres from the entrance of the cave. Any further and it would be pitch black. If Gu Mengmeng had walked in, she would not have been able to see anything. However, on second thought, she transmigrated here by swimming, and probably only has one item that belonged to her, which was the love artifact bikini which the salesperson convinced her to purchase for when she “chances upon” the swimming club senior. So, she actually did not have anything to pack up.

Gu Mengmeng wore the bikini, then wore the clothes that Elvis made for her over the bikini. Right, there were protective padding above and below, clearly providing more security than not having them.

Out of sheer boredom, Gu Mengmeng patted her hands against the entrance of the cave, walking back and forth waiting for Lea’s return.

She prayed silently in her heart, hoping Lea would come back earlier than Elvis, so it would not be too awkward.

However, after waiting for ages, Lea still did not return even when the sun had set. Elvis did not return either.

At night, the cave is still rather terrifying, and she could blame nothing but this damned territorial behavior. Since Elvis was the leader of Saint Nazaire, he had the biggest territory. There were no flies around, let alone neighbors. At that time, the only thing that accompanied Gu Mengmeng was her shadow, which was blurred by the silver moonlight. Besides the sound of the wind, the only other sound was the beating of her heart.

The longer Gu Mengmeng waited, the more flustered she got. Elvis and Lea had never left her alone like this. Could it be that when Lea went to heal Nina's partner, she let her other partners attack Lea instead of being grateful?

Thought after thought, Gu Mengmeng's mind was filled with the image of Lea lying in a pool of blood, at the gate of death.

She stood up violently, ignoring the pain in her feet and ran towards Sandy's house. She did not know where Nina lived, so she could only ask Sandy for help.

She did not run far when she saw a pair of green eyes watching her in the dark. She staggered and fell to the ground, backing up fearfully, only to find energy draining from her limbs. When met with such danger, she did not even have the ability to run, and could only watch as the pair of green eyes approached her slowly, one step after another...

Chapter 160 - Elvis Got Hurt

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When the owner of the pair of eyes appeared from the darkness right in front of Gu Mengmeng's eyes, she felt at ease instead.

"Elvis? Why did you only come back now?" Gu Mengmeng tried but realized her legs were so wobbly she could not stand, so she decided to sit cross-legged on the floor, with her arms hanging weakly resting on the side of her knees. She looked up at the gilding wolf in front of her, "Have you seen Lea? He hasn't come back, I'm a little worried."

Elvis did not transform back to human form, only using his head to poke Gu Mengmeng, gesturing at her to return to the cave.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, looked at Elvis and asked, "Why? What happened? Why are you not transforming back to human form?"

Elvis poked at Gu Mengmeng twice more, but she remained stubborn, unwilling to return. Not having any other choice, Elvis could only throw her on his back, carrying her back into the cave.

It didn't take much walking distance for Gu Mengmeng to clearly sense something wrong with Elvis. Despite his efforts to hide it, Gu Mengmeng still realized his hind leg seemed to have been injured.

Afraid to cause further injury, Gu Mengmeng did not struggle during the trip. It was only until Elvis had sent her into the cave and was about to turn around when Gu Mengmeng spread open her arms, blocking Elvis' way at the cave entrance, "What happened to your leg? You are hurt, aren't you?"

Elvis subconsciously withdrew his leg, letting out a deep whimper.

Gu Mengmeng did not understand beast language, and could only worry, "Lea went to treat Nina's partner for a day and hasn't returned. How about this, you stay in the cave and rest while I'll go get Lea back to treat your injury."

When Gu Mengmeng finished speaking, she turned around to run out. However, Elvis ignored his injury, biting onto the back of Gu Mengmeng's dress, bringing her back to his embrace. With a flick of his front paw, Gu Mengmeng was right in his arms.

Gu Mengmeng did not face as much psychological pressure when it came to Elvis being in his beast form. Also, since his hind leg was clearly injured, any resistance would definitely cause further injury. Thus, Gu Mengmeng did not dare to make any movements, and could only let Elvis protect her under his abdomen, using his chin to lightly brush against the top of her head. Finally, he placed her head in the pit of his neck, the softest area of his jaw touching against her head gently. Just like that, he hugged her and did not sleep throughout the night.

Gu Mengmeng did not know when she fell asleep, but it was only when she woke up again that she realized Elvis was gone once again. There were some fruits that had already been washed that were placed at the cave entrance, and she thought that Elvis had probably placed them there.

Gu Mengmeng looked around, but did not notice any signs of Lea's return.

A huge sense of uneasiness and suspicion grew in her heart. She could neither bother eating those fruits, nor about how painful the bottom of her feet felt. She could only walk out of Elvis' territory based on her own memory, running straight to Sandy's place.

Gu Mengmeng had barely reached Sandy's house when Sandy appeared from her cave. Her eyes were bloodshot and red, and it was obvious she had cried.

"You...?" Gu Mengmeng could not make any requests when Sandy was under such a condition, so she showed some concern first, "What happened? Did Nina come to bully you again?"

Sandy shook her head, and tears that looked like they took a long time to stop poured out of her eyes once again. She pulled Gu Mengmeng's tiny hands, her tear-filled eyes fixated on Gu Mengmeng, biting her lower lip, unable to say anything. Eventually, she pulled Gu Mengmeng in for a tight hug, followed by a burst of throbbing tears, sobbing until she could barely breathe.

Gu Mengmeng patted Sandy's back gently, not knowing what had happened. Yet, she felt as if a dark cloud was hovering over her head, pressing against her until she felt like suffocating.

Chapter 161 - Lea, I'm Here To Pick You Up

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Sandy cried for a long time, and Gu Mengmeng stood still throughout, letting Sandy hug her until she finally stopped crying. She whimpered, “Gu Mengmeng, don’t be too sad. Although Lea he... but you still have Elvis, so hurry mate with Elvis, don’t let Nina... Boohoo...”

Sandy spoke with much stammering, but Gu Mengmeng’s heart was palpitating violently. She held onto Sandy’s shoulder, knitted her brows with an eye smile, asking, “Tell me, what happened to Lea?”

Sandy looked at Gu Mengmeng with her swollen eyes, asking timidly, “You... still don’t know?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “What is there that I should know about?”

With a loud wail, Sandy cried even harder. Gu Mengmeng had never been more frustrated. At this moment, she could confirm that Sandy was not crying because she was bullied, but it was for her, and it is related to Lea.

“Don’t cry. Tell me first, what happened? Where is Lea?” Gu Mengmeng grabbed tightly on Sandy’s shoulders, forcing her to calm down.

With snot running down her nose and tears dripping down her face, Sandy replied with a thick crying voice, “Lea is going to mate with Nina...”

“What?!” Gu Mengmeng retreated two steps backwards. She then shook her head and forced a smile, “Impossible, that’s impossible! Lea was still fine when we were together yesterday and he’s going to mate with Nina today, how is that possible?”

“It’s true, everyone in the tribe already knows about it.” Gu Mengmeng had long let go of Sandy’s shoulders, but she still stood rooted to the ground at the same position, crying out loud.

Gu Mengmeng’s head was buzzing, her brain unable to make sense of any of this.

No matter how she thought about it, she could not think of a reason. Why would Lea do this?

She grabbed on to Sandy’s elbow, holding back the stinging pain in her eyes, “Bring me to Nina’s.”

“You... what are you going to do?” Sandy pulled Gu Mengmeng’s arms, “Elvis is not around you, it is too dangerous for you to go over alone. What if...”

“What if?” Gu Mengmeng laughed, “What if what? Would Lea hit me?!”

Sandy pressed her lips together and did not respond, but it was clear from her expression that that was just what she was worried about.

Gu Mengmeng did not care about so much, pulling Sandy to walk out.

Although Bode didn’t like how Gu Mengmeng always commanded him around, but he was indebted to Gu Mengmeng. Furthermore, Gu Mengmeng was dragging Sandy along, so he could no longer just sit and watch. So, with Sandy on his back and Gu Mengmeng in his arms, he carried them while gloomily saying, “I will send you guys over.”

Gu Mengmeng could not divert any attention to thank him. She only wanted to quickly find Lea, and bring him back.

Bode moved very efficiently and reached the territorial boundary of Nina’s place in no time. He put Sandy and Gu Mengmeng down, “I can only send you guys up to here, but if anything happens, just shout and I... will go in there to save you.”

Gu Mengmeng was not in the mood to listen to Bode's words, and could only run into Nina's cave barefooted.

Even before she arrived at the entrance, she saw Nina walking out in big strides, with Lea right beside her.

Gu Mengmeng ignored Nina, looking right at Lea, trying her best to smile, "Lea, you didn't come home for a day, I am very worried about you."

"Lea, I'm here to pick you up. Let's go home."

Lea stood rooted in his original spot, maintaining an elegant yet aloof smile throughout. He looked at Gu Mengmeng and replied, "I think, I cannot go with you anymore."

Chapter 162 - A Mutually Consented Thing

“Why?” Gu Mengmeng’s smile froze on her face. Lea had not opened his mouth to explain when her tears let her down by falling uncontrollably.

Gu Mengmeng ignored the soreness in her eyes and also did not want to analyze what exactly was the reason why her heart was feeling so suffocated. She just wanted to use the brightest smile to call Lea back.

But Lea stood rooted to the spot, not moving a single inch. A refined and cultured smile was still hanging on his face as he replied Gu Mengmeng, “It’s going to be winter soon...”

Gu Mengmeng did not understand what Lea meant as she just speedily wiped the tears in her eyes away and stared at Lea with her fullest concentration, waiting for him to continue.

Lea’s sight swept across Gu Mengmeng to look at a faraway place and he continued with disappointment, “I have already matured into adulthood for quite some time. If I don’t mate anytime soon, I’ll miss the opportunity to bear the strongest cubs.”

Gu Mengmeng’s brain exploded with a boom while steam was rising with the momentum of an avalanche inside her. A thought kept surfacing in her mind: Lea left her because she did not want to mate with him...

Yeah, from the beginning, she just planned to date Lea. When Lea confessed to her, she even told Lea clearly that she would not mate with him and just date him so as to reduce the mental load on her.

She could be bold and straightforward while forcibly seizing Lea’s good qualities and then tell herself that this was a mutually consented thing...

But now, Lea was unwilling to consent to it.

Gu Mengmeng's whole body was shaking but she could not say a single word as she just stared at Lea while clenching her fists and letting tears pour out from her eyes like a beautiful stream.

She did not know what she was expecting, and she knew that she looked like a good-for-nothing. However, she could neither turn away in an elegant and unconventional manner nor could she say anything to persuade him to stay.

Lea did not give Gu Mengmeng much time to tidy up her emotions and continued saying as if Gu Mengmeng was someone who did not have much to do with him, "Nina agreed that her mating authority will belong to me until she bears my strong cubs. So, I've to stay by her side to nurse her body well."

"That's right," Nina raised her head proudly. She did not once felt this carefree before so she took a small step forward and said, "So what if you're the First Beauty of Saint Nazaire? You're pulling onto two such outstanding males, Lea and Elvis, but you're unwilling to mate with them and you're just expending their labor for no reason at all? So selfish of you! I'm different and I can give Lea a nest and even a few nests of cubs. With Lea's strong genes and my perfect genes, our babies will definitely be kings in the future."

Gu Mengmeng went forward in quick steps and raised her hand, preparing to hit Nina. But just when her hand was only raised halfway, her wrist was clutched tightly by someone.

Nina hid behind Lea, resembling a frightened bird while smirking delightfully at Gu Mengmeng. She did not say a single word and just hugged onto Lea's waist tightly, seeking for protection. At the same time, Lea clutched Gu Mengmeng's wrist with one hand and patted Nina's back with his other hand. When he met eyes with Gu Mengmeng's doubtful gaze, his holy and seductive smile was still refined but did not encompass the warmth he had when he looked at her previously.

Lea's voice was cold and peaceful, just like an ancient well-water that was piercingly cold, "Nina's my female. Nobody can touch her, including you."

Gu Mengmeng tried to retract her wrist but Lea did not let go. She could feel the sharp anguish from her wrist.

This was Lea's warning, if she dared to land a finger on Nina again, would he break her hand?

Ha, Sandy's words really came true, Lea really acted rough on her.

Chapter 163 - Gu Mengmeng, You're So Selfish.

“What if I hit her? What are you going to do? Kill me?” Gu Mengmeng raised her head while clenching her teeth willfully. What the heck, she stole her boyfriend and still dared to brag to her with such audacity? Gu Mengmeng really could raise to the heavens and become Buddha if she was able to stomach this insult.

Lea shook his head and said, “I won’t.”

Gu Mengmeng’s eyes sparkled with slight expectation written in them.

The next moment, Lea added, “I won’t let you hit her.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head with a bitter smile, implying that she understood. Lea then released her and stood between her and Nina to prevent her from having the chance to harm Nina.

“Good, very good...”

Gu Mengmeng stepped a step backwards and used another hand to support the wrist that turned numb from the clutch. She stared at Lea and said, “I’m rest assured knowing that you’re safe and sound. Even if you’re not together with me anymore, I still wish you happiness.”

After Gu Mengmeng finished speaking, she turned around and lugged her feet with difficulty, heading back step by step.

Nina’s words was like a prick that pierced through Gu Mengmeng’s heart. With every heartbeat, the sharp object would be inserted further in: Gu Mengmeng, you’re so selfish. If you could not make any promises, what position were you in to possess Lea?

Her steps were tremendously heavy, as if she was dragging the entire world.

Gu Mengmeng walked less than three to five steps when she felt that her entire energy was depleted.

She can't stop, she can't stop!

Gu Mengmeng was continuously crying out to herself inside her. She did not want to part with hard feelings and she also did not want her last image in Lea's memory of her being a coward, sorry and pitiful looking, she didn't want any of it!

Gu Mengmeng bit onto her lower lip hard, trying to suppress her developed tear glands. Her clenched fists were placed by her side so as to prevent herself from exposing any action of wiping her tears.

She thought that just like that, nobody would know that she cried.

But she had forgotten that the senses of males in the Beast World were very sensitive. Everyone present could hear her first tear drop clearly.

"Xiaomeng." Just when Gu Mengmeng was unable to hold out any longer, her shoulder was held by someone. Gu Mengmeng looked up and although she could not see the appearance of the person standing in front of her, in the entire Saint Nazaire, there was only Elvis who would call her Xiaomeng.

Gu Mengmeng bit onto her lower lip and could not say anything. She just felt her throat turning dry and tight and she could not make any sound.

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng in his arms, with one hand supporting her butt and the other on her back, gently patting her while letting her lean on his shoulder.

Elvis's voice was hoarse and despite him trying to control himself with all his might, he still could not hide his heartache.

After thinking over it for quite some time, Elvis could only say a sentence, "Everything's alright, I'm here to fetch you back home."

As Elvis said, he carried Gu Mengmeng and left. He did not look at anyone a second longer other than Gu Mengmeng.

When they walked out of Nina's family territory, Gu Mengmeng started to choke with sobs. When they returned back to Elvis's territory, Gu Mengmeng cried so badly until no sound came out from her. She was just opening her mouth wide to give out the sound of air as tears coursed down her face like torrent rain.

If you said that the way Gu Mengmeng was crying was beautiful, that was all bullshit.

Now, her mucus and tears were all mixed together and she was in the most sorry and ugly state you could ever imagine. But despite how bad she looked, Elvis still felt his heart ache like never before, as if his left chest was being torn to pieces by sharp claws and fangs, gnawing him till death.

Chapter 164 - Down Memory Lane

Gu Mengmeng, herself, did not even know when she slept.

She forced herself to open her eyes when the dryness in her throat was too much for her to bear. She then realized that her eyes were so swollen until they looked like peaches and only a tiny slit could be opened.

Elvis sent the water cup to Gu Mengmeng's mouth and Gu Mengmeng took it before drinking in large gulps without hesitation. Elvis was scared that she would choke, so he patted her back lightly.

When Gu Mengmeng finished drinking her water, she returned the water cup back to Elvis. Then, she did not say anything and just stood up to head outside.

Elvis pulled onto Gu Mengmeng's wrist and said, "Are you still going to look for him?"

Gu Mengmeng knew that the 'him' Elvis said referred to Lea. Just thinking about this name made Gu Mengmeng's heart ache badly. She was not confident that she could see Lea and listen to those heartless words again. Thus, she shook her head to deny.

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief and exerted less strength on his hand.

He did not want to see the heart-wrenching look on Gu Mengmeng again.

Elvis stepped a step forward and pulled Gu Mengmeng in for a hug, saying, "Your skin on your legs is wounded so you can't walk properly for the time being. Where do you want to go? I'll bring you there."

Gu Mengmeng looked down at the soles of her feet. A big piece of skin was scraped off and even exposed the blood inside the flesh, appearing to be very miserable.

But, why didn't she feel any pain?

Oh, maybe there's a limit to one's pain receptors? Everything's concentrated at her chest and she could not seem to feel... other parts of her body.

However, Gu Mengmeng did not reject Elvis's suggestion. The hydrated throat enabled her to speak with some force but her voice was unimaginably hoarse. Every word she said made her feel as if small blades were cutting her throat.

"I want to go to the lake, the first place I met you."

Elvis did not know what Gu Mengmeng wanted to do. To be honest, he did not understand most of the things Gu Mengmeng did. However, to Elvis, as long as Gu Mengmeng did not cry, he would not object to anything she wanted to do.

Thus, Elvis took a thick beast skin and wrapped Gu Mengmeng up. Although winter was not here yet, the weather has already become cold. He could not let his Xiaomeng freeze even a little.

Gu Mengmeng did not resist and let Elvis settle everything of herself.

Until Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to the lake where they first met, Gu Mengmeng, who was silent throughout the entire journey like a doll, finally had some form of reaction.

The corners of Elvis's lips curved slightly upwards, and he pointed to the lake and said, "That day, you were standing there with half your body in the water. The water droplets reflected off your face, and you looked like an elf that has lost her way, making me step closer uncontrollably while being afraid of alarming you. Then... you actually kissed me."

Elvis was immersed in the memories. Clearly, not much time had passed but coming back here again, he felt as if a generation was over.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to come down from Elvis's embrace. Elvis did not stop her and placed her down as she wished.

Gu Mengmeng ignored Elvis's words or should I say, she ignored everything else.

Gu Mengmeng walked to the lake and as she walked, she took off the beast skin Elvis wore on her. Until the end, only that bikini she was wearing the first time they met was left on her body.

She stopped by the lake and turned around to look at Elvis. She said to Elvis while giving a small smile, "I'm sorry, thank you, goodbye."

After she finished speaking, Gu Mengmeng leaned backwards and fell into the water, splattering huge waves of water in all directions. Gu Mengmeng curled herself up and held her breath, forcing her entire body to sink under the water.

She wanted to go back, go back to the place she belonged, where there was no bloody night campfire party, no distorted outlooks of marriage, no Elvis, no... Lea.

Chapter 165 - Can't It Be Me?

That moment when Gu Mengmeng leaned backwards, Elvis rushed towards her out of instincts. His hand grabbed nothing in midair and he could not catch Gu Mengmeng in time. The unease in his heart grew bigger instantly, and he did not consider anything before directly jumping into the lake water to catch Gu Mengmeng, who was holding her breath and sinking deeper into the water, in his arms tightly. He gave his feet a push and came out from the water.

The lake water at this time was already very cold. It did not mean much to males but to females, this could cause them their lives.

Elvis did not have the time to blame or lecture her. He just carried the trembling Gu Mengmeng whose eyes were shut and ran towards the cave like a madman. He kept running while howling to the skies, as if he was sending some kind of message.

Gu Mengmeng's mind was already muddling along without any aim and after being bumped around by Elvis till her stomach started churning, water gushed out from her mouth and nose.

After Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng back to the cave, he immediately took a thick beast skin to wipe her dry before wrapping her up. Then, he used the firewood that was prepared long ago to start a fire. Once everything's in place, Elvis evolved into his wolf form and used his stomach to protect the freezing Gu Mengmeng by using his body heat to maintain her temperature.

But what a pity, Gu Mengmeng was tormented too badly these few days. Her body was already very weak during the menstruation period and after sinking herself in the cold water, she felt so much more awful. She curled up her body and closed her eyes shut, looking as pitiful as an abandoned infant.

Not long later, Elvis heard a rustle outside the cave. He evolved back into human form and placed Gu Mengmeng next to the fireplace gently. He ruffled her hair while muttering to himself bitterly, “Can’t it... be me?”

Gu Mengmeng did not reply to him and just held onto her shoulders tightly, huddling her entire body up with all her might. She was restless and in agony.

Elvis landed a light kiss on her forehead before using a pacifying tone to talk to her, “It’s alright, it’s alright. The person you want to see... is here. How about letting him in to accompany you?”

Gu Mengmeng opened her eyes, her eyelids sore and painful. She extended her hand to grasp Elvis’s fingers weakly and asked with a hoarse voice, “Who’s... here?”

Elvis gave a bitter laugh and replied, “Lea, he’s here. He’s just at the boundary of my territory. I’ll call him in to see you and let him accompany you, alright?”

Suddenly, Gu Mengmeng felt her nose turning sore, and she started crying.

She choked on her tears and could not say a single word, shaking her head profusely.

Elvis looked at her in shock and said, his heart aching badly, “What’s wrong? Why are you crying again?”

Gu Mengmeng did not answer him and shook her head while crying. She used all her energy to grab onto Elvis’s fingers but still found it not secure enough. She was so scared that Elvis would retract his hand and call Lea in.

Elvis frowned, wiping Gu Mengmeng’s tears away while his heart was breaking to pieces. He pulled her in for a sideways hug to pacify her uneasiness and whispered to her ear, “Aren’t you tormenting yourself like this for him?”

Gu Mengmeng did not say a word and just shook her head profusely in Elvis's arms.

Elvis could not bear to see Gu Mengmeng being so agitated and he could only try to ask, "You don't want to see him? Then... shall I ask him to leave?"

Gu Mengmeng then became silent, slowly releasing her hand that was tightly grasping onto Elvis's fingers. She continued hugging onto her own shoulders, curling up into a ball.

Elvis sighed, he could never understand what Gu Mengmeng was thinking about. What he could do was to complete whatever she wanted.

Since she did not want to see Lea, then that would be it.

Elvis walked out of the cave and stared at Lea who was standing at the boundaries of his territory, asking him, "Are you not coming in?"

Lea's gaze was empty and deep. He smiled bitterly while replying, "Here... is not a place I can easily enter anymore, I guess."

Elvis remained silent and did not answer him.

Lea sighed deeply and then took the initiative to ask, “She’s unwilling to see me?”

Actually, Lea heard the entire conversation between Elvis and Gu Mengmeng earlier in the cave.

Even the sound of her sobbing while shaking her head, he heard it all distinctly.

Elvis nodded his head almost invisibly, his lips pressed into a straight line.

However, Lea smiled and said with a bitter but slightly relieved tone, “Unwilling to see me... luckily, she’s unwilling to see me.”

Elvis looked at Lea in confusion. There was no speech involved as he inquired what Lea meant with his gaze.

Lea breathed in deeply before replying, “She’s unwilling to see me because she’s still holding a grudge against me. And holding a grudge against me... at least implies that I’m still in her heart.”

Elvis did not quite get Lea’s logic, and he repeated the story of Gu Mengmeng drowning herself in the cold water. Then, he said how he dealt with it once again. Lea nodded his head and said, “You dealt with it well. I already asked Bode to cook a pot of water shuttles when I arrived and had also added a lot of yellow roots. Sandy will send it over later. You can just appease Gu Mengmeng and ask her to drink more water.”

Elvis nodded his head to agree then he glanced at Lea and said, “Then you...”

Lea shook his hands and said, “The most urgent matter is for you to mate with Mengmeng before winter. Only after you successfully become Mengmeng’s First Partner, then I can tell her the truth and think of a method to beg for her forgiveness.”

Elvis asked, “Are you so certain that she’ll forgive you?”

Lea shook his head and give off a bitter smile, “No, I’m just betting, betting that in her heart, I’m more important than her principles.”

Elvis sighed and said, “Why did you force yourself to choose Nina back then? If you chose Sandy, when you explain the truth to Xiaomeng in the future, there would still be someone who can help put in good words for you.”

Lea shook his head again. He said, “How can I let her lose her good friend at the same time she loses her lover? She likes Sandy so much and it’s good to have Sandy accompany her when she’s sad over me.”

Elvis was quiet, and he stood rooted on the spot, not knowing what to say.

Lea used his chin to point between his legs and said, “How do you plan to explain your injury to Mengmeng?”

Elvis’s expression darkened, and he spoke with a low voice, “She didn’t question closely so I didn’t explain too.”

Lea patted Elvis’s shoulder and said, “Bring out the aura that you had when you found me for a death battle. I didn’t hesitate to trap myself in this kind of situation just to see you being at a loss of what to do in front of Mengmeng.”

Elvis did not say anything, he did not have anything to say.

Actually, he did not mind not being Gu Mengmeng’s First Partner, nor did he mind Gu Mengmeng liking Lea more than himself. He just wanted to stay by Gu Mengmeng's side to defend her, take care of her, protect her and look at her. But Gu Mengmeng kept insisting on guarding the system of one husband to a wife, causing him to have no place to backtrack. He did not mind being given the cold shoulder or receiving any form of injustice but leaving her and losing her was his bottom-line nobody could touch. He could not consent to only this point.

Thus, that night, he went to find Lea and used the traditional method that males in the Beast World used all along to decide who should have the authority to protect Gu Mengmeng.

He won. But seeing how Gu Mengmeng was upset and miserable over Lea's departure and even grieving to the extent of wishing to die, Elvis kept questioning himself these past few days, was he wrong? Maybe he...

Lea and Elvis had so many years of friendship. They fought alongside each other and braved countless dangers together, letting them have a strong understanding of each other.

Even though Elvis did not say anything, Lea understood what he was thinking about.

"There's no need to feel guilty. Losing to you is my own decision. We all know that this is the best choice, no?"

Chapter 167 - And If She's Willing?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Not long after Lea left, Sandy carried a large pot of fish soup over and the fragrance of ginger could be smelled from far away.

Elvis stood at the entrance of the cave to welcome Sandy. He received the stone pot in her hands and then raise an invitation, “Xiaomeng’s inside. Do you want to go in and accompany her?”

This was the first time Elvis invited other females to enter his cave, so he felt a little awkward. But for Gu Mengmeng, he would still do the things he did not like to do.

Sandy’s heart was long hung on Gu Mengmeng and she did not have the idle time to develop any feelings towards Elvis’s invitation as she just nodded and walked in without restraining herself at all.

Once she entered the cave, Sandy saw Gu Mengmeng curled up in a corner. Sandy puffed up her chubby face and stepped forward to hug Gu Mengmeng into her arms, learning from how she comforted her in the past. Sandy patted her back gently, “Gu Mengmeng, I don’t allow you to waste yourself like this!”

Gu Mengmeng opened her red and sore eyes and upon seeing that the person was Sandy, she wanted to show her a radiant smile so as not to let her worry. But the corners of her mouth were too heavy, despite her using all her energy, she could not bring out a slight angle at all.

Sandy cupped Gu Mengmeng’s little face with both her hands and looked at her seriously, saying, “If you want to cry, don’t force yourself to smile. I’ll be by your side and until you finish crying, we can go and eat delicious food. Bode's culinary skills improved a lot these few days and the food he cooked is getting tastier. He cooked water shuttles today, so I brought it over specially for you. You won't feel awful after you're full."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, snuggling against Sandy obediently. She hugged onto Sandy's waist and sobbed, "I don't have the appetite."

This was the first sentence Gu Mengmeng said after coming back from the lake.

Her hoarse voice was faint and weak, causing Sandy to hug Gu Mengmeng back tighter with her heart aching. Her expression was sullen as she said, "You don't even want to eat delicious food, seems like you're really feeling awful."

Elvis felt his chest tightening till he could not breathe properly. The pitiful look of Gu Mengmeng made his heart feel as if it was being pierced by an iceberg and that ice was stuck on the wound. With every heartbeat, that flesh that the ice pinnacle was stuck on would be ripped to pieces, and the pain reached his bones, causing him to lose the desire to live.

Sandy's entire attention was on Gu Mengmeng and she was not in the mood to care about Elvis's life. She just hugged onto Gu Mengmeng while swaying her body lightly and said, "Actually, it's nothing serious. No matter how outstanding Lea is, he's just a male. You're so beautiful and at the beauty pageant next spring, you can definitely attract stronger males to pursue you. At that time, let's choose someone that is better than Lea to infuriate him."

After saying that, Sandy suddenly tilted her head to look at Elvis before continuing, "Don't you still have Elvis? You can keep Elvis first and after you finish going through estrus, you can mate with him, then take in Barete and Collin as well. Take this winter to mate well with them and the best case is to bear little cubs during winter. When the snow melts next year and Nina's stomach doesn't have any response at all, you can watch whether Lea regrets it to his death or not!"

Gu Mengmeng gave a bitter smile and started thinking that Lea chose Nina because she did not want to mate, if she's willing...

And if she's willing?!

Gu Mengmeng suddenly felt a light brightening up in her heart and she stood up abruptly. Grabbing onto Sandy's arm, she exclaimed, "Lea, I want to see Lea!"

Sandy was unable to understand Gu Mengmeng's sudden change and she could only turn to look at Elvis blankly with an inquiring gaze.

Elvis's lips curved upwards but his brows were still deeply furrowed. His eyes were filled with a deep meaning that Gu Mengmeng could not understand or did not want to understand. He used tenderness that could crush one's bones to respond to Gu Mengmeng with one word, "Alright."

Chapter 168 - Lea's Request

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea did not walk too far off originally and was just hiding at the boundaries of Elvis's territory. He could forcefully hear Gu Mengmeng's voice from this distance and even smell her unique scent in the air sometimes. He gently stroked the beast-skin band that Gu Mengmeng gave him to tie his hair up and upon hearing that Mengmeng wanted to see him, he paused for a moment.

Then, he suppressed the urge to rush to her with all his might and jumped off from a tree slowly. He stood at the boundaries of Elvis's territory and until Elvis agreed to Gu Mengmeng's request, he then left for the cave.

This place that he entered a countless number of times made him feel a sense of unfamiliarity and expectation for the first time. He did not know what Gu Mengmeng wanted to tell him but to him, listening to her voice was great at the moment.

According to the rules, without Elvis's consent, he could not enter the inside of the cave as he wished. So, Lea stood at the entrance of the cave and looking at the emptiness in front of him, he could hear Elvis tell Gu Mengmeng clearly, "He's here, I'll ask him to come in."

Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis back with her uncontrollably shaking hand. She made the decision to see Lea but when he was really here, Gu Mengmeng lost the courage to do so. If... if she said that she was willing to mate with him, what would she do if Lea still wanted to choose Nina? If that was the case, she would not even know how to imagine it herself.

"Hmm?" Elvis could not understand what Gu Mengmeng was thinking, so he looked at her while frowning.

"Lea, are you here?" Gu Mengmeng grabbed onto Elvis's arm tightly with both her hands, not letting him go out and did not let Lea come in either.

She glanced at Sandy who was standing at one side the entire time and Gu Mengmeng finally garnered up courage to ask.

“Yes, I’m here.” Lea’s voice was almost invisibly shaking while his expression was still nonchalant. Nobody knew how much strength he was exerting to appear without effort in front of others.

“If... I say if, I’m willing to mate with you... will you....return to my side?” Gu Mengmeng stared at the entrance of the cave intently and despite her sight not being able to see Lea’s expression or state, her gaze was still fixated at the center of the entrance. Her heart was raised to the tip of her throat and she swore that she was not even this nervous the day her high school results were out.

Lea remained silent. The news of Gu Mengmeng being willing to mate with him gladdened him and just two times of this stress made it hard for him to breathe.

“Mengmeng,” Lea’s voice was low and husky. At this moment when nobody was looking, he kept that refined smile of his for the first time and replied discreetly with the most solemn expression while frowning, “I can die in the battle of defending you but I’m unwilling to see you receive any form of hurt before I die.”

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback, clearly not understanding what Lea meant. She looked at Elvis out of instincts and realized that he was just frowning and not saying a word. She turned her head to look at Sandy on the other side and Sandy was just waving her hands, signaling her to listen to Lea’s words.

Lea’s hearing was very sensitive and he could clearly feel Gu Mengmeng’s state in the cave. So, he paused for a moment to give her time to think it through and cool down.

Until Gu Mengmeng’s breathing and heartbeat became stable again, Lea then opened his mouth to continue, “The Beast World is extremely dangerous. I don’t have the capability to protect you on my own. If you care for me as well, please accept the rules on this Beast World and start a strong family. So that I have family members whom I can rely on and need not worry that my partner will be hurt before I die or don't receive anyone's protection after I die."

Chapter 169 - Just Like This

Despite how dumb Gu Mengmeng was, she could still notice something. She released Elvis's arm and looked up into his eyes, asking him, "The strong clan and the reliable clan member... who is it?"

Lea was outside the cave and could not see Gu Mengmeng's actions. He could only sense that Gu Mengmeng was not in a good mood through her voice but he still answered, "Elvis is the strongest male in Saint Nazaire and he has long been promoted to third-level beast. However, he always remained at this level because he did not have the blessing from the mating contract. I believe, as long as you mate with him, he can advance into fourth-level in no time. As long as he gets promoted successfully....."

"Ha..." Gu Mengmeng sneered and cut off Lea's words. She looked as if all energy was depleted from her body as she sat on her legs loosely without any strength. She looked down at her own fingers and muttered to herself, "Turns out that in your eyes, I'm just a tool for promotion."

Lea's heart stopped beating. At that moment, he understood what was making him feel uneasy just now.

His Mengmeng misunderstood him!

Lea wanted to open his mouth to explain but Gu Mengmeng beat him to it, "If I mate with Elvis, he will become tremendously strong. If he becomes so strong until he can handle all critical situations in the Beast World, I'll just have him as a partner. Why is there still a need to accept the rules on this Beast World? If the strength he gained after mating with me is still not enough to handle all these danger... ha, clan. How many partners do I need to be considered a clan? Three? Five? Ten? Hundred?"

Gu Mengmeng breathed in deeply and suddenly stood up, shouting outside the cave, "Please go, I don't want to see you again."

Lea's body froze. He exerted all the strength in his body but he realized that he did not even have the energy to control his fingertips.

He...

lost?

He lost Gu Mengmeng just like that? Wasn't it something that could pass by if he just held it in, wait a while, pamper her and let her scold him?

In her heart... was he after all, just like this?

Lea really wanted to rush into the cave and explain to Gu Mengmeng. He had no time to consider the future or who was right or life and death, he just wanted to hug Gu Mengmeng and see her smile, play with her and hear her call him 'Daddy Lea'.

When Elvis appeared at the entrance of the cave, he caught hold of Lea's shoulder, his expression solemn and sombre. His voice was not loud but it did not allow any room for question, "She says that she doesn't want to see you. Please leave."

Lea grabbed onto Elvis's wrist and cried, "I want to see her!"

Elvis did not back off and he retracted his hand while turning back. At the same time, he used his other hand to choke Lea's neck, "Unless she agrees or I die."

Lea was dumbfounded and he stared at Elvis with dull and absent eyes after a while, asking him, "The battle that day, if I did not surrender... would you have really bitten me to death? You won't mind sacrificing one of your legs?"

Elvis remained silent for a while and nodded his head, "Yes, I will."

Lea frowned and continued asking, "Have you ever wondered, if I die and you become a crippled beast, what will Saint Nazaire become?"

Elvis was silent for a long time once again. Then, he lifted his head and returned Lea's gaze with determined eyes, "I'm not as clever as you and don't have the ability to consider so many things at the same time. I only know that I can't hand Mengmeng over to you."

Lea was taken aback and asked, "Why?"

Elvis replied with the same tone, "Do you still remember the night you saved Xiaomeng from Quentin's hands?"

Chapter 170 - Too Much Intelligence Would Hurt Oneself

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea nodded his head in doubt, implying that he remembered.

Elvis continued, “With your abilities, you should have reached the scene early right?”

Lea’s heart thumped, seemingly understanding what Elvis meant.

Elvis was not expecting Lea’s reply and just continued to say, “I heard from Xiaomeng that you came from the skies when she was almost choked to death by Quentin. You did not even fly there, and this implies that you had long arrived at the scene but you did not appear from the start and just watched Quentin hurt Xiaomeng, right?”

Lea released the hand that he used to dispute with Elvis and staggered two steps backwards, not saying a word.

Elvis did not force him to reply and just said plainly, “You feel that you’re not as important as Xiaomeng’s ‘principles’ to her while in your heart, Xiaomeng is also not as important as Saint Nazaire. That time, to give her a warning so that she wouldn’t dare to easily step out of Saint Nazaire again, you allowed Quentin to hurt her. During the battle against me, you also considered Saint Nazaire’s future and thus, did not use your entire strength, eventually. In the end, you even thought of pretending to mate with Nina to break Xiaomeng’s heart... in your heart, besides her identity as messenger of the Beast Deity and her ability to bring an overwhelming strength to Saint Nazaire, what else is there left?”

“I...” Lea stay silent. One day, the clever male was actually reduced to silence by Elvis.

“I can’t hand Xiaomeng over to someone that places her on a balance.”
Elvis stepped backwards and blocked the entrance firmly.

Lea did not try to rush in again and he looked down at his own shadow, muttering to himself, “Did you tell Mengmeng this thing yet?”

Elvis shook his head and said, “I don’t want to tell Xiaomeng things that will make her sad.”

Lea gave a bitter smile and nodded his head, yeah, Elvis’s character was not the type to badmouth others behind their backs.

Lea’s mind was very clear. The judgment of his actions back then was rational and correct. To keep Gu Mengmeng in Saint Nazaire, they had to first lock her information as a messenger of the Beast Deity within the tribe and the lesser she interacted with the outside world, the longer this information could be locked. Then, there would be a higher chance of Elvis and him fighting to mate with Gu Mengmeng and even let her bear her first expectancy within this period of time.

So, he acknowledged Barete to let Gu Mengmeng out of Saint Nazaire because he thought that everything was within his control with his secret protection.

Or...

Even earlier, he had already deduced everything countless times.

He did not tell anyone else besides Elvis that a messenger of the Beast Deity would be sent to Saint Nazaire. He shielded all of Nina’s obstinate and willfulness, as well as, her arrogance and dominance and even awarded Nina with the title of First Beauty himself by exercising an invisible, formative influence. So, when the messenger of the Beast Deity arrived, Nina, who was used to acting overbearingly, would definitely create trouble, and this was exactly the opportunity he wanted.

Of course, without Nina, he could also nurture a female like Nina himself, it might be Sandy or Maya but Nina’s seeking of refuge lessened most of the trouble for him because for someone who had done such things once before, it was much easier for them to do it again.

As what the truth had proven, all of Lea's deductions were correct. According to his predictions, Nina started a dispute, Quentin laid his finger on a female and he played the role of a hero at the crucial moment of danger.

But he did not expect that the messenger of the Beast Deity, Gu Mengmeng, was someone who would make his heart skip a beat once again.

Chapter 171 - I Won't Be Foolish Over A Man For The Second Time

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng used seven days to recover. On the morning of the eighth day, Gu Mengmeng forced herself to accept reality the moment she opened her eyes.

She just loved the wrong person, crying for seven days already showed how useless she was. It was not Gu Mengmeng's style to live her life so desperately for a male who treated her as a tool.

Clenching her teeth, Gu Mengmeng repeated three lines over and over again in her mind, "I'm fine! I don't care! I can live life well!"

Elvis noticed Gu Mengmeng's abnormality once he woke up. This change exceeded his expectation but... why did his chest feel so stuffy until it hurt?

Elvis hugged onto Gu Mengmeng's waist gently and brought her into his arms out of instinct. He weighed her in his hands and realized that she lost weight again.

He frowned but did not know how to start comforting her.

"Elvis, can you bring me to the lake we first met?" Gu Mengmeng started speaking.

Elvis's expression froze, his brows forming a dead knot. He asked in a low voice, "You want to sink yourself to the bottom of the lake again?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and smiled, "I won't be foolish over a man for the second time."

Elvis stared at Gu Mengmeng, half believing what she said as he neither moved nor say a word.

Gu Mengmeng saw that Elvis had lost his trust in her and laughed at herself, then said, “I didn’t intend on drowning myself when I jumped into the lake the previous time. I only thought that since I came from that lake, perhaps I could return from that lake too. But as what the truth had proven this idea is not reliable. That lake seemed like it was only a one-way entrance. If I want to go back, I might have to find other exits.”

“Go...” Elvis repeated Gu Mengmeng’s words with a deep voice. But he had only said one word when he felt that someone was clutching onto his throat. Let alone repeating Gu Mengmeng’s words, he also found it harder to breathe.

Gu Mengmeng tried with all her might to pull herself out from the emotions of falling out of love. Preventing herself from crying again was consuming too much of her energy and she was not in the mood to study Elvis carefully now.

Gu Mengmeng looked down and twiddled with her fingers casually, saying, “Since I can’t go back temporarily, I have to find some ways to live my life at ease. Eating roasted fish and meat everyday is not a plan. Even if I’m not sick of it, my body can’t take it.”

Elvis recalled that the lake was very special because he met Gu Mengmeng there. But besides that, Elvis really could not remember what else was there at the lake.

Gu Mengmeng saw how Elvis was concentrated in his thoughts and could not help but find it pretty funny. He really did not suit this kind of labor that required him to make use of his intelligence. Whenever he pondered over a question, his brows would furrow into a dead knot.

Gu Mengmeng placed her hand over Elvis’s brows gently and said patiently, “I need to take in salt to maintain my health. These few days, I clearly feel a lack in strength and this is the premonition of a lack in salt. If I don't take in salt soon, my condition will deteriorate and I might not be able to last this winter."

Once Elvis heard her, he immediately became anxious.

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's shoulder, motioning him to relax before she continued, "When I sunk myself in the lake previously, I unexpectedly found out that the lake water was salty. I suspect that it is a salt lake. Bring me there to check it out again. If it's really like that, I'm saved."

Gu Mengmeng's previous action of suddenly jumping into the lake and the sentence she said to him before she jumped created a lingering fear in Elvis's mind. Elvis did not dare to take the risk and bring her close to it again, especially after knowing that the lake was a passage for her to return to the other world.

Thus, Elvis said in utmost cautiousness, "What does salt look like? Tell me, I'll bring it for you."

Chapter 172 - Are You Planning To Confine Me?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng raised her brow and glanced over at Elvis, asking him, “Why? Are you planning to confine me and prevent me from leaving this cave forever?”

Elvis was taken aback by Gu Mengmeng’s words and shook his head instinctively.

Gu Mengmeng then smiled, “That would do it.. I promise that I won’t jump into the lake this time. I had no experience with the previous time and didn’t know that the water was this cold. If I knew it, I wouldn’t have the courage to jump into it.”

This is a fact. When Gu Mengmeng just arrived, the water was still warm but after a few days, it became freezing cold. From this, it could be seen that winter was coming, and it did not seem that there would be any transition period.

Elvis could not reject Gu Mengmeng eventually but this time, he was much more careful as he carried Gu Mengmeng in his arms the entire time, not allowing her to leave him by even a foot. Gu Mengmeng was delighted and relaxed. It was too cold and hard to walk on the ground without shoes. Moreover, she really did not intend on jumping into the lake. Being warmly hugged by Elvis like this was also pretty good.

When they reached the lake, Gu Mengmeng’s eyes glimmered all of a sudden.

F!

This was her third time coming here! Why didn't she realize that this was a salt lake the first two times! Large chunks of salt crystals were hung on the walls of the lake and she actually did not notice it at all?

Gu Mengmeng was excited as she pointed at the chunk closest to her, "Elvis, hurry hurry hurry, go there. I want that white thing."

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was so interested in stuff excluding Lea, Elvis's heart was put at ease.

Looking over at the direction Gu Mengmeng was pointing to, he nodded his head and carried Gu Mengmeng while stepping on the large stones near the stream. In a few leaps, he reached the walls of the lake. He used one hand to hug onto Gu Mengmeng firmly while he used his other hand to grab onto the bulging part on the wall and hung in mid-air steadily.

Gu Mengmeng extended her hand and extracted a little salt crystal. She used her tongue to lick it lightly and a wide grin bloomed radiantly on Gu Mengmeng's face. That's right, it was what she wanted!

Gu Mengmeng danced around in delight and exerted strength to extract a larger clump, placing it in her arms. However, her arms could not hold that much salt crystals and if she used too much strength, the salt crystals would shatter and there would be nothing left.

Seeing Gu Mengmeng's puffed-up face that resembled a bun, Elvis asked in doubt, "What's wrong? Isn't this what you wanted?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "It's what I want but I can only hold this much..."

Elvis looked down at the large clump in Gu Mengmeng's arms and realized that the thing she named as salt was only as big as a rabbit. If it was cooked for consumption... it was really a bit too little.

It was rare for Gu Mengmeng to have both the mood and the appetite so Elvis naturally would not disappoint her. Thus, he said, "It's alright, let's bring all these back first. I'll help you extract the rest later."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “It’s pretty far to travel from our cave. Let’s extract enough so that we don’t need to make the journey down here again.”

Elvis nodded his head. To him, whatever Gu Mengmeng said was correct, so he said, “Then, let’s extract some more and throw it to the ground. I’ll take them all later.”

Gu Mengmeng’s lips twitched, and she said, “Throw it to the ground? Then, it will shatter into bits and when it comes into contact with water, even if we want to pick it up, we can’t do it. Sigh... we came here to find salt but why didn’t we think of bringing a beast skin with us when we left? I’m so dumb.”

Beast skin? Elvis’s eyes glimmered with hope and he told Gu Mengmeng, “I brought the beast skin.”

Chapter 173 - Don't Tell Me You Have Such A Strong Taste?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng blinked her large innocent eyes at Elvis and sized him up from head to toe a few times. Damn it, he did not have anything on his body besides the beast skin dress he was wearing. Where else could he have hidden it?

Wait!

Gu Mengmeng's mind exploded, and she stared at Elvis's beast skin dress with a frozen face.

F! Leader, don't tell me you have such a strong taste?!

Damn it, the salt she was bringing back was to be consumed. And he's telling her to use this beast skin dress that was stuck close to some of his important body parts without adding additives to wrap the salt up? How was she able to consume the food after they finish cooking with the salt?

Gu Mengmeng shook her head like a rattle-drum and said, "No, no, we can't use your beast skin dress. This will cause me to have a trauma against salt."

Elvis smiled in a indulging way, "It's alright. After we're done extracting the salt, I'll evolve into my original form and carry you back. Nobody will see my body."

Gu Mengmeng was perplexed as she face-palmed and said, "The problem is not this, alright?"

Elvis did not understand her and he frowned slightly, "Huh?"

Gu Mengmeng exerted too much strength while hugging onto the salt and some crystals were already shattered in her hands.

Gu Mengmeng look at the shattered salt crystals in her hands and said hurriedly, "Let's get down first, I'll think of a solution."

Elvis did not say anything further, and he gave his legs a huge push, sending his entire body leaping up like a spring bed. He stepped on the stones consecutively a few times and then landed around one meter near the lake steadily. He placed Gu Mengmeng on the ground with utmost caution and supported her shoulder while saying, "Wait for me here, I'll get some more for you."

Gu Mengmeng nodded. She was clear that with her physique, she would only add to the trouble if she went over too so she might as well just hand the task over to Elvis.

Elvis held onto Gu Mengmeng's shoulder and exerted a bit of strength. He stared into her eyes and said, "Promise me, don't go close to the lake."

Gu Mengmeng was aware that Elvis was traumatized by her previously and she smiled, "Don't worry, I cherish my life more than anyone else and I don't have any tendency to commit suicide or conduct self-harm."

Elvis was still not at ease but this was the first time in a few days that Gu Mengmeng was interested in something. He could see that she was trying her best to divert her attention to other stuff so that she would not have the idle time to think of Lea. As long as she was not in sorrow, he was willing to do everything for her.

Elvis headed towards the walls of the lake while paying close attention to Gu Mengmeng's state. Seeing how she was just using great effort to pluck a few large leaves at a side and then wrapped the salt up carefully, he then rested his heart and leaped onto the cliff.

Not long later, Elvis had already made ten over trips back. Gu Mengmeng looked at the mountain of salt crystals in front of her and a smile that came deep from her heart finally appeared on her face.

Both Elvis and her wrapped the salt separately using the leaves and then used thin tree vines to secure them one by one properly. They then hung it over Elvis's neck like how a scarf was being tied. With salt packets hung around his neck and a petite Gu Mengmeng in his arms, Elvis looked like a... boss from the grocer's store bringing his daughter home after purchasing the goods.

This thought made Gu Mengmeng laugh out loud uncontrollably. She weighed the considerable number of salt packets in her hands and suddenly felt that she resembled an overnight millionaire who became rich all of a sudden.

Elvis did not know what Gu Mengmeng wanted to do with these white crystals but seeing Gu Mengmeng's smile, he felt that these crystals were really precious. He wanted to extract all the crystals at the lake for her. As long as she could continue smiling like that, it was already enough.

Chapter 174 - Elvis, The Horrible Team Player

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis called Sandy over to accompany Gu Mengmeng while he himself returned back to the lake to help Gu Mengmeng extract some more salt crystals. But sometimes... sigh...

When Elvis stood in front of Gu Mengmeng with his head lowered, just like a child who committed a mistake, Gu Mengmeng felt deeply what a horrible team player was for the first time in her life.

However, when she saw Elvis's dejected expression, Gu Mengmeng unexpectedly wanted to laugh so badly and ask him, "Elvis, are you actually a pig in wolf's clothing?" "

"Xiaomeng, don't be angry. I know where to get the salt crystals you want. Although it's a bit far, I can definitely bring a lot back for you."

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands and said, "Tell me first, how much salt crystals at the lake were affected by the water?"

Elvis cleared his throat and gestured in the shape of a rice bowl with his hands. Then, he turned his head to aside, not having the courage to look into Gu Mengmeng's eyes.

Gu Mengmeng smirked, this Elvis was really not skilled in lying. If he really only destroyed this much, was there a need to be so anxious?

Gu Mengmeng neither exposed nor replied to him and she just folded her hands while tilting her head upwards to stare at Elvis.

Elvis then silently expanded the range of his two hands, from a rice bowl to a washbasin. After that, he kept peeking at Gu Mengmeng with the corners of his eyes, resembling a Siberian husky who tore down the entire house.

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed, now, she did not suspect whether Siberian huskies were close relatives with wolves at all.

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's shoulder and said, "You've succeeded in degrading the entire IQ level of the wolf tribe. Please avoid touching others from the wolf tribe in the future, I'm afraid they'll want to bite you to death."

Elvis did not understand Gu Mengmeng's words. After all, wolves that could defeat him... never existed.

"But let's just treat it as her showing care," Elvis thought. He then chuckled and tried to sound her out, "You're not angry... about the salt crystals?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "I saw that the salt crystals there are enough to feed our entire tribe for two to three years. Those that you destroyed will not affect much. Moreover, even if there were not any salt crystals, I've a way to extract them from the lake. The salt crystals now are just lessening the trouble for me."

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief and understood why Gu Mengmeng insisted on going there herself in the morning.

Elvis's ears suddenly moved, and he heard someone arriving at the entrance of the cave. From the familiar scent, he did not need to turn back to know who was the person.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng, Elvis spoke, "You can play with Sandy first. I'll head out for a while. Be back soon."

Gu Mengmeng did not take it to heart. After all, Elvis was the tribe's leader, he could not possibly revolve around her everyday right? Thus, she nodded her head to imply that she got it. Then, together with Sandy, she continued to spread the salt evenly on the fish which Bode had handled. After that, they tied each fish one by one using tree vines, with ten fish bundled up together before placing them aside. Because the fish were all plump, the two females did not have enough strength to lift them up.

When Elvis walked out of the cave, he saw that the person was indeed Lea.

“She’s a lot better today.” Elvis did not raise any question and instead, directly stated to him.

Lea kept a straight expression. Even though he was trying so hard to maintain his ordinary past smile, the sunken part below his eyes and his haggard face revealed his suffering.

His plan regarding the messenger of the Beast Deity was always correct but there was an extremely important prerequisite. That is he could never fall in love with the messenger of the Beast Deity wholeheartedly. However, this important prerequisite was shattered to bits by Gu Mengmeng’s ‘Daddy Lea’ every time when he was defenseless.

Chapter 175 - Starting To Understand

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea did not reply and reached for a bunch of leaves tied with tree vines before handing it to Elvis. He then gave Elvis many dried ginger and said, “She always liked strange stuff, just like how she always treat stuff that people throw to the floor and not pick them up as babies.”

Elvis received the things from Lea and brought it closer to his nose to smell it. He realized that the bunch of tree leaves contained salt crystals. The way the package was being tied was identical to Gu Mengmeng’s method. That implied that Lea was there too when they were extracting the salt from the lake this morning but... he did not notice him at all.

At that moment, Elvis experienced the meaning behind what Lea had said, “The Beast World is extremely dangerous, one male is not enough to protect Gu Mengmeng.”. If the one who followed them today was not Lea, and instead others, then...

Elvis did not express his worry into words and just asked, “Should I tell her that these are from you?”

Lea shook his head, giving a bitter smile while saying, “Judging from her character, if she knows that these are from me, I’m afraid she will definitely reject them.”

Elvis remained silent. It could not be denied that Lea had a more thorough understanding regarding Gu Mengmeng. Many a time, he did not know what Gu Mengmeng was thinking in her mind and he could only do what she wanted. On the other hand, Lea was able to clearly understand her thoughts before she opened her mouth, perhaps, this was the reason why he lost to Lea in Xiaomeng’s heart.

Elvis nodded to show his consent. Then, he carried the stuff and prepared to enter the cave.

Lea lifted his hand with the intention to hold back Elvis. However, when the words were just going to leave his mouth, he realized that he was not in any position to repeatedly advise him.

Staring at his fingers that were stained with blood and dirt after digging ginger in the mountains, Lea gave a bitter smile and turned around to head towards the mountains.

As long as she was happy, even if his hands were rotten from the digging, so what?

Elvis returned into the cave and placed the things Lea brought over aside, together with the salt packets they extracted this morning. Then, he sat beside Gu Mengmeng and watch her string the fish up together with Sandy, chatting while laughing at the same time.

Bode brought a total of over 30 fish over and they were all cleaned thoroughly so stringing them up was not too tiring. After Gu Mengmeng was done with everything, she patted Elvis's arm and asked, "In your territory, will wild animals steal our food?"

Elvis shook his head, "The pressure exerted from orcs is enough to frighten ordinary wild beasts. They won't dare to step close to the tribe."

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and asked again, "Then, will other orcs steal our food?"

Elvis was taken aback as he ruffled Gu Mengmeng's furry little head while smiling, "The males in Saint Nazaire will not steal the food of females. Males from other tribes will not be able to enter this cave to take your water shuttle unless they are attacking the entire Saint Nazaire. Don't worry."

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and agreed. Thus, she set her mind at rest and ordered Elvis to take the three tree vines strung with fish to the outside and hang them under the shady part of the tree to dry them.

Nobody knew what Gu Mengmeng was planning to do. Sandy helped her with all the work for half a day and thought that this was a new game Gu Mengmeng had invented. After all, in this dull era, Sandy grew bored with playing the game of throwing a stone and picking it up again for the past few years. Compared to all those games, stringing the water shuttles was a lot more fun.

Chapter 176 - Long Time No See, Gu Mengmeng

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“How long are we hanging these for?” Sandy tilted her head and asked.

Gu Mengmeng smacked her lips and replied, “I don’t know, it depends on the situation of the air-dry.”

Sandy did not know what was the situation of the air-dry but it looked as if they had to hang them for very long. So, she gave up the desire to wait further and pulled Gu Mengmeng, asking her, “We’ve finished stringing the water shuttles. How about asking Bode to bring more fish over so that we can continue.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head to reject Sandy’s suggestion, and she pointed at the thirty big fish hung up on the tree, saying, “Although they taste good, we can’t finish eating all of them during winter.”

Sandy was shocked and her clear large eyes were instantly filled with the gaze of a fan-girl while saliva dripped from her mouth uncontrollably. She pulled onto Gu Mengmeng’s arm and pointed at the fish on the tree excitedly while exclaiming, “It’s for eating? Eating?!”

Gu Mengmeng smiled as she nodded and said, “Yeah, after they’re dried, they will not go bad so easily. Before winter comes, you can ask Bode to take two bunches away and leave one bunch for me. Eating a meal of fish meat during winter sometimes is still quite enjoyable.”

Elvis’s expression became sullen, and he stepped forward to hold onto Gu Mengmeng’s shoulders. After accommodating to her height, he stared into her eyes and asked, “The food will not rot if you just hang it up like that?”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled, “Of course not, you have to preserve them with salt first before drying them. This can not be compared with preservatives, but as what you said, the snow will cover the mountains during winter and we can’t even leave our caves, then that will become a natural fridge for us. If we handled them well, there will be no problem if we leave them for an entire winter.”

Elvis was overwhelmed with joy and he carried Gu Mengmeng up, howling at the skies.

Gu Mengmeng did not know what message he is sending but after a while, the males in the tribe were all gathered in front of Elvis’s cave, staring at Gu Mengmeng with glistening eyes.

“Xiaomeng, what food can be stored using this method? Can you tell everyone?” Elvis hugged onto Gu Mengmeng so that the petite female would not be submerged amongst all these tall and burly males. Furthermore, males have strong hearing abilities so even if Gu Mengmeng’s voice was not as loud as Elvis, the males were still able to hear her words clearly.

After Gu Mengmeng fell out of love, she did not appear in front of a crowd again. Being under the watchful eyes of the crowd in so long, Gu Mengmeng still felt rather uncomfortable and out of instinct, she huddled deeper into Elvis’s embrace. With only half her face exposed to the crowd, she said, “All normal food can be stored like this but I didn’t try preserving those tigers, leopards that all of you normally eat... so I’m not sure but they should be able to be stored theoretically.”

After Gu Mengmeng finished her words, a deafening cheer erupted from the crowd of beasts.

No matter how many times Gu Mengmeng heard it, the situation of hundred beasts howling to the skies still gave Gu Mengmeng a scare.

She huddled her entire body into Elvis’s arms and resembled a terrorized cat being protected by Elvis who is patting her back slowly.

After the males finished howling, they went off in all directions in search for food that they can store. And at this time, a familiar being slowly walked to Gu Mengmeng. He gave a bashful smile and lifted his hand up, saying, “Long time no see, Gu Mengmeng.”

Gu Mengmeng then noticed Barete who she had not seen for ages. The last time she saw him was at the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment.

“Are you feeling better? Are you still feeling uncomfortable?” Gu Mengmeng was a little awkward. These days, she was busy either dating or falling out of love. She actually completely forgotten this male who was implicated by her.

Chapter 177 - A Living Hormone

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Barete clenched his fists and flexed his arm. Firm muscles then appeared and his tough, manly image perfectly showed that he was a living hormone.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, “Seems like you’re not in a bad shape, I rest assured. Hurry and search for prey with the rest if not they’ll snatch everything away.”

Barete was not feeling anxious at all and he continued standing on the spot while looking at Gu Mengmeng. He asked, “You saved me on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment. To repay you, I’ll be in charge of your food for the winter. What do you like to eat? Tell me and I’ll help prepare it for you.”

This thing... is Lea’s suggestion.

At that time she had not lose Lea yet.

The smile on Gu Mengmeng’s face faltered, and she felt the premonitions of crying. Gu Mengmeng condemned herself harshly in her heart for being a good-for-nothing. She rubbed her nose and pretended to think while she lifted up her face and moved her eyes to force the mist out. Forcing herself to smile, she replied, “Actually, there’s no need to. You helped me before and I helped you back so we’re considered even now. Elvis will help me prepare my food. You can just take care of yourself.”

Barete looked towards Elvis with sincere and determined eyes while saying, “Elvis, please let me enter your cave this winter.”

Elvis frowned and stay silent for quite a while, “I’ll prepare enough food for Xiaomeng. And... she’ll not agree too.”

Barete looked at Gu Mengmeng and then landed his gaze back to Elvis's face, "Leader, please allow me to enter your cave this winter."

Elvis frowned even more, and he squinted his eyes at Barete, "Are you reminding me to not forget myself and my identity?"

Barete kept quiet, he neither admitted nor denied.

Elvis smirked and turned his neck to each side, giving off a feeling that he was warming up.

Gu Mengmeng completely did not understand what riddle the two of them were going on about but despite how slow-witted she was, she could sense the strong smell of gunpowder. Barete had came down from the Platform of the Deity's Punishment just for a few days. Traveling outside the gates of hell for three days was not any joking matter. On the other hand, Elvis injured his leg due to an unknown reason a while ago. Why were these two injured patients still so hot-tempered?

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's shoulder and shifted his attention to her. She then gave a slight smile, "Can you bring me around? I don't want to eat meat the whole winter, I'll get sick to death."

Elvis peered at Barete, not saying a word and he just nodded.

Gu Mengmeng turned her head to Barete and said, "In the past, I don't understand the rules in the Beast World. I thought that everything here was the same as my world and that males and females can be friends. But, now I know that besides mating, females and males can't have other relationships. I don't want to find a partner here so please don't waste any more time on me. Go and prepare your own food and don't look for me again."

After Gu Mengmeng finished speaking, she wrapped her arms around Elvis's neck and gestured him to leave.

Elvis did not linger any second longer, and he carried Gu Mengmeng outside the tribe for a walk.

Barete was not dejected at all by Gu Mengmeng's words. He knew about what happened to Lea. Regarding Gu Mengmeng's views on love, although he could not understand but he would not attempt to change.

He was different from Lea. Mating with Gu Mengmeng was his dream but he did not attach any extravagant hopes for it to be fulfilled. He was satisfied with just protecting her from afar and helping her accomplish some trivial tasks.

So, he maintained a distance and followed behind Elvis quietly. There was no disappointment, no hesitation and no uncertainty, just his determined gaze and his original faithful self.

Chapter 178 - Don't Ask, Just Do It!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis knew that Barete was following them from behind but he did not intend to expose or stop him.

After all, it was better to have one more person protect Gu Mengmeng. When they were faced with an extremely serious danger, at least there was someone reliable to bring Gu Mengmeng away while the fighting was on. What a fortunate thing that would be.

Gu Mengmeng did not have any sensitive sense organs like Elvis so she just huddled up in Elvis's arms and looked around, scanning her surroundings. Sometimes, she made Elvis face the east and other times, she made him turn to the west. One may well call it as walking around blindly and aimlessly. Elvis did not find it irritating and just ran everywhere in the mountains as she pleased.

Actually, there seemed to be a lot of edible things here but Gu Mengmeng could not recognize that many so she did not dare to try them carelessly. Until she discovered a familiar garden...

F! Potato flower!

Who the hell said that watching Korean dramas were useless? Huh?!

A long time ago, Gu Mengmeng saw this kind of flower in a Korean drama 'The Greatest Love'. From her memory, the scene was about the female lead promising to make curry for the male lead but because of some reason, she did not live up to her promise. The potato brought by the male lead then sprouted but in the end, although a long green sprout grew from it, no flowers bloomed. Until one day, the male lead chanced upon a drawing of a field of potato flowers. The field was filled with those kind of sprouts and an elderly man told the male lead that potatoes bloom like that. The male lead then suddenly realized that his potato had already bloomed long ago. After that, the drama continued with all the over-the-top scenes of him running madly to search for the female lead and Gu Mengmeng could not really remember what happened after that.

Gu Mengmeng only remembered dissing a point to her roommate back then. Who the hell would hang a huge drawing of a potato flower field as decoration?

And it was because this venting point was too shocking that she could vividly remember that scene.

But the Gu Mengmeng who was hugging a watermelon while lying on the sofa and watching dramas back then would never have thought that this venting point could improve her meals one day in the future!

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's shoulder in agitation and exclaimed, "That that!"

After the previous experience with the salt crystals, Elvis was a lot more careful this time round. He did not know why Gu Mengmeng needed all those grass for but his only principle was: don't ask, just do it!

Thus, Elvis walked to the center of the field of potato flowers in utmost caution and asked, "You just want to bring all these grass back right? Can I just pluck it directly?"

Gu Mengmeng extended her finger and shook it like a clock in front of Elvis. She put on a no no no expression and said, "I don't want all these grass, I want the things below the grass."

Elvis pushed the grass gently to both sides and noticed that there was only soil below...

What did Gu Mengmeng want all these soil for? Don't tell him that soil could be eaten too?

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's arm, signaling him to put her down. Elvis followed what she said and soon, Gu Mengmeng rolled up her sleeves and separated her legs shoulder-width apart. She held a potato flower with both hands and pulled up with all her might!

F! The skin on her hand got scratched...

So painful...

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis with blood on both her hands and her eyes watered with tears because of the pain from her palms. The delicate and pitiful look melted Elvis's heart, and he scooped Gu Mengmeng into his arms. He looked at the wound on her palms and despite not being deeply injured, to Elvis, the wounds still appeared horrifying.

Elvis held onto Gu Mengmeng's hands gently and placed it near his lips, then...

He actually stuck out his tongue and started licking Gu Mengmeng's palms thoroughly.

A shot of numbness extended from Gu Mengmeng's palms to every corner of her body. Gu Mengmeng stared at him in bewilderment while stuttering, "What... what are you doing..."

Chapter 179 - Are You Still Not Going To Show Your Original Form?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis did not answer Gu Mengmeng's question as he thoroughly engrossed himself in licking her hands. Until every wound on her hand was licked clean, he then reluctantly stopped and landed a kiss on her hands before answering her, "Your wound will not be infected like this and will recover faster."

Gu Mengmeng's face was flushed red, and she held in her breath until no words came out.

Previously, Lea also licked the blood off her nose before but due to the close proximity, she did not see the scene clearly. The entire process was transmitted through the senses on her skin.

But this time, it was different. When Elvis was licking her hands, she maintained a VVIP 3D view of the entire process and was like watching a live broadcast of Elvis giving her hands a thorough lick with his tongue. Who could understand the feeling of their hands in contact with an electric switch for five minutes?!

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng's face was flushed red, Elvis recalled the scene when Lea was hugging her in the stream back then.

That day, he witnessed everything quietly from a distance while suppressing the intention to rush over with all his might.

Today...

He finally had the chance to taste her wonderful flavor.

Although he did not have an official title yet, as long as she was relying on him, believing in him and letting him take care of her, this happiness was enough.

Elvis pecked Gu Mengmeng's face and then place Gu Mengmeng on a flat and large stone for her to sit properly. After that, he pointed at the grass that Gu Mengmeng wanted to pluck but failed to and asked, "Do I just pluck this?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head blankly as she had not regained her composure from Elvis's actions earlier. Now, if Elvis just looked at her, she would feel a heating sensation on her face. She didn't even know where to place her hands.

Elvis liked this young and ignorant look of Gu Mengmeng that resembled a little daughter. If she acted bashful because of his actions, did that mean that she was finally regarding him as an ordinary male?

His mind was at ease so his job was also highly proficient. Elvis grabbed onto the grass and without the least effort, he pulled a handful of potatoes out from under the ground.

Elvis stared at the bunch of black things in surprise and placed it near his nose to smell them. They gave off the smell of soil.

He lifted the bunch of things in front of Gu Mengmeng, feeling uncertain as he asked, "The 'things below' are these?"

Gu Mengmeng's gaze was still wandering, and she suddenly regained composure after Elvis patted her head lightly. She said, "Ah? Ah! Yes yes yes, it's these things. They're called potato, a magical ingredient that can be eaten with a good deal of food. It's not only delicious, it can fill your stomach too and most importantly, this ingredient can be stored easily. You just have to stack it in the cave and it won't go bad that easily."

Elvis took her words with a grain of salt as he stared at the fruit that was as big as a fist. He casually took one out and threw it into his mouth without even washing it. He chewed on it twice, giving off a loud chomping sound.

Together with Elvis's distorted expression was Gu Mengmeng's crazy laughter resounding throughout the entire field of potato flowers.

“Ha ha ha... are you still not going to show your original form?! You're actually a Siberian husky, right right?! How can a wolf be as dumb as you... ha ha ha, I'm dying from all the laughing...”

Gu Mengmeng clutched her stomach and laughed till she started rolling on the ground. Seeing her rare laughter, Elvis suddenly felt that the strange taste in his mouth was not that hard to bear after all.

It's just that, if this thing was considered delicious, he really did not know what kind of life Gu Mengmeng lived when she was with the Beast Deity.

Chapter 180 - Stewed Potato With Tiger

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Until Gu Mengmeng had enough of laughing, she exerted strength on both her arms and jumped off from the large stone. Her legs did not touch the ground yet when Elvis caught her and hugged her in his arms firmly, “The floor is cold, be careful.”

Gu Mengmeng felt a warm sensation in her heart and she replied, “Yeah.”

She received the potatoes from Elvis and after placing it in her hands, she then realized that was this really a potato? It was almost as big as a dragon fruit.

She weighed it in her hands and sensed that it’s weight was around two pounds. And that bunch in Elvis’s hands... f, they earned it. She just had to pluck all the potatoes in this field and it would be enough to last the entire Saint Nazaire tribe for one year.

Of course, Gu Mengmeng neglected a very important question. There were many males in Saint Nazaire and they were all ferocious beasts who ate meat like Elvis. Potatoes, to them, did not have much attractiveness. Of course, if they had to perform in front of females, let alone potatoes, they could even eat two pounds of it but as food, they would definitely not choose it.

However, Gu Mengmeng did not think about it for the time being and just submerged herself in her little world of imagination: potato shreds, potato fries, braised potato, beef potato stew... no no, she did not see any cow after she came here, how about stewed potato with... tiger? Huh, just thinking about it was quite horrifying. A tiger head placed in the middle of a pot of potatoes, just meeting eyes with the tiger made her feel that she was the food instead.

No no, the taste is too strong, as expected, she still could not get used to it.

Elvis saw how Gu Mengmeng's expressions kept changing after a while and could not help but recall that day he met her for the first time. She was like that too and nobody knew what she was thinking about. However, her odd expression made one's lips curved up uncontrollably.

He hugged onto Gu Mengmeng and kissed her before asking, "What are you thinking about? Tell me about it too."

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders and said, "I was thinking, how should we bring all these potatoes back?"

Elvis turned his head backwards slightly and said, "There's people who will help us. Just take as much as you want."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, a question mark written all over her face.

Elvis howled deeply behind him and a few shadows appeared from the faraway forest, scrambling to Gu Mengmeng and Elvis in a hurry.

Gu Mengmeng gave a look, oh my, they were all familiar faces.

"Barete, Collin, Oakley? Why are all of you here?" Gu Mengmeng asked while smiling.

Collin scratched his head innocently and said, "I saw Barete following you out of the tribe and thought that maybe you will need some help so I tagged along."

Oakley stepped a small step forward secretly and smiled at Gu Mengmeng, "I didn't see you for a few days. I was scared that you will forget me if I don't appear soon so I tagged along too."

Barete did not say anything and just stood there quietly. However, his gaze did not leave Gu Mengmeng a single bit at all.

Gu Mengmeng smiled while shaking her head helplessly, saying, “Since all of you already came, why are you all still acting so sneakily? Wouldn’t it be good if all of you came out to greet us?”

Oakley pointed at Collin and said, “He pulled me back and did not let me come out.”

Collin immediately pointed at Barete, “I wanted to come out from the start but Barete blocked me and said that you will be upset if you saw us.”

As Collin said, he turned his head to Barete and continued, “Why did you lie? Gu Mengmeng’s clearly not upset.”

Barete was awkward as he sighed helplessly, “How much grass do you want to pluck? I’ll help you.”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and said, “As much as you can, these are our rations for winter.”

Chapter 181 - I'm Here To Find My Male

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Which male would not have the drive to work hard upon hearing that those were Gu Mengmeng's rations.

Barete, Collin and Oakley plucked a total of almost 200 pounds worth of potatoes. Gu Mengmeng did not know whether that was enough for the whole tribe but if she were to eat potatoes all three meals a day for the entire winter, the potatoes would definitely not run out by next spring. But even if it was like that, Elvis still found it too little. Thus, he handed Gu Mengmeng to Oakley and plucked some more himself. Looking at the bunches of potatoes that weighed around 250 pounds, Gu Mengmeng started to perspire profusely.

What the heck, their strength was really not on the same level as hers. All the weights she lifted in the gym previously were all futile and the many kick-boxing actions she learned was just enough to bully a coward like Nina.

Lastly, Collin evolved back into original form and hung the 200 over pounds worth of potatoes on his body. Although it was not very heavy, his way of walking was still kind of restricted as he was afraid to drop any of Gu Mengmeng's rations. The scene of a big black bear that was almost two-stories tall taking quick baby steps while carrying the potatoes in utmost caution looked more comical than a circus performance.

Gu Mengmeng could not help but burst out laughing. This caused Collin to look back and the next moment, a potato dropped from his head.

Barete, who had sharp eyes and nimble hands, caught the potato in time and threw it towards Collin. Collin received it with his mouth and then chomp chomp, he chewed it up.

This time round, Gu Mengmeng laughed even harder and shook forward and backward with laughter in Elvis's arms. She gasped for breath as she said, "Ha ha ha Elvis... is this about a crooked stick having a crooked shadow? You set an example of eating a raw potato and the whole tribe followed? Ha ha ha..."

Elvis wanted to explain that firstly, they did not eat this kind of food before in the past and secondly, before they met Gu Mengmeng, they always ate their food raw...

However, it was strange. Collin's perception of eating a raw potato was different from Elvis. He chomped it up, giving off a feeling of not being contented. But upon recalling that the potatoes were Gu Mengmeng's rations, he held himself back from eating another one.

When all of them returned back to Saint Nazaire, it was already afternoon. The boisterous bunch walked back to Elvis's territory where Barete and the other two stopped at the boundaries out of consciousness.

Gu Mengmeng smiled as she gestured, "Why are all of you standing there for? Come on in."

The three of them then nodded and followed Gu Mengmeng into Elvis's territory.

They did not reach the entrance of the cave when they heard many diverse wrangling noises. Gu Mengmeng furrowed her brow as she saw two females caught in a fight. One of them was Sandy, and the other was... Nina?!

F, she actually bullied someone at their doorstep? Damn, just nice that she's here, I didn't have a place to cast my stomach of rage!

Gu Mengmeng jumped off from Elvis's embrace in a thump before rushing towards Sandy and Nina.

Nina suffered great losses under Gu Mengmeng so when she saw Gu Mengmeng rushing towards them in such a manner, she hurriedly released Sandy and jumped backwards in shock. She extended an Er Kang hand (a meme from Chinese drama 'My Fair Princess') to block Gu Mengmeng and cried, "You you you, you can't bully me just because you have so many people on your side."

Gu Mengmeng gave a cold laugh, "Didn't you send yourself to our doorstep just for me to bully you?"

Nina raised her head and put on a 'self-flattering noble' stance while saying, "That's not the reason, I'm here to find my male."

Gu Mengmeng smirked, "Why did you come here to find your male? Is your male Elvis?"

Chapter 182 - One Shot One Kill, What A Fast, Accurate and Cruel Move!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“My male is not Elvis, he’s Lea.” Nina raised her head even higher and looked at Gu Mengmeng with a provoking gaze while maintaining a winner’s stance.

Actually, Nina’s gaze could not be considered as provoking because her eyes were really so tiny that Gu Mengmeng could not see them. This time however, it looked as if her gaze was provoking her.

Upon hearing her words, Gu Mengmeng felt a piercing pain in her chest.

Ha, one shot one kill, what a fast, accurate and cruel move!

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and looked at Nina coldly, “I wanted to hit you so badly the last time but because of Lea, I didn’t do it. This time, you sent yourself here so let’s start calculating both our old and new debts.”

While Gu Mengmeng spoke, she pounced at Nina.

Nina avoided her while yelling at the top of her lungs, “Lea! Where are you! Hurry and look, this is Gu Mengmeng’s true colors, she is chasing your female around and threatening to hit her! Come and save me!”

The more Nina shouted, the redder Gu Mengmeng’s eyes got.

Look, look as much as you want!

Surely it did not mean that she still cared about how a male who treated her as a tool saw her?!

Gu Mengmeng made a deceptive movement by shifting left and right and she finally succeeded in blocking the Nina who was escaping in any path she could. Gu Mengmeng leaped onto Nina and started her attack of slapping her ten over times without stopping. Gu Mengmeng did not even want to stop despite her hands aching from the slap. Just as she raised her hand and was about to land her palm on Nina's face again, Gu Mengmeng's wrist was clenched tightly by a strong grip

Gu Mengmeng looked towards the source of the strength and the head of silver hair pricked her eyes.

Gu Mengmeng gave a cold laugh, glancing towards Elvis who had reached her side and was grabbing onto Lea's wrist while saying, "Intruding others' territory without permission... how should I handle this?"

Elvis did not exert much strength when grabbing onto Lea's wrist but the strong pressure he was emitting encompassed an obvious warning. Elvis's tone was ice cold and did not have an inch of warmth, "Let go."

Lea seemed like he did not hear Elvis's warning as he stared at Gu Mengmeng with his long eyes. He opened his thin lips and answered slowly, "Intruding others' territory without permission should be handled by banishing the intruder. If there's a need, you can bite him to death too. But, I'm a witch doctor and won't be restrained by this rule."

Gu Mengmeng ignored Lea and tried to retract her own hand but Lea clutched onto her even tighter, his brow furrowed. He just wanted her to look at him for a while more, just a while.

But she was eventually so cruel as she turned her head to the other side. She was not willing to even look at him with the corners of her eyes.

Gu Mengmeng stood up from Nina and gave her a kick by surprise, "Take your female out of here or else I'll kill you."

Lea did not even look at Nina who was rolling and crawling on the ground. He just asked her in a gentle voice that sounded as if he was speaking whispers of love, "How will you kill me?"

Gu Mengmeng gave a cold laugh and said, “How about digging your heart? Ah... I forgot, you don’t have a heart.”

Lea looked down at his left chest that was deep in agony and he smiled bitterly, “Don’t have a heart? If I really don’t have it... that’s good too.”

Gu Mengmeng tried to retract her hand with all her might. The strength she exerted was a strength that did not care whether her wrist would break. She said as she struggled, “Don’t use your dirty hand to touch me. I’m grossed out!”

Lea released her in the end. It was not because of Gu Mengmeng’s words but because she would get injured from struggling like that...

That time, he looked on Quentin almost strangling her to death with a cold eye but now, he did not bear to even hurt her wrist a single bit.

If he was really heartless like she said, how good it is... then maybe, he would not need to be tortured.

Chapter 183 - Am I Dead To You?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng did not turn back at all as she walked straight into the cave.

Nina scrambled up with all her might and wanted to pounce on Lea. However, Lea sent her a cold glare, and she was so terrified till she stood rooted on the spot. Her whole mouth was filled with blood and she was also stuttering her words. She gabbled on, “You didn’t come back for a few days so I was worried. That’s why I came to look for you... who knows that Gu Mengmeng would be so uncivilized and come forward to hit me. Look at my face, what did she do to it? Lea, you must back me up.”

Lea did not say a word. On the other hand, Elvis started speaking, “You want to touch my female in my territory? Am I dead to you?”

“But...” Nina wanted to defend herself but Elvis was too lazy to talk crap with her and just threw her a sentence, “If you don’t want to get banished before winter, don’t appear in front of Xiaomeng in the future, or else...”

Elvis did not finish his words when he extended a hand and evolved it into the claws of a wolf. He slammed it down on the ground and the next moment, a large hole was formed.

Nina was so scared till she became speechless and she stood aside, shivering in fear.

The sound of Gu Mengmeng sobbing and the voice of Sandy who rushed in to comfort her could be heard from the cave.

Elvis frowned as he looked at Lea, asking, “Why did you suddenly appear?”

Lea looked down at his hands, murmuring as if he was talking to himself, “Her palms are wounded. If she continues hitting, they will start to bleed and it will be very painful.”

Elvis sighed. Actually, he noticed the red marks on Gu Mengmeng’s palms but he knew how badly Gu Mengmeng held it in for the entire day. She put on a cheerful facade and would laugh out loud at the slightest thing on purpose. The way she laughed was so draining and so heart-breaking. He would rather let her vent it out like that, at least it was better than keeping it to herself. So, even though he clearly knew that her palms were scratched from plucking the grass today, he did not structure her way of hitting that would kill an enemy a thousand times but hurt herself eight hundred times.

Elvis sighed again and did not say anything else as he turned back into the cave.

Upon seeing Elvis enter the cave, Sandy made her exit tactfully.

Elvis pulled Gu Mengmeng in for a hug. He opened her hands and his heart ached but he did not bear to blame her.

Gu Mengmeng wiped her tears as she tried to hide her emotions but instead, made it more conspicuous, “Sand entered my eyes, it hurts a little.”

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly, placing her at his chest. He said gently, “It’s very painful to have sand entering your eyes, right? Crying is good, cry the sand out and you’ll not hurt anymore.”

The tears that Gu Mengmeng took so much effort to suppress overwhelmed her again as she hugged onto Elvis’s waist tightly while sobbing with an attempt to restrain it. When she was worn out from the crying, she started sleeping in Elvis’s arms.

It was already night when Gu Mengmeng woke up.

Bode took Sandy away while Barete and the other two were still standing outside the cave, staring blankly at the mountain of potatoes on the floor.

Gu Mengmeng was quite embarrassed. She asked them for help while on the other hand, she was only concerned with tearing her love rival apart which resulted in them being ignored for half a day.

Just when she was thinking of a way to start a conversation without feeling awkward, Collin stood up while rubbing the back of his neck. He asked in embarrassment, “Gu Mengmeng, can I pluck a few of these things back tomorrow?”

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback for a moment before she smiled and replied, “You like to eat it?”

Collin nodded his head seriously, then promised, “I’ll just pluck a few to try, can I do it?”

Barete threw a punch at Collin’s back and said, “What a promising male, you’re snatching food from a female?”

Gu Mengmeng was amused by both of them and the awkward mood was also dissolved. She shook her hands and said, “Isn’t there ready-made ones here? Just eat them.”

Chapter 184 - You Never Know, It Might Be A Blemish

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Collin was still quite embarrassed as he shook his head, “This is your food. I can’t eat them because I have to leave them for you.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled, “How much can you eat? There’s at least 200 over pounds here, can you eat all of them?”

Collin nodded his head seriously and replied, “Sure.”

Pfft...

Gu Mengmeng did not hold it in as she burst out in laughter. She said helplessly, “Then, you can eat them all. You can just accompany me to pluck new ones tomorrow.”

Collin thought for a while but he still did not do it. He said in a naive tone, “Then I’ll wait till I pluck new ones for you tomorrow to eat these old ones.”

Gu Mengmeng did not insist anymore. There were rules for the behavior of beasts in this Beast World. If she forced Collin blindly and Collin really ate these potatoes, he might become a laughingstock among his fellow tribesman. You never know, it might be a blemish when he wanted to find a partner in the future.

Gu Mengmeng said, “Everyone worked hard for a day, all of you have not eaten yet, right? It’s too late, I don’t know if there’s still prey to be hunted...”

Elvis placed a hand on Gu Mengmeng’s shoulder as he smiled gently, “What do you want to eat? I’ll find it for you.”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and said she wanted to eat bird eggs.

This answer startled Elvis and the rest, that thing... is delicious?

But since Gu Mengmeng said it, there was naturally nothing he can oppose to. But Elvis was not as skilled as Barete and Oakley when it came to climbing a tree so the two readily promised to accomplish this task. They each evolved into a leopard and a lynx, then disappeared in the dark after a few leaps.

Collin stayed behind to accompany Gu Mengmeng handle the potatoes while Elvis went to hunt for some larger meat. He knew that Gu Mengmeng was timid and did not dare to eat a lot of food so he handled it outside before he came back and returned with pieces of meat. Without a sensitive sense of smell like males, Gu Mengmeng would not know what animal it was.

Of course, Gu Mengmeng also made a wise decision of choosing not to probe.

The stone pot was placed on the fire and Gu Mengmeng made Elvis slice the meat into even smaller pieces, then place it into the pot together with the peeled potatoes to cook them. Gu Mengmeng used soil to cover the 10 over bird eggs Barete and Oakley brought back before placing them around the fire to bake them. When the meat was almost cooked, Gu Mengmeng swept a little salt crystals with her fingernails and sprinkled it into the pot. After that, she used long chopsticks to stir the ingredients in the pot and an aroma immediately wafted.

At home, Elvis made the different cutleries Gu Mengmeng described. However, the scene of a bunch of males, who were used to eating with their hands, using chopsticks was relatively comical. Gu Mengmeng did not demand them to be like a gentleman as males in the civilized world. She simply picked a few big pieces of meat and placed it on the thin plate made out of stone before splitting it to the rest and teaching them how to grab onto it and eat it with chopsticks in ease.

Actually, to the appetite of the males in this Beast World, this pot of food was enough to fill one's stomach only a little. To make matters worse, this had to be shared among five people. So, everyone was just accompanying Gu Mengmeng to have her meal.

Oakley said while eating, "I heard that the water shuttles you hung over there is to prepare for winter?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded, "Yeah, preserve them like that so they won't go bad so easily."

Oakley added, "Today, the males in the tribe hunted quite a lot of things back. They are already handled well and cut into pieces according to Elvis's request. They will be sent to you tomorrow for you to preserve."

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback as she said, "Ah? You want me to preserve the food to last the entire tribe for winter alone?"

Chapter 185 - I Don't Want This Privilege

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Oakley was also shocked. He shook his head, "Of course not, you just need to preserve your own food."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head to ask, "Then why are you sending me the entire tribe's food?"

Oakley chuckled, "You're the First Beauty of our tribe, of course you have the priority to choose the food first. After you're done selecting, it will be Nina, followed by Sandy and Maya."

Gu Mengmeng lifted her head and gestured a hand motion to ask him to stop, "Why can Nina select the food first? Sandy and Maya are also females, they should also be protected and taken care of."

Oakley blinked his eyes blankly and answered her, "Isn't the sequence like this normally in the tribe? The First Beauty has the priority, then it will be complete females, followed by half-orc females and lastly cubs..."

Gu Mengmeng spat a 'Tsk' in dislike and then asked, "Does Saint Nazaire have cubs? Why didn't I see any?"

Oakley's head dropped as he said dejectedly, "We should originally have cubs but who knows what Nina was up to, she actually forced Quentin to smash her whole nest of eggs."

Gu Mengmeng remembered this thing. Back then, Nina mentioned it before to Elvis and said that it was to prove that her fertility abilities were strong so she gave birth for Quentin. However, the former First Beauty of the tribe wanted to leave her first nest of babies for Elvis so she forced Quentin to smash her own nest of eggs himself.

Thinking about it, she was really quite psychotic. As the saying goes, even a monster would not hurt its own children, this Nina was really distorted.

Gu Mengmeng did not want to talk about Nina because she knew that her mouth would not say anything good about Nina and it was also not Gu Mengmeng's style to badmouth one behind their backs. She would rather rebut them in their faces if there were any conflicts. Talking bad about someone behind their backs was really too low class.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng clapped her hands and said, "Since there are no cubs, single males can keep their own prey. Tomorrow, I'll teach everyone how to preserve meat so that they can store them better. We should make use of the warm weather now to store more food so that we won't go hungry in winter. As for the females, besides myself, the other three have their own males. They can ask their males to think of a solution for their food. Of course, I can't control the pursuers of the females if they want to volunteer themselves to do everything the female pleases. But I don't want this privilege."

Barete and the two others looked at each other helplessly. All of them were so shocked by Gu Mengmeng's words until they became speechless.

Taking care of the females in the tribe was originally a duty of males. Suddenly...

"I'll be in charge of Xiaomeng's food." Elvis broke the silence at a suitable time as he scooped a bowl of meat and potatoes from the stone pot and gave it to Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng received the food and start eating it in small bites. The potato was soft and smooth. The taste of it after adding salt was truly the best treasure on Earth.

Forgive her for living the past few days without salt. Her mouth was so fing bland and now as long as there was a bit of taste, they were all the best treasures on Earth.

Elvis tried a raw potato before and that taste was... yeah... very special.

He also tried the cooked one but he could only politely refuse to eat it again. He did not know why Xiaomeng liked such a weird thing but since the menu had an additional ingredient that could be stored and not easily go bad or rot for winter, it was still kind of great.

“Tomorrow, I’ll make a trip to the potato field with Collin to bring more potatoes for you,” Barete said.

At the same time, Collin was secretly trying to send an uncooked potato into his mouth and after being called on by Barete, he gave the potato in his hand to Gu Mengmeng with a red face. Then, he nodded and said, “Yeah, I’ll go with Barete tomorrow.”

Chapter 186 - I'm Not Even Qin Shi Huang

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Oakley who strove to make himself familiar was also rarely silent. He stared at Gu Mengmeng for quite a while before starting to talk, “Do you really have a way to store food and prevent them from rotting?”

Gu Mengmeng looked back and did not think much before she replied, “Yeah” while nodding.

Oakley asked again, “Do you really want to teach this solution to everyone?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head again, saying, “Yeah, why?”

Oakley remained quiet for a while. Then, he said, “Do you know how great an effect the solution to store food can create if it’s used appropriately?”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and replied, “Everyone can store their food in advance and need not suffer through winter. Everyday, I kept hearing Sandy complain about going hungry during winter so much so that callus grew in my ears. If I teach this solution to everyone, Sandy will have food to eat during winter and my ears are saved. Yeah yeah, this effect is indeed awesome~ come, there should be a round of applause now.”

As Gu Mengmeng was talking, she led the applause herself. The four males did not know what was applause, but they stiffly copied the way she was clapping her hands.

Until Gu Mengmeng did a ‘collect’ hand gesture in satisfaction, Oakley then dared to continue talking, “Winter is also called the death season. Every year during the winter, many orcs will die. If you can store the food for an entire season without them rotting, you’re the deity in this world that even all the deities can't match up to. But you... want to teach this solution to everyone so easily? Just because you don't want to hear Sandy nag?"

Gu Mengmeng looked at Oakley in shock and bewilderment. She could not help but find it funny so she shrugged her shoulders and blew on a potato before sending it into his mouth. Tasting the fragrant, sweet and soft flavor, she chomped it up and after recollecting the taste in detail for a while, she then opened her eyes in complete contentment, answering Oakley, "I'm not even Qin Shi Huang (the first emperor of the Qin dynasty). I'm not interested in uniting the entire world. I just hope that the people I care about can live life in greater happiness. If my knowledge can achieve this goal, I'm very satisfied already. Moreover, the aim of this knowledge is to disseminate it and use it instead of making it into a custom-made SM brief that requires me to continue hiding it."

Oakley did not say a word. Actually, he was already in doubt when he went to extract honey with Gu Mengmeng previously. Fire is something the Beast Deity brought thousands of years ago. It symbolized absolute rights and sacred authority. Only messengers of the Beast Deity had the qualifications to protect the holy fire but if someone or even the tribe violated God's orders, the Flame Devil would carry out the punishment and would never forgive. So, even though thousands of years have passed, even though the holy fire in the tribe of the messengers of the Beast Deity had been put out and nobody would start it again, messengers of the Beast Deity still maintained a high level of authority in the Beast World and there was rarely people who dared to revolt and go against them.

And Gu Mengmeng actually used the holy fire to roast meat, poison yellow needle insects, boil water to cook rice... and even let Elvis and Lea teach the entire tribe how to use fire and how to prevent the fire of hope from becoming the Flame Devil without reserve.

Now, she was sharing this solution that could store food easily in the Beast World with everyone so easily?

A quiet voice was awakened in Oakley's mind, don't tell him that Gu Mengmeng...

Oakley was terrified by his thoughts and he stared at Gu Mengmeng in bewilderment, his eyes and mouth fixed. The expression on his face looked confused but to Gu Mengmeng, he looked as if he saw a ghost...

Chapter 187 - Where Are You Putting Your Claws At?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Upon seeing Oakley looking as if he saw a ghost, Gu Mengmeng found it pretty hilarious.

Can't everyone have their own ambition? Why must everyone's dreams be standardized?

Gu Mengmeng turned back to look at Elvis and asked, "Do you want to unite the Beast World?"

Elvis stared into Gu Mengmeng's eyes, slightly frowning as if he landed himself in a tremendously great struggle. After quite a while, he then opened his mouth to speak, "What is the price to pay for uniting the Beast World?"

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and answered, "I guess it's loneliness. Everyone who stands on the top of the world and looks down on everyone will rarely have people accompanying them. All kings in history were all self-claimed loners, loners who were utterly isolated. They couldn't trust nor rely on anyone. Their son might extend their claws at them on a bright afternoon all of a sudden or their wife might clutch their necks in the dead of the night someday. Let alone having any best friends. These are all the price to pay for authority. It's brutal but very real. If you want to possess something, you have to give up something. This is life."

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was explaining like a drama queen, Elvis suddenly heaved a sigh of relief. He pulled Gu Mengmeng who was dancing with joy in for a hug with a light smile as if he came round to something. He lightly rubbed the tip of his nose on her little face and said,

“I’m not interested in uniting the Beast World. I’m more interested in, what kind of price will I have to pay to be able to get you?”

Gu Mengmeng choked at Elvis’s sudden confession and she darted up due to her conditional reflexes. She gave a fake laugh and said, “Why don’t we just discuss about the 10086 ways to unite the Beast World?”

Oakley felt a deep sense of helplessness. Their original tribe leader Elvis who had lofty aspirations and great ideals became one with no aspirations at all after meeting the female love of his life.

But, why was he feeling so envious?

Oakley laughed at himself. He already kind of guessed Gu Mengmeng’s identity, and he himself was very clear that a first-level orc like him becoming her male was just a fool’s talk. It was already the highest honor to help her do something!

Thinking about this, Oakley tidied his emotions and said, “I’ll extract more yellow gravy with Bode tomorrow. For Sandy, I guess he won’t reject me.”

Upon hearing this, Gu Mengmeng’s eyes shimmered as she agreed by nodding her head like how a garlic was pounded. She thought for a moment before answering, “Remember, don’t take all the beehives away from others. Be good and leave half for them.”

Oakley did not know what kind of principle this was but since it came from Gu Mengmeng, he would not raise any objection. Thus, he nodded his head in agreement.

After Barete and the other two left, Elvis cleared the cutlery and returned back to the cave. He evolved into wolf form and huddled up on the beast-skin pad, treating it as a warm blanket. Gu Mengmeng originally did not have any mental pressure with Elvis’s original form but after the sudden confession today, she became pretty embarrassed.

Elvis did not give Gu Mengmeng much time to be affected when he moved his claws, causing Gu Mengmeng to fall into his arms. He shifted his front claws and trapped Gu Mengmeng, then placed his chin on her head and closed his eyes.

Elvis was sleeping soundly but Gu Mengmeng could not sleep at all.

Damn it, you pervert! Where are you putting your claws at?! My 36D is being used as your mouse-pad now, huh?!

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and was preparing to take out her force for handling crazy fellows on public transport to fix this pervert when she looked up and met eyes with Elvis's blue eyes. That look of him staring down at her and that sharp, protruding teeth that were visible from this short distance...

Actually, being held on by Elvis like this is quite good, right? Thinking about it from another perspective, it may be her own 36D acting frivolously towards Elvis's front claws, right right?

Chapter 188 - Gu Mengmeng Getting Up On The Wrong Side Of The Bed

The next morning, Gu Mengmeng was awakened by a great noise.

She flipped on her left, then her right and almost pulled up the fur on Elvis's stomach but still could not clog her ears.

A carp flipped out of Elvis's arms violently and Gu Mengmeng dashed out of the cave, looking as if she got up on the wrong side of the bed. She rolled up her sleeves while scolding, "Damn it, disturbing one's sweet dreams is like killing one's parents, and all of them are death feuds! I would want to see who is the one who's seeking death by disturbing my sleep!"

Gu Mengmeng's roar sent the outside of the cave into silence instantly.

However, this silence came too late because Gu Mengmeng already dashed out while shooting daggers with her eyes that lacked sleep. The first face she saw was Nina that looked more detestable day by day.

Gu Mengmeng did not say anything else as she stepped forward to grip onto Nina's beast-skin dress and threw Nina on the ground with an overarm throw. She climbed onto Nina's body and raised her hand to prepare for a slap.

Nina was abnormal this time round as she did not provoke her nor retaliate. Instead, she bawled her eyes out and wailed, "Hit me hit me, you can just hit me to death. It's better than not having any food and dying of hunger in my own cave. Nobody will even know. Sob sob sob, Gu Mengmeng, what exactly is your intention? Are you here to destroy Saint Nazaire? Do you want all the females in the tribe to die of hunger? Sob sob... anyways, I can't survive through this winter, you might as well hit me to death now! I rather die now than to die from hunger!"

Her cry caused Gu Mengmeng to be dumbfounded.

This time....she did not come for Lea?

Gu Mengmeng dusted off her hands and stood up. Not having enough sleep made her mood exceptionally irritable. She kicked Nina who was rolling on the floor and said, "Go on and wail again, if you wail again, I'll cut off your damn tongue."

Nina was terrorized by Gu Mengmeng and she immediately became quiet. She covered her mouth with both her hands, not knowing whether she was scared of making any sound or was it because she was protecting her own tongue. Anyway, she stared at Gu Mengmeng with a pair of crossed eyes, not shifting her gaze at all while she covered her mouth.

Gu Mengmeng gestured a hand movement of poking her eyes and said, "Go on and stare, if you continue staring at me, I'll gouge out your eyes."

Nina was so terrified until she hurriedly closed her eyes shut, giving off a rather baffling dreadful appearance but hilarious look.

However, Gu Mengmeng really could not laugh at Nina and she just frowned impatiently while saying, "If you have something to say, just spit it out. You came here to create a ruckus so early in the morning. Other than wanting to get hit, do you have other aspirations of a higher level?"

Nina was covering her mouth while speaking with hesitation. She looked like she was talking while brushing her teeth, who the hell can hear her clearly?

Gu Mengmeng removed her hand from her mouth harshly and asked her with a cold expression, "Speak properly and get lost after you're done!"

Nina felt like she was wronged but she did not dare to cry either. She knew that with Gu Mengmeng's one command, there would be no escape from Elvis ripping off her tongue. Thus, she replied while trying to catch her breath, "Why don't you let other males give the food to me? It's fine if you don't want it, but why shouldn't I get it as well? I'm at least a complete female. If I die of hunger, do you know what a loss this will bring to Saint Nazaire?"

Gu Mengmeng used her hand to dig her ears and gave a 'tsk' in detest. This gave Nina a huge scare till she hurriedly closed her mouth and fearfully stared at Gu Mengmeng and Elvis who was standing behind her, his face as dark as a hovering dark cloud. After meeting eyes with Elvis, Nina truly felt that a bolt of lightning could be shot out from his eyes anytime and strike her to death.

Chapter 189 - She's Just A Pheasant

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng glanced at the males who were holding onto large pieces of meat while standing at the boundaries of Elvis's territory and then looked at Sandy and Maya who were standing next to her. She did not answer Nina's words and just walked in front of Sandy, adjusting her torn clothes and messy short hair. She said while sighing, "You're at least a bear, how can you always look worse off whenever you fought with Nina? Don't tell me that Nina's original form is a tiger or a lion?"

Sandy interacted closely with Gu Mengmeng these days and was quite influenced by her so she was not as afraid of Nina anymore. Especially since Gu Mengmeng was present, her courage grew greater, and she snorted and rolled her eyes at Nina before looking back at Gu Mengmeng, replying to her, "What lion or tiger, she's just a pheasant. She doesn't know how to fly but insist on being a flying bird. She relied on Quentin being the only male in Saint Nazaire who can fly to go around flaunting her strength and raising many overboard requests. But Lea and Elvis satisfied her because she was a complete female and because Quentin did have that ability. Even though Quentin can't fly now and she doesn't have the title of First Beauty of the tribe anymore, she still continues to bully others, I can't stand it any longer!"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, gratified by Sandy as she patted her back, "That's right. But the next time, when you bash her again, evolve back into your original form and slap her to death with your bear paws. Don't give her the chance to continue b*ing around. It's too noisy, get it?"

Sandy blinked her eyes at Gu Mengmeng and then turned to look at Elvis before she whispered, "It's a rule in Saint Nazaire that we can't kill our fellow tribesman."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and said, “The slap her to death I said is just an adjective. I don’t want you to really end her life. Dirtying your own hand is always not good. But removing one of her limbs is still fine. Isn’t winter coming soon? It’ll be good to add a dish to our meals.”

Once Gu Mengmeng finished her words, let alone Nina, even Sandy stared at Gu Mengmeng in horror.

Gu Mengmeng peered at Nina whose face was as pale as a sheet with the corners of her eyes and inferred that this girl would not dare to provoke Sandy as she wishes in the future. Then, she changed her tone and held onto Sandy’s hand, asking, “Do you feel that I’m wrong in not allowing single males share their food with females?”

Sandy shook her head and said, “I don’t know what’s correct or wrong. I just know that I’ll listen to whatever you say.”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled heartily. There is no denying that the fan-girl mentality of Sandy’s blind worship fully satisfied Gu Mengmeng’s little vanity. And this trust in her made Gu Mengmeng feel a sense of warmth.

Gu Mengmeng held onto Sandy’s hand and turned to look at Maya, asking her, “What about you? What do you think about it?”

Maya was quite timid and clearly looked like she did not dare to express her real thoughts. She just bit onto her lower lip and stepped closer to Gu Mengmeng, saying in a soft voice, “I believe... that you won’t harm us. I... I will also listen to you.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and then turned to look at Nina again. She said while putting on a sarcastic smile, “So, this is just your own opinion?”

Nina was resolute as this concerned her food for winter. Despite being scared of Gu Mengmeng hitting her again, she would not cower. Thus, she nodded her head firmly while silently picturing her current image. It must be so solemn and stirring, as if she would not shrink back even if she was hit by the waves on a lonely island in the middle of the sea. Ah, she must be looking extremely beautiful. At this moment, all the males would pity and adore her!

However, she neglected an objective fact. That is, she was standing on Gu Mengmeng's place and besides her own partners, nobody would look at her a second longer.

Chapter 190 - Elvis's Unconditional Support

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng hugged herself with both her arms and leaned into Elvis's embrace. She was half-lying against Elvis's chest while standing and did not say a single word, just standing there quietly.

"If you're unhappy, you can leave Saint Nazaire," Elvis's icy cold voice could be heard above her.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng lips curved upwards. She must admit that Elvis's attitude of firmly standing on her side instead of asking who's right or wrong pleased Gu Mengmeng. She knew what a female meant to a tribe. She would also not give up on a female that easily even if it's such an annoying fellow like Nina. For Saint Nazaire's development, didn't she hold it in for so long too?

But principles and attitude were two vastly different things.

Gu Mengmeng was someone who did not like to create trouble for others and since Elvis supported her unconditionally, she naturally would not make things difficult for him.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng gave Nina a way out and said, "Or, you can ask your males to learn how to preserve their meat with everyone else. That way, you can store enough food before winter comes."

Nina did not say a word as she bit onto her lower lip and turned her head back with a jolt, stepping a few steps to her side.

Seeing how the fellow who was a hindrance had left, Gu Mengmeng waved her hands at everyone, signaling them to bring their meat over.

Although the males were not standing as neat and uniform as a square matrix of the liberation army, they all stood in order and maintained a shoulder distance from one another in front of Gu Mengmeng, waiting for her to instruct the next step.

Gu Mengmeng took out the salt crystals that she asked Elvis to smash into powder form earlier and demonstrated once how to preserve the meat. Then, she pointed at the mountain of salt crystals at the empty spot and asked everyone to preserve it the way she did.

Until everyone finished preserving their meat, she taught them how to dry the meat using tree branches and vines to hang them up. After she finished explaining everything, Gu Mengmeng and Sandy started walking through the crowd of males and guided or correct them at appropriate times. Although the males could not understand this weird method, when would they have the chance to interact so closely with females? With just this opportunity, it was worth to die of hunger during winter.

And furthermore, these things were originally supposed to be provided for the four females in the tribe. Now that it became their storage rations, it was great to have something to eat during winter and whether the taste was good or not did not matter much anymore.

Thus, a bunch of people started preserving their meat with enthusiasm, then hang the meat up to dry. Everything looked like it was in good order.

“Ah tsk!” The unharmonious voice rang throughout the air once again. Gu Mengmeng did not need to turn back when a thick and darkened vein burst at the corner of her forehead. She knew that this voice that sounded like a broken gong was Nina stirring trouble again. She glanced back swiftly and fiercely before seeing Nina spitting something on the ground and pointing at Quentin, scolding him, “What the hell are you preserving? This is too awful! You’re simply just wasting food! Don’t you know that I already have very little food this winter? And you’re still wasting some more here, do you want me to die of hunger?!”

Gu Mengmeng wanted to say something but Sandy said before to not interfere in others’ problems.

This punishment is skillfully given by one and gladly accepted by another. What position was she in to speak out of turn?

Thus, Gu Mengmeng forced herself to pretend that she did not hear Nina making oblique accusations and continued guiding other males in preserving their meat.

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng did not have any reaction, Nina gave herself a thumbs-up deep down in her heart and felt that she was on the winning end this time round. But consolidating Gu Mengmeng's behavior of not quarreling as long as she could land a finger on her, Nina eventually decided to not get greedy. Thus, she twitched her fat butt and one of her partners evolved into beast form to let her ride on him. Then, she looked up at the sky and said, "Let's go home. Don't continue staying here to wreck more food. If all of you have the time, why don't you hunt more prey for me? Why are all of you blindly holding up more time? Tsk!"

Chapter 191 - I Don't Snatch Gu Mengmeng's Things

Without Nina creating a disturbance, the preserving work was very successful.

Gu Mengmeng and Sandy brought Maya along and sat at a side to chat. When afternoon came, Barete and Collin came back first. The two of them were almost buried by the potatoes and from afar, it looked like the two mountains of potatoes had become alive and were walking towards them.

Until they placed the potatoes down, Collin then walked to Gu Mengmeng with a red face. He took out something from behind him and handed it to Gu Mengmeng, saying, "This is something I plucked unexpectedly when I was plucking the potatoes. I tried it before and it's also very delicious. Do you want it?"

Gu Mengmeng's eyes glistened, and she patted Collin's shoulder, complimenting him, "You're not bad, Collin. You can even find this thing! Where did you find it? Is there a lot of it?"

Seeing how much Gu Mengmeng liked it, Collin grinned from ear to ear. He scratched the back of his neck and said, "It's next to the potato field so it's not far. It's not as many as the potatoes but not little either."

Gu Mengmeng pulled Collin's hand in excitement and exclaimed, "Can you bring me over to see it?"

Collin blushed even more as he turned his head to the other side. He hung his head low while using the corners of his eyes to peek at Gu Mengmeng, then nodded his head.

Gu Mengmeng leaped on the spot in delight and jumped on Elvis in one go, “Elvis, go go go, let’s pick some sweet potatoes.”

Naturally, Elvis heeded Gu Mengmeng’s words and brought her to the direction of the potato field.

Barete followed behind them while Collin set off a bit later because he was busy catching his breath. Just when he was about to leave, he realized that the corner of his beast-skin dress was being pinched by Sandy.

Collin tilted his head while looking at Sandy, asking her, “Why? Do you want to eat it too? How about me discussing with Gu Mengmeng? She’s so nice to you and will definitely be willing to share some with you.”

Sandy shook her head and forced a smile, saying, “I don’t snatch Gu Mengmeng’s things.”

Collin replied a ‘Oh’ and did not say anything further. He wanted to leave when he saw Sandy still clutching onto the corner of his dress, unwilling to release it. Thus, he asked her again, “Do you have anything else to say?”

Sandy bit her lower lip and said, “I fought with Nina again today…”

Collin chuckled and said, “I heard about it. I feel that Gu Mengmeng’s still right. You have to bring out Gu Mengmeng’s force and slap Nina to death to make sure she won’t dare to create trouble again. Gu Mengmeng’s really the First Beauty of the tribe, she’s not only beautiful, her heart is beautiful as well. She’s really prettier the more you see her~”

Sandy then let go slowly and nodded her head, smiling at him, “Yeah, you’re correct. I don’t have anything else to say, hurry and bring Gu Mengmeng to find that soil ball. I see that she really likes it a lot. You won’t know that maybe she’s happy and will allow you to stay in Elvis’s cave for the whole winter.”

Once Collin heard it, his heart that he took so much effort to relax started palpitating crazily again. He gave a pat on Sandy’s shoulder and beamed, “What are you talking about? I don’t dare to think about all these~”

Sandy looked at how her shoulder became red after this tactless fellow patted her and smiled bitterly. She sighed and said, “You don’t dare to think about all these? How about looking at how you’re grinning until your eyes can’t be seen? You’re thinking about it until you’re going crazy soon right? Hurry and go after her, if not Gu Mengmeng will walk off too far already.”

Hearing Sandy’s words, Collin then noticed how Elvis had already brought Gu Mengmeng quite a distance away. He hit his forehead and cried, “Oh my, I shall not talk to you any further. I need to show Gu Mengmeng the way.”

Staring at Collin running away in a hurry, Sandy’s lips that were originally curving upwards formed a straight line as tears started revolving in her eyes but she forced them back willfully. She touched her left chest with her chubby hand and murmured to herself while looking at Collin’s back, “I don’t snatch Gu Mengmeng’s things, I don’t snatch Gu Mengmeng’s things...”

Chapter 192 - Getting A Main Dish

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Gu Mengmeng followed Collin to the sweet potato field, she felt that her life was simply too fortunate.

Main dish, it's a damn main dish!

She shook Elvis's arm in agitation and pointed at the sweet potato, speechless.

Elvis ruffled Gu Mengmeng's hair in a indulging way and then looked back slightly, giving off an eye signal. The next moment, the crowd of males behind him went forward and started plucking the sweet potatoes with both their hands.

Why was there a crowd of them? Ha ha ha, all of them heard Sandy and Collin's conversation and who would not want to grab hold of this opportunity to perform well? If they really could find favor in Gu Mengmeng's eyes before winter, that was simply walking to the peak of life. Even if they failed to do so, being able to serve the First Beauty of the tribe was an honorable achievement.

The whole afternoon, Gu Mengmeng was in charge of giggling foolishly in Elvis's arms and then watching how the males delivered the mountain of sweet potatoes back to Saint Nazaire in bulks. Under Gu Mengmeng's persistence, they brought back the sweet potato leaves as well.

When they returned back to Saint Nazaire, Oakley and Bode had already come back and were storing the extracted honey in the pots and bowls at Gu Mengmeng's house. Sandy followed behind Bode closely with her two eyes spewing hearts and kisses so that she could sneak a few mouthfuls of honey Bode secretly gave her at times.

Gu Mengmeng went forward to greet them joyfully and then handed a sweet potato that was washed clean to Sandy. Sandy took the sweet potato and immediately took a mouthful of it without saying anything. Then, she exclaimed in surprise, “So sweet!”

Gu Mengmeng pointed to her back with her thumb and turned behind to let Sandy see the mountain of sweet potatoes. The next moment, Sandy hugged onto Gu Mengmeng happily while leaping on the spot.

Gu Mengmeng said, “I definitely can’t finish everything by myself so you and Maya can bring some back to store it for winter. I’ll share the rest with the males in the tribe.”

The males in the tribe were all taken aback. Since ancient times, only the males were in charge of finding food for the females, there was no male who ate the food females brought back.

Although none of these sweet potatoes were being plucked by Gu Mengmeng, they were still hers.

Sandy was not happy, and she twitched her lips and said, “We already can’t eat the prey the males hunted for winter. Can we just... share all of these between the three of us?”

Gu Mengmeng found it funny as she asked, “There’s at least over a thousand pounds of it. Can you finish eating so many of it?”

Sandy looked at the sweet potatoes and then recalled the crispy feel in her mouth before swallowing her saliva and nodding her head.

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed as she laughed helplessly, “You little foodie, won’t you be scared of getting heartburn from eating sweet potatoes this entire winter? Are you not eating the fish and meat we preserved?”

Glancing at the water shuttles and the various meat hung up on the tree, Sandy blinked and rubbed her stomach saying, “Then, let’s share a little with them... but only a little.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, “Alright, let’s share a little with them.”

Maya walked to Gu Mengmeng and asked timidly, “Gu Mengmeng, I don’t want the sweet potato, can you share the leaves with me?”

Gu Mengmeng looked back and saw Maya pointing at the sweet potato leaves before asking her, “You like to eat them?”

Maya nodded her head, her eyes filled with thirst.

Gu Mengmeng replied readily, “Can, there’s a lot of it. I’ll leave some to make soup and you can share the rest with Sandy.”

Sandy immediately opened her mouth to speak, “I don’t want the leaves, you can take my share. But can you give me your sweet potatoes?”

Maya nodded and the two of them made a pleasant agreement.

Chapter 193 - A Self-Invited Guest

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The next few days, Gu Mengmeng was exceptionally busy.

The males plucked the potatoes at the potato field in bulks and also hunted much prey on the way. Because at this time, everyone would be observing the hideout of their prey and wait until there was no food in winter before going on a hunt again to ensure that their food would not rot. But in the previous years, they would have to pay a very high price for it. Among the three males who went out for a hunt, one returning back was good enough. With Gu Mengmeng's storage method this year, everyone would not need to take risks this winter and could carry out their hunting spree in the season when their prey were the most fleshy. Regardless of whether it was the quality or the quantity of the food they stored, everyone saw an evident improvement.

And the other bunch of males with Bode as the leader started catching the fish in the stream and then drying them according to Gu Mengmeng's methods.

Everything was carried out in perfect order until one day, a self-invited guest came to the tribe.

Lea, who did not appear for quite a while, came to the boundaries of Elvis's territory once again. He used his unique fox howl to call Elvis out of his territory.

Seeing Lea's haggard look, Elvis was taken by surprise.

He frowned while saying, "Your body will not be able to take it if you continue digging ginger day and night."

Lea shook his hands and took out a small cage from his waist. That was a basket Gu Mengmeng threaded long ago to raise a rabbit. After a few days, however, that rabbit did not survive eventually and Lea kept that cage to prevent Gu Mengmeng from being depressed at the prospect and prevent her from being sad when she thought of it. Now, he made it to good use. He handed the cage filled with ginger to Elvis and sighed, saying, "I've to help her do something so that I can catch my breath or else..."

Lea looked down, staring at his chest and did not finish his sentence.

Sighing deeply again, Lea shook his head before continuing, "I came here to tell you another thing."

Elvis and Lea had a great teamwork after going through thick and thin these few years. Just by looking at his expression, Elvis knew that the thing Lea was going to say would be deadly serious.

Thus, Elvis handed the ginger to a male by the side and left his territory with Lea, heading to Lea's house.

The territory of the witch doctor should not be infringed on a greater extent than the territory of the leader because besides treating the wounded, it was a place where the witch doctor and the leader discuss important matters. When the two of them emitted their strong pressure at the same time, this place would become a vacuum zone and if anyone stepped close on their own accord, they would be bitten to death directly without asking for the reason.

This, is the religious authority the previous messenger of the Beast Deity bestowed upon the witch doctor.

Lea half-lying under the tree and closed his eyes, emitting his own beast pressure first. Elvis was dumbfounded for a moment before he followed suit.

And after they ensured that there was no one else besides the two of them within Lea's territory, Lea then started speaking slowly, "We probably can't continue hiding the fact that Mengmeng is the messenger of the Beast Deity."

Elvis's expression froze as he asked, "What do you mean?"

Lea used his chin to point at the lunar white fox lying at the entrance of his cave and said, "Sauder's faithful fox. His appearance implies that Sauder's faithful messenger is on the way to Saint Nazaire and will reach in a few days. This is asking us to prepare to welcome the faithful messenger in advance."

Elvis frowned, and he said with a sullen look, "Sauder... is the tribe that the previous messenger of the Beast Deity appeared at?"

Chapter 194 - But Unfortunately She's The Messenger of the Beast Deity

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea nodded, giving his reply.

“They won’t send their faithful messenger to Saint Nazaire for no reason at all and Saint Nazaire is the only tribe that is worthy of their conspiring...”
Lea did not finish his sentence and just stared at Elvis in silence.

Elvis remained quiet for a while before he said, “Xiaomeng has never left the tribe before, how would they know of her identity?”

Lea gave a faint smile. The peaceful look on his face was because he expected this long ago. The reveal would come sooner or later since no tribe had the ability to hide the presence of a messenger of the Beast Deity forever. However, when that day came, he could not be as calm as he expected. Although he had deduced how to react to this matter countless times in his heart before Gu Mengmeng arrived, but now... what he wanted was not having nine successful attempts out of ten chances anymore, he wanted a guarantee of complete success.

Lea did not reply Elvis and just revealed a smile that was not necessary to say more. He tapped his arm lightly with his slender and bony hand and raised his head, looking at the skies while squinting his eyes. This caused the slight smile that was originally on his face to become even more subtle until it almost became invisible.

“Winter is coming soon, tell me....would the faithful messenger be so unlucky to face the first snow on his way here?”

The corners of Elvis's lips curved up towards one side and a bloodthirsty but charmingly evil smile appeared on his face. He said with his blue eyes glittering with coldness, "The winter that he belonged to should come before he steps into Saint Nazaire."

"No," Lea stopped Elvis and breathed in deeply before he continued, "Let him enter the tribe and see Mengmeng."

Elvis frowned. He did not question Lea directly and instead, waited for his explanation.

Lea was not affected by Elvis's emotions as he continued, "Mengmeng brought fire and food to Saint Nazaire, many people in the tribe have already faintly guessed her identity. If we continue concealing her identity in the long run, it's hard to avoid losing popularity from the people. You, as a tribe leader, and me, as a witch doctor, will actually appear to have no faith in our fellow tribesman. So, we need someone with credibility to reveal Mengmeng's identity on our behalf. This faithful messenger... is our best choice."

Elvis's brows were still tightly furrowed. He could not deny that Lea was correct. They did not tell anyone in the tribe about Gu Mengmeng being the messenger of the Beast Deity because they wanted to delay her identity exposure to the greatest extent. But now, at the tribe of the messengers of the Beast Deity in Sauder... no, rather, in the tribe of the former messengers of the Beast Deity, everyone was aware of it. This implied that there was someone in the tribe who had guessed Gu Mengmeng's identity and leaked it out.

Since someone already knew it, it did not make sense to hide any further. They should just go open with Gu Mengmeng's identity in Saint Nazaire so that the people in the tribe could raise their protection towards Gu Mengmeng, from protecting a precious female to defending the next messenger of the Beast Deity. Those were two totally different concepts.

But if it happened, Gu Mengmeng's carefree life would end here. All the unrest and challenges in the Beast World could almost be foreseen clearly and putting Gu Mengmeng in the teeth of the storm was really not something he wished to see but unfortunately, she's the messenger of the Beast Deity.

Being helpless against his will, Elvis nodded his head solemnly and then said, "I'll leave this matter to you. I'll go back and accompany Xiaomeng."

Lea's expression was still blank, and he nodded slightly.

Until Elvis's back view completely disappeared from his sight, Lea then evolved into a half-orc and sat down cross-legged on the ground, hugging his fluffy large tail in his arms. He touched it at times and stared at his empty embrace with hollow eyes while imagining the petite girl saying sweetly, "Daddy Lea, you're so good-looking."

"Mengmeng, I miss you so much," Although he knew that she could not hear him, he still read out his longing for her to the air.

Chapter 195 - Sandy's Seventh Partner

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

In a tribe, the tribe leader had the highest level of authority because nobody could defeat him. The witch doctor represented a religious authority that could not be violated and could even override the authority of the tribe leader sometimes.

But there was a situation where both the tribe leader and the witch doctor were at a loss of what to do. That is when the females in the tribe came together. They could do whatever they wanted... even if the Beast Deity came to life, he would be at his wit ends too.

And now, Saint Nazaire was facing this situation.

Everyday, among the four females, three were happily shuttling back and forth the tribe that was hung with preserved meat and piled full of potatoes and sweet potatoes. At times, they would make compliments like, "Wow, you preserved so much meat? You definitely would not go hungry this winter." and "Oh my god, you placed the potatoes and sweet potatoes in such a neat manner, can you teach my partner?" This simply caused the adrenaline of the males in Saint Nazaire to soar to a level never seen before. Every male would put in a greater effort to preserve their meat after their hunt and go off to dig for more potatoes and sweet potatoes.

And what made the situation reach the peak was that the little foodie Sandy had took in a new partner before winter. He was a hyena named Berly. In the Beast World where good-looking males could be seen anywhere, Berly's looks were only considered normal and his physique was not as burly as Barete or Collin. The reason why Sandy chose him was because...

Because his sharp sense of smell made him the male who discovered the greatest number of potato fields.

In simpler terms, he married into Sandy's family by using a large plot of a potato field as the dowry. That way, Sandy would have seven partners.

On the day they mated, Gu Mengmeng made a large pot of precious animals farmhouse stew because the meat were all handled and chopped into pieces so besides the potatoes, Gu Mengmeng did not know whether he put in lion or tiger meat. Anyway, when the steaming and fragrant pot of farmhouse stew was sent to Sandy's cave, Sandy grinned until her eyes became invisible.

It was rare that she did not start eating it in a hurry and instead, held Gu Mengmeng's hand, requesting her to sing 'Dowry' again. Gu Mengmeng thought that although this was the seventh time Sandy's mating, it was still a great joyous occasion. Other than mating, there's nothing here so as a friend, she can just sing a song. Thus, she cleared her throat and sang the whole song of Claire Kuo's 'Dowry'.

After she finished singing, she thought that it was time to send the groom and the bride into the bridal chamber for their first night. But who knew that Sandy would look up at Berly and asks him, "Did you remember what Gu Mengmeng sang just now?"

Berly nodded his head eagerly and gave Gu Mengmeng a 90 degree bow before saying, "Gu Mengmeng, thank you. If you did not discover that Sandy likes eating potatoes, I won't have the good fortune to mate with her. You're Sandy's best friend and me, Berly's, greatest benefactor. I'll be grateful to you my entire lifetime, not dare to complain about your loud noise forever and will also not dare to be jealous of you. Please rest assured."

Gu Mengmeng burst out in laughter. Why did she feel that she was Sandy's First Partner, and this was a newly added young fellow paying her a visit?

However, this feeling was not that bad after all.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng shook her wrists and displayed the warm-up action she would make every time before she starts hitting Nina. She held back her laughter and said in a threatening tone, “I can forgive you for complaining about my loud noise or being jealous of me. But if you dare to let my Sandy suffer from a bit of injustice, my fist is not something to be trifled with.”

Berly tilted his head and seeing Gu Mengmeng’s insignificant fist without any force at all, he blinked his eyes and could not answer her.

Gu Mengmeng strongly felt that she was being despised, so she squinted her eyes and gave a cold snort, “I’ll use my fist to instruct Elvis to bash you up until you start looking for your teeth on the ground.”

Berly looked up and Elvis was already standing behind Gu Mengmeng, his whole body emitting pressure as he stared at Berly coldly. Berly felt goosebumps forming from the bottom of his feet and did not dare to doubt her any further so he nodded his head profusely.

Chapter 196 - That Person Who Should Have Come, Finally Came

Sandy's mating made the blood of the males in Saint Nazaire start boiling. Looking at everyone working with tremendous vigor, Gu Mengmeng felt a huge sense of achievement.

If less people, or even none, die this winter because of her, she did not transmigrate here without any achievement. At least she contributed to the Beast World, right?

The weather became colder and now, other than the afternoon where the sun is the brightest, Gu Mengmeng's already in the condition of not leaving home.

Luckily, Elvis was a billionaire and after knowing that Gu Mengmeng could not see anything in the dark, he took around 17 to 18 luminous pearls from the deep part of the cave and set in on the walls. The light from one luminous pearl is actually very dim but with more of them, they gave off an obscure aesthetic beauty. When Gu Mengmeng opened her eyes sometimes, she would feel that she was in space and that the star that she could touch was accompanying her. The feeling was very dreamy and did not feel real, especially Elvis that looked unclear in the night light. The evil aura on him widened unlimitedly under this dim lighting and concealed the part that looked resolute under the sunlight inside the darkness.

The current male looked like a vampire from Western mythology, one with long hair that resembled inked clouds and smoke and his naked chest was emitting a strong sense of seduction. Although Gu Mengmeng had seen him for almost a month, she still could not escape from being suffused with blushes and having a crazy heartbeat.

As the time both of them interacted with each other in the cave increased, Gu Mengmeng showed a decreasing trend in her immunity towards Elvis. This made her feel uneasy because she had just broke up with Lea less than a month ago and having a new sweetheart that quickly made her disrespect her feelings towards Lea. After all, he was her first love.

And when Gu Mengmeng was in the middle of her struggle, the person who should have come, finally came.

This afternoon, the howl of a fox caught Elvis's attention. His expression was quite complicated as his brows furrowed into a dead knot when he looked at Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng noticed Elvis's abnormality easily and asked, "What's wrong? Did something happen?"

Elvis pursed his lips and replied, "The faithful messenger of the messengers tribe has arrived. We... have to welcome him."

About messengers of the Beast Deity, Gu Mengmeng heard it quite a fair bit from Sandy. She was strongly interested in those people that were almost deified. Even though the tricks played by the person could be seen as fake in the eyes of a modern person, he managed to bluff the entire Beast World so Gu Mengmeng still kind of admired him. When she heard that the faithful messenger of the messengers tribe had arrived, Gu Mengmeng's eyes brightened up and she jumped into Elvis's arms on her own initiative. She wrapped her arms around his neck and said, "I heard from Sandy that the messengers tribe is very arrogant and would lift their heads up everyday, looking down on others. They actually came to our tribe today? This is too rare, you have to bring me there for a look."

Elvis's brows were still furrowed because he knew what stepping out of the cave meant.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng who was in his embrace, he suddenly felt how good it would be if she was not a messenger of the Beast Deity. That way, she could live a simple life under his protection forever and need not bear so much disputes and worries.

What a pity, there's no 'if'...

Elvis held onto Gu Mengmeng's waist and landed a kiss on her forehead. Then, he wrapped Gu Mengmeng up tightly with a thick bear skin. Before they left, he noticed that her legs were exposed to the outside, so he placed her little legs into his beast-skin dress and used the warmth from his stomach to keep her warm.

Once everything was ready, Elvis breathed in deeply and headed to the dazzling sunlight outside the cave while carrying Gu Mengmeng who was jumping for joy.

Chapter 197 - Screw You!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The center of Saint Nazaire, where Gu Mengmeng once held her coming-to-age ceremony. That blood-soaked red wooden pagoda had been removed, and was replaced with numerous types of animal fur placed neatly, all of which had been tanned. They were separately placed in three different classes: good, moderate and poor, depending on the type and print of the fur.

Someone sat on top of one of the piles of fur, with one foot against the edge of the fur and the other hanging at will. Against the light, Gu Mengmeng was unable to make out the appearance of that person, and could only feel that the arrogant posture was very unlikable. Those damn fur are supposed to be distributed for fellow tribesmen to keep warm in the winter.

“Hey!” Gu Mengmeng pointed at the arrogant male and shouted loudly “Did your mother not teach you, to be respectful when you visit someone else’s house, and not to touch their things without permission?”

As if he had never been treated in such a manner, Gu Mengmeng could clearly see him turning his head around after being stunned for a moment. Then, his body turned around swiftly. Followed by...

Gu Mengmeng did not have time to look at anything, and could only feel the tensing of Elvis’ muscles as she was in his arms. He quickly backed off, and the beast skin wrapped around him was overturned by an external force, which was shredded into pieces and scattered around.

Gu Mengmeng knew without a doubt that had Elvis ducked any later, the beast skin would not be the only thing that is shredded to bits.

Fired up, Gu Mengmeng pointed at the person’s nose and scolded, “Are you infected with the damn rabies or did you just run out from the Qingshan Mental Hospital?”

At the same time, Gu Mengmeng was quickly surrounded by over twenty males of Saint Nazaire. One by one, they positioned themselves in a posture that showed they were ready to attack, staring at him with eager eyes, shielding Elvis and Gu Mengmeng.

Any attack on a female in the tribe, regardless of your identity, is equivalent to declaring war to that tribe. This was the rule in the beast world.

“So you are Gu Mengmeng.” That person did not bother about the males that were blocking him, his eyes only lighting up when he saw Gu Mengmeng’s face. The gaze when he sized up visibly and obviously showed distinct greed.

Gu Mengmeng sneered, “Is this situation now, one that you can raise questions in? Do you not understand what’s happening?”

The person glanced coldly at the males that were blocking him and snorted, “You’re right, I should at least clear these trash, to provide a comfortable environment for the beautiful female to engage in a conversation with.”

With that, he gently licked the back of his hand, and his nails grew out at a speed that could be seen by the naked eye. His movements were cat-like, but more sly.

Gu Mengmeng thought the action was extremely familiar, but could not remember where she had seen it at that moment.

In an instant, yells of pain were heard repeatedly.

The males who were shielding Elvis and Gu Mengmeng started rolling on the floor at an unbelievable speed. Everyone had different degrees of injury on their bodies. While they were not lethal, it made it difficult for them to stand up again, and everyone had an obvious wound on their artery. It was clear that the intention was to let them bleed to death.

Gu Mengmeng furrowed her brows, is this damned maniac a monstrous killer?!

“Screw you!” Gu Mengmeng scolded, rolling up her sleeves and got ready to run forward.

Elvis held on to her tightly, brushing one hand against her chin to turn her furious face towards him. He then looked into her eyes and said, “Tell me, if you want him to be crippled, or if you want him to die.”

Chapter 198 - Beat Him To Death!

Gu Mengmeng rolled up half her sleeve, pointing at the man with the peculiar smile, “Beat him, beat him to death!”

“Alright.” Elvis put Gu Mengmeng down and gently kissed her forehead. An aura of death was instantly dispersed around him the moment he spun around as he walked towards that faithful messenger from the messengers tribe of the Beast Deity one step at a time, looking like a demon.

Gu Mengmeng did not idle either. Immediately, she stripped a piece of beast skin, running towards the nearest casualty, telling him to use his sharp claws to tear the beast skin into strips, then tie it around the wound tightly from the area closest to the heart for emergency hemostasis. Gu Mengmeng could not recall the name of the casualty lying on the floor, but she remembered his face. During the times that they dug potatoes, sweet potatoes and cured meat, they always had a great time together.

“Gu Mengmeng... I’m sorry, I was too weak.” Blood poured out profusely from his wound, but the male lowered his head, not daring to look into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes as if he did not feel the pain. He seemed embarrassed and frustrated, as if he had done unforgivable things.

From the beginning, Gu Mengmeng has never agreed with the unspoken rule “Being weak is wrong hence deserving of death” in the beast world. She slapped his shoulder, “Don’t think like that, you’re very courageous. You knew you couldn’t defeat him, yet you still shielded me, didn’t you?” You are the warrior of Saint Nazaire, I am honoured and proud of you. First, let’s heal the wounds, it isn’t too late to seek revenge once we improve our skills.”

“Hmm!” the male nodded determinedly and did not continue making anymore self-loathing comments.

Gu Mengmeng got ready to handle the second casualty, but a weight was lifted off her hands.

“I’ll take over from here.” Lea took the beast skin from Gu Mengmeng’s hands, his movements smooth as water, without an ounce of delay.

Gu Mengmeng sighed. In front of a foreign enemy, she had to put down whatever feud between her and Lea. There was nothing that was more important than saving the lives of fellow tribesmen.

Now that she did not have to worry about the casualties, Gu Mengmeng diverted her attention back to Elvis and that messenger. Both of them were similar in their skills, fighting head on, and it was difficult to tell the outcome. After observing for a long while, she concluded that Elvis had the upper hand. His moves of attack were accumulated from his past experiences in battle, and every movement was solid. As long as he hits the target, the faithful messenger will most likely not be able to climb back up.

However, the faithful messenger’s posture was light yet agile, avoiding Elvis’ attack by close calls when his crucial spots were missed. He even counterattacked swiftly, taking opportunities to fight back. His moves were cunning, as he focused on attacking the three crucial points below the chin, allowing him to achieve similar effects without using much of his energy. It was a dexterous fighting method.

Going down like this, it was obvious that Elvis was on the losing end.

Gu Mengmeng frowned. Suddenly, she remembered what Oakley had told her that night.

Fire...

The previous messengers of the Beast Deity had used fire to create a ridiculous faith with fire which allowed them to rule this world under a disguise. For thousands of years, nobody dared to offend the Sauder messengers tribe.

What a shame, it was heard that nobody in this tribe knew how to light a fire.

But... any random person in Saint Nazaire would know how to light it up.

Gu Mengmeng smirked, her smile looking slightly evil. She gave a look to the casualty lying beside her, “Hey big brother, lend me a fire.”

Chapter 199 - Gu Mengmeng Faking An Accident For Compensation

As Gu Mengmeng held the torch, walking one step at a time towards the faithful messenger fighting against Elvis, the faithful messenger was stunned and it was as if he could not believe his eyes, staring straight at Gu Mengmeng's face that had been lit up by the light from the fire. Her smile was so crafty yet so intelligent. He needed no other evidence to deeply believe that this female, who had a beauty that could make one suffocate, is the next messenger of the Beast Deity.

Elvis was not going to let him off just because he was in a daze. With a punch to his chin, blood and a tooth spurted out from his mouth, causing the faithful messenger to fall backwards as he could only see a black whirlpool in front of him. Even so, he still stared right in Gu Mengmeng's direction. It was difficult to tell what his look meant, it was just a little wretched, a little ferocious.

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis' arm, saying, "You've worked hard, mister tribe leader. Leave the rest to me."

Elvis looked at the faithful messenger who had fallen onto the ground unable to get up and did not say anything. He only walked backwards silently, maintaining a distance whereby he was able to react quick enough to break his neck before he even has any slight movement that might put Gu Mengmeng in danger, and left Gu Mengmeng to vent her anger on him.

"Mister faithful messenger." Gu Mengmeng squatted down beside him, snorting at his mouth that was still bleeding profusely. She squinted her eyes with a sneer, "Since you came from afar, we should have treated you with hospitality. However, you were really too disrespectful, causing me to feel very uncomfortable.”

Gu Mengmeng never gave the faithful messenger any opportunity to speak. Her slender fingers flipped a few times in the flame, and she could see his astonished expression from her peripheral vision. In disdain, she thought: You ignorant bandit. These tricks that I learned from the magician when I worked part time at a theme park barely fooled little kids, but to you... it's considered pretty marvelous, isn't it?

Gu Mengmeng snorted contemptuously as she saw how the faithful messenger was shocked till his eyes were about to fall out, then continued, “We have a few things that we better settle.”

Gu Mengmeng casually took the beast skin that she had originally draped over her body, but had now become a torn rag, “This piece of beast skin, was sewn by hand by my Mother Beast when I was born. Aiya, and now it has been torn because of you. Now tell me... how are you going to make it up to me?”

After listening to Gu Mengmeng's rambling, no matter how sly the faithful messenger was, he was still limited by his knowledge, not understanding the concept of “Faking an accident for compensation”. Gu Mengmeng usually do not bother doing such things, but she was really too angry today. How can anyone use proper rules to deal with such neurotics? Sorry, Gu Mengmeng is the type who treats you ten times better if you treat her nicely. But if you dared to bully her, then she would not only make life a hundred times worse for you, and more.

“I... I will hunt ten more pieces to return to you...” blood filled the mouth of the faithful messenger, making it difficult for him to speak. He was even sputtering droplets of blood onto Gu Mengmeng's face.

Disgusted, Gu Mengmeng furrowed her brows, “Huh, but this was from the Beast Deity, how are you going to hunt back ten pieces for me?”

“Isn't... isn't this given to you by your Mother Beast?” the faithful messenger's tongue kept going numb, and his brain was still buzzing. It was not that he was smart, it was just that Gu Mengmeng had too big of a loophole in her words...

However, Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud and moved her tiny mouth beside the faithful messenger's ear as if she was going to whisper a secret. Without lowering her voice, she said one word at a time, "You didn't hear that properly, did you? What I said was, this was sewn by hand by my Mother Beast, but the one who gifted this piece of beast skin to me, was the Beast Deity~"

Chapter 200 - The Messenger Is A Moron

The faithful messenger went pale, and it was unknown whether it was because he was beaten up by Elvis or because he was scared by Gu Mengmeng. Looking at Gu Mengmeng, he stuttered, “Beast Deity... Why would the Beast Deity give you the beast skin?”

Gu Mengmeng suddenly covered her smile and laughed, looking at the faithful messenger with a “you idiot” expression. Shaking her head, she slowly drew circles in front of the faithful messenger while replying with an accent, “Obviously it’s because... the Beast Deity is my daddy, duh.”

The eyes of the faithful messenger opened even wider, beyond what Gu Mengmeng thought was possible, making his original hideous expression seem even more comical, looking like some emoticon.

The faithful messenger swallowed his saliva carefully asking, “Isn’t your daddy...”

Before he could finish speaking, his attention was diverted to Lea, who was in the distance.

Gu Mengmeng’s expression darkened, while sneering inside: This faithful messenger she had never met not only knew her name but also how she called Lea her daddy. Even an idiot wouldn’t believe that there wasn’t a mole.

Gu Mengmeng regained her calm and did not give the faithful messenger much him to figure out her thoughts, only asking with a mocking tone, “Why? Did your Mother Beast only have one partner?”

The color in the faithful messenger's face instantly turned from white to green.

He really could not imagine, what kind of female, could make even the Beast Deity willing to become one of her many beast partners. Suddenly, he realized, the background of the little female in front of him cannot be underestimated. The strongest person in her family isn't even the Beast Deity? Who is her Mother Beast? What kind of background does she have?

All the questions were blowing up in his head. He struggled to move, and Elvis immediately lifted up Gu Mengmeng at light speed, backing off and got into a position where he was ready to attack or defend. However, the faithful messenger did not get up, merely flipped over and crawled into a kneeling posture. He gave Gu Mengmeng a huge salute, one that was similar to the Tibetan pilgrimage, stuttering while he tolerated the excruciating pain in his body,

“Sagua, representing Sauder, welcomes the messengers of the Beast Deity back to the tribe.”

Gu Mengmeng thought, isn't this guy too easy to fool? Did he really think the Beast Deity was her father?

Silently, she thought: Moron!

However, she remained cold on the surface, saying, “Don't change the topic. You damaged the item gifted to me by the Beast Deity, what are you going to do about it?”

It was clear Sagua's body was quivering. Afraid to raise his head, he maintained a crawling posture, “It will be up to Miss Messenger to decide. Whatever you say, will be whatever I will do.”

Finally, Gu Mengmeng smiled, so wide like the shining sun, so bright one could not open their eyes. Seeming like she was in a good mood, she patted Elvis, gesturing for him to let her down.

Elvis knew Sagua could probably not cause any more trouble, but still remained on alert, protecting her from an arm's length away with cautiousness.

Gu Mengmeng was clearly more forgiving this time. Taking a few steps forward, she touched the back of Sagua's head with a "You're really cooperative" expression, "As for me, I'm not an unreasonable person. If I tell you to look for the Beast Deity and beg for an exact same piece, I suppose you don't have that ability, anyway. How about, you strip the one you have off your body, and give it to me as a compensation?"

Sagua went stiff and started shaking even more than before. A urine odor was followed by liquid that flowed out from under his body.

Was he... scared till he peed?

The tribe messengers of the Beast Deity, are just like this after all, how did such morals survive through centuries in the beast world?

Gu Mengmeng sneered and continued, "Don't be afraid, don't be afraid. The witch doctors in our tribe have excellent skills, ripping skin off is no difficult task to them. I can assure you that they can peel off a perfect piece. Furthermore, they are nimble, so you wouldn't be in pain for too long. Oh, by the way, he is very good at healing, so I can assure that after you get your skin ripped off, you will – not – die!"

Chapter 201 - Ridiculous Imagination

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Sagua's fear reached its peak once he heard the last three words coming out from Gu Mengmeng's mouth, one at a time.

What could be worse than not dying after getting one's skin ripped off? Imagining the image of himself dripping in blood, Sagua could already feel the pain all over his body, causing him to shake more than before. It was only now that he started to regret being so prideful. He should not have attacked Gu Mengmeng right away, he merely wanted to confirm the extent to which Saint Nazaire protected Gu Mengmeng. If she was easily killed by him, it would prove that she was another one of those females in these countless years that became the scapegoat on behalf of someone else.

However, the moment he saw Gu Mengmeng's face, he was almost sure that Gu Mengmeng was the messenger of the Beast Deity.

Although he had never seen the last messenger of the Beast Deity, he had heard from rumors that she had an unforgettable beauty that could not be compared to any other female in the beast world. So, they set off to search for the new faithful messenger of the messengers of the Beast Deity, and the first creed he obeyed was his own eyes. Despite none of them having seen the messengers of the Beast Deity, but according to the legends of the tribe, they can immediately identify one the moment they saw them.

Now the facts have been proven, the ancestors were right.

And when he saw Gu Mengmeng holding the torch, even playing with the flames, he believed it a hundred percent.

It could not be wrong. Otherwise, how would the Flame Devil brought by the previous messenger of the Beast Deity be so docile in her hands? It was also because of this that he carried no suspicions towards Gu Mengmeng when she said “The Beast Deity is my daddy”. After all, according to the records and legends of the tribe, the Flame Devil had always been aggressive, and even the previous messenger of the Beast Deity were unable to have full control over it. Yet, Gu Mengmeng could play with it freely, as if she was just teasing her pet at home.

If we were to ask who is the owner of the Flame Devil... the Beast Deity would definitely not be the second choice.

So, it seemed perfectly logical that Gu Mengmeng was the daughter of the Beast Deity.

Gu Mengmeng did not know Sagua’s imagination had run wild, and could only see him suddenly straightening his back, looking at Lea with a confused yet fearful gaze as he approached him after having treated the casualties’ injuries. Those eyes filled with dread and admiration, he did not seem like a butcher that was about to peel off his skin, but more like...

Crap! Gu Mengmeng instantly understood what Sagua was thinking. Damn, he thought Lea, just like the Beast Deity, was the partner of her “Mother Beast”.

Goodness, that damned mouth of hers, why did she not think before she outrightly said something so stupid like “Did your mother only have one partner”?

How is she going to explain herself now? Damn, was she going to say that she found herself a stepfather?

But the problem was, she didn’t even know who her mother was...

Gu Mengmeng shuddered with a start, wanting to stay away from this ridiculous imagination. Shaking he head, she decided she could no longer follow up with Sagua, so she forcefully diverted the conversation, roaring,

“Hey. Didn’t I tell you not to change the topic? Give me a direct answer, are you going to compensate this piece of skin, or not?”

Sagua moved his knees, turning towards Lea and gave him a big salute while kneeling down, “Ninth Highness, please save Sagua, Sagua did not mean to offend Miss Messenger, please help me plead for forgiveness with Miss Messenger...”

Gu Mengmeng furrowed her brows, turning to the direction at which Sagua was kneeling towards to look at Lea, repeating silently in her heart: Ninth Highness?

Lea’s smile was faint, his hands having a clear contrast against his head of silver hair due to the bloodstains from the casualties. He picked up a piece of beast skin to wipe his hands, then slowly stretched out his nails, twisted his wrists and looked at Sagua from the corner of his eye, “Plead for forgiveness? Well, that’s not possible, Mengmeng said... she wanted your skin.”

Chapter 202 - Ninth Highness

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was clearly fooling around when she said Lea would peel off his skin, and that he wouldn't die after being peeled.

Even Lea was pondering, where should he start peeling to ensure that when the entire piece is peeled off, Sagua would not die? But genuine knowledge comes from practice, how would one know if he never tried?

Therefore, Lea approached Sagua slowly. The all-powerful Mister Faithful messenger just now had turned into a weakling in the blink of an eye, looking like a piece of trash incapable of self sufficiency.

Disgusted, Gu Mengmeng frowned and tilted her face away.

“Ninth Highness, you can't treat me like this, Ninth Highness. After all, we were from the same tribe, we can't hurt each other. Please plead with Miss Messenger, since you are her senior, she will definitely listen. Ninth Highness, I'm begging you Ninth Highness, please save me...”

“Senior?” Lea gritted his teeth as a murderous look shot out from his squinting eyes.

“Daddy Lea”, the term that his Mengmeng called him, was a title between lovers, yet this idiot said he was her senior?

“Ninth Highness, I know you were wronged by whatever happened back in the day, but you're living just fine after you left Sauder, and even joined the family of the Beast Deity. This shows great fortune. Please let go of the things that happened in the past... Ugh...” Before Sagua could finish, Lea grabbed him by the neck with his sharp claws, and he could no longer continue speaking.

Lea dragged Sagua's body, closely observing his neck as if he was considering at which point he should start to ensure the perfectness of the piece of skin peeled.

Using both hands, Sagua grabbed onto Lea's wrists, wanting to break free but having no energy to. He could only whisper, "Ninth Highness, Ninth..."

"Shush." Lea pointed his index finger on his lips, gesturing him to cease making any noise. He smiled calmly, replying indifferently, "Wasn't your Ninth Highness, expelled from the pedigree long ago? I remember, something along the lines of... if he meets, anyone from Sauder, they will be killed."

Lea's smile widened. He paused, staring at Sagua with an extremely demonic expression, as if all the angel-like kindness had left him and turned him into a devil-like evil, "The one that once tried to kill me, is kneeling, begging and pleading with me today? Aren't you afraid of becoming the next sinner of Sauder and becoming the next target of expulsion?"

Lea tightened his grip gradually, causing Sagua to sufficiently experience the feeling of being suffocated. As he saw the blood vessels fill his protruding eyeballs, he did not feel any sense of pity, nor... hatred.

He thought that he would be full of hatred, and that he would use the most cruel methods to rip up anyone he sees again from Sauder, yet, the only thought in his head was how he could perfectly peel off this piece of skin without causing him to die.

Although Gu Mengmeng was quite harsh when it came to scaring people, it was impossible to actually push her to her limits and beat Sagua to death. However, the method of peeling his skin without killing him, honestly... she only said it to scare him. If they were to really carry it out, perhaps she could not even watch it go down herself.

Furthermore, she did not want Lea's hands to be dyed by blood.

There was no reason, she just did not want that.

“Lea, release him first.” Gu Mengmeng eventually spoke before Sagua took his last breath.

Lea let go, throwing Sagua aside, and proceeded to move behind Gu Mengmeng silently, leaving half a foot of distance away from Elvis. This was the order of the familial status, and cannot be crossed.

Gu Mengmeng did not turn around, merely looking at Sagua who was lying on the ground weakly with a despising gaze. With distaste, she said, “You with your pee and shit all over, tsk tsk tsk, it’s so disgusting. I wouldn’t even dare to use this skin even if you peeled it off for me.”

Chapter 203 - True Enough

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

If only the heavens knew how this naked despise sounded just like a gift from God to Dumbo. He used his body, that was quivering uncontrollably, to wipe off the tears of joy on his face. While thanking her, he continued to mention the disgusting things he did, spilling whatever gross, smelly things done, as if he was afraid that Gu Mengmeng had not despised him enough and might regret enough to tell Lea to rip his skin off again.

They were so disgusting, they instantly made Gu Mengmeng lose her appetite. Waving her hands, she interrupted him, “I don’t have the energy to listen to your dirty business. Although I no longer want your skin, but you still ruined my things, so you still have to compensate.”

Stunned, Dumbo stared at Gu Mengmeng with a frightened expression, fearing that she might come up with another method to torture him.

Gu Mengmeng gave him a friendly smile. Yet, despite how friendly she seemed, it still gave Dumbo goosebumps. A shiver went up his body from the soles of his feet.

Seeing how her smile did not work on Dumbo, she massaged her face and stopped her act. Taking a deep breath, she asked seriously, “I will not pursue further about the beast skin as long as you answer three of my questions. Deal?”

It was obvious to Gu Mengmeng that Dumbo had heaved a sigh of relief, as he kneeled down placing his face on the ground, “Sauder is the tribe where Miss Messenger belongs to, everyone in Sauder belongs to Miss Messenger. No matter what you want to know, Dumbo will definitely answer truthfully.”

Gu Mengmeng sneered while thinking, why did you have to make such an uncontrollable mess, acting like a poser and not behaving when you first walked in?

While she thought so, she did not show it in her expression, replying indifferently, “Very well, very well.”

She then cut to the chase, her seemingly unconcerned gaze actually staring right at Dumbo’s every move, as to deduce whether he was lying.

Slowly, Gu Mengmeng started to ask the first question, “Who was the one who told you about my whereabouts?”

Actually, Gu Mengmeng had an answer in her heart. It was just that Gu Mengmeng did not want to accuse any innocent people without having concrete evidence.

What a shame, people in the present world are too sensitive to intriguing things, and those methods were just not enough, too easy to guess and difficult to make a wrong prediction.

“It is a female in Saint Nazaire, called... called Nina. It was her who tipped me off, saying that the messenger was in the Saint Nazaire tribe.”

True enough...

Gu Mengmeng snorted. This Nina did not have any genius techniques, only wanting to use the “validation” process of the faithful messenger to get rid of herself. Too bad she found the wrong accomplice, this faithful messenger was a moron, and it took no effort to fool him into thinking that she was a messenger of the Beast Deity, even thinking she was the biological daughter of the Beast Deity, a messenger of the Beast Deity at the level of the kinsman of the emperor. Although he had decent skills, it was a shame that he did not possess sufficiently stable skills like Elvis had from numerous experiences in battle. While there were some difficulty in Elvis killing him, but he definitely would not get away easily in the hands of Elvis.

Especially under the circumstance of Lea being present, as long as this Dumbo was not truly stupid, even if he knew she was not the messenger of the Beast Deity, he would not dare to lay a hand on her when he came.

Gu Mengmeng sneered and did not say anything.

She saw someone slowly sneaking away nearby, it seemed like one of Nina's partners.

Tipping her off?

Gu Mengmeng sighed in her heart. Whatever, run while you can. Killing a chicken... is also dirty work.

"Second question, besides you, who else knows I'm here?" Gu Mengmeng continued to ask.

Dumbo did not dare to take his time, replying immediately, "Since the millennium is approaching, there have been an increasing number of females who wish to pass fish eyes for pearls and pretend to be Miss Messenger in the past two years. The responsibility of us as faithful messengers is to identify the real and fake ones. It is only when we meet the real messenger that we will send a message to the tribe, if it is fake..."

Dumbo did not finish his words before his body started shaking out of his control.

Gu Mengmeng gave a cold laugh: If she was a fake, then will he kill her directly? This is such a simple and crude process. Was he not scared that the messenger of the Beast Deity was an idiot like him? If he used his claws just now, the messenger of the Beast Deity whom they waited for over a thousand years would have died.

But Gu Mengmeng did not settle the old scores at this moment and just slowly threw the third question at him, “What if I don’t leave with you?”

Dumbo’s body clearly froze, resembling the zombie doll in a scare box which button was being switched on and was staring at Gu Mengmeng after raising its head suddenly. He looked as if their tribe was guarding for thousands of years but did not expect this question at all.

The new messenger of the Beast Deity... not going back to Sauder?

Gu Mengmeng smiled while saying, “I’m doing well in Saint Nazaire and I don’t want to spend time to adapt to a new environment again. So, I won’t leave with you. And what will you do... with this kind of situation?”

Dumbo’s mind went completely blank. Sauder, the messengers tribe, lasted for over a thousand years and every single day, they were preparing to welcome the next messenger of the Beast Deity. Now they found the messenger of the Beast Deity but she’s... not willing to go back?

Gu Mengmeng’s words were like a large basin of cold water that was poured over Dumbo’s head onto his entire body. The strong sense of betrayal made him speechless for a moment and he widened his eyes at Gu Mengmeng for a long time before squatting down slightly in silence. He looked down and replied, “Wherever the messenger is, Sauder tribe will follow. If the mighty messenger doesn’t want to leave, then... we’ll let Sauder move over here.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned. What he was saying was not allying but moving here?

Then, were they planning to chase away the current members of Saint Nazaire or....slaughter them?

Gu Mengmeng smirked, squinting her eyes while saying, “You’ve already answered three of my questions so I won’t bother about the beast-skin. But, you hurt my fellow tribesman, how should I settle this debt?”

Dumbo scanned his surroundings, these useless trash were actually being named as tribesman by this new messenger of the Beast Deity?

No, it should not be like this...

Dumbo forced himself to slowly put his heart at ease from the surprise of finding the messenger of the Beast Deity. He started calculating how to face the current situation in his mind at lightning’s pace. But the identity of the messenger of the Beast Deity was honorable and could not be infringed upon. If she did not consent to it, he did not have the ability or the courage to force it upon her.

If this tribe named Saint Nazaire was the one who was hindering the journey of the messenger, this tribe... would lose any meaning to continue living.

Dumbo scanned his surroundings and landed his gaze back on Lea’s face. His identity was special and if he could make use of it well, there was a chance of changing the messenger’s decision.

In just a few breaths, Dumbo had already figured out countless plans that were feasible or almost feasible in his heart.

Lea took out the skin of a snow fox from the pile of high quality beast-skins and handed it to Elvis, saying, “Wind is approaching. Bring Mengmeng back first, if she gets blown by the wind, she’ll be sick.”

Elvis frowned and looked at Dumbo, saying, “I’ve to handle this thing thoroughly first.”

Lea patted Elvis’s shoulder gently and said, “Your hands are used to carry Mengmeng. It’s not good if they’re dirtied.”

As Lea said, he tilted his head slightly. His smile was still as warm as ever but he continued with a cold tone, “Leave all these things to me.”

Elvis did not say anything further and just nodded his head, carrying Gu Mengmeng back.

“Huh? Don’t leave, I haven’t finished speaking. He hurt our people, we can’t just let him go like this, right?” Gu Mengmeng struggled for a bit and obviously, it was useless.

Elvis supported the back of Gu Mengmeng’s head tenderly and pressed her tiny face against his shoulder. He kissed her cheek and then whispered to her ear, “You have done more than enough, leave the rest to us.”

“Huh?” Confusion was written all over Gu Mengmeng’s face. What did she do? She just acted like a dog threatening people on the strength of its master’s power on one side... Gu, no no, it’s the fox assuming the majesty of the tiger. Correct, wasn’t she just acting cool like a fox assuming the majesty of the tiger?”

Elvis did not stop walking or explain to her. He just walked straight back to his cave.

And behind them, until Gu Mengmeng completely disappeared from the horizon and after Lea confirmed that she could not hear the dirty sounds here, he then turned around to glare coldly at the kneeling Dumbo.

A smile was still hung on his face but it encompassed a light cold-bloodedness.

“Faithful messengers normally travel around in pairs, where’s the other one that came with you?”

Upon seeing that Gu Mengmeng was no longer there, the mental load in Dumbo’s heart was reduced greatly. Facing this Ninth Highness that was banished, he still had some fear against him. Although after cooling down, he thought it through that Lea was just a third-level orc who clearly had not mated yet. If he really mated with the partner of the Beast Deity, with the help from the Beast Deity, wouldn't he long become king already?

However, even if he did not mate with the Mother Beast of the messenger, his relationship with the messenger was clearly not ordinary. If there was a possibility, Dumbo still wanted to rope Lea in.

Thus, Dumbo stood up from the ground with his might. Earlier, Elvis's hits really was kind of serious but he managed to dodge from all the fatal attacks. It's just because he saw the messenger of the Beast Deity and witnessed how she twisted around the Flame Devil's forces of evil and with the knowledge that the new messenger of the Beast Deity was the daughter of the elderly Beast Deity himself- this kind of shocking news made his legs wobble severely so he could not stand up straight.

Dumbo dusted off the dust on his body and wanted to do all he could to retrieve his dignity as the faithful messenger of the messengers tribe. He gave an ambiguous smile and told Lea, "Ninth Highness, why are you asking the obvious? Faithful messengers always travel around with one in the open and one in the dark. At the same time I confirm the identity of the mighty messenger, the other one should have gone back to report to the tribe."

Lea was still smiling lightly, his face not showing any surge at all.

Dumbo was not annoyed at not getting Lea's reply. He just slowly advanced towards Lea and gave a smile with slight ambiguity, "Ninth Highness, you don't have to guard against me. Actually, as long as you persuade the mighty messenger to return back to Sauder, you're still the superior Ninth Highness. With the mighty messenger as your backing, even Second Highness will not dare to speak veiled words of censure to you anymore. Why are you condescending to take up the role of witch doctor which has no future in a small Saint Nazaire?"

The smile on Lea's face grew wider, but he still stood on the spot, not moving at all. He continued looking at Dumbo stepping closer to him step by step and until the latter finished speaking, he was already less than half an arm away.

Lea raised his hand abruptly and clutched onto Dumbo's neck. The smile on the corners of his lips resembled poppies that bloomed brightly but dangerously. He opened his thin lips and said every word clearly, "I warned you before, don't you dare call me Ninth Highness again."

Dumbo wanted to resist, but he realized that Lea's fingernails were inserted deep into his skin on his neck and was just at his blood vessel. If he dared to move an inch, that blood vessel would be slit by him.

“You... what do you want to do?” Dumbo’s expression started to tense. He tried to move his mouth in anyway possible as he said, “I’m the faithful messenger of Sauder, if you kill me...”

“I’m already someone that had been banished, what else can Sauder do to me?” Lea smiled indifferently and did not seem to take any of Dumbo’s words to heart. He exerted more strength on his arm and tightened the grip around Dumbo’s neck. Then, he inched closer and whispered to his ear, “Furthermore, don’t I have the messenger of the Beast Deity as backing? The Second Highness still dares to do anything to me?”

After Lea finished speaking, he raised his head to look faraway, the smile on his face becoming wider and more radiant.

Dumbo did not dare to move at all and his pupils just darted alongside Lea’s gaze to try with all his might and see exactly what was making him smile in such a penetrating manner.

Lea was aware of Dumbo’s intention but he did not get angry. Instead, he smiled in a kind-hearted way, “Since we used to be from the same tribe, I’ll let you die more cleanly.”

Lea’s nails slowly retracted into Dumbo’s neck and he suddenly exerted strength to twist his fingernails. Dumbo’s neck fell as soon as the cracking sound was heard. And before his neck was twisted off, his last gaze in his beast life was witnessing the body of his partner, who was supposed to report back to Sauder, being ruthlessly thrown at his feet.

“You...” Dumbo did not have the chance to finish his last words when he breathed his last.

Lea used Dumbo's clothes to wipe his hands before looking at Barete who went to kill the other faithful messenger, saying, "Clear all these thoroughly, and... the mighty messenger doesn't need to know about all these. Just tell her that Dumbo ran away." "

Barete frowned, looking at Lea while remaining silent for quite some time. In the end, he still opened his mouth to ask, "Is Gu Mengmeng really the messenger of the Beast Deity?"

Lea glanced at the twenty over severely injured fellow tribesman and then turned to look at Barete before nodding seriously. He replied, "The faithful messenger from the tribe of the previous messenger would not make a mistake. From today onwards, we've to take up the responsibility of being a new messenger's tribe and assist the mighty messenger in ruling Saint Naizare. Settle all of these cleanly and efficiently before trouble comes to find her."

Barete looked down and replied competently, "Yes, mighty witch doctor."

On the other hand, Gu Mengmeng who was carried back to the cave by Elvis was still laughing out loud as she said while eating the preserved dried fish, "That Dumbo is really what his name implies, he's so damn dumb. I just deceived him with a few sentences casually and he really believed that I'm the so-called messenger of the Beast Deity and even the daughter of the Beast Deity... ha ha ha, seems like the so-called messengers tribe is not very close with the Beast Deity himself."

Elvis remained silent as he broke a tree branch and threw it into the fire. The flame danced around, reddening his face. He asked with a rare serious tone and a low but husky voice, "If you're really the messenger of the Beast Deity, would you choose to stay in Saint Nazaire?"

Gu Mengmeng used her finger to tap on her chin and contemplated over the question for a while before replying, "I think so. I haven't been to the other messengers of the Beast Deity tribe and the only person I've seen is Dumbo. His brain is not functioning well, and he still has a stomach full of tricks up his sleeve, arrogant and disgusting. I still like the people in Saint Nazaire more, except for Nina, everyone's so friendly and it's easier to get along well with them."

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief before looking straight into Gu Mengmeng's eyes. His blue eyes were filled with earnest formality as he opened his mouth slowly to speak, "Xiaomeng, you're really the messenger of the Beast Deity. That faithful messenger didn't make a mistake."

“Knock it off, how’s that possible?” Gu Mengmeng chuckled while waving her hands, thinking to herself, “I’m a thorough atheist. I hadn’t even seen the so-called Beast Deity before.”

But staring at Elvis’s serious eyes, Gu Mengmeng faintly started to feel uneasy. Then, she tried to test the waters as she asked, “What characteristics do I have that all of you think that I’m the messenger of the Beast Deity?”

Elvis answered, “Your beauty is enough to prove everything.”

Gu Mengmeng sniggered as she burst out in laughter and asked, “What? Your Beast Deity is from the Physical Appearance Association? Those that are good-looking are all his messengers?”

Elvis did not laugh as he replied to her seriously, “In the Beast World, there’s no female who’s as beautiful as you. Throughout history, besides you, the only person who has the same beauty is the previous messenger of the Beast Deity.”

Gu Mengmeng twitched her mouth and say, “Didn’t you say that she has already died for more than a thousand years? How do you know what she looks like? Don’t tell me you’ve seen her before? Are you actually a Montenegro witch? Ha ha ha...”

Elvis sighed, this was clearly a very solemn question but why did it become this humorous when it came to Gu Mengmeng? Even he had the intention to laugh along as well. This showed that the up-tightness of his and Lea’s lives previously were so boring.

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis’s neck and said to him as if they were good brothers, “Think about it, if good-looking people are messengers of the Beast Deity, I find my Sandy very beautiful too, why don't all of you say that she's the messenger of the Beast Deity?"

Elvis retorted, "She's not beautiful, you're beautiful."

Gu Mengmeng said, "Hiss... since you said it like this, I'm actually a little happy. But, beautiful or not is very subjective. I find Sandy beautiful but you don't think of it that way. Similarly, you find that I'm beautiful but some others may think that I'm ugly, right?"

Elvis shook his head and said, "No one will think like that."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled till her shoulders shook and she said, "I didn't expect that your boot-licking could be done with a straight face. Respect for you, respect."

Elvis was helpless and he could only try to persuade Gu Mengmeng from another perspective. Thus, he said, "Actually messengers of the Beast Deity know a lot of things we don't know. For instance, you taught everyone how to store food, and another example... fire."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "You know that I came from a mysterious background. You might not even understand if I explain it to you. To put it simply, the things I taught everyone is called general knowledge over at our side. You can pull anyone off the streets and they would know how to accomplish all the things I've taught. This can be understood as you knowing how to evolve. It's a trivial and common ability in Saint Nazaire because every male knows how to evolve. But at our side, that is extremely unbelievable. You can walk around the streets twice and star-makers will pull you away to become a star because you're good-looking. And if they know that you can evolve... hmm, that may not be a good thing. They might treat you as a monster and seize you to do various cruel scientific research. Yeah, let's just forget it, staying in Saint Nazaire is safer."

Elvis was helpless, his eloquence could not defeat Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis threw the leftover firewood that he held in his hands for a long time into the fire and looked at the carefree and unconstrained Gu Mengmeng sideways. Eventually, he let go of the weight on his shoulders and laughed along with her radiant and enchanting eyes.

“Huh?! It’s snowing!” Gu Mengmeng stretched out to catch the snowflakes that entered the cave, excited like a kid.

Chapter 208 - Someone You Like

Elvis gave Gu Mengmeng a tug and pulled her back into the cave. Thinking for a moment, he hugged her in his arms and then turned around, using his back to face the entrance so as not to let the cold wind get to her.

“It’s snowing, this means that winter is coming. Females are generally more delicate and can’t leave the cave again or else they will get sick.”

Gu Mengmeng could not comply. What a joke, she could not leave the cave just because it was snowing? Then all the kids living in the northeast of China had to stay at home to avoid the winter for half a year every time?

Gu Mengmeng struggled to leave but Elvis shook his head to reject her firmly. Seeing how acting shamelessly was useless, Gu Mengmeng changed a policy and continued bluffing, “Over at our side, there’s a custom. You have to stroll under the snow with the person you like during the first snow because after walking for a while, the couple will get white heads (old age).”

Elvis did not understand her so he asked, “White heads?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “Yeah, it’s using the time of one snow to experience what it’s like to grow old together. It’s very romantic isn’t it?”

Elvis nodded his head blankly. He did not know what exactly the so-called romantic was.

Just like the story Gu Mengmeng told Sandy previously, that story with the so-called Yoo Sijin in it. Sandy never gets tired of hearing this story and later on, Maya was also so mesmerized till she lost her composure, pulling Gu Mengmeng to repeat it again and again. And even Nina who hated Gu Mengmeng the most would hide at a faraway place to eavesdrop a few sentences. But to males, that Yoo Sijin... was simply just trash.

He tried to stay patient and listen to her attentively before but he could never understand why the few females would scream excitedly all of a sudden, then hug one another together while laughing so... indecently?

He tried to raise questions before but they were all heartlessly given the cold shoulder by all the females. After that, he became smarter and did not ask any more questions related to romance because he knew that as long as females like it... or, he knew that as long as Xiaomeng likes it, he would accomplish it. That was enough.

Seeing Elvis nod his head, Gu Mengmeng shook his arm and asked, "How is it? Shall we experience it?"

Actually, Elvis's interest was aroused because Gu Mengmeng said, "Strolling under the snow with the person you like"

Person you like... right?

Elvis savored these four words and the corners of his lips curved upwards uncontrollably, giving off a light smile.

Upon seeing Elvis's expression loosen up, Gu Mengmeng continued to work hard to play up to him, "You're smiling? Does that mean that you've agreed? Let's go, let's go, let's just go and play for a while. I'll wrap a few more beast-skins. I won't fall sick if we just play for a while."

Elvis could not stand Gu Mengmeng's unceasing coaxing and pestering. In the end, he wrapped her up like a dumpling and tucked her in his arms, carrying her out of the cave.

Gu Mengmeng had never seen such a heavy snow before. When the snowflakes fell, she could even clearly see the direction of every fall. In the past, out of curiosity, she saw the real appearance of snowflakes under the microscope. That was the most beautiful thing she had ever seen before, the fineness and smoothness of every line formed an intriguing and wonderful picture.

The shape of snowflakes in the Beast World were similar, but they were a lot bigger overall. Thus, there was no need for a microscope for Gu Mengmeng to clearly see snow falling from the sparkling and crystal-clear sky, appearing magnificent and sumptuous, just like in paradise.

The speed of the falling snow was tremendously fast. From the start of the snow fall till now, it was at most only less than half an hour but Saint Nazaire already looked as if it was a building covered in cream from a birthday cake, as enchanting as in a fairytale.

Chapter 209 - I'm A Wolf

Gu Mengmeng chuckled delightfully as she stretched her hands out to catch a snowflake. The snow did not melt immediately in her hands and only started melting into water slowly after three to five seconds. That water was extremely crystal-clear and emitted a gorgeous halo when the sunlight was refracted from it.

Gu Mengmeng laughed sneakily before rubbing her two hands together, smearing the icy cold water droplets on her palms. After her palms became cool, she abruptly placed her hands on Elvis's neck as swift as a sudden clap of lightning and waited in surprise for Elvis to stamp his foot from the cold.

However, when she looked up, she met eyes with Elvis's devoted eyes on her.

Her figure was clearly reflected in those blue eyes. It was as if everything in the world was pale without any meaning other than her.

This gaze stirred up Gu Mengmeng's feelings, and she retracted her hands back, laughing awkwardly, "Why aren't you scared of the cold? You're not fun at all."

Elvis patted her head and answered, "I'm a wolf."

After he finished speaking, he carried Gu Mengmeng back into the cave. Gu Mengmeng had not finished playing, she acted shamelessly by saying that she wanted to build a snowman or engage in a snow fight. However, Elvis did not listen to her and said that if they did not go back any sooner, the entrance of the cave would be sealed by the snow and they would not be able to go back even if they wished to.

Although Gu Mengmeng felt that it could not be this exaggerated, but when she turned her head back, she noticed that the snow had gotten heavier suddenly. The rate of the fall of the snowflakes were not so beautiful as before and instead, gave off an outrageous aura. Gu Mengmeng did not create a scene anymore and just cuddled up obediently in Elvis's arms, letting him carry her into the cave.

Elvis had already stored firewood in the cave long ago. The amount of firewood that could last them through the entire winter was calculated by Lea and it was enough for Gu Mengmeng to stay warm and cook her meals.

Now that the weather has become shockingly chilly, the firewood could come in handy.

Elvis brought the old clothes Gu Mengmeng wore before from the cave besides theirs and lay them on the ground, piling them layer by layer to form something like a cattail hassock. Then, he placed Gu Mengmeng on it and lifted the beast-skin on her that had snow on it to roast it on one side before wrapping her up again with a dry beast-skin.

All these actions came so naturally and proficiently that even Elvis was taken aback by himself. Only a little more than a month had passed, and he was getting handier and better at taking care of Gu Mengmeng.

"Elvis, how did all of you survive through winter when there's no fire in the past?" Gu Mengmeng held a wooden cup in her hands. That wooden cup was filled with hot water that Elvis gave her just now.

Elvis took a clean snow from the entrance of the cave and placed it in the stone pot to continue cooking while replying to her, "Lie in the cave and try not to move."

Gu Mengmeng found it unbelievable as she smiled while questioning him, "Do you wolves hibernate too?"

Elvis shook his head and replied, "I don't hibernate."

Gu Mengmeng said, “Then, why don’t all of you build a larger cave so that everyone can live together. It’s great to chat with one another too. Winter is such a long season, it’s so lonely to be all by yourself.”

Elvis paused his actions and then slowly answered her, “If we stay together, under the situation of food shortage, it’s very hard to control our primeval instincts. We don’t want to hurt our tribesman.”

Gu Mengmeng was shocked, and she thought for a moment before understanding what Elvis meant about them treating their tribesman as food under extreme hunger... so to prevent this kind of situation from happening, they then spend the endless and torturous winter in their own caves?

Chapter 210 - Such A Strong Taste?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng's mind exploded like a lightning and she leaped up in a flurry, crying out, "Oh no! Sandy!"

Elvis was given a huge scare by her flustered look initially but soon after, he found it funny and placed her back on the beast-skin cattail hassock again, saying, "Although the food during winter is clearly much less than during the rainy season, compared to the past years, this year is already a very good situation. So, you don't have to worry. Sandy's partners will be fine."

Gu Mengmeng was still frantic in her heart but she could not escape from Elvis's embrace and could only wrinkle her face up into a bun while saying, "Who's worried about them? I'm worried that they'll eat Sandy up if they don't have enough food to eat... ah, it must be because of this that's why they fed Sandy until she became so chubby... this dumb Sandy is still eating hard day and night. What should we do?"

Elvis was taken aback again and after a while, he then realized what Gu Mengmeng was worried about. He used his finger to knock her forehead heavily and seeing her glaring at him while clutching her forehead in agony, Elvis then said helplessly, "I really want to know what is in your tiny head?"

Gu Mengmeng pouted and to show her objection, she decided to ignore Elvis!

Elvis sighed and gently removed the hand she used to cover her forehead. Then, he used his large hand to touch the red mark on her forehead, continuing with slight heartache and helplessness, "Males never hurt their own females. No matter how famished they are, they would definitely not see their own females as food. On the other hand, they have a chance of committing suicide when their females are hungry and they can't get food for them so that their females can continue living."

Gu Mengmeng was subdued by these words.

F? Such a strong taste? Eating her own husband?!

"San... Sandy..."

Elvis pulled Gu Mengmeng's hand and continued saying, "Sandy's a bear so she's basically always sleeping during winter and will not eat a lot. So, in her cave, there are no previous cases about a male being food for her before."

After hearing Elvis's words, Gu Mengmeng heaved a sigh of relief. If she heard any terrifying news, she really did not know how to face Sandy in the future.

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng suddenly recalled something, and she tilted her head to ask Elvis, "So, the reason why Barete previously suggested coming over during winter without rhyme or reason is..."

Elvis nodded his head and added, "Is to gift you himself as storage food."

Gu Mengmeng felt her chest being stuffy, what extent could the males in the Beast World act so blindly towards love?

Elvis looked stern and pulled Gu Mengmeng's chin over, saying, "I rejected him because I feel that it's enough to have me as your only storage food."

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands profusely, saying, "No no no, don't we have a lot of preserved meat and dried fish, and didn't we piled up a lot of potatoes and sweet potatoes as well? We have so much food to eat so can we not eat people? I really can't do something with such a strong taste."

Elvis answered with a neutral tone, "I'm a wolf..."

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed, not knowing whether to cry or laugh. She really had not seen a second person who strongly recommended themselves as others' food like Elvis.

Gu Mengmeng sighed, grabbing onto Elvis's hands with both her hands and looked into his eyes seriously while answering, "Nobody will cook the Siberian husky they raise as dog meat steamboat, and also not use the wolf they raise as storage food. This is really not something a human can do. We have a lot of food to eat so can we not include ourselves on the menu?"

Chapter 211 - This Was the Day I Had Been Waiting For

Elvis pulled over Gu Mengmeng affectionately, using his chin to lightly rub against her head, before saying softly, “Then don’t eat if you don’t want to. If another day you change your mind...”

Gu Mengmeng immediately shook her head, “No no no, I won’t eat my friends even if I was starving to my death.”

“Friends?” Elvis tilted his head, looked at Gu Mengmeng in the eyes and asked, “Friends as in those that you care for, those that you hug and kiss?”

Gu Mengmeng choked on her own saliva. What the heck, why did he still remember this?

Hey, can you not look at me with that eager face? How can I say ‘no’ now?

Biting the bullet, Gu Mengmeng nodded her head in the end and said a ‘yes’ guiltily.

Elvis broke into a smile. He lifted Gu Mengmeng’s chin and slowly brought it to his lips, his nose lightly rubbing against Gu Mengmeng’s. Elvis said with a slightly coarse voice, “This was the day I had been waiting for.”

After that, he kissed Gu Mengmeng’s lips deeply.

Gu Mengmeng felt like her brain was Hiroshima after World War 2, she could hear the echoes of the nuclear bombing and she could not piece the puzzles in her mind together.

She should have rejected him, right? She should have told him that she did not mean it, but she did not feel any dislike towards Elvis’s kiss, she was even... enjoying it a little?

Gu Mengmeng closed her eyes slowly, letting Elvis to do whatever he wanted in her mouth.

She could not think with her brain, but her heart clearly knew one thing for sure.

After leaving Lea, she had tried jumping into the river as she was hurt by love, wanting to get back to the modern world from there. That method clearly did not work, but she also did not look for other ways to get back, she merely started to help everyone make smoked meat, find potatoes and prepare for winter.

At first, she thought she was only finding a reason to numb herself so as to not face the pain of falling out of love.

But, was it really that?

She was not an idiot, she clearly knew what was in Elvis's mind as he was taking care of her. She clearly knew the concept of love in the Beast World, but she still accepted Elvis's care with ease, didn't she?

She clearly knew that the winter will cut off the whole mountain with snow, and that she would be spending the entire winter with Elvis in this cave. It was highly possible for something to happen between them and Gu Mengmeng could not say that she did not think of it at all.

Just like this kiss...

Was it unexpected? Yes.

But... she could not say that she was not looking forward to it at all.

Gu Mengmeng slowly wrapped her hands around Elvis and started to coordinate with him. This little act encouraged Elvis to be even more reckless.

Elvis pounced onto Gu Mengmeng, but using his hand to cushion behind her head before she fell onto the ground to protect her. He released her dampened, full lips and turned to kiss her earlobe. His hasty (?) and deep breathing brushed against her ear, making her restlessly too.

Gu Mengmeng could feel that her body was changing, but the last consciousness left in her was telling her she had to ask this question. Although it would be anti-climatic, but she knew she would regret if she did not do it.

Biting her lower lip, Gu Mengmeng asked in an almost moaning voice, “If... I tell you that I am still unwilling to mate now, will you force me to do it, or leave me just like Lea?”

Chapter 212 - I Might, like You

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis paused, before staying in that position for a long time quietly.

The cave was so silent that they could only hear one another's heartbeats and breathings, apart from the branches crackling in the fire.

Gu Mengmeng stared directly into Elvis's sapphire eyes, without looking away or talking. She needed to know the answer, if not she could not hand over herself just like that.

Elvis took a deep breath, barely managed get up from Gu Mengmeng's arms. Then, he helped her up, tidied the hide on her and wrapped her up again.

Elvis remained silent, turned around and walked towards the entrance of the cave.

The cave was sealed off by the snow, as what Elvis had said before, but it was not firm enough and fell apart with Elvis's punch. Elvis turned into a wolf and stood against the freezing winds like a statue with his back facing the entrance.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis quietly and smiled wryly.

So, this was his answer? If she did not want to mate with him, he... was going to leave her too? In this cold winter, he was going to leave her in this freezing cave by herself and eventually die, wasn't him?

Gu Mengmeng wrapped the hide around her even tighter. She stared at the fire pit in front of her as tears trickled down her face.

She did not know why she was crying, but she simply felt indignant and uncomfortable.

“Why are you crying?” Elvis’s voice was heard from above. Frowning with heartaches, he carried Gu Mengmeng up and carefully wiped her tears away, before comforting her, “Did I scare you? Don’t be afraid, don’t be. I won’t force you to do anything that you don’t want to. I will wait, wait until you are finally willing.”

Gu Mengmeng cried even harder. She clung onto Elvis’s neck and whimpered, “I thought you are leaving me here alone...”

Elvis was stunned, he had never imagined a day where Gu Mengmeng would be crying at him leaving.

With a wry smile, mixed with a little happiness, Elvis felt an unexplainable sense of helplessness and he said, “I just wanted to calm myself down in the wind. Why would I leave you alone? You are my Xiao Meng.”

Indeed, Gu Mengmeng had not dated anyone before getting together with Lea, but she definitely had heard about relationships. There were so many web fictions in the present world and they served as the introductory lecture for sexual education to her. She clearly knew what Elvis meant by ‘calm myself down’. Blushing, Gu Mengmeng wiped away her tears, sniffed and asked, “You won’t leave me even if I don’t want to mate?”

“I will wait, wait until you are finally willing.” Elvis dried her tears gently, before hugging Gu Mengmeng in his arms, not sure if he was comforting Gu Mengmeng, or using this a way to comfort himself.

Gu Mengmeng cuddled in Elvis’s arms. Listening to his heartbeats, she had never felt so at peace. Gu Mengmeng bit her fingers and asked softly, “Then what if the moment never come? What if I am unwilling to mate forever, what are you going to do then?”

“Then I will continue to wait and wait. I don’t care as long as you don’t leave me.” Elvis voice was extremely calm and monotonous, unlike the way guys coax women to sleep with them and it was something he was saying from deep down in his heart. It was convincing and assuring.

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath, looked up and kissed Elvis on his chin. She squinted her eyes and said, “Elvis, I think... I probably like you.”

Chapter 213 - Gu Mengmeng Was Having a Fever

The power of this sentence was almost comparable to the nuclear bomb that was dropped on Hiroshima, immediately making Elvis lose all his intellect.

He looked down with his numbed neck at the blushing little girl in his arms. The eyes that had tears in them moments before were like the washed sky, clean and clear. She just looked back at him with that small face and called his name.

This sentence, he thought he would never hear it in his entire life.

Elvis was overjoyed, he felt that all the beautiful words in the whole world could not describe how happy he was right now. He hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly, before condensing his feelings into a simple ‘Thank you’ after a long while.

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her small head against Elvis’s chest to find a comfortable spot, she smiled and muttered, “Why are you thanking me... Idiot.”

“Thank you for willing to stay in Saint Nazaire, thank you for willing to let me take care of you, thank you for... liking me.” Elvis felt like a stone in his heart had just fall to the ground slowly. It was pressed against his chest before this, although he did not really feel uncomfortable, he was a lot better now that he let it out.

“Xiao Meng, are you hungry? I will go and get some food for you?” Elvis patted on Gu Mengmeng’s back and asked.

“Erm... I don’t want to eat.” Gu Mengmeng whined and closed her eyes, feeling her eyes was a little dry and it was stinging. She felt dizzy and sleepy.

Elvis noticed Gu Mengmeng's oddness. Using his hand to touch her little face, Elvis noticed that the redness on her face was probably not due to shyness, but... fever?

Elvis became anxious suddenly, he patted Gu Mengmeng's face lightly and said, "Xiao Meng, Xiao Meng, don't sleep first, don't sleep first, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng was not pleased with Elvis interrupting her sleep and wanted to scold him but did not have the strength to. She whined and turned her head back into Elvis's arms, cuddling into a ball like an unweaned puppy in its mother's arms.

Elvis was regretting his decision of bringing Gu Mengmeng out to play with the snow, which must have been the reason she had caught a cold. After they returned to the cave, he immediately started a fire and put on lots of hide to break into a sweat, but he could not control himself and kissed her, scattering the hides on her at some point of time. After that, he broke apart the snow blocking the cave, while letting the cold winds gush into the cave, making her cold again.

Elvis almost wanted to run into a wall and kill himself, he made Xiao Meng ill due to his negligence.

"Don't be afraid, don't be, I will bring Lea over, everything will be alright." Lea did not even know himself, whether he was saying these to comfort Gu Mengmeng or himself.

He wanted to place Gu Mengmeng by the fire pit before finding Lea, but Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Elvis's waist tightly, not letting go of him. He wanted to get out, and she immediately turned into the almost crying expression.

Elvis was so anxious, he comforted Gu Mengmeng and said, "Be good, wait for me here, just for a while."

But Gu Mengmeng pressed her face against Elvis's chest and frowned, "Don't leave me... don't leave me... I beg you..."

Elvis was at a loss of what to do. He could not dash out with Gu Mengmeng in a fever, nor could he forcefully pulled her away from him. If it was any other time, he could have howled in the cave to pass the message to Lea. But now that the snow had sealed off the mountain, even if his voice could penetrate through the snow outside the cave, it would be covered by the howling winds.

What could he do? What could he do?!

Chapter 214 - Elvis Preparing Medicine

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis touched Gu Mengmeng's burning hot body, the fever had come ferociously, and it was a difficult battle for Elvis. He walked around in circles anxiously and kept asking himself, "What should I do? What should I do?!"

His eyes scanned around the cave, trying to find anything that might make Gu Mengmeng better.

Potato? No, Xiao Meng had said before, potatoes were able to go with any food, it was to be used for meat stews.

Sweet potato? No, not this one too. Xiao Meng had said sweet potatoes were the carbohydrates to deal with hunger.

Preserved meat? Did not feel right either...

Preserved dried fish? No no, these were wrong too!

Wait a moment.

Dried fish... seemed possible.

Elvis suddenly remembered, the last time Gu Mengmeng jumped into a pond and caught a cold, he sent the message with beast words to Lea on the way back to the cave. That day, Lea had asked Sandy to bring over a pot of fish.

"Fish... Fish fish fish!" Elvis took over a hide and used it to secure Gu Mengmeng to his arms. He looked funny, like a countrywoman in the villages using a red cloth to tie her child on her back while doing farm work. But he had tied Gu Mengmeng into his arms, because the temperature of his abdomen was a little higher and it was also softer, such that Gu Mengmeng could sleep more comfortably.

After securing Gu Mengmeng, Elvis quickly went to the inner regions of the cave and took the preserved fish that Gu Mengmeng had dried. These fishes were already processed and ready to eat. Elvis not sure if preserved fish had the same effect, but right now there were no better ways available.

He threw in two huge chunks of dried fish into the steaming stone pot with snow water boiling. With the two chunks of fish meat threw inside, the bubbles immediately disappeared. Elvis did not bother about it anymore, but continued to walk even deeper into the cave. Ginger! He remembered Gu Mengmeng had called that thing ginger, and Lea had asked Sandy to used that to make fish stews for Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis looked at the mountain high pile of ginger that Lea had sent in day by day before the winter season and frowned.

How much... should he put?

Looking down at Gu Mengmeng's face getting redder and redder, obviously in huge pain,

Elvis thought, she must be seriously ill and he should put more in!

Elvis's claws that could easily grab a basketball dug into the pile of ginger and scooped out two handfuls. He went back to the fire pit and threw all the gingers into the pot, until the boiling water was overflowing and sizzled in the fire. Elvis then lightly patted Gu Mengmeng whom was in his arms, while anxiously looking after the 'medicine', or the pot full of ginger and dried fish.

Elvis did not know to what extent it should be cooked, but he sensed a thick ginger smell, together with a strange odor.

Indeed, if Elvis had cooked before, he would have realized that this odor was called 'burned' (?)

After persisting for a while more, Elvis saw black smoke coming out from the pot and strange noises were heard at the bottom.

Nodding his head, Elvis believed that this was a sign of the ‘medicine’ being completed. So he took the pot off the fire pit, although it was burning his hand, he did not care a single bit.

Firmly putting the ‘medicine’ at one side and scooping a spoonful of something that could not be identified as fish nor ginger, Elvis brought it to Gu Mengmeng’s mouth. He comforted her gently, “Xiao Meng, good girl, open your mouth and eat the medicine, you won’t be in pain after that.”

Chapter 215 - Unless Necessary

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng had to admit that Elvis's medicine was in fact effective. At least Gu Mengmeng, whom had a high fever till she almost fainted, was woken up by this 'medicine' successfully after being sick for two hours.

Turning her head, Gu Mengmeng immediately vomited her hearts out until there was nothing else left in her stomach.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis's caring but helpless expression with her watery eyes resulted from the intense vomiting, she forced a smile and said, "It's just fever, don't be too nervous, it's alright."

"What should I do?" Elvis cupped his hands around Gu Mengmeng's face and asked earnestly.

Gu Mengmeng pointed to the pot of mysterious mixture, then pointed to her vomit and said, "First, get rid of all these so that both of us won't be suffocate to death in this cave."

Elvis dared not to disobey. He put Gu Mengmeng beside the fire pit, on the bed that she had made.

The 'bed' was actually two huge logs with the center sawed, combined together and lined with many hides on top. The hides were warm as the fire had been started for a while, so Gu Mengmeng immediately felt much better after crawling into it, she felt less painful, but the sleepiness struck her again.

But Gu Mengmeng was scared that Elvis would be anxious again seeing that she had fallen asleep, then cooking another dark cuisine for her, so she forced herself to stay awake and watched Elvis carefully bringing the pot to the entrance of the cave. Elvis dug a hole in the bottom right corner of the snow door sealing the cave, hesitated and poured all the ginger in the pot into the hole, while picking the fish out and ate it all himself.

Gu Mengmeng asked, “Why are you eating that? Aren’t you scared of having diarrhea?”

Elvis used the snow dug out just now to wash the pot and answered Gu Mengmeng, “The food in the winter is too precious, it will be such a waste to throw them away.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled, “Aren’t there a lot left in the cave, those seem enough for us to eat for the entire winter. You don’t have to be so frugal.”

Elvis filled the washed pot with clean snow and put in on the fire to boil water. Then, he dug another block of snow to clean Gu Mengmeng’s vomit, while answering, “Those food are to make sure you won’t starve in the winter, I won’t eat them unnecessarily.”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, “What do you mean by unnecessarily?”

Elvis buried Gu Mengmeng’s vomit into the pit at the bottom right of the entrance and sealed off the entrance with more snow. After clearing everything, he washed his hands with snow before returning to the fire pit. He went close to the fire, warming and drying his hands and body completely before reaching out to hug Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis’s figure appeared gentle in the orange-red flame, making Gu Mengmeng feel contented. He turned and smiled at Gu Mengmeng whom was lying on the bed looking at him, before answering, “It is necessary only when I will starve to death without eating anything.”

Gu Mengmeng asked, “You mean, unless you are going to starve to death, all the food in the cave are for me to eat only?”

Elvis nodded in all seriousness.

Gu Mengmeng did not know to laugh or cry, she pulled out her hand from the hide and signaled Elvis to come over.

Elvis sat at the bedside and held her hands with warm hands, gently tidying her fringes that were sticking to her forehead with sweat. Heartache was written all over in his sapphire blue eyes.

Chapter 216 - Drinking Warm Water Is the Cure to All Illnesses

Gu Mengmeng held onto Elvis's hands, she never felt so contented and comfortable at heart, although her body was feeling unwell. The sense of security Elvis had given her was something she had never experienced before, but she was already getting addicted to the feeling.

"All of these, I had prepared according to two servings, so you don't have to worry I will be starving if you eat too." Gu Mengmeng brought Elvis's hand to her face. Although his hand had been warmed by the fire, it was still cooling compared to her having a fever. Gu Mengmeng felt her face cooling down with Elvis's hand against her. Feeling more relaxed, Gu Mengmeng continued, "Besides, if you don't eat anything, where do you get the energy to look after me when I get sick again, right?"

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng forcing herself to talk to him and felt heartache. He could tell how uncomfortable her throat must be, but she was still worrying about him not eating. It made him feel warm yet remorseful. If he had managed to stock up more food, Xiao Meng would not have to worry about such a small matter.

This was the incident that resulted in Elvis frantically hunting for prey a month in advance every winter thereafter, being unsatisfied until the whole cave was filled with food. Of course, that is a story for another time, let's not talk about it for the time being.

Elvis brought his other hand to Gu Mengmeng's face and cupped her small head, as though he was holding the most precious jewelry in the entire world. He asked carefully, "Tell me, what can I do to make you feel better?"

Gu Mengmeng signaled to the stone pot which was boiling water with her chin and said, “Drinking more warm water is the universal medicine. In my place, all the men knew that ‘drinking warm water is the cure to all illnesses’.”

Although it was just a joke, because in normal circumstances, all the men that asked a lady to ‘drink more water’ either ended up losing a girlfriend or continuing his life of a bachelor, it was nonetheless the best medicine for flu and fever in Gu Mengmeng’s situation of lack of medical resources.

Elvis looked at the pot, before confirming again, “Just drinking warm water will be fine?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head. Smelling the ginger scent lingering in the air, she added, “Throw in two pieces of ginger and cook for a while, it will be more effective.”

Elvis nodded, before pulling out his hands, walking further into the cave and taking two handfuls of ginger ready to throw into the pot.

“Wait!” Gu Mengmeng made the Er-Kang pose to stop him, her eyebrows twitched, and she asked, “Do you want to kill me with that spiciness?”

Elvis was at a loss, he looked at Gu Mengmeng, confused.

Gu Mengmeng forced herself to sit up, pointed to the ginger in Elvis’s hands and said, “Just take one piece and put the rest at one side.”

Elvis followed what she said and chose the biggest chunk, then he looked at Gu Mengmeng and was about to throw it into the pot.

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed and said in despair, “Bring all the gingers in your hand over.”

Elvis probably realized that he had done something wrong, so he did not say anything else, walked to Gu Mengmeng with ginger and passed it all to her.

Gu Mengmeng did not have strength on her hands, hence she ordered Elvis to peel the ginger, cut two pieces around the thickness of a coin and put in to the pot. The rest was stacked together with the other gingers for use another time.

Chapter 217 - Your Sleeping Posture Is Good

A pot of ginger water was soon done and Elvis scooped a small bowl for Gu Mengmeng.

After Gu Mengmeng drank a bowl of ginger water, she felt much better. She pushed the bowl to Elvis and asked him to drink one bowl to warm himself up. Elvis hesitated, this was the medicine for Gu Mengmeng, how could he eat it?

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, “these two slices of ginger can boil with water for the entire day, just add in snow when we finish drinking.”

Gu Mengmeng promised over and over again that the ginger in the cave could last her the entire winter before Elvis reluctantly tried a bowl too.

This was the sweetest thing he had tasted in the entire world. A feeling called happiness spread across his entire body.

Gu Mengmeng, having finished the ginger water, fell back to sleep again. In her dreams, she was back to the bed in her college dormitory, the white bear plushie was smiling at her at the bedside. She hugged the bear and forcefully rubbed her face against the fluffy bear, before riding the bear to sleep in satisfaction.

On the other hand, the reality was: Elvis was supposedly sitting at the bedside, but Gu Mengmeng pulled the hide dress Elvis was wearing onto the bed, the dress was then thrown aside, while Elvis was in her arms, all naked. He stiffened and did not dare to move at all, afraid that he might cause the slightest discomfort to the sleeping Gu Mengmeng.

It was dark in the cave, time almost left no trace in here. The snow had blocked off the entrance completely, Gu Mengmeng and Elvis did not even know whether it was day or night outside.

Gu Mengmeng was unsure of how long she had slept, but the fever had subsided when she opened her eyes again, while she was clamping onto Elvis like an octopus..

Gu Mengmeng thought, if she let out a scream now, take back her hands and then make a false accusation, would it be less embarrassing?

The answer was negative. There were a few more months ahead where she was going to spend alone with Elvis, if she gave this reaction now, the coming days would be even more awkward.

So, should she be like Princess Jianning whom once slept with Wei Xiaobao, hugged him in her arms and say, “You are my man from today onwards, I will treat you well”?

Observing Elvis’s build, Gu Mengmeng decided that it might be a little difficult to fit him into her arms...

When Gu Mengmeng was still in a dilemma to which way she should react to the present awkward situation, Elvis opened his mouth first, “Aren’t you thirsty? I will go fetch you a bowl of ginger soup.”

“Uh... Yes yes, sure.” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, her eyes darted around and dared not to look at Elvis, embarrassed.

Elvis kissed on her forehead before saying, “You have to let me go first before I can get it for you.”

Gu Mengmeng suddenly realized she was still snuggling to Elvis’s body, she bounced backwards as though she was electrocuted and wrapped herself up with hide tightly. Looking at Elvis calmly going to get the soup, Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat, laughed dryly and explained, “My sleeping posture is not too decent, especially during a fever, my brain was in a mess... I am usually not like this, Really...”

Elvis walked back with the soup, blowing it and brought it to Gu Mengmeng's mouth. He smiled gently, not saying a word.

Gu Mengmeng was indeed thirsty, she took over the ginger soup and took a big mouth, before pushing the bowl back to Elvis. But Elvis just touched her lips lightly, wiping away the wet stain, and he said gently, "Your sleeping posture is good, you drooling was so adorable."

Chapter 218 - No, Stay Calm!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng almost choked to death on her own saliva.

She looked at Elvis plaintively and thought to herself, “You’re not comforting me even a little alright?!”

Elvis touched Gu Mengmeng’s face and then heaved a sigh of relief slowly.

Elvis looked as if a huge weight dropped off his shoulders and this made Gu Mengmeng feel a warm sensation in her heart. So, this was how it felt being treasured and being taken to heart by someone.

The fire in the cave had long been extinguished so Gu Mengmeng could not help but shudder while sitting in her blanket, feeling a little cold. Just when she wanted to huddle deeper into her blanket, Elvis came and hugged her in his arms.

“The blanket will not be warm after you open it. You can’t catch a cold again, I’ll just hug onto you.” As Elvis said, he took a wood from one side and started to light up a fire again while saying, “You must be hungry, aren’t you? Let me cook some food for you.”

Just after Elvis said those words, Gu Mengmeng felt the blood in her entire body boiling with indignation instantly. She cried out in agitation, as if she was on drugs, “No, calm down. Don’t try cooking again!”

Elvis stared at Gu Mengmeng, looking as if the stop button on him was pressed. The distance between them was too close and Gu Mengmeng felt a huge sense of pressure from his stare. She blinked her eyes and added, “What I meant was, in the future, leave all these trivial stuff like cooking to me. Don’t do it yourself.”

Elvis sat down cross-legged and said in a formal manner, “Females should be taken care of, I can’t let you strain yourself over all these things.”

Gu Mengmeng gave off a bitter and helpless laugh. She jabbed Elvis’s forehead lightly and said, “How did you establish your feudal ideology of putting women as priority? The Qing dynasty has already fallen, it’s the era of gender equality now, do you get it?”

Elvis shook his head honestly. That serious face made Gu Mengmeng so amused that her anger subsided and she sighed before continuing, “Taking care of someone one-sided is a very tiring thing to do. So...”

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis with eyes filled with induction and anticipation, signaling him to add on to where she stopped.

Elvis pursed his lips, looking as if he was struggling for a moment. Then, he glanced over at the entrance of the cave that was being sealed by the snow and slowly started to talk, “So... you should have two partners. If Lea’s here too...”

Gu Mengmeng’s face darkened, and she raised her hand to gesture a ‘stop’ action. She said in displeasure, “Lea has already decided to be together with Nina, he might be busy giving birth to Little Lea now. I can’t go to Nina’s bed to snatch him away just because I lack a cook, right? And furthermore, you’ve seen what manner Lea’s treating me with now...”

Gu Mengmeng felt her chest turning stuffy,, and she pounded on it hardly. Till she forced her breathing to become normal again, she then continued speaking, “I took so much effort to give up on him, can you not mention him again?”

Elvis remained silent and looked down, the corners of his eyes sweeping across the cave to the yellow roots piled aside... wasn’t that the manner Lea was treating Xiaomeng with?

Gu Mengmeng felt that she went overboard with chiding Elvis so she tidied up her emotions and stood up from Elvis’s arms. She wrapped the beast-skin that was on her even tighter and sniffled her blocked nose. Then, she said, “Isn’t it just cooking, I’m very good at it. In the future, you go out to hunt while I cook. This is called men’s work centering the outside while women’s work centering the home, working together with a due division of labor. Although at our side, ‘women’s work centering the home’ is also something in the past, but combining the real situation here together with my condition, I decided to give up on being a capable woman and just stick to being a housewife at home.”

Chapter 219 - The Domineering President, Elvis

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng up together with the beast skin once again and said, “The floor’s cold.”

Gu Mengmeng did not resist as the floor was pretty cold.

“I don’t know what is the equality females and males at your side used to pursue. I only know that my females can never feel wronged. Whatever others have, you can’t have less than them. I’ll at least accomplish stuff that Bode does for Sandy for you. I want you to always be the person everyone is envious towards. Because you’re Saint Nazaire’s messenger of the Beast Deity and also my female.”

Gu Mengmeng’s little heart started thumping wildly and profusely. She looked at Elvis, mesmerized, while cupping her hands together and asked, “Are you still my Siberian husky who ate the raw potato? What’s going on with this domineering president character? Did you read romantic novels secretly behind my back?”

The expression on Gu Mengmeng now was exactly the same as when they first met and the expression was what Elvis liked the best.

The corners of Elvis’s lips curved upwards, and he landed a light kiss on Gu Mengmeng’s forehead before saying gently, “Stay in my arms obediently. Regarding cooking, you move your mouth while I move my hands. This is also considered as a due division of labor.”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment. To be honest, she did not want to reach out to dig the snow at the entrance for washing of ingredients. Thus, she chuckled in a not very honest nor kind way, saying, “Then, boil the snow water a little bit before washing the ingredients or else it will be too cold.”

Elvis ruffled Gu Mengmeng’s fluffy hair and said, “Fool, I’m a wolf. I won’t be scared of the cold.”

Gu Mengmeng hung herself on Elvis’s neck like a monkey, her hands touching his chest muscles restlessly. She contemplated hard for quite some time but still could not think of an answer so she raised a question to Elvis, not feeling ashamed to ask about his inferiority, “You don’t have any fur after you evolve, are you still not cold?”

Elvis shook his head and answered, “The fur did not disappear, you just can’t see it. It won’t affect my temperature so you don’t have to worry.”

Gu Mengmeng stuck out her thumb and expressed her deepest compliment, “Fing awesome!”

Under Gu Mengmeng’s instructions, Elvis finally managed to whip up a pot of food that could forcefully be eaten. Actually, rather than Elvis cooking it, Gu Mengmeng was actually the chef. Elvis just washed the ingredients and cut the potatoes. He could only be considered as an assistant. It can’t be helped, his cooking talent had long exceeded the horizon, everything could be cooked into shady and unknown dishes. Gu Mengmeng still had not gotten over the scare of the black pot of stewed preserved fish with ginger just now and the rabbit that was roasted into a tyre previously. She truly did not have the courage to try his cooking again.

After they ate their fill, Elvis placed Gu Mengmeng back into the blanket which had been roasted warm before going off to wash the pot and boil another pot full of ginger water.

This was the only recipe he mastered currently, yeah... a pot of water and two slices of ginger, cook for one day...

Gu Mengmeng patted the side of the bed, signaling Elvis to come up to sleep with her.

Elvis warmed up his body before lying next to Gu Mengmeng. He placed his arm under her head to act as a pillow while he lowered his head, quietly staring at her falling asleep.

The Gu Mengmeng in his arms was sleeping so soundly like a child, defenseless and peaceful.

Her long eyelashes form an outline under her eyes while the temperature of her regular breathing was higher than usual due to her cold not completely cured yet. Her warm breath hit Elvis's chest and that feeling of numbness spread across his entire body. All he could smell was her fragrant and sweet scent. She was clearly as quiet as an angel but Elvis still could not restrain himself and reacted to her.

Chapter 220 - : Stolen Kiss

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis's breathing became heavy and the abnormal change of his own body made him feel uneasy.

He felt that there was something moving restlessly in his blood and he flipped himself to press down Gu Mengmeng out of instinct. However, seeing that this little girl was still sick, he could not bear to disrupt her sleep.

Moreover, he remembered.

She said: she did not want to mate...

Elvis tried with all his might to control his own emotions, so as not to let his imagination go wild. But Gu Mengmeng was currently in his arms and there was nothing in this cave to divert his attention.

He suddenly could not recall how exactly did he go through that awfully long period before he met Gu Mengmeng?

Elvis lowered his head and inched his lips closer to Gu Mengmeng's forehead, kissing her carefully. He did it countless of times before when she was awake and since they were all open and straightforward, he could confirm that Gu Mengmeng never resented nor resisted these kinds of kisses as a matter of course. However, now, he felt a surge of emotions internally that made him lose control of himself just because of such a small stolen kiss.

The blood in his body started boiling and Elvis could sense that after this kiss, his blood was just like the ginger water boiling in the pot. The heat made him feel as if his entire body was about to evaporate.

Elvis frowned. He originally wanted to gain satisfaction from this kiss but seems like he outsmarted himself. The fire in his heart did not get smaller at all and instead, burned more vigorously into the Flame Devil in his mental world, causing him to have no way to resist it at all.

Gu Mengmeng groaned unconsciously and felt upset because her sleep was disrupted. She pushed the thing that was jabbing her knees in objection but that unknown thing bounced back to its original spot stubbornly, making her feel more uncomfortable than earlier.

Gu Mengmeng turned her body, in search for a comfortable angle to avoid that irritating thing to continue sleeping. However, she did not know what torture her unconscious movement brought to Elvis.

The feeling of exploding on the spot... turned out to be this feeling?

Gu Mengmeng realized that no matter what position she adjusted herself to be in, she could never avoid that thing that was preventing her from sleeping so she grumbled even louder, squeezing her two brows together. That lack of energy appearance that looked as if she wanted to cry but was not crying played the song 'Ambush from Ten Sides' when Elvis was tightening himself to the largest extent.

Elvis used his hands to secure Gu Mengmeng firmly, preventing her from provoking the fire within him any further. He said with a hoarse and low voice, "Knock it off, I don't want to break my promise to you."

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng replied a one-syllabus word in a daze.

Elvis breathed in deeply. Looking at Gu Mengmeng who was clearly sleeping with her eyes still shut, he said as if he was talking to himself, "I promised you that I'll wait until you're willing to mate with me before I devote my loyalty towards you. I want to keep every promise I make to you so... stop rubbing against me. Sleep obediently and knock it off."

It was unknown whether Gu Mengmeng understood Elvis's words but she slowly quietened down. However, even if she was sleeping still like a porcelain doll, her level of seductiveness towards Elvis did not reduce even by a little bit. He urgently wanted to have her so he hugged her tighter, pulling the two of them even closer together until the distance between them became negative...

Elvis knew that he should smash the snow sealing the entrance with one fist, then cool himself down in the cold wind.

But he also knew that Xiao Meng she... could not get blown by the cold wind anymore.

And, he could not bear to let her go.

It seemed as if this kind of suffering made him addicted and he was willing to sink himself even deeper in.

Chapter 221 - Elvis Taken Liberties With

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was sound asleep, Elvis was scared that she would not sleep comfortably in the position he was holding her in so he slowly let go of his hands. But, just when he released his hands, Gu Mengmeng looked as if she was more unhappy as she frowned while huddling deeper into his arms, crying out softly. This movement, however, made it harder for her to sleep due to the thing jabbing her thighs.

Gu Mengmeng was seriously irritated. She closed her eyes while stretching her hand out to touch the thing, trying to find out which evildoer had the nerve to disrupt her sleep.

Her fair and soft hand laid itself on Elvis's sensitive nerve termination and every inch of touch was enlarged a countless number of times.

Elvis groaned, clenching his teeth to suppress his desire. He bent his waist in an attempt to escape from Gu Mengmeng's demonic claws but Gu Mengmeng still had not figured out what was the thing that was disrupting her sleep, so how could she let go? Seeing how this evildoer was about to run away, she exerted strength on her hands and grabbed it harshly, firmly holding it in her hands.

Gu Mengmeng smirked in her dreams: What a piece of cake. Even if you're the Monkey King, you can't escape from my Wu Zhi Shan. How dare you disrupt my sweet dreams, if I don't hold you down in the mountains for five hundred years, Sun Monkey will then become Monkeyhead Mushroom!

Thinking about this, a bad smile formed on Gu Mengmeng's face in her dreams.

On the other hand, Elvis was trapped in a deadly tragic situation...

Pain! No no no, it's itchy! It's not that too... it's painful and itchy at the same time, comfortable but torturous, eager but resistant, anticipatory but uneasy...

Elvis had no way to describe what he was feeling now. All he knew was that this unfamiliar yet familiar feeling made him develop the desire to bite this villain, who was creating all this chaos, to death. But as he inched closer to her, he could not even bare his fangs in front of her. He could only kiss her gently and sigh to himself, "This little demon who only know how to torment people."

Gu Mengmeng clearly had no intention to let Elvis off. She stretched out her other empty hand to touch the thing in detail.

This touch... is it a ham sausage? What type of brand has ham sausages this size? Could it be Jinhua ham sausages...

But this is not right, why is the ham sausage piping hot? Who the hell warms their ham sausages up in the microwave before eating?

And furthermore, why is this damn thing twitching on its own?

It can move... f, is it a bug? A caterpillar that went through genetic mutation?!

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng's eyes startled open and before her mind could make other responses, she released both her hands and retreated far back with a Yip Man pose while staring at Elvis in terror.

After she slowly regained her composure and completely woke up from her dreams, Gu Mengmeng was, however, stunned to the maximum.

Elvis was lying sideways at the end of the bed with his waist arched and his clothes disheveled, looking as if he had been wrecked by someone. His face that had always been cool was in an awkward and sorry state while his ears were tinted red. The pink color made him appear very attractive. He pressed his thin lips into a straight line and stared at Gu Mengmeng with his blue eyes full of tender affection. Damn it, if a line from a drama was to match his style now, she did not know whether “You bastard, don’t come over!” or ” Sir, come here~” would be more appropriate.

F!

Elvis observed Gu Mengmeng’s expression from the beginning and seeing the entire process of her face turning from red to white then from red to black, his mood already flew in the skies for god knows how many rounds. With his naked body being sized up by her like that, Elvis actually felt a sense of shame internally. That feeling pressed him to flee away but he did not do it. One reason was because he knew how small the cave was, where else could he escape to? Another reason was because... in his heart, a gush of anticipation secured him on the spot firmly and he could not move even a single bit.

Chapter 222 - I Decide To Take Responsibility!

Chapter 222: I Decide To Take Responsibility!

“I won’t take responsibility!” Gu Mengmeng’s mind heated up and after she shouted this sentence, she grabbed onto the beast-skin and covered her whole body up. Then, she turned her back to face him and pretended she was an ostrich.

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief suddenly and smiled.

Gu Mengmeng could not see Elvis’s expression and she just felt her face burning hot. She knew that this metaphor was not appropriate but based on the concept in the Beast World, she made Elvis slog hard in a well-grounded way. From another perspective, it was similar to like in the present world where a male idol was provided for by a female fan and he eats, drinks and enjoys all lucrative treatment from her. Then, in one dark night, he removes all her clothes and touch her whole naked body and just when the female fan was thinking that they were going to obtain a positive outcome after all her sustained efforts, the male idol suddenly stops and keep a good distance from her, saying, “Don’t overthink it, I only treated you as my friend.”

Shameless, this is too shameless!

Gu Mengmeng felt more strongly that she resembled the jerk in a dramatic soap drama.

No! Even a jerk was not as bad as her. They at least just swindle others of their money and love in a coordinated service. But she was not only conning Elvis of his money and love, she did not accomplish her tasks despite receiving the money!

Her blanket was flipped open abruptly and Gu Mengmeng wiped her mouth ferociously, glaring at Elvis while shouting, “You, come over! I decide to take responsibility!”

This shout made Elvis dumbfounded.

“Take... take responsibility?” Elvis repeated the two words that made his heart palpitate wildly in utmost cautiousness.

Gu Mengmeng rolled up her sleeves and made up her mind, saying, “Yes, I’ll take responsibility. Dogs my cats, if I don’t take responsibility after touching you, I’ll become an immoral rascal!”

Elvis laughed and forced himself to move forward. However, because some spot on him was still very swollen, this small movement, to him, was too difficult to accomplish.

Elvis leaned his upper body forward and lay next to Gu Mengmeng’s legs. He supported the bed frame with both his hands and since he was now shorter than Gu Mengmeng by one head, he glanced up at Gu Mengmeng in a 45 degrees angle. He squinted his blue eyes and asked with the corners of his lips screaming amorously, “How will you decide to take responsibility?”

After hearing Elvis’s question, Gu Mengmeng almost bit onto her own tongue. She made up her mind and pulled Elvis’s neck, securing him under her armpits in a female bandit stance, using the chance to avoid his face that could make her blush and heart flutter. She raised her voice on purpose to give off a heroic tone that reached the clouds, saying, “From today onwards, you’re my man. In the future, as long as there’s food for me to eat, you’ll enjoy it too.”

Elvis’s gaze slowly turned blurry. He lied on Gu Mengmeng’s legs naturally, looking up at her while asking, “So... you decided to mate with me?”

Gu Mengmeng choked on her own saliva and she cleared her throat. She said resolutely, “Mate! Isn’t it just mating?! Mate!”

Elvis supported himself up from the bed with his elbows and then flipped his entire body to hold Gu Mengmeng down. A scorching hot breath met Elvis's face and the dancing of the orange-yellow flame reddened his side-view. He used his finger to slide across Gu Mengmeng's face slowly with a misted and devoted gaze. He asked with a slightly husky voice, "So... you are willing now, right?"

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth for half a day but in the end, she could not hold her breath in any longer. Her body softened, and she admitted defeat, "That mating thing concerns the happiness of our whole life. We can't be too rash about it, right? Mate, we must mate but... should we pick an auspicious day before that? Even if we don't pick one, let's wait till I'm feeling better... cough cough cough... look, I'm still coughing."

Chapter 223 - Mating

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The meat that's just by her mouth... she does not want to eat it?

Elvis smiled slyly before bending over to start kissing Gu Mengmeng's lips.

He was so greedy till he could not stop himself as he sucked the fragrant and sweet taste in her mouth. He only let Gu Mengmeng go reluctantly when she ran out of breath. Looking at Gu Mengmeng whose face was flushed red, Elvis pecked at the side of her face, followed by her earlobe. That ambiguous voice which could make one go mad was sent into Gu Mengmeng's ears in a deeply affectionate manner,

"Look... like that, you won't cough anymore."

Gu Mengmeng's emotions were in great confusion due to Elvis's kiss and she panted in deep breaths while trying to control her crazy heartbeat. She placed her hand on Elvis's chest and shook her head with great difficulty, "But... I'm not ready yet."

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng's hand and brought it to his lips to give it a kiss. With his other hand, he tenderly tidied the strand of hair stuck on Gu Mengmeng's face and looked at her with an earnest gaze, "As long as you confirm that you like me and you're willing to have me... leave the rest of the stuff to me."

Gu Mengmeng's heart was beating without any describable rhythm. Now, it was not just skipping a beat or two, she just felt that her heartbeat was switching between the two melodies 'Say U Love Me' and 'Cowboy on the Run', being slow and powerful at times. She felt a large gush of blood rushing to her brain with every beat, frivolous and joyful at times, causing even her breathing to become hard.

A baffling sense of anxiety and unease made her feel like rejecting him but another mysterious energy was pulling her to secretly taste the forbidden fruit.

Elvis pulled Gu Mengmeng's hand to the back of his waist and wrapped her hand that turned cold and pale because of the anxiety, around his waist. He supported Gu Mengmeng's face from her ear with one hand and used the other hand to pat Gu Mengmeng silky hair gently. He then lowered his head and contained her lips in his before stopping after getting a tiny taste of them, giving off a fatal sense of seductiveness.

“Tell me, do you like me?” Elvis asked.

Gu Mengmeng felt that the nerves of her entire body turned numb and neither her hands nor her legs were hers. Her brain managed to analyze Elvis's message after much difficulty but she did not know how to reply to him.

“Yeah,” Gu Mengmeng's heart responded faster than her brain, which made her dumbfounded too. She actually completed the action of slightly nodding her head with such sincerity.

Elvis smiled and kissed Gu Mengmeng's lips once again as if he was rewarding her. The hand that he placed in her silky hair slowly retracted itself to support the back of her head while that hand which was holding her face from the side of her ear made its way down to hug on to Gu Mengmeng's waist. He exerted a bit of strength and her entire body was pressed closely to his, leaving only a little gap between both of them.

“Then, there's a question left now.” Elvis's lips were just by Gu Mengmeng's ears and he spoke slowly like he was whispering a secret to her, “Do you want me?”

Both of Gu Mengmeng's eyes were in a daze and her pupils were scattered around. Although she was sure that her consciousness was awake, she was unable to focus to contemplate anymore.

Gu Mengmeng saw through a fact... she liked Elvis and it was like how a female felt towards a male.

Elvis always made her feel safe. No matter what kind of situation they were under, he would always consider her feelings first and would stand behind her without asking who was right or wrong. He never gave up on her and never allowed her to worry even for a little while at all. Never had she felt that this man might leave her one day so... when Lea confessed to her, she agreed almost without any hesitation.

She must be very clear about it that time already.

Those kinds of people like Lea... if she did not hold on to them tightly, at some point in time, they might abandon her at some road intersection.

But Elvis would definitely not do it.

Even if she was dating someone else, he would not leave her.

Ha, Gu Mengmeng, you really raised an outstanding spare tire.

Gu Mengmeng looked down on herself harshly in her mind and criticized her slutty and douche-bag behavior. Frowning, she looked at Elvis in front of her and her heart ached.

Because of her selfish actions, Elvis must have felt wronged quite a lot.

“Answer me, do you want me?” Elvis felt the change in Gu Mengmeng’s gaze and he used his large hand to hold on to Gu Mengmeng’s little hand that she was using to cup his face. Then, he grasped her hand in his palms and with the last bit of rationality left, he said, “As long as you say that you want, I’ll devote all my loyalty to you without reservation.”

Elvis’s stare was fixated on Gu Mengmeng with anticipation and urgency written all over the pupils in his blue eyes. He wants to have her, and this was almost an instinct surging in his blood. However, while waiting for her ‘willingness’, he hardly succeeded in suppressing the desire to have her all to himself. Now, he had reached the limit of his endurance and not only his body was about to explode, his rationality was about to explode too.

“If you can’t make any promises out loud, just nod your head or give me a little hint... I’ll understand everything.”

Gu Mengmeng’s heart was tugged on brutally.

The originally cool Elvis was acting so inferior in front of her?

Once they mate, Elvis would be considered as pledging his entire lifetime to her and there was no chance to retreat or regret. But even under this circumstance, he was willing to be a partner without any promise from her just because he did not want to force her to say, “I want you.”?

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis’s neck and presented her own lips to him on her own initiative. It was just a light peck before she moved back slowly, increasing the distance between them to around the length of a finger before she spoke softly, “Over at our side, when we confess, we have to say ‘I love you’. When we propose, we have to say ‘I love you’. And when we mate, we have to say... ‘I love you’.”

Elvis’s body started shaking violently out of control and his breathing became hurried and unstable. He kissed Gu Mengmeng’s lips and chomped on to them ferociously, as if it was the only way to confirm that every word he just heard came from this tiny mouth of hers.

Until Elvis could taste the sweet flavor of Gu Mengmeng’s blood from all the kissing, he then panted heavily while raising his head to stare into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes. He said with utmost cautiousness, “Gu Mengmeng, I love you. Are you willing to mate with me?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and retracted her hand to remove the clothes, that were so messy till it did not cover herself up her body properly. She showed her perfect self to Elvis while blushing bashfully, welcoming and not avoiding Elvis’s gaze at all. There was no hiding or insincerity as she answered him carefully and seriously, “Elvis, I love you. I’m going to give myself to you. From today onwards, I’ll treat you as my pride, my skies and my husband. I'll stick with you in life and death unless you forsake me. If you're faced with any imminent danger, I'll substitute myself for you..."

Gu Mengmeng wanted to continue but hot tears already welled up in Elvis's eyes. He kissed Gu Mengmeng's lips once again in the most gentle, most pampering and most.....everything way possible.

To put it simply, Gu Mengmeng became Elvis's female. No matter whether it was external or internal, they had reached a level of common consensus and resonance like never before.

Chapter 224 - Just Slowly Get Use To It

Elvis started the fire again and replaced the stone pot containing the ginger water with a bigger stone pot. He dug a lot of snow and boiled it in the pot until the water became warm. Then, he started to wipe Gu Mengmeng's body for her.

She clearly looked like she was dead tired and no matter how Elvis moved her around, she did not show any intention to wake up.

Elvis was afraid that she would catch a cold again so his actions were speedy and nimble.

After Elvis wiped her clean, he immediately huddled into the blanket to hug Gu Mengmeng in his arms, using his own body temperature to keep her warm.

He could hear Gu Mengmeng's stable breath by his ear and also smell the dispirited mood after all the pleasure earlier. His desire that finally ceased all activities seemed like it was going to make a comeback so Elvis shut his eyes tight because he knew that Xiaomeng could not stand a second round of suffering again. She had to rest, rest well.

After every breath, Elvis managed to forcefully control the situation with his rationality.

He poked the little girl in his arms lightly and his gaze landed on her collarbone. Elvis's gaze became hot but gentle and it was a whole tenderness that could melt anything but still keep her warm at the same time.

Until Gu Mengmeng finally woke up, she felt that her entire body was aching as if she was run over by a truck. Gu Mengmeng supported her waist that felt as if it almost broke and groaned out loud, not able to say anything else.

Elvis gave a bowl of warm water to her at the right time and said, “Moisten your throat, it’s hoarse after all the screaming.”

Being reminded by Elvis like that, her mind started playing that happy scene which resembled a movie and she could not shut it off at all.

Gu Mengmeng truly wanted to find a crack on the floor to hide herself in and become an earthworm. This was so damn shameful.

Elvis used his arms to wrap Gu Mengmeng up in an embrace, letting her rest onto his arms so that she need not exert so much energy to support her aching body. Gu Mengmeng’s back was leaning against Elvis’s chest while Elvis sent the warm water to her mouth by extending his arm across her chest, saying, “I tested it, the temperature is just nice. Do you want to drink a little?”

Gu Mengmeng wanted to take the bowl but Elvis dodged her and pecked her face, saying, “I have the right to take care of you now. You can’t push me away, get it?”

“I’m not used to being fed by someone,” Gu Mengmeng said with a hoarse voice.

Elvis nodded his head and placed the bowl to his own lips. He drank a mouthful of water, then used his other hand to pinch Gu Mengmeng’s chin, sending the water into her mouth after pressing his lips against hers.

Gu Mengmeng’s face flushed red and she choked on her own saliva, coughing a few times. She glared at Elvis while wiping the water by her mouth, asking, “What are you doing?!”

Elvis answered with a ‘as a matter of course’ expression, “You’re not used to being fed like this so I changed it into a way that you’re more used to.”

Gu Mengmeng straightened her neck and retorted, “I’m not used to this way even more!”

Elvis patted her tiny head in a pampering and affectionate way, “Just slowly get used to it.”

Gu Mengmeng choked but looking at Elvis now, she could not lose her temper so she thought to herself, “Wait till the feeling of my waist aching and my legs cramping is over, look at how I will set some rules for you.”

But on the surface, she was still hanging her head cowardly as she said, “Just use the bowl to feed me, I think I’ll get used to this even faster.”

Elvis smiled and did not say anything, placing the bowl next to Gu Mengmeng’s mouth. Gu Mengmeng used her hands to hold the bowl out of instinct but Elvis pecked her on the cheek again, taking her by surprise as she hurriedly placed her hands down and obediently stay fed by Elvis.

Chapter 225 - The Mating Mark

Gu Mengmeng looked down and let out a surprised ‘Eh?’.

Pushing the bowl of water (?) to one side, Gu Mengmeng stared at her collarbone in shock for a while. She rubbed it, before rubbing her own eyes to make sure that what she saw was not a hallucination.

A realistic black wolf was standing on her collarbone, raising its head high to howl at the moon. The combination was an extremely ingenious one, her collarbone was the cliff, while the wolf had its own pride alone.

Gu Mengmeng looked at the pattern on her collarbone then looked at Elvis, before looking down at her collarbone and Elvis again. Repeating this for a few times, Gu Mengmeng frowned and became angry, “You did a tattoo on me when I was asleep?”

Elvis did not know what a tattoo was, but he figured out she was referring to the wolf mark on her collarbone.

Seeing that she was probably not fond of it, Elvis actually felt very hurt.

Not wanting Gu Mengmeng to notice his feelings, Elvis pretended to be calm and answered, “This is the mating mark, you will have it after mating.”

Gu Mengmeng decided that it should not be a tattoo indeed. No matter how deep asleep she was, it would be impossible for her to not feel the pain of tattooing. Moreover, new tattoos took dozens of days for the swelling to subside, she would not have felt painless touching it right after tattooing.

So she let out a sorry smile and said, “I’m still half asleep and can’t think clearly. Don’t mind my blabbering.”

Elvis forced out a faint smile and said quietly, “It’s no wonder you didn’t like it. After all, you prefer snow foxes to black wolves.”

Gu Mengmeng almost bit her tongue. The newly wed husband discussing your ex right after the wedding night? Was he going to bring up the past?

“Who... who said I don’t like it? I like it so much, look, how cool is that.”

Elvis hugged her into his arms, lightly rubbed against the mark on her collarbone and said, “I am actually very satisfied that it ended up here, although not right on the heart. After all, I expected it to be on your ankles or arms, I didn’t even think that it could be this close to your heart.”

Gu Mengmeng looked down at the wolf on her collarbone and felt warm with the thought of this being the symbol of Elvis. She asked, “Don’t you agree that you looked so handsome standing here? The wolf kings I saw in movies all stood like this, how mighty and powerful!”

Elvis’s hand touched Gu Mengmeng’s collarbone and said, “As long as it’s on your body, I am already satisfied... regardless of the position.”

Gu Mengmeng leaned into Elvis’s arms, looked at his finger caressing her collarbone and asked, “Regardless of the position? Don’t mating marks have a fixed position?”

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s hands and embraced her entirely. He kissed her on the cheeks and answered, “The position of the mark depends on the significance level of the male in the female’s heart. The nearer it is towards the heart, the more affection she has towards him. In normal families, female forms the core, followed by the first partner, the rest was then decided by the position of the mark on the female’s body. If a male could leave his mark on the female’s heart, even the first partner in the family might have to fear this male.

“Oh...” Gu Mengmeng did not know why but she felt a sense of guilt. Although the position of the mark was not something she could control, she still felt she owed something to Elvis for not leaving it on her heart.

Chapter 226 - I Am Going to Tell the Whole World

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng peeked at Elvis, although he hid his feelings well, Gu Mengmeng could still clearly sense a little disappointment in his heart, right?

On the day of the wedding, nobody would feel good knowing that he was not the one that his wife loves the most.

Gu Mengmeng turned around and faced Elvis. Her hands cupped his handsome face and looked straight into his sapphire eyes that were as vast as the night sky, she said word by word, “You do know my view on marriages, don’t you?”

Elvis felt his heart was suddenly struck with force, blood gushed to his brain and he slowly and stiffly nodded his head.

Gu Mengmeng pulled back one hand and gently touched the mating mark on her left collarbone. She said, “Although it did not land on my heart, I feel that this is the most suitable place. In the future, whenever I wear dresses, everyone could see our mating mark. I am going to tell the whole world that you, Elvis, belong to me, Gu Mengmeng, and only me. From today onwards, whoever that looks down on you, I will let the person have no return.”

Gu Mengmeng raised her hand symbolizing a knife and swiftly signaled a chopping gesture , before raising her head in a cool way.

Elvis had never felt so warm in his heart.

Just because she said she was willing to display this mating marking in front of everyone and tell the entire world he was her male.

Elvis smiled, he held Gu Mengmeng's shoulders and pulled her into his arms. Looking at her side face against his chest, in a cute and tamed manner, his iron heart melted into a pool of water. He lifted Gu Mengmeng's chin lightly, smiled and said, "Indeed, it would be too inconvenient to be placed at the heart... if we want everyone to see."

Gu Mengmeng smiled too. Actually, in the modern world, V-cuts were normal, but busty people like her wearing fashionable V-cuts would appear to be of poor taste in an inexplicable way, hence she would usually go with the conservative round-necks. This had resulted in her busty figure to appear a little plump under the covering of clothing, which was also the reason she did not ask for the Wechat of the swimming club prince charming, although she had drooled over him for so long.

Being out of her mind, Gu Mengmeng listened to the sales assistant's recommendation and bought the bikini that could show off her figures. She wanted to go to the swimming complex to meet the prince charming 'accidentally', but if he saw her bikini and came to flirt with her, his personality was... well... Ha.

Luckily, she transmigrated here coincidentally, if she remained, by now she would have ended up being a slut giving up her body willingly.

Gu Mengmeng hugged Elvis's waist and listened to his strong and forceful heartbeats. She suddenly thought of something and asked, "What about mine?"

"Huh?" Elvis did not understand what she was asking and replied with a single syllabus.

Gu Mengmeng sat up straight, she searched Elvis's body carefully but could not find her mark. She asked, "Where is my mark on your body? Why can't I see it?"

Elvis rubbed Gu Mengmeng's head and replied, "Idiot, a female's mark will not be left on males."

“Why?” Gu Mengmeng thought it was not fair, the wedding rings came in a pair, so did couple tattoos. Why was it that in the Beast World, the important mating mark was only left in females? This is sexist! Blatant sexist!

Chapter 227 - Nothing to Say

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis had slowly become used to Gu Mengmeng's uniqueness and how she did not understand much of the basic knowledge in the Beast World.

So Elvis explained while enjoying the feeling of tenderness from hugging Gu Mengmeng, "It acts as a form of protection for a male's mark to be left on the female. When you encounter danger or difficult situations, just hit this mark hard and I could sense your position, run over to you and rescue you."

Elvis used his finger to point at the mark on Gu Mengmeng's collarbone and said, "It is connected to here."

Gu Mengmeng looked at her small hand covered by Elvis's hand on his chest and felt warm. She smiled sweetly and rested her head back into his arms, placing her face sideways on the back of his hand to feel the affection and contentment.

Elvis wrapped his other hand around Gu Mengmeng's shoulder, while securing the hide on her, before continuing, "But if a female's mark is present on the male, the female would feel pain when he encounters accidents. If possible, males rather die quietly, with the best scenario being other partners coaxing her such that she does not even realize one of her partners is gone. In this way, she could live on without worries."

Gu Mengmeng had nothing to say, she looked at Elvis as though she had eaten shit and said, "How clumsy must the female be? Such that she doesn't even realize when her husband dies?"

Elvis smiled and thought over the title Gu Mengmeng just said.

He had tricked her into saying it the last time.

Now, did he finally deserve this title rightfully?

Not understanding what Elvis was smiling at, Gu Mengmeng poked him with her elbow and asked, “Why are you smiling? I am asking you a question, why would anyone not know when her husband passes away?”

Elvis lifted Gu Mengmeng’s chin with his finger and said, “Now that you mention... you had never called me this before.”

“Huh?” Gu Mengmeng was preoccupied thinking about the widowed female not knowing her man had died, hence she could not follow Elvis’s flow of thoughts. She tilted her head and looked at Elvis blankly.

“My mark had already engraved on you, you should... give me the title I deserve, don’t you?” Elvis brushed across Gu Mengmeng’s collarbone gently and looked at her eagerly.

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while before understanding what Elvis was saying. She cleared her throat, her eyes darted across the stone pot which was boiling water, before letting out two muffled syllabi from her throat, “Husband.”

Elvis pinched Gu Mengmeng’s chin, forcing her to look into his eyes. The shyer she was, the more eager he became.

The pair of sapphire blue eyes appeared as though it had condensed the vastness of the entire universe. Elvis looked into Gu Mengmeng’s clear eyes and said, “I couldn’t hear it, what did you say?”

“Husband,” Gu Mengmeng’s volume lowered even further. Not able to avoid Elvis’s eyes, Gu Mengmeng could not get used to the newly wed identity, she felt even more embarrassed, her throat was sticking together and could not voice words clearly no matter how hard she tried.

But Elvis, being naughty, was unwilling to let her go so easily. He shook her chin lightly and said word by word, “I—can’t—hear—you—”

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth, swallowed saliva, closed her eyes and shouted, “Husband husband husband!”

Elvis satisfactorily pecked on her mouth, before letting out a sigh. He did not answer Gu Mengmeng’s question, but threw a question back, “Do you know how many partners does Sandy have?”

Chapter 228 - Tell Whoever That Is Not Happy to Find Me

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while, it should be seven after her mating with Berly from two days ago, so she answered Elvis truthfully.

Elvis asked again, “Then, do you know how many partners does Maya have?”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while, let out an embarrassed smile, before shaking her head honestly and replied, “I am honestly not too close to Maya, she used to be together with Nina. Although she had never bullied Sandy personally before, she had stood at the side with cold eyes for a long time. Sometimes, silence is more scary than bullying. She is a half-orc herself and I could understand if she does not have the ability to protect Sandy, but her staying beside Nina quietly the entire time was not something I could accept. But I did not want to offend others, there are only four females in the entire tribe and there is no point creating so much unhappiness with each other, making the entire Saint Nazaire agitated. So even though I don’t hate her, I am not too close with her.”

Elvis put her hand to his lips and pecked it, he said, “You don’t have to force yourself and interact with people you don’t like. Tell whoever that is not happy to find me.”

Gu Mengmeng fiddled with Elvis’s fingers. Feeling sweetness in her heart, she replied, “I am the wife of the leader of the tribe now, I have to look after the whole situation, right?”

Elvis laughed, he looked at Gu Mengmeng affectionately and said, “You, you should just look after yourself, looking after the whole situation will be my job.”

Gu Mengmeng turned, looked up suddenly and pecked on Elvis's face, before saying, "What a sweet mouth, this is your reward."

Elvis licked his lips, thinking to himself, maybe he should eat more yellow sauce? So that he could get more 'rewards'?

Gu Mengmeng was a little shy, she let out a squeak before continuing to ask, "So how many partners does Maya have?"

Elvis answered, "Fifteen."

Gu Mengmeng's mouth turned into an O-shaped big enough to stuff an egg inside. She repeated with shock, "How many? Fifteen?"

Elvis nodded, he gently lifted her chin to close her mouth, then said, "Make a guess again, how many partners does Nina have?"

Gu Mengmeng thought, the only person she knew by name was Quentin, together with Lea whom should have mated with Nina by now, that would make two. There were seven beaten by Lea in front of Sandy's place, in addition to the one that she rode on every time she went out, plus some that Gu Mengmeng could not remember the faces, that should be seventeen or eighteen. Gu Mengmeng thought and raised two fingers, "Twenty?"

Elvis shook his head, Gu Mengmeng then added another finger, "Thir... thirty?"

Elvis continue shaking his head.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and added yet another finger, "Forty?!"

Elvis raised his eyebrow and replied, "Forty-three."

"What the heck?!" Gu Mengmeng was honestly taken aback. Freaking forty-three partners, Nina would not even have gone through one round in a month with one per day.

Elvis pushed back Gu Mengmeng's jaw again and said, "Other than Quentin and a few partners with stronger abilities always being by her side, she probably could not remember the names of those males that have pledged to give her their loyalty. To her, those males are the hunters that provide her with food in the monsoon seasons, the water supply in the dry seasons... and the stored food in the winter.”

Gu Mengmeng felt sad and unworthy for Nina’s partners.

Suddenly, she felt a sharp pain in her heart with the thought of Lea...

Chapter 229 - Killed the Whole Family?! What a Psycho!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The moment Gu Mengmeng had thought of Lea, she forced herself to concentrate on other matters.

Now that she had mated with Elvis, she was someone that could not accept the practice of polygamy, no matter what the rules of the Beast World were.

Mental cheating was considered cheating too. Even if others did not know, Gu Mengmeng could not convince herself.

So she took a deep breath, changed the topic and said, “But I didn’t see any mating marks on Nina.”

“That’s because, she is the female that was expelled by the tribe. Elvis snorted coldly before continuing, “Nina used to be the only complete female in the tribe, but a half-orc female coincidentally gave birth to a complete female baby. The baby quickly showed her kindness and beauty, making the new generation of males to turn their attentions to the cub. Nina felt her status under threat and ordered Quentin to kill the mom and her child.”

“What the heck?!” Gu Mengmeng was so angry that she could not find another word to express her furiousness. Was Nina’s brain filled with maggots? She already had forty-three partners to herself, yet she still killed children because of her jealousy?

Elvis nodded his head to confirm that it was true.

Then he continued, “Quentin is strong, in addition to his advantage of being able to fly, ambushing is his most powerful weapon. He seized the chance when the males in that family were not paying attention, grabbed the mom and the daughter to great heights before releasing them to their deaths. The death of a female would result in the punishment of the mating contract on the males. Hence the entire family all died just like that.”

Gu Mengmeng felt ridiculous, she said, “I always knew Nina has a twisted mentality, but I didn’t know she was distorted till this state. Just because someone’s child was pretty, she killed the whole family?! What a psycho!”

Elvis touched Gu Mengmeng’s face lightly and said, “So even though she is the precious complete female, the original tribe dared not to keep her. In the Beast World, the female can’t be killed no matter what wrong she committed. So Nina did not have to pay the price herself. But Quentin, being the executor, had to go onto the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment, while Nina’s other partners were put to death for being accomplices.

Gu Mengmeng wholeheartedly felt that Nina’s partners were being wronged. It would be better to be a bachelor for one’s entire life than marrying this troublemaker!

Elvis continued, “I am not sure how many partners Nina had then and I didn’t bother asking. But I do know that the conclusion announced by the witch doctor of the tribe after consulting the Beast Deity was that, Nina could only be forgiven if her partners die the same way as the males of the half-orc female’s family. So one of Nina’s partners handed the mark-erasing potion to Nina personally, watched her drank it without hesitation, before seeing all the mating marks in her body disappearing one after another, while her partners decomposed to death one by one. Even when the partner that handed the potion to Nina was turning into a pool of blood, his eyes were still looking at Nina affectionately. His last words were, “As long as you can live on happily, that’s enough.”

Then why did nothing happen to Quentin?” Gu Mengmeng asked.

Elvis answered, “Because at that time, Quentin had not mated with Nina. Nina said that she was only willing to accept him into her family if he kills the mom and daughter for her.”

Chapter 230 - If I Don't Make It Back

Gu Mengmeng was speechless, no wonder Quentin was Nina's first partner, as all of Nina's partners in the past were dead because of her.

"Then how did this trouble end up in Saint Nazaire?" Gu Mengmeng asked with disgust written over her face.

"Quentin's wish of mating with Nina was fulfilled after getting down from the Platform of the Deity's Punishment, he then brought the expelled Nina away from their original tribe. There was another half-orc female that was good friends with the one that died. To take revenge for her friend's death, she asked all the males to corner Nina and Quentin at the periphery of the tribe. Quentin's wings were injured in the battle and unable to fly ever since. After that, they came to Saint Nazaire. Saint Nazaire then had only two half-orc females, Sandy and Maya. Although Nina had a notorious history, she was a precious complete female, in addition to Quentin's power, Lea had advised me to let them in."

Gu Mengmeng rested on Elvis's knees and listened to him telling the story. She did not interrupt, just paying attention quietly.

Elvis trusted Lea's decision, so he let Nina in without any words. It was actually proven later that Lea's decision had solved almost half of Saint Nazaire's mating problem.

Elvis brushed Gu Mengmeng's hair, before continuing, "Because of that special potion, Nina could not leave any male's mark on her body despite her mating again. This was the punishment of the Beast Deity, she could no longer receive protection by the Beast Deity. As for Quentin, although Lea had healed his wings to allow for short-term flying, it would be impossible for him to carry heavy things and fly again. So the previous time when he wanted to assassinate you, he could not just bring you to the sky and drop you down. You idiot... You had escaped because of this, yet you still felt unworthy for Quentin after you came back.”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while and agreed she had indeed acted stupid.

She let out a wry smile and did not reply.

Elvis tapped on Gu Mengmeng’s nose and continued, “Do you think, for females like Nina, they would realize if one, or some, of her partners are gone?”

Gu Mengmeng paused to think, before shaking her head in dismay.

Elvis smiled and said sadly, “Indeed, she won’t even realize. But Nina’s case is common in the Beast World. Sandy was an exception, she only mates with males that she like, the reason why she had so little partners and also one of the reasons Nina dislikes her and bullies her.

Only then did Gu Mengmeng realized that Elvis beat around such a big bush to answer her previous question.

If all these females were like Nina in the Beast World, it would be so pathetic for the males to be their partners.

Gu Mengmeng tugged herself into Elvis’s arms and hugged him tightly, “You are my husband, the only husband in the entire world. I don’t have any other partners except for you, So if you do anything in the future, please think of me. How can I survive in this dangerous Beast World on my own if you don’t come back? You must protect yourself for me, don’t you ever leave me alone, understand?”

Elvis was stunned... The only one?

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng’s back. Feeling a little touched and a little sentimental, he said, “In the future, you will have more and more wonderful partners. If I really don’t make it back one day...”

Chapter 231 - What the Heck! Cheat?

Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth and bit hard into Elvis's shoulder.

While it was not that painful, Elvis cleverly shut his mouth and did not finish his sentence.

Gu Mengmeng could only leave a faint mark on Elvis's shoulder even with a sore jaw. Feeling discouraged, she rubbed her numbed cheeks, before staring at Elvis angrily and said, "If you dare to die out there, I will knock myself to death in this very cave. I will haunt you down even after I turn into a ghost, I will pull your ears and ask, who gave you the courage to leave me behind."

This was the first time Elvis was attacked and he did not strangle the opponent to death immediately. Surprisingly, he did not feel angry at all, but only sweetness filling up his heart chambers. He hugged Gu Mengmeng into his arms and said gently, "I am strong. And for you, I will be even stronger."

Gu Mengmeng broke into a grin and pecked on the place she had just bitten, "Now that's being clever, after all today is a joyous occasion where we just got married, it's so inauspicious to talk about deaths. I want you to live on, to live long, together with me."

Elvis rubbed Gu Mengmeng's head affectionately and said, "Xiao Meng, you have to promise me one thing."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, looked at Elvis and replied with a "Eh?"

Elvis paused for a while before continuing, "If one day, I really do encounter some danger of which I could not make it back... Don't knock yourself to death, you have to protect yourself well and live long for me, you understand?”

Gu Mengmeng became angry, she turned around and ignored Elvis.

Elvis circled around Gu Mengmeng from behind, his voice was still gentle, but there was a little pleading in it, “You are the only reason for me to sacrifice myself to fight, you being alive and living on happily is my greatest wish. Promise me, at least... let me rest in peace.”

Gu Mengmeng got even angrier, she turned around and pulled Elvis’s ear. “What now? You are already planning on my widowed life right after mating? You still continued even when I didn’t allow you to. If I don’t show you my power, you’ll think I am a Barbie girl yeah?”

Elvis cooperated by letting out a few moans and he pleaded by saying he would never do it again.

Gu Mengmeng released him. Looking at his red ears, Gu Mengmeng felt sorry and rubbed it. “You are such an idiot, can’t you run away when I pull your ears?”

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s hand close to his chest and smiled, “But I don’t want to leave you, not even for a step.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and leaned into Elvis’s arms.

Growl growl..

A familiar yet awkward noise sounded from Gu Mengmeng’s stomach.

Gu Mengmeng clutched her stomach and smiled at Elvis eagerly, “You sure are hungry, I will go and make some food.”

Elvis did not stop Gu Mengmeng. With his appetite, the food that Gu Mengmeng could barely fill his stomach. But he did not want to tell Gu Mengmeng, because... he could save more food for her this way.

Gu Mengmeng ran further into the cave happily. Elvis had carried her here for a few times and she roughly knew where things were.

“Roasted sweet potatoes oh roasted sweet potatoes~ how sweet and delicious you are~” Gu Mengmeng kneeled at one side and picked out two of the appropriate sizes from the pile of sweet potatoes, ready to roast it on the fire pit later.

Fire...

Gu Mengmeng suddenly remember, this is deep into the cave and the lights from the entrance would never be able to reach here, then...

Gu Mengmeng looked down at the two sweet potatoes in her hands, she could even see the lines of the cracks on their skin clearly.

What the heck! Cheat?!

Chapter 232 - Evidence That Gu Mengmeng Is The Messenger Of The Beast Deity

Gu Mengmeng held a sweet potato in each hand, barefoot, shouting with a resounding, “Ah—!”

Dragging out her yelling sounds, she ran towards Elvis. Elvis got a shock by Gu Mengmeng’s roar. By right, there should not be any danger in the cave, but why did she yell so miserably?

Elvis was much quicker than Gu Mengmeng, so it didn’t take Gu Mengmeng to run too far before Elvis had already run in to find her. Without saying anything, he carried her in her arms while cautiously looking at his surroundings.

He was sure that this was his cave. There were no smells from other people within the cave, there was not even a bug.

However...

Elvis stared at Gu Mengmeng doubtfully. Red-faced, her two eyes stared straight at herself as she held a sweet potato tightly in each hand, gesturing around frantically.

“Xiaomeng?” Elvis patted her back lightly, then proceeded to take the huge sweet potatoes from her hands, “What happened?”

Gu Mengmeng panted heavily, grinning, “Look, what is this?!”

Elvis did not understand, but still replied matter-of-factly, “Sweet potato.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded agitatedly, “Yes, this is a sweet potato!”

Elvis still did not understand what Gu Mengmeng was so agitated about, and could only look at her silently, waiting for her to finish panting so she could continue speaking.

Gu Mengmeng pointed to the sweet potato aside, “This is a sweet potato.”

Then, she turned her head and pointed to the other side, “The potatoes are stacked there.”

She then pointed towards the other entrance that led to the cave, “The meat that we preserved are in that hole, and...”

Elvis suddenly understood, gently lifting Gu Mengmeng’s tiny chin to turn her tiny face towards his, then asked softly, “Can you see me... now?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded agitatedly, throwing away the other ... in her hand, then user her hand to gently brush over Elvis’ facial features, saying softly, “This is Elvis’ eyebrow, this is Elvis’ nose, this is Elvis’ eye, and this...”

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ face with both her hands, presenting her own lips to kiss him gently, like that of a dragonfly touching water. She continued, “This is Elvis’ mouth.”

Smiling, Elvis held the back of Gu Mengmeng’s head and returned the kiss, only releasing his lips after a while.

“This already is the evidence that you are the messenger of the beast deity.” Elvis said.

“What?” Gu Mengmeng did not understand.

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng in one arm, while using his other arm to swiftly pick up the two... that Gu Mengmeng had just picked up. He carried her out while saying, “Only the messengers of the beast deity, are the females who have the ability to inherit the special abilities from their partners.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned, clearly not understanding.

Elvis continued to explain patiently, “Normally, while females are much weaker as compared to males, they still have the normal abilities such as being able to see in the dark, transform, high running speeds or having sharp claws.” They have all the abilities they inherited from their father beasts, so they will not ... that of their partners. Yet, it is the opposite for the messengers of the beast deity, you did not inherit any abilities from your father beast, so your body is still like an empty ..., hence able to inherit certain characteristics from your partner.”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned on a moment, then asking fearfully, “I wouldn’t... also suddenly turn into a husky one day, right?”

Chapter 233 - Inheriting The Partner's Abilities

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis did not know who Husky was, but he had heard Gu Mengmeng call himself that numerous times. So he thought, perhaps in the world where Gu Mengmeng was originally from, Husky was probably the other title for a wolf.

He then nodded seriously, "I only heard Lea mention a little regarding the messenger of the beast deity having the ability to inherit the partner's abilities. After all, this was thousands of years ago, we also have no idea the extent to which it can be inherited. But you can try, see if you can turn into a husky."

The edges of Gu Mengmeng's lips raised, laughing dryly, then shook her head, "Better not, I don't want to turn into a dog."

Elvis pinched Gu Mengmeng's little chin, correcting her, "A wolf."

Gu Mengmeng pressed her lips together and replied, "I don't want to change even if it is into a wolf. What if I can't turn back? Eh, no no!"

Elvis did not force her either. To him, it is already a very good thing that she had inherited his vision. At least when she walks in the cave from now on, he would not have to worry about her accidentally banging into anything, and that sufficed for him. As for speed, strength and ability to attack, it was enough for him to have it.

Gu Mengmeng tried moving around in the dark for the first time. Her inner frenzy of delight and excitement caused her to no longer want to be carried by Elvis as she struggled to get on the ground. Elvis did not stop her, and only found two thicker pieces of beast skin to wrap her feet, allowing her to scamper around the cave freely as he followed behind her, smiling gently as he observed how she had a delighted expression while looking at everything.

It had to be said, Elvis had a really big cave.

Gu Mengmeng had not gone in so deep previously. Even if she did, she had no recollection of it at all, because as long as she left the area close to the entrance, she was blind as a bat, and could only be carried by Elvis to places without knowing where she was. But now it was different, everything was crystal clear.

This feeling made her mind so at peace that Gu Mengmeng felt like she was going to fly from happiness.

“Hmm~” Gu Mengmeng hummed a random little tune, entering a ... mode as she sunk deeper into her adventures. Every time she walked into a deeper hole, she felt adrenaline rush through her body.

Elvis carried her up gently while smiling, “Weren’t you hungry? How about you go eat something first, then continue looking around later?”

How could Gu Mengmeng retreat now that she was having so much fun? Shaking her head, she took out two pieces of fish jerky from her pockets and started munching on one of them while delivering the other right by Elvis’ lips, “I took it from the house just now, this piece is for you.”

Elvis did not take the fish jerky from Gu Mengmeng, but he bit along Gu Mengmeng’s teeth prints on the piece that she had just eaten, mimicking her munching, then pretended to be serious, “Mmm, it is indeed very delicious.”

Shyly, Gu Mengmeng punched Elvis in his chest, adding in a displeased manner, “Annoying~” as she ran into the deeper area of the cave again.”

In the next half a month, Gu Mengmeng remained in a state of extreme excitement throughout. She found it so interesting that she could suddenly see everything in the dark. Elvis’ cave was also sufficiently big for her to live within different caverns daily, as he had to help her carry her tiny bed made out of two big pieces of wood put together, with a lot of effort. While such movements were meaningless, but Elvis felt that there was nothing else that he could do with her that was meaningless yet blissful as he looked at her elated face.

Originally, this kind of bliss... might not have belonged to him.

Chapter 234 - Thankfully, Thankfully

“Xiaomeng.” Elvis laid on his side on the bed, wrapping Gu Mengmeng in his arms, his finger brushing against her cheeks with love and cherish. He hesitated, but eventually said, “Could you, also sing a song for me?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled with a nod and proceeded to sit up. She looked at Elvis and thought for a moment before she cleared her throat and sang, “I close my eyes and breathe with the beat of your heart. At this moment, there are only the two of us left in this world...”

A melodious tune, every note brought out the sweetness that Gu Mengmeng had felt at that moment. Her fingers gently interlocked with Elvis’ long fur that was black like ink, twisting it then slowly letting go. When she sang until “Love you love you love you we will forever be together~”, she paused and silently pecked Elvis’ lips before she continued to sing.

She did not ask why Elvis suddenly wanted to hear her sing, because she did not ignore him saying the word “also”.

After coming into the beast world, Elvis was the third person who could make her open her mouth to sing.

The first was Sandy, Claire Kuo’s “Dowry” was already the song that belonged to her.

The second was... Lea.

“A Little Happiness”, which she sang back then, had unexpectedly become a special occasion.

Naturally, Elvis would not have used “also” on Sandy. So he was definitely referring to Lea.

After Gu Mengmeng had finished singing that song, Elvis felt relief run through his body.

How fearful must he have been for Gu Mengmeng to reject him, not willing to sing a song for him, or how she could have sung another sad song.

But thankfully, thankfully...

Elvis embraced Gu Mengmeng again, asking, “What’s the name of this song?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “This song is called “Love You”, the original singer is Kimberley Chen. When I first heard this song, I could still watch Taiwan’s variety show in China. She went on the program to advertise. She was small in size, yet had an explosive voice, and was definitely one of those that would make you want to kneel the moment she opened her mouth. Though after I heard the official version, the appeal was subpar compared to the live version, but it was still very nice. This is also my ringtone on my handphone.”

Elvis still did not understand most of what Gu Mengmeng was saying, but even so, he felt a sense of bliss looking at how excited she was as she described what happened to her in the past. The more he understood about her past, which he was not in time to be a part of, the more he felt closer to her.

Bang bang...

A wave of menacing sound rang. Gu Mengmeng did not notice yet, but it caused Elvis to tense up. He grabbed the beast skin and wrapped Gu Mengmeng up, then he said while looking warily at the entrance of the cave, “Hide in the cavern where we preserve our fish. No matter what you see or hear, do not come out unless I come to fetch you.”

Gu Mengmeng did not know what was going on and was confused by Elvis' nervous expression. While she was carried inside by Elvis, she turned around to ask, "What... what's going on? What happened? Why must I hide?"

"Good girl, you have to hide yourself well." Elvis used his strength to push Gu Mengmeng into the cavern where they kept preserved fish. He then punched the crag and caused the crushed rocks from the top of the hole to fall onto the ground, blocking the entrance of the hole tightly. It looked like a cavern that was abandoned because of the partial landslide.

Chapter 235 - Lone Army Putting Up A Brave Fight

Gu Mengmeng did not know what had happened, but she decided to believe Elvis. So, she wrapped herself tighter in the beast skin that Elvis had wrapped her in and walked deeper into the cave. She sat at the place where the preserved fish were stored, looking at the dried fish that were hardened by the freezing temperature in the hole, then looking slightly worriedly at the entrance of the cavern that had been blocked.

She could now see things in the dark, but she did not have X-ray vision, and could not see anything outside of the blocked entrance to know what was going on.

There was definitely not absolute silence within the cave. A loud noise caused a shiver down Gu Mengmeng's spine.

She was familiar with the voice, it was Elvis' wolf roar!

This sound meant that Elvis had transformed? What was going on? Why did he transform all of a sudden? Could it be that today was the full moon night of the fifteenth? Elvis' blood was awakened? If not... split personality? Just like "Seven Mes", a violent personality of Elvis appeared?

Gu Mengmeng's mind was running wild as she heard a loud banging sound, as if something had hit on the mound that Elvis had used to block the entrance of the hole with a large impact.

Gu Mengmeng's brain buzzed, no, there was not only Elvis outside.

This... this was the sound of a fight.

Didn't he say that the snow had blocked the passage of the mountains such that nobody would go out of their own caves? Why was there a sudden intruder?

Gu Mengmeng was worried sick. She leaned against the mound, using her hands to dig at the blockage, eager to know what was going on outside.

The mud had been hardened and frozen by the extreme coldness. Gu Mengmeng only dug a tiny hole that was two-fingers wide even when both her hands were stained with blood.

Before any light could enter, a rush of cold air seeped through from the tiny hole.

Tolerating the discomfort in her eyes, Gu Mengmeng squinted and leaned against the tiny hole, looking out.

One, two, three... seven, eight, nine...

Nine menacing beasts were fighting with Elvis. They were tangled up and ripping one another apart, and there was already a few deep wounds on Elvis' back that exposed his bones. His flesh flipped outwards, and blood was gushing out profusely. That body of deep black fur was dyed into a raw red, hideous and uncomfortable to the eye.

Subconsciously, Gu Mengmeng covered her mouth, not letting herself make any sound.

She knew, that Elvis made her hide in the hole with the preserved fish so the raw fish smell would overpower her own. Furthermore, in this situation, her appearance would not only be a burden to Elvis but also cause him to be in a more dangerous situation.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her fist tightly, forcing herself to stay silent. She needed to think wisely, how she could help Elvis out.

At one end of the hole, she could see Elvis biting onto the hind leg of one of the enemies, and a hard swing caused the leg to be ripped off from his body, spraying blood all over Elvis' face. It made him look like he was a ferocious man-eating mountain spirit that had just climbed out from hell.

The opponents were not even slightly fazed by the fact that their accomplice was attacked, but speedily took over and continued to trap Elvis in the center.

“Tsk tsk tsk... the fattest part was bitten by you.” At this moment, someone walked out from an angle out of Gu Mengmeng's line of sight, dragging the neck of the beast that had lost his leg in one hand. With the exertion of a little strength from the tip of his finger, a loud crack was heard as the beast's neck was twisted off. That person crossed his legs and sat beside the corpse, with one hand pressing against the dead body while the other ripped off the other hind leg with a pull, and then took it into his mouth and started chewing.

Chapter 236 - Her Singing Attracted The Enemies?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng felt a wave of disgust and made vomiting sounds although she did not puke out anything. She could only squat by the tiny hole, panting heavily, allowing her mood to settle down as quickly as possible.

“At first, we did not know your hole was here, but it was at the moment we almost froze to death that we heard a magical yet wonderful tune. We listened, and it was probably the voice of a female...” that person said while giving off a greedy expression. His dark red tongue licked his lips, then proceeded to make loud cracking noises as he started to chew on the leg bone that barely had any flesh left on it.

Gu Mengmeng was shocked, could it be... that her singing had attracted the enemies?

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to slap herself to death, did she have nothing to do other than sing? Even if Elvis wanted to listen, she could have quietly sung by his ear, why did she sing so loudly? Show off that she had a good voice? Look at what's happening now, she attracted trouble!

At the same time, Elvis had already bitten off the throat of another beast. His head rumbled as it rolled over to the man's feet and was heartlessly kicked out of the cave.

The man nodded while commending, “Seems like we met a tough opponent here.”

Elvis transformed back into human form, only remaining his sharp teeth and right hand in beast form. He had never fought like this, this was still inspired by the fox tail that Lea had revealed to coax Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis spat out the dirty blood in his mouth, “If you all are only looking for food, I can share a portion of meat with you. There should be sufficient for you to reach the next tribe in addition to these two idiots.”

That man also felt very curious about Elvis’ battle form, looking him up and down for a while, “A half-orc? Huh, I saw your movements just now and thought you were at least a humanoid class two beast. Didn’t expect you to actually be a half-orc... Hahaha, good, good.”

Suddenly, that man stood up while laughing loudly. A lewd expression spread across his face as he said, “How about, you hand over your female, and let her break your ties as partners, then join us... Don’t worry, I’m very fair as a leader. I will return you your female, once I’ve played enough of her. Other than the fact that you have no restraints by your partnership, everything else will still be the same as that now. How about that? Not too bad right!”

Elvis stared coldly at the person speaking, expressionless. It was like he had not even a tiny bit of expression.

He walked forward, and the remaining seven beasts came forth to block him. The two stood still, and that tense atmosphere was like the calm before the storm. Even Gu Mengmeng could feel the dangerous aura that was coming from Elvis’ body.

After turning into a human, the two wounds on his body looked more hideous, having a stark contrast between that and his pale white skin. Charisma was flowing like opium poppies, it did not seem like he was on the losing end at all, and on the contrary, it added more maleness to him. The blood that flowed down his waistline made it look as if he was announcing how dangerous the owner was.

“If I kill him, you will have one more portion of food.” Elvis stared right at the man who claimed to be the leader yet did not transform to participate in the fight, but those words were clearly aimed at the “thugs” that were surrounding him.

Elvis moved his jaw, and his bones made cracking noises. He then further transformed into beast form, both his hands had turned into wolf claws and a thick, strong tail was also whipped out, hitting the ground twice to crack a pit. His destructive power was extraordinary.

Chapter 237 - The Fight Between The Wolf and The Tiger

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The seven beasts surrounding Elvis exchanged glances, then proceeded to back off slowly.

An agreement was made.

Elvis' gaze swept across the beasts, nodding to express his acknowledgment, then slowly walked towards the man who called himself the leader.

That man also threw aside the leg bone that he had chewed halfway, standing up to move his neck left and right, continuing to laugh annoyingly. Gu Mengmeng swore, even though she had seen so many television shows, she had never seen such a repulsive villain like this damned chap. As expected, the face is born by nature, there was a clear innate difference in a real and a fake bad guy.

With a tilt of his body, Elvis missed the tiger's attack by a hair. At the moment they brushed past, he took the opportunity to use his sharp claws to attack the tiger's abdomen.

The tiger seemed to have prepared as he used his tail that was as thick as an arm to wrap around Elvis' arm. With a strong swing, half his body unexpectedly started spinning as he stepped on the wall, spitting blood profusely towards Elvis' face.

The edge of Elvis' lips raised, and he actually smiled.

The tiger did not have good intentions, but he could not stop in his tracks because it was not his tail that had wrapped around Elvis' arm, but Elvis' arm that had grabbed onto his tail tightly. He actually sent his own tail into the hands of the opponent?!

A second before the tiger could get close to him, he shrunk in size and transformed into his wolf form, opening his mouth and using his sharp teeth to choke on the tiger's throat. Every move was fast, accurate and aggressive, without a trace of sloppiness.

Crack crack, two continuous sounds of bones cracking were heard before the tiger's head was pulled off in a weird position, hanging by Elvis' mouth.

The murderous spirit had not yet left the mystic blue eyes of Elvis, but suddenly found a tiny hole in the entrance to the hole that he should have blocked, just one tiny hole, and he knew... the eyes that were peeking from behind the hole.

Frozen, Elvis released his mouths and caused the tiger to fall onto the floor weakly.

The seven beasts, who were his accomplices just a moment ago, immediately sped up and started to split the food supply from the tiger's dead body.

Elvis' spine froze, speaking coldly, "Saint Nazaire does not welcome stray beasts. Take your food and leave... otherwise, you all might just become the food that I keep for myself this winter season.

The seven beasts gazed at one another helplessly. The reason this tiger was the leader, was because all of them combined could not win over him in a fight. Yet, the black wolf in front of him killed him so easily. In other words, they will definitely not win over him.

The seven beasts crawled on the floor in a position showing that they had given in.

Elvis raised his arms, lightly tapping his fingers twice, gesturing that they could scramble off.

Hurriedly, the seven beasts dragged their “accomplices” that had already turned into sources of food and escaped from Elvis’ cave. With the howl of the windstorm, the sound of the beasts attacking one another fighting for food also slowly faded into the distance.

Elvis and Gu Mengmeng looked at each other just like that, with that block of mud in between them, as if time had stopped at that moment and they were in a state where someone had pressed pause.

“Elvis, you are hurt.” Gu Mengmeng came back to her senses. Digging at the mud in front of her profusely, she said, “Don’t move, I’m coming right now, I will dig through very quickly, don’t make any random movements.”

Elvis was stunned for a moment. Walking two steps forward, he broke the mud block with a lurch, dragging Gu Mengmeng out from the mud that had fallen and carried her in his arms, allowing the messy mud to spill over his body. Yet, unaware, he only tightly hugged Gu Mengmeng in his arms.

Chapter 238 - Don't Leave Me

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng wrapped herself around Elvis' waist, then felt something warm touch her arm. Her eyes watery, Gu Mengmeng said in a sobbing tone, "You are hurt, you are hurt..."

Elvis tightly hugged Gu Mengmeng, who was trying to break free from his embrace, using so much force that he was shaking uncontrollably. After a long time, he then used a voice that sounded like hot sand grinding against metal and said, "Don't leave me."

Gu Mengmeng could not struggle her way out, and was so anxious that she kept on crying, stomping her foot wanting to punch Elvis but was afraid to hurt his wound. So she waved her hand around, "Are you an idiot? I'm already yours, where else could I go? Quickly let me go and let me see to your wound."

Elvis froze, carefully supporting Gu Mengmeng's shoulder while looking into her eyes, asking, "Just now... did you see me kill that stray beast?"

"That?" Gu Mengmeng was too focused on wanting to see the injury on Elvis' back, but Elvis refused to let go, causing Gu Mengmeng to jump around anxiously, "I saw it I saw it, I saw all three of that."

"You... weren't afraid?" Elvis' expression was as though he was treading on thin ice, full of uncertainty in his mystical blue eyes.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis as if he was an idiot, "If you didn't kill them, they would have killed us. I'm not a damn Xuanzang, I don't have a hobby for helping monsters improve the quality of their sources of food."

"You didn't think... I was cruel?" Elvis felt surprised about Gu Mengmeng's answer. He clearly remembered the day of her coming to age ceremony, she was crying when she saw others wounded and bleeding when Elvis was guarding the tower. He knew, she did not fancy violence, killing or blood.

But she had just witnessed that violent and bloody scene.

The moment he met eyes with her through that tiny hole, his heart clenched and it was as if he could see Gu Mengmeng with a face of despite and disgust. He even felt like she could have left him because of that.

Yet, she said...

“If you don’t let me check on the damned wound, do you believe that I would be more cruel than you?!” Gu Mengmeng hardened her heart, stepping on the back of Elvis’ foot and twisted her heel, “Let me tell you, once I get angry, even I am afraid of myself. Quickly let go of me, I want to check on your wound.”

Gu Mengmeng had such little strength, it did not feel like anything to Elvis.

But, his heart was so warm.

Boom... boom...

The heartbeat resuscitated from his left chest, making Elvis feel like the blood that had solidified in his body was finally flowing again. Carrying Gu Mengmeng back in his arms, he breathed deeply, “Thank you, Xiaomeng! Thank you...”

The moment he finished speaking, Elvis’ body went weak as he slid down from Gu Mengmeng’s body.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to catch Elvis, but she did not have sufficient strength. She could only cause him to fall slowly, preventing a second injury.

“Elvis? Elvis what happened to you? Don’t scare me...” Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis’ face, only to see that he had no response.

What to do? What to do?!

Gu Mengmeng was so anxious she frantically walked around in circles. Back then, she shouldn't have gone to learn the damned "Human Resource Management", she should have gone to the damned nursing school to learn medic skills!

The wind flowing in the cave suddenly decreased in intensity. Gu Mengmeng subconsciously looked towards the entrance only to see a familiar face standing there, waving his big fluffy tail back and forth, sweeping the snow outside the entrance somewhere else. With a smiling expression, looking like a fairy, standing against the light blocking the entrance, asking, "Do you... need any help?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head profusely and cried with a sobbing tone, "Lea, hurry and save Elvis..."

Lea maintained his light smile and stood at the entrance, not moving at all. He remained silent for a while before speaking, "After all, we're love rivals. If he dies, it's good news for me."

"Lea!" Gu Mengmeng hollered his name out at the top of her lungs.

Lea was stunned and almost could not maintain the smile on his face.

This was the first time Gu Mengmeng was staring at him with that gaze and calling his name with that tone... for another male.

Lea used the time of two breaths to forcefully calm down his own emotions before continuing, "So, if you want me to save him, you've to agree to three of my conditions."

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and said, "Sure, as long as you can save him. Let alone three conditions, I can even agree to 300 of your conditions!"

Lea nodded his head and took a step into the cave, saying, "The first condition, I've to stay here for winter."

Gu Mengmeng did not open her mouth yet when Lea added, "Elvis needs to be taken care of, you can't possibly let me take the risk of rushing to and fro in the snow, right?"

Gu Mengmeng glanced at the howling snowstorm outside the cave and nodded her head, agreeing, “Elvis’s cave is very big, you won’t lack a place to sleep.”

Lea heaved a sigh of relief before stepping his second step into the cave, saying, “The second condition, until winter ends and the snow outside the cave melts on its own, you’ve to sing ‘My Little Happiness’ once everyday, to reward me for treating Elvis.”

Gu Mengmeng wanted to reject. She knew what this song meant to both of them. Lea had already mated with Nina and she was also Elvis’s female. Was singing this song now appropriate? What’s the use?

But looking at Lea’s ‘if you don’t agree, I’ll leave immediately’ stance, Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and agreed, “Sure, I’ll sing!”

Lea stepped his third step forward and just nice, he walked up to Elvis. He bent his body slightly to match up to Gu Mengmeng’s height, staring into her eyes while saying, “The last condition, whenever you talk to me, I want you to always call me ‘Daddy Lea’.”

Gu Mengmeng widened her eyes at Lea and said, “You didn’t take enough liberties, did you?! Don’t push your luck! We’re covering all your food, lodging and even entertainment service. Our consultation fees is considered quite a lot already, alright?”

“We...” Lea’s gaze faltered for a moment, the angle of the curve on his lips changing slightly and his fingers forming a fist unknowingly. However, he did not dare to let Gu Mengmeng notice any clue, so he tried to maintain the smiley face that she loved and used the holy calmness she adored to smash his heart to bits in order to mark a vermilion birthmark on her. He muttered, “Once, you and me, were ‘we’ too.”

“What’s the point of saying all of these now?! One sentence, do you want to save or not?!” Gu Mengmeng hollered at the top of her voice.

“If you don’t agree, I won’t save him.” Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng, not having any intention to give in. He wants to know... for Elvis, would she agree to something she did not want to do?

Lea, now, was feeling very complicated too. He was anticipating her to agree... but on the other hand, he was afraid that she would really agree.

“Alright, Daddy Lea, Grandpa Lea, Ancestor Lea, I beg you, save my husband.” Gu Mengmeng held onto the bloody Elvis and stared at Lea firmly. In her eyes, Lea could not see the initial infatuation, the initial bashfulness, the initial ignorance and the initial....liking towards him.

Chapter 240 - Congratulations, You've Promoted.

Lea did not say anything. It was not because he did not want to but because he was unable to. These few days, he was anxiously longing to reunite with Gu Mengmeng. He pulled through every second of the long and tortuous period and even guarded outside the cave when she mated with Elvis. He could clearly hear her faint breathing, every one of her cries in pain and every moans of pleasure.

That was undoubtedly a type of torment. The only belief that was supporting him was that after Elvis finally became her First Partner, he could then return to her side. As long as she was willing to nod her head, as long as she still wants him, he would be with her forever.

But, the reunion he imagined countless number of times never had a scene like this.

Her eyes could not reflect his figure anymore and only repulsion and resistance was left in her expression. Her call of 'Daddy Lea' which made his heart flutter during that afternoon sleep was now a sharp sword piercing deep into his chest, a heart-wrenching pain, nothing more than that.

Lea suppressed his discomfort and checked Elvis's wound thoroughly before doing an emergency treatment on him. From Gu Mengmeng's expression, he clearly knew how much she cared for Elvis and if anything was to happen to Elvis, he would lose her forever without a doubt, forever and thoroughly lose her.

That night, Gu Mengmeng cuddled up next to Elvis to sleep. On the other hand, Lea sat by their bed quietly for the entire night.

The second day, when Gu Mengmeng woke up, her first reaction was to touch Elvis's forehead and after ensuring that he was not having a fever anymore, she quietly heaved a sigh of relief. She flipped open the beast-skin in utmost cautiousness to look at the hideous wound on Elvis's back. Blood stopped flowing out from it and the wound looked like it was healing. There was also no infection. Thank the lords.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to boil some water to wash up, but she saw Lea walking slowly from the space closer to the entrance that they used to stay in. He leaned against the wall and said, "I've already boiled water for you to wash up. I made roasted fish and potato soup for your breakfast. Go and eat some food to fill up your stomach first if not, you'll fall sick again before Elvis wakes up."

When Gu Mengmeng saw Lea, she was stunned. Maybe she had not fully woke up yet because her mind was still a little confused. She seemed like she did not know why Lea was here.

Lea sighed and continued, "You know that to a tribe, females are so much more precious than males so when you fall sick, I'll definitely take care of you first. Then, Elvis's condition will surely be neglected. Unless you wish that Elvis's wound doesn't get enough care, you better work hard to take care of yourself. Don't distract me."

Gu Mengmeng hit her own face to let her brain maintain clear-headedness. Then, she nodded her head, implying that she understood before putting another beast-skin on herself. The beast-skin that Elvis used to wrap her feet previously was also improved into the recommended leather boots a few days before those stray beasts rushed into their cave. Although it was not as exquisite as the products on Taobao, it won in terms of sturdy materials, warmth and comfort.

Gu Mengmeng turned her body and walked past Lea. From the start, she did not say even a word to Lea.

Was she still not willing to call him 'Daddy Lea' again?

Not long later, Lea heard the sound of Gu Mengmeng washing up, followed by her eating the food. The corners of his lips curved upwards. Luckily, she did not reject the food that he made.

Lea walked by the side of the bed and sat on the ground slowly, placing one leg bent on the floor and the other arched upwards with his two arms casually placed on them. His gaze was all along fixated on the place Gu Mengmeng left just now while his back was facing the bed. As he was on, he muttered to himself, "Congratulations, you've been promoted."

Elvis, who was on the bed, did not give him any response. Luckily, Lea was not expecting his reply as he continued to talk to himself, “I saw those stray beasts run out. They fought with one another because of the unfair distribution of food and in the end, all of them were seriously injured and froze to death outside.”

Lea's voice was calm, as if he was seriously listening to Gu Mengmeng drinking the soup from afar while talking.

Tenderness was written between his brows and he looked as if he could see through the wall to look at the little girl eating her food.

“It's impossible for just a few of them to hurt you. So... you must have got injured on purpose to create an opportunity for me, right?” As Lea said, he turned his head slightly to glance over at Elvis. Smiling bitterly, he spoke with difficulty, “Thank you. And don't worry, there's nothing left in this world worth for me to give in and compromise in front of Mengmeng. This time, I won't let her feel wronged again.”

After Lea finished speaking, he slowly stood up and walked outside.

Gu Mengmeng had finished her meal, so he was going to keep all the bowls and chopsticks.

And Elvis who was lying on the bed turned his head secretly to face the wall on the other side. Even though he could not see anything, he still did not want to face the scene of Gu Mengmeng acting intimate with someone else.

“Mengmeng.” When Lea walked out, he saw Gu Mengmeng trying her best to dig the snow at the entrance. However, her wound, that took so much effort to apply the herbs on, looked like it was going to bleed again.

Lea grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng’s wrist and frowned while looking at her red fingernails, asking, “Are you trying to distract me so I’ll have no time to take care of Elvis?”

Gu Mengmeng struggled to retract her hand but almost dislocated her own wrist. This forced Lea to let her go and she then placed both her hands behind her and looked away, saying, “It’s just a small wound, it will heal itself without treatment. Just focus on taking care of Elvis, you don’t have to care about me.”

As she said, Gu Mengmeng walked into the cave to put the snow, that took her much effort to dig into the pot. She wanted to melt the snow into water before boiling so that she can wash the bowl she just ate from. However, she had not advanced even a step yet when Lea held her shoulder from behind. He did not hug her but used both his hands to hold on to her shoulders, preventing her from leaving.

“What are you doing?” Gu Mengmeng struggled for a moment but realized that she could not escape at all. Furthermore, she would not get injured from struggling in this posture so she could not force Lea to let go either.

Lea did not answer her and just secured Gu Mengmeng on the spot. He only started speaking when she gave up on struggling, “If you just want to wash the bowl, leave it to me. It’s an unquestionable principle for males to take care of females. You don’t have to hurt yourself from being at odds with me.”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes and sniggered, “Treating yourself too seriously is an illness , you have to treat it.”

“If you’re not at odds with me, you can just place the cutlery here and wait for me to clean it like in the past.”

Gu Mengmeng breathed in deeply and said slowly, “I don’t have the habit of letting other males take care of me.”

“Mengmeng!”

“If there’s nothing else you want to say, please let go. I still have to go in and take care of Elvis after washing the dishes.”

Lea could not release his hands.

The touch that he yearned for day and night was finally realized, how could he dare to let go? He was very clear that if he released his fingers by just a tiny gap, she would slip away and the next touch... would be so difficult!

Lea used his quivering voice to say, “In my name, I pledge to the Beast Deity, in this lifetime, I’ll devote my loyalty to you. From today onwards, you’re my only god, my life, my everything.”

Gu Mengmeng’s body was frozen till she could not move at all and her breathing became more difficult so struggling was just an absurd thought.

She thought that she shed enough tears for Lea, she thought that she would not cry for Lea again. But now, her eyes were red from his words.

Lea walked towards her slowly and finally pulled her tightly into his arms again. That warm feeling made him feel as if his skin was being burnt. Pain, a pain that made one suffocate. The blood in his entire body seemed like it solidified at that moment and his eyes, nose, mouth and ears, all his sensory organs were concentrated on her tiny figure, not anywhere else.

Lea buried his head into the pit of Gu Mengmeng’s neck, his voice shaking without control. No matter how much he wanted to maintain the smile that she loved, he could not do it. He added, “You thought that the words I said previously are all lies? I was never ‘someone else’s male’, never, Mengmeng, I beg you... please take back at least this sentence, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng wiped the tears off her face willfully and stepped harshly on Lea’s feet in an attempt to force him to release her.

Lea groaned but his hands did not move a single bit. He was still hugging tightly onto Gu Mengmeng, stubbornly unwilling to let her go.

Shaking, Gu Mengmeng breathed in two deep breaths and opened her mouth to speak after much difficulty. She said every word and sentence clearly, “Whether you’re someone else’s male doesn’t matter to me anymore. Because... I’m already someone else’s female. This point has already become a fact and we can’t change it.”

Pain! Every cell in his body was wildly transmitting pain messages. Lea’s natural instinct on seeking advantages and avoiding disadvantages pushed him to turn behind and escape but both his legs felt like roots were grown on them and he could not move them even an inch.

Did not want to let go, he did not want to let go!

Because he knew better than anyone else that after he let go, how much regret, suffering and death he would be in.

He would rather be in agony and rather be put to death by her words that were like fatal sharp knives than release her and finish his life in endless regret.

“If I ‘don’t matter’ to you anymore, then... take me in.” Lea brushed his hair against the pit of Gu Mengmeng’s neck gently and used his face to feel her skin and body warmth. He desperately wanted to prove that he was hugging the real Gu Mengmeng and that it was not a hallucination from his groundless imagination from countless moments without her.

“Elvis took care of me really well and I’m in a lot of happiness now. Since we were once in love, please maintain a manner that an ex-boyfriend should have and don’t disrupt my life anymore.” Gu Mengmeng struggled once more but Lea seemed like he was determined not to let her go even a little bit.

“No, I don’t want manners! I want you!”

“You can’t have me!” Gu Mengmeng howled out at the top of her voice, “Don’t act like you’re a prodigal who’s more precious than gold after you return. I tell you, I, Gu Mengmeng, would never touch something someone else touched before.”

Lea shook his head and abruptly turned Gu Mengmeng’s body to face his. Only unease and earnest begging were left in his pair of eyes that was usually filled with tenderness. He could not ignore the dense feeling in them and his brows knitted together to form a dead knot. The pain in his chest made breathing difficult for him but despite how much agony he was in, he still tried to smile.

“Other than you, I won’t let anyone else touch me. This body, this soul and this heart belongs to you as a whole.”

Chapter 243 - Shall We Change A Punishment Method?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“The previous time, the previous time Nina hugged my waist, I burned the beast-skin dress she touched before. If you still find me dirty, how about I skin this layer of skin off my waist?” As Lea said, he retracted one hand from Gu Mengmeng’s shoulders. Then, he lengthened and sharpened his fingernails in front of Gu Mengmeng, placing it near his stomach without hesitation.

Gu Mengmeng did not even slightly doubt whether Lea was lying to her because she was very clear that the males in this Beast World could accomplish many crazy things in an out of control manner for females.

Gu Mengmeng did not think it through when both her hands were already grabbing onto Lea’s wrist, preventing him from hurting himself.

Lea smiled all of a sudden and it was a joyful but inferior smile. With tears welled up in his eyes, he asked carefully, “In the end, you still can’t bear for me to get hurt, right? The ‘dont’ matter’ you said is a lie, right? You’re giving me the cold-shoulder, ignoring me, making me feel sad on purpose because you want to punish me, right?”

Gu Mengmeng turned her head to the other side to avoid looking at Lea’s expression. If she continued looking at his expression that almost lost all hope, she did not know when she could endure it further.

She wanted to retract her hands but Lea grabbed onto them first. He breathed in deeply and evolved his white but fluffy large tail out, wrapping it around Gu Mengmeng’s waist in utmost cautiousness and pulled her to himself. With his two empty hands, he used one to hold both of Gu Mengmeng’s hands and the other to hook her chin lightly. He stared into Gu Mengmeng's pupils with his long and passionate eyes, the deep affection in his eyes resembling an incoming wave that she could not escape from.

"Don't blame me, don't hate me. Erasing me completely from your memory and treating it as if we had not met before... is the most cruel way to punish me, right? Lea placed Gu Mengmeng's hand against his left chest and held back his tears, saying, "I know I'm wrong and I should receive punishment. But Mengmeng, my heart is aching so much, it's really very painful. Shall we change a punishment method?"

Gu Mengmeng bit her lower lip and did not want to say anything. Because she exerted too much strength, blood started oozing out from her lips.

Lea was flustered and in a moment of desperation, he kissed Gu Mengmeng's lips, using his tongue to break open her pearly white teeth and replace her lower lip with his.

Blood mixed together wantonly, he did not know whether it was hers or his.

The tip of his tongue throbbed with pain but how could this be compared to one in ten thousand of her hurting herself?

If this was the new punishment method she decided to bestow upon him, he... would gladly endure it.

Lea kissed her until he got too carried away. He did not stop till Gu Mengmeng's tears fell down her cheeks, scorching his skin.

Lea let go of Gu Mengmeng's lips slowly and look at her blood-streaked eyes due to the crying. She glared at him straight in the eye but from her eyes, he could not see any adoration she had for him in the past.

"Kissing you without permission, I..."

"Apologize, "Gu Mengmeng did not wait for Lea to finish his sentence and gave her answer with decision and dispatch.

Lea's gaze darkened and his sorrow long exceeded the limits he could withstand. No matter how well his pretense of not being affected was, it was impossible now. Lea remained silent for a long time before he opened his mouth to speak again,

“Mengmeng, I don’t want to apologize, I want to confess. I like you and this exceeds all the likings in the world. Don’t abandon me... alright? Hmm?”

Gu Mengmeng struggled with all her might and succeeded in casting Lea’s hand away but her waist was still trapped in Lea’s large tail. She could not escape so she stared into Lea’s eyes with her arms akimbo, “I, Gu Mengmeng, is not a toy that you can have or throw away when you feel like it. You were the one who abandoned me back then so don’t put on a victim facade now. If you really loved me, you wouldn’t have abandoned me then.”

Chapter 244 - Even Though I Know I'm Not Worthy, I Still Love You

Clenching her teeth, Gu Mengmeng squeezed every word from the gaps of her teeth. She pointed at the large tail wrapped around her waist and coldly said, "Release me or else I have ten thousand ways to make you regret."

"Such as?" Seeing Gu Mengmeng's furious expression, Lea, on the other hand, calmed down.

He was not afraid of her being noisy or creating a ruckus. If she said that she wanted to kill him for her anger to subside, he was even willing to open his chest wide for her to dig his heart out and empty his liver.

What he was afraid was that Gu Mengmeng would have no reaction to whatever he did, as if he was truly not important anymore.

He could at least still make her angry, that was excellent good news already.

Gu Mengmeng admitted that the harsh sentence she just said escaped from her lips on impulse.

But being pressed further by Lea like that, she had no choice but to cook up a plan to convince him that she was really capable of doing crazy things.

Sniggering suddenly, Gu Mengmeng said, "For example, ruining your treasured tribe... hurting your loved female... overturning everything you care for while only you... remain alive and well."

"With my presence, I won't allow anyone to hurt my beloved female." Lea touched Gu Mengmeng's face lightly and continued in utmost tenderness, "I won't allow it even if it's you."

Gu Mengmeng swatted the hand Lea used to touch her face and said, "Don't say that you love me again because you're not worthy."

Lea did not say a word and just look at Gu Mengmeng quietly. Seeing how she did not plan to continue talking, he slowly opened her mouth, "But... even though I know I'm not worthy, I still love you."

Gu Mengmeng felt her chest turning numb. She did not know whether she still had feelings for him or whether she was just acting loose but no matter what it was, she could not accept it.

Gu Mengmeng breathed two deep breaths and tried to escape from this kind of 'Breaking-up Ring' atmosphere that Lea was playing up.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea and tried to speak in a calm voice, "The reason why I allow you to stay in the cave is for you to treat Elvis and not for you to tease me. If you dare to tease me again, I'll have to ask you to leave."

She's... ousting him away...

Lea was taken aback. In the past, Gu Mengmeng always stuck to him like glue. Whenever she saw him, she would pounce onto him. She even begged him to go home with her despite making her sad back then at Nina's house. But now... she wants him to leave?

Lea knew that maybe he forced Gu Mengmeng too hard today.

He laughed at himself. Lea, who was so skilled in contriving others' will, actually would lose his sense of propriety one day.

Lowering his head, Lea eventually let go of his own tail and said with a wronged expression, "From the start, I just wanted to help you wash the bowls..."

Gu Mengmeng looked at the cutlery that had long fell on the ground and turned around, saying, "Since you like washing them so much, go on and wash them. This is the last time. I won't eat the food that you make in the future."

After Gu Mengmeng finished speaking, she turned back into the cave to find Elvis.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng's back figure, Lea suddenly lost all energy and dropped down cross-legged on the ground. He hugged onto his own tail and sighed after staying silent for a long time, saying, "Looks like you've fallen into disfavor too. She used to like you so much but now, she's not even willing to look at you again. It's me... I've implicated you."

And on the other side, Gu Mengmeng huddled up in Elvis's arms, burying her head into his chest. She started sobbing secretly, pulling onto Elvis's ears with one hand but in the end, she did not bear to exert too much strength and could only grumble while crying, "Why are you not waking up yet? I really really need you now... why aren't you waking up to accompany me..."

Chapter 245 - Because You Made Her Cry Again

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis furrowed his brows tightly and clenched his fists before slowly releasing them.

He accompanied Gu Mengmeng just like that in silence until she grew tired of crying and slept soundly next to him.

How many more times was he going to see her crying for Lea? Pretending to stay quiet like that was the greatest forbearance he could do, was he still going to ask her to take Lea as a partner too?

In the past, he could suppress his heart ache to say those kind of words. However now... he was after all selfish. After tasting the 'only' Gu Mengmeng entrusted to him, who else was willing to break it? ‘

He was not afraid of the extreme danger in the Beast World, for Gu Mengmeng, he could shake both heaven and earth and become both a god and a demon. As long as she could be entirely protected from evil, he was willing to go all out at any price.

But, he was afraid of her tears, he could not bear seeing her force herself to give Lea up because of him despite her clearly liking Lea so much.

As long as she could become cheerful again, he was willing to take Lea in, he could definitely do it...

But why, why was Xiao Meng crying in his arms, searching for his warmth and support?

Elvis opened his eyes slowly and covered Gu Mengmeng up with the beast skin. Then, he left her and walked to the room closest to the outside.

Lea was still sitting there, looking at his tail blankly. Elvis did not bother saying anything else and just landed a punch on Lea's face. Lea did not resist either as he was sent flying in the air before hitting the wall and sliding down to the ground.

He wiped the corner of his mouth and looked up at Elvis, asking, "Are you angry because I wasted the opportunity you created or because you're scared that I'll snatch your care after I make up with Mengmeng?"

Elvis stood forward and clutched Lea's neck, staring coldly into his eyes while saying, "I'm angry because you made her cry again."

Lea experienced the feeling of suffocation but he could only smile. He seemed like he did not have an ounce of fear towards running out of oxygen or even towards death.

Elvis suddenly let go and walked into the cave.

Looking at Elvis's back view, Lea was confused, "Are you not killing me? Or throwing me out?"

Elvis did not look back and just said with his back still facing Lea, "I won't do things that will make Xiao Meng sad."

After Elvis finished speaking, he did not stop there a second longer and just headed straight to the inner part of the cave. He started a fire and placed a pot over it to cook some ginger soup. He wanted to whip up a lot of delicious food for Gu Mengmeng like Lea but his talent was limiting him and he really was helpless. As compared to the leftover rice and dishes outside, this only menu that he would not screw up appeared so much more scrubby but this was the best food he could prepare for Gu Mengmeng at the moment.

When Gu Mengmeng woke up, a lot of time had already passed.

When she realized that Elvis had woken up the moment she opened her eyes, she jumped on the spot in joy and pounced into Elvis's arms like a butterfly, hugging onto him with no intention to let him go.

Elvis patted Gu Mengmeng's back gently and said, "Sorry for making you worry."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "Thank the lord for keeping you safe. As long as you're alright, I won't haggle over things."

Elvis felt a warm sensation in his heart and also quite a fair bit of guilt because his feigned unconsciousness made Xiao Meng worried.

What a pity, his difficulties were not worth mentioning.

"The energy I stored in third-level was too strong so when I was promoted, I lost control and fainted after my body couldn't withstand the energy that was sent out. Actually, I'm fine, look, don't I look alright?"

Gu Mengmeng turned Elvis around and around to look at him in detail and after confirming that he did not have any abnormality other than the wound on his back, she then heaved a sigh of relief. Pouncing back into Elvis's arms, she hugged onto his waist and said, "You scared me to death that day. You're always so healthy, why did you suddenly faint? I thought that I was going to become a widow just after getting married."

As Gu Mengmeng whined, she punched Elvis's chest and added, "Don't scare me like this in the future, get it?"

Elvis let her do whatever she wanted to and felt that it was happiness even though he was being hit by her. He nodded his head earnestly and answered, "Alright, I won't scare you in the future again."

Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Elvis while breathing in two deep breaths before suddenly recalling that Lea was still outside. She cleared her throat awkwardly and said, "That... I allowed Lea to stay in our cave."

Elvis did not have the chance to open his mouth yet when Gu Mengmeng sat up straight, like a spring that was being pressed onto, and looked straight into Elvis's eyes. She continued to explain in a flurry, "Don't misunderstand, it's not what you're thinking of."

Elvis was slightly taken aback as he chuckled while asking, "What is it that I'm thinking of?"

Gu Mengmeng choked as she pursed her lips, saying, “No matter what you’re thinking of, it’s not what you’re thinking of.”

“Oh,” Elvis nodded his head while smiling, implying that he got it.

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’s hand and said seriously, “That day, you were unconscious and covered in blood. I was scared to my wits and was so worried that you would not wake up but I was also scared that those strange fellows would return so I was extremely helpless. And at that time, Lea appeared at the entrance. He promised that he would treat you on the condition of staying in our cave until next spring. Since I don’t have any reason to ask him to bear the risk while running to and fro in the wind and snow for us, I agreed. It’s just like that, really, nothing else.”

“I always believe Xiao Meng’s words.” Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s hand and patted her uneasy face gently.

She did not know how guilty she looked right now. Although she was clearly just stating facts, she was unable to appear natural and right.

Gu Mengmeng asked in utmost cautiousness, “You’re... not angry?”

Elvis asked her back instead, “Why should I get angry?”

Gu Mengmeng fiddled with her fingers and replied, “Because... I acted on my own and let Lea enter our cave.”

Elvis felt a warmth sensation in his heart and smiled, “We have already mated so strictly speaking, this cave is yours. You can let anyone enter or get out of the cave as you wish. Nobody has the right to doubt your decision, even if it’s me.”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head to ask, “Who says you can’t? We are spending our life together so we have to discuss matters. If you don’t feel comfortable, you can just say it out loud. Letting others stay in our home is my fault. If it’s me, I’ll definitely feel uncomfortable. I can understand if you’re angry but can you don’t stay angry for too long? It’s really a special case then...”

Elvis held onto Gu Mengmeng's shoulders and stared right into her eyes, saying, "I'm not angry, I'm really not."

This time, Gu Mengmeng was the one who was confused. She tilted her head and asked Elvis, "I let my ex-boyfriend stay at our home and it's when you're still unconscious... you're not even angry at this? Are you not afraid that he's the next-door Uncle Wang (cuckold)?"

"Next-door... Uncle Wang?" Elvis did not understand. He was certainly sure that there was only his cave in his territory, next door... sounds like a cave used to put dried preserved fish, so another name for dried preserved fish is next-door Uncle Wang? But why should he be afraid of it? And even if Lea was preserved, he was also a preserved fox, why did he become a dried preserved fish? Don't understand... don't understand...

Chapter 247 - Hubby, Come Over.

Gu Mengmeng rolled up her sleeves and grunted in indignation, “I ask you, if I couldn’t control myself when you were unconscious and pounce on Lea, what would you do? Are you not at least a little worried?”

Elvis thought for a moment and shook his head, answering seriously, “If you want to take him in as your partner, I’ll definitely support you. You don’t have to worry that we won’t get along well because we’ve gotten used to this kind of life a long time ago so... if you like him...”

“Wait!” Gu Mengmeng raised her head and gestured a ‘stop,’ signal. Frowning, she looked at Elvis, asking him, “You said that both of you had gotten used to ‘this kind of life’ a long time ago, what kind of life is it?”

Elvis could faintly hear Lea’s frantic and speedy footsteps towards them. The many years of common consensus made him understand deeply that he... was stuck in some dead serious crisis.

Elvis was clear that under the situation of the enemy hiding in the dark while he himself was out in the open, and even under this circumstance of a great disparity in strength, acting carelessly was not a wise choice. Thus, he slowly stepped one small step behind him, then another step while still looking at Gu Mengmeng intently, not blinking at all.

Lea slammed his brakes just at the entrance of the cave before panting two breaths to not appear alarmed or bewildered. Then, he walked into the cave and put on a casual and indifferent front, saying, “Mengmeng, you still had not done two of the conditions you promised me.”

The corners of Gu Mengmeng’s lips curved upwards and she gave a cold laugh, “You’re saving the show, aren’t you? So, ‘this kind of life’ is what you two had been rehearsing and putting together all this while, huh?”

Lea gave a glance at Elvis who was still at a loss and did not know what mistake he made. Pitying his misfortune and condemning his resignation with deep hatred and resentment, he breathed in deeply before smiling, “How could we have rehearsed this before? It’s just because Elvis’s the tribe leader and I’m the witch doctor, that’s why we spent more time together and naturally formed a suitable partnership that had good teamwork.”

Gu Mengmeng stuck out a finger and gestured a ‘shh’ hand signal before pointing at Elvis and hooking her finger, saying, “Hubby, come over.”

From his own instincts, Elvis felt that it might be dangerous, but it was Xiao Meng who was calling him, how could he not go over? Thus, he summoned up all his courage and walked to Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng grinned cheekily while touching Elvis’s face. Then... she abruptly pulled his ear up and shouted, “All of you are thousand-year foxes, what strange tales are you trying to cook up in front of me? Hurry and come clean, what exactly was ‘this kind of life’?”

Lea looked at Elvis’s ear that was being pulled up and winced in pain. He covered his own ears out of instincts and could feel the pain even from a distance.

Elvis tilted his head and turned his face following Gu Mengmeng’s strength. He bared his teeth in agony and cried, “Xiao Meng, Xiao Meng, don’t be angry. I’ll say alright, I’ll say!”

Gu Mengmeng then let him go and dusted her hands before wrapping her arms in front of her chest. Hugging her shoulders and straightening her neck, she looked at Elvis and commanded, “Say!”

Elvis was scared that Gu Mengmeng would get angry again, so he said while covering his ears, “Lea said that according to records, we have a high chance of getting a messenger of the Beast Deity. To keep the messenger of the Beast Deity in the tribe and to protect her well, the best way was for us to mate with her. That’s why we lived so many years of our lives together so that we can train our teamwork and coordination abilities in order to take better care of you after we mate...”

Gu Mengmeng raised her hand and cut short Elvis’s words. Raising her brow at Elvis, she said with a smile that deflated morale, “When both of you were training, do you know that the messenger of the Beast Deity was me?”

Elvis nodded his head honestly and replied, “Yeah, we don’t know.”

Lea stood behind them and really wanted to paw him to death.

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders and laughed, sitting on the ground softly without any energy. She raised her head at Elvis and the next moment, tears welled up in her eyes.

Elvis was stunned and he immediately went forward to hug Gu Mengmeng, “What’s wrong? Why did you suddenly cry? If you’re angry, you can pull my ears. I promise you, I won’t dodge, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng pushed Elvis away with all her might and pointed at his nose, asking, “Say, do you like me or my identity as a messenger of the Beast Deity?”

Elvis answered with a confused expression, “You’re the messenger of the Beast Deity.”

Gu Mengmeng stomped both her feet and retorted, “What if I wasn’t? What if the real messenger of the Beast Deity arrives clad in unicorn-scaled armor treading on seven-colored clouds? Will you not want me and not treat me well anymore? Sob sob sob... Elvis, you actually don’t love me right? You just mated with me because you think that I’m the messenger of the Beast Deity, right?”

Elvis was completely dumbfounded. He tilted his head to look at Lea who was preparing to sneak away quietly, calling him out, “Go and explain to Xiao Meng, tell her, she’s the messenger of the Beast Deity.”

Lea sighed and patted Elvis's shoulder, saying, "Elvis, you really deserve it."

Elvis completely did not understand how did things develop to this step, wasn't it originally all fine? Under normal circumstances, when the First Partner magnanimously welcomed new members to join them, shouldn't females feel happy? Why did his Xiao Meng suddenly start crying? Who can tell him what exactly is happening!

Lea stepped two steps forward to reach Gu Mengmeng. He used one hand to hold onto Gu Mengmeng's hand that she was using to point at Elvis and pressed it down. With his other hand, he gently wiped away Gu Mengmeng's tears and with his all-along tender smile, he looked at Gu Mengmeng and said, "You cried so easily for another male. This makes me very jealous."

Gu Mengmeng swung her arm and swatted Lea's hand away, growling, "Why are you, someone who's just lodging at our house, cutting in when a couple is quarreling?"

Lea was taken aback and his face darkened. Breathing in deeply, he held Gu Mengmeng's hand once again and said with a straight face, "I'll tell you everything you wish to know. But you have to cool down first, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng wiped her tears away harshly and sent an eye-signal to Elvis. Elvis then sat behind Gu Mengmeng obediently before pulling onto the corner of her dress in utmost cautiousness. He pushed the blame to Lea, "It's all Lea's idea. He can definitely explain it clearly. Don't be angry first and listen to him, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng gave Elvis a 'I'll deal with you later' expression and turned her head to look at Lea, saying, "Say, what exactly is going on?"

Looking at Elvis and Gu Mengmeng's interaction, Lea's heart felt like a tsunami was brewing. However, on the surface, he still spoke with a calm and peaceful expression, "You saw Dumbo before, so you should know that I used to be the Ninth Highness of Sauder tribe and that Sauder is the messengers tribe of the last messenger of the Beast Deity. Although the last messenger of the Beast Deity had passed away for close to a thousand years, Sauder still plays a decisive role in the Beast World. Do you know why?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, not having any intention to guess. She did not want to use her brain, all she wanted was to know the answer as soon as possible.

“That’s because the last messenger of the Beast Deity said this before she passed away, ‘A thousand years later, a messenger will arrive in Sauder once again to complete the unfinished mission.’ Everyone was fearful about these last words and nobody dared to become enemies with a tribe specialized in serving messengers of the Beast Deity so Sauder has a more prestigious name in the Beast World, called the ‘messengers tribe’. But, being a prince, I know a version that commoners don’t know of, that is in the last words of the messenger, she did not mention Sauder at all. The last words she left were, “A thousand years later, a messenger will arrive once again to complete the unfinished mission.””

Chapter 249 - Some Reason

Gu Mengmeng frowned impatiently, raising her chin and said, “Get to the main point, what has this got to do with me? And what has this got to do with you and Elvis committing adultery like a wolf and a jackal?”

Lea looked at Elvis then looked at Gu Mengmeng and swung his fluffy large tail before saying seriously, “I’m a fox, not a jackal and Elvis and I did not....commit adultery.”

Gu Mengmeng almost lost it. She coughed to cover up with her bulging intention to laugh and hit her thigh, saying, “Don’t talk about these useless stuff, hurry and say the main point.”

Lea knew that Gu Mengmeng’s anger had subsided from his joke and at least she was not crying anymore. Thus, his mood calmed down quite a lot and he continued explaining.

“Due to some reason, I was banished by Sauder and nobody dared to take me in by taking the risk of offending the messengers tribe so I led a life that couldn’t even be compared to stray beasts. When I almost died of hunger, Elvis saved me and brought me back to Saint Nazaire.”

When Lea talked about this, he paused slightly for a moment and looked at Elvis who was sitting behind Gu Mengmeng cowardly. It was really difficult to put this wolf back to his initial impression. After living together for so many years, he had seen almost all of Elvis’s brutality, savageness, and even his utterly sorry look but he had never seen... and did not even dare to imagine until today that Elvis would be this cautious and helpless.

This look appeared as if a generation had passed.

Lea tidied up his own emotions and continued, “Saint Nazaire is the only place in the Beast World that I can continue surviving so no matter what, I have to defend and flourish this place so that we can become a presence that exceeds Sauder. Only this way can I get rid of the shackles they fixed on me and acquire real freedom. And to exceed the messengers tribe, the only method was to let Saint Nazaire become the new messengers of the Beast Deity tribe in order to let Sauder's glory completely become a legendary story, just a story."

Gu Mengmeng did not interrupt Lea because she knew that the causal mention of 'some reason' must be a heavy topic or else why would a highly respected prince be reduced to getting banished from his own tribe? Gu Mengmeng's mind immediately surfaced a palace drama of the Qing dynasty, named 'Nine Wins Tomorrow' and she started to feel anxious too. She started to be more absorbed in Lea's explanation.

Lea was not aware of Gu Mengmeng's internal activity. He was just naturally glad to see her being willing to hear him, after all... she was not willing to talk to him anymore.

Slitting his wound open was very painful, especially a wound that was hurt twice.

But if this was the only way to get closer to her, Lea was willing to tear open that festered scar to showcase his own bloody flesh.

"I deduced the records I've seen before in Sauder and know that the arrival of the messenger of the Beast Deity will appear randomly in one of the five elements of Metal, Wood, Water, Fire and Earth. The last messenger of the Beast Deity came out from the Fire so I eliminated Fire from the choices this time round. I was responsible for observing Metal and Wood while Elvis was responsible for Water and Earth. The lake you appeared in was the venue I deduced for Water. That is why Elvis and I strongly believe from the beginning that you're the messenger of the Beast Deity."

Gu Mengmeng frowned, a question forming in her mind but she also felt that it was rude to interrupt someone else's story. Thus, she suppressed the curiosity in her heart and maintained a struggling expression.

Lea looked as if he saw through Gu Mengmeng's thoughts and said, "Just ask what you want to know."

Chapter 250 - Other Than You, The Rest Are Illiterate?

Since Lea opened his mouth to ask her on his own, Gu Mengmeng obviously was not standing on ceremony anymore. She touched her chin and asked with a doubtful expression, “Since you can deduce the five venues from the records, why did the people in Sauder still keep it a secret from the entire world how to find the messenger of the Beast Deity? Why didn’t they just stay and wait at those venues?”

Lea chuckled, then tapped Gu Mengmeng’s head and said, “Do you think that anyone can understand what’s in those ancient books?”

Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes, asking, “Huh? In Sauder, other than you, the rest are illiterate and can’t read at all?”

Lea shook his head and said, “We don’t have to learn to read the words in those ancient books because since we were born, our respective Fathers will teach us everything, one sentence by one sentence. Everyone in Sauder’s royal family has memorized the content in the ancient books thoroughly. However, knowing it doesn’t equal to understanding it, and understanding it doesn’t equal to utilizing it.”

Gu Mengmeng still could not understand but she did not know where to start asking from.

Lea tidied his own emotions slightly and then used a method that Gu Mengmeng could better understand him to explain, “When the last leader of Sauder was still on the throne, my father was the tribe’s witch doctor. He knew everything about prayers, healing and all the deduction methods written in the ancient books. And he, only taught me because if nothing happens, I’ll carry on his legacy as the next witch doctor. I would have gone with the message the last messenger of the Beast Deity left and welcome the new messenger to Sauder to allow the history distorted by the tribe leader a thousand years ago to turn true. But accidents... always catch us off guard. I, the only one who can deduce the content, was banished out of Sauder and nobody in the entire tribe knows how the new messenger of the Beast Deity would arrive. The only way was for them to search all over the place, just like searching for a specified tree leaf in the vast and immense forest- it just proves to be futile, eventually.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, not fully understanding Lea but at least she accepted his explanation. Although Lea obviously described many details in ambiguity, everyone had secrets they did not wish to tell others. Some past were like undergarments, even if it was worn on our bodies, we would still be unwilling to show it to others.

Out of respect, Gu Mengmeng did not insist on knowing more details and just waited for Lea to continue talking.

Lea was very grateful for Gu Mengmeng’s consideration as this allowed him to have a tiny space to breathe. Lea breathed in deeply and then continued, “The arrival of the messenger is not a small matter and it can’t be hidden for an entire lifetime. So, before you came, Elvis and I had a plan to... improve our teamwork and upgrade our skills, working together to become the best partners. When the messenger of the Beast Deity arrives, we’ll devote our loyalty to her and Elvis will become her First Partner while I’ll stay as a family member in the messenger’s family to assist Elvis by protecting her and... keeping her in Saint Nazaire.”

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback and she lowered her head slowly. She straightened her body and distanced herself from Elvis’s chest.

Despite the fire still going strong in the cave, Gu Mengmeng could feel a freezing sense of chill. She did not look into anyone’s eyes and just said plainly, “So, from the start, both of you... had a motive when you two got closer to me, right?”

Elvis was shocked and he finally realized what trouble his ‘this kind of life’ which he blurted out had caused. He wanted to salvage the situation, but he realized that he did not even have any confidence to say a simple word of 'no'.

When he entered the deep part of the cave to the lake initially... wasn't he aiming for the identity of the 'messenger of the Beast Deity' from the start?

Chapter 251 - Believe Me, Alright?

“If we had a motive for getting closer to you at the start, are all our real intentions after that going to be denied?” Lea did not answer Gu Mengmeng’s words and asked her instead, “The reason why the snow fox tribe has the favor of the last messenger was because of our secret Fox Seductive Fragrance but once it’s used, the person smelling the fragrance will sink into a gorgeous fantasy and this adds a lot of marvelous delight to the joyous event. Nobody in this world has ever resisted the smell of the Fox Seductive Fragrance, even the messenger of the Beast Deity herself was deluded by it. Originally, I could have used The Fox Seductive Fragrance before you mature into adulthood to mate with you when you aren’t in your right mind. When you wake up, you’ll only remember a joyous scene and not any other abnormality.”

Gu Mengmeng’s eyes widened and she leaned backwards in defense. This lean made her return back into Elvis’s embrace.

Lea maintained that light smile all along and did not seem to notice Gu Mengmeng’s defensive look as he continued, “This should have been the most simple and efficient method but... Elvis did not agree. He said that he didn’t want to force you when you weren’t willing to, he wanted to wait for you to say ‘I do’.”

Gu Mengmeng turned back and saw Elvis furrowing his brows. She felt an indescribable complicated emotion in her heart.

She knew that Elvis got together with her because she’s the messenger of the Beast Deity and this kind of love blemish made her struggle miserably.

But Lea was not wrong either. Standing in Elvis’s shoes, not stopping Lea from using the Fox Seductive Fragrance was the correct choice but for her ‘I do’, he actually rejected something that he could easily achieve.

Could she say that Elvis doesn't love her? If Elvis just wanted to get the messenger of the Beast Deity, why did he reject Lea's suggestion? Why did he want to wait for her 'I do'?

Lea gave Gu Mengmeng enough time to think over things before he opened his mouth slowly to continue talking, "If he just wanted you to stay in Saint Nazaire, back then... with our development, we would have mated sooner or later. If he doesn't love you, why would he..."

"That's enough," Elvis prevented Lea from continuing and just hugged Gu Mengmeng into his arms. He sighed and said, "Xiao Meng, it's true that I went to the lake and met you to welcome the messenger of the Beast Deity; but, my regards and feelings towards you are true too. Believe me, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng looked up and saw that in Elvis's blue eyes, the deep affection had never changed but Gu Mengmeng did not dare to believe what she was seeing.

She asked in a neutral tone, "Other than the things both of you said to me just now, are there any other things that... you two are hiding from me?"

Elvis pressed his thin lips into a straight line and met eyes with Gu Mengmeng. Looking into her doubtful and suspecting eyes, he did not want to explain even a word.

Gu Mengmeng twisted her body in an attempt to escape from Elvis's embrace. She spoke softly, "That's enough. If you don't wish to tell me everything, what position are you in to expect me to believe you?"

"Tell her," Lea's voice rang from behind Gu Mengmeng, his tone filled with helplessness and despair. Although it was just his voice, Gu Mengmeng could hear a sense of misery, "Anyway, she already hates me enough. There's no difference from knowing anything more or anything less. It's not worth to create any further misunderstandings because of me."

Elvis looked at Lea and he knew what Lea meant was to push all the blame to himself so that Elvis could maintain a pure image in Gu Mengmeng's heart.

However...

He did not want to lie to Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis remained silent for a while and finally opened his mouth.

“Actually, the reason why Lea appeared at Nina's house previously was because he lost to me in a battle. He didn't betray you, I was the one who forced him to leave.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned, asking, “What do you mean?”

Elvis used a low and slow voice to explain, “That time, you said that you can only have one partner and you wanted to leave my cave to stay in Lea's cave. I knew that if I let you go, I'll lose you forever, after all... I can't win your favor as much as Lea. If you left, I won't have the chance to protect you anymore. I can tolerate you having a lot of partners and can also tolerate you not liking me, not caring for me, and even... not remembering me but I can't lose the right to even defend you. So, I went to find Lea for a battle that day and the loser had to leave you. Lea could not defeat me so...”

“It's not defeat, I just didn't use my entire strength.” Lea interrupted Elvis and continued, “That time, Elvis had not promoted yet and we were both at the peak of third-level. You battle with experience while I battle with my brain. With my understanding towards you, devising against you wasn't a difficult thing to do. It's just that I have to pay a high cost and the ending would definitely be great losses on both sides. From your desperate stance of putting up a fight back then, unless I die or you lose, this matter would definitely not end. So, my decision was... to lose.”

Gu Mengmeng closed her eyes and slowly opened them again. She looked at Lea and then at Elvis before swinging her arm to land a slap on Elvis’s face. Then, she asked calmly, “What are you treating me as? A trophy that belongs to the person who has the harder fists? What if the intruders were not the stray beasts but people that are stronger than you? Were you going to let them take me away?”

Elvis shook his head and said firmly, “Unless I die or else nobody can snatch you away.”

Gu Mengmeng used a finger to poke Elvis’s stomach and said, “I have my own train of thoughts. I’m a person, I won’t become a prize that any of you can fight over through battles. I mate with you because I love you and not because you’re strong!”

Elvis nodded his head and pulled Gu Mengmeng into his arms. He said with a hoarse voice, “Xiao Meng, I know my mistake, I really really know I’m wrong. Don’t be angry, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng let out a long breath and asked with a cold expression, “Know your mistake? Say, what’s your mistake?”

Elvis looked like a little student that was facing his parents after being called back to speak alone with the teacher after the parents-teachers meeting as he said on tenterhooks, “I... shouldn’t have sought Lea out for a battle, I won’t battle with him again.”

Gu Mengmeng said, with still a cold expression, “And what else?”

Elvis threw an SOS gaze to Lea but only got Lea’s envious look back.

If Mengmeng could interrogate him like that, how nice would it be... what a pity, he had already lost his right.

Elvis did not get Lea's rescue and the bottomless pit in his heart grew deeper. Thus, he looked at Gu Mengmeng in utmost cautiousness and said, "Although... I don't know where I made a mistake in, seeing how you're so angry, it must be my mistake. How about you telling me where my mistake lies? I'll definitely change it in the future."

Chapter 253 - What A Waste Of Energy

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was so appeased by Elvis till her anger subsided and she smiled through her tears, poking his forehead harshly. She slowly started talking, “Firstly, don’t use me as a wager when you’re betting with others, including but not limiting to battles, understand?”

Elvis immediately nodded his head and said, “Understood.” Then, he shook his head frantically and said, “No no.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned, growling, “Why not?”

Elvis explained, “When males in the Beast World pursue females, they’ve to challenge their partners to a battle and they’ve to win their partners to be given the right to pursue the females. You’re so beautiful so you’ll definitely have a lot of pursuers in the future. If I don’t accept the challenge, I will be acknowledging them to pursue you. I can’t do that, no no.”

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed, did a physical-education teacher instill these love values in the Beast World? Why the hell were they so simple and crude? Defeating someone else’s husband implied that they could pursue others’ wives? Did they think that they’re bandits?!

Gu Mengmeng said, “You all are sure that I’m the messenger of the Beast Deity, right?”

Elvis and Lea nodded their heads together.

Gu Mengmeng added, “The messenger of the Beast Deity can set rules in the Beast World, right?”

Elvis and Lea glanced at each other and nodded their head after reaching a common consensus in silence.

Gu Mengmeng continued, “From this moment onwards, we have to change the rule of males professing their love to females. When pursuing a female, the male has to first express his love to her and if the female takes a fancy for him, she will then send her own male to battle with that pursuer to judge his actual strength before deciding whether to accept the love from the pursuer. Damn it, if the female doesn’t even take a fancy for the male, what is the male battling her partner for? Even if his head was swollen until it looks like a pig head from the battle, the female would not even bat an eye, what a waste of energy.”

Elvis looked at Lea and Lea looked at Elvis, both of them not saying a word. After all, this method of expressing their love had lasted for more than a thousand years, changing it... was not the work of a single day.

Gu Mengmeng saw through their worry and she patted Elvis’s shoulder, saying, “Leave others to do what they want. But for me, this will be the rule. Damn it, if they want to hit my husband, shouldn’t they ask for my opinion first? For someone’s sake, can they please look at the owner when hitting her Siberian husky?”

Elvis felt that there was nothing wrong with her words so he nodded his head earnestly and said, “Alright, I’ll only battle with the males you take a fancy for in the future. If he can defeat me, I’ll not stop him from pursuing you.”

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis’s shoulders, feeling gratified as if she finally persuaded a husky from tearing down the entire house.

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng did not look that angry anymore, Elvis felt that his answer was not that bad after all so he decided to continue his victorious pursuit and ask everything when Gu Mengmeng was still in a good mood. Thus, he cleared his throat and asked, “What... is a husky?”

Lea landed a slap on his own forehead, was this low IQ fellow in front of him really Elvis? Was his image as a wise and courageous, calm and powerful, mighty tribe leader going to collapse like that? Although he was not skilled in manipulating someone's heart, when battling with external enemies, despite the enemy being hard to defeat, he was not that dumb to run after the enemy who has surrendered to ask, "Hey, why aren't you hitting me?"

Lea sighed deeply and thought to himself, "Mighty tribe leader, have you not realize that the person in front of you... is an enemy you can't defeat? Why are you treating yourself like this?"

Chapter 254 - It's Related, Very Related.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng had her back facing Lea and she completely did not know what Lea was thinking about. She was just very satisfied that Elvis did not attempt to slip away and sweeten her.

Yeah yeah, his attitude was still very proper~

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng's expression became much more genial and she held Elvis's hand in hers gently, talking in a slightly blaming tone, "Secondly, don't you dare say that it's alright even if I don't like you, don't care for you and even not remember you. We're a married couple, a whole being who share the same fate of going through thick and thin together. We're bound together for good or ill and are like birds of the same feather. We're going to support each other till old age and spend our entire lifetime together. How is that not related? It's related, very related."

Elvis allowed Gu Mengmeng to poke his palm with her hand. Her little finger felt like it was coated with yellow gravy and that sweet taste stabbed straight into his heart.

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng's hand firmly and pulled her into his arms, answering her tenderly, "Alright, I'll remember. I won't say those words in the future anymore."

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head in satisfaction and then said, "And thirdly..."

"Yeah," Elvis nodded his head, waiting for her to continue.

However, Gu Mengmeng hesitated and contemplated for quite some time before opening her mouth slowly to say, "If... if I'm not the messenger of the Beast Deity, you can't abandon me."

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng's forehead and said, "Fool, my stamp is already burned on your collarbone. I'll definitely not abandon you forever. If you're not the messenger of the Beast Deity, I'll have to thank the Beast Deity. That way, I can hide you in Saint Nazaire for an entire lifetime and you need not face the chaos outside too."

Hearing this, Gu Mengmeng then truly let go and she tapped Elvis's chest, saying, "What a good-for-nothing, isn't it good for your wife to be the messenger of the Beast Deity? That is a position everyone wants to be in because they can get whatever they want, how majestic-looking."

However, Elvis did not regard it as right as he said in melancholy, "But you said before that another name for supremacy is called loneliness. You'll be afraid of your son extending his sharp claws at you some day and your partner might clutch your neck one night suddenly..."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and she looked up at Elvis, "If you want to be one, just one sentence from you and I'll pass this position of messenger of the Beast Deity to you, you don't have to clutch my neck."

Elvis tapped her delicate nose and said, "Clutching your neck is like clutching my own throat, I'll definitely not do such a dumb thing."

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and felt that he made sense so she broke into laughter and huddled closer to Elvis till they formed a ball of fluff.

Lea slowly stood up and exited. Everything in this room was very radiant and warm but there's... no place for him here.

Between Gu Mengmeng and Elvis, not even the slightest gap existed for him to stay.

Lea could not help but ponder whether Elvis felt the same when Gu Mengmeng and him were whispering sweet nothings to each other previously.

Lea disappeared in the darkness of the cave and it was just a distance of a wall but he could hear Gu Mengmeng's laughter clearly but it made him feel colder.

Lea took a beast skin from the pile at one side. He remembered that he chose them himself one piece by one piece and handed them to Elvis before winter. He was anticipating how these beast skins could keep Gu Mengmeng warm during the freezing winter.

But he didn't know, can this beast skin... warm him too?

Lea placed the beast skin over him and leaned against the wall, looking at the direction where Gu Mengmeng's voice came from. He tried to lift the corners of his lips and tell himself, "At least, she's laughing now, this is good, this is good..."

Chapter 255 - Why Are You Sleeping On My Bed?

Chapter 255: Why Are You Sleeping On My Bed?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The next few days, a strange harmony lingered among the three of them.

Everything was like in the past between Lea and Elvis as they presented all kinds of good teamwork. Gu Mengmeng, however, felt that she was a third-party interfering in a gay couple's relationship.

For instance, when Gu Mengmeng opened her eyes in the morning, she realized that she was hugging beast-form Lea while cuddled up in Elvis's arms. Screaming, she kicked Lea to the ground in horror and then see how Lea slowly crawled up from the ground with his butt still on the ground and one hand rubbing his eyes while the other supporting the side of the bed. He was just staring at Gu Mengmeng with half-opened eyes and his fluffy large tail was swinging behind him, resembling a Samoyed that was being abandoned by its owner.

"You... you you you... why are you sleeping on my bed?" Gu Mengmeng grabbed the beast skin and hugged it in front of her while interrogating him in fury.

Lea shrugged his shoulders innocently and said, "It's too cold so I came in to sleep."

Elvis was also awakened by all the noise and he wrapped his arms around Gu Mengmeng from behind her, talking in a unique morning husky voice and lazy tone, "I allowed him to come in, his fur is a lot softer than other beasts'. I guess it's more comfortable for you to hug it."

Question marks were written all over Gu Mengmeng's face and she turned her head to look at Elvis, thinking to herself, "Brother, you have such a big heart."

Lea took advantage of this opportunity to climb back onto the bed and used his large tail to cover Gu Mengmeng like a blanket, squeezing the two of them into Elvis's embrace. Lea closed his eyes and said, looking like he had not slept enough, "I'm too tired from yesterday, let's sleep some more..."

F! Gu Mengmeng felt ten thousand beasts galloping in her heart, why the heck did Lea's words sound as if there's an adultery affair going on?!

Gu Mengmeng pushed Lea's large tail away and turned herself over to ride on Elvis's waist. Putting her two hands on his chest, she asked, "When I was sleeping yesterday, what... did you do with him?!"

Elvis hugged onto Gu Mengmeng's slim waist and slightly turned himself over to place her back between Lea and himself. Placing his big hand on Gu Mengmeng's waist, he said in a lazy tone, "Let's sleep a while more, I'll tell you when we wake up."

In common consensus, Lea covered Gu Mengmeng's body with his tail again and Gu Mengmeng was forced to stay stuck between the both of them, hearing stable breathing from both sides.

What the heck, these two idiots actually really slept!

Gu Mengmeng glared in anxiety and her mind surfaced countless scenes of Elvis and Lea going indescribable stuff. She clearly remembered that she thought Elvis and Lea were a couple at the start...

F, the few years before I came, these two... did they... dang!

With much difficulty, she finally waited for these two idiots to finish sleeping and they gave Gu Mengmeng a peck each, as if they discussed it between themselves before. Then, Lea climbed down from the bed to the room closest to the entrance to boil some snow water in order for Gu Mengmeng to wash up and cook. On the other hand, Elvis carried Gu

Mengmeng into the deeper part of the room to take some new clothes for her to change.

With her mind clouded with worries, Gu Mengmeng pulled onto Elvis and asked for half a day, what exactly did you two do last night?!

Elvis then faintly replied, “You grew chubbier than before so the clothes we made previously don’t fit you anymore. Both of us altered the size for the entire night and we placed those clothes that we can’t alter aside while we found new beast skins to make new clothes for you. After working hard for the entire night, here, the clothes you’re wearing now is newly made from last night and it’s just nice. So beautiful.”

Gu Mengmeng heard a main point from Elvis's words and she raised her brow while asking, "What did you say just now? Repeat it again."

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng and repeated seriously, "So beautiful."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "The previous sentence."

Elvis thought for a moment and replied, "Just nice."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head again and said, "The first sentence."

Elvis recalled his own words and said, "You grew chubbier than before."

"Ah- – !" Gu Mengmeng's sudden howl gave Elvis a huge scare and he stared at Gu Mengmeng with a confused expression, completely out of state.

Gu Mengmeng smirked darkly and pointed at Elvis, instructing, "I give you three seconds to run away. If you're still caught by me, you're dead!"

Elvis frowned, saying, "Xiao Meng, you didn't inherit my speed, you can't catch up to me."

Upon hearing his words, Gu Mengmeng felt the flame in her heart getting bigger. She pointed at a random direction and shouted, "Three!"

Elvis absurdly felt a chill down his spine and he held onto Gu Mengmeng's shoulders while saying, "Xiao Meng, don't be angry, calm down, calm down."

Gu Mengmeng stuck out two fingers and said, “Two!”

Elvis weirdly felt his two legs wanting to run away, but he did not know what did he say wrong.

Gu Mengmeng stuck out the third finger and hollered at the top of her lungs, “One!”

After she finished counting, Gu Mengmeng started chasing after Elvis around the whole cave, picking up anything on the way and throwing them all at him with all her might. The magical Elvis did not know why Gu Mengmeng was chasing him and also did not know why he started running, neither did he know why Gu Mengmeng looked so angry while feeding him so much food on the way.

Elvis ran in front of her while taking the various food Gu Mengmeng handed to him ‘gently’ until he could not carry anymore in his arms. He then turned back and said, “Xiao Meng, I can’t eat so much food. If I finish all of these, you won’t have enough food to last through the winter.”

“Eat?! I’ll let you eat!” As Gu Mengmeng shouted, she picked a large potato and swung it towards Elvis.

She thought that with Elvis’s skills, he could easily dodge it but who would have known that the clueless idiot would use his mouth to receive it because he had no spare hands left. But human-form Elvis did not have such a big mouth, how could he receive the potato that was as big as a dragon-fruit? In the end, that potato smashed against Elvis’s nose with a bang and a red streak crept down from Elvis’s nostrils.

“Ah!” Gu Mengmeng cried out in alarm and hurriedly rushed over to cup Elvis’s face to look at it in detail. She used her hand to touch Elvis’s nose bridge lightly and seeing how Elvis was gasping cold air in agony, her heart ached and she pulled him to find Lea frantically, blaming him at the same time, “Don’t you know how to dodge when I throw stuff at you? Are you dumb?!”

Elvis did not regard it seriously as he was still hugging onto a pile of preserved fish, preserved meat, sweet potatoes and potatoes, letting Gu Mengmeng pull him outside. Seeing how she was so concerned for him, he answered with a small smile, “Those are all your food. If I dodged, they will smash against the wall and you can’t eat them anymore.”

“Eat eat eat, what do you still want to eat?! Didn’t you say that I grew chubbier? Let’s not eat anymore, I’m going on a diet.” Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis to Lea snappily and glared at Elvis before turning to look at Lea, “That... can I trouble you to look at his nose? Just now... he accidentally... got smashed by a potato.”

Whatever happened between Elvis and Gu Mengmeng just now, Lea heard it all clearly and he also knew why Elvis got smashed by a potato. Looking at the bruise on Elvis's nose bridge, Lea sat down cross-legged and glanced at Gu Mengmeng, saying innocently, "Are you talking to me now?"

Gu Mengmeng knew what Lea meant, but she felt awkward and uncomfortable, especially calling the once special name in front of Elvis. Gu Mengmeng felt that 502 was being applied on her lips but looking at Elvis's swollen nose, she could only suppress her unwillingness and speak quietly, "Daddy Lea, please take a look at Elvis's nose."

Lea dug his ears wickedly, implying that he did not hear her clearly because his ears were not clean enough. Then, he looked up at Gu Mengmeng while sitting in a well-behaved position, "What did you say just now? I didn't hear you clearly."

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and repeated herself at the top of her voice, "Daddy Lea, please take a look at Elvis's nose."

Lea then stood up in satisfaction and walked to Elvis with his arms folded. He leaned his body forward and checked Elvis's nose seriously. After looking for quite some time, he sat back at his original seat and said, "Alright, I'm done looking~"

Gu Mengmeng deeply felt that she was holding back a burst of blood in her chest and was ready to spew it onto Lea's face entirely. But she was the one begging for his help so she reduced her pride and cleared her throat, putting on a smiley face while saying, "Daddy Lea, don't just merely look at it."

You've to treat it. Elvis's the tribe leader of our Saint Nazaire, as a wolf, how can his nose be ruined?"

Lea sat at the spot without moving a single inch as he just said, "I can treat his nose but you've to sing a song for me first."

Gu Mengmeng pulled onto Lea's arm and said, "Treat Elvis first, I'll sing a song after you're done."

Lea let Gu Mengmeng pull and tug onto him but he did not move at all. He said with a wronged face, "That can't do it, you promised me three conditions previously when you wanted me to treat his back and in the end, you only accomplished one condition to let me stay in here. Let alone singing for me, you didn't even acknowledge my presence these few days. If Elvis did not hurt his nose, I don't know when I can hear you call me 'Daddy Lea' again. No no, if you don't sing me a song first, I won't treat him and his nose can continue staying swollen."

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and forced a smile, asking, "Is there any point in doing this?"

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was so unwilling but could not do anything about him, Lea nodded his head seriously.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and took a step back, saying, "You treat Elvis's nose while I sing, deal?"

Lea thought for a moment and said, "Alright."

After Lea finished speaking, he stood up and found some herbal medicine from the beast-skin bag he brought along. Holding it in his hands, he turned back to look at Gu Mengmeng, obviously to imply that if she did not start singing, he would not treat Elvis.

Gu Mengmeng was unable to do anything and thought to herself to just sing for him. Luckily, he did not insist on Gu Mengmeng to sing 'My Little Happiness' because other songs did not give her such a heavy mental load like that song.

After clearing her throat, Gu Mengmeng started singing A-Lin's 'Now, I'm Very Happy' in a soft voice. After she finished singing the line, "You're not like him, he never lets me cry", she changed the original lyrics "However, the more I want to devote myself into, the more I feel unfamiliar. No matter how tightly I embrace, still I could not stop the warmth that was flowing away" to "So I devote myself more, bearing in mind forever, tightly embracing him, giving him all of my true intentions and warmth". This change made a song that was originally recalling the memories of an ex-boyfriend to become a song that was bidding farewell to the ex-boyfriend and cherishing the people in front of her.

Elvis and Lea were facing each other and even though both of them were smiling, they were clearly in different states of mind.

When Lea finished treating Elvis's wound, Gu Mengmeng's song stopped abruptly as well. Pulling Elvis towards her, Gu Mengmeng thanked Lea hurriedly while bringing Elvis back into the cave.

After they returned to the place they stay in, Elvis wrapped his arm around Gu Mengmeng's waist and pulled her in for a hug. Looking devotedly with his blue eyes at Gu Mengmeng, he clamped his thin lips and did not say a single word.

"What's wrong?" Gu Mengmeng look at Elvis, her finger lightly touching his nose. She asked with her heart aching for him, "Does it still hurt?"

Elvis took Gu Mengmeng's hand in his and slid her hand down from his nose to where his heart was. He spoke in a very light voice and when it landed into Gu Mengmeng's ears, it made her heart skip a beat, "Here, its very sore."

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng smiled at Elvis, delight appearing in her eyes.

Elvis was quite embarrassed because the males in the Beast World were not allowed to show any desire to sole possession of the female because their female would hate and diss them. Looking across the Beast World, there was not a single male who could possess a female solely to himself. The last messenger of the Beast Deity even had a family that was almost as big as a tribe.

But his Xiao Meng was different. She would always encourage him to display his real emotions so although Elvis hesitated quite a lot and was very uneasy, he still expressed his true thoughts from the bottom of his heart, “When I heard you singing for him, I felt uncomfortable.”

Gu Mengmeng grinned even wider, thank the lords that this brother still knew how to get jealous, or else she really would have thought that Elvis completely did not care about her.

Gu Mengmeng deliberately teased Elvis and poked his forehead, saying, “You’re uncomfortable when I sing? Which clueless idiot invited the person to my bed?”

Elvis answered her seriously, “I thought you’d like it, so I did it.”

Gu Mengmeng pointed at herself, speechless before asking, “Are the two words ‘dissolute’ and ‘loose’ written on my face?”

Elvis did not know what was dissolute or loose so he could not answer Gu Mengmeng’s question and could only change an answer, “I remembered that you used to like sleeping with our original forms beside you. That way, you can sleep soundly and when you wake up in the morning, your mood will be good and you would roll around on our bodies. I just want you to feel happier that’s why I allowed Lea to sleep with us.”

Gu Mengmeng recalled the morning when she just arrived in the Beast World and then gave a fake laugh.

She was dating Lea at that time, right? She did not feel uncomfortable when Elvis was together with them.

But, today, with Elvis’s and Lea’s roles exchanged, she actually kicked Lea off the ground.

Turns out that from that moment, she held back some of her feelings towards Lea.

Thinking about this, she did not have anything to stand on when blaming Lea.

Gu Mengmeng tidied her expression and clung onto Elvis's arm, leaning against his shoulder and asking, "Then, if I say that my mood will become better after seeing Wu Yan Zu in the morning, will you place him in my blanket?"

Elvis remained silent for a moment and rejected her sternly with principle, "No."

Gu Mengmeng asked, "Why not? Why can you do it with Lea but not Wu Yan Zu?"

Elvis frowned while staring into Gu Mengmeng's eyes, explaining awkwardly, "I don't know Wu Yan Zu and I don't know where to find him."

Gu Mengmeng burst out in laughter upon hearing Elvis's logic and she looked at him helplessly while asking, "Won't you feel uncomfortable letting others sleep with me?"

Elvis frowned, replying her, "Yes."

Gu Mengmeng felt her heart warming up and after cooling down, she asked further, "Since you're uncomfortable, why did you still do it?"

Elvis played with Gu Mengmeng's long hair and said helplessly, "It's a rule on the Beast World that males can't stop females from taking in new partners or else even if he's the First Partner, he would also be abandoned. I don't want to be abandoned by you."

Gu Mengmeng pulled her own collar and exposed her collar bone. That vivid and lifelike territory was arrogantly marked on her collar bone by a black wolf, dominating that part of her.

Gu Mengmeng said, "I won't abandon you, even if you make noise, create chaos or throw your temper, I'll definitely not abandon you. So, you don't have to put up with it, you're clearly upset internally but still squeeze someone else to my bed. I don't like you being put to convenience and rounding things off. My man should be able to hold up the heavens and support the earth heroically."

Elvis's gaze brightened and the corners of his lips were lifted up. Pinching onto Gu Mengmeng's chin gently, he asked, "If Barete come over to please and woo you, can I kick him away?"

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while and find Barete to be quite a pitiful chap but when comparing him to her man's mental health... Gu Mengmeng still decided to sacrifice Barete.

Anyway, he would not get killed. When Barete had enough of the hitting, he would not dare to come again so that was not necessarily a bad thing.

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng nodded her head with pleasure, implying that she agreed.

Elvis smiled even wider and asked again, "If Lea requests for you to sing him a song again, can I kick him away?"

Gu Mengmeng did not know why Elvis was so persistent in her singing, she was not a little vagrant song bird and also was not addicted to singing for a living everyday while enjoying it at the same time. If Elvis could help her block off Lea's 'one song a day' program, Gu Mengmeng would be more than happy to see it happening. After all, singing 'Little Love Song' to her ex-boyfriend in front of her husband everyday gave her a tremendous amount of pressure.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng nodded her head merrily.

Elvis's smile grew even bigger and he squinted his eyes, looking as if he thought of a great move. He carried Gu Mengmeng up horizontally and whispered to her ear, "If Sandy keeps coming over to find you, can I kick Bode away?"

Gu Mengmeng burst out into laughter as she chuckled, "What has Bode got to do with Sandy coming over to find me?"

Elvis shrugged his shoulders in discouragement and said, "Sandy's a female so she can't be hit carelessly. If I hit her to death accidentally, you'll be sad. I don't do things that make you sad."

Because I like you so I must treat your friends well too. This kind of action of loving one thing on account of another was precisely a behavior of him loving you with all his heart.

If it was in the present world, Gu Mengmeng would stay on alert. After all, guarding against fire and guarding against bosom friends was not a joking matter but in the Beast World, this kind of situation would not appear and this let Gu Mengmeng feel incomparably relieved.

She wrapped her arms around Elvis's neck and smiled, "Rather than kicking them away, I have a better suggestion."

Elvis turned his head and upon seeing Gu Mengmeng's playful and witty expression, he waited for her to continue, appreciating her further details.

Gu Mengmeng tidied her expression and said, "When other males try to please and woo me, when Sandy comes and find me and you don't want me to play with her or you feel disturbed and want my company, just say 'Gu Mengmeng, I love you'. That way, I'll run at full speed to your side and not go anywhere, alright?"

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and touched her forehead with his in an affectionate way. With her ear rubbing against his shoulder intimately, he said, “Gu Mengmeng, I love you... Gu Mengmeng, I love you... Gu Mengmeng, I love you...”

Gu Mengmeng reacted to Elvis's tenderness while smiling and whispering to his ear, “Hubby, I love you too.”

At this moment, Elvis felt that only warmth and happiness was left in his life. All the blood, cold and darkness in the past was just like a nightmare and Gu Mengmeng was like a hand that woke him up gently. Her gentleness was what he sought for an entire lifetime.

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng's lips and gently stroke hers with his, tasting the fragrance in her mouth.

The slightly rough finger brushed across the wolf on Gu Mengmeng's collarbone and that marvelous touch was beyond words.

Elvis moved to sit upwards and placed Gu Mengmeng on his abdominal muscles while his large hand was clutching onto Gu Mengmeng's slim waist.

Gu Mengmeng rode on Elvis's stomach and although she had only experienced mating once in her lifetime, it was very magical as by looking into Elvis's eyes, she could actually clearly understand what he wants to do.

Gu Mengmeng threw a light punch on Elvis's chest bashfully and said in a soft voice, “Lea's still outside.”

Elvis held onto her fist and pulled her into his arms. Kissing all over her small face, he then whispered softly into her ear, “It’s alright, he was there the last time too.”

Instantly, Gu Mengmeng’s face was flushed with blood. Her moan was even more horrifying than killing a pig the last time and it’s fine if Elvis was the only one who heard it but even Lea...

Never judge a book by its cover, Lea looked so noble and dignified on the surface but why did he have a special hobby of eavesdropping on others?

Gu Mengmeng punched Elvis’s chest and said, “Why didn’t you remind me the last time?”

Elvis sucked onto Gu Mengmeng’s earlobe and his voice had already become a little hoarse. Clearly, he had entered into the state and did not answer Gu Mengmeng’s question. He just sent warm air to Gu Mengmeng’s earlobe with his hot words as he said in his unique tender and affectionate voice, “Gu Mengmeng, I love you.”

Gu Mengmeng’s ears were very scared of being itchy, especially when Elvis’s hand was getting more and more restless. He was clutching onto her waist to not let her run away with one hand and using his other hand to explore her back one section by one section, igniting a flame on Gu Mengmeng’s back. It felt scorching hot and numb, causing her to not help it but twist her body. However, the more she struggled, the more he was provoked.

“I was afraid of hurting you the last time so I didn’t use my fullest energy. These few days, I worked really hard to hold it in. Xiao Meng, don’t reject me, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng took a peek at Elvis’s size and the pain from the previous time instantly woke up in her memory and then exploded. Gu Mengmeng did not know whether it was just a psychological effect but she could faintly feel the pain from last time.

Blushing, Gu Mengmeng said softly, “You know that our sizes don’t match, I’m still hurting... from the last time.”

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng’s red face and her originally misted eyes were covered with a thick and scarlet layer. His blue eyes became as deep as the sea and when he smirked, it set off fireworks, like when the war lord descended from the skies to taint the world, giving off another style of stirring one’s soul.

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s hand and brought it to his lips to kiss it before trying to appease her in a pampering way, “I didn’t have any experience the previous time so I hurt you. This time... I’ll be gentler.”

Gu Mengmeng wanted to cry but had no tears left, “What’s the use of being gentler? You have to decrease the size of that damn thing.”

Elvis flipped his body and pressed Gu Mengmeng below him. He followed the side of her face and kissed her all the way to her neck. Elvis's words were poured on Gu Mengmeng's skin together with his hot breath, as if every word had a scorching touch, causing one to have a deep longing for.

"Alright, let's make it smaller."

Gu Mengmeng punched Elvis's shoulder and said, "Damn it, who are you trying to trick?"

Elvis smiled and landed a deep kiss on Gu Mengmeng's eye before saying, "Other than me, don't look at other things."

Gu Mengmeng's heart fluttered until it became numb from Elvis's words and she wrapped her arms around his neck, speaking with a shaky voice, "I don't want to look either but I'm scared..."

Upon seeing Gu Mengmeng's pitiful look, Elvis knew that she was truly afraid, so he did not bear to force her in the end since she was scared to her wits. Thus, Elvis, who decided not to continue, pecked Gu Mengmeng's lips and comforted her, "Don't be scared, I won't hurt you."

Gu Mengmeng sobbed, although she was scared, she still chose to believe Elvis.

After all, they had mated and they could not possibly have zero intercourse for an entire lifetime, right? She had to get used to this kind of life...

Elvis gently stroked Gu Mengmeng's thigh to help soothe her emotions and relax her muscles. The rub that was loose and tight at times made Gu Mengmeng's mood slightly better.

She stretched out all her limbs lazily like a cat in comfort, allowing Elvis to fiddle with her.

Elvis hooked his long and strong legs to Gu Mengmeng's, tangling the two of their legs together. The back of his hand followed Gu Mengmeng's waistline before extending to the back of her waist, pulling her into his embrace. After smelling her unique fragrance intimately, a relieved feeling that could not be described in words started spreading across Elvis's entire body.

He felt that this little girl really was lying in his arms and her magnificence, her everything was not his imagination. This was enough to make him sink in happiness.

Elvis's mood seemed tipsy and he looked at Gu Mengmeng with misted eyes, the idea of wanting to see her beg him while crying surfaced in his mind again.

Their stomachs were leaning against each other and Elvis's heat was warming Gu Mengmeng's cold stomach, with every shot of warmth being sent into her body from her belly button. Gu Mengmeng moaned comfortably as she wrapped her arms around Elvis's neck.

What happened next: when the conditions were right, success would come next (omitting countless words) .

Until Gu Mengmeng lied in Elvis's arms softly and slowly fall asleep, Elvis then kissed the hair stuck on her forehead, saying gently, "Don't torment me like that next time, understand? Huh?"

Gu Mengmeng was dead tired and did not hear what Elvis was talking about, she just hummed before sleeping soundly.

Elvis pulled a beast skin over to cover the both of them. Under the beast skin, they interlocked their fingers with one of them sleeping comfortably while the other watching intently. Just like how time had stopped and did not have any effect on them.

Suddenly, Elvis frowned and looked towards the entrance of the cave.

Not long later, Lea indeed walked in with furrowed brows. He did not make a sound as he was scared of waking Gu Mengmeng up so he used his chin to point towards the outside, asking Elvis to have a chat there.

Elvis nodded his head and after covering the beast skin on her properly to make sure that no cold air could get to her and adding two firewood to the fire, he then followed Lea out of the cave.

Elvis did not walk out too far when he felt that the temperature in the cave was not right — the snow sealing the cave was dug open by someone.

Upon noticing it, Elvis put his guard up immediately.

On the contrary, Lea patted his shoulder lightly, implying that he need not worry.

Elvis had absolute trust in Lea and Lea also knew that Gu Mengmeng was in the cave so if there was danger, he definitely would not be so calm.

Thinking about this, Elvis slightly relaxed but still maintained a wary attitude as he followed Lea to the room closest to the entrance.

“The Birds tribe?” Elvis stared at the man outside the cave in doubt. An ill condition lay between his delicate and pretty brows and he appeared weak and sick, not having much energy left. However, his stance supporting himself against the snow and wind was calmer than normal people and his abilities did not look like they would make him collapse at first blow. Elvis noticed the two feathers in his hair from above his ears and they were the special characteristic of the Birds tribe, different from land beast tribes. But, the Birds tribe always boasted about being the owners of the skies and did not have much interaction with the land beast tribes so Nina was able to run wild in Saint Nazaire for so many years because of Quentin. Now, this person from the Birds tribe was sending himself to their doorstep?

Could it be...

Elvis threw a glance at Lea, asking him if he knew anything.

Lea sent an eye signal to Elvis to pacify him. The motive of the Birds tribe was different from the people in Sauder.

Elvis was then relieved and he took a step forward, standing at the boundaries of his cave while calling out, “I’m Elvis, the leader of Saint Nazaire. Why did you come over to my territory?”

That male sized Elvis up and after confirming Elvis’s identity, he then opened his mouth and said, “I’m Eagle-owl tribe’s leader, Ian. I heard... you all have enough storage food. If you’re willing to share some with me and my fellow tribesman to help last us through winter, we’ll join Saint Nazaire and become your tribesman, how about that?”

The addition of the Birds was an extremely big temptation to any tribe, especially ferocious Birds like the Eagle-owl tribe. If they could join them, that would be good news, just like giving wings to a tiger. If it was in the past, he would not hesitate even if he was to give all of his food to the Eagle-owl tribe, but now...

He indeed had storage food, but they were prepared for Xiao Meng. Sacrificing Xiao Meng’s food in exchange for the growth of his tribe... Elvis was not willing to.

“We’ve food but... how much do you need?” Lea was aware of Elvis’s worry but he also knew that this was a rare chance. If they missed this opportunity, it would be very difficult to invite the Birds tribe to join them again.

“We don’t have many members in our Eagle-owl tribe. Including myself, we have a total of 32 males. As long as you all can provide us with ten prey, including the ones we still have... we should be able to last the entire winter.” The terms Ian suggested was actually a whopping price because in winter, let alone ten prey, half a prey was precious enough. Many males had decided to boil themselves up to fill the stomachs of their females, why would they have excess prey? And, now he was asking for ten prey!

Originally, Ian wanted Elvis to bargain the terms with him but he did not expect that Lea would agree to his terms without hesitation while smiling.

“We can give you ten prey and I can also provide a cave for you and your fellow tribesman to rest temporarily. All of you can choose another nest during the rainy season next year. But... how can I ensure that all of you won't turn against us ruthlessly after lasting through winter? After all, if all of you flutter your wings and fly away, we would not be able to do anything too."

Ian looked at Lea and he raised his head with a disdainful expression, “Our Eagle-owl tribe are birds that fly in the skies and are closer to the Beast Deity than you land beasts. We would never make an empty promise.”

Lea did not mind Ian’s disdainful attitude as he took a small bowl that Gu Mengmeng used for meals with nonchalance before scooping water from the pot of water that had not cooled entirely yet. He pushed it to Ian and said, “I’m the witch doctor of Saint Nazaire, snow fox Lea. If you’re truly intending on seeking refuge from us, I’ll represent Saint Nazaire to establish a blood alliance with you. From now onwards, there would be no Eagle-owl tribe on this world and only a stronger Saint Nazaire. How about that?”

Ian’s expression changed. Witch doctor was a holy job that could communicate with the Beast Deity, and he even belonged to the snow fox tribe...

Ian frowned, concluding a blood alliance with this kind of person implied that he was not allowed to go back on it. Now, his one decision would concern the future fate of his entire Eagle-owl tribe. Could Saint Nazaire... really be relied on?

Lea was not at all impatient as he maintained his light smile and said, “If I didn’t get it wrong, the Eagle-owl tribe must have reached the end of the rope already, right? Or else the all-along arrogant Birds tribe would never be willing to give up on their tribe name in search for help. I guess that your fellow tribesman can’t sustain until you find a second tribe that’s willing to share food with all of you... and, in the entire Beast World, there’s no other tribe that has enough food to share with your tribe.”

Ian's worries were clearly spot-on and he frowned even more, closing his lips tightly to not talk again. Foxes were cunning and snow foxes were especially gifted in guessing one's heart. He could not disclose any other information because that would only make him seem more passive in this bargain.

Lea did not mind Ian's defense either as he just continued, "A tribe without a female, what other results would it have other than vanishing subsequently? Joining Saint Nazaire is the most beneficial choice at the moment for all of you. Besides being able to last through this harsh cold, all of you will also be ensured of having enough edible food every winter. If you're lucky enough, you can still mate with a female in our tribe and give birth to cubs. Of course, you can reject us and fly even higher. The tribe leader and I will not be able to stop you and will also not stop you. We're just pitying a tribe for not existing after this winter..."

After Lea finished speaking, he stared at Ian and gave him a pitiful look.

Ian clenched his fists and answered, "We can conclude a blood alliance but I want to sign it with your tribe leader."

Lea raised his brow and chin, saying, "If you don't want to sign, so be it. But don't blame me for not reminding you that if you miss the chance to join us, when other Birds tribes join Saint Nazaire next year, for all of you to come again... it would not be that easy."

Ian looked at Elvis who was standing behind Lea, not talking since the start. He was just standing there quietly and did not even emit any strong pressure but Ian could still clearly feel his strength.

Saint Nazaire?

Ian savored this name and looking at the pair who had outstanding teamwork in front of him, with one in the dark and one in the light. Would this kind of tribe leader and witch doctor be able to bring Eagle-owl tribe to a brighter future?

“Alright, I’ll sign it.” Ian nodded before plucking one of the two feathers behind his ear to hand it to Lea.

Lea used the feather to prick his own finger and drip blood into the bowl. When the blood met the snow water, the mixture gave off a dark rose color. Lea stained the feather with some blood water before poking it between Ian’s eyebrows, drawing a blood-red dot on him. The blood alliance was then established.

Lea arranged for Ian and his fellow tribesman to stay in his own cave. The storage food in there were all scattered meat pieces with their skin and bones removed but at a glance, one would know that these were not only ten prey. It was definitely more than that. Furthermore, there were other herbs as well that Ian's fellow tribesman did not recognize so there was no point in keeping them there. Lea used his beast skin to wrap them up and brought it back to Elvis's cave.

Until Lea finished settling everything and return, Gu Mengmeng just woke up from her dream and was still in a daze. Supporting her waist, she chased Elvis while hobbling all the way.

Elvis ran away at not a fast speed while trying to dodge her so as to ensure that Gu Mengmeng could successfully hit him once in every two to three times. Anyway, it was not painful, so he just treated it as playing with her.

Lea stood at the entrance, looking at the bustling scene in the cave. He thought that he was just smiling faintly but did not know that he could not conceal the envious expression on his face entirely.

Elvis turned around and Gu Mengmeng, who could not halt her steps in time, pounced into his arms. Her whole body went straight into his embrace.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to stretch her hand to pull Elvis's ear but Elvis looked at Lea in a serious manner and said, "Lea, you're back."

Gu Mengmeng retracted her hand that had already extended out halfway and scratched her own head. She poked the side of Elvis's waist with her elbow secretly and whispered, "I'll let you off today."

After she finished speaking, she turned her head and headed towards her room.

Upon seeing Gu Mengmeng excusing herself, Lea looked at Elvis and asked, "What happened to Mengmeng? Why did she hit you again?"

Elvis shook his head helplessly and said, "I don't know either. She was alright at the start but after she asked me whether she gained weight and I said yes, she started chasing me around while hitting me."

Lea looked at Elvis in doubt and said, "You didn't say anything else? So you just said she gained weight and she got angry?"

Elvis nodded his head earnestly.

Lea was at a loss too and he said in uncertainty, "Isn't it a compliment to gain weight during winter? Why is she angry... think about it again, did you do something else?"

Elvis forced himself to recall what he had done for a long time and confirmed that he really did not make other mistakes.

The two males glanced at each other and fell into silence...

At the same time, in the deeper part of the cave, Gu Mengmeng's bulging vein on her forehead kept twitching and she howled after reaching the end of her forbearance, "Can you two talk in a lower volume? I can hear your whole damn conversation!"

Elvis and Lea shuddered and immediately changed the topic stiffly, "That... Ian's fellow tribesman had all settled down. During the rainy season next year, let's introduce them formally to the others in the tribe. Our Saint Nazaire will then have strength in the skies in the future."

Elvis nodded his head and firmly agreed with him, “Do you think that they’re credible?”

Lea nodded his head and replied, “We’ve signed the blood alliance already. They won’t dare to defy the terms.”

As they were talking, Gu Mengmeng stuck out a little head from her room and gestured Elvis to come over.

Elvis thought that Gu Mengmeng wanted to hit him again, so he smiled in connivance, “It’s alright, Lea’s not an outsider. You don’t have to avoid him. If you want to hit me, you can come over to hit me.”

Gu Mengmeng face-palmed and sniffed, “What the hell are you talking about? When did I say I was going to hit you? I’m such a gentle and virtuous person.”

Elvis stretched out his arms and hugged Gu Mengmeng who punched his chest a few times while saying that she was not planning to hit him. He nodded his head in a pampering way and said, “Yeah, my Xiao Meng is the most gentle person in the world.”

Gu Mengmeng accepted Elvis's compliment, feeling justified and contented. As the snow that was sealing the cave had been smashed open, the cave was not sealed properly and a little cold wind kept blowing in. Gu Mengmeng hid deeper in Elvis's arms and found a comfortable position to lie in. Looking up at Elvis, she asked, "What were you two talking about just now? Can I listen?"

Elvis pulled a long beast skin from one side to wrap Gu Mengmeng up. While checking in detail whether any part of her body was being exposed to the wind blowing in from outside, he answered her, "Fool, Saint Nazaire's your tribe, what can you not listen to?"

Gu Mengmeng was slightly pleased in her heart but she still said, "You're the mighty tribe leader who built Saint Nazaire with your bare hands. Saint Nazaire is yours. If you feel that I'm not in the position to listen, I can hide myself."

After Elvis confirmed that the beast skin was linked around his body without the slightest gap so that Gu Mengmeng would not be blown by the cold wind, he then extended a hand to take the water cup from Lea. Then, after tasting the temperature of the water and confirming that it was warm and fitted Gu Mengmeng's taste buds, he then sent the cup to Gu Mengmeng's mouth and fed her the water. He answered while feeding her, "I'm yours so Saint Nazaire will naturally be yours too."

Gu Mengmeng grinned, "Such a sweet mouth."

After drinking one mouthful of water fed by Elvis, Gu Mengmeng then raised her head and continued asking, "What's going on with the Eagle-owl tribe you two mentioned earlier?”

Elvis placed the water cup aside before throwing a glance at Lea. Lea continued off from where Gu Mengmeng ended and replied, “Do you remember the stray beasts from the last time?”

Gu Mengmeng frowned and huddled deeper into Elvis’s arms out of instincts. She nodded her head, clearly still having a lingering fear.

Lea’s heart ached. If he knew that they would be attracted by Gu Mengmeng’s singing voice to Elvis’s cave and scare Gu Mengmeng to death, he should have killed them all when they just stepped into Saint Nazaire.

But things had already happened and he could only be more prudent and be on higher alert in the future but he could not turn back time and return to the past.

Sighing lightly, he continued, “I thought that all the stray beasts froze to death after running away but I didn’t expect one of them to just be frozen still and not die entirely. After he recovered, he ran to the Eagle-owl tribe to steal food and was subdued by Ian. To protect his life, he told Ian about the storage food in Saint Nazaire. So, the Eagle-owl tribe followed the directions given by the stray beast and found their way here to seek refuge from us.”

“Eagle-owl... what kind of animals are they? Those that can fly?” Gu Mengmeng’s mind surfaced the enormous eagle that followed behind Yang Guo, that animal... looked like it only knew how to eat but not fly. Did the Eagle-owl tribe look like it too? Standing beside Quentin who had broken wings, ha ha ha, was it a savage version of a cosplay?

“Yeah, those that can fly.” Lea did not know why Gu Mengmeng’s expression became a little weird but she looked like she was in a good mood so he did not put it to heart and continued, “We still need you to make a decision for this matter. Do you want to take them in?”

“Me?” Gu Mengmeng pointed at her own nose and asked, “Why am I the one making the decision? You two, one’s the tribe leader and one’s the witch doctor, didn’t both of you come to a decision already? I heard that you’ve even signed a blood alliance with them and gave them your prey. Can you still go back on your promise?”

“If you don’t consent, we can go back on our promise.” Lea said, “I was the one who signed the blood alliance, not Elvis, so you don’t have to worry.”

Chapter 266 - Was Your Brain Kicked By A Donkey Before?

Gu Mengmeng faintly felt an intriguing but uneasy element in Lea's words so she asked, "If we go back on our promise after signing this blood alliance, will it affect the two parties involved in the signing?"

Lea was taken aback by Gu Mengmeng's sharp sense and also felt a slight sense of warmth. She did not ignore this matter just because it did not concern Elvis... or maybe, she still cared for him.

Lea felt the suffocating feeling at his chest loosening a little and tried to appear carefree and lively but his gaze was all along still fixated on Gu Mengmeng's little face. He urgently wanted to see an answer on her face, any answer would do.

Thus, he pronounced every word lightly and slowly, "One that defies a blood alliance will receive a death punishment."

"Tsk." Gu Mengmeng frowned and growled, "Was your brain kicked by a donkey before? How can you sign such an alliance carelessly with anyone? If the other party doesn't have good moral character, what would you do if he goes around trying every trick to mislead the public using Saint Nazaire's reputation and even stir up trouble? We also can't oust them..."

Gu Mengmeng hit her forehead and looked as if life was meaningless, "We're screwed, we're screwed, it's easier to call up an evil spirit but to allay it... god, please bless us so that the people from the Eagle-owl tribe will not be crafty and vicious."

Lea tried to understand Gu Mengmeng's worry before replying, "After joining Saint Nazaire, they've to accept Elvis and my control and abide by Saint Nazaire's rules or else we've the right to banish or execute the death penalty on them. So, the situation you're worried about will not happen. I've confirmed before today that in their tribe... there isn't an orc that has surpassed the third-level yet. All of them are not our opponents."

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes at Lea and looked at Lea like she was looking at an idiot, "They can fly, can both of you fly?"

Lea choked and was speechless by that rebuttal but a piece of his heart melted.

The last time Gu Mengmeng talked to him this naturally... was before winter.

Lea smiled even wider and his mood was extremely good, even his tone became a lot more relaxed as he replied, "So, I signed a blood alliance with them. Once they become undisciplined and pose a threat to Saint Nazaire, I can bring the blood alliance out and murder them on the spot."

Gu Mengmeng's heart was not put to ease even the slightest bit because of Lea's 'all precautions are taken' and she just glared at Lea in a more depressed way, "Yeah, murdering them on the spot and sacrificing your own life at the same time too. You're not only seeking death this way, you're seeking death and seeking death again."

"You... can't bear for me to die?" Lea asked in utmost cautiousness.

Gu Mengmeng was taken by surprise and she looked up at Elvis out of instincts, feeling as if she was caught red-handed by her husband for still mingling with her ex-boyfriend even after they separated. Damn it, all the guilt.

Gu Mengmeng licked her own lips and buried her face in Elvis's arms, saying unhappily, "Everyone is responsible for treasuring lives. Every life ought to be treated with care."

Although it was not the answer he wanted to hear but... it had the same meaning as she being concerned for him and could not bear for him to die, right?

Lea's smile grew more radiant and despite Gu Mengmeng not being able to witness it, he still used the most tender gaze to look at the little girl who huddled herself up entirely in Elvis's embrace with a beast skin as he answered, "Don't worry, the Birds always boast about being the closest to the Beast Deity so they take promises very seriously and normally won't defy against oaths."

Gu Mengmeng twitched her lips and replied indifferently, "Quentin's also a Bird. He did so many unscrupulous things but I don't see him getting struck by lightning."

Chapter 267 - A Romantic Wolf

Lea was rendered speechless from Gu Mengmeng's words and could only shake his head helplessly, smiling lightly and not saying a word.

On the other hand, Elvis gently arranged the beast skin that was covering Gu Mengmeng to expose her face in case she suffocates. Then, he answered, "The reason why Quentin committed those mistakes was not because of his evil nature but because the female he loved is Nina. The males in the Beast World may have various personalities before they mate but once they mate, their partner's personality would decide their character. They would move closer to what their partner likes to become someone that she likes even more."

Gu Mengmeng raised her head to look at Elvis, her gaze filled with uncertainty.

Elvis chuckled and tapped her nose, saying, "One day, if you ask me to kill another female, I would do it without hesitation. If it's your wish... I can even do it in a more brutal way than Quentin."

Gu Mengmeng shuddered and hugged onto Elvis's waist, calling out, "Hubby, calm down, calm down a little."

Elvis ruffled Gu Mengmeng's hair and sighed before saying, "What a pity, you never gave me a chance to do anything for you. Sometimes, I'll even be envious of Quentin. Although Nina's not good, she gave him a lot of chances to complete tasks for her. While I... didn't even accomplish anything to prove my loyalty to you."

Gu Mengmeng knocked Elvis's forehead and said, "What the hell are you talking about? Is what Nina doing considered as putting their partner's loyalty to the test? Damn it, that's called causing trouble and killing innocent people. I'm totally different from her, I don't want you to become a puppet who can't tell black from white like Quentin. Moreover, I feel that what you did for me is enough. I need not worry where to stay in this world of ice and snow, need not worry what to eat, what to wear and even if stray beasts were to rush in, I know that you'll protect me. Even if I can't figure out whether it's the day or night from inside the cave, I still feel very safe and secure. Everything and everything is because of you. Who said that you've to overcome tempestuous storms to prove your loyalty to me? Being able to see water flowing out in trickles in the long run is the most romantic thing, do you understand?"

Elvis placed his chin on top of Gu Mengmeng's head and swayed his body slightly while saying gently, "But every male can do all of these for you... I want to do stuff that others can't do for you so that other females can be envious of you."

Gu Mengmeng smiled and shook her head, saying, "I don't want others to be envious of me, it's enough when I know that I'm living life in happiness."

Elvis sighed but did not have any other solution. His Xiao Meng was always this special. The more easily satisfied she was, the more he felt that he did not do enough for her.

Thinking for a moment, Elvis said, "Xiao Meng, do you have anything you really wish to have? Tell me, I'll find it for you."

Gu Mengmeng smiled, "Yeah, I have something I really want to have but... I already got it."

Elvis thought that since she had it already, he could find more of it for her so he asked, "What is it?"

Gu Mengmeng sat down, kneeling on the floor before cupping Elvis's face and landing a kiss on him, "A romantic wolf."

Elvis felt his heart warming up and he hugged Gu Mengmeng in an embrace while grinning from ear to ear. He kissed her lips back and did not bear to let her go even after a long time.

Lea noticed that Gu Mengmeng might not be in the mood to discuss the Eagle-owl tribe currently since judging from their progress, one could clearly foresee what was going to happen next. Lea made his exit sensibly but suddenly, he heard Gu Mengmeng retching before abruptly pushing Elvis away to squat at a corner and vomit.

The two males were instantly flustered and Elvis hurriedly scooped some water to let Gu Mengmeng rinse her mouth while Lea moved to Gu Mengmeng to pat her back in an attempt to smoothen her breathing. At the same time, he used a hand to touch her forehead to feel her body temperature.

Her temperature was slightly high but still within the healthy range. She had roses in her cheeks and was breathing in a stable way, everything was normal.

But why was she vomiting?

“Xiao Meng, drink some water.” Elvis sent her some warm water and Gu Mengmeng took it to rinse her mouth before forcefully drinking a few mouthfuls. Finally, her breathing became normal again.

She stared at Elvis pitifully with bloodshot eyes. All the vomiting left her with no energy and she was exceptionally craving for Elvis’s hug.

Elvis’s heart ached and he opened his arms wide to embrace Gu Mengmeng, lightly patting her back in the most gentle way to calm her down.

On the other hand, Lea went to check the remnants of what Gu Mengmeng ate today and he confirmed that there was nothing abnormal. After checking her vomit, he also did not find any abnormality.

Everything was normal, but she vomited.....

Suddenly, a flash of thought swept past Lea's mind and he abruptly evolved into a fox before inching closer to Gu Mengmeng's body to smell the space between her legs.

"Eh eh eh! What are you doing?! Lea, don't do this..." Gu Mengmeng shut her eyes tight and used her hand to push Lea's head away with all her might.

Elvis knew that Lea would not create trouble out of nothing but his behavior now was making Elvis very unhappy. He carried Gu Mengmeng on his shoulders and peered down on the beast-form Lea, commanding, "Xiao Meng asked you not to do this, she doesn't like it."

Lea did not evolve back and he just chatted with Elvis using beast language. Elvis's body shook before he grew stiff like he was petrified, not moving a single inch at all.

"What's... what's wrong?" Gu Mengmeng hit Elvis's face and asked.

Elvis turned his head to look at Gu Mengmeng with difficulty, like a rusty robot and said, "That... can you let him smell you in detail?"

"Elvis!" Gu Mengmeng growled, "Are you a damn pervert? Are you that excited or what seeing others smell your wife's body?! Get lost get lost get lost, I'll not go along with your disgusting interest."

"Xiao Meng, don't be angry, you can't be angry..." Elvis rambled in his words and almost bit onto his own tongue.

Seeing him like this, Gu Mengmeng was more furious and she slapped his head, scolding, "Don't talk rubbish! Not allowing means not allowing!"

Lea was so anxious till he turned around in circles. Seeing how Gu Mengmeng did not want to cooperate and how Elvis could not convince her, he evolved back into his original form and scooped Gu Mengmeng down from Elvis's back. He did not feel any tingling feeling that existed between males and females from touching her after a long time as he looked at Elvis solemnly and said, “Since she doesn’t allow me to smell her, you smell her. Hurry, smelling her in the beast form is better.”

Elvis did not dare to waste a second longer and he evolved into his wolf form instantly, smelling the space between Gu Mengmeng’s legs. Then, he raised his head to look at Gu Mengmeng in a daze before burying his head to roughly smell it again. Gu Mengmeng felt the anger rising in her and she lifted her leg to kick Elvis’s face. She did not leave her hands idle too as she grabbed Lea’s hair and gave it a harsh pull, posing a strange pose of ‘punching the witch doctor, kicking the tribe leader’, like a martial arts expert. When the two of them had not reacted from the hit and was still caught in shock, Gu Mengmeng ran towards the other room with all her might.

However, she had not run too far off when she was back-hugged by Elvis who had evolved back into human form. Gu Mengmeng struggled to escape from his embrace but then she heard the agitated Elvis speaking in a quivering voice, “Xiao Meng, we have cubs.”

Gu Mengmeng's first reaction was to burst out in laughter and slap Elvis's arm, "Don't joke, how could it be?!"

Elvis gently turned Gu Mengmeng around to face him, not allowing her to resist as he stared into her eyes and speak in a serious tone, "I confirmed that... you're pregnant. If you don't believe me, can I let Lea make a definite diagnosis?"

"F, do you two think that your noses are B scanners? If you know whether I'm pregnant just by smelling... why aren't you a god yet?" Gu Mengmeng could not hold the smile on her face any longer because of the two fellows in front of her... damn it, why were their expressions so dead serious?

"I'm a wolf, I can't fly..." Elvis was quite hesitant. He started to regret welcoming the people from the Eagle-owl tribe. What if Xiao Meng took a fancy on them because they knew how to fly...

Gu Mengmeng truly wanted to laugh but she could not bring herself to. Pointing at Lea with her shaky finger, she asked, "Are... are you sure?"

Lea smiled with an indescribable fanaticism in his gaze, nothing to do with lust or affection. It was a fanaticism that came from a person who finally saw light after being trapped in the darkness for such a long time.

He stepped a step forward and said, "I'm 80 percent confirmed, if you just let me check it in detail again..."

Gu Mengmeng raised her hand and gestured a stop action. Lea immediately stopped talking and exchanged glances with Elvis. Both of them stared at Gu Mengmeng, who looked like she got struck by lightning, anxiously, holding their breaths and not knowing what she planned to do next.

“Ah... boo hoo hoo...” Gu Mengmeng’s legs gave way and she sat down on her butt. Luckily, Elvis had fast reflexes and he evolved into a huge lump of wolf meat to hold Gu Mengmeng firmly so as not to let her fall to the ground.

Lea was also flustered. In his memory, once females heard that they were pregnant, all of them would be so excited as if they could not wait for everyone in this world to congratulate them. Why did Gu Mengmeng look... so miserable?

Elvis’s heart ached too as he placed his hand on Gu Mengmeng flat stomach to carry her. Seeing how she was crying her heart out, his heart sank into an intense torment.

After a long time, he finally spoke up, “Xiao Meng, if you don’t want to give birth to little wolves as your first cubs... I...”

“Damn it, I’m only 19... at our side, I’m haven’t even reached the age to marry legally... I’m still a baby myself, how am I supposed to raise kids... sob sob sob... does it hurt giving birth to wolves... will I give birth to a husky with a human head... damn, what if my son is a monster, what should I do...”

Elvis did not know how to comfort Gu Mengmeng because he did not understand all the worries she just mentioned. But he knew that Gu Mengmeng was crying not because she did not want to bear his cubs. This realization made him put his heart at ease. As long as it was not because of that, he had the confidence to face any other problems and obstacles.

Thinking about this, Elvis wiped Gu Mengmeng tears away and consoled her, “Don’t worry, I’m here.”

“What’s the damn use of being here with me!” Gu Mengmeng was outraged and she punched Elvis’s chest harshly, growling, “You’re not the one giving birth and not the one receiving all the pain. Talk is cheap, to be an armchair quarterback...”

Elvis frowned and looked towards Lea to ask him, “How much pain will females receive when they give birth?”

Lea gave a bitter smile, “I didn’t give birth before either...”

Elvis stayed silent for a while before asking again, “Didn’t you take care of Nina the last time?”

Lea recalled and said, “The process was quite easy and she gave birth without crying in pain.”

Elvis sighed and he patted Gu Mengmeng’s back lightly and said, “See, Lea said it doesn’t hurt.”

Gu Mengmeng roared, “Nina gave birth to eggs, do you know how small eggs are? Did you give birth to wolves before? Can wolf cubs be as small as eggs? Even if I didn’t receive much education, you can’t lie to me like that too!”

Chapter 270 - No More Love, Is It?!

Elvis and Lea were shocked instantly. That stunned expression on them looked as if they had discovered a frightening big secret.

Gu Mengmeng looked at them and felt even more helpless. Pointing at Elvis and Lea, she cried, “I know that talk is cheap, to be an armchair quarterback. You two don’t even have any experience. Are you two planning to use me as a lab rat? I’m not doing it, not doing it...”

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and tried to prevent her from hurting herself after being overly agitated. His every action was done in utmost cautiousness so as not to let her feel wronged.

“Xiao Meng, don’t be scared. I’ll search for other females in the tribe who had given birth to wolf cubs before and after I ask them, I’ll come back and tell you, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng pointed at Elvis’s nose and looked at him as if she was looking at Chan Sai Mei, “I’m going through so much pain and difficulty to give birth to a son for you and you’re actually leaving me when I’m pregnant?!”

Elvis was beyond dispute and he shook both his head and hands with a horrified but innocent expression.

Lea suggested, “I’ll go. I’m a snow fox so I have a higher chance of surviving outside in winter as compared to you. Stay here and take care of Gu Mengmeng, I’ll go and ask.”

Elvis frowned and said, “No, you’re the witch doctor. If something happens to Xiao Meng, it’ll be safer with you present. You can’t leave.”

“Then...” Both of them landed in a struggle and they looked at each other, not able to come up with a solution.

Gu Mengmeng straightened her neck and kicked Elvis, saying, “Don’t talk so much rubbish. Anyway, I’m not giving birth. If you want, you can give birth yourself.”

Once Gu Mengmeng’s words reached their ears, the eyes of Elvis and Lea glimmered up in hope.

Elvis asked, “What’s the chances of succeeding?”

Lea said, “I don’t know, haven’t tried it before.”

Elvis remained silent for a while before saying, “Add all the risk on me, you just have to ensure that Xiao Meng won’t get hurt.”

Lea and Elvis started sizing Gu Mengmeng up seriously. That expression... Gu Mengmeng really think that she’s a lab rat now.

“What... what are you guys doing?” Gu Mengmeng was so terrified until she forgot how to cry and create a scene.

“We’re thinking, what is the possibility of taking the wolf cub from your stomach to transfer it into Elvis’s stomach...” Lea replied honestly.

Gu Mengmeng rushed forward and landed a slap on Lea’s face. Glaring at Lea who was shocked beyond words and Elvis who was scared beyond words, she growled at them, “Do you two have any normal human feelings at all?! Can I still survive after you cut open my stomach? Can the child still survive? Do you think that this is ‘Little Gecko Borrowing The Tail’? Do you think that my stomach will grow back after being cut?”

Gu Mengmeng grabbed onto Elvis’s beast-skin dress and pulled him towards herself. Glaring into Elvis’s eyes, she said, “We’ve only mated and winter hasn’t even passed and you’re sick of me already, right? Isn’t it too fast to murder me together with Lea so you can marry someone that’s younger and prettier? No more love, is it?!”

Elvis truly felt that he was beyond dispute and he frantically shook his head, “No no no, I’m just scared that you’ll suffer. My heart aches for you...”

Gu Mengmeng pushed Elvis and said, “If your heart really aches for me, you won’t have made me pregnant in the first place. Why are you trying to be wise after the fact now?”

Elvis lowered his head, resembling a child who had committed a mistake.

Gu Mengmeng calmed her breathing down and she looked like she was tired out from all the chaos too. Stepping one leg on the side of the bed and placing the other carelessly on the ground, she rested for a while before continuing, “Elvis, just one question. Do you want this child?”

Elvis hurriedly nodded his head, “Yes yes yes yes!”

Chapter 271 - You're Not Allowed To Leave Me.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng asked again, "After I give birth to our child, will you love me or the baby?"

Elvis answered, "Both."

Gu Mengmeng raised her chin and asked, "Who will you love most?"

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng and said gently, "Of course it's you. This point will never change."

Gu Mengmeng then nodded her head in satisfaction and asked again, "Then... will you not love me because of my out-of-shape figure after giving birth?"

Elvis did not have much idea about an out-of-shape figure but he was very sure that regardless what Gu Mengmeng become, he would still love her. Thus, he shook his head firmly, "I swear to the Beast Deity, I'll always love you and will love you more day by day."

Gu Mengmeng huddled in Elvis's embrace and hugged onto his waist, saying, "You said it, if you have a change of mind in the future... I'll bring my son to the place I came from and never come back so that you won't be able to find us again."

Elvis frowned and held onto Gu Mengmeng's shoulders, saying, "Take that back, take that sentence back."

Gu Mengmeng pouted, feeling so wronged until she felt like crying.

Elvis's heart ached, but he did not want to give in either so he begged in an appealing tone, "I'll listen to whatever you want to do. Only words like leaving me, I won't allow, you don't have to think about it!"

Gu Mengmeng did not want to admit defeat, so she straightened her neck and said, "If you have a change of heart, you're not letting me leave? Why are you so unreasonable?!"

Elvis held onto Gu Mengmeng's hand and placed it on his chest, saying with his brows furrowed, "If my heart changes, you can dig it out. But, you're not allowed to leave me."

Gu Mengmeng retracted her hand but to no avail so she used her other hand to punch Elvis's chest, "I can't even defeat you, how can I dig your heart out?"

"With your one command, I'll dig it out myself for you." Elvis said.

Gu Mengmeng turned her head away and said, "Will you still listen to me after your heart changes?"

"My heart won't change." Elvis pinched Gu Mengmeng's chin and turned her head to face him. Without allowing her to protest, he sealed her lips as if it was to punish her although it looked more like a promise without words.

Gu Mengmeng was kissed until she became all confused and dazed. Until she almost ran out of breath, she was then forcefully given back her freedom. Blushing, she leaned back into Elvis's embrace and asked in a sweet voice, "Will your heart really not change?"

Elvis placed Gu Mengmeng's ear to his left chest, letting her hear his heartbeat as he made a vow, "I, Elvis, will only love one female, Gu Mengmeng, in my entire lifetime. If I go back on my promise, I'll be willing to accept my skin getting peeled, my bones getting crushed and other eternal doom. I'll be reborn as a wild beast for my remaining lifetimes and be provided as meat and blood for others."

Gu Mengmeng raised her head and placed one finger onto Elvis's lips, "I believe you, don't make such a malicious vow."

Elvis sighed, this little girl's mood swings really threw one off guard but even if she was like that, as compared to the other females in the Beast World, she can be considered as being the most gentle female.

Elvis cupped Gu Mengmeng's little face and kissed her on her lips before saying, "Promise me, don't say that you'll leave me in the future, you hear me?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, implying that she agreed.

Elvis then heaved a sigh of relief and said, "You're now someone with cubs. Don't run around recklessly in every direction or else the consequences will be dire if you fall."

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, "For the sake of our baby's safety, I won't run around in the future. I'll walk very slowly and be careful of my own safety."

Elvis said, "Don't even walk, just lie down. If you have anything you want to have or do, just tell me. I'll do it for you, understand?"

Chapter 272 - Little Lecture of Gu's Bluffing

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng stared at Elvis in shock while blinking her large eyes. “What if I need to shit? Are you going to shit on my behalf?!”

Elvis paused for a moment and said, “I’ll carry you over.”

Gu Mengmeng covered her face and laughed. “Don’t joke, pregnant doesn’t equal to being paralyzed, isn’t being allowed to reach the ground a little too much? Over at our side, pregnant ladies need enough exercise so that they will have an easier labor and the possibility of a hard labor is reduced too.”

Upon hearing her talk about this, Lea inched forward too and he started listening to the little lecture of Gu’s bluffing attentively.

Gu Mengmeng maintained a lecturer pose, using her finger to point at a nearby cup. Lea immediately understood her and sent the cup filled with warm water to Gu Mengmeng. Gu Mengmeng hummed like an old professor as she received the water cup and drank from it. Then, she started talking, “During the pregnancy period of females, tremendously huge changes will be seen on their body structures. If they don’t exercise for a long period of time, their muscles will degenerate and this will directly cause a difficult labor due to insufficient muscle strength. Halfway through, if their muscles don’t have enough energy left, their baby will be trapped inside... touch wood, a rare tragedy on earth.”

Weirdly, cold sweat started forming on Elvis’s body and he looked towards Lea seriously before looking back at Gu Mengmeng, “Tomorrow onwards, I’ll accompany you to start exercising. Let’s achieve to fill up your body with energy in these two months.”

Gu Mengmeng's brow twitched and she felt an uneasy feeling, as if she foresee herself getting trained into Nezha in 'A Hundred Thousand Bad Jokes' two months later by Elvis...

"Eh..." Gu Mengmeng shuddered and she hugged her shoulders, saying, "Everything has to be done in loose and tight management. The exercises should be appropriate and scientific. Not moving will cause insufficient strength in the muscles but over exercising will cause the air to be moved in premature births and eventually miscarriage anytime. When the fetus dies in the womb, it might even result in two dead lives in a single body..."

Gu Mengmeng explained halfway and suddenly contemplated whether the wolves were restrained by the government policy of only having one child. What if she planned to bring her husband and son back to her hometown one day, the number of children she was going to have would be a serious problem.

Thus, she tilted her head to ask Elvis, "Eh? How many cubs do your wolf tribe normally give birth to?"

Elvis answered, "Normally, it's three to nine cubs, but I heard someone giving birth to ten over cubs before....."

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to kill herself directly with just rolling her eyes once. Giving birth to twins in the present world was already damn fing awesome. Not to say, having triplets was something that countless number of people would be envious about. Damn it, why did it jump all the way to starting from triplets when it came to her? What the hell, Gu Mengmeng started imagining herself giving birth to a bunch of huskies, what an 'exciting' experience...

Gu Mengmeng trembled and patted Elvis's shoulder, saying, "Then this will be a very big matter. If I accidentally hurt the fetuses in my stomach, it may result in ten dead lives in a single body..."

Elvis's brows formed a dead knot and he pressed his lips together while looking at Gu Mengmeng. Now... he really regretted. If he knew how dangerous it was giving birth to cubs, he would never have made Xiao Meng pregnant.

Seeing how Elvis was scared to death, the little devil in Gu Mengmeng's heart became secretly satisfied so she patted his shoulder again. "Although women's pregnancy is like traveling around the gates of hell for a day and they may be pulled in at anytime to 'tour' the other world, this is after all the duty of females. As long as they eat and drink well during the pregnancy period, maintain a joyous mood and undergo appropriate exercises, the chances of them meeting accidents during labor will be greatly reduced."

Chapter 273 - You're Worthy For Me To Sacrifice Everything.

Elvis and Lea carved Gu Mengmeng's words word by word in their hearts, as if they were listening respectfully to an empress dowager reading the imperial decree. They did not seem to notice the mixed truths and lies in Gu Mengmeng's words at all. She, a university student who had not even dated before, had all her pregnancy experience learned from television dramas and novels. However, something is better than nothing, as compared to Elvis and Lea, these two ancient men who did not have any general knowledge and did not even watch television, Gu Mengmeng was already considered a knowledgeable person.

The two males exchanged glances solemnly and they did not even engage in any form of discussion when all division of labor was done.

Lea turned his head to look at Gu Mengmeng, asking, "Tell me, do you have anything you really want to eat? I'll search for it for you."

Gu Mengmeng looked at the endless whiteness outside and shook her head helplessly, "Didn't you say that we can't go out when the snow seals the mountain?"

Lea swayed his large tail and said with a slightly arrogant tone, "Ordinary orcs can't but... I'm a snow fox. The snow during winter is under my rule."

Lea sent his own tail to Gu Mengmeng's arms and Gu Mengmeng ruffled it out of instincts for a while before realizing that Lea's tail had grown thicker than before. Looking at it in detail, a thick layer of fur had grown at the spot near his skin. If Lea's tail in the past gave off a seductive holy feeling, his fluffy tail now was a truly animated and cute version. Suppressing her desire to continue ruffling it, Gu Mengmeng forced herself to let it go and turned her head to pounce back into Elvis's arms. She wrapped both her arms tightly around Elvis's waist but her eyes were still uncontrollably fixated on Lea's tail.

Damn it, addiction for fur was really not easy to cure! Especially this kind of clean, soft and fluffy large tail, she really did not have any tolerance towards it.

Gu Mengmeng puffed her face up and said, "Even if you can go out, it's useless. In this world of ice and snow, what is there to eat? If there is something to eat... the people in the tribe will not need to get scared of talking about winter. Before winter, each and everyone of them was still giving their final farewell to anyone they saw."

Lea was pretty disappointed at Gu Mengmeng not hugging onto his tail like in the past when she was always unwilling to release it. However, seeing how Gu Mengmeng's expression was not as sorrowful and indifferent as the past few days, Lea was already very happy.

Stepping one step forward, he half-knelt in front of Gu Mengmeng with his two furry little ears shaking repeatedly on top of his head and his large tail, that looked like a cat teaser, swaying to and fro without any rhythm. He extended his furry paw and placed it on Gu Mengmeng's thigh, looking as if he was Daji from King of Glory. The only difference was that he was a snow-white male version of Daji and one with thicker fur.

Tilting his head to lengthen the line of his neck, his perfect side-view matched perfectly together with his long eyes. With a gentle gaze full of lingering sentiments, he said in a seductive tone, "They aren't worthy of me risking the wind and snow to search for food but you're worthy for me to sacrifice everything."

Gu Mengmeng could not deny that her heart fluttered again because of Lea's behavior.

Biting onto her lower lip, Gu Mengmeng turned her neck stiffly back and buried her entire face into Elvis's chest again while talking quietly to herself, "I must be a loyal wife, I must be a loyal wife. Committing adultery in the mind is also considered as committing adultery, both can't be forgiven."

Elvis supported the back of Gu Mengmeng's head gently, clearly witnessing the change in her reaction towards Lea.

Maybe, it's because he cared so that was why he was exceptionally sensitive.

Chapter 274 - Keeping Your Own Counsel, Huh?

Lea did not force Gu Mengmeng to give him any reaction, but only laughed as he stood up to walk out of the cave. As he turned, it was unknown as to whether he had intentionally brushed his huge tail against her hips. Through her clothes, it made her feel limp and numb.

Elvis then brought Gu Mengmeng back to the deep end of the cave. Due to the repeated times having shattered the snow blocking the entrance of the outermost cavern, it lost its capability to be sealed. The cold wind kept entering the cave with Lea's entrance and exits.

Gu Mengmeng still felt slightly cold as she was carried back into her own cavern, so she told Elvis to block the entrance using beast skin. Elvis punched two blocks of firewood that had thicknesses comparable to that of an arm onto the top of the wall. A piece of mottled tiger skin was tightly tied around the firewood with his front claws, creating a rough but unusually extravagant beast skin curtain. There was not much wind that could reach Gu Mengmeng through the obstacles created by various curvatures of the cave. With the tiger skin in addition to Elvis' unlimited supply of firewood, Gu Mengmeng had the warmest cavern.

Gu Mengmeng sat on her seat, kicking her little feet boredly, looking at Elvis and asked, "Hubby, can you let me hug your tail?"

Elvis was just adding a pot of hot water to heat using the fire to ensure sufficient moisture in the cave, preventing her from nose bleeding again. His arms stopped moving as he turned around to look at her, "I thought... you didn't like it."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, asking, “Why wouldn’t I? You are my husband.”

Elvis placed the pot carefully and returned to Gu Mengmeng’s side. He did not sit onto the bed, but folded his legs and sat on the floor with his shoulders against Gu Mengmeng’s knee, pulling her tiny hands and playing with them gently. His gaze was a little bleak, and even though the fire was clearly near, it was not enough to light up his eyes.

“My original form is not as beautiful as Lea’s, I don’t have that white and soft fur like his...”

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ neck and shook it. She knew Elvis would feel inferior to Lea, mostly because she had shown too much infatuation towards his original form in the past and neglected Elvis’ feelings that had caused him to feel so self-abashed. Slightly guilty, Gu Mengmeng’s voice softened, “Is it because of this, that you rarely transform into your original form in front of me?”

Elvis nodded, avoiding her gaze for the first time as he was afraid to see annoyance and disgust in her eyes.

Yeah, who would like themselves when they are fully black as compared to Lea who was so lovable?

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ face and turned it towards herself, looking straight into his eyes, saying, “But I have already mated with you, so I can’t do anything to others’ bodies, right? I’m pregnant with your baby, do you really have the heart to not grant such a little wish of mine? Hmm?”

Elvis did not give her a reply, only slowly transforming out his tail. He did not show it arrogantly like how Lea did confidently since he still felt slightly embarrassed of his black tail. He wanted to gain her love and recognition, yet was afraid things would go south and cause her to despise him. So, he hid his tail behind him, only revealing it slightly, hesitating, hesitating...

Gu Mengmeng could not bother so much with him. She grabbed Elvis' huge tail and hugged it in her arms, scrutinizing it carefully before saying with a shocked expression, "Wow, keeping your own counsel, huh?"

Chapter 275 - He wants to pounce onto Gu Mengmeng...

Elvis froze, looking up at Gu Mengmeng's surprised face.

Did she... pretend to like it, just to comfort him?

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her face against Elvis' tail, feeling on cloud nine.

Unlike Lea's tail, Elvis' was not as fluffy nor was it as solid, the fur was slightly harder, but not to the point where it would poke her hands. It was a textured level of hardness. Gu Mengmeng stuck her finger into the tip of Elvis' tail, rubbing against the direction of the fur growth. It felt like fine sand between her fingers, clearly hard sand but carrying the warm from the sun and its own greasiness. It was different from Lea's definite fluff and softness, more of a hardness within softness, rigidity within the fluffiness.

Damn, the punk style of the fur world, huh!

Gu Mengmeng's intoxicated look was so memorable, her deep gasps formed whimper-like sounds in her throat.

Elvis felt his body harden as he felt a magical touch from his tail for the first time in his life. From Gu Mengmeng's actions and gaze, he truly felt that Xiaomeng sincerely liked his tail and did not fake it to comfort him.

This knowledge made him feel a lot more excited than before, it was as if the current from the tip of his tail directly charged the electricity somewhere. These uncontrollable changes made him slightly flustered as he silently looked at Gu Mengmeng who was so immersed in rubbing his tail that she did not notice how weird she seemed, which caught Elvis in a strange struggle.

He wanted to pounce onto Gu Mengmeng...

But she was so focused on rubbing it, would she get angry if he disturbed her?

What if she was so angry that she cried?

It was said that pregnant females are not supposed to be angry, and can only give birth successfully when they maintain a good mood.

What does he do if he cannot hold it back anymore...

Gu Mengmeng felt Elvis' tail slowly getting harder. Displeased, she kicked his backside, "What are you doing? Relax!"

Elvis swallowed his saliva uneasily, then helplessly unwrapped the beast skin skirt, "Xiao Meng, it would be slightly difficult... for me to relax now."

Gu Mengmeng finally noticed Elvis' huge reaction, so frightened she quickly grabbed onto his huge tail. She brushed his tail while saying, "Calm down, Elvis. I am in the early stages of pregnancy and I can't take this. If you stick your rod in, both me and the baby will die in front of you."

A face full of dismay and conflict, and "afame with desire" were words clearly written in his deep eyes. Just like that, he stared right at Gu Mengmeng, not having the guts to rebel in the end.

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and felt a little bad as she saw how miserable Elvis looked. After she cleared her throat, she patted the seat beside her, "How about you sit over here, and I will think of another solution for you."

What else could Elvis be dissatisfied about? Immediately, he flipped onto the bed and lay flat without moving.

Elvis' movements were so swift that the tail originally in Gu Mengmeng's arms slipped right out her hands, how could that happen? Gu Mengmeng slapped Elvis' backside and his face started burning after that crisp-sounding slap. Bearing with the dryness in his throat, Elvis huffed and puffed while looking at Gu Mengmeng. That expression, looked just like a frightened... grandma wolf?

“What are you looking at? Who asked you to move your tail away, return me your tail, if not just bear with it, I’m not going to care about you!” Gu Mengmeng raised her head, a face of satisfaction from the queen-like attack.

Chapter 276 - Ugh, It's So Sour

At the end of the day, Gu Mengmeng was still responsible towards Elvis. She had to put out the fire that she had ignited. It was just that the person responsible was only semi-automatic, falling into a deep sleep halfway and left the rest for Elvis to figure out.

It was good that Elvis adored her so he did not dare to push her to go all out, cleaning up the mess after coming once, placing her onto the bed and allowing her to sleep soundly.

The pregnant Gu Mengmeng could sleep much better than before. When she had awakened from thirst, she didn't even know how much time had passed.

Gu Mengmeng removed the beast skin. Before her feet touched the ground, Elvis had already delivered a cup of water to her, "You woke up? Drink some water and quench your thirst."

Gu Mengmeng tried a little sip, it was warm, the temperature was just right.

Gu Mengmeng felt much better once the cup of warm water entered her stomach. Stretching her arms, she leaned lazily against Elvis' shoulders, asking, "How long did I sleep?"

There was no concept of how many hours in Elvis' world. He thought for a moment and could only reply ambiguously, "You slept for a long while."

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her flat tummy, and even though it did not look much different, she still found it very magical that she had a baby in her tummy.

Although she was not hungry, but the little one has to eat even if the big one does not. Despite not having experience as a mother, Gu Mengmeng still knew that she could not make her child hungry.

With that, Gu Mengmeng rolled up her sleeves and prepared to make some food. When she walked by the pot, she then realized Lea had left before she slept, saying that he wanted to find some snacks for her. She slept for such a long time, but why did she not see him when she woke up?

Gu Mengmeng turned around to ask Elvis, “Did Lea return when I was asleep?”

Elvis retrieved a piece of beast skin for Gu Mengmeng to wear over her body. This piece of beast skin was custom designed according to Gu Mengmeng’s wishes, although it sounds exaggerated to say designed since it was just a piece of complete large rabbit skin with the front claw area removed, then sewn together into a simple sleeve. Gu Mengmeng had tiny arms that fit right through, and the hind leg areas could just be sewn again according to the thickness of her legs. With a simple tie of a few beast skin ropes around her waist, it was considered to fit just right.

It looked similar to many cartoon onesie pajamas seen on Taobao, just that Gu Mengmeng wore a large rabbit on her body.

The fluffy white fur complemented Gu Mengmeng’s complexion. In front of the fire, she looked like a glowing jade doll that made people want to go closer and care for her.

Elvis helped Gu Mengmeng wear on her huge rabbit pajamas while replying, “No, it is very difficult to find food in winter, it would probably take about three to five days at least.”

“Oh.” Gu Mengmeng was slightly dismayed, feeling like she had a poor character. She clearly knew Lea was this nice to her so he could amend their relationship, but she had already mated with Elvis, which made it impossible for her to patch back with Lea. Yet, she still allowed him to go to such great lengths for her, causing her to feel like a rotting “green tea bitch” stench was increasingly spreading from her body, Elvis did not know what Gu Mengmeng was thinking, only feeling unhappy at the sight of her dampened mood. Wrapping his hands around her waist, he back hugged her, asking into her ear, “Why? Do you miss him? Do you want me to go look for him?”

Chapter 277 - Aiyo, My Aged Waist

Elvis smelled himself carefully and did not notice any sour smell. He did not bother much either, just fixing his gaze on Gu Mengmeng, smiling, “Is it because I did not satisfy you just now, so...”

With that, Elvis bridal carried Gu Mengmeng, and it did not take any words to know that he was going to “make up” to her.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head hurriedly, “Don’t don’t don’t, I’m pregnant, and must not be tired. Aiyo, my aged waist... it is still hurting.”

Elvis could not help but laugh at Gu Mengmeng’s exaggerated acting, poked her nose saying, “You can have many partners, but... you must love me the most.”

Gu Mengmeng raised her eyebrows, shooting a weird look at Elvis full of ambiguity.

Elvis felt his heart sank...

Did he go overboard?

Females clearly didn’t like... such requests.

Elvis heaved a huge sigh at the things he just said.

Gu Mengmeng pinched Elvis’ ears, twisted and pulled it upwards, but a smiley expression remained, “I can have many partners? What do you mean? Are you suspecting that there is something going on between Lea and I? Or are you expecting that?”

Elvis’ ears hurt a lot from that twisting, but there was still sweetness remaining in his heart.

Gu Mengmeng did not go easy, not letting go while interrogating, “What? Are you saying that I’m getting annoying, so you’re pushing me to someone else? Do you not want your wife and your child?”

Elvis did not care about his ears, only hugging Gu Mengmeng in his arms and gave her a kiss, “I would much rather you have only me by your side, but... I want you to be happy.”

“Which eye of yours is seeing that I am not happy?” Seeing how Elvis’ ears were twisted red, she finally let go with the prompt of her heartache. She folded her arms, still looking stubbornly at Elvis.

Elvis replied rather upset, “You looked so disappointed when you woke up and realized Lea was not around. I...”

Gu Mengmeng jabbed Elvis’ eyebrows, “Lea isn’t my husband, yet he braved the snow to look for snacks for me. How could I act like I don’t know anything while eating and sleeping peacefully knowing he still isn’t back till late? How do we return the favor we owe him? It’s fine if he’s alright, but if there is an accident and something unfortunate happens, I would have emotional trauma for life.”

However, Elvis objected, “It is expected for a male to do things for a female. If it weren’t for the fact that only Lea could be so mobile in the winter, I think every male in Saint Nazaire would be willing to do these things for you.”

Once again, Gu Mengmeng felt the communication barrier due to their difference in values. She stayed silent to organize her thoughts, then asked, “Why are males nice to me? Is it because I am a female? Or is it to express goodwill, so we can mate?”

Elvis was confused, “Is there a difference?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “If someone else is nice to me and I accept their goodwill, I would then have to repay the favor in some way or another. For example, I order Bode to get some honey because I taught him how to retrieve them without injuring his hands. He used the method I taught him and shared some with me, so I naturally can accept it without burden. However, I won't be able to accept the fish he caught if he were to split it in half with me. With the same reasoning, I can accept the food, beast skin and other necessities you provide me with because you are my husband. However, if others gave me those things, I wouldn't want it because if I had accepted them, it would give them the wrong idea and make them think that if they tried a little harder, there could be a chance I would mate with them."

Chapter 278 - Accept Him, Let Him Be Your Partner

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis did not quite understand, but did not interrupt Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath and continued, “If one never really considered accepting another as a part, they should not have given others the wrong idea from the start. Using then in this way was too shameless, someone with a high moral principle like me would not be able to do it. And now, Lea is living in our cave because of your injury while his cave is temporarily inhabited by people from the Eagle-owl tribe, we can’t possibly burn our bridges and chase others away, can we? So I agree for Lea to stay in our cave, but I do not wish to be too cared for by him.”

Gu Mengmeng paused and organized her thoughts again before continuing, “You also know... about Lea and I. However, no matter how much I once liked him, we have already mated now and I do not wish for him think that if he were to be any nicer to me, we could be like us in the past. The best method would hence be to not cross the line and have a reasonable distance between each other. I can accept it if he only takes half an hour to look for snacks for me today. After all, I am pregnant, so it is natural for a friend to lend me a helping hand. But the extent of three to four days... is too burdensome to me.”

Elvis stayed quiet for a long while after he finished listening, his mystic blue eyes deep as the sea. He pondered for a moment before asking, “Have you really decided on not forgiving... Lea?”

Gu Mengmeng did not reply, but asked him, “Do you wish for me to?”

Elvis hesitated, but eventually nodded.

Gu Mengmeng sat back, a distance away from Elvis, then furrowed her brows asking, “Then? What do you wish for me to do, after I have forgiven him?”

A blood vessel dilated on Elvis’ forehead. No words were needed to tell the struggle and conflict within him, it was all too clear.

It seemed like a century before Elvis replied dryly, “Accept him, let him be your partner.”

“What about you? Are you going to leave me?” Gu Mengmeng replied coldly.

Elvis looked up violently, shaking his head resolutely, “I will never leave you, not at any time.”

Gu Mengmeng folded her arms, “You know, I can only have one partner.”

Elvis tried to hold Gu Mengmeng’s hand, but was shaken off by Gu Mengmeng. He knew she was angry, but he still decided to continue speaking.

Moving two steps forward, he wrapped Gu Mengmeng in his arms, his chin against her neck. His husky voice made one’s heart ache, “I desire to have you for myself, and make you belong to me only. However... other than the times that Lea spends with you, he would rather die than live on. There is only hatred and destruction in his eyes... like me in the past.”

Gu Mengmeng felt something, she could not explain clearly what she was thinking. She only knew she should listen quietly to Elvis, so she did not struggle further, allowing him to explain their past while hugging her.

“We both stood on a cliff, on the verge of collapsing, yet blindly walked towards the abyss doomed to eternal damnation. I was very lucky to have you to grab on to me. Originally Lea... had such an opportunity too. Elvis sighed, “Lea and I barely survived until we met you. If we had never met you, we would have used hatred as the motivation to survive, but today... if we lose you, there would be nothing we could hold on that would keep us breathing.”

Chapter 279 - Among Us, Who Did You Think

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis could tell from Gu Mengmeng's expression that she wanted to know what had happened in the past.

Although those memories were not great, and it would seem bloody to open one's own wounds, but he had no other person to open up to and tell these things to other than Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis sighed, asking, "From When do you want to begin to hear from?"

Gu Mengmeng placed her tiny hand on Elvis' chest, covering his left breast and feeling his heartbeat. She leaned lovingly in his arms, replying gently, "From whenever you are willing to share with me that would not make you upset."

Elvis thought long and hard about his past. As he hugged Gu Mengmeng, he suddenly felt that it was not worth it to bring up the past, that used to cause numerous sleepless nights, hatred in his heart and killing of his desires. After having Gu Mengmeng, he felt those tough days were nothing but a nightmare that had passed with the snap of a finger, so blurry that it seemed insignificant.

Since they were on the topic on Lea, just temporarily put aside the tough past, and not bring up the unhappy events of the past. If Xiaomeng knew, it would only affect her mood.

At that thought, Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng's shoulders, saying slowly, "I'll start, from the day I met Lea."

"At that time, I was still a lone ranger, and I met Lea in the forest where he was injured from head to toe. He was on the verge of death and was unable to even maintain a human form, yet was unwilling to lie in the drain waiting for death like normal beasts, resolutely raising his head staring at one direction. I did not know what he was looking at, I just knew that gaze... was what I had seen in the reflection of the water countless times.

Elvis paused, laughed sarcastically and continued, "I don't even know what I was thinking back then, it was just a curious coincidence that I split half of my food with him and sat with him, peacefully eating the first meal in my life accompanied. That feeling was weird, we clearly met for the first time yet it felt like we had known each other for a long time, no words were needed to understand what the other was thinking... or, it wasn't no words, just those feelings, they can't be expressed in languages."

Elvis looked down at Gu Mengmeng, asking, "What are you laughing at?"

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her tummy, replying, "If it weren't for us mating, I think I would really believe you and Lea were partners."

Gu Mengmeng had brought up this question very long ago, Elvis furrowed his brows and sighed, "How do two males become a pair?"

Gu Mengmeng pouted, murmuring, "..., how do you love each other when you have different sexes?"

"What are you talking about?" Elvis was..."How do you love each other when you have different sexes?" They already have a child, if it isn't love then what is?

"Nothing nothing, you continue." Gu Mengmeng waved her arms, expressing apology for ruining the atmosphere, even though it was not even a little sincere...

Elvis did not continue, but thought if something else. He supported Gu Mengmeng's chin, "I remember you thought this way before. The day of the Coming-To-Age Ceremony, you still treated Lea's prayer as forcing me into adulthood, right?"

Gu Mengmeng couldn't help but laugh out loud as she remembered Lea dressed up all weird jumping around that wooden pagoda, nodding delightedly.

“Then... Originally, among us, who did you think was attacking and who did you think was the one being attacked?”

Chapter 280 - Momnesia

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Goodness gracious, this question was serious. If she answered truthfully, Gu Mengmeng did not even dare to suspect that in order to prove his male abilities, Elvis would directly make her lie on the bed until their son was born.

Damn, just the thought of it made Gu Mengmeng's legs go numb, cheekbones soft and heart palpitate.

With a dry laughter, Gu Mengmeng rubbed her temples while pretended to be forgetful, "Ah, people always say that pregnant people have "momnesia" for three years. I just got pregnant and my memory is already fading, the things of the past... Aiyo, I can't seem to remember~"

Elvis was not an idiot, but he could not do anything about Gu Mengmeng.

Raising his eyebrows, he pinched Gu Mengmeng's tiny nose, "Just remember, I will ask you again three years later. Then, you will think properly before replying."

"Yes, sir." Gu Mengmeng clung onto Elvis' arm obediently, looking up at Elvis, "Continue, what happened after that?"

Elvis recollected his emotions that had been stirred by Gu Mengmeng, then continued, "After we ate, Lea suggested creating a tribe. At first, I was very shocked. There were only two of us, how could we create a tribe? Furthermore, I was used to leading the wandering life back then. I had never thought of... settling down."

"However, back then, there was nothing worth doing for me. Creating a tribe was nothing more than something I had yet to try out of the many crazy things I had done. So, I agreed, having the mentality that we would just get crazy for a few days together and I would leave once I got bored.

That year, we fought together, one bloody battle after another, finding our place among the various territories of the tribes, planning our own territory, marking the beginning of Saint Nazaire territorial formation. But back then, we did not even have a name for our tribe.”

“The next spring, Lea and I went to a female beauty pageant. We met Maya for the first time. She originally joined the competition with the first beauty from her tribe, but had met a stray beast on her way back. The males in her tribe were unable to protect the both of them at the same time, so they decided to abandon Maya and focus on protecting their first beauty. However, the stray beasts are not the type to leave well enough alone. They told someone to watch Maya while the rest attacked full force, fighting for the other female. In that fight, the female was bitten to death by an extremely aggressive stray beast, but Maya who was abandoned originally managed to keep her life because she had curled up in her corner silently.”

“Initially, I did not want to bother about these troublesome things, but Lea said that there must be females for the tribe to develop, and the females saved from the hands of stray beasts are the least likely to stir fights. So, we decided to save Maya from the stray beasts, and brought her back to the beauty pageant. Despite the fact that she had yet matured into adulthood at that time, she still managed to attract the attention of numerous males after getting dolled up by Lea, who all joined our tribe thereafter. The name Saint Nazaire was the result of Lea consulting with the beast deity during Maya’s Coming-To-Age Ceremony. In beast language, it meant sanctioner.”

“Then, the people of the tribe all knew about Maya’s experience, so they thought the beast deity wanted our tribe to grow and strengthen, saving more females that had been preyed on by stray beasts like Maya in the form of sanctioners. However, Lea and I knew the meaning of sanctioners to us... was revenge.”

Chapter 281 - I Resembled a More Alive Person Than Him

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Revenge?” Gu Mengmeng did not understand why and asked, “For who?”

“We never asked each other this question, but both knew that there were someone to take revenge from in our hearts.” Elvis paused, before continuing, “Now it seems like the person Lea wishes to seek revenge from must be Sauder.”

“What about you?” Gu Mengmeng continued to ask.

Elvis looked down at Gu Mengmeng’s sapphire eyes flickering with the reflection of the fire, resembling the starry sky. Elvis could not take his eyes off her, he rubbed Gu Mengmeng’s head lightly and said gently, “Now, I can’t even remember what I was resenting, all those are insignificant compared to you.”

Gu Mengmeng felt warm, she smiled, “I’m honored to be able to accompany you overcome the unhappy past. In the future... we will be happier.”

Elvis nodded with tenderness in his smile. He lifted Gu Mengmeng’s chin and landed a kiss, said, “So, don’t ever leave me. I... I don’t want to go back again.”

“Okay,” Gu Mengmeng nodded and kissed Elvis back.

Elvis lifted Gu Mengmeng and put her onto his lap. With his chin resting on her head, he looked at the burning fire pit and slowly opened his mouth, “I don’t know what Sauder’s men had done to Lea, But I know that Lea’s hatred towards them is unquenchable. His plan of forming Saint Nazaire... was never a rushed decision from the start.”

Gu Mengmeng was momentarily stunned, “You mean, from the start Lea had wanted to form a strong tribe to compete with Sauder, for revenge?”

Elvis nodded slowly and said, “Meeting me was a turning point, his plan was slowly formed after that. I didn’t know why he placed me in such an important position and did not become the leader himself. With his abilities, he should still be able to achieve his goal without me. I asked him this question before, his answer was... I resembled a more live person than him.”

Gu Mengmeng could not really understand what this meant, she wanted to look up but Elvis stopped her head from moving. He fiddled with her hand and continued, “That sounded strange, right? I had occasionally recalled this sentence in these few years, but still could not comprehend it. Until I met you, I witnessed what’s meant by being ‘alive’. Can you imagine? Before he met you, Lea’s expression only consisted of smiling and never once did it change. Whether it was facing unreasonable females or opponents that were strong, despicable or weak, that was his only expression. Nobody could read his mind from his expression, not even... me.”

“But after meeting you, there was light in his eyes, his smile started to represent emotions. I could even see jealousy in his eyes... just because you neglected him when playing with Sandy. He slowly resuscitated from an empty shell to a lively person. That was when I realized, he probably said that sentence because I would at least show ‘disgust’ or ‘impatient’ to some things, while he... did not even have such feelings.”

Chapter 282 - Our Family Don't Need Someone Who's Weaker Than Me

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng could not imagine what was like to be living without the feelings of disgust? Or... could that even considered to be alive?

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng's head and landed a kiss on the top. He continued, "To someone that never had a single emotion for years, any feelings to him now will be magnified a few times compared to normal people. The more happiness he had felt because of you, the more pain he is suffering now. I am worried that he couldn't withstand the huge contrast."

Gu Mengmeng was anxious too, with the guilt of not killing someone but the person had died because of her.

Biting into her lower lip, Gu Mengmeng was a little discouraged. "But I can't mate with him just out of pity. If I accepted him but I don't love him, won't his life be even sadder? Perhaps... after a while of not getting answers from me, he would slowly give up? Or perhaps one day, he will meet someone better and realize I don't deserve to be so persistent over?"

Elvis smiled. He cupped Gu Mengmeng's face and said earnestly, "There is no one better than you in this entire world."

Gu Mengmeng enjoyed being praised by her own husband, but being too shy to admit with words, she replied, "That's what you think, others might have different thoughts, right?"

Elvis sighed. He had wished for the two 'possibilities' Gu Mengmeng mentioned to come true more than anyone else, but at the same time, he knew more than anyone how impossible these two ‘possibilities’ were.

Elvis must be the first in the Beast World to persuade his female to accept someone else, as other females don’t even need coaxing, it was something that could not be stopped. There might even be more members added to the family after the female went for a walk casually. Meanwhile, his one... was so caring, gentle and he was unable to let her go.

“I don’t force you to accept Lea, but at least give him a chance to get used to it. Don’t be so cruel to him before he gives up.” Elvis’s fingers fiddled with Gu Mengmeng’s, while feeling extremely conflicted in his heart too. Why would any man be willing to let his wife bring more men back? But...

“If not for the battle I asked for the previous time, the happy man would have been him. Every time I saw Lea being sad over you, I felt like I was a despicable thief that stole the happiness supposedly belonging to him...”

Gu Mengmeng smiled suddenly. She looked up at Elvis and asked, “You really think that I was won over by you with a fight?”

Elvis nodded in all seriousness.

Gu Mengmeng did not know whether to cry or laugh, but she could not bother explaining. She hugged Elvis’s face and kissed his chin, said, “Well then, you have to train your skills, in case you lose someday and new members are going to join our family.”

Elvis paused for a while, before asking, “Does that mean that you will accept Lea if he beats me?”

Gu Mengmeng did not answer. Instead, she threw a question back. “If I said yes, would you take a dive?”

“Take a dive? In where?” Elvis asked earnestly.

Gu Mengmeng was speechless. She reorganized her thoughts and said, “What I meant was, if I said yes, would you lose to him deliberately?”

Elvis shook his head firmly and said, “I wouldn’t want to give you to anyone, even Lea. If he wishes to join our family, he must win me with his own power. Our family don’t need someone who’s weaker than me.”

Chapter 283 - Only Deaths, No Defeats

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, being minimally satisfied, before circling around Elvis's neck and said, "You will listen to me, right?"

Elvis nodded his head without hesitations.

Gu Mengmeng's forehead rested against Elvis's and she said, "I want you to be... invincible."

Elvis was stunned for a moment before smiling and kissing Gu Mengmeng's on the lips. He said softly, "Okay, from today onwards, there will only be deaths and no defeats."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "Only victories and no defeats, definitely no deaths. I don't want to be a widow, neither do I want my son to be an orphan."

Elvis's gaze followed Gu Mengmeng's hand to her flat stomach and a magical feeling was spreading in his body. Placing Gu Mengmeng onto the bed, he kneeled on the floor, put his face against her abdomen and listened attentively.

Gu Mengmeng smiled, "It has only been a few days, what can you possibly hear? At least wait for three to five months to hear something."

Elvis tilted his head and looked at Gu Mengmeng. "You will be giving birth in sixty days. After three to five month... there's no need to listen anymore, he should be running around already."

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, her eyes widened and she asked, "What? Sixty days?"

Elvis nodded his head and replied, “The pregnancy with a wolf cub is around sixty to sixty-three days.”

“What the heck!” Gu Mengmeng wholeheartedly felt that her life was on fast-forward mode ever since she came to the Beast World. First love, breaking up, marriage, pregnancy... The duration of every incident was fast-paced and short-lived, it was over to the next one before she had time to slowly think through it.

“What’s wrong?” Elvis asked.

With a bitter face, Gu Mengmeng said, “Others always said that women are like princesses while dating, empresses after marriage, Queen Mother when pregnant and.... an old maidservant for the rest of their life after giving birth. I had been a princess for only a few days when you rushed to mate; an empress for less than a month before becoming the Queen Mother. I expected to be that for ten months, and you led me into the journey of an old maidservant in just two months... Sobs sobs sobs, Elvis, marrying you is so not worth it, I want a refund, a refund...”

Elvis completely did not understand the difference between princess, empress, Queen Mother and old maidservant, or he simply did not know the meaning behind those titles.

Gu Mengmeng had extreme mood swings after she became pregnant and Elvis was especially scared when she was angry, as she had said miscarriages could be resulted from pregnant women being angry, hence being especially dangerous.

So Elvis asked carefully, “Do you want to be a princess, the empress or the Queen Mother?”

Gu Mengmeng sobbed and twitched her lips, she said, “None, I want to be the queen.”

“Alright, you will be the queen. We will host the Heaven Worshipping ceremony when all the ice has melted and ask Lea to report to the Beast Deity, that you are the queen in Saint Nazaire, is that okay?” Elvis asked earnestly.

Looking at Elvis’s serious expression, Gu Mengmeng smiled, raised her head and said, “That’s too much of a trouble, I only want to be your queen.”

Elvis smiled too. He kneeled on the floor with his upper body circling around Gu Mengmeng’s waist. He said, “The queen belonging to me only? Can I even be happier?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head proudly and said in a ‘glad you know’ manner, “The queen has an order for you now, you have to help look after the children, not leaving them on my own and becoming the hands-off boss.”

Elvis smiled and said, "Idiot, the females in the Beast World are only in charge of breastfeeding, the males will do all the rest."

Gu Mengmeng was overjoyed, her curved eyebrows shoot up and she asked, "So, you are the one taking care of the children? Not me?"

Elvis nodded and said, "Yes, Your Majesty."

"But you have to look after the children and take care of me during confinement at the same time, won't that be too tiring for you?" Although Gu Mengmeng never had children before, she had experience of looking after them and she knew the horror of naughty children by heart.

"Confinement?" Elvis spotted the key point.

"Yes," Gu Mengmeng nodded and continued, "After giving birth, all the bones in the body would be shifted more or less, hence a confinement period of one month is needed to rest in bed and let the bones return to their original position. No wind blowing and no strenuous activities, unless you want to have long-term complications and suffer for the rest of your life."

Gu Mengmeng did not know at that time how she had dug a hole for herself with that sentence.

Elvis remembered her words by heart, before replying, "It's alright, Lea can look after the children while I look after you."

Gu Mengmeng raised her eyebrows and asked, "Wouldn't it be inappropriate to throw your kids to others?"

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng on her forehead and said, “Xiao Meng, don’t be too cruel to Lea, at least let him do something for you, if not he really won’t be able to live on.”

“But...” Gu Mengmeng frowned and felt guilty.

But Elvis smiled, in an extremely evil manner.

“Unmated males won’t be able to break past the bottleneck of the third-level. I’m a fourth-level beast now, while Lea is a third... He can’t win me.”

Gu Mengmeng took a while to react. She looked at Elvis with the ‘I didn’t know you are such a scheming bitch’ face and said, “So you are saying... those that can’t defeat you can’t be our family members, but all those that are unmated can’t win you... So you are just using Lea as a free Filipino maid? Is this okay? Is this really okay? You two... Aren’t you guys the best buddies that had stuck together for years? What about being best friends through life and death? The boat of friendship had sunk just like that?”

But Elvis calmly replied, “If he’s unwilling, he can leave straight away, I will not stop him.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head helplessly and said, “I didn’t know you are this kind of Elvis, how evil....”

Elvis pulled over Gu Mengmeng’s hand and kissed it repeatedly, then he said, “So, you don’t need to feel guilty at all. Just accept all the kindness he treats you with. You can consider whether to accept him when he finally beats me someday.”

Gu Mengmeng wanted to say something more, but Elvis had already stood up and walked towards the stone pot. He said, “Lea had cooked three-day worth of food before leaving and he asked me to pour one bowl into the pot to heat it up for you every time. It shall be this bowl today...”

While saying, Elvis had poured the entire bowl of who-knows-what into the pot. There were boiled water of a fingertip’s depth in the pot originally.

With the frozen food dropping into the pot, the boiling water splashed all over. But Elvis was indifferent and did not bother moving, just staring at the pot as though he was facing some powerful enemies, repeatedly comparing what was happening in the pot to what Lea had told him when the food was ready to serve.

Looking at Elvis, whom was not the best at cooking, continuously learning and trying for her, Gu Mengmeng could not bring herself to discuss with him further about other men, especially when the man was — her ex.

But what Elvis did not tell Gu Mengmeng was, when she had forgiven everything Lea had done and willing to accept him, he could... lose to Lea anytime.

Chapter 285 - Mengmeng, I'm Back

The third day, Elvis's cave was broken into again.

Wrapping herself with a piece of hide, Gu Mengmeng went out and saw Lea sweeping the snow off his body with his furry tails under the clear moonlight. The moment he saw Gu Mengmeng, the snow fox turned into a human, while his hairy big tail and a pair of adorable fox ears remained.

"Mengmeng, I'm back." Lea's smile was even brighter than the moonlight. He stamped a few times at the entrance to shake off all the remaining snow on his body, but raised his hand to stop Gu Mengmeng from approaching. "Go and wait inside first, I will come in when my body is warmed by the fire," he said.

"It's alright, I don't feel cold." Gu Mengmeng said as she walked to Lea and held his hand. Together, they walked deeper into the cave. Gu Mengmeng said, "Elvis was just talking about how we have finished all the food you've. If you still don't return, he will have to cook himself. Hey, just think about his cooking skills..."

Lea did not utter a single word, he just followed behind Gu Mengmeng quietly and let her hold on to him.

Everything felt like a dream.

During these three days, he had searched for food edible for her day and night. Every time he was about to freeze to death, he would tell himself that Mengmeng was still waiting for him and he had to make it back alive.

But when he really saw her waiting for him, he was in disbelief.

Is Mengmeng... no longer angry at him?

He dared not to ask this question.

He did not even dare to make any noise, afraid that all these are just the illusions he sees as he was about to freeze to death in the snow. The moment he pops this phantom bubble, he would be left to the death rhapsody of howling winds and icy snow.

Being able to see this sight before dying... He decided to forgive all the Beast Deity's cruelty in the past because of this moment's kindness.

In the inner part of the cave, Elvis was mixing food in the pot. He looked up at Lea and said, "I would believe that you have died outside if you have not made it back."

Lea smiled faintly and did not answer.

Pulling Lea to the fire pit and signaling him to sit down, Gu Mengmeng took a piece of hide for him to wrap himself up. She said, "You must be tired from the three days outside. Eat some food and have a good rest after this, we will talk about anything tomorrow."

Elvis clapped his hands to signal that the food were done heating. He then took the largest bowl and filled it up for Gu Mengmeng, before taking two small bowls for Lea and himself. Elvis handed over the bowl to Lea, but Lea did not take it. Elvis frowned. "Do you expect me to feed you?"

Lea smiled suddenly, carefully taking the small bowl and tasted it.

Yes, this illusion is so real, even for the temperature and taste.

"Wah..." Gu Mengmeng had only taken a month before she started vomiting suddenly. She kneeled at the bedside and vomited till she could not straighten her back.

Elvis immediately put his bowl down, patted Gu Mengmeng's back and looked back at Lea whom had a foolish smile on his face. "Did the cold make you an idiot? Quickly get some water!"

Ah, he felt so happy being able to do a small favor for Mengmeng before he died.

Lea nodded and went to take Gu Mengmeng's cup while smiling. He filled a cup of warm water from the stone pot at the side and passed it to Elvis. But Elvis was too anxious when taking it and his nails accidentally cut into Lea's finger.

Blood... Bleeding?

And it feels a little... painful?

So... this isn't an illusion?

Chapter 286 - You Are the One Who Held My Hand First

“Why are you in a daze? Water!” Elvis was surprised by Lea’s state this time. Lea used to be sharp and sensitive, the slow reaction was nothing like him.

Lea was awakened by Elvis’s call. He wanted to pass the cup to Elvis, but changed the direction midair and he walked straight up to Gu Mengmeng. He carried Gu Mengmeng, whom had just vomited, with one leg kneeling on the ground and another in a ninety degrees angle, he made a chair with his leg to let Gu Mengmeng sit down. Then, he used his big tail to secure her back, turning himself into a human-fox chair. With two hands empty now, he wiped away the stain on Gu Mengmeng’s lips with one hand and passed the cup to her mouth with the other. He said gently, “Come, drink some water.”

Gu Mengmeng had vomited till she was so dizzy that she could not recognize who was the one taking care of her. She took a sip along the opening of the cup, rinsed her mouth, spit it out and swallowed another sip before finally suppressing the urge to vomit.

Lea stuck out his tongue and licked away the water stain on Gu Mengmeng’s lips. This act had shocked Gu Mengmeng who just recovered. She instinctively took a step back and looked at Lea warily, “What... What are you doing?”

Lea stretched out his two hands, one with the cup and another with something that resembled a bunch of grapes but had the texture of crystals. He tilted his head and said, “I have no hands.”

Gu Mengmeng used her sleeve to wipe her mouth herself, before letting out a dried laughter and she said, "It's alright, I will do it myself".

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng with a wronged expression and said, "You are the one who held my hand first..."

Gu Mengmeng could not rebut. The education in the present world was different from that in the Qing Dynasty. Linking arms, giving hot water and leading a friend that had been out for three days to the fire pit was something normal to Gu Mengmeng, but was a special kind of hint for Lea.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and stood up from Lea's legs. "I'm sorry, it was my bad, I will take note in the future."

Lea stood up together with Gu Mengmeng and hugged her from the back. Like a puppy being abandoned by its owner, he looked pitiful and said, "I want to hear your confession and not an apology."

"Lea." Gu Mengmeng did not struggle. Undeniably, the stories Elvis had told her made her soft when facing Lea. After all, human hearts were made of flesh and blood.

"I will not pass the boundary and be greedy for more again." Unlike Elvis who hugged Gu Mengmeng with all his strength every single time, Lea's hug was soft and loose, giving Gu Mengmeng the space to breathe, but not letting her to struggle as she likes. It was like a gentle trap, not evoking fear in people but deadly in a similar way. "I'll follow the boundaries you have set, so... please be a little nicer to me, just a little, okay?"

Gu Mengmeng could not reject him. Elvis had said that she was the only person that had managed to bring Lea out from his own hatred to become someone truly alive. If she shot him down brutally, it might be Lea's last straw. After all, they had been lovers in the past, Gu Mengmeng would not be able to bring herself to push Lea to his death.

But giving in out of pity... Gu Mengmeng admitted that she was not so kind to make sacrifices to this exte

Chapter 287 - Can People That Loved Each Other Still Be Friends?

“Lea, let’s forgive each other.” Gu Mengmeng pushed away Lea’s hug lightly, the mild gesture instead made Lea unable to continue restraining her.

Gu Mengmeng took a step in front, before turning to look and Lea and she said, “When I liked you last, I liked you with all my heart. I don’t know where we will be in now if not for all the things that happened. Perhaps I would have mated with you and be pregnant with your children, or I will break up with you even if you didn’t do the things that made me sad. Because... like is just like, it’s different from love.”

Lea was forcing to keep his smile and his shivering lips looked pitiful.

He plucked one from the crystal-like grapes and stuffed it into Gu Mengmeng’s mouth without saying anything, before explaining on his own, “This is the Xue Ling fruits which only ripen in the winter. There are not many that have tried it in the Beast World, even for my tribe of snow foxes, they would not take the risk to look for it in the winter. But it has a special taste and all the females love it after eating. Eat more while it’s still fresh and don’t let my efforts go to waste.”

After that, he stuffed all the Xue Ling fruits into Gu Mengmeng’s arms, before turning to walk away.

That back... He had fled away.

He had always stayed calm and composed facing enemies several times more powerful than him, yet he always crumbled under Gu Mengmeng.

He did not know what he was scared about. At least Gu Mengmeng did not erase that relationship away, she said that she wanted to forgive each other, she even admitted that she liked him herself. Shouldn't it be something worth celebrating about? But why... why did he felt a sharp pain in his heart? It was even more painful than the day she had mated.

Ah, it must be due to some frozen bites he had gotten while searching for the Xue Ling fruits, if not how could he explain the thousand-year old sheet of ice covering his heart. Hard yet brittle, it will shatter into the smallest ice pieces with just one sentence from Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng looked at the Xue Ling fruits in her arms and did not chase after Lea.

She knew that with Lea's cleverness, he would have figured out what she had wanted to say. Giving him some time to slowly accept it might be the best way for everyone.

Can people that had loved each other still be friends?

This was a debate that questioned humanity. To Gu Mengmeng herself, she did not believe in it happening.

But to Lea, what other titles could she give him other than being 'friends'?

Gu Mengmeng sighed and sat back on her bed. Using smalls bowls, she split the Xue Ling fruits into three portions. She took one bowl and started eating. The taste was a little sour and a little sweet, something like mangosteen without skin, or a kiwi that had not fully ripened. The taste was special, but successfully suppressed the revolting feeling Gu Mengmeng had been feeling since just now.

Her bowl of Xue Ling fruits was finished in no time. Gu Mengmeng licked her lips and reached out towards Elvis's bowl secretly.

"Just one more, just one..."

Gu Mengmeng's hand hesitated for a while on top of the bowl, before choosing the biggest one to put into her mouth. She was entirely satisfied with the crunchiness and sweetness in her mouth.

“Ah, the food in others' bowls are always the best~” Gu Mengmeng sucked her fingers and looked at the bowl of Xue Ling fruits with eager eyes, before saying softly, “Just one last one, one last one.”

Like a thief, Gu Mengmeng reached out to the second biggest Xue Ling fruit in Elvis's bowl. Her watery eyes darted across the place to ensure that no one saw what she was doing, before quickly plucking it off and stuffed it into her mouth. She felt so happy that she was willing to jump 360 degrees before landing again.

Chapter 288 - These Are All Yours

Elvis heard her and came over, holding a bowl of piping hot boiled fish meat with potatoes. Lea was walking behind him and he was holding onto some sweet potatoes that he just roasted at the fireplace. Once the two of them came in, they saw Gu Mengmeng kneeling on the side of the bed, her two eyes staring intently at the two bowls by her bed. That expression of her swallowing her saliva profusely was simply writing ‘I want to eat’ on her face. The look of her trying her best to hold back was really lovable.

Elvis sat next to Gu Mengmeng and peered over at the two bowls. The bowls were filled with Xue Ling fruits. However, one bowl had more fruits than the other.

“What’s wrong?” Elvis did not understand why Gu Mengmeng was staring at the two bowls in a daze. “If you want to eat, go on and eat. These are all yours.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and pointed at the bowl with more fruits, crying, “This bowl is Lea’s.” Then, she pointed at the bowl with lesser fruits, saying, “This is yours.”

Gu Mengmeng carried the bowl with lesser fruits and lowered her head like a child who made a mistake. She pouted and explained with a wronged tone, “Originally, you had the same amount as Lea but I couldn’t help myself and...”

Gu Mengmeng chomped but there was no more sweet taste in her mouth anymore. All that’s left was a sour aftertaste, but this taste made her even harder to stop. She hardened her heart and pushed the bowl to Elvis, tilting her head to the other side and saying while not bearing to look at him, “It’s for you, hurry and eat it. If not, I’ll finish eating all of them.”

Elvis's heart warmed up in a complete mess. Holding the food with one hand, he pulled Gu Mengmeng into his arms by her waist with his other hand. He said while giving off a helpless smile, "Do you think that I'll steal your food?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, pressing her lips together and not saying a word.

Elvis added, "Then, why are you still hesitating? Hurry and eat."

Gu Mengmeng still shook her head, pushing the bowl filled with Xue Ling fruits to Elvis again, saying, "We're a married couple, we should go through thick and thin together. It doesn't make sense for me to have everything delicious to myself while you're the only one facing all the danger."

Elvis knew that Gu Mengmeng was still feeling sad over him hiding her and fighting alone when the stray beasts intruded their cave. She had been blaming herself for her lack of ability these past few days and accusing herself of having a battle force of only five slag when they were faced with danger. Besides folding her arms and looking on, she could not do anything else. Elvis did not know what was a battle force of only five slag but he knew that it was not a good word so to pacify her, he agreed to bring her and their babies to survival training after she gave birth. This forcefully enabled her to let it go but she still could not entirely get over it.

Every time Elvis saw Gu Mengmeng being so troubled over it, he would feel that he was too merciful in letting the stray beasts leave. If he could turn back time, he must make them regret coming to Saint Nazaire....no, he must make them regret being born to this world.

However, now, Elvis's top priority was to pacify Gu Mengmeng.

After exchanging a gaze with Lea, Lea immediately understood what he meant and he stepped forward to sit diagonally to Gu Mengmeng. Pointing to the bowl with more fruits, he asked, "Is this bowl mine?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded and replied, "Yeah, you found these after working so hard for three days, how can you not taste them? Don't worry, I didn't steal any of yours, not even one.”

Lea flipped his body around and lied down at the side of the bed. Using his elbow to support himself, he raised his jaw and said, “But I already ate a lot of these when I was plucking them. I was just thinking that my mouth is still filled with the sour taste, I don’t want to eat them anymore.”

Gu Mengmeng's eyes sparkled and the delighted smile that came from deep down within her was one that even fing awesome actors could not pull off. Her little hand inched closer to Lea's bowl stealthily and before she could touch it, she stopped and asked Lea, "Are you really...not eating?"

Lea nodded his head nonchalantly before pushing the bowl lightly to Gu Mengmeng's hands, replying, "Here, all for you. Eat up."

Gu Mengmeng grinned brightly from ear to ear as she held the bowl in her arms, saying in deepest gratitude and affection, "Lea, thank you~"

Lea smiled and nodded his head, not saying a word.

He guarded for two days and two nights just for the Xue Ling fruits to ripen. The harsh wind that acted like a blade was as painful as knife cuts when blown all over his body. After persevering for two whole nights, he finally managed to pluck such a small amount of fruits. However...seeing how Gu Mengmeng was eating so joyfully and smiling in so much happiness, it was enough.

Elvis frowned and asked, "These are sour?"

Gu Mengmeng sent a Xue Ling fruit to her mouth before nodding her head delightfully at Elvis, giving her reply.

Elvis poured the Xue Ling fruits into Gu Mengmeng's bowl in dislike and said, "I'm a wolf, I only eat meat and not grass, especially not this kind of sour grass that would make my teeth all soft and numb. All for you, eat up."

The happiness came too sudden, Gu Mengmeng strongly felt a combat in happiness~

Biu~~

My life is complete!

Satisfied, Gu Mengmeng divided the Xue Ling fruits into three portions and ate them all into her stomach before rolling on the bed happily.

Elvis and Lea gazed at each other and smiled, what else was there in the world that was more precious than Gu Mengmeng's smile?

"My mighty queen, don't you feel hungry after eating all the sour fruits?" Elvis placed the fish and potatoes stew in front of Gu Mengmeng, hoping that she would eat at least one mouthful of it.

However, Gu Mengmeng suddenly covered her nose and shouted, "Hurry! Hurry and take it away! I'm going to vomit!"

Gu Mengmeng's heart ached for that little Xue Ling fruits so she endured the scorching hot feeling in her throat with all her might to not vomit. Upon seeing her condition, Elvis immediately took the fish meat away and returned with clean water in a bowl for Gu Mengmeng to rinse her mouth.

Gu Mengmeng calmed down and lied at the side of the bed lazily, dead exhausted as she said, "We're eating potato fish stew everyday, fish potato stew everyday. I want to vomit just upon hearing potato and fish."

Compared to the past, the food they had this year was already considered very sumptuous. But, to Gu Mengmeng who prioritized nutritional balance, this was simply just mental torment, it's a torture!

Elvis looked at Lea and patted his shoulder helplessly, "Seems like we've to trouble you to make a trip again."

Lea smiled and answered, "This is the first time I'm grateful to the snow fox blood in me to be able to accomplish tasks for Mengmeng."

After he finished speaking, Lea turned his head to look at Gu Mengmeng, asking in a gentle tone as if he was a kindergarten teacher pacifying a little child who did not want to eat her food, “Mengmeng, tell me, what do you want to eat? I’ll help find it for you.”

Gu Mengmeng thought to herself, “I want to eat braised pork belly, spicy and sour rice noodles, cold noodles with sesame paste, large mutton buns. If I tell you all these...where are you going to find them?”

Sighing, Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “Forget it. In this world of ice and snow, the food I want to eat will not exist. Even if they do, they will all be frozen and spoiled, we can’t eat them.”

Lea thought for a moment and turned to head to the room closest to the outside. He took out all the medicine he retrieved from his own cave and placed them in front of Gu Mengmeng, asking her, “Look at all these, is there anything I can cook into dishes for you like the yellow root?”

Chapter 290 - Mean, Lea You're Too Mean!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng heard him and instantly get pumped with energy. She knew that many seasonings used for cooking in the present world were used to make herbs in the past. Those that she could name were pepper, aniseed, common fennel fruit, cinnamon, dried tangerine, murraya paniculata...

Slapping her forehead, Gu Mengmeng exclaimed, "Hey, why didn't I think of it? Hurry hurry hurry, take them all out for me to see."

Seeing Gu Mengmeng being filled with vigor instantly, Lea heaved a sigh of relief quietly before opening up the beast skin used to wrap the herbs and placing it in front of Gu Mengmeng.

He was in a rush when coming out from the cave and at that time, he was also not in any mood to arrange those herbs so when he opened the packet, all the herbs were mixed together. Let alone Gu Mengmeng having the ability to recognize any at first glance, Lea, himself, would need to spend some time differentiating the types of herbs.

Lea lay next to Gu Mengmeng and picked each herb slowly one by one to distinguish them before placing them aside individually.

Gu Mengmeng was not interested in those that she could not even name. She just speedily tried to search for the herbs she could recognize among the mess.

Sometimes, happiness would take one by surprise.

"Ah~~!" Gu Mengmeng picked a fiery red rootstock from the mess of herbs, her expression looking as if she had found a rare treasure in this world as she was speechless from all the excitement.

Lea snatched the fiery red herb from Gu Mengmeng and said with a serious face, “You can’t take this, it’s too dangerous.”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and looked at Lea, saying, “What damn danger can a chilli cause? Can your chilli fart or what?”

Lea hid the chilli behind his back, extremely afraid that Gu Mengmeng would suddenly pounce on him to snatch it away so he said, “This scorching glitter fruit is used to attack enemies by catching them unprepared. It’s a magic weapon that can subdue one in a single move. It’s really too dangerous, don’t take this to play, alright?”

“Attack...” Gu Mengmeng smirked and she smiled wickedly. “Don’t tell me you grind this into powder form and cast it onto the enemies’ faces?”

Lea was taken aback and he asked, “How...how did you know?”

Gu Mengmeng slapped her thigh and burst out in crazy laughter, saying, “Ha ha ha, I not only know about this, I also know that another name for this move is called ‘stinging eyes’. Mean, Lea, you’re too mean!”

Gu Mengmeng laughed until Lea and Elvis could not interrupt her. All they could do was to wait for her to finish laughing while gazing at each other in speechless despair.

Gu Mengmeng finally grew tired from all the laughing and she extended her palm out, saying, “I can play with this thing better than you. Hand it over readily, don’t make me snatch it myself.”

Lea hesitated because he accidentally casted a little in his eyes once before. That feeling was really not bearable and he even thought that his eyes were going to be disabled from then on. He really did not want to let Gu Mengmeng touch this dangerous thing.

Gu Mengmeng started being impatient and she tsked before using her elbow to poke Elvis. “Hubby.”

Elvis was at a loss too and he could only look at Lea, commanding him, “Give it to her.”

“But...” Lea frowned. He met eyes with Elvis but his hand was still hiding behind his back.

Elvis did not allow Lea to finish speaking when he directly said, “Xiao Meng is the head of our household. Me, you...have to listen to her.”

Lea was shocked and he looked into Elvis’s eyes, not being able to say a word.

So...does Elvis mean that he had acknowledged him...as Mengmeng’s family member?

Elvis did not observe any of the changes in Lea’s expression as he just repeated himself, “Give it to her.”

Lea bit onto his lower lip but eventually, he placed the scorching glitter fruit on Gu Mengmeng’s hands in utmost cautiousness. After that, he still repeatedly advise her worriedly, “Be careful, you must be extremely careful and not injure yourself.”

Chapter 291 - Did Not Have My Full

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng took the chilli over and in front of Elvis and Lea, she snapped off a mouthful of it, sending it into her mouth before chewing it, giving off a crunching sound.

Terror was written all over Elvis's and Lea's faces. This let Gu Mengmeng felt a baffling sense of achievement.

The two males were so shocked until they were speechless and could only stare blankly at Gu Mengmeng eating the whole chilli down her stomach. She took the water beside the bed and drank a mouthful of it before sighing deeply in comfort, "That was too good!"

Elvis took Gu Mengmeng's water cup over to fill it up again. Then, he asked her with a worried expression, "Are...are you alright? Do you feel uncomfortable anywhere? Shall we let Lea take a look?"

Gu Mengmeng smacked her lips and said, "I'm indeed feeling uncomfortable...because I did not have my full yet. Lea, do you still have more chilli? Give me more of them."

Lea observed how Gu Mengmeng did not seem to be feigning her expression. Furthermore, if Gu Mengmeng did not ask him to use the yellow root to cook, he would never had thought that the herb, used to expel cold, could also be a seasoning. Not doubting Gu Mengmeng any further, Lea rustled through the mess of herbs and found around seven to eight chilli and gave it to Gu Mengmeng. "I didn't prepare that many herbs used for attacks because if I overuse them, others would be wary against it so I only used it to get an upper hand when both me and Elvis can't defeat the enemy...I only have this much of it, is it enough?"

Gu Mengmeng scrunched up her little face and sighed deeply. “It’s a bit too little but still enough to eat a meal of fish fillets in hot chilli oil.”

Lea remained silent for a while before saying, “There’s a lot of this during the rainy season. They would be mashed on the ground without anyone wanting them. If you like it, I’ll pick all of them for you next year.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head. The next moment, she shook her head and said, “Don’t go pick it, it’s too troublesome.”

Lea tilted his head to look at Gu Mengmeng. Just when he wanted to say that he was not scared of being troubled, Gu Mengmeng sliced the chilli and took the seeds out. “Take a small bowl and put the seeds inside. I’ll grow them myself next year during the rainy season. It will be more convenient this way.”

“Grow...?” Lea was doubtful.

“Yeah, don’t tell me that nobody cultivates crops here.” Lea and Elvis shook their heads honestly.

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and she asked, “So, all of you only eat meat? You don’t eat other food?”

Lea answered, “The females will want to eat fruits sometimes while the males in majority eats meat. There’s a small number of orcs who only eat grass but they are an independent tribe and normally will not mix with us.”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes and thought to herself that her knowledge on cultivation was only limited to the theories on books. The only time she tried it herself was also because it was more convenient to make her own facial masks so she grew a large pot of aloes. However, the problem was that the aloes were sprouts she dug from other people’s pots and they just need to be directly inserted into the soil to survive.

Chilli...

should be the same, right?

Gu Mengmeng originally wanted to rely on those with experience to teach her but seemed like it would not work out. She could only try to test it herself. Thus, she looked at Lea and said, “To be safe, bring me along to where you find the chilli next year during the rainy season. I’ll bring two ripe trees back and then use the seeds to grow a little myself. Let’s see which one will have better results.”

Lea was still at a loss. “There’s a lot of it in the mountains and they grow every year. If you want it, I’ll help pluck for you. Why do you need to trouble yourself?”

Gu Mengmeng, however, extended a finger out and swayed it. “I prefer being able to control my rations in my own hands. Depending on the skies for our food is like depending on other people for a living. If God suddenly doesn’t like me one day and doesn’t bear chilli for me, what will happen to my fish fillets in hot chilli oil?”

The Most

Lea originally wanted to find more of it back for Gu Mengmeng next year since she liked this chili so much. That way, he could help her accomplish more tasks.

But since Mengmeng wanted to transplant...then let's transplant. As long as this could make her happy, anything would do.

So, even if Elvis and Lea found no need to transplant, since Gu Mengmeng liked it, they naturally would not have any reason to oppose.

This matter was then set for the time being. Gu Mengmeng let Lea hang the fish, that she did not have enough time to preserve, on a tree outside the cave while she started a fire and boiled water with Elvis.

"Elvis, ginger slices." Gu Mengmeng stood next to the pot and instructed.

Elvis sliced two pieces of ginger with his fingernails proficiently and gave it to Gu Mengmeng before sitting aside to look on.

Yeah, this was the only task Gu Mengmeng allowed him to do when he cooked.

Before Lea headed outside the cave with the two fish that Gu Mengmeng did not preserve in time, he asked Gu Mengmeng, "They've turned so hard already, can they still be eaten?"

Gu Mengmeng took the fish and clashed them together playfully. When the icicles drop off the fish, Gu Mengmeng chuckled and turned to ask Elvis, "Hubby, can your claws...cut the frozen fish?"

Elvis took the fish from Gu Mengmeng and looked at her unhappily. Then, he grabbed her hand and pulled it to his waist, saying, “This thing is too cold, don’t hold it yourself next time.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled sweetly, responding to him.

Elvis’s right hand evolved into sharp claws which he used to slash the frozen fish. The fish was sliced cleanly into thin slices, like a tofu being cut open by a small knife.

The important point was...every slice of fish meat was as thick as the ginger slices Elvis had cut.

Gu Mengmeng stared with her mouth agape and she shook her head in disbelief while clapping along. Upon seeing Elvis turn his head to look at her, she could not help but extend two thumbs up at him, praising him “Hubby, you’re too fing awesome. I won’t dare to pull your ear in the future or else you might go out of control and scratch me...touchwood.”

Elvis retracted his sharp claws and evolved his hand back to its long and fair form. He poked Gu Mengmeng’s forehead and said, “I’ll never use my claws and sharp fangs on you. Don’t worry for nothing.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled in an attempt to fawn Elvis over. “You’re right, you’re right. Hubby loves me the most~mua~”

Elvis smiled and accepted Gu Mengmeng’s exaggerated compliment. No matter how many times he heard it, it’s always useful.

Gu Mengmeng divided the washed chili into pieces and threw them into the pot to cook. Smacking her lips, she said, “We won’t be able to cook the fish fillets in hot chilli oil nicely without the pixian county bean paste. Let’s just eat hotpot today.”

As Gu Mengmeng said, she flipped through Lea’s packet of herbs. She found some aniseed and cinnamon but there was nothing else to cook a hotpot. Thus, after informing Lea, she threw those two seasonings into the pot. After that, she called Elvis over to head to the deeper part of the cave, where they stored their preserved meat, together with her. She found two meat with bones and asked Elvis to remove the meat, then chop the bones into smaller pieces to act as a soup base for the hotpot.

After the seductive aroma- that the thick bone soup gave off- wafted into Gu Mengmeng's nose, she started putting the fish meat into the pot. She used the long chopsticks, that Elvis specially made for her, to stir the soup before sending a piece of fish meat into her mouth. The fish was caught by her chopsticks when it was the most fresh and juicy. Despite the cold weather feeling as if they were trapped in a freezing ice storeroom, it did not affect the freshness of the fish meat even the slightest bit at all. On the contrary, it added a tight chewy texture to the meat. The fish meat sled into her stomach and the spicy feeling increased Gu Mengmeng's appetite instantly. She licked her lips and started indulging in the delicacy, as if the blood in her entire body was boiling too.

Chapter 293 - Threaten Your Own Sons?

Chapter 293: Threaten Your Own Sons?

However, what a pity, Gu Mengmeng ate too much without knowing her limits. In the end, she vomited everything out, including both the fish meat hotpot and the Xue Ling fruits Lea brought back after three days because her stomach could not withstand the irritation.

Gu Mengmeng touched her deflated stomach and suddenly felt very wronged. She wasted such delicious food just like that?

Thinking more about it, she felt even more upset and eventually, she wailed out loud, causing both Elvis and Lea to walk around in circles frantically, hoping to come up with a solution but to no avail.

Gu Mengmeng's emotion stirrings started to get larger. As her stomach bulged bigger and bigger like an inflated balloon day by day, uneasy emotions influenced Gu Mengmeng more and more. Two months later, Gu Mengmeng had reached a state where she could not get off her bed, bend over or even lower her head. She did not vomit as much anymore, but to make matters worse, she could not settle her own bowel movements herself. Everyday, Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to the toilet like he was carrying a child for excretion. Peeing was already shameful enough, pooping should of course, not be mentioned at all.

Going to the toilet was a behavior that tested Gu Mengmeng's limits.

The crux of the matter was that Elvis still discussed the smell and size of her excrement with a serious expression with Lea before analyzing her health condition.

Gu Mengmeng felt that whenever Elvis carried her for excretion, he would sniff in hard behind her to confirm the smell while staring intently at the whole process without blinking at all.

Hello, is this 110? I think I married a damn psycho...

That night, Gu Mengmeng did not sleep peacefully. The little fellows in her stomach were too active, as if they were fighting among themselves.

“Ouch...” Gu Mengmeng frowned, supporting her body with one hand and holding her stomach with another hand, trying to force herself to sit up.

“What’s wrong?” Elvis did not sleep these few days and just guarded beside Gu Mengmeng to observe her every single action.

“The babies are creating a ruckus. I can’t sleep so I want to sit up for a while.” Gu Mengmeng stretched her arm out for Elvis’s help and then with his support, she lied into Elvis’s arms.

Elvis used his own tail as a cushion for Gu Mengmeng to lie more comfortably. Placing his hand gently on Gu Mengmeng’s stomach, he could feel the little fellows tossing and turning playfully in there. He frowned and warned sternly, “You guys won’t stay any longer in your Mother Beast’s stomach so you better behave yourselves. Since you guys are causing my wife to suffer now, wait till you all come out...I’ll return everything ten times back.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and poked Elvis’s brows with her finger, saying, “So capable of you to threaten your own sons?”

Elvis’s expression was quite sullen and he tidied the hair stuck on Gu Mengmeng’s temple with his heart aching. “If I knew that being pregnant will make you suffer so much, I should have ejected them all to the ground back then.”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng laughed even harder. However, this laugh made her stomach feel a little pain. Gu Mengmeng frowned and turned to ask Elvis, “How...long had I been pregnant?”

Elvis wiped the fine sweat off Gu Mengmeng's forehead and answered, "Calculating the days, you should give birth within these few days."

"F!" Gu Mengmeng suddenly understood the situation, "This bunch of wolf rascals are not playing. They are trying to rank themselves in my stomach and see who gets to be the leader?!"

Chapter 294 - Giving Birth Now?!

Elvis was stunned as he asked, “You’re giving birth now?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head. The dragging pain in her lower stomach was like winter in the Beast World that came without any warning or connection.

In just two breaths, Gu Mengmeng was already in so much pain till she could not say a word. Grabbing onto Elvis’s arm, Gu Mengmeng’s hand trembled in agony.

“It’s alright, it’s alright. Don’t be scared, I’m here.” Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to stabilize her body while howling at Lea who stayed at the room closest to the outside.

Lea had not entered their room yet when he understood what was happening. Without saying anything else, he placed the pot above the fire and started boiling some snow water. This was a general knowledge Gu Mengmeng told him before.

After the water boiled, he helped Elvis support Gu Mengmeng’s upper body and used his own tail to cushion her lower body so that her waist did not need to hang in midair.

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s little hand tightly in his and despite her fingernails digging deep into his flesh, he told her with a calm and firm tone, “It’s alright, don’t worry, I’m here.”

Elvis evolved into a half-orc and covered Gu Mengmeng’s stomach with his tail so as not to let her catch a cold and also to block her sight. His head evolved into wolf form, passing by the arched space below Gu Mengmeng’s left leg to lick the visible little wolf head with his wet and warm tongue.

“Ah—!” Gu Mengmeng screamed in anguish and agony. She did not have any other solution besides screaming.

Lea held Gu Mengmeng’s neck to his chest with his heart aching and kissed her forehead profusely while whispering to her, “Don’t be scared, don’t be scared. Elvis and I will stand by you. You’ll be fine, definitely will be fine.”

Gu Mengmeng felt ten thousand alpacas dashing across her mind and she really wanted to lash at them, “What’s the damn use of standing by me? If both of you are capable enough, help me give birth then?!”

But what a pity, she was in too much pain and did not have the spare energy to scold others.

Over at Elvis’s side, the wolf head had already been forced out from inside of Gu Mengmeng. The next moment, Elvis licked the membrane off the little wolf’s face to prevent it from dying of lack of oxygen. He tried to shake and pull its head out lightly to see if this could help Gu Mengmeng have a shorter labor so as to reduce her pain. But this pull almost caused Gu Mengmeng to faint. Upon seeing that, Elvis did not dare to act rashly and blindly again. He just felt that these few wolf cubs were too ugly-looking and were not likable at all.

“Ah—!” Gu Mengmeng breathed in deeply and suddenly exerted strength. The next second, something sled out from her body. That feeling was a little mysterious, as if she was excreting while holding in the pain during constipation.

This time, Gu Mengmeng exerted all of her strength.

She panted in deep breaths with her mouth open like a fish on shore. Turning her head when she was not in so much pain, she asked Elvis weakly, “Hubby...did I finish giving birth?”

Elvis used his fastest speed to bite the umbilical cord of the little wolf, then thoroughly licked the blood off it. After evolving his head back to human form, he sat up straight and used his other hand to support the back of the little wolf's neck in front of Gu Mengmeng. "You've given birth to the first one. It's not like you, it's too ugly."

Gu Mengmeng released her hand that was grabbing onto Elvis and stretched both her arms forward to hold her first child. The feeling was very intriguing. Although this little fellow in her arms looked like a new-born husky, she could not see it as a pet. Gu Mengmeng kissed its eyes that were still shut tight and smiled in happiness.

Chapter 295 - Elvis, Let's Divorce!

Gu Mengmeng wanted to tease her own kid but her lower stomach started crying out in pain again.

Gu Mengmeng frowned and she glared at Elvis. "There's more?"

Elvis nodded and replied, "Looking at your stomach, there's at least two more."

"Elvis, divorce! I'm not giving birth anymore!" Gu Mengmeng shouted but still tried to exert strength with all her might.

After the first cub paved the way, the second labor was clearly much smoother. Although Gu Mengmeng was still in so much pain till she could not speak, the pain from her lower body was not as heart wrenching as the first.

Maybe...she was in so much pain that she became numb.

No matter what, to Gu Mengmeng, this was good news.

Elvis's actions were speedy and agile. He licked clean the membrane off each of them, then held them up like they were next-door Uncle Wang's newborn huskies. He caught them one by one and placed them in front of Gu Mengmeng for her to take a look at the three of them lying in sequence, not letting her carry them at all.

Gu Mengmeng heaved a sigh of relief after giving birth to three cubs with much difficulty. She asked carefully, "This time...there's no more left, right?"

Elvis raised his head and looked at Gu Mengmeng with his face smeared full of blood. He pressed his lips together and answered, "There should be...one more.”

Gu Mengmeng grabbed the water bowl beside her and smashed it onto Elvis’s head, howling with a wailing tone, “Divorce! I want to divorce!”

Elvis sighed before glaring at the three little cubs pouting next to Gu Mengmeng. He replied seriously, “Xiao Meng, just give up this idea. Even if you kill me, I will never divorce you.”

“Ah—! Ah ah ah!” Gu Mengmeng thought that after all the turmoil from the first three labors previously, the fourth labor would be smoother. However, it was the complete opposite. The fourth cub was bigger than the other three. It’s huge size caused Gu Mengmeng to feel as if her body was about to break while this fellow’s head was not even out yet.

Elvis also noticed the abnormality and he immediately lied back to lick Gu Mengmeng’s wound, using his saliva as a lubricant. He even tried sucking lightly so as to aid Gu Mengmeng with some external help.

But, everything was futile.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and pushed with all her might but this child’s head was really too big and it was stuck inside, not able to come out.

After giving birth to the first three cubs, Gu Mengmeng’s stamina had already depleted. If this labor was successful, it would be fine for her but unfortunately, it was a big-head doll.

A few rounds later, even Gu Mengmeng’s breathing became unstable. Let alone exerting strength, she did not even have any energy to scold Elvis.

Elvis frowned. Seeing the completely exhausted Gu Mengmeng and then looking at the fourth cub whose head was still stuck inside, he leaned forward and kissed Gu Mengmeng’s forehead, saying with a deep voice, “Three kids...are enough for us.”

Gu Mengmeng was not in the right state of mind but Elvis’s sentence still managed to touch her heartstrings. She pulled Elvis’s hand weakly and asked with an airy voice, “What...are you going to do?”

Elvis’s blue eyes were filled with heartache and anger. He would not allow anyone to torment Gu Mengmeng like that, not only him, his sons were not allowed too.

“I’ll stick my hand inside, crush it and pull it out. That way...you won’t be in pain anymore.” Elvis landed a kiss gently on Gu Mengmeng’s forehead and said, “I’m sorry, I shouldn’t have let you undergo this kind of torture. I’ll be quick. Everything’s going to be fine again, believe me.”

Chapter 296 - If You Dare To Touch My Child, I'll Die In Front Of You!

“No...no...” Gu Mengmeng grabbed onto Elvis’s hand. She was clearly on the brink of collapse but she suddenly gained energy and clung onto Elvis’s wrist tightly like a forceps. Her crescent eyebrows were furrowed into a dead knot and she clenched her teeth while persevering on exerting strength every round. Gu Mengmeng’s face was as pale as a sheet and she looked like she could not hang in there anymore.

“Xiao Meng, I love you.” Elvis said while evolving his hand into wolf claws, extending it towards the little wolf cub stuck in Gu Mengmeng’s body.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and howled with a low and hoarse voice, “If you dare touch my child, I’ll die in front of you!”

Elvis froze and he dared not move again. He clenched his teeth and could not do anything to Gu Mengmeng.

She targeted his Achilles’ heel directly, causing him to not be able to resist at all.

Upon seeing Elvis give up the idea of hurting the baby, Gu Mengmeng put her heart slightly at ease. She tried to ignore the pain from her lower body and adjust her breathing each time. Until she felt that her body recovered slightly, she then told Elvis, “Use your claws to slice open my flesh where the baby is stuck at. Be careful, don’t hurt the baby’s head. That way, he can come out easier and I won’t be in so much pain.”

Elvis frowned as he stared at Gu Mengmeng, rooted to the spot.

“Listen to me. Over at our side, this is called episiotomy, an ordinary labor measure.” Elvis was still frowning and after remaining silent for a long time, he said, “I can’t....hurt you.”

Gu Mengmeng was really speechless and she struggled with her might to sit up straight. She held Elvis’s head with one hand and pulled him to herself. With their foreheads placed against each other, she said, “If you don’t do it, both me and the child will die. You just have to slit a small opening on my body for both of us to be safe and sound. You’re not hurting me, you’re saving me and the baby.”

Elvis frowned but he could not oppose Gu Mengmeng’s pleading gaze so he eventually nodded his head and lied back between Gu Mengmeng’s legs. With his sharp claws, he aimed straight at the place where the baby’s head was stuck. Elvis’s gaze was deep. He was hesitating...should he choose to kill the baby and not hurt Gu Mengmeng but undertake her hatred? Or should he listen to Gu Mengmeng and slice her flesh to let this evil creature be born?

‘If You Dare To Touch My Child, I’ll Die In Front Of You!’

The sentence that Gu Mengmeng howled with blood-streaked eyes kept replaying in Elvis’s mind. He was neither afraid to be hated by Gu Mengmeng nor afraid of what Gu Mengmeng would do to him but he was afraid of her hurting herself.

Shaking, his sharp nails slit Gu Mengmeng’s flesh and the blood flowed down from the wound. Gu Mengmeng grasped the timing right because of the pain and pushed hard, almost fainting from all the agony.

But luckily, the next moment, her stomach emptied and she knew...her last baby was safely born.

Although Elvis was quite unwilling, he still licked the kid, who made Gu Mengmeng go through all sorts of hardship, thoroughly and clean before placing it next to the other three.

Gu Mengmeng already fainted from depleting all her energy. Elvis carried her over from Lea with his heart breaking to pieces. Without her bulging stomach, she was all bony and light, looking frail and weak. This made Elvis feel extremely uneasy. He liked the chubby Gu Mengmeng and prefer her pulling his ear domineeringly, calling herself queen. He did not like how she was so quiet like a doll whose soul was emptied, not lively at all. Elvis peered over at the four cubs sleeping soundly, his mood becoming complicated.

Chapter 297 - My Sons Will Die Of Hunger If We Wait Any Longer

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Gu Mengmeng woke up, it was already the next afternoon. The four fellows huddled into Gu Mengmeng's arms while whining. If Elvis or Lea touched any of them, the other three would shout at the top of their voices. To prevent waking Gu Mengmeng up, Elvis held back the bulging vein on his forehead and glared at the chaotic four.

But what a pity, as the saying goes, 'youth knows no fear', the newborn wolf cubs were all not scared of their Father. Despite how Elvis emitted his strong pressure, the four cubs would just huddle deeper into Gu Mengmeng's arms, whining and not treating their Father seriously at all.

The moment when Gu Mengmeng opened her eyes, she melted at how adorable her four sons were.

They rubbed their pink noses against her with their eyes still closed and their stubby limbs could not withstand the weight of their chubby bodies as they all lied on the bed, crying softly.

Gu Mengmeng stretched out her hand to tap one of their faces and that little fellow immediately turned his head to suck her finger with his might.

"Are you hungry?" Maybe it's the natural bond between mothers and sons because Gu Mengmeng instantly understood what her son was implying without any communication through words.

She turned her head to look at Lea and Elvis. The former was smiling brightly like a spring breeze while the latter had a cold expression. Those who did not know them would have thought that this nest of cubs was Lea's sons.

“Leave the room first, I’ve to feed the kids.” Actually Gu Mengmeng wanted to only ask Lea to leave, but she felt bad only asking him so she asked both of them to leave, eventually.

Lea shrugged his shoulders and said, “Are you sure you can feed all four of them together...do you need any help?”

Gu Mengmeng did not quite understand Lea initially and when she followed his gaze to look at her own chest, her face started burning hot.

Damn it, there were only two milk bottles, but she had four sons, what should she do?

Elvis stepped forward and held the third brother and second brother up in each hand. “Feed the other two first, I’ll take care of these two.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea, thinking to herself, “Why isn’t he leaving yet?”

On the other hand, Lea sat down on the ground indifferently, looking like an obedient student waiting for an old professor to start his class, not having any intention to leave.

Gu Mengmeng held it in for half a day. The two sons in her arms were wriggling around more and more while the other two that Elvis was holding up were crying out louder and louder, as if Elvis was not their Father but a human trafficker.

I can’t wait anymore. My sons will die of hunger if we wait any longer.

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and said, “That...it’s enough to have Elvis stay behind to help me. Lea, can you help prepare some food for me?”

Lea grinned and nodded his head before heading out.

After Lea left, Gu Mengmeng hurriedly removed her clothing, then use a slightly shameful lying position to start breast-feeding her two sons.

The reason why this position was slightly shameful was because if Elvis was added to this scene, lying on his back, it would be a damn indecent act.

Gu Mengmeng fed her sons while lying down and Elvis was standing beside her, focused on playing the role of a human trafficker. He completely turned a blind eye to any of his two sons' struggle and opposition as he focused on staring at his wife maintaining that flirtatious and seductive position.

Gu Mengmeng was embarrassed from Elvis's stare. Even though they had mated already and they even had children together, it was still weird being looked at like that.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng found a topic to talk about and she asked him, "Why are we feeding these two first and those two later? Did you catch them randomly?"

Elvis shook his head and said, "The one on your left is the first born while the one on your right is the last born. These two are the strongest amongst the four and they've a higher chance of surviving as compared to the two in my hands so they should enjoy the limited food first."

Chapter 298 - Return My Sons Back To Me

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Upon hearing that, Gu Mengmeng was completely dumbfounded. What was this theory? Did he mean that they should protect these two stronger ones first and if those two weaker ones can survive, then so be it?

“Return my sons back to me.” Raging, Gu Mengmeng pointed at Elvis’s nose and howled, “They are all my flesh and blood. You’re not even the one who was experiencing death, that’s why you’re so relaxed right? Hurry and return my sons back to me, I don’t need your help.”

Elvis knew that he must have said something wrong again but he did not know where his mistake lied.

To not let Gu Mengmeng get more angry, he obediently placed the second brother and third brother back on the bed.

Gu Mengmeng circled her arm and pulled the two cubs, that Elvis took away, back into her arms. They raised their heads and cried out in baby voices. Even if Gu Mengmeng could not understand them, she was able to guess that they were complaining about their Father. Thus, she kissed them profusely and pacified them in a tender tone, “Don’t be scared, don’t be scared, Mother’s here~ You guys probably have a fake Father but it’s alright, Mother will protect you. Be obedient, it’ll be your turn soon after your older brother and younger brother finish eating.”

The first brother seemed like he understood Gu Mengmeng’s words and he smacked his lips before releasing Gu Mengmeng’s breast. Flipping himself around, he rolled to one side and gave his place to his younger brother.

Both of their limbs were all soft and there was only one position they could fight for while moving their bodies forward. Gu Mengmeng could not quite differentiate whether it was the second brother or third brother who had snatched the place. The one who lost just by one step felt so wronged that he lied on Gu Mengmeng's chest and twist his soft little body, wailing in a baby voice.

The fourth brother did not have any intention to leave his place as he continued puffing his cheeks up while sucking with all his might. Seeing how her breast grew smaller, Gu Mengmeng figured out that if they did not switch positions any longer, the one without any food to eat would definitely go hungry. So, she supported the fourth brother from his butt gently and pulled him away from her breast. But this little ancestor was like a strong chuck and he did not want to let go, continuing to suck with all his might even after his neck was stretched to the fullest.

Gu Mengmeng's breast ached from the pulling and she gasped a cold breath. Hitting the fourth brother's butt, she said, "You brothers need to take care of one another. If you don't let go, I'll feed you last in the future. And if your other brothers protect their food like you then, you can only go hungry."

Nobody knew whether the fourth brother understood what Gu Mengmeng said or whether he was full or whether he simply just could not hold on anymore due to the long distance. Anyway, when Gu Mengmeng finished talking, he let go.

Gu Mengmeng placed him on the bed and the little fellow rolled to the first brother, placing his chin on his older brother's back before yawning lazily. Kicking his two stubby legs, he started sleeping soundly.

When the second brother and the third brother were both eating happily, Lea carried a stone pot into the room. He was still smiling as he looked at the neglected Elvis and threw him a pitiful glance. Then...he walked past Elvis, not having any intention to back him up as he directly placed the pot on the fire pile, stirring while saying, "The appetites of wolf cubs are very big so no matter how much milk you have, you can never feed these four fellows to their fullest. I boiled some soup with the bones. Share some with the babies to supplement some nutrients. During the rainy season next year, I'll catch a female wolf back from the mountains to help you breastfeed."

Chapter 299 - What's Shame?

Chapter 299: What's Shame?

Gu Mengmeng was still in the breastfeeding kneeling-lying position on the bed while the second brother and third brother were still drinking their milk deliciously when Lea walked in so naturally that Gu Mengmeng was too embarrassed to even scream.

Covering herself up bashfully with a beast skin, she then glared harshly at Elvis who was still reflecting over a mistake he was not aware of.

Lea scooped the meat soup into a small bowl and another bigger stone plate. He placed the stone plate beside the bed before scooping the first brother and fourth brother around it. The two fellows were either full from the milk earlier or did not find this bone soup as fragrant as their Mother's milk so they were completely indifferent towards the soup.

Lea lightly patted their heads and then shook his own head helplessly. Looking at Gu Mengmeng, he said, "Wolves learn their eating habits from their Mother so they will eat whatever you teach them to. So...here."

As Lea said, he placed the small bowl beside the stone plate, signaling Gu Mengmeng to demonstrate drinking the soup first.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and glanced at her four babies. With her physique, she definitely could not feed them to their fullest so she used one hand to support her body and the other hand to hold the small bowl up. After she finished drinking all the soup, she showed the empty bowl to her two sons and said, "The taste is not bad. Babies, be obedient and have a try, alright?"

"That..." Lea touched his nose and said, "The cubs have not opened their eyes yet so they can't see your actions. Their senses are mainly through air movements and physical touch. It's too hard for them to hold the bowl with one hand, they can't learn it."

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded as she looked at Lea, completely not understanding what he meant.

Lea kneeled next to Gu Mengmeng in a seductive posture and lowered his head. He stuck out his tongue and licked the side of the plate lightly before using his head to push the first brother. However, the first brother did not bother patronizing him at all and did not have any intention to learn. He just huddled into Gu Mengmeng's arms while twisting his body and then whined, as if he was complaining to his Mother that a weird uncle just touched his body, so irritating.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's lips froze and she forced a smile, asking, "Must I...lick it like that too?"

Lea nodded his head seriously and said, "You have to teach them a way that they can learn from."

Gu Mengmeng glanced at the two fellows in the beast skin, crying in opposition because they could not drink any milk. She made up her mind, what's shame? As compared to her sons, her self-esteem was simply fing weak, alright?

Gu Mengmeng tidied her clothes and removed the beast skin covering her. She carried the two fellows who still had not finished eating and placed them next to the stone plate gently. The Mother and her four children sat in a circle, the formation looked like a round sunflower. Gu Mengmeng suppressed the strong feeling of shame and stuck out her pink tongue, licking the soup from the plate then looking at her four babies in anticipation. But what a pity, the fellows did not understand what had happened and was still maintaining a despising look. All of them had no intention to learn from how their Mother drank the soup and the third brother was still whining at the top of his voice, clearly wanting to drink more milk.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea, at a loss of what to do. Lea then lay next to Gu Mengmeng and reenacted the action of licking the soup before kissing Gu Mengmeng's face affectionately. He pressed his mouth against her face, sending her to the plate. Then, he licked the bone soup again. Those long and devoted eyes were smiling since the beginning while staring at Gu Mengmeng's bashful little face.

Gu Mengmeng blushed and looked away. Pressing her lips together, she followed what Lea had demonstrated.

She first licked the bone soup and then kissed the face of fourth brother who was lying next to her. After that, she pressed her mouth against his little head and sent it to the plate before licking the soup again. She did not swallow the soup but instead lick fourth brother's mouth with her own tongue that was tainted with soup.

The fourth brother stuck out his tongue to lick his own mouth. After tasting the soup and finding the taste to be quite satisfiable, he lowered his head and started drinking the soup. His little tongue was so much more agile than Gu Mengmeng as he slurped it deliciously.

Gu Mengmeng felt a huge sense of achievement but she did not dare to shout out loud so as to prevent scaring her son. Then, she guided her three other sons using the same method. Unfortunately, she was disappointed as the three other fellows all firmly believe that their Mother's breast milk was much tastier and sweeter than the bone soup. Besides forcing themselves to drink the soup that Gu Mengmeng licked on their mouths, they were all unwilling to lower their valuable heads.

Gu Mengmeng looked at fourth brother whose little stomach was bulging round from all the soup and then glanced over at the other three who were still wailing, waiting to be breastfed. At a loss of what to do, she threw a pleading gaze over to Lea.

Lea shrugged his shoulders and stood up. Backtracking next to Elvis, he told him, "I'll leave the rest to you."

Elvis nodded his head and stepped forward to hand fourth brother to Gu Mengmeng. Gu Mengmeng blankly took fourth brother in her arms. The next second, she saw Elvis's face darken and he grumbled deeply with his throat at the other three cubs. If Elvis was not in his human form, Gu Mengmeng would not doubt those expressions that wolves used to scare their enemies by baring their teeth and showing their fangs in those television dramas.

Gu Mengmeng frowned, what was this person's damn problem? He was still expecting a lot when begging her to give birth. She still thought that he liked babies a lot but in the end? In the end? Terrorizing his kids everyday, and now even getting addicted?

Gu Mengmeng wanted to throw her temper, but she realized that the three who refused to drink the soup even if they die all cried and then lowered their heads obediently, licking the soup with a wronged expression.

Although they looked really pitiful like that, it was still better than going hungry.

Gu Mengmeng heaved a sigh of relief, suppressing the urge to blame Elvis. She just touched fourth brother's back gently as if he was the one who got scolded and she was currently comforting him.

Not long later, the three fellows drank finished the soup. Whining, they twisted their bodies and lay next to the plate to sleep.

Upon seeing the four brothers being so heartless and ungrateful, Gu Mengmeng suddenly burst out in laughter. Carrying them up one by one, she lined them in a row on the beast skin before using a softer beast skin to cover them up. Then, she climbed down from the bed carefully and scooped two pieces of meat from the pot to eat.

"Can you eat meat? Won't you feel nauseous?" Elvis was worried. Since she got pregnant, Gu Mengmeng would never touch meat despite what they said and would always claim that there's a mutton smell making her nauseous.

Gu Mengmeng took a whiff and said, "I'm still a little nauseous but I still have to eat or else the kids won't have enough nutrients and will easily fall sick."

Elvis sighed, pulling Gu Mengmeng into his arms to let her sit on his thigh while eating so as to prevent her from catching a cold.

Elvis placed his hand on Gu Mengmeng's neck and whined, "Others still have to wait for a few years to bear cubs. Why did you have it right after we mated..."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and asked, "Are you unhappy even after I gave birth to sons for you?"

Elvis nodded his head and said with a wronged expression, "I'm unhappy, extremely unhappy. I feel that you treat them better than you treat me. Because of them, you glared at me a few times, scold me and even want to divorce me and threatened me..."

Chapter 301: He Was Just Looking On

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched, she did not know whether to cry or laugh.

Hey, Elvis, do you still want your dark, blood-thirsty, big boss image? Your image had already collapsed like that, can you still salvage it?

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng, he sounded like he was wronged and he swayed his jet black tail twice, resembling a husky who had just torn down the entire house. He placed his chin on Gu Mengmeng's shoulder and tilted his head towards the outside to face Gu Mengmeng's side-view as he whispered to her ear, "The most important thing is, because of them, I've not touched you for a whole two months...."

"Cough cough..." Gu Mengmeng choked on the meat soup she just drank because of Elvis's words. Looking at how Elvis wanted to make love so much, Gu Mengmeng stared at him in terror and did not doubt the slightest bit that having intercourse with Elvis was more painful than giving birth to fourth brother. Gu Mengmeng just thought for a moment when she felt that the wound on her lower body was starting to hurt again so she frowned and said with a soft voice, "I still have to go through confinement, it still hurts now."

Elvis nodded his head pitifully and said, "I know, Lea told me when he sewed you up. Your recovery abilities are not as good as males so this wound has to be recuperated for at least one to two months. Even if you've recovered, you still can't mate for the time being..."

As Elvis said, he bitterly glanced over at his four sons who were all sleeping soundly on the bed with mucus dripping all over their faces. The despising look on his face was exceptionally obvious.

However, Gu Mengmeng was stuck in a dumbfounded state. She stared at Elvis in a trance for half a day before asking him, “You said that...Lea sewed me up?”

Elvis nodded his head and said, “Yeah, he sewed up the spot you asked me to slit. You said that it’s called...called...episiotomy, yeah that wound from the episiotomy. It kept bleeding if we just left it alone and I can’t stop the blood after licking it for such a long time so I could allow let Lea sew you up. Luckily you told him how to sew previously or else I won’t know what to do.” .

Gu Mengmeng really did not want to live anymore. She felt that life was meaningless and she said, “You still lick me in front of Lea?”

Elvis nodded and said, ‘Because I can’t seem to stop the bleeding, no matter how much I licked it so I asked Lea to check if I was licking it the wrong way.’”

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’s shoulders with both her hands and asked him in utmost cautiousness with a nearly pleading gaze, “You...didn’t allow...you....were the only one who licked, right?!”

Elvis seriously thought for a moment and nodded his head, saying, “Before you accept Lea, I won’t allow him to touch the places covered up by your clothes. I remember, you said before that only partners can touch the spots covered up by each other’s clothes. So, I just let him look on, I didn’t allow him to lick.”

Gu Mengmeng completely did not feel happy as she shook Elvis with all her might and said, “If you still remember that others can’t touch the places covered up by clothes, why did you still let Lea see you...see you...lick...hey!”

Elvis was confused and he said, “He was just looking on, he didn’t touch you, really.”

Gu Mengmeng slapped herself on her forehead and looked at Elvis, whining, “But, he was the one who sewed me up....”

Elvis suddenly came to realize what she meant and he looked at her in shock. Frowning, he said, “Back then, the situation was too critical, if we don’t let him sew you, your blood will keep flowing. That...if you’re really angry, how about giving him two slaps? Just like the previous time, slap slap, two times and you won’t be angry anymore, alright?”

Chapter 302 - I Should Have Slapped Your Damned Face To Death First

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng watched as Elvis mimicked the way she slapped Lea and felt like crying even more. Gesturing at Elvis with two slaps in the air, she said, “I should have slapped your damned face to death first.”

Smiling, Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng back in his arms, coaxing her gently, “If hitting me makes you feel better, then hit me. Do you want to hit me on the left side? Or the right side?”

Gu Mengmeng raised her arms, but looking at Elvis’ sincere and gentle expression, she could not bear to hit him in the end. Swinging her arms, she gave him a punch in his chest, turning her head around and ignored him.

Elvis placed Gu Mengmeng’s tiny hand on his palm lightly, carefully caressing every inch of her skin, saying, “Winter is almost over. Once the snow melts, everyone will see Lea walking out from our cave. Then, even if you did not mate with him, he would also be considered a part of our family. So, strictly speaking, he cannot be considered “someone else”.”

Stunned, Gu Mengmeng tilted her head asking Elvis, “What do you mean?”

Elvis had always known Gu Mengmeng never grasped the concept of rules in the beast world, so he explained patiently, “Do you remember Barete’s request before the winter?”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a moment and replied, “I remember, he said he wanted to stay in our cave. Didn’t you reject him on the spot?”

Elvis nodded, “I rejected him, because I knew you didn’t want to mate with him, neither did you feel any certain way towards him, so I could not let him enter our cave. Because once he spends the winter over, it would mean that he has been accepted to become part of the family. However, he has a low status and had no rights to mate, only being able to do labor such as hunting during the wet and dry seasons to provide food for the family, while preparing reserved for the winter. Thus, no female would want to mate with him ever again. If at any point he regrets and would like to shed such an identity, he would then have to leave Saint Nazaire in search of a new tribe. However, there are only a few tribes willing to accept single males. If someone found out that he had eventually left after preparing reserves, then no females would mate with him in the new tribe as well. Even if they had already mated, he stands the chance of being abandoned.”

“So, usually, after people who reserve food join another family, there is basically no turning back. In a better case, they might be accepted by a female, becoming one of their partners, but such cases are far and few between. Most of them only beg for mercy, becoming food in the winter for females to keep nourished for a season. For the worst cases... despite countless seasons, even the females forget they have such a male by their side, then, one day they do not return from their hunting, yet still go unnoticed. It would be as if, no such person ever existed.”

“It is this reason that I do not agree for Barete to come to our cave. If you decide to not accept him eventually, then he would spend his life being a beast pet that you keep by your side. Based on your kind-heartedness, you would either accept him unwillingly or become tormented by your conscience. No matter what, I don’t find any of the outcomes favorable so I rejected him.”

Gu Mengmeng remained silent for a long time after Elvis had finished speaking. Then, she slowly turned to look at the direction of the cave’s entrance, replying faintly, “But... I let Lea stay with us.”

Chapter 303 - Of Course I'm Worried

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief, because he was supposed to say what Gu Mengmeng had said, but after some hesitation, it sounded like he was criticizing her no matter which way he put it, and he did not want to find fault with her.

Gu Mengmeng said it out herself, but Elvis felt his heart ache slightly.

He hugged Gu Mengmeng while saying, "Lea is different from Barete. I know, you like him."

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look at Elvis, "You keep encouraging me to accept Lea, aren't you jealous at all? Are you even worried that I would have a change of heart?"

Elvis thought about it seriously, nodding, "Worried, of course I'm worried. When you were dating him, you did not even notice me, and every day was painful for me. However, because I felt that pain, I do not want you to experience the same thing. Since you like him, then just be together. I have a request, that is... don't let his imprints appear on the pit of your stomach, or else, I might not be able to take it."

Gu Mengmeng sighed. She didn't even know how to respond to Elvis' magnanimity.

After some thought, she replied, "How about, we get Lea to leave before the winter. Then no one would know that he stayed in our cave for so long."

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng and smiled, "Seems like Momnesia is real."

“Grr...” Gu Mengmeng glared at him and Elvis immediately shut his mouth, changing his words, “You forgot that Ian from the eagle-owl tribe once came to our cave. Although the sense of smell of the Birds tribe are not as good as ours, but they have extremely good vision. It is said that nothing escapes their sight. He stood at the entrance of the cave for so long that day, he probably found out that Lea was staying here long ago. Unless Lea and I take this opportunity to kill all 32 people in their tribe, not leaving any alive, we won’t be able to keep anyone from the fact that Lea stayed over the winter.”

Gu Mengmeng bit her bottom lip and became silent.

As she looked up again, she stared helplessly at Elvis, “I just wanted him to save you then, so I didn’t think twice when he requested to stay with us. I didn’t know things would turn into this... I...”

“Even if we joined hands, it is almost impossible to kill 32 eagle-owls at once. Don’t forget, they know how to fly. Once they are in the sky, we can’t do anything about them.” Lea had appeared at the entrance of the cave without them knowing, tilting his head looking at Gu Mengmeng and Elvis, having an ambiguous expression, causing them not to know whether he was smiling or not.

Feeling very guilty, Gu Mengmeng lowered her head, “Lea, I’m sorry...”

Lea walked a few steps forward, squatting down while hugging his knees, looking into her eyes at her eye level. His long and narrow eyes were full of affection and sincerity, his furry tail wiggling behind his back. His and Elvis’ tail both shone under the light, one black and the other white. The two white fox ears atop his head, posing like a goblin yet having an untainted fairy-like appearance, clean like a gust of wind from the winter, so cooling that people dared not breath, in fear that they would pollute the air.

“I said before, rather than an apology, I would like to hear you confess.” Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng seriously, smiling gently yet causing heartache. “I have tried very hard to not cross the line for you to not dislike me. No matter how much I want to embrace you, I can only hug myself like this. I want to kiss you, but I can only look at you from afar, feeling satisfied that I can do anything for you. However, if this still means that you do not allow me to stay...”

Chapter 304 - Do You Think I Am The Damned White Bone Spirit?

Lea paused for a moment, tilting his body slightly, moving towards Gu Mengmeng's ear as if he wanted to whisper a secret to her, speaking softly, "Then, there is only one remaining solution."

Gu Mengmeng blinked, asking, "What solution?"

Lea compressed his lips with a smile, his bony fingers brushing against his chest, saying invitingly, "Eat me before the snow melts."

"What bullshit are you spouting!" Gu Mengmeng jolted up. Maybe because she got up so quickly, it made her a little dizzy, her vision blurred and almost fell down.

Lea caught Gu Mengmeng with his quick reflexes, smiling, "I managed to embrace you, eventually. Since I got to hug you once more before my death, it is sufficient."

Lea's smile was gentle, so gentle it made one feel despair. Gu Mengmeng felt her heart aching badly, she focused and stabilized herself. She pushed Lea aside, "Are you crazy? I have yet to finish this whole cave full of food, why would I eat you? Do you think I am the damned white bone spirit?"

Lea tilted his head, like he was slightly wronged. Touching his heart, he said, "But... I heard the heart of snow foxes can increase one's life span."

Gu Mengmeng was just about to give him a smack before he touched his tummy again and said, "The flesh on their belly is also smooth and tender, tasting way better than the average beast. Furthermore, I am a third-level orc, if you eat me, your body can definitely be much stronger than it is now. This way, you will never fall sick after playing in the snow for a while."

Gu Mengmeng wanted to cry but no tears could come out of her eyes, she looked at Lea then at Elvis, sneering, “Are you sure one of you is a wolf while the other is a fox? Are any of you a fox in wolf’s clothing or wolf in fox’s clothing? Why are you both so damn enthusiastic about letting someone else eat you? Are you not living just fine? Hmm? Look, how amazing is this world, am I right?”

Lea gently caressed Gu Mengmeng’s face, full of greed in his eyes, wanting to sneak a peek, then another peek. It was as if he wanted to just carve her into his eyes, replying in a loving yet lonely tone, “If you really don’t want me, then this world... is not wonderful at all. Rather than living in a hell filled with torture, I would prefer for my blood and bones to integrate into your body, becoming one with you. It is worth dying for as long as I can protect you in some way or another.”

Lea paused and remembered him frolicking before confessing to Gu Mengmeng by the stream. She cried so badly, praying for mercy in his arms when she thought he was going to kill her. He was very confused, did he not show enough affection towards her? Why did this little brat imagine this loving atmosphere as a bloody, violent scenario? Hence, he decided to scare her evilly, and she had really shut her eyes while waiting for death. Clearly shaking badly, yet acting like she was looking at death in the face.

How similar was then and now.

“Once, you begged me to not eat you. You told me you wouldn’t choose between food and partners.” Lea said while massaging Gu Mengmeng’s neck, the place where he once planted a strawberry. Lea’s smile brought back the temperature from the strong memory, his gaze overlapping with that day, looking at Gu Mengmeng fascinatedly while full of affection, using the same exact tone he used that day, “If you don’t choose, then let me choose for you.”

Lea slowly pulled his silver hair, revealing his white neck while moving to face Gu Mengmeng, looking at her with his perfect profile, “It’s okay, it won’t hurt... if you eat me, we will be integrated together, then we would never be apart forever.”

Gu Mengmeng remembered, Lea had once said that to her.

Just that that time...

Sighing, she pushed him aside, "Stop fooling around, you know I wouldn't eat you."

Lea was devastated, seeming to be disappointed by how unmatched Gu Mengmeng was. He patted his tummy, mumbling to himself, "It's definitely very yummy, why would she not like it?"

Gu Mengmeng was really speechless. First Barete, then Elvis, now Lea. What's wrong with the males of the beast world? There is an abundance of resources, so much to eat, why must they suggest for others to eat themselves? Do they think they are damned mantises?"

Gu Mengmeng sat back into Elvis' arms, looking at Lea, "Sit down, let's eat something together."

Lea nodded and sat cross-legged beside Elvis, his elbows on his knees, hands on his cheeks, smiling at Gu Mengmeng, "Are you planning on eating me after feeding me till I'm fat?"

Gu Mengmeng raised her tiny fist, gesturing like she was about to hit someone, "Don't agitate me, I just gave birth and can't take scared, you keep telling me damned horror stories about eating others, if you scare me until I can't produce more milk, I will fight to the death with you for my son."

Lea shrugged, finally getting this topic over and done with.

Gu Mengmeng scooped a large piece of meat for Elvis, "You took care of the five of us for a whole day but I didn't see you eat anything. It was probably hard on you during my pregnancy, you're tired, aren't you?"

Elvis did not reject, because winter was indeed going to be over, and the food kept in the cave was sufficient for them to consume until the prey comes out during the wet season.

To prevent food wastage, Elvis chewed the bones with pieces before swallowing whole, because he realized that cooked bones were much easier to digest than raw bones. Rather than throwing away which is a pity, he would consume it. So, he had often secretly picked up the leftover bones Gu Mengmeng had chewed on and ate them, trying to save as much food for Gu Mengmeng as possible.

Gu Mengmeng had already gotten used to Elvis' habit of not spitting out his bones after eating them, so she usually picked the meat with fewer bones for him, fearing that he might get indigestion and form a stone or something.

Elvis swallowed his food, pecking Gu Mengmeng on the cheek, "How can I be considered to be suffering compared to what you have gone through?"

Gu Mengmeng smiled, feeling very warm inside.

She had an older sister who had a white-collar job in a company before her wedding, with a salary slightly lower than ten thousand, feeling very confident wherever she went. However, she got pregnant shortly after her marriage and her husband wanted to take care of the baby at home, which she agreed to. However, once she quit her job, it was not easy to go back to work. Waiting for labor while being pregnant, waiting for the child to go to preschool after giving birth, waiting for the child to go to primary school after preschool. However, her husband cheated on her even before the child went to primary school because he had enough of the ruckus the child made and the complaints the wife had. He still asked his wife, “Which man is willing to go back home every day to look at a faded old woman?”

Her older sister said, how could he not consider the ties between husband and wife? After all, she had given birth for him.

However, the man gave a snort of contempt, replying with a question, “Which woman can’t give birth? It has originally been your duty.”

That time, the older sister carried the child out and chugged beer after beer, crying to Gu Mengmeng: I’m not afraid to suffer with him, to suffer for him, I’m afraid that he can’t see everything I have done. I never wanted to live in luxury, I just wanted some words of comfort.

Chapter 306 - I Have A Good Husband

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

That night Gu Mengmeng did not return home, only accompanying her drunk friend to stay in the hotel, helping her to take care of her young son.

However, the next day, Gu Mengmeng was awakened by the police.

A gush of cold wind entered from the opened window, pricking at her skin. That opened window, was the exit that the sister that took her child to escape from the despair of the world.

Gu Mengmeng sighed, not knowing why she suddenly remembered that memory, only feeling slightly upset, looking up at Elvis, “Thank you, for acknowledging everything I’ve done. Thank you for comforting me.”

Elvis was sharp enough to sense that Gu Mengmeng was feeling weird, pecking her lips gently, asking, “Why? What are you thinking about?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, smiling, “It’s probably the legendary postpartum depression.”

Elvis looked at Lea as he shook his head, showing that he had not heard the term before, not knowing what to do either.

Gu Mengmeng slapped her cheeks, letting herself regain some strength before smiling brightly, “Alright, I’m fine, don’t worry.”

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng, twirling her hair lightly while coaxing in a gentle voice, “Don’t be depressed, don’t be in despair, don’t worry. You have me.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “I know, I have a good husband.”

Smiling, Elvis accepted Gu Mengmeng's compliment. The term "husband" sounded especially great to him.

"Here, my good husband, how about we get to serious stuff now?" Gu Mengmeng asked while laughing.

Elvis looked Gu Mengmeng up and down as if he was thinking of something, then shook his head resolutely, "Although I would like to, but you have not recovered yet, so you cannot do anything temporarily."

Elvis had instantly destroyed Gu Mengmeng's depressed atmosphere. Taking a pair of chopsticks, she used them to knock against Elvis' head. "What are you thinking about? I'm talking about serious stuff."

Elvis replied seriously, "It is serious stuff. But Xiao Meng, you really have to rest."

Gu Mengmeng did not know whether to laugh or cry. She shook her head, "I know I need to rest, the serious thing I'm talking about is also not the not serious thing you are thinking of. I'm talking about our four babies, we can't just call them Number One through Four every day, can we? Isn't it time we give them actual names?"

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng and thought seriously for a while, then replied, "Whatever, you can call them whatever you like."

"Tsk..." Gu Mengmeng really wanted to spit blood onto Elvis' face, lamenting, "Could you even care less? After all, they are your sons, what do you mean by whatever?"

Elvis said, "My name, was randomly picked by me when I became an adult. Lea, what about you?"

Lea thought for a moment before responding, "I snatched it from someone else after I became an adult."

The edges of Gu Mengmeng's lips raised, she asked, "How do you snatch... a name?"

Lea nodded, “I thought his name sounded nice, so I killed him and his name belonged to me if one day someone else likes my name, they can challenge me too. Many people are like this.”

Elvis agreed, “Yes, I snatched two names before too, but I didn’t think they were very great after I snatched them, so I gave up and named myself. I have met people who wanted to snatch my name previously, but they never defeated me.”

Gu Mengmeng had a despaired expression: What is there to snatch about a damned name? If you don’t believe it, just go to the entrance of a village and shout Gunther, 8 out of 10 would turn around to reply to you. Based on the logic in the beast world, must the damned strongest Gunther choke the rest to death before having ownership of its own name?”

Chapter 307 - Giving A Name

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng sank into an inner conflict as she watched her four sons, with snot bubbles popping on their noses.

What if... their names are too nice... would they one by one be kidnapped like those sons from wealthy families?

The scenario would roughly be like: XXX, ask your mom to give up your name, if not I will bite you to death.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, feeling like her life was about to fall apart.

Sighing, she turned around to look at Elvis, grabbing his hands with both her hands, “Hubby, you will protect our sons, right?”

Elvis looked at the four small ones, giving them the cold shoulder, “Male babies can take care of themselves, I will only protect you.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “That’s good. You protect me, I protect my sons. If someone dares to steal their names, you will help me beat them till they fly away, okay?”

Elvis was confused by Gu Mengmeng going around in circles, but nodded instinctively, “Alright, I will listen to you.”

Gu Mengmeng felt much more relieved, taking a deep breath and was about to say something before she turned to Lea again, thinking seriously, “Lea, I heard... you are quite familiar with the beast deity, aren’t you?”

Lea laughed out loud, “Aren’t you more familiar with the beast deity? I heard he is your father.”

That made Gu Mengmeng so delighted she kept slapping her thighs, “That’s right! The beast deity is my father, so he is the grandfather of my sons. Who would dare to snatch the damned names of the grandsons of the beast deity? I would go back to make a damned complaint to my father, and make him kill those demons!”

Gu Mengmeng could finally be completely relieved at that thought, feeling refreshed, “Come come come, let’s profit on collective wisdom to name our four children.”

Lea shrugged, “Do I... have the right to name to the children?”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while before smiling awkwardly.

True, no one has ever heard of the doctor delivering the baby naming the baby. After all, the parents are both here, isn’t it a little weird to let the doctor name?

But it also seemed pretty awkward to say no.

So Gu Mengmeng said, “Can, of course you can. You can suggest what names to give the children. If it sounds nice, we can use it too.”

Lea pointed at the four young ones, “”Mengmeng”, “Wants To”, “Mate With”, “Lea”.”

“Tsk...” the amount of awkwardness Gu Mengmeng was experiencing was out of this world... at Lea, “Mengmeng is my name, Lea is your name, do you mean to ask my eldest to kill me and my youngest to kill you?”

Lea shook his head, “Gu Mengmeng is your name, so he can be called Mengmeng. As for Lea... Hmm, I am willing to give this name to him, and I can go snatch someone else’s. Eh, what do you think of Barete’s name?”

“So-so!” Gu Mengmeng held her elbow, “Seems like the names you picked are not that great, just give up on it.”

Lea did not get angry, nodding to express his lack of opinion. Then, he tilted his body alluringly, staying beside Gu Mengmeng in a half-lying half-crawling position, wagging his tail like a pet.

Gu Mengmeng looked down, asking, “What are you doing?”

Lea’s long, narrow eyes blinked right at Gu Mengmeng, “A pet beast should look like a pet beast, since you are not going to eat me, I will just be a vixen then.”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes, too lazy to bother about him, only turning around to look at Elvis, asking, “What about you? Do you have any good suggestions?”

Elvis thought for a moment, pointing to the four young ones, “”Scram”, “Scram Further Away”, “Scram Even Further Away”, “Scram Scram Scram”.”

Chapter 308 - Now You Are Actually Lying To Me For Them

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng deeply felt the scorn Elvis had towards the four young ones.

She started to reflect, did she start neglecting him after she gave birth? But she only gave birth a damned day ago, Elvis did not have to have so much piled up grievances?!

Elvis noticed Gu Mengmeng was not too satisfied with the names, so he thought again, “”Scram Away”, “From My”, “Wife’s”, “Side”.”

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis’ shoulder, “Don’t worry, I still love you the most even when we have sons. After all, I already have four sons, but only one husband, so you don’t have to treat them like your enemies. Especially the youngest, it took so much effort to birth him. Taking into account how much I suffered, can you not tell him to scram all day...”

Elvis was silent before he looked at Gu Mengmeng grudgingly, “Now you... are actually lying to me for them.”

With a face like that from Injustice to Dou E, she said with the most genuine gaze, “I did not, when have I lied to you?”

Grumpily, Elvis pointed at Gu Mengmeng’s chest, “You never fed me like this, but you fed them like this for a long time today.”

Gu Mengmeng almost choked to death by her own saliva. Her face instantly became red, she punched Elvis before awkwardly looking down at Lea who was leaning against her knee looking up at her.

Lea seemed like he was thinking of something, then cracked a smile, turned over and asked Gu Mengmeng, “Do you still lack any sons? The kind that has big furry tails.”

Gu Mengmeng snorted, thinking: You still asked me to call you a damned daddy yesterday, and you’re going to call me mommy today? What kind of seniority even am I?

With a slap on Lea’s face, Gu Mengmeng said, “I’m tired, I need some sleep. I will think of the names later when I wake up.”

With that, she got out from Elvis’ embrace and walked towards the bed.

She did not walk far before Elvis pulled her from behind.

Gu Mengmeng turned around and saw Elvis using a gaze as if he was looking at... to look at herself, grudgingly saying again, “You still say you’re not lying to me. You used to hug me to sleep, but now you are leaving me behind to hug them.”

Helpless, Gu Mengmeng returned to Elvis’ side and pounced into his arms, “I’m not going to hug them, I’ll hug you.”

“Hmm.” Elvis replied with a monosyllable coolly, the edge of his lips could not help themselves but rise, full of glee in his eyes.

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to say, she had never seen anyone get jealous from their son to this extent. Just this behavior and he convinced her to accept Lea? Haha, wouldn’t they be acting out... every day then?

Gu Mengmeng was still thinking when Elvis had already walked to the side of the bed, kicking the mattress the four young ones were sleeping on. The four children slid like the cocktails that slide across the bar tables in a bar, getting kicked aside with their mattress. Elvis laughed coldly, and the actor’s lines that could be fitted with that scene would definitely be, “Little guys, trying to fight with me?”

Gu Mengmeng felt her heart ache. She wanted to stretch out her neck to check on them, but Elvis looked at her grudgingly again.

Gu Mengmeng thought, since the four little ones did not even make a sound, they were probably still sound asleep, so everything should be alright. She gave Elvis a smile shamefully, snuggling up in his arms obediently, being a lovable little woman.

Elvis then nodded with satisfaction, then said to Lea, “You sleep on the outer end, block it so Xiaomeng will not fall onto the ground.”

Smiling, Lea nodded. One on the left and the other one on the right, both of them sandwiched Gu Mengmeng in the centre.

Gu Mengmeng pressed her lips together, thinking to herself, “Are these ex enemies joining hands to defeat the main enemy? Does he mean to cooperate with Lea to fight with his four sons for her love?

Chapter 309 - The Next Leader Of The Tribe

When Gu Mengmeng woke up, she understood why Elvis wanted Lea to accompany her to sleep. This was a damned median strip with a 360 degree dead end.

The four young ones kept whining from hunger as they were unable to cross the two black and white mountains before them. Even if they just inched closer, they would be kicked away by someone, or “just nice” get hit by some tail, causing them to roll away.

Gu Mengmeng was awakened by the young ones shouting at the top of their lungs in their child-like voices. Although Gu Mengmeng did not understand what they were saying, but she knew how upset they were from their expressions. Their loud cries to be fed made Gu Mengmeng’s heart melt.

“Oh my babies, come to mama.” Gu Mengmeng kicked Elvis aside, and with a movement of her butt, pushing Lea aside then spreading her arms in a welcoming position towards her four sons.

As if they had been kidnapped, the four little ones showed extreme affection the moment they saw their mother. Spreading their four short limbs, then rolled and crawled into Gu Mengmeng’s arms, extending their pink tongues, licking furiously on Gu Mengmeng’s face and neck.

She patted their tiny heads individually, coaxing them, “Alright alright, mama knows you guys were upset.”

Gu Mengmeng already felt her breasts being extremely swollen just after a nap, both sides of her chest had hardened and were painful with a slight touch.

Lying on her side, she returned to face the grieved male and the gloating male, covering herself with the beast skin and unwrapped her robe. She hugged the two that had not eaten till they were full and started feeding them. Although Gu Mengmeng's chest was hurting badly from the strength her sons were using to suck on the milk such that there was definitely blood in the breast milk, but seeing how her sons were so enthusiastic, it made her feel like nothing was unbearable.

So, even if she felt like it hurt so much she could die, a light smile still glowed from Gu Mengmeng's face.

Perhaps, it is the legend: A woman is weak in nature, but strong as a mother.

The youngest did not win, and that clearly made him very unhappy, so he kept on pouncing into Gu Mengmeng's arms while the oldest bit on his legs, dragging him back and using his two front paws to scratch his back, biting his tiny ears and his neck. He did not use any strength, and was simply playing with him.

Gu Mengmeng pointed at the head of the oldest, her gentle hands touching from his head to his back, then patting his little butt gently. The oldest kept snorting in happiness, and the way he was wiggling his tiny body was extremely adorable.

Gu Mengmeng could not help but laugh at her son's antics.

Seeing how the oldest got their mother's reward, he started shouting too. Gu Mengmeng did not even need to guess to understand that was seeking for praise, so she caressed him as well. Then she turned towards Elvis, "Look at how sensible our eldest is. He's so young yet he knows to help take care of his younger brother. He has the demeanour of an elder sibling."

Elvis peered at the eldest son acting cute besides Gu Mengmeng, not having a care in the world.

Since Gu Mengmeng had her head turned away, she was not able to clearly see Elvis' expression, and could only be immersed in her joy as a mother. She looked at her oldest son while thinking, "Our eldest has the virtue of a brother, let's call him Hede. "He" meaning our oldest will soon become a great son that is as gentle as jade. When you split up the word "He", it is "Wang" (King) and "Ke" (Ability), paired with "De" (Virtue), which represents having the virtue and ability of a king. He will carry on your legacy, and become the next leader of the tribe, how's that?"

Elvis sat behind Gu Mengmeng, pointing at the eldest who was still acting cute, “I like this name, I want to change with him. He will be called Elvis and I will be called Hede.”

Gu Mengmeng snorted with a laugh, turning towards Elvis asking, “Fighting for a name with your own son? Only you would think of doing that.”

Black-faced, Elvis said, “Didn’t you say you loved me the most? And you’re not even going to give me a name?”

Gu Mengmeng really took her hats off to the way Elvis’ mind worked. He convinced her to accept Lea every day, but now he was getting jealous over their son.

Deep inside, Gu Mengmeng knew her husband was open to persuasion but not to coercion. So she pulled his hands to her waist, playing with his long fingers while saying, “But I still feel that Elvis is the name that suits you more. Furthermore, I am used to calling you that. I call Elvis when I need help, when I am bored, when I miss you, when I get mad at you. If you changed your name, I think I would not get used to it.”

Elvis lightened up, holding Gu Mengmeng’s hands back, “Do you really think, Elvis sounds nicer?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “This is the most special name, to me. It carried our memories, and... my love for you. So, this name, is one and only.”

Elvis smiled, kissing Gu Mengmeng on her cheeks, “If you say it is the best, then it is the best.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and asked, “So are you still going to change names with Hede?”

Elvis raised his brows and looked at Hede with cool detachment, “He has to defeat me first before becoming the Leader of Saint Nazaire. Him? Pfft, wait for a hundred years more.”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and turned around to continue looking at her son.

“Baby, what do you think? From now on you will be called Hede, what about that?”

Hede did not know what was going on, he only knew his mother sounded very warm and affectionate when she called him Hede, so he shouted a few times in happiness, making Gu Mengmeng laugh again.

“He said he likes it.” Elvis translated.

Gu Mengmeng was shocked, turning around to look at Elvis, asking, “You can understand baby talk?”

Elvis smiled lovingly, then rubbed Gu Mengmeng’s tiny head, “Is my Xiao Meng really going to get Momnesia from birthing these four kids?”

“Grr... you asking for a beating?” Gu Mengmeng glared in annoyance at Elvis. It was a pity that she broke into laughter after being stern for only a moment, as she pushed Elvis’ arms, “Tell me now, stop beating around the bush.”

Elvis pointed at Hede, “He is a wolf.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, expressing that she knew.

Then Elvis pointed at himself, “So am I.”

Gu Mengmeng batted her eyelashes, “But from where I was, sounds made by infants were meaningless, it was impossible to decipher.”

Elvis put his face against Gu Mengmeng’s profile, lightly licking on her earlobe, then puffing his warm breath on her auricle, replying gently, “Wolves, never make any meaningless sounds, they never have.”

Gu Mengmeng felt her heart palpitate. They had been husband and wife for so long and even had four sons, but she still felt hormones increasing in levels with each passing day from Elvis. Just him moving closer would make her heart beat uncontrollably.

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat, then pushed Elvis aside and swallowed her saliva, taking a breather from an angle where Elvis could not see her. She then said, “Alright, since Hede liked his name, then that’s great. Next...”

Gu Mengmeng patted the youngest that was still fighting against Hede, “Time for him to be named.”

Gu Mengmeng thought of an idea, but she wanted to respect her son’s idea before she mentioned it, so she said to Elvis, “Help me ask the youngest, if he had any names in mind? If he likes any name, then it will be his call.”

“He had no opinion.” Elvis replied for the youngest without a thought.

“How do you know he has no opinions without even asking?” Gu Mengmeng pouted, unhappy with Elvis’ perfunctory manner.

However, Elvis smiled, poking at the youngest’s head while replying coldly, “The weak, has no right to control his fate. He will be called whatever you want to call him. If he doesn’t like it, then he can change it once he defeats me.”

Gu Mengmeng placed her face in her palm. If she was just a little better in advanced mathematics, she would be able to count the emotional trauma her sons were experiencing.

However, the youngest was not as hurt as Gu Mengmeng expected, but was fearless and energetic, rushing towards Elvis while shouting loudly. If it were not for him sounding like a child, looking too cute, he would probably have a strong aura.

Elvis sneered, raising one side of his eyebrows, “Alright, I will wait.”

Gu Mengmeng was completely confused. She had a husband and son that were speaking in a dialect, causing her to be in a disillusioned state.

Not bearing to smack her son, Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis’ elbow, asking, “What are the both of you talking about? Can’t you let me in?”

Elvis pointed at the youngest with his chin, “This little one said he can defeat me in a while and told me to just wait.”

Gu Mengmeng furrowed her brows, then confirmed again, “Did he really just say that?”

Elvis nodded.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and looked sternly at the youngest, “Baby, you can’t talk to your father like that. Good children do not fight against their parents. This way, both mummy and daddy will be very upset.”

The youngest sat on the side of the bed, his two front legs supporting his body while he tilted his head and shouted twice at Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng turned back to Elvis, who instantly translated, “He asked you what is daddy, what is good children, what is fighting and what is upset.”

Gu Mengmeng felt her heart melt at her son’s stupid look, snorting with a laugh and laid in front of the youngest looking at his face, “So, you only know what is baby and what is mummy?”

The youngest shouted twice, scratching his face with his claws and Gu Mengmeng roughly guessed that it was him saying yes.

Gu Mengmeng thought, true, an infant born just a day open cannot even get his eyes to open, how much could he possibly know?

So she explained patiently, “I am your mummy and my husband is your daddy. He is brave, righteous, kind and caring. He will do anything for us to live freely without worrying about being hurt. He is the only one in the world who would never betray us. Your daddy works hard and he is also very great, so you cannot talk to him like that.”

Both Hede and the youngest tilted their heads looking at Gu Mengmeng, silently listening to her speak, not running or fooling around, only looking at her in a daze like they did not understand what she was talking about.

Patiently, Gu Mengmeng continued, “You guys and your father are the most important kin to me, I love you all a lot, so if you make your father angry, I will be very very upset. If I am very upset, I will cry. Do you want to see your mother cry?”

“Owh owh owh~” the four little ones shouted together, including the four who were being breastfed. Gu Mengmeng could not help but laugh at their antics.

She kissed each of them, “Good babies are ones that do not let their mother shed a tear.”

“Owh~ Owh owh~” the four young ones continued shouting.

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look at Elvis who translated, “They said, they would be good babies.”

Gu Mengmeng felt extremely heartened, so she hugged all four children in her arms and kissed them over and over.

The second and third oldest were basically full, so Gu Mengmeng hugged Hede and the youngest back in her arms while the second and third oldest went to play at the side. Lea had gone out to prepare food a long time ago, and it should not take long before food would be replenished for them.

The eldest leaned on Gu Mengmeng's stomach, feeding quietly, but the youngest kept shouting while feeding, just that his voice was muffled and unclear.

Gu Mengmeng patted the youngest's back, saying, "Don't talk when you are eating, you might get choked."

"Owh owh owh~" the youngest opened his mouth, shouting a few times at Elvis before he continued to being fed.

Elvis placed his leg rest under Gu Mengmeng's neck so she could rest more comfortably, while using his tail to support her waist so she did not have to exert strength herself.

While massaging her arm, he translated, "He said he wanted a more powerful sounding name than Hede."

Gu Mengmeng smacked her head, "Ah, forgot to name while I was busy educating them. Sorry, it's mummy's fault."

The youngest was feeding so he could not reply to her as he remembered how she told him not to talk while eating, so he tolerated, only shaking his head to express his feelings. He believed she would understand.

In reality, his mother did not understand anything at all.

"Let me think, what should we name our youngest?" Gu Mengmeng said while caressing his back, thinking, "The youngest is the strongest one among the four children, one look and you can tell he represents the strength in the family. Kanwu... How about Kanwu? Kan means to use powers to ease controversial issues, and Kanwu means to use battle to cease battle. If we can dominate others by force, then using virtue to rule a country would certainly be best. However, if others cross the line, we are definitely not down to be bullied either. If they want a battle, we will fight, and use the battle to cease the battle. How about that? My little Kanwu?"

"Owh owh owh~" Kanwu used his two front claws to protect his food, taking his time "in the midst of his business" to acknowledge Gu

Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng did not have to turn around before Elvis translated, “He said it is very nice, he likes it.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled with satisfaction, pointing at the head of the eldest, calling, “Hede.”

“Owh~” the eldest replied in a child-like tone.

Gu Mengmeng then patted the little butt of the youngest, calling, “Kanwu.”

“Owh~ owh~” the youngest twisted his tiny butt in an attention seeking manner, wagging his tail happily.

Chapter 313 - Because He Wanted To See It

Having named the eldest and youngest, Gu Mengmeng turned around to look at the second and third. These two were much more obedient than the other two as they sat there waiting to be named.

Gu Mengmeng touched the head of the second, “Our second son looks extraordinary, and he can take up the “Xuan” in the Chinese expression “Qi Yu Xuan Ang” (having a dignified appearance). However, the Xuan Yuan Emperor had the same “Xuan”, so if the name carries too much weight it might suppress one’s fortune. How about this, since “Xuan” also refers to “Xuan Gong” star in the sky, we will just at a “Chi” (pond) in front of “Xuan”, meaning our second son is the reflection of the “Xuan Gong” star in the pond. The stars in the water are also stars, shining in mummy’s eyes. How about that?”

“Owh owh owh~” the second straightened his back, expressing his satisfaction.

Smiling, Gu Mengmeng kissed the second eldest, then looked at the third while thinking, “The eldest has morals, the second has looks, the youngest has power. However, one with valor but lacks strategy is nothing but an ordinary man, my son needs to have both bravery and intelligence. The third... just use “Lue”, the “Lue” in “Mou Lue” (strategy). He will be the brains of the four, cooperating with his other brothers and carrying Saint Nazaire forward together.”

Gu Mengmeng thought again before saying, “Adding a “Jia” before “Lue” can be considered that this child has the heart and nature of the Buddha, otherwise... if he is evil, even if he is the most intelligent, he would only destroy the world, and might as well be a fool. I want my son to use his intelligence in kind ways, and be a good-hearted, smart person.”

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look at Elvis, “So what do you say? What about Jialue?”

Actually, there were no such factors considered by Gu Mengmeng in the beast world. What is the use of kindness? What is Buddha nature? In this world, there is only the law of the jungle and survival of the fittest.

However, Elvis would not say that to Gu Mengmeng. Females, should originally live in a beautiful, fairytale-like fantasy, and it is the responsibility of the males to create and protect that fantasy.

Hence, Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng’s forehead gently, “Everything you like is good.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and turned to look at her son, asking, “Baby, what do you think? Do you like Jialue as your name?”

Actually, neither Jialue nor even Elvis understood Gu Mengmeng’s explanation. However, Jialue remembered his mother mention to not go against their parents if not mummy would cry from sadness. He did not want his mother to cry, so since she wanted to call her Jialue, then Jialue it was. So little Jialue nodded, lightly leaning his head against Gu Mengmeng’s palm, caring for her in an obedient, sensible manner...

“Hede, Chixuan, Jialue, Kanwu.” Gu Mengmeng called her four sons’ names in sequence, and the four little ones looked up and responded as if they were musical players under the instruction of the musical conductor. Even the two who were feeding stopped to claw at Gu Mengmeng’s chest, angling their upper body upwards to acknowledge their mother calling them.

“Good, my baby boys all have names.” Gu Mengmeng smiled brightly and lovingly. To Elvis, that was the most beautiful image in the world.

It was at the perfect moment that Lea served the plate of meat soup. After he set the pot, he poured a serving of soup into a big plate, then positioned it on the bed and shouted a few times at the wolf cubs. The four of them then happily ran towards the plate and started drinking the soup, totally not needing Gu Mengmeng to demonstrate at the side.

Surprised, Gu Mengmeng raised her head, “They can actually understand you?”

Lea nodded, “Yeah, I have always been more talented in the area of languages. And having interacted for a long time with Elvis, I know how to communicate with wolf cubs.”

Gu Mengmeng somehow felt like she realized something, asking, “Then why did you all not directly use your language to teach them to drink soup, making me demonstrate?”

Lea shrugged innocently, then pointed at Elvis, “Because he wanted to see it.”

Gu Mengmeng turned around. Shocked, Elvis touched his own nose, “It was his idea.”

Chapter 314 - Come here, I promise you won't die!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Two weeks later, Kanwu was the first one to open his eyes.

The son that Elvis disliked the most had a pair of eyes that resembled him the most. The same azure blue eyes, like the stars and the sea, causing one to fall into a daze. Only this pair of eyes was clearer, transparent, having curiosity and earnestness towards everything, without the coldness and worries that only existed in Elvis.

Gu Mengmeng was extremely happy, holding Kanwu's little face, scrutinizing his eyes, then looked at Elvis, smiling, "He is really your biological son, don't the both of you look too much alike? You are the cartoon version and Kanwu is the Q version. Ah, so lovable."

Elvis had seen this little devil as an enemy, or even wanted to kill him from the start, because he had caused Gu Mengmeng to suffer too much during the labour process. It was because of him that Gu Mengmeng had a knife to her body, which he had personally cut. That moment, every drop of blood from her body set in stone on the basis of his scorn for this son.

Elvis grabbed Gu Mengmeng's waist, holding Kanwu by the back of his neck and threw him back onto the bed while using his other hand to hook Gu Mengmeng's tiny face, staring right into her eyes, "A pair of these eyes is sufficient. You just have to look at me, don't look at him."

Gu Mengmeng glared at Elvis, "What are you doing? That's your biological son."

Elvis raised his chin, edges of his lips pointed downwards and brows furrowed, not saying a word.

Helpless, Gu Mengmeng sighed. The daily fight for love between father and sons made her mind and body exhausted. She could not even have some fun with her sons, their father was just so green with envy.

“Can’t you be kinder? Kanwu just opened his eyes and saw us for the first time. Can’t you just smile knowing that I fought so hard to birth him?”

Elvis’ expression got even colder, side eyeing Kanwu, “You almost lost your life trying to birth him.”

Gu Mengmeng used her elbow to jab Elvis’ chest, “Then may I please ask, who was the one that put them in my tummy?”

Elvis had no words, lowering his head with his brows still tightly furrowed.

Gu Mengmeng shook Elvis’ arms, pleading, “Fine fine, no matter what, isn’t it great that we are peaceful as a family? Stop being a wet blanket, just give me a smile~”

Helpless, Elvis forced a smile. However, rather than a smile, it was more like gritting his teeth, a weird expression as if he was unwilling to scare his opponents. Or... a little like when a husky visits a dentist.

Gu Mengmeng could not help but laugh, her hands intertwined in front of her chest, exaggerating, “How handsome!”

Elvis was amused by Gu Mengmeng. When his gaze reached hers, it was always loving.

Gu Mengmeng was finally satisfied, leaning in Elvis’ embrace, “How nice is this, a peaceful, loving family.”

Elvis caressed Gu Mengmeng’s tiny head and planted a kiss on her hair, replying in a helpless and affectionate tone, “I’ll listen to you as long as that makes you happy.”

Gu Mengmeng skipped towards the bed and carried Kanwu, who had just been thrown there and kissed his tiny face. Then, she put him on Elvis’ head, with a smile in her eyes, “Tsk tsk tsk, isn’t this the legendary Father’s love is as strong as a mountain? Truthfully, hubby, you look super stalwart and MAN with Kanwu on the top of your head.”

Elvis really did not fancy Kanwu, but he truly treasured Gu Mengmeng’s smile at that moment. So, even though he was unwilling, he did not throw Kanwu down in the end.

However...

His willingness did not represent Kanwu’s.

A gush of warm liquid descended from the top of Elvis’ head. A blood vessel immediately popped on Elvis’ forehead. Gu Mengmeng had never been so swift in her life as she grabbed Kanwu from Elvis’ head, protecting him in her arms, with Elvis’ voice echoing in the cave, “Come here, I promise you won’t die!” It was the sounds of his growls, along with Gu Mengmeng’s laughter, pleading for mercy for her son.

Chapter 315 - Are You Crazy?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Out of the four sons, the third, Jialue, had eyes that resembled Gu Mengmeng the most. It was black with a tinge of coffee brown, a little like amber. Also, Jialue had eyes bigger, rounder than Gu Mengmeng's, making it innocent and much cuter. It was because of this pair of eyes, that Jialue became the only one out of the four sons that could receive the love and smiles from Elvis.

Five weeks later, Elvis and Lea both wanted Gu Mengmeng to stop breastfeeding the four sons. This made Gu Mengmeng very resistant to the idea.

“Who only feeds their son with just a month of milk? Back where I was, it was normal to breastfeed until at least a year old, even if the situation did not allow so, at least we would have to feed for a full eight months?” Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis' hand, pleading for her sons.

Jialue hung on Elvis' shoulder, shouting twice, although it was not known what he said.

However, Gu Mengmeng retorted instantly, “See, even our son said, one month is too short. This is torture, it is inhumane torture!”

Elvis raised his head and met Gu Mengmeng's gaze, replying seriously, “I am a wolf, and there is no humanity in the wild. Furthermore, what Jialue said was that they have already started growing teeth, so they can eat the meat Lea cooks, it's fine to stop breastfeeding.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea suspiciously, asking, “Really? Did Jialue really say that?”

Lea nodded, expressing what Elvis said was true.

Elvis' expression darkened, "I would never lie to you."

Gu Mengmeng carried Jialue down from Elvis' shoulders, turned around and secretly poked his little nose, murmuring, "Mummy is trying to fight for your welfare, why are you turning against me?"

Elvis stood up, hugging Gu Mengmeng from behind and placed his chin on her neck, saying gently, "Because this little one has half your blood, so he has humanity and conscience. He knows it is not right to use up mummy's nutrients, as males, they should live on their own terms."

Gu Mengmeng shrugged, unhappy, "How do five-week old children live on their own? Are you crazy?"

Lea added at the right time, "They have already started growing teeth. If they do not stop breastfeeding, it is highly likely they can accidentally scratch your skin. To protect you, they will feed with their gums habitually, which can affect the growth of their sharp teeth, in the future... If they face trouble, teeth that are not sharp enough may cause them to lose their lives."

"But..." Gu Mengmeng wanted to retort, but found her retorts useless.

True, her and Elvis could protect the little wolves, but can they look after them forever, not letting them become independent?

What is taken as a matter of fact in the modern world has become being spoiled here?

Gu Mengmeng sank into deep thought, feeling rather low.

She did not know what she was feeling upset about, only feeling... her sons seemed like they need not rely on her as much.

Jialue shouted twice in her arms, his child-like voice had the power of making him more lovable. Gu Mengmeng kissed his head, "Didn't it take such a short time for you guys to not need mummy?"

Jialue wagged his tail, sticking out his tongue and licked Gu Mengmeng's face, then tilted his head at her without a word, but Gu Mengmeng felt his care.

“Are you comforting mummy?” Gu Mengmeng smiled, “Mummy is too useless, she just let a five-week old baby to comfort her.”

“Owh owh owh~” The other three also gathered at Gu Mengmeng’s feet, clawing at her tiny legs shouting with their child-like voices, as if they were saying, “Don’t worry mummy, we would not leave your side.”

The third week after the wolf cubs were weaned, the snow-sealed entrance of the cave started to come loose.

Gusts of cold wind blew in, bringing coldness but not as chilly as before.

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to the entrance and gave a seemingly effortless push. The snow sealing the entrance fell apart outwards like a tray of loose sand.

The sight Gu Mengmeng was looking at was not aesthetic, without any feels of everything blooming in the spring. The snow that was still in the process of melting split Saint Nazaire into ravines. Although the melted snow was clear white due to the lack of pollution from car exhaust, Gu Mengmeng had no mood to step out of the cave.

However, it was only Gu Mengmeng who did not want to step out.

It was the first time that the four cubs saw anything outside of the cave and everything was new to them. Without waiting for Gu Mengmeng to say anything, they had dashed into the snow. The snow was cold but not a challenge to them, their skin, though not as thick as Elvis, enabled them to protect themselves in this level of coldness.

Whether it was the smell of the air or the feeling of stepping on the snow, the little ones were excited about everything. The four children played catching until they became four little mad lads.

“Kids, come back, it’s so dirty...” Gu Mengmeng shouted, but the little ones would not reply to her as they were busy playing around. They became four little wet and dirty cats, resembling... sigh, they looked exactly like huskies rolling in the mud.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis sorrowfully. Frowning, she said, “I suspect that you really do have the blood of a husky... You are actually a husky faking to be a wolf, right?”

Elvis felt despondent. Although until now he did not know who was husky, it obviously did not sound like a compliment. Gu Mengmeng only had such thoughts when he made a fool of himself or when the children were being too naughty.

“I’ll go and get them back.” Elvis shook his body and turned into a wolf. He dashed into the snow and bit onto Kanwu’s neck in a split second. He murmured something with his throat and the other three little ones immediately lowered their heads, no longer dared to fool around. They followed behind Elvis with their tails between their legs and walked back obediently.

Gu Mengmeng was curious and she asked Lea secretly, “What did Elvis tell them?”

Lea made of pose as though deep in thought, he dragged his voice into a long “Erm...”, before throwing back another question, “What do I gain from betraying Elvis? After all, he’s the first partner in the family, while I’m just a beast pet, what if he gets angry and decides to kill me?”

Gu Mengmeng put one arm on Lea’s shoulders, looked at Lea with the face of ‘you beat me’ and said, “Can you stop bringing up the topic of beast pets? Let’s just be normal friends with each other, can’t we?”

“Normal friends?” Lea thought over these two words, before turning around and he said, “Of course I wouldn’t betray the first partner in the family for a normal friend, I’ll be chased out.”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng had nothing to say. He still placed himself in the position of a beast pet after beating around the bush.

Just when they were talking, Elvis had returned. Turning back into human form, he threw Kanwu onto the floor and hugged Gu Mengmeng on the waist. He said, “I told them that they will have to get out of my cave if they don’t listen to my wife.”

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed. She should have expected it, it was impossible for Elvis to coax the children gently? Impossible! Right?!

Chapter 317 - Bringing the Whole Family Out

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

In the end, Gu Mengmeng did not get to retreat back to the cave.

Elvis turned into a wolf, shaking the ash black fur on his body. Lea then carried Gu Mengmeng onto Elvis's back, while he followed diagonally behind Elvis, with his big tail occasionally sweeping Gu Mengmeng's back in a flirting way.

As what Lea had said himself, he was doing his job as the character of being a vixen, a vixen that had been approved by the legal wife.

The four littles ones were banned from running around in the snow due to their mother. They were too small and unable to clean off the dirt on their body through transforming like Elvis. If their fur remained wet all the time, Gu Mengmeng was worried that they might catch a cold.

Hence, Jialue, the only one to Elvis's liking, laid beside Gu Mengmeng's legs obediently, in a position close to Elvis shoulders. The biggest brother Kede, was carried by Gu Mengmeng in her arms, occasionally acting cute to her. The second brother Chixuan laid on Lea's shoulders, his big eyes darted across the surroundings, excited to see all the new things. His front paws scratched and knocked on Lea's shoulders, murmuring words that no one could understand with his baby voice.

The naughtiest Kanwu was carried by Lea in his arms, as he had been too disobedient, always wanting to run on the ground and he had howled a few times to say that he could walk himself. He only settled down after Elvis gave him a stare, he did not dare to fool around openly, but was always trying to break free from Lea's arms secretly.

Lea grabbed his two hind legs and gave a light slap on his butt with the other hand. He said using beast language, “level pressure cannot be crossed. At least wait until you have mated if you want to get out of my hands. You can give up now, I won’t do anything that will make your mother frown.”

Gu Mengmeng could not understand what Lea had said, she turned back to look at Lea and Kanwu, but the two of them pretended nothing had happened in unison and kept smiling pretentiously at Gu Mengmeng.

Elvis brought the whole family to the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment. It was strange. Everywhere had melted snow, except this stone being so dry, without a single trace of water.

Elvis jumped onto it swiftly, before bending to let Gu Mengmeng down.

While Gu Mengmeng was jumping down from Elvis’s beast form with the two children, Lea had turned into his fox form. He sat down into the taking-care-of-his-fur-state. He bit into Gu Mengmeng’s clothes and signaled for her to sit on him.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “Today is the day of Cold Break, all the tribesmen are coming in later, you are the tribe’s witch doctor, have some pride and change back.”

Lea did not force her, just stood up and shook his body. The fluffy and snow white fur on him looked like he was filming commercials for a shampoo brand.

But Lea did not change back to human form, neither did Elvis. The two of them stood at the boundaries of the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment. Without any communication, the two of them raised their head and howled at the sky uniformly.

“Owooooo—”

With Lea and Elvis’s howls ending, there came various howling answers from different beasts in the distance.

“Roar—”

“Wolf wolf,”

...

Then, Gu Mengmeng saw beasts approaching them one by one.

She would have felt scared by them in the past, but right now, she was glad to see them.

It was great to see everyone managed to survive the winter season, the fear she had before the winter of never seeing many familiar people again did not come true.

Chapter 318 - Did You Go to South Korea and Get a Liposuction

Gu Mengmeng wanted to identify the people she was familiar with from the crowd, but to her, everyone's beast form was no different from ordinary beasts and she honestly could not tell who was who. However, the females sitting on the males' back were easy to recognize.

From far, Gu Mengmeng saw a cute girl wearing a large size hide dress, rubbing her eyes and coming over on a golden leopard's back. Gu Mengmeng recognized the pair of ears, but was not too sure about the face.

The person had skinny waist, long legs, arms thinner than Gu Mengmeng's, small oval face and watery eyes filled with the sleepiness unique in the spring season. With a yawning face making people instantly fall in love with her, she saw Gu Mengmeng from the distance and smiled sweetly, she waved her hands and shouted, "Gu Mengmeng, Gu Mengmeng~"

Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes, hesitating for a while before letting out a reluctant call, "Are you... Sandy?"

Sandy pouted with unhappiness written clearly over her face. She complained, "It was just one winter since we haven't met, why do you look like you don't recognize me at all?"

Gu Mengmeng clapped her hands in awe and said, "What the heck, what did you do during the winter? Did you go to South Korea and get a liposuction?"

"Owooo..." The golden leopard that was carrying Sandy lowered his head and scratched on the ground with his front claws, letting out an unknown howl.

Sandy smiled, hugged the leopard's head and landed a kiss on it. She said, "It was not easy to just stay alive, who wouldn't slim down? Don't worry, I will try harder to eat more this year, such that I will be even fatter the coming spring."

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched. She kneeled down next to Sandy, pointed to the leopard and asked, "Is this Bode?"

Sandy nodded her head and replied, "Yeah, Bode is my only partner who is a leopard."

Gu Mengmeng continued asking, "Why hadn't he change back to human form, is he trying to play as the Pink Panther?"

Sandy smiled and replied, "Although there are more food stocked up for this year, it wasn't enough for everyone to be full. It was not easy for everyone to survive, now they don't have the strength to turn into human form. But after a while when the Leader brings everyone out for a hunt and have a feasting, they should be able to change when they are back."

Gu Mengmeng replied with 'oh' although she did not fully understand it, thinking to herself that they were just too hungry.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to say something more, but the four little ones could not contain their excitement and ran to her feet. They circled around Gu Mengmeng, wagging their tails and kept howling.

Gu Mengmeng patted them on their little heads and asked, "What's up? Didn't you guys ate just before we left the house, are you hungry again?"

"Owoooo~" The little ones shook their heads intensely.

"Then what do y'all want?" Gu Mengmeng felt despaired, she even had language barriers with her own children...

Sandy pulled Gu Mengmeng's hand in disbelief, her eyes widened to an extent never before, pointed to the four little ones and she asked while stuttering, “Gu... Gu Mengmeng... Are these your sons? You gave birth during the winter? You... you gave birth to them?”

Gu Mengmeng felt hilarious, she grabbed Jialue on her laps into her arms. With their faces against each other, she asked, “My son, my own son. How is it? Does he resemble me?”

Sandy nodded intensely and the admiration on her face exceeded the horizon. Tears welled up in her eyes and she almost could not contain her emotions. She hugged Gu Mengmeng in excitement and said incoherently, “That’s great! That’s great! We finally have cubs.”

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched and did not know how to react. Sandy's words sounded so ambiguous! As though the kids were from Sandy and herself.

"Owoooo..." Jialue was squished in between Sandy and Gu Mengmeng, almost suffocating. He struggled to escape, but this strong auntie had so much strength even though she looked so skinny. He struggled but to no avail and he had to let out a few pathetic howls to gain his mother's attention.

But luckily, Sandy immediately let go of her grip once Jialue voiced out. A little embarrassed, she wiped her tears and said, "Sorry sorry, I was too excited. Saint Nazaire finally has a bunch of cubs. Our tribe finally has hope."

Gu Mengmeng knew, Saint Nazaire was formed by Lea and Elvis. Since then, only Nina had given birth to a nest of eaglets, whom had all died in their father's hands due to Nina's distorted mindset. From then on, Saint Nazaire had no new babies. Every year during the winter, a batch of males would not make it, so the tribe's most beautiful female would step out to attract more males to join the tribe as replenishment during the spring's beauty contest. But nobody knows how many of these males could stay alive after the next winter, hence Saint Nazaire's cohesiveness was not as strong as other tribes with greater reproductivity.

Saint Nazaire's core members only consisted of Lea and Elvis, while the other mated males followed wherever their females go. If one day the female was unhappy and decided to leave Saint Nazaire, the males would definitely follow. On the other hand, it was highly possible for the unmated males to meet eyes with females from other tribes during the beauty contest and run away with them...

Hence, it was extremely important to have cubs born in the tribe itself, as it symbolized that the tribe's core members would increase. Of course, it would be even better to have baby girls. If the baby girl was from the tribe leader's family, her partner would be the center core of the entire tribe which signified the strongest cohesiveness to the tribe.

However, for a tribe that was on such a shortage like Saint Nazaire, it was a huge joyous occasion to have the four fresh troops now, so Sandy couldn't be blamed for her excitement.

Gu Mengmeng patted on Sandy's hands and said, "Hey, don't be so excited. You might give birth to some baby girls for our tribe this year. If that happens, let's have infant matrimony."

Sandy tilted her head and asked, "What's infant matrimony?"

Gu Mengmeng waved and signaled all the four little ones to come over, before saying, "If you give birth to baby boys in the future, let them become brothers, help and support each other, back each other up. If you give birth to a baby girl..."

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her nose, let out an awkward smile and said, "Then let her choose one she's satisfied with my family, give some priority to my sons."

While Gu Mengmeng did not want to plan for her sons' marriages so early, the gender ratio in this world was too unbalanced, she could not possibly make her sons be single for life, right?

She would not say anything if they stayed single, but what if they ended up distorted females like Nina?

Compared to that, Gu Mengmeng rather her sons to be together with Sandy's daughters, at least they knew each other long enough.

Sandy had a soft heart, her daughters would not be any worse. Besides, they were both from the same tribe, if Sandy really gave both to a female cub, Gu Mengmeng would educate the cub herself too, as the daughter-in-law to be.

Chapter 320 - Such a Gossip Bear

“Alright,” Sandy agreed readily. She smiled sweetly and said, “If I really do give birth to some female cubs, I will let them choose your sons as their first partner.”

Gu Mengmeng laughed, she pushed their sons’ butts and said, “Hey guys, come over quickly and greet your future mother-in-law!”

“Mother-in-law?” Sandy tilted her head and asked.

“That refers to the mother beast of one’s female partner, we call it mother-in-law in my place.” Gu Mengmeng explained.

“Then what should the female partner’s father beast be called?” Sandy continued asking.

“Father-in-law,” Gu Mengmeng did not hesitate and replied directly.

Sandy nodded her head, thought for a moment and said, “So Elvis should call Lea ‘father-in-law’?”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng choked on her saliva. She let out a dried laughter and said, “You are such a gossip bear, can’t you think of some other things?”

Sandy chuckled and said, “I felt so much contented seeing you and Elvis finally mated. You don’t know how much I was worried that you might leave Saint Nazaire. I even had it all thought out, if you decided to leave, I will follow you wherever you go. Although Saint Nazaire is really important to me and I have led a stable life here all along, I don’t want to leave you.”

Sandy hugged Gu Mengmeng’s waist and acted coquettishly.

Gu Mengmeng patted Sandy's back like how she coaxed her children and said, "I won't leave, I won't leave, I am still waiting for my sons to get married with your daughters."

The four little ones had no interest in their 'mother-in-law', especially when their mother was preoccupied with this 'mother-in-law' after she came by. Usually, their mother would hug them, but now she was hugging this strong auntie.

Tsk, how annoying.

The four little ones snorted and ran away to play elsewhere.

Seeing the four little ones had left, Sandy sat up and whispered, "Where is Elvis's mark on your body? Can I see it?"

Gu Mengmeng pulled her sleeve to show her collarbone, where an unruly black wolf stood with its head high.

"Ah, it's so close to your heart, he must be so happy, right?" Sandy nudged Gu Mengmeng, before scanning Elvis with the corner of her eyes. She covered her mouth and chuckled non-stop.

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips and said, "I actually felt a little guilty. Only if the mark could be left on my chest, now... I always feel that I was being disloyal..."

Sandy shook her head in disagreement and she said, "It just shows that he did not work hard enough to leave his mark on your heart, how could you be blamed for this?"

Gu Mengmeng smiled and did not rebut. She knew that the views in the Beast World was different from her own. Sandy might not be able to understand it no matter what she says.

So Gu Mengmeng changed the topic and asked, "What about you? Where is your mating mark? Why did I not see it before?"

Sandy turned around, moved her bandeau higher. At where the bandeau was originally covering, Gu Mengmeng saw Bode's mark.

"Ah, on the back, somewhere close to the heart too."

Sandy nodded and said, "Of course, he is the first partner, why would I choose him if I don't like him?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded and asked, "What about the rest? You have eight partners, right?"

Sandy nodded and flipped her hide dress up. Between her thighs lied a bear and a wolf, Gu Mengmeng knew that the bear Adali, the one that was almost killed by Nina's partners. Gu Mengmeng knew the wolf too, but could not remember his name.

Just when Gu Mengmeng wanted to gossip about Sandy and her new partner Berly, she saw another female walking in with all the males clustered around her in the crowd of beasts.

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched and let out a cold laughter. She said, "After one winter, why did you look like you went for plastic surgery, while this one stilled looked as ugly and as fat as before?"

Sandy followed Gu Mengmeng's look and glanced over, before twitching her mouth too. She said, "Every year she had been like this, god knows how many partners she had eaten this year round."

Sandy's words sent a shiver down Gu Mengmeng's spine. She looked at Sandy as though she had encountered a ghost and said, "She... eat her partners every year?"

Sandy nodded and said, "Partners are just the back up food during winter to her. So she readily accepts any males that confess to her. But some males ended up in her stomach before even having the chance to mate with her. There, you see..."

Sandy did a head count as she pointed to Nina's family, but Gu Mengmeng heard that she was not counting numbers, but names. After finishing the head count, she said, "Quentin and some first-level beasts that just joined Saint Nazaire last year are gone."

Gu Mengmeng then looked carefully among Nina's partners, sure enough, there were no eagles.

Although Gu Mengmeng could not recognize the males from their beast forms, the only eagle beast in Saint Nazaire was Quentin, in addition his size comparable to the one in 'The Giant Eagle and Its Companion' and the broken wings, she could tell him apart nonetheless. But after scanning around, sure enough she did not see Quentin.

Gu Mengmeng counted carefully again. Twenty-eight.

There were only twenty-eight of Nina's partners left.

Gu Mengmeng said softly, "Elvis said that everyone in the tribe have to take part in the first hunt of the spring every year and nobody stays behind in the cave, is that true?"

Sandy nodded as an answer.

Gu Mengmeng asked again, "So all of her males are here?"

Sandy continued nodding.

Gu Mengmeng felt revolted, she managed to suppress the feeling and said, Elvis said that she had forty-three partners in total, now there are twenty-eight left, which means that she ate fifteen of her partners in this winter?!"

Sandy counter her finger and said, a little embarrassed, "I only knew that Nina did have forty-three partners, Lea counted it and it won't be wrong. But how many are there now and how many are missing... I don't know how to count and I can't calculate."

Gu Mengmeng patted on Sandy's shoulders and said, "She is such a psychopath, why would there be males willing to marry her? Do they feel that their lives are too long and they no longer want to live on?"

Sandy smacked her lips and said, "Even though they knew that they might be her next meal, many males are still willing to trade their lives for the right to mate. After all, they feel their deaths are worthy if a complete female could give birth to a strong cub with him.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at her own husband and let out a cold laughter. Thinking about the attitudes he had towards their sons, she really could not agree to Sandy’s mindset.

Not every males regarded cubs as important, maybe... they just did not want to believe that another male’s tragedy would happen to them again, always imagining that they were the special one, the only one, the one that Nina cared about, the important person to her. But they did not the old saying of ‘mountains and rivers can be changed but not a person’s nature’, or simply, ‘a leopard never changes its spots’. Nina’s personality was selfish and distorted, the hottest love would not heat up her heart that was as hard as a huge rock.

Chapter 322 - I Am Gu Mengmeng's Beast Pet Lea

Just when they were talking, Nina had walked to Gu Mengmeng. She gave a 'charming' smile, but when she saw the four brothers, the green-bean sized eyes were filled with a malice that could not be contained by an entire universe.

"You gave birth to wolf cubs in the winter?" Nina looked at Gu Mengmeng with in a distorted way, the fats on her face shaking in anger and jealousy, twisted to the extreme.

Gu Mengmeng did not want to talk to her. She signaled to her kids and pulled Sandy to walk back.

Nina was unwilling to let Gu Mengmeng leave and pulled her shoulder from the back. Instinctively, Gu Mengmeng took a step back, with her upper body forwards, she held Nina's wrist, applying force on her waist and did a swift overarm throw.

Nina fell backwards with her body sprawled across the ground as she moaned in pain.

Seeing that Nina was bullying their mother, the four little ones bared their teeth at her, ran to her side and bit on her hand that just grabbed Gu Mengmeng.

"Ouch! Little brats, let go of me now?! I am the precious complete female, how dare you bite me? I will ask my males to kill all of you!" Nina flung her arm with all her might to swing the four little ones off her, but they were not scared of anyone when they became angry. To someone that bullied their mother, let alone this fat chicken, they would even bite on their own father Elvis.

Gu Mengmeng stepped on Nina's shoulder to make her fall back to the ground just as he was getting up. With her body leaned forward and elbow on her kneecap, Gu Mengmeng looked at Nina with squinted eyes and asked coldly, "Who did you ask your males, to kill?"

Gu Mengmeng's expression was extremely frightening. Nina bit into her lower lips and did not dare to reply. With tears rolling out in pain, she turned to look at her partners and roared, "You are just standing there looking at me being bullied?"

Nina's partners felt awkward too.

Although the four little ones are males, they are cubs after all. They are not only the cubs of the Leader and the Messenger of the Beast Deity, but also the first cubs of Saint Nazaire, which had extraordinary significance to the entire tribe. They could not bear to do it to cubs.

As for Gu Mengmeng who was stepping on Nina, not only was she a female, she was the Messenger of the Beast Deity, an existence that they could never offend.

Only if it was Lea or Elvis stepping on Nina, even if they knew they could not win, they were willing to sacrifice their lives for Nina, but now... how could they even fight?

"If you want to do something for your partner, you can challenge me." Lea was just watching the fun and adding oil to the fire. He changed to his human form and stood behind Gu Mengmeng smiling. Looking at the males facing Nina that were hesitating but could not do anything, he said, "Oh, I should introduce myself, I am Gu Mengmeng's beast pet Lea."

Lea's words had resulted in a strange silence in the whole Saint Nazaire.

Gu Mengmeng only wanted to slap Lea. Him saying that would mean that there was no going back. If Gu Mengmeng stood up against Lea now, it would mean that she had abandoned Lea. With the fame from his position, the whole Beast World would probably know that he condescended to become a beast pet for someone and was then abandoned.

He was using his whole life as the bet, betting that if she had the tiniest bit of caring towards him, she would not reject him in front of everyone.

Well, he won.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and did not say that ‘he wasn’t’ on the spot.

Chapter 323 - Did I or Did I Not Tell You to Stop Provoking Me?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“What? You became a beast pet for her?!” Nina could not be bothered with the four wolf cubs biting into her arms, she pushed Gu Mengmeng away with all her might, got up from the ground and dashed towards Lea, wanting to grab his arm. But Lea darted swiftly and said in disgust, “Don’t touch me, Mengmeng won’t like me if I am dirty.”

“But you said you were going to mate with me, how can you go and become Gu Mengmeng’s beast pet?!” Nina did not give up and wanted to grab Lea once again. Lea frowned, took a step back and answered, “If you come any closer, I will make you my first prey this spring. You know, chickens... were in foxes’ recipe from the start.”

Nina looked at Lea in disbelief, but did not dare to pounce on him again. She pointed to Gu Mengmeng but looked at Lea and said with an ear-piercing voice, “You are nonetheless a proper partner if you mate with me. Now that Quentin is dead, I could even make you my first partner. I even promised you to have a nest of baby foxes when I go through estrus this year, but you abandoned me and chose to be a beast pet for her?!”

“I never abandoned you.” Lea said carefully. “You were never in my choices of partners. In my heart, the only one that could be my partner has been my Mengmeng all along.”

“You!” Nina was speechless from the teasing, her fingers pointing to Gu Mengmeng were shaking.

Gu Mengmeng stepped forward and grasped Nina’s fingers. With a crisp ‘snap’ and a cry as though a pig was being killed, the fingers bent into a weird angle, directly against the back of her hand.

“Did I or did I not tell you to stop provoking me? Uh? The first day of this year and you are coming in front of me to show off when I haven’t come after you? Is your skin itchy after an entire winter? Gu Mengmeng said and swung Nina’s hand off. She called back her four sons and told them, “Do you bite on all the dirty things? Are you not scared of getting diarrhea later? Go and find your mother-in-law to play with her.”

Unconvinced, the four little ones let out a few groans. They were then picked up by Sandy and she comforted, “Good boys, rest assured that your mother won’t be taken advantage of, she is Gu Mengmeng!”

The four little ones tilted their head and looked at Sandy, before looking at their father Elvis who was standing on high grounds and looking down on everything. They concluded that Sandy was right. Just with their father’s nature of protecting his wife, he would not stand at the side calmly if the female encountered the tiniest trouble.

Thinking about it, the four little ones quieten down, sat beside the strong auntie Sandy obediently and following the way their father was observing how Gu Mengmeng was punishing Nina. But, their cute faces imitating Elvis’s expression looked funny and adorable.

Seeing her sons hiding far away, Gu Mengmeng was no longer worried about them getting injured accidentally. She pulled Nina’s hair towards her knee, raised her foot in a split second and knocked onto Nina’s neck with her kneecap. Blood gushed out of Nina’s nose immediately, while Gu Mengmeng threw her onto the ground once again.

“Sauder’s men came because you told them the information, didn’t you? I gave you a chance for you to escape, but you did not. As long as you quieten down and keep to yourself, I wanted to forgive you because you are a female, but you just have to be so arrogant in front of me. You want to kill my sons? Let’s see if you can live till that day!”

Chapter 324 - Hubby You Are so Powerful

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng said as she raised her elbow and knocked straight onto Nina's nose with all her might, while Nina was fixed on her and had nowhere to escape.

Nina let out a pathetic cry. Her face was full of blood and nobody could perceive her original features.

Behind Gu Mengmeng, Nina's partners had joined in the fight with Lea.

Maybe it was the huge difference between their power, Lea did not even turn into his beast form and he handled twenty-eight people to himself with ease. It was more of an annoyance rather than a fight.

Gu Mengmeng's side was clear too. When she hit Nina in the past, it was mostly because she had been an annoying bitch and Gu Mengmeng showed mercy with the mindset of just punishing her. But after knowing about how Nina ate her partners this year, her disgust towards Nina reached the maximum cap. So when she heard Nina said she was going to kill her sons, it was as though a lighter was thrown into a pile of gunpowder, it would be weird to not have an explosion.

If others said that, Gu Mengmeng would just treat it as a not-too-funny joke that was just scaring the children.

But it was Nina who said it and Gu Mengmeng dared not treat it lightly. After all, to someone that could eat her partners without feeling guilty, what other psychopathic stuff would she not be able to do?

For her sons, Gu Mengmeng had the thought to kill this time

Raising a rock from the side, Gu Mengmeng aimed at Nina's head and was about to smash it down.

But the rock stopped right in front of her forehead. Gu Mengmeng looked up and saw Elvis holding the rock in front of her and looking down at her.

Gu Mengmeng was in a mess. Her hair was all over her face and her body had Nina's blood and dirt. When she saw Elvis, her eyes felt dry, even though she was the one beating others, she felt so wronged. She looked up at Elvis and said, "She said she wants to kill our sons."

Elvis nodded, took over the rock from Gu Mengmeng and threw it aside, before carrying her up from Nina. He wiped her face which was full of blood gently and carefully, he said, "Kill them if she can."

"Hubby!" Gu Mengmeng's grievances turned into tears immediately as she stared at Elvis in disbelief.

But Elvis laughed. He scornfully peeked at the half-dead Nina with the corner of his eyes and said, "I don't really care what was going to happen to the four wolf cubs, but if you and your partners make Xiao Meng sad..."

Elvis did not finish his sentence, he snorted coldly and released a strong pressure.

In just one moment, everyone on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment, including Lea, felt their knees were heavy and could not stand up straight.

Lea was better compared to the rest and he was only kneeling down with one foot in a submissive position. The others were pressed against the ground, unable to move, while some of the weaker ones fainted on the spot.

Gu Mengmeng could not sense the beast pressure, but felt that Elvis's fierce and cold expression was so handsome!

So she circled around Elvis's neck like a little love bird and fawned, "Hubby you are so powerful."

Elvis did not say anything else, he shook his body and withdrew the beast pressure. He glanced at the four little ones whom were still playing lightheartedly by Sandy's side and raised his eyebrows.

Even Lea, a matured third-level beast, could not withstand the beast pressure, nothing happened to... these four?

Chapter 325 - I'm Also A Complete Female

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis handed Gu Mengmeng to Lea while he led all the males in the tribe on a hunt for prey, as a way to announce the start of a new year.

Lea called one of Nina's partners back. He asked him to bring Nina away and take care of her well so as not to let her be an eyesore here. Or else, Gu Mengmeng might take a stone to smash her again but this time round, no one would stop her.

That partner naturally was more than glad so he hurriedly carried the unconscious Nina away with utmost cautiousness.

After Nina left, Gu Mengmeng then asked unhappily, "Why did Elvis stop me?"

Lea laughed in a too profound way to be understood as he inched closer to Gu Mengmeng sneakily, saying, "Call me 'Daddy Lea' and I'll tell you."

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes and said, "Say it if you want, I can just ask Elvis when he comes back."

Lea sighed, feeling wronged. Then, he stretched his arm suddenly from behind Gu Mengmeng to hold on to the side of her face with his long fingers, pulling her to himself. Gu Mengmeng's face was just nicely pressed against Lea's lips that he had positioned long ago. After a quick peck, Lea released Gu Mengmeng before sighing deeply, like a cat who had succeeded in a sneak attack. He said before Gu Mengmeng could have the chance to turn hostile,

"The female beauty pageant is coming soon. Nina has always represented Saint Nazaire to attend the event for the past years. If we suddenly change the representative for this year, it'll be hard to avoid others' speculation."

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback as she said, "Why must Nina go? Why can't Sandy go? Did you see how much prettier she got after she slimmed down? She's definitely a lot prettier than Nina that ugly monster, alright?"

Lea shook his head and said, "When winter ends, the body of a female represents the capability of the entire tribe. The fullness of a female implies that the food in the tribe is enough. This is also an important aspect that a male will consider when joining a tribe. Moreover....Nina's a complete female. You'll never know what a complete female mean to a male."

Gu Mengmeng slapped her thigh and shouted, "I'm also a complete female. If worse comes to worse, I'll go."

Lea, however, shook his head. He lightly touched Gu Mengmeng's face and said, "The reason why I decided to take Nina in back then was to delay the time your identity gets exposed to the public. Since Sauder received the information already, I believe that the others probably had heard something too. But they fear Elvis's strength and won't dare to offend him. The beauty pageant this year is the best time to sound us out."

Gu Mengmeng frowned and asked, "What do you mean? Say words that a human can understand!"

Lea smiled and swayed his large tail, wrapping Gu Mengmeng's waist before pulling her towards himself. He continued, "Normally, the tribe with the messenger of the Beast Deity will choose to vigorously propagate the presence of the messenger of the Beast Deity so as to raise their own reputation and to attract strong males to pledge allegiance to them. The beauty pageant is the most appropriate time. So, if either Sandy or Maya attends the beauty pageant this year instead of Nina, everyone will start guessing what situation are we in such that we will allow a half-orc to attend the beauty pageant even if we've complete females."

"There's a possibility that Nina died during winter, right? Didn't you mention before that many people die during winter?" Gu Mengmeng was not pleased.

Lea smiled as he pushed Gu Mengmeng's little head gently. "You still don't know the importance of a complete female to a tribe. Let's put it this way, if you're not present, even if we've to give everyone in the tribe as food to Nina, nobody will frown even a little. In other words, unless everyone in Saint Nazaire dies, we won't let a complete female die from hunger."

Chapter 326 - She Almost Became A Tainted Woman In The Beast World

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng truly felt that maybe Nina was not the only distorted one but rather the whole Beast World was distorted. Didn't she just have one less pair of bear's ears than Sandy? Why the hell did she deserve the willing sacrifice of the whole tribe just to feed her to her fullest?

Gu Mengmeng could not understand and was also lazy to understand this psycho world-view. So, she continued, "Then, it's also possible that Nina's unhappy in Saint Nazaire so she left to join other tribes?"

Lea smiled and shook his head again, "In the entire Beast World, besides Saint Nazaire, no other tribe will take in a female whose mating mark has been washed away. Even if she's a complete female, no tribe will dare to take her in. Won't they be scared of her playing the same old trick again and harming the original females in the tribe?"

"That..." Gu Mengmeng was actually speechless.

"Since others know that the new messenger of the Beast Deity is in Saint Nazaire, it won't be hard to know that you and Nina don't get along well. So, once Nina doesn't appear at the beauty pageant this year, the most possible scenario is, she's dead. And the only one with the courage and rights to punish a complete female is the messenger of the Beast Deity. And once this speculation is established, regardless whether the messenger of the Beast Deity is really in Saint Nazaire, Saint Nazaire will become a target for attack."

After Lea finished speaking, he paused for a moment and chuckled as if he had a ridiculous thought suddenly. Then, he continued, "Of course, it will be an excellent move if you directly appear at the beauty pageant. After officially announcing your identity, any opposition against you will be seen as a provocation towards the messenger of the Beast Deity and that will create a dispute in the entire Beast World. As a way to show their loyalty to you, every tribe will attack and murder those who challenge you. But....why will attacking be the only way to destroy a tribe and snatch the messenger of the Beast Deity away? At that time, I'm afraid all sorts of monsters and freaks will sneak into Saint Nazaire. It'll be hard to differentiate who's human and who's the demon."

Gu Mengmeng ground her teeth and said, "So, Nina must stay here no matter what? We need to pamper her every year so that she can attend the beauty pageant?"

Lea shook his head and squinted his eyes. "We can't hide the presence of the messenger of the Beast Deity even if we want to. After the beauty pageant this year, Nina....will be useless."

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, "So Elvis stopped me today because I'm still unrepresentable and needs Nina to attend the beauty pageant for me, right?"

Lea shook his head again and said, "How is that possible? If he made you feel wronged for the bigger picture, he should have called the tribe leaders for a meeting before winter to pick a suitable candidate from their families to mate with you so as to achieve the aim of expanding the territory of Saint Nazaire as soon as possible. If it was really this case, I'm afraid Saint Nazaire will already have become the well-known messengers tribe in the Beast World."

F! Gu Mengmeng suddenly felt a little scared. She almost became a tainted woman in the Beast World and was almost forced to serve customers?

She patted her chest in relief. At least Elvis was a wolf with some conscience.

“Then why did he stop me?” Gu Mengmeng still could not understand, so she tilted her head to ask.

Lea smiled as he leaned forward, pressing the tip of his nose against Gu Mengmeng’s nose. Smiling an ambiguous smile, he asked, “You really can’t remember any of the words we said to you before?”

Gu Mengmeng leaned backwards to dodge herself from him awkwardly but sadly, her body was wrapped up by Lea’s large tail so there was a limit to how much she could move. She cleared her throat and pushed Lea’s chest away, saying, “Just speak your mind, don’t come so close to me.”

In resentment, Lea sat back to his original position and said while looking at Gu Mengmeng sadly, “He stopped you because he knows that you’re soft-hearted and scared of blood. He didn’t want any foul stuff to stay in your memory.”

Gu Mengmeng's arms were akimbo as she asked, "Who said I was scared of blood? Huh? I'm really brave. It's simply a piece of cake for me to kill chicken and geese, I won't even blink the slightest bit."

Lea smiled a rare, radiant smile.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng, he tapped her nose and said, "Elvis and I still clearly remember....how much you cried at your Coming-To-Age Ceremony."

A bucket of cold water was instantly poured over Gu Mengmeng's forceful aura, like a tiny flame which was just lit up. After a whoosh sound, all there's left was a whiff of smoke.

"Mengmeng." Lea suddenly became full of deep feelings as he stared at Gu Mengmeng with a slight smile. His expression was a rare serious one and he continued after meeting eyes with Gu Mengmeng for some time, "Can't you try to rely on us sometimes? Elvis and I....had been waiting for your command just now. Actually, if you want Nina to die, all you need to do is to tell us. Regardless of whether you called Elvis or me, we'll all be willing to complete this task for you. But why....don't you want to give us this chance?"

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, "It isn't appropriate to implicate males when we females are fighting, right? And moreover, she's clearly not fit to be my opponent...."

Lea did not buy her argument. He lightly touched onto the corner of Gu Mengmeng's clothes and stared intently at both their overlapping shadows. He said with a low-spirited tone, "I envy Barete."

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng did not quite understand what has this got to do with Barete when they were talking about Nina?

Lea's voice was low and slow. That light smile on him made one feel sorrowful too.

"At least Barete went on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment for you while I....didn't even have the chance to show my loyalty to you." Lea suddenly raised his head to stare into Gu Mengmeng's eyes. Strong hesitation was seen in his eyes as he asked softly, "Are you not giving me the chance because I'm a beast pet?"

Gu Mengmeng slapped Lea's head away and roared, "Did you graduate from a drama queen university? Why are you so dramatic? Why are you acting like you're a peaceful and quiet 'green tea bitch'? If you didn't raise the beast pet issue, I wouldn't have recalled. Did you seek my opinion before you announced publicly that you're my beast pet? How am I supposed to explain to Elvis later on? I just got married and my four kids are not even 100 days old. Yet I'm raising a vixen in my home? Are you kidding me?!"

All the atmosphere Lea created disappeared after Gu Mengmeng's slap. Thus, with his usual seductive and ambiguous smile, Lea swept Gu Mengmeng's body using his large tail. In an extremely charming way, his body softened and he lied into Gu Mengmeng's arms. Looking up at her, he said, "Didn't you not explain to Elvis too when you raised rabbits at his cave back then? Why do you need to explain now that you're raising a fox?"

"Rabbits won't become damn dramatic demons!" Gu Mengmeng howled and gave Lea a hard push.

Lea then flipped his body, standing behind Gu Mengmeng to give her a back-hug. He placed his chin on Gu Mengmeng's shoulder and lightly bit her earlobe, saying, “Then, why didn’t you directly expose me just now?”

“You’re at least the tribe’s witch doctor. If I exposed your real self to the public, how are you going to live in the tribe in the future?”

“You care for me.” Lea smiled.

“Don’t talk rubbish. Hurry and think of a solution for me to square up this beast pet issue. I’m not even acting ‘Investiture of the Gods’, a fox is useless to me. You entered the wrong filming site.”

Lea shrugged his shoulders, smiling. “There’s an easy solution. After you mate with me, I won’t be a beast pet anymore.”

Gu Mengmeng glared at Lea with a darkened face. She reaffirmed herself for the umpteenth time with her strictest expression, “I grew up with the concept of one husband to a wife so I’ll only have one husband this lifetime. Just give up this idea and consider others.”

Lea pouted and said with an unlimited seductive aura, “The second solution, when do you want to try some snow fox meat...”

“Get lost!” Gu Mengmeng interrupted Lea. She really could not view this kind of joke directly now, especially after knowing that this kind of matter really happened around her.

Lea was someone with a sense of propriety. He was good at differentiating when Gu Mengmeng was faking her anger and when she was really angry. Seeing how she lost her temper, he did not continue any further and just ruffled Gu Mengmeng’s hair while comforting her, “Alright alright. Anyway, everyone knows that I’m your beast pet. Just treat it as my selfish act of wanting to use your identity as a messenger of the Beast Deity to swagger before others. If you can’t give me your favor, at least lend me your reputation to impress others, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes. Did Lea need to lend her reputation to impress others? She did not forget how this fellow broke Quentin’s arm and how he created the same injuries as Sandy’s partner on Nina’s countless partners in three seconds. With his abilities, wherever he went, he would be a steady big boss, alright?

Gu Mengmeng did not reply Lea. Sometimes, she's conflicted too. Back then, Lea was clearly the one who let go, but she always lacked power and confidence in front of him, as if she was then the heartless and ungrateful one who broke his faith and abandoned him for a new lover.

Sighing, Gu Mengmeng asked, "Is it fine if you don't go with Elvis and the rest of the males for the hunt?"

Lea raised his chin arrogantly and said, "Aren't you aware of it? In the entire tribe, besides Elvis, I'm the only one who can maintain my human form. This is the difference in abilities so will you like to consider taking me in? You won't suffer a loss."

The vein on Gu Mengmeng's forehead twitched and she turned her head away, spitting out two words, "Get lost."

Gu Mengmeng ignored Lea and walked to the side with Sandy.

Lea did not chase after her and instead, he told the four cubs to play at one side.

"Are you....really not planning to take Lea in? I feel that Lea's really not bad. Although he had a muddled past with Nina before, he must have his reasons. I'm not as clever as you but I can see that Lea's really sincere towards you. You can't possibly not feel anything, right? And furthermore, Lea already proclaimed to the entire world that he's your beast pet...if you still don't want to take him in....he'll become a laughingstock."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and said helplessly, "Why are you trying to persuade me to take Lea in too? I already mated with Elvis. I have a husband, do you know what a married woman is? If I continue seducing other males outside, I'll need to drown in a wicker basket."

Sandy pouted. She lowered her head and fiddled with her fingernails, disappointed and sad while muttering softly, "If Lea can only be a beast pet, then won't he....have no chance at all?"

Gu Mengmeng hooked Sandy's chin lightly with her finger, raising her face up. Squinting her eyes to stare into Sandy's big eyes, she asked, " 'He'? Who are you thinking of...in your heart?"

Sandy was stuck in a predicament and she cast her glance against the sunlight on Gu Mengmeng's side-view. She did not know whether she was guilty or what but her heart started palpitating wildly.

Blushing, Sandy avoided eye contact with Gu Mengmeng and muttered, "No...nobody."

Gu Mengmeng inched closer to Sandy slowly until the tip of the nose was almost touching Sandy's. Breathing in, Gu Mengmeng raised her brow and said, "Nobody? It's not right...I clearly smell an affair going on."

Sandy shook her head profusely, saying, "No no, I don't have anything going on with Collin."

Gu Mengmeng smiled wickedly and released Sandy's chin. She said in an indifferent tone, "Ah...Collin."

Sandy realized that she inadvertently blurted her secret out, so she immediately covered her mouth with both her hands, staring at Gu Mengmeng while blinking her innocent large eyes. However, 'guilt' was obviously written on her face.

Gu Mengmeng turned around. Learning from Lea, she lied down on Sandy's legs. She lightly swatted away the hand Sandy used to cover her mouth and smiled. "Why? You like Collin?"

Sandy nodded her head out of instincts then suddenly shook her head profusely.

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms before her chest and closed her eyes. She lied on Sandy's legs quietly, looking as if she fell asleep. After a long time, she slowly started talking, "This is not the first time I heard you mention Collin. Your concern for him...is very obvious."

Sandy's face flushed red. She clearly knew that Gu Mengmeng's eyes were shut tight, but she still lowered her head in guilt.

"How? Do you need me to help?" Gu Mengmeng slowly opened her eyes. Her pupils were reflecting the sunlight, dazzling like stars.

"To help?" Sandy wobbled a little from Gu Mengmeng's gaze and she unknowingly repeated the last two words of Gu Mengmeng's sentence. She could hardly hide the yearning and anticipation on her face, looking like a girl who had just understood love.

Gu Mengmeng smiled before flipping her body to sit up straight. Pinching Sandy's little face, she said, "Your thoughts...are all written over your face."

Sandy blushed and she hurriedly used both her hands to cover her face, blinking her large innocent eyes at Gu Mengmeng once again while pressing her lips together, not saying a word for half a day.

"Collin's an honest male. If you like him, hurry and put your hands to it ." Gu Mengmeng said.

Sandy bit her lips and asked, "Do you like Collin too? He originally likes you. If you're willing to accept him....I can give up."

Gu Mengmeng gave a free-and-easy smile, casting her gaze on a bunch of beasts running wildly to them from afar. The leader was a black wolf whose gaze was as dazzling as stars in winter. His focus gaze met eyes with Gu Mengmeng directly.

Gu Mengmeng waved, then looked sideways at Sandy. "That's my man."

Sandy nodded her head blankly, not saying anything else.

A little sprout started germinating in her heart, maybe...maybe...

In just a few breaths, Elvis was already standing next to Gu Mengmeng. He evolved back into human form and at the same time, attached the beast-skin dress on himself. He remembered that his Xiao Meng did not like others seeing his body, especially those exclusive parts.

Gu Mengmeng stepped forward to welcome him. Since she was standing on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment, she appeared taller than Elvis. She opened her arms wide, begging for a hug.

Elvis smiled while opening his arms wide too. Gu Mengmeng then leaned forward without hesitation, her entire being falling straight against Elvis's chest. She wrapped her arms around his neck and landed a peck on his cheek. "Darling, welcome home."

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng's little head before carrying her on his shoulders. He leaped off the Platform of the Deity's Punishment in one jump, then turned to face his fellow tribesman.

In a jiffy, Lea stood next to Elvis at a spot diagonally behind him. What replaced his joking expression was a focused and solemn one.

Gu Mengmeng did not know what had happened and she was about to ask when she saw Lea kneeling on the floor on one knee while placing his right hand over his left chest. He lowered his head and looked like he was submitting himself to her rule. "I, Saint Nazaire's witch doctor, Lea, leads my fellow tribesman in accommodating to the arrival of the messenger of the Beast Deity. We're willing to accept banishment from the mighty messenger. We're willing to fight for you even with our bones crushed. We'll not shrink from any sacrifice for you, our mighty leader."

"We're willing to fight for you even with our bones crushed. We'll not shrink from any sacrifice for you, our mighty leader."

"We're willing to fight for you even with our bones crushed. We'll not shrink from any sacrifice for you, our mighty leader."

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded at the situation in front of her. She thought to herself, "Do I need to say 'everybody, please rise'? Or should I say 'my dear, forgo formalities'?"

Elvis raised his hand and immediately, everyone below the Platform became quiet.

Gu Mengmeng lowered her head, looking at Elvis with a question mark written on her face.

Elvis looked up into Gu Mengmeng's eyes and said, "Before winter, Lea had officially announced your identity to the tribe. So, the first thing after the first hunt in spring is to pledge their loyalty to you."

Gu Mengmeng smiled awkwardly and whispered, "Then...what should I say?"

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng's little hand and brought it to his lips to kiss it. "Allow us to pledge our loyalty to you and guard your honor as the messenger of the Beast Deity."

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's lips twitched. The smile on her face was uglier looking than her crying face.

Am I going to be a damn local tyrant? Can I reject it? Everyone's so familiar with one another, it's so weird accepting their kowtow.

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng and could not help but laugh softly all of a sudden.

Gu Mengmeng glared at Lea and thought to herself, "If you knew of this, why didn't you remind me earlier?"

But in front of the public, she could not throw her temper so she could only clench her teeth and say, "Although I'm the messenger of the Beast Deity, I'm also the Gu Mengmeng everyone's familiar with. I'm indebted to your gracious consent and with all of you following me, I'll do my best to bring everyone to greater days."

Gu Mengmeng broke out into a cold sweat. Luckily, she was elected as a class chairperson once in high school and she could use the script back then after changing a few words here and there.

"Thank you, sir messenger for your concern and solicitude!" Lea took the lead once again. After everyone shouted the slogan three times, all of them then slowly stood up.

Gu Mengmeng heaved a sigh of relief before patting Elvis's arm, signaling him to put herself down.

Elvis changed a posture and carried Gu Mengmeng in his arms. He pressed against her ear and whispered, "Don't step on the ground, it's cold."

Gu Mengmeng smiled and nodded her head. The entire tribe's gaze was fixated on her and she could not help but be bashful at that affectionate and sweet little action.

Lea stepped forward and said, "Mighty messenger, regarding the candidates as your guards..."

Gu Mengmeng was shocked. "What guards?"

"The messenger of the Beast Deity should have two guards beside her. They will be in charge of transmitting the commands from the messenger herself and carry out some special arrangements too. Mighty messenger, you know all the warriors in our tribe, do you have a candidate you fancy?"

Lea was still smiling warmly but Gu Mengmeng could clearly see the slight slyness in his eyes.

F! He Did It On Purpose!

Gu Mengmeng suddenly recalled the scene where Lea made her lie by the plate to teach her sons to drink the bone soup...

Gu Mengmeng said helplessly, "Just you and Elvis. My left guard and my right guard. That's not bad."

Lea, however, shook his head and said with a regretful look, "Although I also want to have more opportunities and sufficient reason to stay by your side, I'm afraid the witch doctor and tribe leader can't take up the role of a guard. This is to prevent anyone from having too much authority which might cause biases when carrying out the commands of the mighty messenger."

Gu Mengmeng had quite a headache. Although she knew almost everyone in the tribe, she could only name a handful of them...

Rubbing her brows, Gu Mengmeng looked towards Elvis and asked him, "Hubby, can you decide for me?"

Elvis's heart ached. He was not the least willing to trap Gu Mengmeng in all these troubling matters but her identity destined that this kind of trouble was just the beginning and he....could not stop it.

He kissed Gu Mengmeng's forehead and said helplessly, "I can't interfere in anything within the boundaries of religious authority."

"What do you mean?" Gu Mengmeng's face fell as she said, "Say words a human can understand."

Elvis broke out in laughter by Gu Mengmeng's sullen little look. Everyone wished to be a messenger of the Beast Deity and he also met a few who tried to bluff and deceive their way through. All of their postures and aura were better than Gu Mengmeng and they looked as if they could get whatever they wanted, standing at a position above the rest of the public. However, just so coincidentally, Gu Mengmeng, the genuine messenger of the Beast Deity, was so indifferent towards this religious authority. She looked as if this authority of the messenger could not even match to that of a roasted sweet potato from the cave.

"The messenger of the Beast Deity has dictatorship. Strictly speaking....Lea and I are your subordinates first, then your partner and beast pet."

Gu Mengmeng slapped Elvis's chest and growled fiercely, "Why are you also harping on the issue of beast pets? Can you not raise this issue?!"

Elvis nodded and said, "As your wish, my mighty messenger."

Gu Mengmeng started being impatient at this kind of bureaucratic matters. Thus, she casually pointed at Sandy and said, "I choose Sandy and Maya. Let both of them be my guards. It's better if they can pacify my sons when they've nothing on their hands."

Lea whispered to Gu Mengmeng, "Your guards must be males because they're going to become the messenger's sharp claws and fangs and also the messenger's shield and armor. Sandy and Maya....are too weak, they'll get killed."

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her arm in irritation and looked at Lea, saying, "I can't do this and can't do that. How about you name some candidates for me to choose from?"

Lea stepped a step backwards and looked at Gu Mengmeng innocently. "Even your First Partner can't interfere with your religious authority. I'm just a mere beast pet....and a beast pet who can't receive your favor. I don't have the right to make thoughtless comments."

“I’ll pluck your tongue out if you continue spouting nonsense!” Gu Mengmeng squeezed this sentence out from the gaps of her tightly clenched teeth.

Lea, on the other hand, blinked his eyes pitifully and then...

He stuck his damn tongue out.

Gu Mengmeng slapped his jaw hard, causing Lea to bite his own tongue after being caught off guard. Blood filled his entire mouth but luckily he was not seriously injured. In the end, Gu Mengmeng did not use her entire strength and just committed that act with some intention to tease and punish him.

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng while blinking his long and affectionate eyes. He leaned his shoulder on the side of Gu Mengmeng’s feet and asked ambiguously, “Is this punishment enough? Actually...you can punish me even more.”

“Get lost!” Gu Mengmeng finally could not hold back anymore and she howled at the top of her voice.

“Mighty messenger, cease your anger!”

“Mighty messenger, cease your anger!”

Gu Mengmeng’s howl caused her fellow tribesman to kneel again after standing up for just a short while.

Chapter 332 - As You Wish, My Mighty Queen.

Finally, Gu Mengmeng decided on Barete and Collin as her two guards. Because in the tribe, besides Elvis, Lea and Sandy, Gu Mengmeng was most familiar with those two.

Nothing had to be said about Barete naturally because he was the one who risked his life for her. And Collin...

Gu Mengmeng had her own considerations for him.

After Barete and Collin heard of their positions, they stood up from the beast crowd and leap onto the Platform of the Deity's Punishment to stand behind Gu Mengmeng.

That way, the new leading core members of Saint Nazaire were standing on the Platform of the Deity's Punishment.

The noon sunlight was bright and radiant, reflecting off some snow that had not melted yet. The snow that had melted into crystal-clear snow water was flowing along the channels of the snow, giving off the holiest chanting voice in spring.

Gu Mengmeng, clad in a red fox-fur coat, was being carried by Elvis while Lea stood on her left side dressed in his witch doctor clothes. At the same time, the burly and majestic-looking Barete and Collin each stood beside Elvis and Lea while keeping their gravity. The five of them stood at the highest spot in Saint Nazaire with the sunlight behind covering them in a dazzling halo. Nobody knew what happened to the four cubs as they chased one another playfully at the feet of their parents without any sorrow or anxiety at all. This added great vibrancy to this solemn scene.

That day, everyone in Saint Nazaire would say that they personally witnessed ‘hope’.

After coming down from the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment, Gu Mengmeng asked Lea, “Hey, I thought you want to introduce the Ian tribesman to the public? Why didn’t you mention it just now?”

Lea gestured a ‘shh’ hand signal and said, “Let’s talk when we get back.”

Gu Mengmeng understood that Lea meant that he had his own plans and it was bad to expose him too so she turned her head to look at Elvis, changing the topic, “How were the gains from your first hunt?”

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s little hand and said, “With the protection of the messenger of the Beast Deity, we definitely had good gains.”

Gu Mengmeng chuckled as she cupped Elvis’s face and asked, “Then...are you full?”

Elvis was taken aback. Turns out that...Xiao Meng knew that he did not eat his fill in winter all along?

So, that was why she cooked more and more after each meal, then suddenly said she did not feel like eating willfully before asking him to finish the leftover food....

Elvis felt his heart warming up and he nodded while smiling. “I’m full.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled in satisfaction before asking him again, “What should we do next?”

Elvis looked at Lea and Lea then replied, “Originally, the first prey of the year that the tribe leader brought back was supposed to be used for Heaven Worshiping and offered to the Beast Deity. But since the messenger of the Beast Deity is here, let’s offer the prey to the mighty messenger.”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes at Lea and said, “Can you speak properly? Is it fun to mention the mighty messenger every time you open your mouth?”

“Back to the mighty messenger, it’s actually quite fun.” Lea smiled and squinted his eyes, replying to her.

Gu Mengmeng clenched her teeth and said, “The mighty messenger orders all of you not to call me the mighty messenger. Call me Gu Mengmeng like how all of you did in the past.”

After she finished speaking, Gu Mengmeng cupped Elvis’s face and smiled, saying, “You call me wife.”

Elvis’s gaze resembled the blue vault of heaven, encompassing endless devotion in his eyes. He replied with a voice as low and charming as a cello, “As your wish, my mighty queen.”

Gu Mengmeng was still pretty embarrassed at him blurting all the sweet words back at their newly wed house in public so she wrapped her arms around Elvis’s neck and buried her face into the pit of his neck. At an angle nobody else could see, she lightly bit Elvis’s neck and giggled in delight.

Gu Mengmeng and the rest directly returned to Elvis's cave. In the past, all discussions took place at the witch doctor's cave but now, Lea's cave was not available due to the Eagle-owl tribe residing there. With the messenger of the Beast Deity, the witch doctor was not the one closest to the Beast Deity anymore so naturally, the messenger's cave was the best venue to discuss matters.

Barete and Collin stood outside the cave, standing straight and solemnly like door-gods. Even though Gu Mengmeng could not feel it, she knew that the two of them were emitting their beast pressure.

Those two second-level orcs was neither weak nor strong so there was a limit to how frightening their beast pressure could get. However, everyone's beast pressure was different and both of their identities were now the messenger's guards so the intention of emitting their beast pressure was to tell everyone nearby: the messenger's currently discussing matters, nobody's allowed close to her.

Gu Mengmeng smiled helplessly and patted both their shoulders. "Relax a little, there's no need to be this wound-up. This is Elvis's territory. Even if both of you are not carrying out your duties diligently, nobody will dare to eavesdrop on us."

Barete and Collin glanced at each other before throwing their sight on Elvis.

Elvis nodded his head, implying that they should heed by Gu Mengmeng's words. Nobody would dare to easily step close to the cave of a fourth-level orc. Even if there was someone, there was no way the person could hide from his senses.

"Yes, mighty messenger." Barete and Collin spoke in one voice.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched and she asked, "Both of you are treating me like this too, huh? Yeah, I became the messenger of the Beast Deity but I didn't do anything to let you down, right? Is there a need to distance yourselves from me?"

Barete did not say anything while Collin scratched his head innocently and said, "Yeah....actually it's not distancing. It's just that we suddenly don't know how to interact with you. After all, this is the first time we've become guards so we don't know what to do."

Gu Mengmeng broke out into laughter and she pointed at her own nose and said, "This is also the first time I've become the messenger of the Beast Deity. Since everyone doesn't have any experience, let's not tease each other any further. The main reason why I chose both of you as my guards is because both of you are my friends. I can let both of you guard my back in ease. But if you continue being fair and just and also draw a clear line between us, I'll be very sad. I don't want to lose my friends just because I've become the messenger of the Beast Deity."

He recalled that night when everyone was eating the delicious food Gu Mengmeng had cooked. That day, Oakley asked Gu Mengmeng why she did not want to use her storage method to unify the entire Beast World. Gu Mengmeng then replied that standing on the peak would mean that she would become utterly isolated with no relatives or friends...

Collin frowned and asked seriously, "Then...if I continue calling you Gu Mengmeng, everyone will feel that your guards are not respecting you. Won't they also look down upon you and do everything as they please?"

Gu Mengmeng smiled and asked him back, "If they are just respecting my identity as a 'messenger of the Beast Deity', I won't need that kind of respect. But if they're respecting me as Gu Mengmeng, then even if I'm Zhang San, Li Si or Wang Er Ma Zi, those who respect me will respect me. Moreover..."

As Gu Mengmeng spoke, she lied deeper into Elvis's arms and said, "If they want to do as they please in front of me, they still have to ask whether my husband agrees."

Elvis gave a light smile, he liked how she took advantage of someone's power to bully others, especially when it was taking advantage of his.

Chapter 334 - I'm Yours

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng used all the ready-made ingredients at home to whip up a large hotpot while Lea fed the four little ones some bone soup and soon, all four of them started sleeping like logs after playing for an entire afternoon.

The five adults surrounded a large hotpot, chatting while eating. The atmosphere also warmed up quite a lot.

“Now there’s no one else here, say, how do you plan on handling Ian and his tribesman?” Gu Mengmeng asked Lea while scooping some meat into Elvis’s bowl.

Lea handed his own bowl over, appearing spoiled as if he would not disclose anything to her if she did not give him meat to eat.

Gu Mengmeng was lazy to argue with him so she scooped a large bowl of meat for him.

Lea then ate his meat in satisfaction before continuing, “I have a premonition that even if we send Nina to attend the beauty pageant this year as usual, Sauder won’t leave us alone. They’ll still send people over to find out what’s true and what’s false. So, I decide to continue hiding Ian and his tribesman in order to use them as a secret weapon for the messenger of the Beast Deity.”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and said, “If you didn’t mention it, I would’ve forgotten. Hadn’t Dumbo verify my identity previously? Won’t the people in Sauder long know about my identity already?”

Lea gave a light smile and said, “Sagua had an ill fate. Winter came before he had the chance to leave the mountains. I’m afraid he did not make it back alive to report the news. Or else, the people from Sauder would have already made their way here and we won’t be able to wait until now.”

Gu Mengmeng thought it over and agreed with what he said.

Sauder was a snow fox tribe. Lea could walk about in the snow so if Dumbo's information was really sent out, it should have reached them already.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, "Do you think they will send another faithful messenger over?"

Lea shook his head and said, "No."

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea in confusion.

Lea continued, "Since their first faithful messenger did not return, Sauder will definitely raise their guard. This time, they won't snatch you away on such a large scale anymore and instead, they will choose to use some unrepresentable and ugly methods. The people from the snow fox tribe are used to doing such dirty tricks."

Gu Mengmeng patted Lea's shoulder and said in all earnestness, "Big brother, don't forget that you're also from the snow fox tribe."

Lea's smile faltered for a moment but the next second, he regained that tender smile on his face and said, "No, I'm not from the snow fox tribe anymore. I'm...yours."

Gu Mengmeng believed that she did not see wrongly and she linked it to the words Dumbo said before. Her heart was tugged at and she felt uncomfortable but she switched a topic and said, "How do you decide to tackle them?"

Lea chuckled before using his finger to hook onto Gu Mengmeng's chin. "As long as my mighty messenger can promise me that she won't leave the tribe regardless what happens and if she really needs to head out, she has to bring both Elvis and me along, every little action of Sauder will become a useless move. So, why will I need to tackle them?"

Gu Mengmeng swatted Lea's hand away and said, "Just talk if you want to, don't keep touching me."

Lea sighed as he hugged onto his large tail, ruffling it. He muttered to himself, "Sigh, back then, I allowed you to touch my body here and there....now, all I did was to touch your chin and you rejected me. Sigh, what a cold-blooded person...."

Gu Mengmeng really felt an impulse to rush over to Lea and bite him to death. Couldn't he heed by his moral principles especially after they broke up? Was there a need to keep bringing up what happened back then?!

Gu Mengmeng glared at Lea and ignored him before turning around to take more meat from the deeper part of the cave.

After Gu Mengmeng left, Elvis looked at Lea and said faintly, "Why are you acting so indifferently? You must be feeling rather frantic from needing to meet Sauder soon, right? If you're willing to say it out, Xiao Meng will...."

Lea kept his joking expression and sighed deeply. Forcing a smile, he said, "I want to become someone she can rely on and not her burden. Elvis, you should understand me...at least."

Chapter 335 - F? Taboo Love?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When the four little rascals woke up, it was already evening.

The five of them had already ended their meeting. Gu Mengmeng was sitting next to Elvis, smiling at Collin sneakily while harboring evil intentions.

Collin had goosebumps from her smile so he scratched the back of his head and asked, “Gu Mengmeng, what’s wrong? Why do you keep smiling at me?”

Gu Mengmeng touched her chin and asked, “Collin, how do you find my Sandy?”

Collin was stunned by Gu Mengmeng’s abrupt and incomprehensible question. He pondered over it for a moment and said, “Why is Sandy yours? Isn’t she Bode’s?”

Gu Mengmeng slapped her thigh and said, “She’s mine!”

“Oh.” Collin was taken aback by Gu Mengmeng and he tucked his neck back, not daring to ask any further. He just turned to look at Barete with helpless eyes.

However, Barete turned his head away, pretending as if he did not see him and did not have any intention of helping him either.

Gu Mengmeng patted Collin and said, “I’m asking you a question, why are you looking around? Answer me, how do you find my Sandy?”

Collin contemplated seriously before replying, “Greedy in eating and sleeping and a soft personality.”

Gu Mengmeng hissed and said with an unhappy expression, “Judging from what you said, my Sandy doesn’t have any merits?”

“Ugh....” Collin felt a strong sense of danger. He blinked his eyes, not daring to say anything else.

Gu Mengmeng continued, “Having a good appetite is a blessing, do you understand?”

“Understand understand understand.” Collin nodded his head innocently.

Gu Mengmeng added, “Sleeping a lot will make your skin better. This is called females’ self-care and self-conditioning. As a female, it’s her duty to handle her own appearance in order to beautify this world. Think about it, when males come back home from hunting, isn’t it pleasant to the eye to see their wives being so beautiful? Are you more willing to see a pretty Sandy or a Nina without a neck?”

Collin sunk into Gu Mengmeng’s language trap. It was a multiple-choice question with only A or B as the answer. He could not choose C or give up. If it was Lea or Oakley, they would definitely ask her back, “Why do I see the both of them when I get home and not Maya or you?” But Collin’s brain...yeah...

“Of course it’s Sandy.”

“Exactly!” Agreement was written all over Gu Mengmeng’s face. She extended her arm and placed it on Collin’s shoulder before continuing like they were good brothers, “Think about it again, Sandy’s personality is a little too soft but don’t you feel that it’s a merit to have a soft body that can easily be pushed down? Don’t tell me you prefer masochism and you like those kinds of females who will throw their temper anytime and eat anyone without saying a word like Nina?”

Collin shook his head profusely until wind entered his mouth from the large movement.

Gu Mengmeng patted Collin's shoulder and said, "That's right, say, isn't my Sandy a great female?"

Collin nodded his head, implying that he agreed with her.

Gu Mengmeng asked again, "Then aren't you dumb for not pursuing such an outstanding female and leaving her alone?"

Collin nodded his head out of instincts. However, after some time, he suddenly responded and started shaking his head. "Sandy's my younger sister, I can't pursue her."

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback, f? Taboo love?

"Both of you....have the same mother?" Gu Mengmeng asked in utmost cautiousness.

Collin shook his head and said, "No, we grew up together since young. She always calls me brother."

Gu Mengmeng landed a punch on Collin's shoulder and said while pitying his misfortune and condemning his resignation, "You're really damn dumb!"

Collin was at a loss and he completely did not know what was happening. He could only blink his eyes at Gu Mengmeng blankly and say, "What's wrong?"

Chapter 336 - Are You Looking Down On Me Because I'm A Beast Pet?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Collin, I always know you’re a down-to-earth male but I wouldn’t have thought that you already reached the step of being dumb.” Gu Mengmeng looked at him pitifully and said, “Do you know that there’s a phrase called ‘childhood sweethearts’ in this world?”

Collin thought for a while before shaking his head, implying that he did not know.

“You came by on bamboo stilts, playing horse, you walked about my seat, playing with blue plums. And we went on living in the village of Chokan, two small people, without dislike or suspicion, Gu Mengmeng read out while wagging her head, looking pleased with herself. Then, she cast an ambiguous smile at Collin.

Collin returned her smile with a dazed look, ‘I Don’t Understand’ clearly written all over his face.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, “Didn’t you think about it before, why is Sandy exceptionally nice to you?”

Collin looked at Gu Mengmeng and asked in a sincere tone, “Why?”

‘Because she likes you!’

This answer was just at the tip of Gu Mengmeng’s tongue but she eventually held it back. Because even if this sentence needs to be blurted out, it should not come from her mouth.

And furthermore, as a qualified bosom friend, she had a duty to maintain her worst friend's superiority and status in relationships, why should Sandy woo him instead? Even if it was Sandy who liked Collin first, this fellow must never know about this.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng walked one round before sitting back into Elvis's arms. She smiled an evil smile and said, "Collin, I heard Nina wants to create trouble for Sandy."

"Why?" Collin frowned, asking her.

Gu Mengmeng sighed helplessly and said, "Didn't I punch her earlier today? She won't dare to find me trouble so she's off to bully Sandy. To put it simply, it's because Sandy's family doesn't have one that is strong enough to make decisions. How can Bode and the rest defeat Nina's twenty over partners? Sigh, if Sandy has a capable and strong male too, she won't always be bullied by Nina anymore, don't you think so?"

Collin thought for a moment and looked at Lea, asking him with utmost cautiousness, "Lea, how about you consider Sandy? The mighty messenger said that Sandy's great."

Lea did not reduce the intensity of his smile and no emotions could be seen in his curved eyes. Placing his elbow gently on Collin's shoulder, he asked him with a tender expression, "Are you looking down on me because I'm a beast pet?"

"No...no I didn't...." Collin was so terrified until cold sweat started forming on his back. He could not figure out the reason why he felt a chill down his spine even though Lea was clearly smiling so happily.

Lea turned his head before pouncing on Gu Mengmeng. "Weep weep weep, Mengmeng you have to stand up for me."

Gu Mengmeng kicked Lea away and squinted her eyes at Collin.

Collin completely did not notice Gu Mengmeng's expression as he huddled up closer to Barete before hugging Barete in a tight embrace. He asked,

“Barete, how do you find Gu Mengmeng’s Sandy?”

“Ha,” Barete gave a cold laugh. With that brain of his, Collin actually learned how to use what he was taught on the spot? He wanted to use how Gu Mengmeng fooled him earlier to trick him? Did he really think that they were in the same circumstances together?

“What does your ha mean? Look, Gu Mengmeng said that Sandy has a soft body that can be easily pushed down and she’s a good female.”

Barete looked back and asked Collin while staring at him, “Since she’s a good female, why don’t you want her yourself?”

“Me?” Collin pointed at his own nose blankly. The next second, he slapped Barete’s shoulder while bursting out in laughter. “Don’t joke, she’s my sister.”

Barete sighed and looked at Gu Mengmeng, then looked back at Collin who was still stupidly laughing. He thought to himself, “Brother, you’re on your own now, good luck.”

Gu Mengmeng sighed deeply and said in a feigned sorrowful tone, “Sigh... my pitiful Sandy. Wouldn’t Nina continue bullying her and obstruct her from standing up for herself this entire lifetime? The last time, Nina bit her arm and that little fair hand was badly mutilated. It was such a ghastly scene that rendered every witness with tears and every listener with sadness. I don’t know how many more times this kind of matter has to repeat itself...”

Chapter 337 - What? Sandy Likes Elvis?!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Collin remained silent. Although Nina did bully Sandy in the past, the victims were always Bode and the rest. She would never hurt Sandy.

But now...

Elvis whispered softly into Gu Mengmeng's ears, "I remembered that Nina just left her teeth mark on Sandy's fingertip, the skin didn't even come off, right? And from what I recall, Sandy landed Nina up in a worse condition..."

Gu Mengmeng elbowed Elvis harshly and rolled her eyes at him. Then, she continued squinting her eyes while putting on a mournful front. "Sigh, it will be good if I'm a male. That way, I can pursue Sandy and do my utmost best to protect her. I will pinch anyone, who dares to bully her, to death! But what a pity, I'm a female...sigh, why aren't I a second-level male orc?! What exactly is the reason?!"

Elvis stared at Gu Mengmeng at a loss of what to do. He completely could not understand what exactly happened. He just felt that Gu Mengmeng was extremely abnormal today and her tone was especially strange.

Oh, if Elvis was someone from the present world, he would know that Gu Mengmeng was being possessed by a drama queen.

Collin lifted his head up abruptly and slapped his thigh, saying, "I'll go!"

Happiness filled Gu Mengmeng's heart but she still had to ask with a fake confused expression, "You? Where are you going?"

Collin said, “I’ll go mate with Sandy. In the future, I’ll protect Sandy. I’ll pinch anyone, who dares to bully her, to death! I’m a second-level orc and a male one!”

Gu Mengmeng cupped her fists in front of her chest, her expression being so fake that it looked like she was acting in a play. Her tonality was also really strange. It sounded like the Chinese dubbing from an old Western movie, “But, you’re her brother~”

“Erm...” Collin said before adding, “Just because I’m her brother, that’s why I can’t watch her getting bullied by others.”

Gu Mengmeng’s face twitched, f? Was he still treating himself as her blood-related brother?

Since Gu Mengmeng was acting, she had to act the whole thing out perfectly so she took out her acting skills from working in a children’s play at the amusement park and said with an exaggerated tone, “No! You can’t do it.”

Collin tilted his head and asked, “Why?”

Gu Mengmeng said, “Because only males who love her with all their heart have the qualification to protect her.”

Collin stayed quiet for quite some time before raising his head to ask Gu Mengmeng, “What is love? I don’t know...”

Gu Mengmeng could not continue her performance anymore. She stopped holding in her breath and transformed back into the form of an ordinary person while huddling deeper into Elvis’s arms. She asked, “If you only have one sweet potato left and both you and Sandy are hungry, who would eat it?”

“Sandy!” Collin replied without hesitation, “Even though Sandy’s a half-orc, she’s also a precious female. Let alone one sweet potato, even if there wasn’t any sweet potatoes left, I’ll let Sandy eat myself to survive.”

Damn it, that gender difference again.

Gu Mengmeng asked again, “If someone made Sandy cry, what would you do?”

“Then, I’ll have to see who it is.” Collin said, “If it’s a male, I’ll strangle him to death. But if it’s a female...”

Gu Mengmeng pointed at her own nose and asked, “What if it’s me?”

Collin remained silent for a while, sinking into a war of the century before raising his head and saying, “Why would you bully Sandy?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled, “Because I snatched away something that she like.”

Collin asked again, “What is that thing? I can find a new one for you, can you return the old one to Sandy?”

Gu Mengmeng stood up from Elvis’s arms and walked to Carl. She pointed at Carl’s nose and asked, “But...what if it’s a person?”

Collin was taken aback and he breathed in some cold air deeply. “What? Sandy likes Elvis?!”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng really wanted to throw up blood on Collin’s face and drown him to death.

Chapter 338 - Yeah, She's Complimenting You.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Looking at Gu Mengmeng's expression, Collin himself also knew that he guessed wrongly so he scratched the back of his head in embarrassment. Chuckling, he said, "Alas, Gu Mengmeng, what exactly do you want to say? Can't you just say it directly? I'm not as clever as Lea, I can't guess it right."

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, "If you know you aren't clever, this shows that you're not dumb beyond cure."

Collin tilted his head and glanced at Barete, asking softly, "Is Gu Mengmeng complimenting me now?"

Barete sighed and nodded his head. "Yeah, she's complimenting you. I'm so jealous."

Collin grinned from ear to ear and chuckled. "It's no use being jealous. I'm more clever than you."

"Yeah, you're so clever." Barete turned his head away, sighing.

While the two of them were creating a ruckus, Elvis suddenly scooped Gu Mengmeng up and headed outside. Nobody asked the reason as they all reached a common consensus and followed him out while maintaining their team formation.

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded as she wrapped her arms around Elvis's neck and asked, "What's...what's wrong? Where are we going? Our sons are still sleeping in the cave, are we just going to leave them there all by themselves?"

Elvis glanced back into the cave with the corners of his eyes and said, “If they can’t even protect themselves, it will be better to die a clean death than living.”

“Huh?! You....” Gu Mengmeng rolled her sleeves up and said with her arms akimbo, “Can you protect yourself when you aren’t even three months old?”

“Yeah.” Elvis nodded.

The words Gu Mengmeng wanted to use as her rebuttal were stuck at her throat and she was actually speechless from his attack.

After holding it in for half a day, she still could not come up with words to refute him back so she turned her head away gloomily and looked at Lea. “Lea, can you help me check on my children?”

Lea swayed his large tail and said, “Don’t worry, the surroundings are filled with Elvis’s scent. Ordinary beasts won’t dare to step too close to his cave at all. As for orcs...ha, who would dare to steal the children of the messenger of the Beast Deity from the tribe leader’s home?”

“But...” Gu Mengmeng wanted to insist further when she heard someone call her name from afar.

She turned her head and saw Bode with an anxious face.

“What’s wrong? Did something happen to Sandy?” Gu Mengmeng frowned. Other than Sandy, nobody had made Bode that frantic before.

Since winter just passed, Bode’s body appeared pretty frail from one whole season of food moderation. The weather was clearly still very cold but his whole forehead was dotted with perspiration. He pointed behind him profusely with one hand and was so anxious that he could not say a word. After hearing Gu Mengmeng’s question, he nodded his head hard.

Gu Mengmeng said, “Bring me to her. We’ll talk as we walk.”

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was willing to help, Bode heaved a sigh of relief. He evolved into his leopard form frantically and darted off in a jiffy.

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng and asked, “Are we going to follow him....or return back to our cave to check on our sons?”

Gu Mengmeng glared at Elvis and said, “Didn’t you say that ours sons are very safe in the cave? We head over first then settle the matter and rush back before our sons wake up.”

Elvis gave a light smile and handed Gu Mengmeng to Lea while he himself evolve into his wolf form. Lea placed Gu Mengmeng onto Elvis’s back while he himself evolve into his white snow fox form. The next moment, one black and one white shadow followed Bode from behind. Barete and Collin glanced at each other before evolving into their cheetah and black bear forms respectively, following the rest closely.

The few of them disappeared from their original spot in a blink of the eye. The wind and shadows on both sides passed them by like lightning, showing that Bode was clearly running with all his might.

When everyone stopped their movements, they had arrived at Sandy’s cave. The rusty smell of blood filled the air and Gu Mengmeng frowned. She looked at Bode and asked, “What exactly happened? Hurry and speak.”

Chapter 339 - Sandy Was Seriously Injured

Chapter 339: Sandy Was Seriously Injured

“Nina wanted to snatch the prey of the primary hunter, Sandy tried to block her so Nina ordered her males to attack Sandy. Even though Sandy’s males fought to their deaths to protect her, they could only let Bode bring Sandy back first, however...” Lea connected the things that Bode had said discontinuously in beast language whilst running and explained to Gu Mengmeng.

Taking two steps forward, he blocked Gu Mengmeng, “Sandy’s injury is pretty serious. If you’re afraid you’d be scared, then wait here while I go handle it inside.”

Gu Mengmeng gritted her teeth, snorting, “Scared? Ha, scared of that lunatic chicken Nina not having an ugly death soon? Move, don’t block me from seeing Sandy.”

Lea nodded, backing up to allow them to move forward on the path.

Gu Mengmeng also jumped down from Elvis’ back. Even if Elvis was the leader of the tribe, he could not go into other females’ houses without permission. Other than Gu Mengmeng, the only other person that could go in was the witch doctor, Lea.

Lea followed closely behind Gu Mengmeng. Elvis, Barete and Collin guarded outside the cave without a word, only watching quietly, each having their own thoughts.

Gu Mengmeng entered the cave and saw a skinny, weak bear lying against the corner of the wall, having numerous wounds on her body and her flesh being exposed. Blood was all over the floor, some had already hardened and stuck her fur to the ground, making it even harder for her to move about.

Gu Mengmeng softly called out, “Sandy? Is that you?”

The bear heard Gu Mengmeng calling, so she raised her head and buried her head, like she was upset and embarrassed at the same time.

Gu Mengmeng walked over, lightly caressing Sandy’s head, comforting her gently, “It’s okay, don’t be scared. Lea already came, he can definitely cure you. Furthermore, am I not the messenger of the beast deity? I’m more than familiar with the beast deity, so I will tell him to watch over you. So don’t be scared, you will be alright.”

Sandy made a few noises of acknowledgement before she obediently placed her chin on Gu Mengmeng’s legs, not moving.

Lea was already helping Sandy to treat her wounds. It hurt so much that she trembled, yet she still forced herself to keep her mouth tightly shut, not making a sound.

That hurt Gu Mengmeng’s heart to no end, but now she could not leave Sandy behind to strangle Nina. A gush of evil aura surrounded her as she glared at Bode, venting her anger on him, “Sandy is already hurt to this extent, how could you take so long to look for me?”

Bode’s heart ached too, but he could not do what Gu Mengmeng did, even if he just wanted to inch a little closer to see how Sandy’s injury was, and could only wait outside anxiously without being able to do anything.

After being yelled at by Gu Mengmeng, he lowered his head as if he was a secondary school student who had been called to the disciplinary office by the security guard for being late. He explained, “Sandy told me that now that you are the messenger of the beast deity, you definitely have a lot of things to do. So she told me to not bother you because of her...”

Gu Mengmeng ground her teeth. If it was not for Sandy leaning against her legs because she was so weak, she would have kicked Bode so hard that he flipped over. If he did not flip over, then she would kick him again!

“Don’t you have a brain? You can listen to her for other things, but are you going to let her fool around when it concerns her life and death? Let me tell you Bode, it is fine if Sandy will be alright today, but if something happens to her, I will peel off your skin.”

Bode’s eyes sagged as he sighed, “If something really happened to Sandy, you won’t even be able to peel off my skin. Due to the false counter-charge of the mating agreement, I would be chewed so rotten that I wouldn’t even have any bones remaining.”

Gu Mengmeng choked, and could not say a word. She breathed heavily through her nose, adjusted her tone and hugged Sandy’s tiny head while speaking in her ear, “Silly Sandy, we are good friends. How could you abandon me because I am the messenger of the beast deity? If being the messenger of the beast deity means losing you... then I would not be a messenger. Whoever likes the role can go take it.”

Chapter 340 - Thank You For Not Being A Male

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Sandy raised her head and groaned twice. Gu Mengmeng looked at Bode, asking, “What did Sandy say?”

Awkwardly, Bode furrowed his eyebrows, stammering, “Sandy said she liked you the most, and she wanted to stay with you no matter whether you are the messenger of the beast deity or not. Uh...”

Gu Mengmeng frowned impatiently, “Uh what? You’re a man and you can’t even speak properly, are you no less than a mynah? Not even swift with learning how to speak.”

Bode’s head sank even lower. He did not know why, he always felt less than Gu Mengmeng.

“Sandy said she was not able to protect the first hunt that she wanted to give you and asked you to not be angry.” Lea helped Bode translate the remainder of his sentence while sewing up Sandy’s wound.

Gu Mengmeng sighed as she held Sandy’s tiny face, with heartache written all over her face, “Ignore the..., how are you going to pay for making my important friend hurt? Hmm?”

Sandy shrunk her neck. Although she clearly had a tiny bear face, she could not hide her shy expressions. Whining a few times, she buried her face back in Gu Mengmeng’s knees.

Lea turned around to at Bode who was shocked, and he smiled, “You should be glad that Gu Mengmeng isn’t a male, otherwise... you may not even have enough rights to become a pet beast.”

Bode nodded in understanding, then took a few steps forward and bowed to Gu Mengmeng, “Miss Messenger, thank you for not being a male.”

Gu Mengmeng sighed, not knowing whether to laugh or cry. Seeing how Lea had already stopped, she thought he probably already finished treating the wounds, so she told him, “Stop saying the useless stuff, go boil a pot of water for me. I want to clean the wound for Sandy.”

Bode replied, “Just leave these kinds of things to me.”

Gu Mengmeng smirked coldly, “I handed over Sandy, fine and dandy, for you to take care of, but this was what became of her? Do you still expect me to trust you?”

Bode pressed his lips together, not being able to say a word. He really did not understand, why did Gu Mengmeng hand Sandy over to him to take care of? He clearly fought for her when she became of age...

Lea pulled Bode aside, “Bring me to take a look at the other males in your family. Sandy is already this hurt herself, the rest are probably in a much worse state. Later, I will call some people to look after...”

Before Lea could finish, he suddenly turned around to look at Sandy, asking, “Sandy, can I let Mengmeng’s subordinates in?”

Sandy groaned softly, which most likely indicated an agreement.

Lea winked his left eye at Gu Mengmeng, then smiled and brought Bode out.

Gu Mengmeng understood him instantly, and whispered to Sandy’s ear, “Remember, other than “It hurts”, do not say anything else. Got it?”

Sandy did not understand what Gu Mengmeng meant, but she always listened to her. Hence, she nodded and expressed that she had understood.

Right as they finished speaking, Collin carried a huge stone pot and walked in. Setting the pot aside, he sat on the floor starting the fire. A reserved solemnity hung on his good-natured looking face, as if he was hiding his fury underneath. Gu Mengmeng chuckled, thinking about how Nina was actually not as useless as she thought. Her evil ways had indeed succeeded this time round.

After Collin had boiled the water, Gu Mengmeng made him take a piece of thin, dry beast skin for her as she tried to gently wipe off the dirt along Sandy's injury while using an exaggerated tone to ask, "Sandy, does it still hurt?"

Chapter 341 - Like THAT Kind Of Males

Chapter 341: Like THAT Kind Of Males

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Sandy did not want Gu Mengmeng nor Collin to worry, so she initially wanted to say that it did not hurt. However, as she looked up and saw Gu Mengmeng trying her hardest to frown at her, she was reminded of what Gu Mengmeng had told her just now. Hence, she helplessly groaned, likely responding that she was in pain.

Gu Mengmeng kept focusing on Collin using her peripheral vision. As expected, his whole body froze upon hearing Sandy's voice.

Silently nodding, she thought: Even though this fool is rather slow, but it is good that he still has a heart for Sandy. Hence, if she manages to successfully matchmake them together, it can be considered a marriage.

She then continued, "Silly Sandy, if Nina wants to snatch anything from you in the future, just give it to her. Just look around you, the best fighter you have is only Bode, a first-level orc. How can you possibly fight against Nina? Although we no longer have Quentin, the third-level male beast, but at least Nina has a second-level orc among her partners, right? You know you can't win against her, so just avoid her next time. If she wants to snatch your food, then give it to her. If one day she wants to kill you... Sigh, then just submit to fate."

Sandy tilted her head, totally not understanding what Gu Mengmeng meant.

She didn't say this... the previous time?

Sandy clearly remembered the morning when they were supposed to preserve meat, she had fought with Nina too. Then, Gu Mengmeng had taught her that if Nina picked a fight with her again, then she should just transform into a bear and slap her to death...

Gu Mengmeng squeezed her eyes and Sandy slowly groaned. It needed translation for her to know she was saying "It hurts."

Gu Mengmeng nodded in approval, then sighed while speaking the most sincere words, "According to what I observe, you should find an opportunity to choose a second-class male to be your partner this year. No matter whether you like him or not, at least you have someone to protect the family so that you have someone to rely on if Nina wanted to bully you again in the future."

Sandy wanted to say something, moving her mouth slightly, but ended up just whimpering "It hurts."

Gu Mengmeng continued speaking to herself, "I know, I know it all. You only mate with males you like. Then how about you tell me, what kind of males you like? I will help you filter some out in this tribe? Or... do you have any suitable people in mind?"

When Gu Mengmeng asked this, her eyes stared straight at Collin.

Although Collin was back facing the two females while boiling water, but his stiff spine and ear that had uncontrollably inched closer towards Gu Mengmeng, clearly revealed how much he cared.

Sandy was even more confused. Didn't Gu Mengmeng already guess that she liked Collin in the morning? Why did she ask while knowing the answer?

Gu Mengmeng gave Sandy the eye before acting as if she had suddenly seen the light, "Oh, I remember now, you said you liked THAT kind of male, right?"

Collin was confused to no end, perplexed even after much thought about what "THAT" was.

Gu Mengmeng said again, “Alright, don’t worry. I will help you find THAT kind of male now.”

As she finished speaking, Gu Mengmeng blinked at Sandy, moving her tiny head away from her legs and patted Collin’s shoulder, “I will hand her over to you. Take good care of Sandy. If any partners of Nina try to look for trouble, then beat them to death on my behalf. Do you understand?”

Collin flexed his muscles a few times and gritted his teeth before nodding seriously.

Gu Mengmeng turned around and exited the cave to let Sandy and Collin spend some alone time together, but she forgot one thing, that was other than “It hurts”, she could say other things now...

Chapter 342 - I Set The Rules In This World!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis went up to her the moment Gu Mengmeng walked out, carrying her up and ripping off the beast skin on her feet that had already been soaked by water and places her tiny feet in his abdominal area to warm it.

“Where do we go now?” Elvis asked.

Gu Mengmeng sneered, “Nina’s house.”

Elvis furrowed his brows. He knew that Gu Mengmeng we definitely no longer tolerate now that Sandy has been hurt.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and smiled at Elvis, “Even if you let Nina attend the beauty pageant, can you assure that she would not publicize my affairs during the pageant? Then, wouldn’t we be even more compelled to attack? Instead of avoiding it, we should attack first. I will attend the beauty pageant and announce that I am the messenger of the Beast Deity while the crowd is present. Then, at least no one would dare to cause trouble in broad daylight. As for backstabbers... Ha, even if I don’t show up, they can’t possibly hide any longer.”

Elvis nodded, not saying a word.

Although what Gu Mengmeng had planned was different from what he had discussed with Lea, but he had no reason not to trust Gu Mengmeng. He would do anything she said.

When Gu Mengmeng had brought Elvis and Barete outside Nina’s cave, a disturbing odour went right up their noses, causing Gu Mengmeng to frown unhappily. Before she could even open her mouth, seven to eight males popped out from the cave, blocking in front of Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng sneered, “Did you really think you guys alone are enough to block us?”

The males looked at one another in dismay, and one of them replied, “This is Nina’s territory. Without her approval, none of you can enter.”

However, it was as if Gu Mengmeng had heard a ridiculous joke as she covered her mouth while laughing for a long time, so hard that tears came out before she could stop laughing. She side-eyed them, saying, “I’m just going to go in. You can follow the rules in the beast world, and attack us as invading enemies, nobody is stopping you.”

This stunned the males as they started backing up, “You... you are the messenger of the beast deity, how could you not follow the rules?”

Gu Mengmeng shrugged, “So you know I am the messenger of the beast deity? Then did you know, that from now on, I set the rules in this world?”

The males were so ridiculed they could not say a word, feeling as if the little female in front of them was a completely different person from who was teaching everyone how to preserve meat before the winter. Then, the little her was as warm as the rays of the sun, but her now... it was like the sun itself, giving off destructive heat.

Elvis did not stop, continuing forward at his original speed. A few males wanted to block him, but Elvis sneered and released a strong wave of pressure that made them fall so hard on the ground they could not stand up.

“Hand it over to me from here.” Barete, who was standing behind Elvis, said.

Elvis nodded, ceasing the pressure while continuing to move forward.

At the entrance of the cave, the rest of Nina’s partners had all already stood out there.

Gu Mengmeng counted. There were 27 of them.

“Where is the last one? Accompanying Nina inside?” Gu Mengmeng smiled while asking.

Nina’s partners were stunned. They did not know that it would only take her this little time to notice that they were short of one person. They exchanged glances, meaning to guard the entrance with their life until the 28th come to Nina’s rescue once he was done.

However, Gu Mengmeng smiled while pulling Elvis’ arm, “You don’t have to dirty your hands, isn’t Nina in the cave? Just right, I will call out the Balrog, and it will save us a lot of trouble to cook her into “Beggar’s Chicken”. That also conveniently acts as a supplement for our Sandy.”

These words from Gu Mengmeng made Nina, who was hiding in the cave initially, run out instantly. One by one, the males blocking the entrance blocked right in front of her, telling Gu Mengmeng, “If you are here because if Sandy, then please punish me. I would have no complaints even if it meant I had to step on the platform of the deity’s punishment since a precious female was harmed. However, it does not concern Nina, she has never hurt Sandy. Miss Messenger, please do not vent your anger on the innocent Nina. After all, she is the precious perfect female.”

“I did not hit Sandy to cause those injuries on her body, so it is meaningless for you to burn me to death. Furthermore, didn’t you want me to attend the beauty pageant? If you burn my tender complexion, then Saint Nazaire will not be able to attract heroic males.” Nina stretched out her neck and shouted as she hid behind her males.

Gu Mengmeng covered her mouth and giggled, without a care, “Do you really think the five words, messenger of the beast deity, will attract fewer people than a pheasant like you? You... are just table poultry, but you think you’re a peacock?”

“You...” Nina wanted to retort, but as her gaze met with Elvis’ cold expression, she was scared silent. She looked into the distance, worrying about why the one who had gone out to do things was yet to be back?

“Don’t look anymore, I told Collin to look over Sandy. He is infuriated now, so unless the one you send over was your second-class orc husband, he would stand no chance in a battle. However...” Gu Mengmeng looked

Nina up and down, “Based on how selfish you are, you would definitely not send your strongest partners to leave your side. Otherwise, who would sacrifice their lives trying to hold back Lea to give you a chance to escape when I come over to kill you?”

Nina’s heart ran cold. She could not understand, how did Gu Mengmeng guess that she would have tried to use Sandy to threaten her?

Actually, it was not that Gu Mengmeng had the predictive powers of a prophet, but that she had watched too many palace fighting shows, so she still had to prevent this trap from being set. Furthermore, the real reason she made Collin stay was for them to develop feelings for each other. Nina using this method was just short of her writing a sign, “I am going to kidnap Sandy”, yet it made Gu Mengmeng pretty surprised. She thought... Although Nina was stupid, but she would not be so ridiculously stupid.

Seemed like she still underestimated Nina’s level of stupidity.

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis’ shoulder, asking, “How long can Nina’s partners here hold you back? One second, or two?”

Elvis did not know how long one or two seconds were, only raising his head to give her a gentle kiss before replying, “Close your eyes.”

Gu Mengmeng did not understand, so she just closed her eyes. Suddenly, she felt a jolt that made her open her eyes in frantically, and right at that moment, she was right in front of Nina while her partners laid three to five metres away. Dead... they probably were not dead yet, but they clearly could no longer move.

Carrying Gu Mengmeng with one hand, Elvis’ other hand dangled naturally, with fresh red blood dripping down his nails. He gave off a gloomy aura like Death himself, making anyone fearful.

However, Gu Mengmeng was not too shocked by any of that.

She had seen Lea’s skills and knew that no one could defend themselves from the level of power in the beast world. It only took three seconds for the third-level Lea to defeat Nina's partners, the fourth-level Elvis... Ah, if he had not considered Barete, who was behind him, he would probably have given off some pressure, which would have made them all lie on the ground unable to get up.

Elvis stretch out his hand and grabbed Nina by her neck, but Gu Mengmeng patted his shoulder, gesturing at him to stop.

Sighing, Elvis released that bloody hand slowly. He towered and looked at Nina, who was lying on the ground panting for air like a fish that had been caught, guarding her from doing anything that could harm Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng knew why Elvis sighed. Although she did not understand, she clearly knew that Elvis and Lea were in some way jealous over the fact that Barete once for standing on the platform of the deity's punishment for her once, as if he had proven his feelings to Gu Mengmeng while they never had such a chance. While this logic was iffy, but now was clearly not the time to be explaining, so Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis' shoulder, "Let me down."

Elvis frowned, "The floor is cold, but there is no beast skin on your feet."

However, Gu Mengmeng smiled, "It's alright, let me down."

Elvis' gaze went down at the pool of blood on the ground and his brows tightly furrowed.

Gu Mengmeng saw that too, but she nodded at him, gesturing that she was fine with it.

Elvis could not win over her eventually, so he backed up slightly and ripped the beast skin dress off one of Nina's partners and tore it into half, wrapping it around Gu Mengmeng's feet before letting her down.

Once Gu Mengmeng touched the ground, she took slow yet pressurizing steps towards Nina, one step at a time.

“You instructed Quentin to assassinate me. I won’t haggle over this matter with you, since you didn’t succeed anyway. You constantly look for trouble. I won’t haggle over this with you, since it doesn’t really matter anyway. You betrayed me and spread information about me to the people of Sauder. I won’t haggle over that with you, since it couldn’t be kept a secret for long anyway. You praise yourself to be the first beauty of the tribe, pestering my men. I won’t haggle over this with you, since my men have no interest in you anyway. Even when you told the world that you were going to kill my sons, I won’t haggle about that since you don’t have the ability to anyway. However, you hurt my best friend so I... won’t be able to let you go this time.”

Gu Mengmeng’s foot had already stepped on Nina’s shoulder when she finished speaking. She tilted her body and stepped on her steadily.

“I... I am a female of Saint Nazaire. Every tribe has its rules, the people of Saint Nazaire cannot kill their own people.” Nina had never been this fearful, and it was not the first time that Gu Mengmeng had hit her, but she had never seen such an obvious aura of death in her eyes. It was as if her tiny body carried the power of ruling the world. It was only at her position where she could only look up, that she truly understood the meaning of the five words Messenger of the Beast Deity.

“You are a person from Saint Nazaire... Ha...” Gu Mengmeng laughed coldly, and lowered her voice, “But I, am a deity.”

With one foot on Nina’s shoulder and the other on her face, Gu Mengmeng forced Nina’s profile to stick tightly against the ground, revealing her neck forcefully. Gu Mengmeng went down on her knees, arching her body and grabbing Nina by her neck with one hand, tightly strangling it and sneered, “Your neck is just too thick, I can’t wrap it around even with two hands, so... let’s make things simpler, how about that?”

Nina suffocated instantly, not being able to make a sound as her face turned red and swollen. She did not understand why Gu Mengmeng, who looked so weak, made her feel closer to death when strangling her than if Elvis had used his hands.

Fear made her eyes expand, looking hideous and horrifying. She used both hands to claw around, trying to scratch Gu Mengmeng off her own body, but even with the first slight movement, both her hands got shoved stuck to the ground on each of her side before she could touch Gu Mengmeng's clothes. Her wrists were broken, and she was mounted in the depression on the ground in a weird position.

Gu Mengmeng looked up and her eyes met with Lea's smiling eyes. Like a gentleman, he stretched out a clean hand to Gu Mengmeng, waiting for her to hand her tiny hand to him, while placing his blood-stained hand behind his back, saying gently, "She is still not worthy of dirtying your hands. How about, you hand this over to me?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, looking at Lea then Elvis, "Killing her is the deity's will, it is destiny. If you guys were to do it, then it would be against the rules of the beast world, and you would have to go on the platform of the deity's punishment."

Lea continued smiling, "Listening to your orders is the same as listening to the orders of the deity, and it is destiny too."

Gu Mengmeng frowned, not knowing what to say.

"You... you are abusing your authority, you are publicly seeking vengeance. I am a perfect female, the darling of the beast deity, and you treating me like this... you... you will be punished by the beast deity." It was as if Nina was so scared she started shouting and roaring incoherently. However, she did not know that such hues and cry would only make her die more quickly.

Her hand formed into a karate chop, Gu Mengmeng knocked against Nina's throat, making her cough violently. She could barely breathe, no less talk.

Gu Mengmeng squatted down, looking at her coldly, "Didn't you know? Beast deity is my Father Beast, my abuse of power and such public vengeance was taught by the people of his family."

Obviously, Gu Mengmeng was just blabbering nonsense.

However, Nina had believed it...

“Mengmeng.” Lea used his one clean arm to carry Gu Mengmeng up, looking into her eyes, “Can’t you let me be the first to be the first in command to carry out the execution?”

Gu Mengmeng looked into Lea’s eyes, and it was as if he saw a pain and struggle that was difficult to express from those pair of eyes. That only way out... was herself.

Gu Mengmeng remembered what Elvis had once told her about Lea’s past.

He had come from Sauder, which was the tribe of the previous messenger of the beast deity.

He was the Ninth Highness that had been expelled, with reasons unknown...

Hatred had taken over his heart, yet he never mentioned a word about his past.

If a divination from the messenger of the beast deity can set him free, then what was she hesitating for?

Gu Mengmeng stood up slowly and backed off, leaning back into Elvis’ arms.

Steadily, Elvis picked Gu Mengmeng up and positioned her on his shoulders.

Gu Mengmeng lowered her head a little, looking into Lea’s eyes. She stretched out a hand and placed it on his forehead, “As the messenger of the beast deity, I entrust you with the power to execute, to punish Nina.”

One knee on the ground, he used the clean hand to hold up Gu Mengmeng’s tiny feet beside his lips and gave it a gentle kiss while the other blood-stained hand was positioned on his chest, giving that clear white chest a touch of blackish red cinnabar.

Elvis did not let Gu Mengmeng see how Lea executed l, because those obscene images should never have to be something she had to see.

Elvis and Lea exchanged a glance before Gu Mengmeng was brought out.

Gu Mengmeng knew neither Elvis nor Lea wanted her to see themselves being violent, and neither was she desiring violence. From the bottom of the heart, she was unwilling to kill Nina herself too. Although she was a stray chicken, she could have transformed into human form... and if she really saw her die under her orders, she would still bear the blame in her heart.

So when Elvis brought her out, she neither struggled nor looked back.

She only needed to wait for Lea to be back, to tell her what a divination meant to him, and why there was such a complicated, heavy depth in his eyes.

The sunset was bright red. While the moon was quietly creeping up the peak of the mountain and the sun was still immersed in the beauty of the world, Lea was carrying the evening glow at his back as he returned to Elvis' cave.

He walked in front of Gu Mengmeng, with one knee on the ground while his right hand was positioned on his chest, he lowered his head, "Reporting back to Miss Messenger, I have completed the execution of Nina."

Gu Mengmeng grabbed Lea, saying, "Lea, are you willing to tell your full story to me now?"

Lea raised his head, maintaining his kneeling position while looking at Gu Mengmeng, remaining in a daze for a long time.

"Lea?" Gu Mengmeng called out to him once again, but Lea laughed instead, with a laughter that contained a thousand emotions, "Sure, if you mate with me... I will tell you, all of my stories."

Gu Mengmeng suddenly felt her heart ache slightly. She was mentally prepared for Lea to say "None of your business" coldly, or even grieve sorrowfully about an extremely tragic life story. But...

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to know, why Lea always had a refined smile, even though there was so much hatred within him.

Is that smile, just a camouflage?

Trying his hardest to hide his emotions, using a cynical attitude to treat his pain of the past, was it because... he would be unable to tolerate it any other way?

Gu Mengmeng lowered her head as she asked herself, if she had forced Lea to tell his story, would she... be able to handle the consequences? So what if she saw Lea's lethal wound that she had torn apart due to her curiosity? What was she going to use to comfort him and make him heal again?

Sighing, Gu Mengmeng smiled, "I will not force you if you don't want to tell me. But if there comes a day, when you want to vent... I'm always here."

Lea continued smiling, swinging his big furry tail, "Seems like I'm more adored as a pet beast than I thought."

Gu Mengmeng smiled cooperatively and did not reply nor retort.

A... pet beast?

Gu Mengmeng smiled, just treat it as if they are rearing a Samoyed in the house for the moment.

When Lea's inner demons are finally released one day, he would search for the open field himself, and she as the messenger of the beast deity would not be able to keep him even if she wanted to either. Based on his intelligence, it would be too easy for Lea to wash off the idea of being a pet beast. It would at most be like that in the movies where he would be given a new identity. Since she was a high-position person of power, she could easily create a new identity for him.

Lea stood up, twirling a chunk of hair on each side of his face and tucked it behind his head while saying, "Oh, right. When I returned from Sandy's just now, Collin asked me to ask you, what exactly was "THAT" kind of male?"

Gu Mengmeng stopped in her tracks, smiling as she immediately understood, "That wooden block finally got it?"

Lea thought for a moment and nodded, “Sandy was hurt quite badly, she could not say anything other than “It hurts”. Collin’s heart ached so much and said that he wanted to protect her by her side forever. However, when he confessed to Sandy, she only shouted that she was hurting with her eyes red, and shouting very much in pain...”

Gu Mengmeng put her forehead in her palm, thinking: Sandy, you and Collin are fated to be foes.

Helplessly, Gu Mengmeng gave a bitter smile while asking, “What did you think about Sandy’s injury? Can she attend the ceremony tonight?”

Lea nodded, “It may be rather difficult to walk on her own, but if you want her to attend, I can call a few males to carry her over.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “Yes, find a few reliable ones, don’t tear Sandy’s wound.”

Lea nodded, then asked further, “Is it really alright, to carry out tonight’s campfire according to the way you mentioned?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled slyly, “I am the messenger of the beast deity. Who knows about stuff like playing with fire... more than I do?”

Lea smiled too as he nodded in deep consideration and replied, “Then I will make the arrangements for it.”

Gu Mengmeng, “Eh, bring ... back. Just let him know I wanted to tell him what exactly is “THAT” kind of male.”

Lea responded, “Alright.”

After Lea left, Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis back into the cave. She found two pieces of leopard skin which Elvis used to help her make a new set of clothes. He did not question anything and did everything Gu Mengmeng told him to. By the time Collin came over, Gu Mengmeng had already worn on a smart-looking leopard-printed outfit, standing before a crowd.

Collin, curling his lips without a word.

Gu Mengmeng said, “Just say what you want to say.”

Collin pointed at Gu Mengmeng’s clothes, “The beast skin you’re wearing looks so weird...”

Gu Mengmeng clicked her tongue, “What do you know, this is fashion.”

Collin shrugged. He did not know fashion, he only knew food.

Gu Mengmeng did not go further, only gesturing her fingers asking Collin to come closer. She spoke in a low voice beside his ear, “Later, you just do this... then... followed by... yeah. Do you understand?”

Collin blinked his eyes, looking at Gu Mengmeng with question marks all across his face.

Gu Mengmeng slapped him violently in the chest, “Do you want to mate with Sandy?”

Collin nodded seriously, “Yes!”

Gu Mengmeng, “Then just follow what I say, no more trash talking.”

Collin nodded seriously again, “Alright.”

That night was the first time Saint Nazaire had held a real campfire. There was not any fight at close quarters between people from the same tribe, and no dyeing of the wooden pagoda red with fresh blood. There was only the warmth from the fire that lit up the sky and luring aroma of generous amounts of food.

Sandy was arranged to be in the position closest to Gu Mengmeng. Since Gu Mengmeng did not appear yet, Sandy could only lie there in the form of a bear, dazing at the flame.

Bode delivered the grilled meat to Sandy’s mouth, but she did not even open her mouth to eat it, only shaking her head absent-mindedly, then continuing to zone out.

Suddenly, there was a loud thump that scared everyone.

Bode’s first reaction was to protect Sandy as he looked in all directions warily.

Thump! Thump thump!

Another two strong-sounding noises. This noise was very unfamiliar, yet it made one feel like one's blood boiling.

Looking into the distance where the sound came from, one could only see two people slowly walking from behind the flame, one of the men who was 2-metre tall carried something weird in his arms, while the small figure in front of him... was Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng wore a leopard-printed garment that wrapped around her chest to cover her overly feminized 36D. She had specially designed the garment to be styled like a bandage, looking rather like a battlefield prince. This time, she did not wear a skirt, but a pair of shorts that had a length between her knees and thighs, seemingly extending her legs limitlessly. Other than the garment and shorts, the sleeveless cloak on Gu Mengmeng was the most eye-catching, making a roaring sound in the wind and made her look like a deity that had entered from another world under the shining flames — bringing mission, hope and lethal attraction that made one incapable of looking away.

Chapter 348 - Come At Me If You Dare

Collin positioned the items he was holding according to Gu Mengmeng's orders. The crowd did not know what it was, upon a closer look... it seemed like a cross section of a tree trunk, having half the height of a person, with a layer that looked like deerskin that covered it.

There were two wooden rods in Gu Mengmeng's hands, and at the end of the rod was a fist-sized sphere that had been covered by beast skin.

Gu Mengmeng flipped her body atop the weird-looking thing and handed the two wooden rods to Collin while she stood on the wood that had been wrapped by beast skin with both her legs raised, jumping with a spring~

Dong—!

A loud sound resonated, that sounded like thunder roaring.

The whole crowd was silent as everyone's gaze naturally gathered on Gu Mengmeng. As one of her hands gave the cloak a shake, it started waving in the wind among the flames.

She raised her right leg and landed it again, making another loud sound.

“If you do not enjoy listening to my songs, please shut your ears, as the next step is to get carter and penetrate your eardrums...”

Gu Mengmeng raised her arms, and ... used the two rods to knock on the deerskin.

The opening song “Aliens” had a great momentum, such that everyone's attention was focused on Gu Mengmeng as if they were so in awe that they became incapable of being moved.

There were no so-called strong pressure from her body, but it made everyone forget to catch a breath.

“I am fearless, and even the opponents have learnt their lessons, follow me, follow me, follow my loud holler!”

With that, Collin transformed into a bear and roared loudly to the sky. Although the rhythm was slightly off, but the effect was exploding with greatness, providing an authentic wild element to the song, making it seem more unruly, wild and boorish.

Orcs do not have any sense of rhythm by nature. Gu Mengmeng tried to teach Collin to sing with her initially, but no matter how much he tried, he could not make any tunes other than roaring sounds, so Gu Mengmeng could only seek an alternative. She coordinated some movements with Collin. Once Gu Mengmeng did a specific movement, he would raise the wooden rod to knock the deer skin. This teamwork was pretty much good cooperation after all.

After Gu Mengmeng used all her might to finish singing the last sentence, “A ripping sound—!”, she took one of the wooden rods Collin was holding, jumping up high then hitting the deer skin with much strength. A deafening bang sounded, and Gu Mengmeng started panting heavily right after, sitting on her side in her original position, one knee bent to press on the sides of the deer skin while the other leg dangled down. She had one hand on her bent knee and the other holding the wooden rod, knocking at the centre point of the deer skin absent-mindedly, making slow and crisp sounds.

Collin followed Gu Mengmeng’s instructions, carrying the weird object that could make sounds along with Gu Mengmeng, walking towards Sandy.

Gu Mengmeng winked at Sandy, smiling rather slyly, rather evilly.

She took a deep breath, and slowly started to sing, “You are my queen, you rule my universe.”

Sandy's black and bright eyes twinkled at Gu Mengmeng. It was clear from her smile and gaze that the song was dedicated to her.

Gu Mengmeng stood up, with one knee on the ground and her right hand on her left chest like a knight from olden Europe, giving off a thick, luring, hormonal energy, "Raising my hand and placing it on my chest, I swear to be loyal to you."

Gu Mengmeng sang, while dancing, while flirting...

Sandy aside, even the males at the side were dumbfounded. Red-faced and heart palpitating, they felt as if their eyes were filled with blood. They really wanted to go up and say, "Let go of that bear, come at me if you dare."

Chapter 349 - This Man, Is Yours.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Her last line was, “My dearest queen, the knight is waiting. Please take each and every step to come to the throne of love.”

With that, Collin kneeled down on one knee before Sandy, and with the same movements Gu Mengmeng used to start off the show, like a Roman warrior pledging his loyalty, he looked at Sandy with the most serious and sincere expression, “I, Collin, am willing to devote my loyalty to you, and protect you in the name of the knight, for the rest of my life.”

Sandy had still not snapped back to reality from Gu Mengmeng’s antics, having a rather delayed reaction as she could not react to the things that were going on in that instant. She only felt that the Gu Mengmeng today was especially attractive, even Collin... looked more charismatic than he usually was.

Gu Mengmeng hugged Sandy’s little head, lowering her voice as she inched towards her ear, “Nod.”

Sandy still did not know what was going on, so she just nodded as according to Gu Mengmeng’s words, and she saw Collin suddenly stood up, hands in the air excitedly with a loud “Roar—”.

Sandy was scared at first, but she soon realised what was going on. She felt heat rush to her face as she turned her head to look at Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng smiled while caressing her tiny head, “This man, is yours.”

That made Sandy’s cheeks even ready as her furry claws hung onto Gu Mengmeng’s arms, refusing to let her leave. However, Gu Mengmeng smiled and kissed Sandy on her forehead, “Now, I will go back to look for my man.”

With that, she patted Sandy's tiny hands, pulling back her arm and stood up.

Gu Mengmeng punched Collin when she walked past him, saying heroically, "My Sandy is still hurt, you... be more gentle."

"I got it."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head as she looked at Collin's honest and serious expressions, thinking to herself that he could not look handsome for more than three seconds after all. It was a relief that she had taught him to memorize his lines before his confession, otherwise, when Sandy recalls Collins's proposal in the future, she can probably only remember the line, "Sandy, I really fancy you"...

Before Gu Mengmeng could run off, she was swept off her feet. As her feet were lifted off the ground, she subconsciously grabbed that person by his neck.

She turned her head, and she met those familiar and deep eyes as expected.

Gu Mengmeng smiled sweetly, "Hubby, did my singing sound nice?"

Elvis kissed away the droplets of sweat on Gu Mengmeng's forehead, full of deep love yet jealousy in his eyes, "What position do I have in your heart?"

"Hmm? Why do you ask that?" Gu Mengmeng asked, amused.

"How long have you neglected me for those four little wolf cubs? Hmm?" Elvis inched towards Gu Mengmeng's ear, wanting to bite Gu Mengmeng in anger, but ended up only gently sucking on her earlobe.

"Ah, aiya, stop it, it itches." Gu Mengmeng giggled as she pleaded for mercy, hiding in Elvis' arms, "Back where I was, a famous person once said, "Being parents and children just means that in this lifetime, you will be destined to watch their backs fading further and further away. You stand at one end of the road as you watch them disappear and the area where the road turns, and they will use their back views to tell you, you don't have to chase, you don't have to chase..." Children will eventually grow up, have their own families, and leave us. There will also come a day when we become old. Now that we still have one another, how can we not treasure this time together? Don't you agree?"

"Hmm." Elvis did not retort, but acknowledged her firmly, before responding with a smile, "However, today, you threw the four of them in the cave for an afternoon just for Sandy, and now... it's dark."

Chapter 350 - You Have To Have A Broader Mind As A Wolf

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was rather guilty, shrinking her neck and replied, “Didn’t you say our cave was very safe, and nothing would happen to the children at home?”

Elvis smiled, “What I’m saying is... the cubs are more important than me, Sandy are more important than the cubs... than what about me? How many other people are more important to you than me, in your heart?”

Gu Mengmeng put her arms around Elvis’ neck and gave him a big kiss on the cheek, “Nonsense. Sandy is important, the babies are important, but you are the most important. There is no one that is more important to me than you in my heart, not one at all.”

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and sat beside the wooden pagoda that was burning. His mystic blue pupils looked a flirtatious orange due to the flame. He raised his brows, playing with Gu Mengmeng’s fingers, “Nina once tried to seduce me in front of you, but you were not only not angry but also... it seemed like you wanted to give in to her.”

Gu Mengmeng recalled that possibly happening when she first reached the tribe, but Nina had come forth as if she was the empress trying to catch the emperor in the act of adultery, who would’ve damned known whether they were together or not? If she did not give in, was she going to buy tickets to watch on?

“Was... was there? How do I not remember that?”

“Yes.” Elvis replied firmly, then sighed, “However, once Nina bullies Sandy, you rush to fight for Sandy immediately, and even make yourself fall on the ground to act like you're so pitiful to save her."

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips, "Those are already things of the past, why are you still bearing grudges? Let's stop bringing up the old scores. Being a he-man, you have to have a broader minded as a wolf. Isn't it a waste of brain cells to keep remembering little things of the past?"

Elvis nodded, finally in agreement, "Don't bring up the past, we'll talk about right now."

Gu Mengmeng replied with a smile, "That's right, we'll talk about right now, aren't we living a beautiful life? Look, you carry the softest fragrance and warmth in your arms, it's the great glory of a wolf, isn't it?"

Elvis sneered, "Sandy has two songs, one of which you sang twice. But I... only have one, and I only heard it once."

Gu Mengmeng put her head in her palm as she started to continue Baidu searching in her brain: Question, my husband loves to get jealous, so jealous it he feels as sour as vinegar that had been brewed for thousands of years, how do I deal with that? Can I add some soy sauce to blend? It's quite urgent, I'm waiting for your replies online...

Elvis continued to say in a low voice, slowly, "Furthermore, you are especially loving towards Sandy, letting her hug you whenever she wants, cuddle you whenever she wants... but me, once I try to touch you, you hide away from me."

Gu Mengmeng coughed a few times, choked by her own saliva.

She really wanted to ask Elvis: Does your conscience not waver when saying such things?

When Sandy wants to give her a hug, she really gives her a damned hug, but when he tries to have a damned hug, has he been trustworthy? Have you thought of how your four sons came about? If not for hiding... if not for hiding, she would have died on that bed already.

“Just now you still mentioned... she is your queen? You want to be loyal to her? And protect her happiness?” The gloominess that was exploding from Elvis’ expression made it seem as if ink could drip from his face despite being close to the flames.

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis’ waist awkwardly, “Who said I didn’t let you hug, aren’t we hugging now? Hmm? Come, hug, we will keep on hugging, alright?”

The edges of Elvis’ lips quivered slightly as he raised his chin and tightened his embrace, wrapping Gu Mengmeng up with a huge pant. His gaze pointed towards Sandy, it was only short of the three words “I have won” written across his face.”

Chapter 351 - Let Her Be As Stubborn As She Wants

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

That night of revelry made Saint Nazaire seem like it had been overwhelmed with excitement for a night.

Other than Gu Mengmeng, Collin had the most limelight. Although he only stood behind Gu Mengmeng, doing some tiring manual labour, with his only lines being that sentence when he proposed to Sandy, yet it created a stir and sensation.

In the depths of the night, Ian leaned against the tree, quietly looking down at the celebration below with an indifferent expression.

Lea sat beside him and delivered a piece of meat, “Do you mind not letting you guys show yourselves?”

Ian did not take the food that Lea had delivered him. Instead, he locked his eyes on the shy girl who was carried in the arms of the leader of the tribe. From the moment that small girl appeared, she had secured everyone’s attention. It was as if she had some kind of magical powers that made others incapable of resistance.

“Is she... really the messenger of the beast deity?” Ian asked sceptically, while sounding like he was muttering to himself.

Lea chuckled, “Has she not proven her identity, even after she let your tribe survive the winter?”

Ian did not say a word, what is the point of answering? Food, song and... fire.

Retracting his gaze, Ian side-eyed Lea, “Is this the reason why you were so confident back then?”

Lea nodded, “Aren’t the Birds tribe the ones who yearn for the beast deity the most? The messenger has descended, which means the entire Birds tribe of the beast world will flock after her. Once her identity is revealed, why would there be any fear that nobody would come seek refuge?”

Ian nodded, agreeing with Lea’s point. The tribe that flew the most freely in the sky, yearned to get close to the beast deity the most.

“Since it is so, then why choose us? After all, we are only left with 32 people in our tribe.”

Lea smiled, his gaze was afar, looking at the tiny person who was throwing tantrums in Elvis’ arms, with love in his eyes, “She is rather stubborn, hence is the most unsettling factor in my layout. To cope with her whims, I have to have more chips in my hands to keep her safe, and let her be as stubborn as she wants.”

Ian was stunned, then proceeded to cackle, “Seems like snow foxes have sentiment too. I thought you guys were different from normal orcs, and would not change for females.”

“Snow fox tribe?” Lea brooded in that title, then chuckled. “The only useful thing the tribe left for me, is probably this tail.”

With that, Lea did not care about Ian any further proceeding to transform into a fox and pranced off into the darkness.

The target was crisp and clear.

Ian stood in his original position, with the grilled meat Lea had left behind in his hands as he watched the white figure speed through the darkness back to the campfire, wagging his big tail asking for love in front of that tiny female without any shame.

His lips curved upwards, “Messenger of the Beast Deity... Gu Mengmeng.”

Three days later, Gu Mengmeng was all packed and ready to set off to the beauty pageant.

She originally wanted to bring Sandy along, but her wounds had not fully healed yet. Furthermore, her and Collin were newlyweds, so she did not want to bring them apart, only smiling while rubbing the black bear print mark on Sandy's chest, warning her to take care of herself and not to make any big movements that could tear up her wound. Since Lea would not be around, nobody else would be able to help her.

Embarrassed and red-faced, Sandy wiggled her body and acted cute in Gu Mengmeng's arms for a while. Eventually, Collin came over and carried Sandy up, saying seriously, "Gu Mengmeng has things to do, don't pester her and delay her time." before pulling Sandy away from Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng saw how Sandy clearly looked at her with a reluctant expression, yet had her arms wrapped firmly around Collin's neck, and could not help but give Collin a thumbs up, "Great, Collin. What a man!"

According to established practice, other than the partners of Sandy and Maya, every member of the Saint Nazaire tribe should follow the females who participate in the beauty pageant. One on hand, it is to protect the prettiest females in the tribe, and on the other, it is to prevent females from being brought away if they chance upon someone that they like.

However, the situation now is rather special. None of the males who followed along had any intention to change their tribes, but they all had the goal to use their lives to guard Gu Mengmeng's.

Originally, only 130 people had tribes, but over 40 were lost in an instant due to Nina. Although there were no signs of mating and they did not have to die even if Nina did, but to them, no matter what kind of female Nina was, she was their love for eternity. After Nina's death, they sealed Nina's cave and buried themselves alive in it.

The remaining 80 over people, minus nine partners of Sandy and 15 of Maya's, meant that there could only be 60 over people brought out.

Gu Mengmeng left Oakley and Barete in the tribe since one was smart while the other was strong, and could be considered the fake Elvis and Lea. With them both in the tribe in addition to the males from Sandy and Maya's families, there should not be any problems taking care of home. Gu Mengmeng originally wanted to bring the four little ones along, but Elvis and Lea had told her that the journey would be long and rocky, with the possibility of meeting regular beasts or stray beasts. If they were met with danger, they would only protect Gu Mengmeng, but if she were to bring the four little ones along and an accident was bound to happen...

Intimidation, this was certainly intimidation clear as day.

Gritting her teeth, Gu Mengmeng did not bring her four sons in the end.

She then handed the four little ones over to their future “Mother-in-law” Sandy to take care of, especially urging her not to play up extreme images in front of the children and lead them astray, otherwise their ties would be cut.

After a long day of travelling, Gu Mengmeng was extremely tired even though she had been treated like an empress, either being carried on Elvis’ back or arms, never having her legs touch the ground. Snuggled up in Elvis arms, Gu Mengmeng furrowed her brows, “Eh, what kind of lame pageant is this, can we not go? Why does this lame place not have any Internet? Otherwise, we can just have a live stream where everyone can sing and dance at home, right... Send out their location, choose whoever they want, and then it would be over... This is tiring...”

Elvis’ heart ached for Gu Mengmeng too. Nina used to complain the moment they stepped foot out of the tribe when they sent her to the beauty pageant in the past, in contrast to Gu Mengmeng who only muttered a few words of complaint before she slept after having walked the entire day.

“Let’s walk slower tomorrow. Just tell me whenever you feel tired, and we can rest whenever.” Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng’s tiny head, saying affectionately, “Sleep, I will guard you.”

“Hmm.” Gu Mengmeng found a comfortable position in Elvis’ arms and fell asleep slowly.

Occasionally, her thick eyelashes would quiver, making her look as attractive as a fairy under the warm moonlight. Elvis fixed his eyes on Gu Mengmeng’s sleeping face, thinking about how she did not know how lovely she looked while she was sleeping.

Gently scratching her little face, the delicate touch on his fingertips made Elvis feel rather restless and whimsical.

“Ooh...” Gu Mengmeng whined slightly and shook her head, as if she was unhappy someone was disturbing her sleep. Her movement was tiny, yet it made waves of her scent exude from her body, causing her to become even more attractive.

Elvis could not help but remember the day they mated. She had also slept like this, in his arms, without any guard.

That day... she really tortured him. Although he managed to get what he wanted, but in the time that she slept...

With that thought, Elvis' body started to heat up. There was a ball of fire that was burning uncontrollably within him, slowly moving down from his chest and stopping right at his abdomen.

When Gu Mengmeng finally woke up from her dreams, she realized she was lying on Elvis's back and they were moving in a jungle. The geographic features was totally different from the ones she had fallen asleep in. Rubbing her eyes, Gu Mengmeng sat up and asked, "How long have I been sleeping for?"

Lea handed over a fruit which looked fresh and especially delicious. Gu Mengmeng took a bite and it was so sweet that she felt she was surrounded by happiness.

Looking at Gu Mengmeng's satisfied look, Lea's looks became gentler. He rubbed her head and said, "You slept for a day and a half, how do you feel? Anywhere feeling uncomfortable?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head blanking, before suddenly realizing what Lea was referring to. Her face turned red and the fruit she was swallowing halfway stuck in her throat. Gu Mengmeng choked and started coughing non-stop.

Lea carried Gu Mengmeng up. With Lea's knees against her stomach and patting on her back, Gu Mengmeng managed to spit out the fruit in her throat, but her face was as red as a tomato.

Elvis turned into human form and took over Gu Mengmeng from Lea's arms. He opened her mouth and carefully examined her throat, heaved a sigh and said, "Be careful next time and don't choke again, understand?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head obediently, before handing the fruit over to Elvis and said, "Try it, it's so delicious."

Elvis shook his head lightly and replied, “This is for the female, to ease their discomfort after mating.”

Gu Mengmeng immediately stoned. The fruit in her hand lost its attractiveness and started looking like a bomb that was counting down, she wanted to throw it away, but was worried that it might explode the moment it touched the ground.

“It’s okay, everyone knows you two mated for one day two nights anyways. So you don’t have to be shy and eat it.” Lea pushed the fruit back to Gu Mengmeng’s mouth with an extremely gentle smile, but his eyes were glittering with coldness. He said, “I heard you screaming till your throat was sore that night, eat some fruits with high water content to save your throat.”

Damn, it wasn’t wrong to mate with her own husband, right? Why did she feel like she had been disloyal and was forced to be on a parade?

Gu Mengmeng turned and buried her head into Elvis’s arms, complaining softly, “I told you we should not do it in the wild, look at you now... so annoying.”

Elvis sat up straight and hooked Gu Mengmeng’s chin with his fingers. He frowned and looked at Gu Mengmeng, a little hurt. “Did you feel embarrassed... because of me?” he asked.

Gu Mengmeng was stunned for a second, before shaking her head and she said, “What are you talking about? I was just... hey, how could you let others know about this kind of things? How embarrassing...”

Elvis stared right into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes with all the affections. His voice was low, as though he was a little depressed, and he asked, “That day when we mated, you had said that you were going to tell the whole world about our relationship... Was that just a lie?”

Gu Mengmeng regretted not letting the fruit choke herself to death.

Elvis especially lacked a sense of security in some areas and he always felt that Gu Mengmeng was going to leave him anytime.

Gu Mengmeng did not know where did these feelings of his come from, but she had a deep understanding of this kind of insecurity in the past.

Cupping Elvis's face, Gu Mengmeng smiled gently, looked into his eyes and said, "Idiot, some things are secrets, secrets that can only be shared within the two of us. I... I am a selfish person and I don't want to share these with the rest, because those things belong to us."

Elvis finally broke into a grin and he kissed on Gu Mengmeng's forehead, said, "You slept for a day and a half without eating anything, are you hungry?"

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her tummy, smiled and nodded her head.

Elvis said, "You stay here and wait for me while I go and hunt."

Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis's arm and refused to go. Looking at the sixty over tribesmen guarding at the side, she said, "Can't you stay with me while they go and hunt?"

Elvis gently brushed the loose hairs by her ear and said, "I have to prepare your food myself, because I don't want to give anyone else the chance to please you."

Embarrassed, Gu Mengmeng gave a blow on Elvis's chest, and said 'Annoying~' with a red face.

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng on the lips and said, "Wait for me, I'll be back in no time. If you encounter any danger, hit on our mating mark with all your force and I will rush back."

Gu Mengmeng nodded obediently and said, "Please take care."

Elvis answered with a smile, before whooshing into the forest with a few other experts at hunting.

Lea had arranged for people to prepare lighting a fire to boil water and roast meat on the spot, while he walked towards Gu Mengmeng with his furry big tail swaying in the air. He leaned beside Gu Mengmeng and looked at her with a hand supporting his chin.

Gu Mengmeng was silent for a moment, before turning to look at Lea and she said, "Thank you... for that night."

Lea raised his eyebrow and asked, "Which night?"

Gu Mengmeng blushed, looked down and fiddled with her fingers. "You used the Fox Seductive Fragrance on me, didn't you?" she replied.

Lea was a little surprised, but just for a moment. He did not deny, but said, "You realized?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, "Thank you for relieving my pain, but... don't use it in the future."

"Why?" Lea was confused and he asked, "The Fox Seductive Fragrance only makes the mating process between you and Elvis more successful, apart from some additional fun, there are no side effects. On the other hand, it will lessen your pain? why do you not want to use it?"

Gu Mengmeng smiled shyly. She thought for a while and answered, "Whether the process was painful or sweet, it is a precious memory between us as a couple. The Fox Seductive Fragrance will make my sense uncontrollable, as though... someone was controlling my body to embrace Elvis. I don't like this feeling at all."

Lea's smile froze for a second, he then nodded and said, "I was being a busybody, sorry about that."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and smiled. "I have no means of blaming you, it will be a unique experience once in a while, but uniqueness is just a short-term boost between couples, the heartfelt feelings towards each other is the long-term solution. So, will you stop using the Fox Seductive Fragrance on me in the future?"

Lea pursed his lips, smiled faintly and said, “Of course not, in the future when we mate, I would not be able to control it even if I don’t want to use it.”

Gu Mengmeng knew that Lea said that deliberately to cover his dismay.

He should have understood, there was no space for him between Lea and herself.

Not pointing it out was Gu Mengmeng’s last mercy to Lea. She stood up and sat next to the fire pit, while staring at the direction Elvis had left with her chin supporting by her hand, waiting for the black wolf to return.

Elvis and gang did not take too long, but there was an uninvited guest in the team when they were back.

When Gu Mengmeng stood up to welcome them back, she saw half a head popping out from Elvis’s back looking at her timidly. There was an annoying hand that was grabbing tightly to the ends of Elvis’s hide dress.

Chapter 355 - Hubby, Who Is She?

Gu Mengmeng frowned. Before she opened her mouth, she heard Elvis looking at the person pulling on his hide dress with a scolding face and he said, “I warned you not to touch me before.”

“So... Sorry... I was just too scared... I...” The person was really scared by Elvis, she released her grip and took a step back. Her almost tearing face appeared so pitiful, but Elvis did not spare a look for her again.

Elvis heaved a big sigh and looked at the dress that was grabbed with a clearly upset face. He felt awful.

The female took a step back and Gu Mengmeng finally saw her full body. Her dark green long hair scattered loosely on her shoulders and she was wearing a shabby hide, which looked like it had been torn. The hide looked like it was going to fall apart anytime and it could not contain her busty chest at all. Her lower body... Snake?

Gu Mengmeng was thinking in her mind. This pose... was she going to kneel down and kowtow three times, said ‘Goddess Nüwa’ with an incense stick, or was he going to stand on a rock and shout ‘Devil, return my grandfather back!’ with a calabash on her head?

Although the comments mode was already turned on in her heart, Gu Mengmeng was expressionless on the outside. She pulled Elvis by his waist to her, tidying the hide dress that was slightly tilted from the stranger’s pull. Her eyes focused on what she was doing and she asked monotonously, “Hubby, who is she?”

Elvis sharply sensed Gu Mengmeng’s anger. Although he did not understand the reason, he knew Gu Mengmeng was definitely angry.

Was it because he had been out for too long and Gu Mengmeng was hungry?

Yes, that must be it, she usually did not feel pleasant with an empty stomach.

Thinking about that, Elvis quickly explained, “You must be hungry? Don’t worry, I have hunted down many preys and Darch is already processing it, we can start eating soon.”

This was a rule personally set by Elvis and Lea for Gu Mengmeng. All the prey were not allowed to bring back entirely. After hunting down a prey, the males had to cut the better parts with claws and put into the hide bag they carried along with them, before eating the meatless parts which were difficult to consume in the wild. After they returned, they had to clean the parts for the female thoroughly before taking it back. They were not allowed to treat the food in front of females nor were they allowed to let the females know what today’s prey was. But the males would remember the type of meat enjoyed by the female and seek for them in the future.

However, Elvis misunderstood the key point.

Gu Mengmeng’s hand was still on Elvis’s waist, but she looked up, stared at Elvis’s face and asked, “I am asking you, who is she?”

Elvis stiffly looked back at the female standing not too far away in a sacred state and answered, “She was picked up at the roadside.”

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and said, “Great Leader is really profession at picking things, first I was picked up, and then her... Tsk tsk, females aren’t that rare in the Beast World after all, you had already picked up two effortlessly.”

Elvis was stunned for a while, before laughing suddenly. He grabbed Gu Mengmeng into his arms and asked excitedly, “Xiao Meng, are you jealous? You are jealous, right? You are jealous!”

As though her tail was being stepped on, she exploded and rebutted back, “Jealous your head?! I did not!”

Elvis turned stiff, before letting out a disappointed sigh. Every single cell in his body was screaming disappointment. He said with a low voice, “Oh... I thought, you might be bothered with other females coming near me, just like...”

Elvis looked at Lea quietly, god knows how jealous he was when Gu Mengmeng dashed to snatch Lea back after knowing Lea was about to mate with Nina.

If one day, Gu Mengmeng could also be jealous because of him just once, how good would that be?

Gu Mengmeng wanted to slap Elvis. Women being women, how could you not understand the simple personality of them being double-faced? I said I was not jealous and you took me for it?! I also said you were a husky, why didn't you bark a few times for me?!

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat, then pinched hard on Elvis's waist and she signaled Elvis to come closer with her fingers.

Although Elvis was feeling upset, he obediently went up to her, expecting Gu Mengmeng to whisper some things to him.

However, Gu Mengmeng pulled his ear with all her might and she roared with her arms akimbo like a hag, "Right, I was being jealous, so what?! I am telling you Elvis, if you don't explain to me clearly who she is, we shall see if you will be forgiven?!"

"Ouch ouch ouch... It hurts." Elvis cried in pain while smiling to himself, he looked stupid, but was totally different from just now in the forest as he was thirsty for blood.

That female took a step forward and held onto Elvis's arm lightly. "This beautiful little female, you are misunderstanding the Great Leader. He merely saw me in trouble and came to my rescue, that's it, there's nothing between us."

Gu Mengmeng released Elvis and turned to grab the female's wrist that was holding onto Elvis. She bent it outwards with a method of twisting joints under simple female self-defense, easily turning the female's hand to her back. Gu Mengmeng went close to her back, tilted her face and said by her ear, "You know me, I am a clean freak, especially in terms of men. Anyone who dares to lay their hands on my man, I will let her know what's a one-way trip."

The female turned her hand and there was coldness in her eyes at the moment. Gu Mengmeng would not have noticed it if she was not that close to her.

She only took a split second to hide her look and changed into the pitiful look. “You... you are really wronging me, there’s really nothing between me and the Leader... Sobs sobs sobs, why are you bullying me like this? My wrist hurt so much...”

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and thought to herself, “Ha, she’s got something.”

Well, since she was free anyway, Gu Mengmeng decided she would play with her.

So Gu Mengmeng used her force to give a push, the female seized the chance and fell forward. As though she was expecting Gu Mengmeng to do it, the way she fell was extremely graceful and weak. But what she did not expect was, Gu Mengmeng fell before her and right underneath her.

“Xiao Meng.” Elvis dashed out with the speed of lightning, pushed away the female that almost crashed on top of Gu Mengmeng and pulled Gu Mengmeng into his arms to check on her carefully.

Lea arrived by Gu Mengmeng’s side almost at the same time. Looking at the bruise on her knee, Lea turned his head and there were murderous intentions in his eyes.

“No... It wasn’t like this... I... She...” The female had originally prepared to be pushed onto the ground and she would not be severely injured even if she fell. But with Elvis’s push, she had a solid fall. She wanted to gain sympathy, but the moment she met Lea’s murderous eyes and she became too scared to even speak clearly.

“Sobs sobs sobs... Elvis, your heart has changed, didn’t it? Gu Mengmeng’s punches fell on Elvis’s chest like raindrops. Her bad acting skills that were worse than dripping eye drops made Elvis’s heart hurt, he could not explain anything other than shaking his head. He wanted to look at the wound on her knees, but she stubbornly stood up, stumbled for a few steps and she said with her shoulders trembling, “You brought back a female from the outside and mingled with her right in front of me. I was just asking who she was and you are letting her to kill me? Sobs sob sob... Elvis, you got a new mistress and you don’t want me anymore, do you?”

“Sobs sobs sobs, it hurts so badly...” Gu Mengmeng hugged her knees and buried her face in between her legs. Unable to squeeze out tears, she had to shake her shoulders and turn herself into vibrating mode.

“Xiao Meng, let Lea treat your wound first, alright?” Elvis felt extremely miserable. No matter how precious a female was to their tribe, if he had known bringing this female back would make Gu Mengmeng so angry and so upset, he would definitely not have done it.

“Don’t bother about me, you can go ahead and coax your new love and not care about whether I am dead or alive. You are disliking me for me being old and ugly without us even mating for a full year? Sobs sobs sobs...”

“I did not.” Elvis was so anxious that he could not speak. He held back for a while before finally saying, “How about I throw her back where I found her, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng finally stopped her vibrating mode, looked up and Elvis and asked, “Throwing such a good female away, don’t you feel wasteful?”

Seeing she was finally willing to raise her head, Elvis heaved a sigh of relief, hugged her into his arms and comforted, “I won’t feel so for anyone else other than my Queen. Don’t cry and let Lea treat your wound, I will go and throw her away now.”

Gu Mengmeng was sent to Lea and Elvis turned to walk to the female with a black face. The female seemed like she did not expect the story to have advanced in this way and she looked stunned. But she quickly reacted and she held onto the male nearest to her, she said, “Warrior, save me. If I was thrown back to the forest, I will surely be captured by the stray beasts and be left with no chance to survive. Sobs sobs sobs... Will you please plead for me to the Leader? Let me join your tribe... I, I can mate with you, I can mate with you now, please save me.”

“Leader...” The male was reluctant.

Having pushed the Messenger of the Beast Deity and making her injured, the female would have been torn to pieces by everyone had she not been a female.

But females... were just too precious.

“The tribe has just lost one female, it is time to replenish with new ones.” Lea looked up at Gu Mengmeng and signaled her with his eyes, before continuing, “Xiao Meng, will you forgive her just this once because of me?”

Gu Mengmeng frowned and thoughts raced in her mind as she looked at Lea signaling to her.

Did he... meet eyes with the female?

Right, the entire tribe knew about him saying he was her pet beast, Sandy and Maya would never mate with her. If he had all thought out, he could only find females from the outside.

From his persistence with Saint Nazaire, it would be impossible for him to change tribe, that would leave him with the path of mating with newly joined females.

Twitching her mouth, Gu Mengmeng thought to herself that Lea had a bad taste for women.

But it was his life after all, if she could not give him promises, she had no reason to intervene with his love life, right?

So Gu Mengmeng sniffed and extended both of her hands to Elvis, she said, “Hubby, legs hurt, need hugs.”

Elvis knew this meant that Gu Mengmeng had agreed to Lea.

Well, he did not like all the females in the world, except Gu Mengmeng, equally. To Elvis, this female was no different from Nina in the last. If Xiao Meng was willing to take her in, he had no other objections. So he turned without sparing the female another eye and went back to Gu Mengmeng. He hugged her into his arms and asked gently, “Does it still hurt?”

Chapter 358 - One Strike and I'm Out

Gu Mengmeng pouted her mouth and said, "If I say it's not painful, do you believe me?"

Elvis kissed her face adoringly and said, "I will feed you more later to make up for this."

Gu Mengmeng nodded and cuddled in Elvis's arms. She looked at the females and their gazes met midair. Without any verbal communications and both of them were smiling, but only women knew what the sparkles in their eyes meant.

That night, the female was guarded by a few males sent by Lea, while he brought Gu Mengmeng and Lea into the woods.

Having many years of experience of going through life and death together, words were not needed for Elvis and Lea to communicate between them, which was extremely surly in circumstances like this.

"What's wrong? It's midnight and you are not letting me sleep..." Gu Mengmeng complained.

Lea and Elvis exchanged a look, before holding their breaths to listen. After ensuring there was no one eavesdropping then, Lea whistled to the night sky and a huge owl spread its wings and flew towards them, landing in front of Gu Mengmeng and Lea.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea with curious looks and she said, "Wow, not bad. When did you train this owl? Its build... tsk tsk, so cool!"

Just when Gu Mengmeng was about to tease the owl, she saw it shaking its wings and turning into a human right in front of her.

Gu Mengmeng was stunned. Although she had seen this trick of turning into human many times, she was still shocked every single time.

Looking at the cold naked man in front of her, Gu Mengmeng awkwardly withdrew her devil claws in midair. She let out a laugh and retreated back into Elvis's arms, remaining quiet thereafter.

The naked man took over his hide dress Lea handed to him, while saying as he wore it, "My name is Ian from the Eagle-owl tribe, I am not an owl."

Gu Mengmeng made the look of a sudden realization and smiled. She said, "Oh, so you are Ian, I have heard about you and excuse me for just now."

Ian could not quite catch Gu Mengmeng's way of doing things, he just cleared his throat, turned and said to Lea, "Be rest assured, I have set aside people to watch her, she has no chance to eavesdrop on us."

Lea then nodded and told Gu Mengmeng, "That female was probably sent by Sauder."

Gu Mengmeng felt unexpected, but she thought a while and was convinced that Lea had been Sauder's man, one with a high position, so he must have understood Sauder's behavior more than anyone else. She did not rebut, paused for a moment, said, "So you kept her not because you met eyes with her, but for surveillance?"

Lea paused, looked at Gu Mengmeng and frowned. He hooked Gu Mengmeng's chin with one hand to bring her little face neared to him and stared straight into her eyes with his slender and amorous ones. He said with a deep and slow voice, "You controlled your temper to keep her not because you understood my signaling, but because you wanted to give her to me? Am I such a troublesome and disgusting burden to you already?"

"No... no..." Gu Mengmeng moved back guiltily and hid into Elvis's arms.

Lea stumbled a few steps back and let out a bitter laugh before saying, “One strike and I’m out, I... understand this. Even after you knowing that Nina’s incident was all fake, you could no longer believe my feelings for you, right? In your eyes, I’m just a player that could take in any females, right?”

Chapter 359 - Ha, Efforts Wasted on Acting

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“I didn’t mean it, Lea... Sorry.” Gu Mengmeng felt a sense of guilt, she did not know her thoughts would make Lea so upset.

Lea turned and stared into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes, he said, “Rather than apologies, I want to hear your confession, you... knew.”

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips and said in a low voice, “Sorry.”

Lea heaved a long sigh and did not continue. He adjusted his emotions and changed the subject to the strange female.

“It would be a two day journey from here to Sauder. We don’t know what the female is up to and we have to be cautious. Especially Mengmeng... you have to avoid approaching her like today.” Lea looked at the wound on her knee, frowned and continued, “Don’t make yourself injured again, or else I... We might become mad.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “Be rest assured, I will protect myself. I was just thirsty for some acting today and played around with her.”

The three males looked at Gu Mengmeng blankly, not knowing what she was talking about.

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and she said, “It seems like males in whichever time and space are rookies in terms of identifying bitches.”

Gu Mengmeng turned her head, looked at Elvis and asked, “Didn’t you realize she was acting weak, innocent and pitiful from the start when she came in?”

Elvis shook his head and replied, “I didn’t notice...”

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and said, “Ha, efforts wasted on acting.”

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath and boosted her spirits like she was going on stage for a speech. She raised her head high and said, “When she was brought in today, she pulled your hide dress, right?”

Elvis was shocked and he said, “I just threw the hide dress into the fire pit, you saw it.”

Gu Mengmeng patted his shoulder and signaled for him to stay calm, before continuing, “I only asked you who she was, but before you could even reply me, she jumped out and explained hurriedly ‘you are really wronging me, there’s really nothing between me and the Leader’, right?”

The way Gu Mengmeng pitched her voice to act like the female was a little hilarious, but none of the trio laughed. They recalled for a while but still could not remember, so they said faintly, “It seems... like it?”

Gu Mengmeng sighed again, “Her efforts on acting was so wasted, nobody saw it except me.”

The three males looked at each and they listened attentively to Gu Mengmeng’s analysis like listening to an old driver talking about the years he drove and encountered accidents, before driving and encountering accidents again as the cycle repeated itself.

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and continued, “This is a common opening remark used by ‘green tea bitches’. It seemed like an explanation, but it was deliberately trying to raise misunderstandings. Together with the innocent, scared look and how she held onto Elvis’s dress, I would be easily suspecting something already happened between Elvis and her in the forest.”

Elvis felt a chill down his spine and he immediately exploded, “Xiao Meng, I swear, I didn’t... I... I, I...”

Gu Mengmeng cupped onto Elvis's face with both her hands, landed a quick kiss on his lips and said, "I know you didn't, I trust you."

Elvis heaved a long sigh and finally felt relieved, he said with fear still lingering in him, "Then why did you say my heart had changed? I was so scared that I almost open my chest and show you that you are the only one inside."

Chapter 360 - Stare at Her to Her Death Just with My Wise Eyes

Gu Mengmeng put her hand on Elvis's chest and said, "To know whether your heart has changed, I don't have to open your chest, I just have to look into your eyes and I will know."

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng, confused. But once he met her clear eyes, he smiled.

That's right. Eyes would not lie. He could also easily tell how much Gu Mengmeng liked him from her eyes.

The two of them looked at each other and smiled. Gu Mengmeng then continued, "I put up this show today to give her a dose of her own medicine. I want her to know that it is no use playing colors with me. White or green, all these are the things I grew sick of playing."

The three males were lost again as they completely could not understand what Gu Mengmeng was saying.

Elvis plucked a leaf from one side and handed it over to Gu Mengmeng, "Green things... You can play with those first, I will find new ones for you tomorrow."

Gu Mengmeng stunned for a second before breaking into laughter.

"Your intelligence level... Hahahaha... Is really that of a husky."

Elvis did not understand what Gu Mengmeng was laughing at, but just looking at her laughing so happily made him grinned unconsciously as well.

After Gu Mengmeng was done laughing, she continued saying, “Green refers to the ‘green tea bitches’. These are the most common type in my place, acting weak, innocent and pitiful, living in their own bubbles, the green tea bitches back in my place played it so much better than her. Her acting skills today could only be counted as a beginner, amateur, rookie.”

“Then the white...” Lea looked at his tail worriedly.

Gu Mengmeng said, “White refers to the ‘white lotus flowers’, acting kind, pure and loving like the Virgin Mary, they have the character of forgiving you, protecting you, caring for you and making you touched even after you killed their entire family. Their favorite line is ‘How could you do this? What’s the difference between you and him by doing this?’, as though they are a pure white lotus flower. This type... they don’t appear much in real life, but a lot more in television dramas and novels in their usual ways. With her self-learned skills competing against my qualifications of A grade imperial-harem dramas and PhD of romance novels, tsk tsk tsk, I will give up both my hands and feet and stare at her to her death just with my wise eyes.”

Elvis and Lea exchanges a look as they both had a deep understanding how much more horrific were the wars between females compared to that of the males.

What did they experience today? What did they miss out on?

They felt like they walked through a battleground with bloody bodies lying around, but none of them realized they almost died there.

What the heck! That was dangerous.

“So... What should we do next?” This was the first time Lea felt that he could not think of something. This had exceeded his knowledge, did Sauder have females... like this in the past?”

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders and replied, “It’s not about what we should do, but what she’s going to do.”

Elvis frowned and said, “If it’s so troublesome, how about we just chase her away.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “If we chased away a maniac today, another one would be planted the next day. It’s better to be cautious against someone we already knew her backgrounds than someone that we don’t even know when he is going to appear. The more we know that she is a trouble, the more we have to guard against her under our own eyes. It would actually be beneficial for us if we use her in the right way. This was also one of the reasons Lea signaled for me to agree on her staying, right?”

“Smart.” Lea smiled with affirmation as he tapped between Gu Mengmeng’s eyebrows said, “No wonder you are the Messenger of the Beast Deity, you immediately got it with just one hint.”

Gu Mengmeng understood what Lea was doing, he was trying to ease the awkward atmosphere. No matter how upset he was feeling, he did not want to see her feeling any sense of guilt. So Gu Mengmeng cooperated with him and wrinkled her nose, she said in an extremely proud manner, “I am a low-key person and I don’t like personal worships. Moreover, you don’t have to raise this kind of things that the whole world already knows about.”

Lea smiled lightly with affection in his eyes. He said gently, “Messenger of the Beast Deity is right.”

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and said, “You guys should first tell me about the beauty pageant, what should I do then?”

Gu Mengmeng looked up at Elvis and asked, “You must have been there a few times? Tell me, do they compete for singing, dancing, poetry or songwriting?”

Elvis kissed on Gu Mengmeng’s lifted head and said, “Eating.”

“What?!” Gu Mengmeng was stunned. “Isn’t it a beauty pageant? Why was it changed to a foodie competition?”

Elvis smiled and said, “The biggest insecurity of the males in the Beast World is their partners not surviving the winter. The stronger the male beasts are, the more scared they are about this point. Because once the females die, the weaker males would definitely be punished by the mating contract, but some of the powerful once won't die. Many a time, not dying means an even greater suffering."

Gu Mengmeng paused for a while, hugged onto Elvis's neck and said, "Yeah, just like when you suddenly fainted while leveling up. At that moment, I thought you were not going to survive from some serious injuries. I felt so desperate and helpless, without you, I felt like my sky has crashed, I don't even know how to survive the Beast World without you by my side."

Listening to Gu Mengmeng saying, Elvis felt warmth in his heart. He kissed Gu Mengmeng's head, gently brushed her hair and said, "I will protect you, forever and always."

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head obediently, before continuing, "But what has this got to do with eating on the beauty pageant?"

Elvis adjusted his position to let Gu Mengmeng sit more comfortably, before answering, "To the males, the females are the most beautiful when they are eating. The more the female is able to eat, the more energy she can stock before the winter and the higher the chance that she was going to survive the winter. So, this is the most basic and the most important factor affecting how males choose their partners."

Gu Mengmeng smiled awkwardly as she remembered how Elvis and Lea had thought of all ways possible to trick her into more food. She chuckled and said, "So for the coming winter you are trying everything to make me eat more, because you are scared I won't make it and die in the winter?"

Elvis nodded his head earnestly and he put his hand onto Gu Mengmeng's stomach, pinching it a little. He let out a disappointed sigh and said, "At first when I didn't know you are pregnant, I thought you finally gained some weight, I was overjoyed. But you chased me and beat me for an entire day, looking extremely fierce and you did not have a decent meal for three days."

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed and said, “We can stock up enough food before the winter and eat slowly during the season, so there is no need to be as fat as a ball. You see, last year we had preserved meat, fish, potatoes and sweet potatoes, although it was a little plain due to time constraints and I wasn’t able to find more food. But this year I am experienced and I am definitely able to prepare more food beforehand, winter will not be a problem at all. So don’t worry, I won’t starve myself to death and leave you on yourself. Besides, we still have our sons, I want to live long enough to see my sons marry their wives.”

Elvis automatically ignored the part on their sons and chose to only hear the part on Gu Mengmeng never leaving him alone. He smiled happily and hugged her tightly, before whispering into her ears, “Remember this promise by your heart, understand? Never leaving me by myself...”

“Yes.” Gu Mengmeng hugged Elvis back with a gentle and happy smile.

Lea cleared his throat, coughed and said, “Mengmeng, about that female, do you think we should ask someone to send her back to Saint Nazaire first, or...”

“Bring her along,” Gu Mengmeng answered without hesitating. “Eight of me can’t win a single Sandy in a competition of eating. The ones entering the beauty pageant must be the ‘ever-victorious foodie’ from every tribe, I won’t be much of a help even if I stuffed myself to death. That female... Ha, she will be useful.”

“You want her to replace you in the beauty pageant?” Lea asked.

Gu Mengmeng stuck out one finger and shook it. “No, she will only be participating in the foodie competition. As for the recruiting part, I have other plans.”

“Re... recruiting?” Elvis and Lea were no longer surprised at Gu Mengmeng blurting out new words every now and then, they just looked at Gu Mengmeng in doubt and waited for her to explain.

Gu Mengmeng smiled sneakily like Zhou Bapi, shrugging her shoulders in a sly look with beaming eyes. She resembled an evil capitalist thinking about ways to exploit the poor people.

To be more exact, she was like the landlord in QQ Chinese Poker.

“Oh my, after I came to the Beast World, I kept doubting my personal values, and regretting for the hundredth time for choosing the major Human Resource Management. Why didn’t I learn carpentry, why didn’t I learn metallurgy, why didn’t I learn medicine? Now I finally understood, everybody can do something oh they can! My major was to prepare for the yearly large scale matchmaking... oops, I meant large-scale recruitment.”Read the next chapter on our vipnovel.com

Gu Mengmeng made of the pose of ‘God is finally pitying me,’ and she could finally achieve her aspirations. She smiled and said, “So many talents... erm... beast talents? I’m referring to the strong males finding a suitable tribe in this Beauty Pageant, isn’t it the same as finding a job in the labor market? Just that there is too much randomness in the way to find a job here, solely dependent on how much a female eats, that’s illogical, so illogical.”

“So you are suggesting...” Lea continued asking.

Gu Mengmeng laughed and replied, “The mountain people have their own tricks up their sleeve, you won’t understand even if I say it now. Well, I will incorporate the theories I have learnt with experiences and come out with the most suitable recruitment plans. As for you guys, just believe in me and don’t ask anything, okay?”

Elvis, Lea and Ian looked at each other, before following Gu Mengmeng and made the sign of ‘okay’, they said, “O... O...”

“As for the female, ha, if she’s not stupid, she would have realized she is no match to me after today’s match. As long as she stays obedient, Saint Nazaire is not short of one serving of food. But if she plays dirty... Hehe, I see that the snake skin on her lower body appears unique and has a fine texture, while I have never used a wallet made of Nüwa.”

Elvis and Lea looked at each other and smiled.

The two of them were used to Gu Mengmeng saying fierce things every now and then, but if she was really asked to skin the female... She would probably be more scared than anyone else.”

However, the fact that she liked the female’s tail... They remembered it by heart now.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Ian, then looked at Lea and asked, “Is Ian coming along with us?”

Lea nodded his head as an answer.

“If he was already someone that had joined the tribe, why couldn’t he just come along with us?”

Lea smiled and said, “His route is different from us, they go via the sky.”

Lea said as he pointed to the sky.

Gu Mengmeng realized that it was indeed inhumane to force the birds to give up on the sky and walk with two legs. She smiled awkwardly and asked, “Then what do you eat on the way? Do you have enough food?”

Ian was surprised, he looked at Gu Mengmeng, then looked at Lea. Seeing Lea signaling for him to explain to Gu Mengmeng himself, he hesitated before saying, “As long as it is not winter season... Our food are all over the place, it’s more than sufficient.”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, looked at Ian and asked, “What do you eat? Just like owls?”

Ian leaned to one side, looked awkward and did not seem like he was willing to answer Gu Mengmeng’s question.

Lea covered half of his mouth and went up to Gu Mengmeng's ear charmingly, using a volume that everyone could hear and 'whispered' to her, "I'm not sure what owls eat, but I do know what he eats."

"What?" There was a strong concentration of gossip spirit in Gu Mengmeng's eyes.

Lea smirked, did not answer Gu Mengmeng's question, but looked at Ian and said, "If that female really has problems, leave the fur on the tail when you eat her, Mengmeng likes them."

Ian pursed his lips, looked at Lea, remained silent, before turning into an Eagle-owl, flipping his wings and took off near the ground. In two breath's time he had disappeared into the night sky.

Gu Mengmeng's smile froze on her face, she turned to ask Lea, "They... they eat humans?"

Lea looked calm, he fiddled with the fur on the tip of his tail and said, "I have already reported to the Beast Deity that these thirty-two people from the Eagle-owl tribe will guard you in Eternal Night's name. If Elvis and I are your claws and fangs, Barete and Collin are your shield and guard these thirty-two people will be your wings, protecting you in the dark, bringing you wherever you wish and clearing obstacles for you. If anything threatens you, they will do everything they can, bring the person onto the sky, tear them apart unforgivingly, even if... the person is Elvis or me."

A few words jumped out from Gu Mengmeng's head, "Embroidered uniform guard? Secret service agent?"

Lea looked at Elvis, seeing he was similarly confused, he asked, "What are those?"

Gu Mengmeng explained, "It is an organization that does not belong to the country, but is only loyal to the emperor itself, not under controlled by any authorities and just obeying orders from the emperor. They do not question the rights or the wrongs, just following whatever the emperor wants."

Lea listened and nodded. He smiled and said, “Embroidered uniform guard is better than Eternal Night, shall we change Eagle-owl’s name to embroidered uniform guard?”

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and she said, “No, almost all of the embroidered uniform guard’s lives ended miserably, they were either dead or separated. The emperor that they were so loyal to only treated them like tools and never once as his trusted subordinate. I am not Emperor Chongzhen and I can’t ruin others’ lives for myself. I can understand you hiding an elite army for the entire tribe, but since they have already joined Saint Nazaire, they are our tribesmen. My tribesmen should not lead the life of living under shadows and never able to meet other people.”

What Gu Mengmeng did not know was, Ian flew one round and secretly came back to his original place, hiding on the big tree on top of her. Hence, he had caught every single one of her words clearly. His eyes were glittering in the dark night and he smiled to himself, he had indeed found a right person for his tribesmen to depend on.

They should not lead the life of living under shadows and never able to meet other people?

Things like this, he did not even dare to promise it to his own tribesmen.

On the same day when Gu Mengmeng's group returned from the forest, they were greeted with a hot scene.

The tail of the new female was mingling onto a male's body, while both of the male's hands were hugging to the female's upper body tightly, the two of them were doing some indescribable motions in a strange position. After staring at them with eyes wide open for two seconds, Gu Mengmeng burped, turned around and buried her head into Elvis's shoulders, saying softly, "Stinging eyes, stinging eyes..."

Confused, Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng, before taking out a chili from the hide bag and handed over to her. He said, "It isn't dried yet as we found it on the way. The effects might not be as good as the ones you ate in the winter, but... it should work. Who do you want to sting? Let me help you?"

Gu Mengmeng looked at the chili in Lea's hands, stunned for a while before realizing, when Lea gave her chili back in the cave in the winter, saying that they had ground it to powder and threw it on enemies' faces, Gu Mengmeng had jokingly called it 'stinging eyes'. It was just a joke, she didn't expect Lea to remember it.

But it was not suitable to explain these in the current situation. Gu Mengmeng took the green chili in Lea's hand and chewed for a while. She patted on Lea's back and said, "This scene is so beautiful I dared not to look at it, let's sleep in another place."

Elvis knew that Gu Mengmeng had special rules on mating, but he had thought she just did not like others seeing her do it, now that it seemed... she did not like to see others mating as well.

Elvis glances at the orc mating with the half female snake, smiled scornfully and said, "There is indeed nothing to look at, should I throw them far away? So that they won't disturb you sleeping."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "Well, disturbing one's sweet affairs is like killing one's parents, it's so inconsiderate. It's alright, we can change move somewhere else."

Elvis thought for a while and asked, "Shouldn't it be disturbing that one's sweet dreams is like killing one's parents?"

Gu Mengmeng remembered that this was the line she had shouted when Nina was outside the cave disrupting her sleep back in the past. That time... Nina said she came to Gu Mengmeng's cave to look for Lea.

Gu Mengmeng let out a bitter laugh, thinking how many traps had she dug up for herself with her mouth. If she had to explain one by one... well, they would not have to move as well. The moaning in the back could act as background music when she was done with the explanation on things she had made up in the past, the background music should have stopped.

Heck, how was she going to say the starting line?

Everyone, welcome to Gu Mengmeng's class on the gibberish she had made up, today's background music consisted of a coquettish and unique live mating poetry recital?

Gu Mengmeng shuddered, her mouth twitched and she said, “Bring me somewhere to wash my eyes first, it will be ruined if I continue staying here, what if I become a cross-eyed... Tsk, it would have to be dug out.”

Elvis was stunned, he did not expect things to be so serious, Gu Mengmeng’s eyes being ruined after seeing others mate!

It was only until the anxious Elvis pulled Gu Mengmeng to the river and about to help her wash her eyes, but Gu Mengmeng tore away his hide dress and pounced on him into the river, looking at him all over with thirsty eyes, did he understand the meaning of... washing eyes.

So... perhaps... he should bring Gu Mengmeng to see others mate frequently? Well, it was not an everyday thing for her to pounce on him voluntarily.

The next morning, when Gu Mengmeng was cuddling in Elvis's arms as they returned back to the campsite, there were half a dozen males around the half female. Gu Mengmeng could not help but exclaimed, "How efficient."

"Messenger, hello." The half female came up and bowed at Gu Mengmeng. She looked tamed and respectful, without any indications of intending to play tricks with Gu Mengmeng unlike yesterday.

Gu Mengmeng returned her an equally gentle smile and said, "Don't have to be so polite since we all are in a tribe already. You can call me Gu Mengmeng like the rest."

"How could I? You are the great Messenger," the half female said as she panicked.

Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes and smiled, thinking to herself that she kept saying the word 'messenger' to attract more attention to her. Before this, the stupid Nina had spread the words that she might be the Messenger of the Beast Deity and she almost died under Dumbo's hands. Tsk tsk, what a gentle blade, pushing her to the waves and storms.

But sadly, Gu Mengmeng did not plan on hiding her identity as the Messenger of the Beast Deity, or else she would not have participated in this foodie competition disguised as a beauty pageant.

If you want to play...

Then do it.

Gu Mengmeng patted on Elvis shoulder, signally for him to put her down. She walked slowly to the female, looked at her up and down and asked, "What's your name?"

"Ellie," The half female answered obediently.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and continued asking, "Ellie, how many of our men have you mated with... yesterday?"

Ellie looked back shyly, looked at the males crowding by her side and answered, "Four."

"Ah..." Gu Mengmeng nodded her head approvingly, before continuing to look closely at her.

Ellie lowered her head shyly and said, "Although I am just a half female, but I will do my part in solving the mating problem for our tribe. As long as they... do not dislike me for being a half female, I will give them chances to show their loyalty to me."

Frowning, Gu Mengmeng signaled a stop sign and asked, "You have mated with four males, then where are your mating marks?"

Ellie's eyebrows dropped, she bit her tongue and remained quiet like a little lily, as though she was going to break into tears at any moment.

"Reporting to the Messenger," Ellie's first partner, the one that was held onto by her to ask for forgiveness to Elvis, stood in front of Gu Mengmeng, hugged Ellie's shoulders as a form of comfort, before explaining for Ellie, "Our mating marks are all on Ellie's tail. Because she is a half female, the scales covered the marks and they could not be seen. Ellie had been upset the whole night because of this... So Messenger, please do not continued to question her."

"Oh..." Gu Mengmeng nodded her head in sudden realization, thinking to herself, "Damn son, you've got some skills there, pulling people to your side in such a short time."

However this might not need much skill after all.

On the topic of how the males in the Beast World were blinded by love, just look at Quentin and anyone would know.

Since they had already mated, he naturally would have to side towards his female. Gu Mengmeng did not naively believe that the whole world would be on her side. Hence, she did not expose anything, just cooperated with Ellie's acting, held her hand and said, "Idiot, this isn't your fault, why are you so upset?"

Chapter 366 - Gu Mengmeng Received a Nice-Person Card

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Ellie was stunned for a moment, she had expected Gu Mengmeng to expose her, from there she could win everyone over with her tears. But... why did Gu Mengmeng not follow the norm?

Ellie's first partner grinned and comforted Ellie, "See, I told you the Messenger is nice to be with. We have a half female bear in our tribe who used to be bullied by others, but the Messenger never looked down on her and became best friends with her, always taking care of her."

Ellie quickly hid the shock on her face and put on an innocent and weak look. She nodded her head, smiled at Gu Mengmeng and said, "Messenger, you are such a nice person."

Ding-Dong, Gu Mengmeng received a nice-person card.

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh. Shit, who would expect to receive the first nice-person card from a flirtatious green tea bitch.

Gu Mengmeng remained calm, she patted on Ellie's shoulders and said, "Don't worry, Saint Nazaire is an open tribe, just stay in the tribe and lead a happy life."

"Yes, I will." Ellie smiled brightly, a stark contrast to her snake tail.

Gu Mengmeng said no further and returned to Elvis's arms.

Nothing happened in the day, but when the night came, Ellie's mating actions began again. Gu Mengmeng excused herself and left with Elvis and Lea, while Ian followed along in the dark.

After walking for a distance far enough, Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth and said, “Lea, you tell the tribesmen, I don’t wish to see any more people mating with Ellie.”

Lea nodded and did not question.

Elvis then looked at Ian and asked, “Ian, are snakes... one of your food too?”

Ian nodded without saying anything.

Gu Mengmeng asked again, “Then do you have certain understandings towards snakes?”

Ian continued nodding.

Gu Mengmeng asked again, “Did you see her tail when I held her hand today?”

Ian nodded again, paused for a moment, before finally opening his mouth, “When you approached her, her tail began to shake, that’s the sign for launching attacks. She wanted to kill you.”

The last five words definitely offended Lea and Elvis.

The surrounding air froze. Two of them exchanged a look and made up their minds.

Gu Mengmeng raised her hand lightly and said, “Calm down, calm down. Shall we analyze this first?”

Lea hooked onto Gu Mengmeng’s chin lightly with his slightly cold fingertips. He frowned and said, “No matter how useful she is, we can’t trade it with your safety. So, we are not keeping this Ellie.”

“Didn’t you say she was sent by Sauder?” Gu Mengmeng said. “Think about it, Sauder claimed he was the messengers tribe, but a messengers tribe without Messengers are doomed to be destroyed. Hence, Sauder’s aim is to get me and not kill me. A dead Messenger would be useless to Sauder, right? Then if Ellie was Sauder's men, not only would she not kill me, she would protect me secretly."

Lea frowned, "Ellie being sent by Sauder was just one of the guess with a higher possibility. But what if she was not? Someone who wants to kill you must not be kept, no matter male or female. We have to act first."

However, Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “Perhaps the rattling of her tail was her original ability. After all, females are precious, and she has already mated with males from our tribe. If we were to kill her, then we would have to send our fellow tribesman to compensate. Not worth it, it is really not worth it.”

Lea stayed silent, having nothing to say.

However, Elvis retaliated, “From the moment they chose to mate with Ellie, they had submitted their fate into the hands of that female. It is their own decision, and not the mistake of others.”

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ face and pecked it, “I know you’re worried about me, but Ellie isn’t Nina. I do not wish to kill the innocent before she does anything practical. Furthermore, I still want to use her to bait the big fish.”

Elvis thought about it for a moment before nodding silently, then turned around to break off a branch that was as thick as an arm, “How about we tie her here tomorrow for you to bait?”

Gu Mengmeng put her face in her palm, “Hubby, the fish I want to bait do not refer to the ones in the water, but the people behind her, so... Uh... We won’t have to use this.”

Elvis was slightly disappointed. He was still hoping that after the fish had been caught, Ellie would be useless, and could be quickly dealt with.

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng, asking, “You want to use Ellie to lure out the people of Sauder?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, "Correct."

"How?" Lea frowned, having a bad omen.

Gu Mengmeng did not reply Lea, only asking with a smile, "How far away are we from Sauder?"

Lea's gaze fixated on a direction, remained silent for a moment before replying, "It will take about half a day's journey. We can probably reach by tomorrow afternoon."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea's gaze, filled with emotions from returning to his hometown, and felt a little reluctant as she asked, "Is this your first time back to Sauder?"

Lea shook his head, then nodded, "When Saint Nazaire was first established, I came here once with Elvis. However, we did not enter, only saving Maya at the outskirts before leaving. Since then, it has always been Elvis who brought people to protect Nina to attend the beauty pageant while I take care of home in Saint Nazaire."

Gu Mengmeng nodded, patting Lea's shoulder gently, "You don't have to accompany me inside if you feel pressured."

However, Lea smiled, his long narrow eyes becoming loving and stable when it met with Gu Mengmeng's. His voice lowered, talking speed slowed, pronouncing each word slowly, "It's not accompanying you. It is because you are here that I have the courage to face it."

Gu Mengmeng smiled. Perhaps the moonlight was too gentle, which made her smile extraordinarily tranquil in that moment. The sounds were like the melody of the moonlight, it could not be heard by the ears, but could be seen clearly by the eyes, and felt... by the heart.

"It is my honour." Gu Mengmeng replied.

Elvis hesitated for a brief moment, but eventually broke this quiet and beautiful moment. He frowned, "Lea, before you left Sauder, were there anyone from the Snake tribe in Sauder?”

Lea recalled seriously before shaking his head, “No. Sauder was the tribe of the snow foxes, and they were responsible for following the messengers of the Beast Deity, looking down upon anyone outside of their tribe. Other than the annual beauty pageant, it is not permitted for any other tribe to step foot into Sauder, much less join it. Snake tribe... never heard of it.”

Chapter 368 - Lea And I Have Never Done Anything Weird

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis nodded, then continued, “I find it weird too because I’ve never seen anyone from the Snake tribe in any other tribe... Also, I have a weird feeling about her, it feels familiar, like she was... a stray beast.”

Confused, Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and asked, “There are female stray beasts? Aren’t females precious and fought for by every tribe?”

Elvis replied, “Usually that is the case, but there are exceptions, such as... Nina.”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, and instantly furrowed her brows, “Could the reason that she did not have any mating marks be because, similar to Nina, she was a female that had been abandoned by the beast deity after washing her mating mark, instead of being a half-orc?”

Elvis nodded, and replied after staying quiet for a while, “Other than being abandoned by the beast deity like Nina, there is another case for not having mating marks...”

Elvis’ gaze dimmed, and it seemed as if he felt very gloomy.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis in confusion, then turned to look at Lea.

Lea shook his head at her, expressing that he did not know what was up with Elvis either.

“Hubby?” Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis’ neck, using her forehead to gently touch Elvis’, saying lovingly, “Did you remember something unpleasant? If you don’t want to talk about it, you don’t have to force yourself to.”

Elvis used his hands to push Gu Mengmeng's tank top to inch her closer to him as he took a deep breath, allowing her scent to fill his airways. Having soothed the discomfort in his heart, he continued, "Another case, would be that a female had been snatched away by stray beasts, giving birth to cubs after mating. In this case, the cubs are stray beasts by nature, hence incapable of leaving mating marks."

Gu Mengmeng saw an obvious emotion in Elvis' eyes that were thicker than sadness and deeper than pain. It was a kind of complication that was difficult to put into words, making her chest empty. She did not say anything else, only tightly hugging Elvis' neck, using the whole of her body to fill up his embrace."

"Just like... me." Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng back tightly, mustering his courage to say these three words.

His identity was no secret in the tribe. He had never tried to hide his background. Until, he met her...

He was afraid she would look down on him due to such a background, straying away and hiding from him, so he had always been humble, cautious, worrying about losing her. For the first time, he felt that admitting that he was a stray beast in nature required such great courage. In that moment, he even dared not look into Gu Mengmeng's eyes, in fear of seeing her disgust, fearing she would say she wanted to abandon him...

"Silly, you have me, and our four sons, you are the one with a family, how are you a stray beast?"

Elvis' heart jolted, and he could even hear his blood running in his body.

"I... did not tell you my identity before we mated, do you... not blame me?" Elvis frowned, speaking each word as if he was stepping on thin ice.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled, both her hands on Elvis' shoulders and looked into his eyes, "Before you mated with me, did you have any special female "friends"?"

Elvis frowned and shook his head upon hearing Gu Mengmeng's abrupt sentence breakage, "I had no friends, other than Lea."

Gu Mengmeng had a "I understand" expression while looking at Elvis, then Lea, flirtatiously, with an evil smile on her face.

Elvis scowled, knocking Gu Mengmeng on her tiny head, "Lea and I have never done anything weird, don't think in a nonsensical way."

Chapter 369 - Perfection Is The Biggest Loophole

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Since you neither cheated nor came out prior to marriage, then why must I mind?” Gu Mengmeng smiled lightly, her clear eyes exuding a light gentler than the moonlight, gentle and with a layer of radiance, illuminating the long-awaited heart of Elvis. In her smile, those unbearable and cold and dark memories seemed so worthless.

“But I was once a stray...”

“Silly.” Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ face, looking seriously into his eyes, “Before we met each other, we were both strays. Luckily, you found me, and I found you. Then, we came to each other’s refuge, and we no longer have to drift about as we have each other to depend on. We will hold hands and walk every inch of land together, into the distance.”

“Xiao Meng.” Elvis leaned forward and kissed Gu Mengmeng’s lips deeply.

Every moment since he started loving her, he always worried his identity would be the reason she abandoned him.

However, today, this reason looked so pale, ridiculous... It was merely so.

If all the hardships and torment of the past was so he could meet her, then...

They were all too worth it.

Even if the past were to repeat a hundred times for him to exchange the happiness of being with her, Elvis still felt that it was worthy.

So, the beast deity did not abandon him. He was only testing him, training him, and now... giving the best to him.

After the kiss, Gu Mengmeng slapped Elvis' head, raising her chin, "Call me Queen."

All of Elvis' sentiments immediately vanished from Gu Mengmeng's slap, shaking his head helplessly. However, his heart remained warm.

He also knew, Gu Mengmeng was using such a method to pull him out from his sadness.

However, she did not know that his sadness had long gone with the wind because of her smile.

From the moment Gu Mengmeng said she did not mind, the past no longer had any meaning.

Holding Gu Mengmeng's tiny hands, Elvis kissed the back of her hand, replying devotedly, "Yes, my Queen."

Gu Mengmeng nodded approvingly, then snuggled back into Elvis' arms, her designated throne. She then looked up at Elvis asking, "So you're suspecting that Ellie is the child of a stray beast?"

Elvis nodded, "We can't eliminate this possibility."

Lea continued, "When we went back yesterday, I specially observed Ellie. She really suited the characteristics you had mentioned, which are usually non-existent in females of the beast world. Their living environment is meant for them not to worry about covering their true motives. Males would always agree because they do not want them to do anything. And Ellie... she understands others too much, and it is difficult to find any chinks in her armour."

Gu Mengmeng nodded, "A pity, perfection is the biggest loophole."

It was Lea's first time hearing this theory. Stunned, he thought about it for a moment, only smiling without any reply.

The next morning, when Gu Mengmeng went back to the campsite, Ellie's males had become nine from the original four. Gu Mengmeng commended Ellie's positive attitude towards solving the problem of the lack of mating in the tribe, and encouraged her to keep up her efforts in the next beauty pageant, trying her best to win over more followers for the tribe.

It was probably the nine partners of Ellie, who did not know the truth, who thought the good terms on the surface were real.

The sharp paws hidden behind Gu Mengmeng and Ellie's velvet paws were slowly beginning to show.

Because other than the nine males Ellie had mated with, she was incapable of seducing any others from the Saint Nazaire tribe.

In other words, after Lea's warnings, the nine partners of Ellie had become nervous. No matter what Ellie needed, the nine of them would cooperate to get things done, not giving her any opportunity for her to reach out to anyone else. Although that made Ellie furious, she still had to maintain an elegant expression, not daring to express her disdain.

Accurate to Lea's prediction, they indeed arrived in Sauder in the afternoon.

Stationed outside the entrance of the messengers tribe, Gu Mengmeng looked up at the plaque atop the two wooden pillars. The two words "Messengers Tribe" seemed pretty sage-like. It was just that through the years, the words had been weathered, and Gu Mengmeng felt that if she were to sneeze at that position, that plaque could possibly turn into powder, vanishing and never appearing on the face of the earth again.

Elvis was illiterate, so he only followed Gu Mengmeng's gaze, thinking it was just a broken piece of wood with a few scratches. He did not know what was so good-looking about it. However, since Gu Mengmeng had always cared about very different stuff, he was used to it. He asked her softly, "You like it?"

Gu Mengmeng came back to her senses, looking at Elvis' face and smiled, "No, it is just that it's been long since I saw simplified Chinese words, so it feels nostalgic."

Lea frowned, looking at Gu Mengmeng, asking, "You... recognise the markings above?"

Gu Mengmeng did not reply, but asked back, "You don't?"

Lea shook his head, "This wooden plaque was left behind by the previous messenger, other than her, nobody knows what this means."

Shocked, Gu Mengmeng asked, "Are you all illiterate? Then how do you read the ancient books you used to speak of?"

Lea responded, "The ancient books were for tribute, not for reading."

Gu Mengmeng, "..."

Lea, "The contents of the ancient books for passed down from one generation to another, so there aren't many remaining when they were passed down to my generation. Otherwise..."

Lea's gaze pointed towards the inside of Sauder as it remained deep and cold, as if he was no longer shocked, but there were still waves in his heart. His thin lips moved slightly, continuing to smile, yet every word carried the weight of thousands of dollars, "How would I have been so easily played by them back in the day?"

Gu Mengmeng patted Lea's shoulders, "It is never too late for revenge. Since we are here, we can help you take revenge while we're at it."

Gu Mengmeng pointed to the plaque that had been weathered down, laughing sneakily, "I recognise these words. Later, I will read the ancient books to you."

Lea was shocked, then his gaze turned affectionate as he smiled, "Alright."

Gu Mengmeng took the initiative to grab Elvis' hand, "Let's go, Hubby."

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng up, using beast skin to cover her tiny head, trying his best not to reveal her face. However, even so, it caused an uproar when a string of people entered Sauder.

If it were not for Elvis and Lea giving off a dominant pressure as they walked, these three could possibly find it difficult to move forward any further.

Even Ellie, who was a few steps away, had not even a strange fly near her, except the nine males whom she had mated with.

The eyes of the snake continued to carry evil intent. Even if it was unintentional, a leopard cannot change its spots.

Chapter 371 - They Recognized You?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

If there was anything in the messengers tribe that made Gu Mengmeng delighted, it would probably be the buildings. This place was different from Saint Nazaire. Nobody lived in caves or in other words, all native tribesman and females who came to participate in the beauty pageant did not need to stay in caves. Over here, there are old houses that resembled those in traditional villages and they were built using blocks of blue-stones. In all fairness, this could not be considered as luxurious because if you were to see this scene in the present world, it would only be a protected cultural heritage or a building, in imminent danger, which had large red words of ‘demolish’ stuck over it. But in this world, it showcased how the messengers tribe was different from the rest and was superior over others.

“Are you all representing Saint Nazaire to compete in the beauty pageant?” A guard, standing in front of a stone house, asked Elvis.

“Yes,” Elvis replied.

The guard threw a glance at Lea and did not say a word. He just turned his body aside to make way, implying that they could enter through the entrance.

After they entered the house, Elvis placed Gu Mengmeng on a stone table before taking action to clean the house with Lea.

The house was very bare and was just a simple building. In the present world, even the set-up of children’s playing-house was much more human than this. It was not Gu Mengmeng being picky but this little house was not even half as big as her hostel room. Now, with the three of them inside, it appeared rather squeezed. If Elvis or Lea were to evolve into their original form, the frame of this torn house would probably fall apart.

There was a stone bed in the room. It's surface was full of bumps and hollows but surprisingly, the sides were very smooth and glossy. It was not an exaggeration to say that...this bed was so used till it became rusty.

Elvis and Lea took out a tiger skin from their bag and laid it on the bed. Then, they positioned Gu Mengmeng's little pillow properly and folded her large rabbit-skin blanket tidily at one side.

After he finished tidying everything, Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng to the bed and said, "It must have been tiring for you this entire journey. Rest for a while first. I'll bring the tribesman over to the cave at the back of the mountains for a rest and bring some food back for you at the same time."

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, "Take note of your safety and come back quickly."

Elvis landed a light kiss on Gu Mengmeng's forehead and after exchanging a gaze with Lea, he left without any other words.

Gu Mengmeng swung her feet by the bed in great boredom while staring at how Lea was arranging the fruits they plucked on the way on the table in order. Then, he took out Gu Mengmeng's clothes for the next few days and checked them one by one. If any one of them had a problem, he would immediately salvage it while he would place those without any problem properly at one side. His state was carefree and at ease and he did not seem to feel uncomfortable coming back to Sauder.

On the other hand, Gu Mengmeng was not used to interacting with Lea alone so she cleared her throat and asked, "That...they did not recognize you, right? I see how they were all quite normal, they won't suddenly rush in with some men to catch you, right?"

Lea smiled while turning his head to look at Gu Mengmeng. "Every stone house here resides the First Beauty of every tribe. If they create a ruckus here...that will equal to offending all the tribes at one go. Regardless of whether it's Sauder or not, they will also not dare to undergo this kind of rash move so you don't need to worry because it will not happen."

"Oh..." Gu Mengmeng replied but still felt that there was something not in harmony. She thought for a moment and lifted her head up, saying, "So, they recognized you?"

Lea nodded his head and said, "The guard earlier was my entourage since young. He had been following me ever since I was born. There's no way he can't recognize me."

Gu Mengmeng gave a cold laugh and said, "If I were to say that it was a coincidence that the male was arranged to guard this house, would you believe it?"

Lea shook his head and said, "There's no coincidence in Sauder."

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, "So, our every move and action was long monitored. That person was just doing the last confirmation, right?"

Lea said, "Most probably, yes."

Gu Mengmeng jumped off the bed and walked to Lea. She leaned against the table and wrapped her arms in front of her chest, asking, "What do you plan to do next? You can't possibly wait to get killed, right?"

Lea gave a light smile and said, "I don't think they have the time to care about me now." Read the next chapter on our vipnovel.com

Gu Mengmeng raised her brow and said in a slightly haughty tone, "That's right too. The messenger of the Beast Deity whom they had been waiting for a thousand years has finally arrived. They naturally will not have the time to care about this banished Ninth Highness. How about this? Should I lend you my identity as the messenger of the Beast Deity to let you vent your anger?"

Lea supported his chin with one hand and side-gazed Gu Mengmeng. After a long time, he then slowly opened his mouth to speak, "You're worried for me, right?"

Gu Mengmeng gave an awkward smile. After finally escaping from the strange atmosphere of cooping up in a space with her ex-boyfriend all alone, she was pulled back into it by Lea's one sentence.

Shrugging her shoulders, Gu Mengmeng stepped back to her bed and sat properly, smiling. "Forget it if you don't need it, just treat it as me being a busybody. You're so clever, you must have thought of a perfect plan and don't need me to worry for nothing, right...ha...ha ha...I really love to worry for nothing..."

Lea turned around but his gaze was still fixated on Gu Mengmeng. He sighed helplessly and said, "What can I do? I couldn't set my mind at ease for you back then so I followed you here after a rash decision. Countermeasure or what...I totally did not think about it. After all, according to my plan, Nina was supposed to attend this beauty pageant originally..."

"Ah?" Gu Mengmeng was rather alarmed. She started to regret letting Lea handle Nina upon impulse.

Back then, she assumed that she had made a perfect whole plan but at the last moment, she still did not have any certainty. After all, everything was only possible theoretically, Gu Mengmeng did not put any of this kind of damn things into practice before.

However, Lea did not give her any chance to think it through as he stepped closer and closer to the bed. Seeing how Lea was approaching her slowly, Gu Mengmeng huddled closer to the other side of the bed. However, Lea beat her to it by pressing both his hands on the side of the bed before inching his body forward. Gu Mengmeng leaned backwards, followed by Lea pushing himself towards her. This action was continued until Gu Mengmeng was trapped at the corner of the wall and had no space to backtrack. Just then, Lea used both his hands to hold the sides of Gu Mengmeng's face and said with an innocent expression, "I'm the witch doctor of Saint Nazaire and also your beast pet so...you'll protect me, right? Hmm?"

F? Thudding her up against the wall? Where did he learn that from?!

Gu Mengmeng pushed Lea's shoulder away and laughed awkwardly, "That, I'll definitely protect you but can you stop mentioning the beast pet matter..."

Lea lowered his head, staring at the hand Gu Mengmeng used to push his chest. He deliberately used an extremely ambiguous tone and smile together with a bashful expression while saying, "You had touched me and also slept with me...everyone in the tribe witnessed how you pounced on me. Now, it's fine if you don't want to give me a status, but you aren't even willing to let me become your beast pet? Mengmeng...are you discarding me after making use of me?"

Gu Mengmeng retracted her hand out of instincts. Heaven, please pity and protect her, all she did was to push him away, it's push! Not touch!"

On the other hand, Lea seemed like he foresaw how Gu Mengmeng would retract her hand so he laid himself down on her legs, looking up at the ceiling. Slowly closing his eyes, he said, "I've been on guard against Ellie this entire journey and had not slept well. My brain can't even work well now. Let me sleep for a while. After I've done resting, I may be able to come up with a countermeasure."

Chapter 373 - This Is Raised At Home. It Doesn't Bite.

Gu Mengmeng did not object to his suggestion. After all, facing an asleep Lea was much easier and more comfortable than an awake Lea.

Who knew how much time had passed when the sun had already tilted to the west. The afterglow of the sunset painted the outside of the windowless stone house red and the halo softened the outline of the building, letting everything appear much more gentle. Gu Mengmeng's eyes already grew accustomed to night vision but she eventually still preferred bathing under sunlight.

Just as she was lost in her thoughts, she saw someone walked in. Raising her head, she indeed met eyes with those blue pupils.

"You're back." Gu Mengmeng smiled.

Upon seeing Lea sleeping on Gu Mengmeng's knees, Elvis felt a sudden sense of shock. But his expression just flashed past and the next moment, he nodded his head without saying much. Then, he opened the beast-skin bag on his back that was filled with pieces of raw meat that had been handled before. The other bag, on the other hand, was wrapping some bright-colored and plump fruits that looked juicy, sweet and tasty at one glance.

Gu Mengmeng moved Lea's head away in utmost cautiousness and used a pillow to replace her legs before climbing off the bed quietly. She lied on the table to wipe the sweat off Elvis's head and asked, "Did you run back here? Your head is filled with sweat."

Elvis smiled as he took a fruit over and handed it to Gu Mengmeng. With an anticipated gaze, he gestured her to give it a try while replying, "I was afraid that you'll wait for a long time so I wanted to hurry and come back."

Gu Mengmeng bit the fruit and as expected, the taste was as sweet and juicy as what she expected. She grinned from ear to ear in delight and pushed the fruit to Elvis. "Here, it's really delicious. Have a try too."

Elvis did not bite the fruit but instead, turned his head to kiss Gu Mengmeng's lips. His nimble tongue attacked every part of her mouth and until all the air in her lungs was depleted, he then let her go reluctantly. He smiled while wiping away the juice off the corner of his mouth and said gently, "Yeah, very delicious."

Embarrassed, Gu Mengmeng gave a blow on Elvis's chest, and said 'Annoying~' with a pouting expression.

Elvis used a tree branch to string the meat together and placed it aside. Looking at Lea, he said, "I'll wake Lea up to cook for you. Or else, you will be famished when the meat finish roasting."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "It's rare for him to sleep so soundly. Let's not disturb him. Start a fire and I'll roast the meat. I haven't cooked a meal for you in such a long time. Although my culinary skills are clearly not as good as Lea's, just treat it as adjusting your taste-buds. Just eat it once in a while. The main point is my sincere intention, right?"

Elvis landed a smooch on Gu Mengmeng's cheek and said, "The food you cook is the most delicious food in the whole world. Nothing can be compared to the dishes you make. I just can't bear to let you work too hard."

Gu Mengmeng smiled and pecked Elvis's lips. "You have such a sweet tongue, I'll reward you later with two more pieces of meat.~"

"Alright." Elvis smiled and carried Gu Mengmeng out of the stone house before he started to start a fire. Gu Mengmeng hummed a song while rubbing some salt on the meat and then brushed some honey and sprinkled a little chili on them.

This original daily scene, however, invited many people over. The crowd grew bigger and bigger but not a single one of them dared to approach them. Gu Mengmeng lifted her head and upon realizing everyone's abnormal expression, she face-palmed and said, "Oh my, I forgot that everyone's scared of fire. It's alright, it's alright. Everyone, don't be scared. This is different from the Flame Devil. This is raised at home and is very tame. It doesn't bite."

Chapter 374 - Public Display of Affection

The public still did not buy it, they did not come nearer, nor did they leave. They stayed five steps away and looked at them.

Gu Mengmeng sighed. Well, it was not Saint Nazaire and she could not go too far.

Thinking about it, she stopped caring what others think, just put the meat to roast on the fire and talk with Elvis as though there was no one around.

The crowd began to whisper within themselves. Gu Mengmeng could not actually hear them clearly, but Elvis caught every single word of it.

The smile on Elvis's face slowly disappeared. He took over the skewer from Gu Mengmeng's hand and said, "Xiao Meng, let me do it instead."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis with a terrified face and said, "Hubby, what did I do wrong? Why are you doing this to me?"

Elvis pursed his lips, he knew his cooking standards were bad. The first time he roasted meat for Gu Mengmeng, she had diarrhea, while she vomited a second time in the winter.

"Or should we wake Lea up, I could stay up at night and let him sleep again."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis, before looking at the crowd, she roughly understood why he was acting like this.

Usually he would not persist on this kind of matter, Gu Mengmeng cooked meals sometimes when it was not too tiring for her, the dishes were done while fooling around. Hence, Elvis did not usually stop her and it must have been what the crowd was say to make Elvis act like this.

Gu Mengmeng leaned into Elvis's arms and asked with a smile, "What did they say?"

Elvis pursed his lips, shook his head and did not reply.

Gu Mengmeng acted coquettishly, wiggled her body in Elvis's arms and said shamelessly, "Good hubby, just tell me, what did they say?"

Elvis could not stand Gu Mengmeng's pestering and answered her, "They are saying you must be despised by the males because you are too skinny, and that's why you only had two males protecting by your side, one sleeping, another waiting for food. None of them treasured you, which shows how pathetic your life is..."

Elvis frowned, he had planned to let Xiao Meng be envied by everyone, but now...

However, Gu Mengmeng just chuckled and said, "These words must have come out from the mouths of the females?"

Elvis nodded but did not understand why.

Gu Mengmeng just continued to laugh and said, "It's alright, it's alright, let's not bother about these gossipy bitches. They are the typical sour grapes. To me, they are probably just being envious that I have such a good husband like you and we are so closely bonded. That's why they were saying these to them. From what I know, females can't do whatever they want too, because many things they don't even know how to do them. Simple things like roasting meat, you can deepen your bonds with your partner, chatting about the interesting happened during the day during the process. After the meat was done, you could share with your partners. Although the portion is nothing compared to what many males could eat, it was the feelings inside that matters.

Gu Mengmeng deliberately said it so loudly that she could swear everyone heard her except for the deaf.

Gu Mengmeng took back the meat on the grill, tore a bit out from the roasted side, blew it by her mouth and handed it to Elvis. She smiled and said, “Hubby, ah~~”

Blushing, Elvis took over the small piece of meat from Gu Mengmeng’s hand.

Chapter 375 - Sauder's Leader

Paying a Visit

Gu Mengmeng kissed on Elvis's face and praised, "Good hubby~"

Then, she let out a cold laugh and glanced around. "Anyone dare to ask their males whether they are jealous of my male?"

Sure enough, after Gu Mengmeng had spoken, a few of the females turned around and conversed with their males. Looking at the atmosphere, the answer was obvious.

Gu Mengmeng smiled and snuggled in Elvis's arms, while still flipping the grill. She did not stop talking and continued, "I am only doing such a simple small thing to make everyone jealous of my partner, while I myself could own this male. So why not?"

Elvis felt sweet in his heart. He knew Gu Mengmeng usually did not care about how others think, but she was willing to speak at length s to strangers for his feelings.

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng's hair and said gently, "Xiao Meng, thank you."

Gu Mengmeng looked up, kissed Elvis on the lips and said, "It's nothing compared to what you have done for me. No matter what others think, see or say, I am the one spending the whole life with you. So, only what I think, what I see and what I say matter, isn't it?"

"Yes, your majesty," Elvis smiled and answered.

The females obviously got angry, turned around and left. Some with worse tempers ran away with tears.

The males naturally followed them anxiously and the crowd eventually dispersed.

After finally getting the peace, Gu Mengmeng and Elvis looked at each other for a long while, before breaking into laughter.

On the other hand, Ian who was standing in the shades of the balcony of the stone house and Lea who was lying with eyes wide open on one side on the inner bed of the stone house, had complex emotions in their eyes.

Jealousy? Envy? Or... both?

The next morning, when Gu Mengmeng had woken up, Elvis was sitting on the bedside and looking at the door frowning. Gu Mengmeng followed his eyes and looked outside, but could only see Lea's figure fully blocking the door of the stone house, his furry tails blocked the entrance, not even letting a single mosquito fly past.

"What's wrong?" Gu Mengmeng asked softly.

Elvis realized Gu Mengmeng had woken up and immediately hid his black face. He took over the hide jacket from the side of the bed and helped Gu Mengmeng with it, before saying, "The leader of Sauder is here, Lea is blocking them out at the moment."

"Leader of Sauder? What for?" Gu Mengmeng put on her clothes and asked at the same time.

"Seems like for the roasted meat incident last night," Elvis replied.

Gu Mengmeng asked, "What? Finding me for trouble just because I was grilling meat and made the crowd cry? Do they want me to apologize door to door? I am telling you first, I am not going to do it. I didn't ask for them to stand and look, they came themselves. Looking was fine, I didn't even charge them tickets and let them watch me generously. But they started bitching around self-righteously, I was restraining myself by not punching their guys out. Apology is out of the question, I am not going."

“Little female, you have mistaken, we are not here for an apology.” A voice sounded from outside and it was neither too fast nor too slow. In a refined way, it continued, “It was just some people who have come to complain that the Flame Devil appeared in tribe Sauder and we were just here to verify it. Whether it’s true or not, Sauder will not take a hard stance with a female.”

Chapter 376 - First Time Meeting Cole

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and her mouth twitched. She patted her head and said, “Almost forgot that you have extraordinary hearing, now I can’t even scold him for eavesdropping. Sigh...”

“Ninth brother, since the little female has woken up, can I come in now?” The courteous voice sounded again.

But Lea did not give in at all. He said coldly, “Leader Cole, my little female is a little pampered and bad-tempered. If people she does not wish to see enters on his own...”

Lea stopped halfway through his sentence, while Elvis inside suddenly released a large amount of pressure in cooperation with Lea.

Gu Mengmeng was just sitting on the bed when she heard a loud crashing noise of things falling all over. Gu Mengmeng finally realized that the coordination Elvis and Lea had forced over the years included almost everything, other than fighting, flirting with girls, taking lead of the tribe, they were even the perfect combination at acting like posers.

The pressure released by Elvis did not seem to scare away the person at the door, whom was addressed as Leader Cole by Lea. He said in the ever calm voice, “Females are naturally precious, it’s normal for them to be a little bad-tempered. Although I am the leader of Sauder, I have no intentions of provoking. I have stood at the door for this long to seek a meeting with you.”

Gu Mengmeng was thinking to herself, didn’t Lea mentioned before that Sauder’s snow fox tribe had their own pride, not looking up to anyone other than themselves? What now? Seeing that she was able to grill and they lowered their heads for food? Were they just like Sandy, anyone with food was a kind person to them?

Elvis whispered by Gu Mengmeng's ear, "They probably came for the fire."

Gu Mengmeng was stunned for a moment, before coming to a realization that the key point was not the roasted meat, but the fire used for roasting.

According to the legends, it was a heavy weapon that the previous Messenger of the Beast Deity whom used to rule the Beast World.

The fire was originally protected by Sauder's snow foxes generations after generations, but due to some reasons, they did not manage to guard it and it extinguished afterwards... And there were no holy fire from then on.

Right, how easy could guarding a fire pit be? It might be extinguished in just a nap's time.

Gu Mengmeng nodded, wear her clothes properly and signaled to Elvis to not worry, everything was fine.

After all, Gu Mengmeng had planned to meet the leader of Sauder. From Dumbo to Ellie, it was impossible for her to pretend nothing had happened, wasn't it?

Hence, Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat, called for Lea and said, "Anyone at the door is our guest, it's not nice to not meet them. But it's a female's room after all and it's honestly inconvenient to invite the great Leader in, so please wait for a moment and I will come out."

"Everything for the little female's convenience. As a male, waiting is my honor." Cole's tone was still calm and polite.

Although they had never met, Gu Mengmeng had a positive impression for this Cole, at least his behavior was gentlemanly, without the sense of being revolting or caution.

Elvis helped Gu Mengmeng to wear her boots and tidied her clothes before letting her on the ground, while he followed behind her out of the stone house.

The bright sunshine shone on Gu Mengmeng's face and her smooth and fair skin appeared to be transparent under the light. The clear big eyes looked straight at Cole, neither humble nor pushy. A faint smile without any ambiguity, only out of manners and politeness. Without saying anything at all, Gu Mengmeng had taken Cole's breath away.

Chapter 377 - May I Call You Ah Gu?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The little female was in front of his eyes was exactly what he had imagined a Messenger of the Beast Deity to be.

No, she was even more perfect than his imagination.

Cole was a little excited. He nodded keenly as a reply to her smile, before taking a step back with great respect as he asked, “May I have the honor of knowing this beautiful female’s name?”

If it was in the modern world, this was such a low level way of flirting. But in here, with Cole’s courteous looks, Gu Mengmeng only felt the word ‘gentlemanliness’.

Gu Mengmeng smiled, she nodded and replied, “Leader Cole, nice to meet you, my name is Gu Mengmeng and I am the female representing Saint Nazaire for this beauty pageant.”

Sorry, the title of the tribe’s most beautiful female was too embarrassing for Gu Mengmeng. It was an action only a teenager who was going through puberty would do, so lame and disgusting...

“Gu Mengmeng...” Cole was thinking over the name. When he looked up again, he stared right into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes and asked, “May I call you Ah Gu?”

Gu Mengmeng did not think too much and was just about to reply when Elvis and Lea said in harmony assertively, “No way!”

Cole seemed very disappointed, but he could not do anything other than nodding his head and saying, “Alright, then Gu Mengmeng it will be.”

Gu Mengmeng did not know why these two was so sensitive all of a sudden, but being called nicknames by a man whom she just met was not something she was used to. She did not ask, but flipped over a new page and went straight into the point. “Leader Cole came to find me at such an early morning just to ask whether I was roasting meat here last night?”

Gu Mengmeng looked at the remaining ashes piled beside the wall with the coming of her eyes and said, “Isn’t the answer obvious? You have been here for an entire morning, surely you would have seen that?”

“No, actually I came for another question.” Cole put on a straight face and said, “I overheard the females following you calling you the Messenger of the Beast Deity...”

Gu Mengmeng smiled, did this Cole really have no relations with Ellie and hence he did not know, or was he with Ellie and here to trick her into spilling the beans?

Not able to see through this male, Gu Mengmeng did not try to cover up and replied, “If knowing how to start fires is considered the Messenger of the Beast Deity, then I probably am.”

This answer was enough to make Cole feel blood boiling in him. He clenched his fist excitedly, before taking two deep breaths and releasing. He said, “We need to host a ceremony to confirm your identity, if you are really the Messenger of the Beast Deity...”

Gu Mengmeng did not say another, just held her head high and looked at Cole, waiting for him to continue.

But Cole suddenly stopped, he smiled and said, “We will tell you after the ceremony is over and your identity is confirmed.”

After that, Cole placed his right hand on his left chest, saluted to Gu Mengmeng, turned and was ready to leave.

But just after a few steps, he suddenly stopped, looked at Lea and said, “Ninth brother, you have not returned for years and you must have missed Sauder? Why not accompany your older brother to prepare the ceremony and talk about the past?”

Lea took a step back, walked to Gu Mengmeng, held her hand lightly and said, “Sorry to disappoint Leader Cole, my Xiao Meng loved me so much that she can’t be a second without me.”

Cole frowned and started to look at Gu Mengmeng up and down. He asked with a confused look, “You... You have mated already?”

Lea shook his head, smiled brightly and innocently like a child. He replied, “We did not mate, I am Xiao Meng’s beast pet.”

Chapter 378 - Hey, Satisfy Me Too, Alright?

Gu Mengmeng jumped up to hooked Lea's neck, she covered his mouth and smiled awkwardly. "Well... Leader Cole, since you have other things on hand, let's not hold you any longer. Go ahead, please," she said.

Without waiting for Cole to reply, Gu Mengmeng had walked the entire way back to the stone house while lugging Lea's head.

After a few peeks to ensure that Cole had indeed left, Gu Mengmeng released Lea's neck and said angrily, "Are you still on it? Will you only be satisfied after announcing to the entire world that you are my pet beast and no other females would want you? I am telling you now, if you are doing this to make me feel guilty, you are thinking too much. It's your choice to not treat your life seriously, I will not be responsible for your decision, you hear me?"

As obedient as an elementary school student, Lea stared at the angry Gu Mengmeng affectionately and smiled happily.

"Hey? I am talking to you, what are you smiling about?!" Seeing Lea enjoying himself, Gu Mengmeng felt even more angry.

Lea turned to look at Elvis and asked, "So this is the feeling of getting scolded by Mengmeng, no wonder you always make mistakes in front of her and make her roar and scream at you."

The veins on Gu Mengmeng's forehead bulged. With arms akimbo, she questioned, "Am I praising you?!"

Lea took a step forward, bent down slightly and brought his ear to Gu Mengmeng. With eyes like crescents, he said with anticipation, "Are you going to pull my ears? It looked painful but... I still want to experience it.”

Gu Mengmeng was so angry that she didn't even know how to express her anger. She blinked her eyes, looked at Lea and asked, “Are you a freaking masochistic person that likes to be tortured?”

Lea thought for a while, nodded his head and said, “I'm only like this with you. I like you being angry with me, because when you are angry, that pair of beautiful eyes will look at me attentively. Although it is scary to see fires shooting out of your eyes, your eyes are... dangerous yet beautiful and addictive.”

Lea said as he lightly caressed Gu Mengmeng's cheeks. The slender and amorous eyes had a clear reflection Gu Mengmeng looking at him pitifully as though looking at an idiot. But Lea was smiling, he took a deep breath, enjoying her fragrance spreading in the air and thinking over it, before finally opening his mouth again, “If you will also pull my ears and scold me, if you will also throw potatoes, sweet potatoes, preserved dishes at me, if you will also make rules with me, order me to never use you as a bet, never say whether you like me, never leaving you behind... That will just make a happier man.”

Lea went nearer to Gu Mengmeng and she could even clearly feel the temperature of the air Lea breathed out with the tip of her nose and smell his unique scent. There were imploration in Lea's eyes, with a little sorrow and much anticipation. He asked softly, “Hey, satisfy me too, alright?”

“Satisfy... Satisfy what?!” Gu Mengmeng took a step back, lost her balance and almost fell.

Lea immediately grabbed Gu Mengmeng's waist, pulling her towards him and Gu Mengmeng's stomach was touching Lea's abdomen. Gu Mengmeng's feet could not reach the ground with this position and a few kicks in the air only made her look hilarious. Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched and shouted to Elvis, “Hubby, he is flirting with me like this and you are not even reacting?”

Chapter 379 - Elvis Shamed Me Just Now

Elvis thought for a while before walking up to them. With one hand hugging Gu Mengmeng into his arms and another pulling Lea's ear, he said emotionlessly, "I will satisfy you since Xiao Meng is unwilling to do so. Well... the force was something like this, are you happy now?"

Lea hit off Elvis's hand, turned away and said, "You can't make me feel happy and satisfied, I am not interested in males..."

"Pfft... Hahahaha..." Gu Mengmeng laughed like an idiot and trembled in Elvis's arms.

When she was finally done laughing, Lea had brought in the breakfast for her.

Ian had caught fish in the river before dawn break, Lea removed the fish bones and simmered it with sweet potatoes into a porridge-like stew. He mixed in some honey after it was cooked and he brought in to Gu Mengmeng. Using a small spoon to scoop a little, Lea blew it warm and brought to Gu Mengmeng's mouth. "Ah."

Gu Mengmeng took over the bowl and said, "No need, there's no need for this, I can do it myself. My arms and legs are working and I am not paralyzed."

But Lea hid from her and looked at Gu Mengmeng sorrowfully, "You have promised me that you will treat yourself like a severely handicapped man that can't handle things on your own and I can take care of you for everything."

Gu Mengmeng let out a 'tsk' and said, "Let's not talk about the past and we can still be friends."

Lea swayed his tails happily and said, "You said it, let's not talk about the past and we can start everything all over."

Gu Mengmeng said, "Hey, don't change my words as you like, I said we can still be friends and nobody mentioned starting all over."

Lea said, "Didn't we start with friends in the past? If we can still be friends, doesn't that mean we can start all over?"

Gu Mengmeng said, "Everything that happened before the spring this year are considered the past, let it go by with the wind and none of us should mention it again, okay?!"

Lea murmured something to himself but Gu Mengmeng could not catch. It was probably some complaints and Gu Mengmeng did not bother too much, but she emphasized the question again, "Okay or not?"

Lea nodded his head and said grievingly, "We don't talk about the past, but we can talk about the present, right?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded and made the pose of 'go ahead'.

Lea raised his hand and pointed at Elvis. He said, "Elvis shamed me just now, he he he... he touched my ear. If this goes out, I can't be a fox anymore... sobs sobs sobs, as the head of our household, shouldn't you be comforting my broken heart?"

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to keep a straight face, but she could not resist it and laughed on the bed again. She hit her thigh and said, "I knew you guys had something, hahaha..."

With a black face, Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng, whom was laughing till her tears came out. He pulled her chin, forcing her to look at him and said with clenching teeth, "I have nothing to do with anyone except you."

Gu Mengmeng wanted to control her laughter looking at Elvis's black face, but the more she tries, the more she wanted to laugh and she turned into the vibrating mode.

Elvis sighed, he could not handle Gu Mengmeng at all. He turned to Lea and said, "Can you stop saying all the words that would make Xiao Meng misunderstand? I took so much trouble to convince her that there's nothing between the two of us, but with what you said just now, she..."

But Lea did not buy it. Putting the cooled porridge from the spoon into his own mouth, trying it and ensuring that the taste was alright, something that Mengmeng would like, he scooped another spoon, blew it, before finally answering Elvis, "Are the both of us really... that innocent?"

Chapter 380 - The Two of Us Are Not Really Innocent in a Way

Gu Mengmeng immediately stopped laughing. Like a scared rabbit, she straightened her body and looked at Elvis and Lea with her round eyes repeatedly. After a while, she pointed at Elvis and screamed, “I’m not done with you if you don’t explain to me everything now!”

Elvis opened his arms and steadily caught Gu Mengmeng whom was pouncing on him, letting her play in his arms. He smiled affectionately, while casual glances revealed how jealous Lea was. After Gu Mengmeng was tired from fooling around, he brushed through her hair and said, “When Lea and I founded Saint Nazaire, we snatched our land from other tribes. There were dignified and fair battles, there were also foul tricks played behind enemies backs. So... the two of us are not really innocent in a way, but it is definitely not what you think.”

Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s butt and slightly lifted her chin with the other hand. With a little sense of punishment, he kissed onto Gu Mengmeng’s lips until her face was all red. He said, “This will be the last time I will be explaining to you regarding this matter, if you dare to imagine things again... I will punish you by making you unable to get up from bed for three days and three nights, personally experiencing who is the person I have something with.”

Sobs sobs sobs, it was actually a little exciting to have your partner suddenly bursting with husband energy.

Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Elvis’s neck cowardly and answered in a cutesy voice, “Yes yes, I will never think too much again, my husband is so handsome like a walking hormone, how could he be gay? Straight, even straighter than the rebar.”

Elvis did not know what Gu Mengmeng was talking about, but looking at her obediently acting cute to him, he felt good nonetheless.

With a sigh and a face no longer black, Elvis put her on the bed, took over the bowl of porridge from Lea's hand and said, "The temperature of the porridge is just right, I will feed you."

"No need, no need. How can I trouble great hubby with this kind of small things, I will do it myself~" Gu Mengmeng tried to take over the bowl fawningly.

But Elvis put a spoonful of porridge into his mouth directly, before sending it into Gu Mengmeng's with his lips.

"I have said this before, I already gained the permission to take care of you... Don't reject me." Elvis's face was slightly lowered, hiding a large part of the blue glow, but the affection was turned into water and flowed into Gu Mengmeng's ears. "If you are not used to me feeding you with a spoon, then... we can change to another method that I prefer more, how about that?"

Gu Mengmeng leaned into Elvis's arms obediently with a red face and replied, "Let's go with spoon, spoons are good and so efficient..."

Elvis rubbed Gu Mengmeng's head, kissed her on the hair, before feeding the fish sweet potato porridge into her mouth spoon by spoon.

Gu Mengmeng could not talk while eating, so Elvis asked on behalf of her, "Lea, what was the ceremony Cole had just mentioned? You stayed back on purpose to explain to Xiao Meng about that, right?"

Lea nodded, he really wished he could distract himself with the formal matter, but he could not hide the jealousy in his eyes.

"The previous Messenger of the Beast Deity left a holy esoterica and it became Sauder's sacred item, only leaders can enter the holy ground to look at it. Just like the medical expertises that only passed down from one witch doctor to another, leaders have a similar way of passing down information from generation to generation. I don't know what exactly is inside, but I know that it's the only way to verify the next Messenger of the Beast Deity."

Chapter 381 - What the Esoterica Really Was

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“W... Why?” Gu Mengmeng swallowed a mouthful of porridge and asked in the break.

Lea replied, “Because the previous Messenger of the Beast Deity had said that the real Messenger of the Beast Deity would definitely know the content of the esoterica.”

Lea then looked at Gu Mengmeng attentively, as though he was waiting for her to say what was written in the esoterica.

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded, she really did not know whatever the esoterica was. Was it “Jiu Yin Zhen Jing” or “The Palm of Rulai”? She did not have any mental preparations when she transmigrated here. She only took a swim and ended up here, not meeting the supposedly all-mighty Beast Deity on the way. Nobody ever told her the esoterica exist?!

Gu Mengmeng’s heart dropped and asked, “Will I be treated as a witch and burned to my death if I can’t answer it?”

Lea and Elvis looked at each other, smiled and answered, “Females that can’t answer will be punished for disrespecting the Beast Deity, but Elvis and I will protect you and nobody can hurt you.”

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed and said in despair, “Do you guys think... it’s a little too late to run away now?”

Cole’s voice sounded from the outside again, “Don’t worry, Sauder will not make life difficult for you just judging from your ability to summon the Flame Devil.”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, she stared at Elvis and Lea, what's wrong with these two? Not reminding her that there were people eavesdropping?

Clearing her throat awkwardly, Gu Mengmeng said, "I... I didn't worry about it."

Cole chuckled softly, before continuing, "The ceremony is ready, shall we prepare to go over now?"

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis's hand nervously, Elvis held her hand back, pulling her into his arms and hugged her steadily. With Lea following behind Elvis, they walked out of the stone house together.

Cole did a simple salute to Gu Mengmeng, it was not overly respectful, but something out of basic courtesy.

But it made Gu Mengmeng feel comfortable. She would have felt awkward if it was too grand.

Under Cole's lead, the group entered a place similar to the Platform of the Deity's Punishment in Saint Nazaire. The surrounding was so crowded that there was only one path wide enough for one man to pass.

Cole went up the platform first, before signaling for Gu Mengmeng to come up.

Just when Elvis wanted to carry Gu Mengmeng up, Lea pulled him and said, "This place is only accessible to the tribe leader and the Messenger of the Beast Deity, others trespassing will be seen as disrespecting the Beast Deity."

Elvis raised his eyebrow and did not seem to care.

Lea said, "You are just going to make Mengmeng's life difficult if you insist on going up. Trust her, she is going to be fine. If anything happens, you and I are just here, one step away."

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng, whom smiled at him as a form of saying 'it's okay'. Then, she jumped down from Gu Mengmeng's arms and walked up to the Platform of the Deity's Punishment herself.

There was a book on the platform, severely damaged from the number of years past. The paper was yellow and crisp, as though it would not even be able to withstand a gust of wind.

But...

Why did the book's cover look so familiar?

Where did she see it before...

"Hoeing millet..." Cole said in a forceful tone with powerful words, as though chanting some prayers.

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, looking at Cole, not understanding why he was acting strange out of a sudden.

"Hoeing millet!" Cole repeated and stared at Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng looked back at Cole with a blur face and she replied stiffly, "In midday heat?"

Chapter 382 - The Previous Messenger of the Beast Deity Is a Funny and Ridiculous Person

Cole was first shocked, before starting to lose control so the emotions on her face. With a big step forward, he approached Gu Mengmeng and said, “Geese, O geese!”

Gu Mengmeng had a stiff smile on her face as she thought to herself, “Brother, can you control the smile on your face? Why did it seem like I had turned your switch on by just reciting a poem? What were you so excited about?!”

Cole was a little anxious seeing Gu Mengmeng not replying, so he took another step forward and repeated himself, “Geese, O geese!”

“Necks curve and sing to sky with glees; Your white plumes float on water green, Red feet paddle streams clear and clean.” Gu Mengmeng decided to recite the entire poem for him. Seeing Cole was about to open his mouth to ask again, Gu Mengmeng made a ‘stop’ pose and said, “Stop asking will you, I could read words by three years old, understand it by five, memorize the three hundred famous poems by seven and make poems by nine. If you don’t believe me, I can write one for you now.”

With hands behind her back, Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “The Emperor helped the General took off his coat armor; they spent the night under the warmth of a hibiscus canopy; rendering all concubines of the six palaces lusterless; from this day on the Emperor missed each and every morning court.”

With that, Gu Mengmeng turned around, looked at Cole with a sneaky smile and said, “How does Leader Cole feel about the poem I just made?”

‘Thump’ Both of Cole’s knees dropped to the ground in an utmost worshipping position as he raised his voice and announced, “Messenger Tribe Leader Cole, welcomes the return of the Messenger of the Beast Deity.”

With Cole kneeling down, nobody dared to stand up, the whole scene was spectacular, even Lea and Elvis was kneeling under Gu Mengmeng’s feet with the crowd in a submissive position.

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched as she smiled awkwardly. She took two steps forward and picked up the esoterica that was being worshiped and only for the eyes of tribe leaders...

What the heck, of course it had to be “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty”.

There were a thousand alpacas running across Gu Mengmeng’s mind.

The previous Messenger of the Beast Deity must be a funny and ridiculous person? Using a “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty” to trick Sauder for a thousand years. Just a freaking book for nine dollars ninety-nine cents and it was worshiped for a whole thousand years. Moreover, it was only passed from father to son, son to grandson? Gu Mengmeng was really doubting Lea’s words on the Snow Fox Tribe being smart and scheming... Was he being serious?

Looking back at Lea and Elvis, Gu Mengmeng realized that everyone was still kneeling down, so she quickly waved her hands and said, “Everyone can get up now.”

“Yes.” With one hand supporting again the ground, Cole stood up slowly, went up to Gu Mengmeng and said respectfully, “As a servant, I had delayed the welcome and made the great Messenger suffered outside, please punish me.”

Gu Mengmeng's eyes darted to Lea and thought, of course they were produced from the same factory, having the same masochistic behavior, straight up asking for her punishment? Did he want a leather whip or wax play?

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "Servant? Leader Cole must be joking. I am just a little female in Saint Nazaire, how could I use the great Leader as my servant?"

Just when Cole wanted to add on, Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth first and continued, "Erm... is this ceremony over? I don't have to be burnt to death right? Then can I leave now? My partner is still there waiting for me."

"Great Messenger..." Cole took a step forward to Gu Mengmeng and stopped her. With head lowered in respect, he said, "Since the Great Messenger has returned, you should naturally stay in Sauder, this is your tribe. As for your partner... he can stay with you too."

Gu Mengmeng raised her eyebrow and asked, "What if I don't obey? Are you going to make me stay by force?"

Cole lowered his head and said, "Servant dares not."

But even with that, he remained like an old oak tree rooted to the ground, not moving an inch.

Chapter 383 - Are You Interested in the Esoterica?

Gu Mengmeng smiled and patted Cole's shoulder lightly. "It's the best if you dare not, after all, it would not be in your favor if I get angry."

After that, Gu Mengmeng walked past Cole and down the platform. Elvis caught her steadily, hugged her into his arms, turned around and left, not caring about anything happening behind them.

Lea kept quiet and followed behind them silently. The group returned to the little stone house Gu Mengmeng was living in.

After they went inside, Lea asked, "Do you... still want the esoterica?"

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, "Are you interested in the esoterica?"

Lea nodded his head honestly. Gu Mengmeng replied with a 'understood' expression and said, "I was actually lying when I said I was able to memorize the three hundred poems, but of course I am able to recite the more famous ones. The two that Leader Cole tested me today was coincidentally the ones I know. I stopped him from continue asking because I was scared he might test some unknown ones that I couldn't recite... But if you are interested, I can teach you on the way when I teach it to the Hede brothers."

Gu Mengmeng sat on the bed and felt it was really funny after thinking over it. She waved to Elvis and Lea and said, "Now I finally knew why the previous Messenger would say 'the real Messenger of the Beast Deity would definitely know the content of the esoterica'. In our place, all the kids in kindergartens would know these poems, even those that are weaker in their studies would definitely memorize these few. So, I finally believed when you said I am the Messenger of the Beast Deity.

Lea and Elvis looked at each other and they exchanged a glance.

Lea asked, “What are you going to do next?”

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders and said, “I will participate in the beauty pageant and bring back those that I met eyes with.”

Lea frowned and said, “Today you straightforwardly said that you are not willing to stay in Sauder on stage, I am afraid Cole might not let go of you so easily.”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while before replying, “But I feel that he is quite a gentleman and unlikely to do horrible things.

Lea let out a bitter laugh and said, “Have you forgotten? The snow foxes are the best at reading people’s minds, this type of camouflage is nothing to him.”

Gu Mengmeng thought, someone that would worship a “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty” for a thousand years...

Gu Mengmeng smiled, patted on Lea’s shoulder and said, “Don’t be too worried, there is always a solution to a problem. My identity was announced in front of everyone, now that the whole world’s eyes are on Sauder, his life would be harder than anyone if something happens to me in Sauder. Hence, he should not have the courage to go hard on me. If he really did thought of doing something dirty to us... Ha, what to do if I accidentally burn down his Sauder in a bad mood?”

Looking at Gu Mengmeng being so optimistic, Lea did not comment any further.

Some things were meant for the males to take care of.

It was the best for her to remain this happy and worry-free forever.

The beauty pageant was three days after Gu Mengmeng's identity was announced. In these three days, Saint Nazaire became a trending world in everyone's mouths.

It was meaningless to continue holding this competition, because not only males, even the females that came to participate in the competition expressed their intents of joining the competition.

In other words, as long as Gu Mengmeng nod her head, everyone in Sauder now could be brought back to Saint Nazaire all together.

Was there still a need... for the beauty pageant?

Chapter 384 - Competing Was Every Woman's Nature

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The beauty pageant was successfully converted to Saint Nazaire's private recruitment session due to Gu Mengmeng's exposure.

The first message was spread out by Gu Mengmeng's own mouth. This time, she was only to give out fifty places, which meant that everyone that wanted to join Saint Nazaire must compete to win the place. Only those that successfully attain the placing could join Saint Nazaire.

This was completely different from the strong beasts choosing tribes in the past, the relationship had reversed and it was the tribe choosing the strong ones.

Elvis and Lea did not understand Gu Mengmeng's decision, wouldn't it be better for as many strong males to join the tribe as possible? Why did she only accept fifty?

But Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, "Quality, quality. You must have quality before quantity. Only qualitative changes can result in quantitative changes. If we don't choose the elites, what's the point of having more?"

Elvis totally could not comprehend the difference between quantitative changes and qualitative changes, he could only nod his head and replied, "Anything you say, I'll listen to you."

Since the Leader, or the first partner, had no objections, Lea the witch doctor, or the unrecognized beast pet, were in no place to raise feedback. Hence, the decision on the amount of places was set.

The first challenge that Gu Mengmeng gave was a hunt with the duration of one day, starting from sunrise and ends with sunset. The top ten beasts with the most number of prey could win the places to join.

So the first day, almost all the males in the city came out, even those males that accompanied their females to attend the beauty pageant joined in actively. In the past, only when the beautiful females decide to join a tribe can the male follow along. This was the first time when a female wants to join a tribe and her male had to obtain the place before she can migrate as a family member.

Joining the messengers tribe would mean a better life, of course the females would encourage their males to fight for it, especially after hearing that only the top ten could have the places.

Competing... was every woman's nature, it was the same in the past or the modern world, an ordinary man or a beast.

So, when the males were hunting prey for their lives in the wild, the females dressed up gorgeously and waited for the results. If their partners were not in the top ten... well, why not choose one on the spot? Everyone was the most beautiful in their own tribes and had blinded confidence in these areas. They believed that there would not be any males rejecting them with the hooking of a finger.

Compared to those stretching their necks out waiting for the results, Gu Mengmeng's side had an even weirder atmosphere.

"Well... Leader Cole, is it really fine for you to do this?" Gu Mengmeng felt speechless as she looked at Cole, whom had moved a small table outside her stone house and was sitting cross-legged at the corner of the wall. He was hugging the yellow and dried book of "300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty", looking up to Gu Mengmeng.

What happened to being classy, poised and high-level, while also scheming, haughty and a man of culture? Was this innocent pair of eyes resembling an abandoned pet dog really the lethal weapon with the highest power output in the Snow Fox family?!

“The Messenger does not wish to stay, I dared not to force, but as the Messenger’s servant, I have to follow wherever the Messenger goes.” Cold nodded his head seriously, before offering the “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty,” with both hands and he continued, “The previous Messenger left this and instructed that the new Messenger must read through it.”

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and she said, “Didn’t I tell you before? I could memorize this ‘esoterica’ from back to front when I was just seven. You guys had been worshiping this for a thousand years and you should continue doing it, I will pass.”

Chapter 385 - Hubby, There's a Stalker Outside

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Cole insisted with both hands over his head and he said, "Please do have a look."

Gu Mengmeng could not do anything to Cole but to accept the esoterica and said, "Alright, I have taken the book, you can surely go back now?"

Cole shook his head and said, "I'm staying to serve the great Messenger."

Gu Mengmeng's face was as stiff as it could be as she thought to herself, "Well, serving is one thing, but can you stop using the ambiguous and grieving eyes and looked at me as though I have did something to you?"

Gu Mengmeng sighed, turned back into the house and pounced into Elvis's arm. "Hubby, there's a stalker outside."

Elvis was also feeling despair and he said, "We have to fight him off a few times, even his legs were broken yet he came back with a walking stick. Well, he is Sauder's leader and we are on their land after all, it won't be nice if we really kill him."

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, "That's right..."

Lea said, "Bring out the skills you had when you turned a cold eye on me, just ignore him totally."

Gu Mengmeng stared at Lea and said, "Is your family heirloom just acting cute and pitiful? You did it the last time too..."

Lea's smile froze on his face. He turned and said coldly, "He is not my family."

After which, he left the stone house and on his way grabbed Cole who was sitting by the entrance.

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips, looked up at Elvis and asked, “Hubby, did I say something wrong?”

Elvis rubbed Gu Mengmeng’s head and said, “It’s alright, Lea will not blame you.”

“Sobs sobs sobs, I said something wrong indeed...”

Elvis felt despaired. Often, he would be jealous of how Lea was able to make Gu Mengmeng happy with words and how he always knew all the outcome of saying different things in different circumstances.

While he could never learn it for himself.

Feeling bored, Gu Mengmeng flipped open the “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty”. Honestly, the state of the book persevering till this state deserved to be vacuum sealed and kept in a museum if it was the modern world, right? But the content inside was just poetry, the type that was sold on discount for nine dollars and ninety-nine cents on Amazon.

It was the first time in her life for Gu Mengmeng to look at poetry with so damn much caution.

But flipping through it, Gu Mengmeng found some differences. She seemed to understand why the previous Messenger of the Beast Deity told Sauder they must hand this over to the next one.

There were words on the book which looked like it was written with a ballpoint pen.

Gu Mengmeng exclaimed quietly in her heart, why did others transmigrate with at least a “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty” and a pen, while the only thing she brought along was a pair of bikinis...

Most of the words faded with time and could not be read clearly, together with the damages of the book, Gu Mengmeng could not read the messages left by the previous Messenger fully, she could only get a few paragraphs of it by combining.

The previous Messenger was an honorable consultant of the Ching society. It was common to see this type of people on television, frankly speaking, they were just charlatans doing fortune telling on the streets after paying for a seemingly prestigious title.

“No wonder he had to call fire the Flame Devil, he was someone whom make a living out of superstitions.” Gu Mengmeng murmured to herself.

Elvis glanced at the book... He couldn't read it at all, everything resembled scrawly handwritings...

Gu Mengmeng wanted to find more details in it, but it was difficult to piece out other effective messages. The word that kept repeating was ‘dream’.

Chapter 386 - The Heck I Believed You!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was a little confused, dream? What did that mean? Was it saying that everything she was going through now had been a dream? Would she be waking up and realizing everything was fake?

Gu Mengmeng was troubled for a while, she looked up at Elvis, before stretching out her evil little hand and pulled hard on Elvis's ears. Elvis gasped in pain, but dared not to resist, he could only looked at Gu Mengmeng innocently and said without hesitation, "Xiao Meng, I'm in the wrong."

Gu Mengmeng released her hand and smiled awkwardly, it had become an instinct for Elvis to admit his fault once his ears were pulled.

Rubbing Elvis's ears, Gu Mengmeng said, "Well, it's not your fault this time round, I was just trying... to see if it hurts for you."

Elvis thought about it for a while and shook his head. He said, "It's not too painful, actually."

Gu Mengmeng thought, if it was not painful... Perhaps she was really living in a dream? Hesitating for a second, Gu Mengmeng pinched hard on her thigh.

What the heck!

Gu Mengmeng's tears trickled down immediately from the pain. Looking at the bruises on her thigh, Gu Mengmeng wanted to curse the previous Messenger's ancestors.

“The heck I believed you,” Gu Mengmeng cursed with tears in her eyes as she rubbed her thigh, “So freaking inconsiderate, it hurts so much...”

Elvis sighed. Swatted away Gu Mengmeng’s hand that were rubbing randomly on her thigh, Elvis covered the bruised area with his warm hand and rubbed it with a fixed pace and a moderate strength. He said, “The first time I met you, you pinched yourself like this too, and you did it today again... Is pinching thigh a periodic movement for you?”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, could she pretend she was an idiot?

She had already forgotten how she pinched herself before... Why did Elvis remember it so clearly?

“Well... I was just making sure that what I was going through now is not a dream. It was said that you won’t feel the pain in a dream.”

“Feelings of pain meant that it’s not a dream?” Elvis turned his head and asked with a concerned face.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head as an answer.

Elvis thought for a moment, before placing Gu Mengmeng on the bed and started undressing himself.

“Hey... What are you doing? In the broad daylight... We shouldn’t... This scene is too hot... Hey hey hey, don’t take it off, I don’t allow you to. The door is still open...” Gu Mengmeng tried to stop Elvis with incoherent ramblings.

With the hide dress half taken off in his hands, Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng seriously and said, “There are many ways of feeling pain, such as pinching your own thigh, but I feel that the second method is better. Relax, I will try my best to let you make sure you are not dreaming right now.”

Gu Mengmeng had already broken out into cold sweats. Big brother, please don’t try your very best. I could feel my waist hurting even now!

Thinking about it, Gu Mengmeng felt she was an idiot even more.

She almost died from the pain that night of mating and now she was suspecting everything was just a dream?

With a numb smile, Gu Mengmeng helped Elvis dressed, before nodding her head and saying, “There’s no need to make sure again, I have had an in-depth understanding that everything was not a dream.”

Elvis pulled the Gu Mengmeng, that was ready to move away after helping him dressed, into his arms and said by her ear, “Promise me, if everything is a dream to you... Kill me before you decide to wake up. Don’t leave me in a world without you. That will be an eternal nightmare to me.”

Chapter 387 - You Have to Find Me for Someone to Compete Against

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Idiot.” Gu Mengmeng grinned and hugged Elvis back. She patted his back lightly and said, “It will just be vastness in a world without you. If this is a dream, it must be one that I had exchanged with using an entire life’s luck, a once in a lifetime luxury... If I really do wake up, you must hug me tightly and keep me here... If that’s not possible, hit me till I’m unconscious. After all, I will never have as much luck to meet the same you again.”

The atmosphere was just right and the plan was to move on to express something more, since the hide dress was not worn properly, anyway.

However...

“Great Messenger.” Cole stood at the door with a snow white fox in his hand.

Instinctively, Gu Mengmeng pushed Elvis away, but Elvis only held onto her tighter, not allowing her to struggle in his arms. Elvis said, “You said it yourself that I have to hug you tight.”

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat and said, “You are jumping out of the context here. I said that you have to hug me tightly if I ever wake up.”

Elvis shrugged and said, “I will treat it as if you are about to wake up whenever you are not in my arms.”

Gu Mengmeng’s heart fluttered, even though they were married for a while now and even had four children, Gu Mengmeng’s defense and immune system towards Elvis’s endearments with a serious face became weaker day by day. She gave a little punch on his chest and said, “There are people looking, that’s not very nice.”

Elvis lifted one of his eyebrows, scanned at Cole and asked, “You like him?”

Gu Mengmeng stunned for a second, before shaking her head intensely, “What are you saying? Lea alone was enough to give me a headache, why would I go around attracting others.”

With a cold face, Elvis nodded and said, “One fox in our family is enough.”

Gu Mengmeng was speechless, that was not what she meant, okay? And Lea was not their family’s fox too, okay? But why couldn’t she rebut?

Clenching her teeth, Gu Mengmeng admitted to her fate and sighed. Just when she was about to ask Cole what was he up to, Elvis opened his mouth first, “Xiao Meng don’t like you, so it’s useless even if you win Lea. The rule in our family is that only competitions approved by Xiao Meng count. Moreover...”

Elvis pointed to the fox in Cole’s hand and said, “He’s just a beast pet, not Xiao Meng’s partner. You have to find me for someone to compete against.”

The word ‘awkward’ was clearly written on Gu Mengmeng’s face. From the start, Cold had treated himself as the servant of the Messenger of the Beast Deity, never once did he say he liked her.

This kind of behavior was similar to pulling a stranger on the street and threatening him not to covet your wife with a black face...

Should she say he was being immature or a maniac?!

Gu Mengmeng pulled Elvis’s arms and said, “Cole don’t even like me, I’m so embarrassed by you.”

The moment Elvis’s eyes touched Gu Mengmeng, they became extremely gentle and there were affection like the vast universe in his sapphire blue eyes. His brows touched slightly and said, “In this world, there’s not a single person that will not like you. Every male... is a rival that need to be guarded against.”

Pfft...

Such a childish theory, but her heart was beating so fast, what could she do?

Was this what was said to be ‘beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder’? Hey hey hey, did she become the number one beauty in Elvis’s eyes?

Gu Mengmeng was overjoyed and she grinned uncontrollably. Gu Mengmeng tried not to make herself seem too complacent, she waved her hand and said, “I’m not money, how could everyone like me? Stop saying rubbish, Cole does not mean it.”

Chapter 388 - I'm Hugging Onto My Own Husband

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Cole did not say anything. All that's left was some confusion in his eyes and something....that could not be explained clearly.

"Mighty messenger, may I enter?" Cole asked.

"No," Elvis answered firmly and decisively without hesitation.

Cole did not insist any further as he just nodded his head and placed the fox at the entrance. Ruffling his head as if he was touching his pet dog, he repeatedly advised, "Since you've already become the mighty messenger's beast pet, you'll need to serve her well till she feels comfortable here. This will be considered as you, the Ninth Highness, contributing to the snow fox tribe. Don't throw your temper and create a ruckus anymore, alright? Your behavior will make things difficult for the messenger."

Lea remained silent since the beginning and did not say a word. He just tilted his head away and ran into the house, directly pouncing into Gu Mengmeng's arms before using his body to wrap her up. Then, he placed his head on Gu Mengmeng's thighs and whined with a sobbing tone, sounding as if he was acting coquettishly.

Gu Mengmeng could not understand beast language so she could only squeeze an awkward smile out.

Cole stood at the entrance and bowed towards Gu Mengmeng. "Then, Cole shall not disturb the mighty messenger from resting. I'll be guarding at the entrance so if you have anything you need, feel free to order me around."

Gu Mengmeng asked in disbelief, "Ah?! Didn't you pass me your book already? Why are you still guarding by the entrance? Aren't you the leader?"

Don't you have to settle the matters in the tribe?"

Cole stood on the spot and replied with a smile, "Since the mighty messenger has arrived, she will have the final decision on every big matter in the tribe naturally. As for those trivial matters, there will be people who will settle it according to the rules here. So, servant's most important duty is to stay by your side, protect you...and serve you."

"Pfft..." Gu Mengmeng truly could not get use to the word 'serve', why did it sound so unnatural? Thus, she cleared her throat and asked, "That, I'm the messenger of the Beast Deity so you have to listen to my words, right?"

"Yes, mighty messenger."

Gu Mengmeng said, "Then, I'll order you with my identity as the messenger of the Beast Deity. I'll order you to...go back to where you came from! Don't continue being an eyesore at my house."

"This..." Cole looked like he was put into a difficult situation.

Gu Mengmeng added, "And, I've mentioned it before, Saint Nazaire is my tribe. I won't stay here so...just rule Sauder as you wish, don't count on me to make the final decisions here because I don't have the idle time to do so."

Cole hesitated for a moment and said, "Or maybe, the servant should lead the entire Sauder to pay allegiance to Saint Nazaire? Can servant then stay by mighty messenger's side to serve you?"

Gu Mengmeng felt that this suggestion was quite reliable, so she raised her head to look at Elvis then at Lea. However, the two of them shook their heads without any prior consultation. Although their actions were near invisible, there was still an unsaid teamwork among the three of them after living together for such a long time.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng burst out in laughter and said, "How can I trouble you like this? After all, Sauder has been the tribe of the previous messenger of the Beast Deity. If I were to take possession of someone else's territory the moment I came here, I won't be abiding by the rules in the industry."

Cole fell silent, his gaze filled with disappointment. Standing at the entrance, he glanced at Gu Mengmeng who was huddled up in Lea's and Elvis's arms, he felt that he was a passionate boyfriend looking at his heartless wretched ex-girlfriend hugging two males on each side after ditching him...

Damn it, I'm hugging onto my own husband. Hey, what's with that face of yours looking like you're Chun Heung-Lin?

Gu Mengmeng was growling internally but could only smile awkwardly on the surface as she said, "If Cole leader doesn't have anything else to say, please return back. I still have to judge and pick the warriors who wish to join Saint Nazaire later on so I'm afraid I can't entertain you anymore."

"Yes," Cole answered one word slowly before placing his right hand on his left chest. Giving a bow to Gu Mengmeng, he slowly made his leave.

Chapter 389 - : At Least, Don't Let It Be Cole

After ensuring that Cole had walked far away, Gu Mengmeng pushed Lea and said, "What's up with you? Didn't you head out to drive him away? How did you end up being taken in his hands?"

Lea evolved into human form but kept his large tail and fluffy fox ears. He pulled the beast-skin over from the bed to cover himself up slightly because he remembered that Gu Mengmeng did not like seeing males naked.

After he finished handling everything, Lea then glanced at Elvis with a straight face and said, "Cole's at least a fourth-level beast. You've to be careful."

Elvis nodded his head and said, "I've sensed it too. Although he hid it very well and did not expose his own strength, I saw how he made orcs, who're second level and below, faint from the pressure he emitted that day. Even you, who's at the peak of third-level, felt strength-less with your legs wobbling and sight dizzy while he was calm and unfazed like he wasn't affected at all. Unless he's a fourth-level or even higher orc, he wouldn't be able to handle the beast pressure from a fourth-level orc."

Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes. She finally understood that the reason Elvis and Lea acted that morning when Cole came to find her after the public reported her of barbecuing in public, was not to only act like posers.

"Snow foxes have a crafty nature and furthermore, Sauder's the tribe of the previous messenger of the Beast Deity so there must be many secrets that only the tribe leader knows. Even if many of them were lost in the mighty torrents of time, as long as there's a little bit of light left, it will be enough to keep us busy. So, when tackling him, you have to be especially careful."

Gu Mengmeng patted Lea and said, “You sound as if you’re not from the snow fox tribe. What crafty nature were you talking about...in my opinion, Cole’s not a bad person. He’s not only refined and courteous, he’s also a modest gentleman. Did you see how both of you bullied him? If he’s really crafty, he would have pulled you outside and bury you then. Why will he still send you back? And he even carried you back in his arms.”

Lea sniggered. He did not reply Gu Mengmeng and just stared at Elvis, saying, “Mengmeng’s reaction now is the best evidence.”

Gu Mengmeng asked, “What evidence?”

Lea looked to his side and hooked Gu Mengmeng’s chin using his index finger with a strict expression never seen before. He slowly inched his face closer to her and said every word with seriousness written in his long pupils, “Mengmeng, in this Beast World, you’re free to pick any males from all tribes, both on land and in the skies. However, for foxes...you just need me.”

“Tsk...” Gu Mengmeng turned her head away in an attempt to retract her chin but the rarely stubborn Lea did not want to let go. His brows were furrowed tightly as he locked Gu Mengmeng’s chin in front of him and stared intently into her eyes. After staying silent for a long time, which looked as if he was struggling and hesitating, he eventually admitted defeat and said, “If you really like foxes that much, you can consider the fire fox tribe or the silver fox tribe. The males from those two tribes are extremely handsome and intelligent. If you really want a snow fox regardless what... at least, don’t let it be Cole.”

Gu Mengmeng could not defeat Lea no matter how much she struggled so she could only stare at him with a face that appeared as if life meant nothing to her anymore. She asked, “You and Elvis are indeed good brothers who’ve lived together for many years. Did any damn eye of yours see ‘a woman of loose morals who can easily be seduced’ written over my face? Why are you linking everything to mating and the chambers of the imperial concubines? I had repeated myself eight hundred times before, the only male I want is Elvis, I won’t mate again.”

Lea frowned deeply and lowered his head out of instincts to stare at his left chest.

Pain was infesting.

But now, he was smiling.

Was this considered as perishing together with Cole? It's great too, as long as he could stop Cole from getting closer to Gu Mengmeng, he was willing for Gu Mengmeng to only accept one partner her entire lifetime.

Chapter 390 - White Tiger Tribe's Auretin

During sunset, Sauder was bustling extraordinarily.

After Gu Mengmeng ensured over and over again that Cole would not have any chance to step closer to her, Elvis and Lea finally allowed her to leave their house to settle some serious matters.

There was an empty place near the Deity's Platform in Sauder. Gu Mengmeng had asked Cole to especially send people over to tidy that place because she wanted to organize a mass recruitment session.

Actually, Gu Mengmeng felt a little apologetic. She asked others to not treat her as the messenger of the Beast Deity but on the other hand, enjoyed the preferential treatment and 'service' they offered her. But there was no other choice, she could not possibly refuse to use the place after they cleared it up just to draw a clear line between both parties. That would portray her as not knowing chalk from cheese.

So, Gu Mengmeng still decided to enjoy this five-star service. At most, she could leave some room charges for them when she left.

Thinking about this, Gu Mengmeng felt more at ease.

The males had already placed their preys in the designated space in front of themselves. Most of them had around two to three ferocious beasts as their prey while a few of them had only one prey but that was considered rare already. However, one of them was particularly special. The prey in front of him were stacked into a small mountain.

Gu Mengmeng turned her head and asked Elvis, "Who's that? Do you know him? Why does he have so much prey?"

Elvis lowered his voice and replied, “Auretin, from the white tiger tribe. He doesn’t belong to any tribe and will attend the beauty pageant every year. Many females had expressed their intention to mate with him but strangely, he was never attracted to any female before and did not show any interest in any tribe too. Nina even tried to drug him in the past but failed.”

Gu Mengmeng’s gossipy soul was ignited into raging flames and she asked with stars spewing out from her two eyes, “Drug? You guys have this kind of drugs here?”

Elvis lifted his gaze up slightly and landed it on Lea’s face.

Gu Mengmeng followed Elvis’s gaze and saw how Lea turn his head away awkwardly, saying with an uneasy tone, “He’s indeed a capable male. For our tribe to flourish, I naturally hope he can join us so...so...”

“So, you partnered up with Nina to put on a mating scheme to extort and blackmail him?” Detest was written all over Gu Mengmeng’s face.

Lea did not know what was a mating scheme, but he knew that it was not something good. Thus, he frowned and said with a solemn expression, “I just gave Nina a piece of beast skin with some Fox Seductive Fragrance sprayed over it and asked her to wipe that beast skin on him or herself when she’s near him to seduce him.”

“Then then?” Gu Mengmeng continued to press for an answer.

Lea sighed and said, “Isn’t the ending obvious enough? If Nina succeeded, why will Auretin be standing here?”

Gu Mengmeng pressed her lips together and said, “You’re right, but fortunately, Nina, that wild chicken, did not succeed in trapping such a good cabbage.”

Elvis asked coldly, “You’re interested in him?”

“Yeah.” Gu Mengmeng answered without thinking, “Lea mentioned that he’s a strong male and will be an extremely effective combat strength after he joins our tribe.”

Elvis sniggered while shooting his gaze towards Auretin like swords. Grinning an evil smirk, he warmed up his shoulder and said, “Seems like I’ve to accept my first challenge after mating.”

“What?” Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded at Elvis’s murderous aura.

The shade of Elvis’s blue eyes was a lot darker than normal. He hooked Gu Mengmeng’s chin and kissed her lips, squinting his eyes to ask, “If...I accidentally kill him, will your heart ache?”

“Hey hey hey, he’s willing to join our tribe with so much enthusiasm, why must you kill him?” Gu Mengmeng hooked arms with Elvis and pleaded with him with a terrified face, “Look how wonderful this world is. How can you be this hot-tempered, this is not good, not good.”

Elvis squinted his eyes, his whole being emitting a dangerous aura. Rubbing the loose ends of Gu Mengmeng’s hair gently with his finger, he spoke up as if he was deep in thought, “You’re pleading for him? Your heart’s aching...”

Gu Mengmeng said, “Hubby, it’s rare to meet such a rare talent!”

Elvis said, “Then, where do you want his mark to be at?”

Gu Mengmeng was shocked for a moment before she slapped Elvis’s shoulder and growled, “What the hell are you thinking of this time round? I’m talking about strengthening our tribe, not the chambers of imperial concubines.”

Elvis grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng’s wrist and pulled her in lightly. The next second, she fell entirely into his arms and Elvis only started speaking after teasing her as if she was a cat, “What if mating with you is his condition to join the tribe?”

Gu Mengmeng could not help but think, “Can someone lend me their phone? I need to upload a post on Baidu titled ‘What should I do if my hubby loves me too much? He thinks that all the males in the tribe has an affair with me...it's quite an urgent matter so I'm online waiting for an answer."

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng was not talking, the anger in Elvis's heart raged even more. He looked at Auretin with the corners of his eyes and gave a cold laugh. "I think it's still better to whack him to death."

Lea agreed, "Sigh, his combat strength at the peak of third-level is so similar to you in the past. What a pity...ha, just kill him."

Gu Mengmeng strongly felt a few chilly sensations down her back. In those few years she was absent, their teamwork even included this kind of psychotic team coordination to put, what seemed like their love rival, to death?

Sighing, Gu Mengmeng patted both their shoulders and said, "I heard that the hearing abilities of males in the Beast World are extremely good."

Elvis nodded his head and did not say anything else but his face was still dark and sullen.

Gu Mengmeng added, "Do you think that he can't hear you two discussing how to kill him when you two are standing so near him?"

Elvis and Lea glanced at each other and sniggered. "If he's not deaf, he should have heard it."

Gu Mengmeng asked again, "If you know that he can hear you, why are you two still discussing?"

Elvis used his finger to hold Gu Mengmeng's little face up and said with a half-smile, "Because he's a male you took a fancy on, so we're giving him our last benevolence. If he still has the slightest self-knowledge, he should have ran away by now."

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's lips twitched. She could never understand...the males' world.

“Hubby, how about this? If his condition to join the tribe is mating with me, we’ll not pick him. My tribe lacks warriors but my family doesn’t lack males. But if he doesn’t even have the intention at all and it’s just both of you creating a scene without any rhyme or reason, all of us should take deep breaths and forget everything that happened earlier, alright?”

Elvis snorted before shifting his gaze towards Auretin. The sides of his mouth curled upwards and he said, “Lea, see how’s he looking at Xiao Meng, isn’t it familiar?”

Lea nodded and replied, “It’s exactly the same as how you looked at Mengmeng back then.”

Elvis said, “And it’s also no different from how you’re looking at Xiao Meng now.”

Seeing how both of them were conversing hand in hand with each other, Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes and stretched her neck out to look at Auretin’s eyes closely. However, despite inheriting Elvis’s sight and being able to see at night, the distance between both of them was too great, she could not do anything. But although she could not see his gaze, she could see how Auretin stood still without any movements, allowing them to size him up. Why did he...not appear the least guilty at all?

Chapter 392 - A Bird From Ancient Times

The sun had already set below the horizon and the arranged time had come. The males who did not arrive in time would thus, not count.

Gu Mengmeng sat on Elvis's shoulder and allowed him to carry her out like a queen making her rounds to overlook the males who had just returned from their hunt. It was undeniable that Auretin's prey were the most and even a naked eye could spot the difference. There was no need to measure anything.

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis's shoulder, signaling him to put her down.

As she touched the ground, Gu Mengmeng walked directly to Auretin and asked, "You returned much earlier than many males. How did you manage to get so much prey?"

Auretin lifted the sides of his mouth at Gu Mengmeng. This smile could forcefully be categorized into one used by a high school hooligan when extorting money from a junior. Although it was a little infuriating, since the corners of his lips were curling upwards, it should be considered as a smile.

Seeing how Gu Mengmeng's expression was a little weird, Auretin kept that smile that even he found awkward. After resuming his expressionless face as cold as an icicle, he answered, "I secured Sauder's entrance so everyone who came back had to split half of their prey with me or else I'll kill them and snatch all their prey away."

Gu Mengmeng was so shocked until she stared at him with her mouth agape. No wonder he accomplished that extortion look with so much perfection just now, tsk tsk tsk, Gu Mengmeng felt that she was a reincarnated Monkey King because of her sharp eyes.

Looking back at Elvis, she realized that both Elvis and Lea had a tinge of synchronized laughing intention in their eyes.

She tugged onto Elvis's arm and asked, "Did you...do this kind of thing before?"

Elvis nodded his head to admit with pleasure and even....a little bit of damn pride.

Lea swayed his large tail lightly to wrap it around Gu Mengmeng's waist. He knew what Gu Mengmeng was thinking about so he took the initiative to answer her doubts, "Being able to snatch the prey from other males' hands proves that his abilities are better than those males. Looking at this amount...he must've felt that he would definitely win before he stopped and before he stopped, he didn't lose a single battle or else all these prey would've been stolen by others long ago. Ha, judging by his skills, even if he was to go on a hunt, he will also definitely win but he chose to use this kind of method...seems like showcasing his abilities to you is his real motive."

"Oh..." Gu Mengmeng hummed, not fully understanding what he had just said. She was still thinking to herself, what a bird from ancient times, how different was his train of thoughts? What exactly made them think that the more cruel they are and the more fights they win, girls would like them more?

Gu Mengmeng smacked her lips and thought, "As compared to those hooligans in school, those Prince Charming seniors from the swimming club were much more popular. Everyday, they just soaked themselves in the water with just a swimming trunk and the moment they came out from the water, crystal-clear water droplets splashed in all directions...hiss, that's truly what you call salivating."

"Xiao Meng," Elvis called Gu Mengmeng back into reality with a darkened face. Gu Mengmeng wiped the saliva off her mouth and realized that she was salivating at Auretin when she was actually thinking of other people.

F it, this time, she could not explain herself anymore. Elvis would be more certain that she had taken a fancy on this white tiger.

Gu Mengmeng sighed, at least she knew that she was innocent. Thus, she opened her mouth to ask again, “Since you’re the one with the most prey today, I’ll send you an invitation on behalf of Saint Nazaire to welcome you in joining Saint Nazaire.”

Auretin remained silent for a while, his face still as cold as ice. He said without any expression, “I want to be your guardian beast. Unless you agree, I’ll not be willing to join Saint Nazaire.”

Chapter 393 - Guardian Beast?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng's body softened and she almost fell.

Damn it, wasn't it just Elvis being a petty person with too much jealousy in him? It's also because of the strangely accurate sixth sense males derived from all the competitive stress?

However...

"What's guardian beasts?" Gu Mengmeng turned to look at Lea.

Lea swayed his large tail and said, "There, those who have handsome appearances and know how to get your favor but don't have enough qualifications to mate with you, like me, are called beast pets. We're your toys being at your beck and call..."

Gu Mengmeng immediately gestured and shouted, "Go, go go!"

Lea, however, smiled as he grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng's little hand and moved it from her left side to her right. Then, he leaned his body forward, closer to Gu Mengmeng as he said with a smiley face, "Look, at your call, right?"

Gu Mengmeng gave a fake laugh and gave up on treatment as she waited for Lea to continue.

Lea said, "Guardian beasts are a type of family member but they have a lower status than beast pets. They're the first defense line protecting females and whenever the female's in danger, they will always be the first ones in front of her so as to buy some time for the female and her other family members. But, because they can't curry the favor of the female, they don't even have the chance to enter the cave and mating...is more impossible. To put it plainly, they're just entrance guards."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Auretin awkwardly before whispering to Lea, “Can you please put it more tactfully? How hurting it is to one’s pride.”

“Pride?” Lea repeated the last word from Gu Mengmeng’s sentence. Then, he pushed his charming but flirtatious face closer to Gu Mengmeng while smiling sheepishly. His fluffy large tail swept itself across her calf as he spoke with an ambiguous and romantic tone, “Why will males still need their pride in front of females? Look how Elvis and I degrade ourselves to act out the role of a half-orc just to gain your fancy.”

Gu Mengmeng finally reacted to what he had just said, she seemed to recall how after she ruffled Elvis’s tail once when she was pregnant, he never ever kept his tail up again. Just with a random scoop of her arms, she was able to hug it and when she was sitting, it acted as a back cushion; when she was lying down, it acted as a warm fur blanket; when she was standing, it acted as a toy for her to play in her hands; when they were having OOX, it acted as a sex toy.

She was already used to Elvis’s tail being by her side but she forgot how only half-orcs would show their beast features.

Elvis...had always been ridiculed by others behind his back for being a half-orc?

And she actually did not notice it at all.

Gu Mengmeng hugged Elvis in guilt and said, “Keep your tail, you’re clearly not a half-orc...”

However, Elvis smiled and said, “It’s enough for you to know that I’m not a half-orc.”

Gu Mengmeng said, “But they will make a joke out of you...”

Elvis said, “I don’t care what others think.”

Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Elvis’s waist and said while pouting, “Hubby, you’ll spoil me like this.”

Elvis said, “Other females have a few and even ten over males to spoil her but you only have me. If we can’t beat them in number, we can only win them in terms of quality. You mentioned before, only qualitative changes can result in quantitative changes so whatever other females have...I can’t give you any less.”

Gu Mengmeng was so touched till hearts formed in her eyes. She whined with a sobbing tone, “Hubby~ you’re so good~”

Elvis ruffled Gu Mengmeng’s little head but peered over at Auretin. With a cold tone, he said, “I’ll protect my own female. There’s no spot for you by her side.”

Auretin remained silent for a while before replying, "There cannot only be two males by the messenger of the Beast Deity's side."

Elvis squinted his eyes, his murderous aura starting to spread.

Nobody knew whether Auretin was unable to feel Elvis's murderous intention, too confident in himself or just a mere wooden block with face paralysis. Anyway, when facing the dangerous aura from Elvis, his reaction was...not reacting.

The two of them just stared directly into each other's eyes like that, causing Gu Mengmeng to feel an immense level of stress from standing between them.

Gu Mengmeng did not know when they plan to end this staring contest so she prepared to secretly back away to look at the prey of others. However, just then, Auretin started speaking, "I don't have any intention to mate with the messenger of the Beast Deity so you don't have to take so much precaution against me."

Elvis scorned while giving a cold laugh, "You think that my Mengmeng will take a fancy on you? Ha."

Auretin was still expressionless as he glanced at Elvis then at Gu Mengmeng before nodding his head in silence.

"Huh?!" Gu Mengmeng immediately shook her hands profusely as she explained, "I I I...I don't have that intention, you've misunderstood."

Auretin was still expressionless. Although his eyes were looking towards Gu Mengmeng, he looked like he was out of focus as he said, “You tried to persuade your male to not kill me just now.”

Gu Mengmeng, “...”

Auretin added, “You even complimented me for being a good cabbage and still rejoiced over the fact that I hadn’t mate with other females.”

Gu Mengmeng, “...”

Auretin continued further, “You still told me in a deliberate, loud voice that if I want to join your family, I shouldn’t have any interest in you.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands and retorted, “Huh, this one is a no, I didn’t say this before.”

Auretin stayed quiet for a while before he pinched his throat and looked towards Elvis, as if he was imitating someone. “Hubby, how about this? If his condition to join the tribe is mating with me, we’ll not pick him. My tribe lacks warriors but my family doesn’t lack males. But if he doesn’t even have the intention at all and it’s just both of you creating a scene without any rhyme or reason, all of us should take deep breaths and forget everything that happened earlier, alright?

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and felt that even a hundred mouths could not explain herself.

After Auretin finished speaking, he resumed his normal tone and manner of speaking, “Didn’t you said that earlier just to tell me that if I want to join your family, I can’t be interested in you? You told me the method to join your family, doesn’t this imply that you had taken a fancy on me?”

Gu Mengmeng was speechless, “...” She truly admired the damn train of thoughts of males in the Beast World.

Auretin added, “Furthermore, you even upheld my pride in front of your beast pet.”

Gu Mengmeng turned her head to look at Lea blankly. Lea shrugged his shoulders and nodded his head helplessly, implying that Gu Mengmeng indeed did that just now.

Then, Auretin continued, “Moreover, you looked at me for such a long time just now and even salivated...”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng lifted her head to ask the heavens, “Can I choose to vomit blood and die now?”

Gu Mengmeng gestured a stop hand gesture and said, “I can explain the salivating issue. That was not because of you, I was just lost in thoughts because I recalled a prince charming’s swimwear.JPG in the past. This has nothing got to do with you, you’ve misunderstood.”

As Gu Mengmeng finished speaking, she felt a chill down her spine. Turning her neck back stiffly, she witnessed Elvis and Lea’s dark and unpredictable smiles, “Prince charming...swimwear...dot J P G?”

Chapter 395 - Are You So Scared That I'll Kill Him?

Gu Mengmeng chuckled sheepishly as she licked her lips and said, “Many are watching, leave me with some reputation.”

Elvis nodded and said, “Alright, let’s talk when we get back later.”

“Yippee~” Gu Mengmeng pounced into Elvis’s arms and smacked her lips on his face. “So caring, you’re indeed my hubby.”

Elvis chuckled as he patted Gu Mengmeng’s little head gently, the corners of his lips curving upwards. However, his voice was very calm and did not have any fluctuations at all, “There’s no use in playing up to me. You still have to explain clearly regarding the prince charming’s swimwear matter.”

Gu Mengmeng sighed, she really wanted to slap herself twice. What a clever way to die, why did she mention the prince charming’s swimwear?!

Lea was also fake-smiling as he whispered into Gu Mengmeng’s ear, “Yeah, I really want to know...how exactly does the prince charming look?”

Gu Mengmeng laughed out of guilt and said, “Let’s just settle the serious matters first, alright? Everyone’s waiting.”

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes and landed their sight on Auretin. “If your condition is to become Xiao Meng’s guardian beast, we’ll only treat it as you giving up this slot. What a pity, you’re not fated to belong to Saint Nazaire.”

Auretin still did not have any expression on his face, nobody knew whether he was disappointed or angry. He just stared at Elvis quietly and after a long time, he then spoke, “You’re the tribe leader but she’s the messenger of the Beast Deity. You can’t make any decision on her behalf.”

Elvis raised his brow and sniggered, saying, “If you want to enter Xiao Meng’s family, even if you want to only be a guardian beast, you’ve yet to pass my test. How long do you think...you can support yourself in front of me?”

Auretin contemplated over that question seriously for quite some time before he shook his head and replied, “I don’t know, we can try.”

Elvis handed Gu Mengmeng to Lea before warming his neck up. After what’s considered to be a warm-up, he walked towards Auretin slowly, step by step. Was this...implying that they were going to battle?

“Hey hey hey...” Gu Mengmeng called out, successfully getting their attention. Being stared at by two pairs of bloodshot eyes, Gu Mengmeng still felt some form of pressure. She stretched her hand out at Elvis cowardly and said, “Hubby, hug.”

Elvis was stunned for a moment before he laughed out loud helplessly. He walked back and brought Gu Mengmeng out from Lea’s arms, hugging her tightly. Then, he touched Gu Mengmeng’s little nose lightly and asked, “Are you so scared that I’ll kill him?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “We agreed before that you can only fight with the males I acknowledge. He...is not someone I acknowledge so you don’t have to waste your physical strength on him.”

Elvis was taken aback for a second before he smiled more radiantly. He whispered into Gu Mengmeng’s ear, “Is there anything happening tonight....that requires me to save up my physical strength?”

Gu Mengmeng blushed hard as she stuttered, “I I I...”

Elvis nodded his head and said, “I understand, naturally it’s you.”

Gu Mengmeng truly felt that life had lost all hope. Heavenly god, mother earth, she really didn't mean it that way...

Elvis kept Gu Mengmeng in his embrace as he turned his head to look at Auretin. "You've heard it yourself, Xiao Meng said that you're not someone she acknowledged so don't mention anything regarding guardian beasts. If you're not willing to join Saint Nazaire, we won't force it either."

Auretin tilted his head and looked at the conflicted Gu Mengmeng, asking, "Can I ask you a question?"

Gu Mengmeng lifted her head up blankly. "Huh?"

Auretin pointed at Elvis and asked, "Why are you not willing to accept me?"

Gu Mengmeng looked at Auretin as if she was looking at an idiot and said, "Because I have a husband already."

Auretin probed further, "But, even normal females have more than one partner. And moreover, you're the messenger of the Beast Deity."

Gu Mengmeng smiled helplessly and replied him, "Since you know that I'm the messenger of the Beast Deity, I'm naturally different from other females. I just need one partner."

Auretin remained silent for a while before asking again, "Why is it him? Won't you feel scared or...disgusted?"

Gu Mengmeng frowned and asked Auretin while staring at him, "What do you mean?"

Auretin peered at Elvis before looking back at Gu Mengmeng, answering her, "Don't you know about his...family background?"

The expression on Gu Mengmeng's face was not very pleasant and she said with a clear repulsive tone, "I know, but what has my husband's family background got to do with you? What position are you in to make thoughtless comments of him in front of me?"

Auretin was taken aback and had the first expression Gu Mengmeng did not see before. He just merely widened his eyes a little, but it was enough to express his astonishment.

“You know his family background but you’re still willing to accept him and you’re neither scared of him nor dislike him?”

Gu Mengmeng rolled up her sleeves and prepared herself to whack him. However, looking at all the prey stacked in front of him, Gu Mengmeng felt that she still ought to have some manners of a gentleman and that she should try to not take action if she could just reason. Thus, she lifted her chin up with her arms akimbo and said, “Everyone can’t choose their family background, I’m sure that your mother didn’t discuss it with you either before you were born, right? No matter how freaking awesome your parents are, that’s because your parents have the ability and this has nothing got to do with you. On the other hand, no matter how extremely wicked your parents are, that’s because they lack morals. When they are forced to be executed, I’m sure they won’t pull you along just because you’re their son.”

Auretin’s gaze was fixated on Gu Mengmeng’s face the whole time. Listening to how she was filled with righteous indignation, his eyes started to have some focus even though he was clearly the one getting scolded. In his pupils, one could slowly see the reflection of her petite but powerful figure.

“Regarding whether you’ve the right to find fault with my husband, the prerequisite is having something that’s better than him and not because your parents are much more impressive or awesome than his, do you understand?” Gu Mengmeng spewed out all those words in one breath and after taking two deep breaths, she then continued, “Originally, you’re a capable and talented male and I wanted to sincerely invite you to join Saint Nazaire to become a member of our tribe. But seems like....”

Auretin lifted his head up before he said with his eyes brimming with radiating vigor, “I’m willing to join Saint Nazaire without any additional terms.”

Gu Mengmeng was taken aback as she blinked her eyes, asking, “Are...you sure?”

Auretin nodded his head and replied, “I’m sure.”

Gu Mengmeng gave an awkward smile as she turned back to Elvis and said, “That...why don’t we take two deep breaths and forget everything that happened earlier.”

Elvis patted Gu Mengmeng’s head and said, “I’ll listen to you.”

Gu Mengmeng grinned from ear to ear as she extended her hand towards Auretin and said, “I welcome you to join Saint Nazaire.”

Auretin was shocked for a moment before he knelt down on the floor on one knee and placed his head below Gu Mengmeng’s hand, giving off a....image of ‘May the lord bless me’.

Gu Mengmeng was so speechless until she choked and sighed. Why are the differences in our cultures as wide as the milky way? I just wanted to shake my hand with you to display my friendliness, big brother. What joke are you making by kneeling by my feet with that righteous expression? How am I supposed to react to your joke...

Chapter 397 - I'm At Fault, Alright

Elvis appeared much more calm than Gu Mengmeng. He directly carried Gu Mengmeng up and turned away, without looking back for even a second.

Gu Mengmeng said, “Huh? We’ve to choose ten warriors today. We had just chosen one, there’s nine more left.”

Elvis smiled and replied, “Lea had made a judgment according to the number of prey and how precious they are when you and Auretin were making eyes at each other. The other nine had been chosen, you don’t have to worry.”

Gu Mengmeng retorted, “Huh? I’m the HR. You’re acting beyond your authority, you’re interfering with the sales of other departments, you’re...”

Elvis paused his steps and asked Gu Mengmeng while looking at her, “Do you want to choose warriors for the tribe or males for yourself?”

Gu Mengmeng spoke with a force of justice, “Of course I’m choosing warriors for the tribe. Although I can also look at those pretty-looking males at the same time, that definitely won’t affect my professional judgment. Being scrupulous in separating public from private interests is my basic principle, alright?”

Elvis raised his brow and repeated, “Look at those pretty-looking males... huh?”

Gu Mengmeng covered her mouth instantly, just a moment of folly and she blurted out all the words in her heart accidentally. Her big eyes darted fast before she shook her head guiltily in an attempt to take back all the words she just said.

Lea swayed his large tail and extended a hand to hook Gu Mengmeng's chin. With his other hand, he placed it on Elvis's shoulder and leaned his body forward in an ambiguous and seductive posture. His moist lips appeared particularly attractive under the moonlight while the smile in his long eyes encompassed a dangerous smell. "When was the last time you looked at me so closely? Huh? Don't tell me that you're...sick of my body and looks?"

Gu Mengmeng felt goosebumps forming over her entire body. She had a premonition, if Elvis's jealous, all he could do was not to let her get out of bed herself. But if Lea's jealous...hmm, all she could imagine was a pitch black scene, she could not think of anything. All she could feel was that it would be really scary, really scary...

"I'm...I'm just looking. Although I'm already a married woman, I can still look right...just looking. I don't think it's considered acting loose, right? Both of you will also look at other beauties...beautiful females, right?"

Elvis said, "Besides you, I won't look at other females."

Lea said, "Even though my gaze is fixated on you, I still can't be at ease because I'm scared that others will beat me to it and snatch away that tiny spot I have in your heart. It's fine if you don't sympathize with me, but how can you accuse me after being the one at fault?"

Gu Mengmeng lowered her head and said, "I'm at fault, alright? I won't look at pretty-looking males in the future, alright..."

Upon seeing her wronged expression, Elvis felt conflicted. He sighed and said, "If you feel that I can't satisfy you and you need more males...you can consider Lea first."

Gu Mengmeng felt like crying but no tears fell. "I really know my mistake. I'll be more scrupulous in separating public from private interests in the future. When I'm working, I'm only allowed to work and when I'm looking at pretty-looking males...I'll only look at you, is this alright? Don't keep mentioning the word mating, I really don't have the idea. I just want to take a look...."

Elvis did not say anything else as he just headed to the stone house while carrying Gu Mengmeng.

Lea swayed his tail and followed them from behind.

And at a position where both Gu Mengmeng and Elvis could not see, bitterness was seen in Lea's smile.

If, he could also carry Mengmeng like that and ask her if she had taken a fancy on other males as a matter of course? And ask her if it was because he couldn't satisfy her?

How nice would that be?

Sighing, Lea resumed his usual charming manner and tidied up all his emotions, pretending that he was...never sad before.

Chapter 398 - Cheating Before Marriage

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After they returned back to the stone house, Elvis placed Gu Mengmeng by the bed while both him and Lea stood beside each other in front of her. He glanced at Gu Mengmeng coldly and said, "Alright, now there's no one else here, you can talk about that Prince Charming's swimwear J P G you mentioned earlier."

Gu Mengmeng truly felt that she was stuck in an embarrassing atmosphere this entire day. She was on the brink of getting the 'embarrassed' bug.

Her mouth twitched and she gave a fake smile. "You didn't forget..."

Elvis nodded but did not say a word. Lea moved his body to the side to appear casual and indifferent. Playing with his own fingers, he said with a disappointed tone, "I remember how you used to call me Beauty in the past...but this is the first time I heard of the title Prince Charming. Seems like he's a lot prettier than me, right?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "No, no, the males in my world can't compare with you guys here. They're not on the same level as all of you."

Lea looked up and smirked enchantingly, saying, "But...you call him Prince Charming."

From the start, Elvis kept frowning. After remaining silent for a long time, he finally opened his mouth to speak, "So, the reason why you wore those strange clothes the first time I saw you was because you were going to see him?"

“What? How did you know?” Gu Mengmeng blurted out and after a second, she instantly realized that she had said the wrong words again. She hurriedly covered her mouth, but it was too late.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and whined, why was her IQ not operating today?

Looking up at Elvis, she asked pitifully, “If I’m honest with you, can you be more lenient with me?”

Elvis stayed silent before saying, “So you originally wore those clothes to see him...”

Gu Mengmeng felt as if she had been caught red-handed in bed after being unfaithful to her husband but who the hell heard of cheating before marriage?

Elvis’s pupils were filled with strong disappointment and sorrow. He stared at Gu Mengmeng like that with his pupils looking like a black hole which could suck the entire Gu Mengmeng inside. “Back then, you clearly said that you took the risk of drowning for me...then, you kissed me. But....that was originally a lie?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head. Elvis’s gaze really made her heart ache. She stood up from the bed and pounced towards Elvis at the bolt of lightning. The distance between them was a little further, if Elvis did not step forward to catch her, she would most probably fall to the ground.

However, no matter how sad Elvis was, he would never bear to see her injured. So, Elvis had already hugged her in his arms firmly without Gu Mengmeng’s body tilting more than 30 degrees.

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis’s neck and whispered in a light and gentle tone, “Hubby, don’t let your imagination run wild. I’ll tell you the truth, everything, alright?”

Elvis hesitated, but eventually nodded.

Gu Mengmeng sat up straight and cupped Elvis's face, looking into his eyes. "That day, I indeed wore the bikini to see that swimwear Prince Charming, but I didn't even get to see him when I transmigrated to this place and met you. I worship him a lot but...he doesn't even know who I am. We don't have anything going on between us, really, don't be sad, alright?"

Elvis's brows were still deeply furrowed. His blue eyes sparkled an uneasy brightness as he asked, "What if you met him that day? Will you....not come here then? I almost couldn't meet you, right?"

Elvis's voice was shaking and this made Gu Mengmeng's heart ached really badly. She patted his back gently and said in a serious tone, "Two people who're fated to fall in love will always meet each other no matter what. Just like you and me."

Chapter 399 - It Was Hard On You Being By The Beast Deity's Side

Gu Mengmeng huddled up in Elvis's arms and swung her little feet freely. After thinking for a while, she smiled and said, "Actually, I can't even recall how that Prince Charming senior looks like now. I only remembered he never admits defeat and his focused look when advancing towards his aim with all his might be very attractive. When he stood on the podium to receive his prize, the confidence he exudes made one giddy....maybe I don't like him. I just don't want to be alone anymore so that's why I wanted to find my inner sustenance."

Elvis frowned and asked, "Alone? Don't you have...Yoo Sijin by your side?"

Gu Mengmeng burst out into laughter as she said, "Do you really still think that Yoo Sijin is a real person? That's just a story, I explained it so many times before that there's no such person in real life."

Elvis remained silent and did not answer her.

Lea, however, swayed his tail and asked in a nonchalant manner, "When you were describing him from his eyebrow to his behavior, everything was too detailed...we find it very hard to believe that all you had said was fabricated."

Gu Mengmeng was helpless and could only give them a lesson on what's called 'television'.

Then, Elvis asked, "You like television?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, "Without mobile phones, television is the best pastime, so actually, I still quite like it."

Elvis nodded and asked again, “What does that kind of ‘sion’ look like? Where can I catch it?”

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded for a moment before she broke out into laughter, “Hubby, that’s a cultural product in our world. You can’t find it here.”

Elvis’s expression become disappointed as he lowered his voice and asked, “Is...it a divine artifact from the Beast Deity World....”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng nodded her head while suppressing her laughter. “I guess it’s considered one, but that thing hurts your eyes so life is better without it.”

Elvis nodded and asked, “So, the reason why you can’t see anything in the dark when you first came was because of that ‘sion’, right?”

“Erm...” Gu Mengmeng wanted to say that even without mobile phones and televisions, she originally would not be able to see anything at night. But after contemplating over it for a while, she decided to give up and thus, nodded her head in agreement.

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng in his arms and lightly patted her back to comfort her, “It was hard on you being...by the Beast Deity’s side. I’m sorry, I didn’t appear by your side to take care of you properly back then that’s why you went through so much hardships and even hurt your eyes.....”

“Actually...” Gu Mengmeng was thinking that under this kind of sorrowful atmosphere, was it a little spoilsport if she said that she enjoyed watching television and playing with her mobile phone?

Breathing in deeply, Gu Mengmeng hugged Elvis back and said, “It’s not too late for you to meet me now. I’m willing to sacrifice my right to watch television and play mobile phones for an entire lifetime to exchange the times you’re with me.”

While Elvis was stuck in self-blame of not participating in Gu Mengmeng's past, Lea was wide-awake and comprehended another issue. "So, before you came here, you were always alone? Were your Father Beast and Mother Beast not by your side?"

Gu Mengmeng's smile froze and she clamped her lips together. Shaking her head, she said, "When I was still a small kid, my Father abandoned my Mother and mated with another younger female. From that day onwards, I've not heard from him and he seemed like he disappeared from this world. My Mother mated with another male and when they gave birth to a son, the burdensome me was finally abandoned."

Chapter 400 - I Think It's Still Quite Worth It

Elvis and Lea were so shocked they could not say a word. Regardless of whether it's Gu Mengmeng's Father abandoning his wife and daughter to marry another female or whether it's her Mother abandoning her after remarrying, both were things they had neither heard of nor imagined.

Holding his hand tightly into a fist, Elvis felt that it was hard to breathe from the lack of air. He clenched his teeth together and asked in disbelief, "You're a precious female...how can they..."

The word 'abandon' was too heavy, no matter what, Elvis could never use this type of word on Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng gave a bitter smile and said, "In our world, females are not as precious as how they are here. On the contrary, in many less-developed places, people will throw their newly born daughters into the rubbish bin or abort their female fetus at those unlicensed clinics after confirming the gender of their babies through the B scanner..."

Gu Mengmeng could feel Elvis's body shaking. That was a type of struggle between anger and heartache. She knew that her man was being sad over her past.

Lifting her head up, Gu Mengmeng smiled and continued, "I'm still considered good, at least my Mother raised me until I was 14. I was able to earn some living expenses by performing at the theater in the theme park. During winter and summer breaks, I earned my own school fees by working an hourly part-time job at Mcdonalds. After I turned 18, life was easier to live because I had a full-term scholarship. Lodging at school and food at the canteen was also a lot cheaper than outside so...university life is the most relaxing and satisfactory period in my entire life. I originally wanted to learn from others and date someone in the most wonderful time of my life but sadly, I didn't get to even confess when I transmigrated here."

Elvis and Lea could not understand many words from what Gu Mengmeng had said, but they were both very clear that Gu Mengmeng was hiding a type of loneliness in her eyes.

This type of loneliness was what Elvis and Lea saw in each other's eyes when they first met.

However, besides loneliness, hate could be seen in their eyes as well.

While in Gu Mengmeng's eyes, there was hope reflecting together with that light sense of loneliness.

She stared at Elvis with those clear eyes and smiled sweetly. "I'm still a very lucky person to be able to come here and meet you. You gave me a peaceful life and emotional comfort that I never experienced before. You made me believe that...my life is starting to improve."

"Xiao Meng." Elvis did not know what kind of words he should use to comfort Gu Mengmeng. After deliberating for a long while, he could only say those three words, "I love you."

Gu Mengmeng smiled and replied him, "I love you too."

Lea, on the other hand, finally realized why Gu Mengmeng did not want to forgive him or accept him all this while.

From her perspective, he...abandoned her, right?

No matter how many excuses he gave, his behavior was considered being a form of abandonment...right?

Lea lowered his head and pressed his chest tightly while clenching his teeth, not bringing himself to look at Gu Mengmeng properly.

Once, he had the right to protect her, comfort her and care for her.

But now...

What position is he in for...his heart to ache? What position is he in for...him to regret? What position is he in for....him to tell her 'please forgive me'?

Gu Mengmeng breathed in deeply before smiling. "Alright, why do you have to make the atmosphere so stifling? If all the hardship I went through in the first half of my life was to gather all my luck to exchange for an opportunity to meet you, I think it's still quite worth it."

Chapter 401 - Thank You For Beautifying My Life.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Although both my parents are alive, I’ve no one to rely on. But now, I’ve you and our sons, I’ve a complete family. I’ll give all of you the love that I’ve nowhere else to put in the past. Then, I’ll accept the love all of you give me with my mind at rest and conscience clear. That way, I’ll live life in happiness.” Gu Mengmeng hugged Elvis and smiled sweetly before adding, “So, don’t worry that I’ll leave you. You and our sons....are everything of what I’ve left. If I leave you guys, where else can I go?”

Elvis frowned but the corners of his lips were curving upwards. He did not know what kind of emotions he was feeling now, he felt both lucky and heartache.

He knew the feeling of having nothing other than one person because he experienced it before.

He’s Saint Nazaire’s tribe leader but Saint Nazaire is not important to him at all....

The only important thing was Gu Mengmeng.

And just nice, he had the luck to become the only reliance Gu Mengmeng had in her heart.

Her reliance on him made him feel very lucky and happy. But the price to pay for that luck was struggling hard for many years at a place she could not see.

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly in his arms and kissed her hair, saying, “If we have to pay a price to meet each other, I should be the one shouldering everything. You suffered so much because of me being useless.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and comforted him, “Didn’t you lead a wandering life for so many years just to meet me?”

If he withstood all the torture in the past just to meet her...

The corners of Elvis’s mouth curled upwards slightly. All those bloodsheds, all those brutalities, all those torture and all those narrow escapes seemed to quietly change in his memory. They were not tragic, they were not pitiful, there were not miserable nor solemn.

Elvis ruffled Gu Mengmeng’s hair and said, “Thank you for beautifying my life.”

That night, Gu Mengmeng told Elvis many, many interesting memories of her previous jobs. She wanted Elvis to not think of her life as too tragic as much as possible but no matter how casual her tone was, Elvis’s expression was always that sullen.

After that, Gu Mengmeng fell asleep in Elvis’s arms and in her daze, between dreaming and being awake, she heard Elvis whisper to her ear, “You still have not replied to me who exactly is the....swimwear Prince Charming?”

Gu Mengmeng’s little heart skipped a beat, so she decided to immediately go into fainting mode and sink herself into a deep sleep. Her ex-boyfriend walks around in front of her everyday, a fabricated Yoo Sijin keeps popping out from time to time just to raise his presence and if they were to add a swimwear Prince Charming in, ha...her life is really so plentiful.

The next morning, when Gu Mengmeng stretched and sat up straight, she noticed that the atmosphere in the house was not right. After rubbing her eyes, she realized that Cole was standing in the room, wearing some weird clothing. The material was beast skin but the design....slightly resembled what the ancient sacrifices to gods would wear, yeah...those kinds of lower-end fakes.

With a darkened face, Elvis stood in front of Cole to block him. Cole was quite similar to Lea on many aspects. He always had a modest smile that kept you at a distance. He smiled just like that at Elvis and even though both of them were clearly not talking, Gu Mengmeng could see flashes of lightning taking turns to appear around them.

Lea was in his beast form and huddled up beside Gu Mengmeng to act as a warm pillow. When Gu Mengmeng woke up, he would also sit up straight and use his large tail to wrap around Gu Mengmeng's waist gently. After lazily stretching his front claws, he evolved back into human form and asked her with his morning husky voice, "Don't you want to sleep a little more?"

Chapter 402 - The Previous Messenger Vowed to Continue His Foolish Acts

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng ignored Lea. He had been sneaking up the bed every night like a Samoyed. While Gu Mengmeng tried every single way to reject and defend, he would still be in her bed no matter what type of defense she put up.

Being used to something was an extremely scary thing.

Because Gu Mengmeng would no longer be surprised by Lea appearing on her bed.

Straight up ignoring this guy, Gu Mengmeng jumped down from her bed and walked to Elvis's side. Looking at Cole and then Elvis, she asked softly, "Hubby, what's the matter?"

"Great Messenger, good morning." Cole bowed at Gu Mengmeng respectfully and said, "Today is the Beast Deity Offering Ceremony, expressing our gratefulness to the Beast Deity for blessing the females in surviving the harsh winter, while also praying for more cubs to be born this year. Servant has been chairing this for the past few years, but since the great Messenger have returned this year, you should be doing this by right. So, servant is here to bring you over."

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched as she thought about how Lea did the sorcerer's dance on the wooden tower. With an awkward laughter, she said, "Well, I am not that familiar in this field, you should do it since you are used to it."

Cole seemed to be a little surprised, and he immediately dropped down on his knees and said in a devoted manner, “Servant dare not usurp.”

Lea wagged his tail and stood up from the bed. He hung onto Elvis’s shoulders like a boneless man and his big tail wrapped around Gu Mengmeng’s waist. With a lazy and slightly hoarse voice, he said, “Chairing the Beast Deity Offering Ceremony represents one’s status and only those that have the religious authority are qualified to do it. Since you are already here, there’s not a chance for him to do it, Mengmeng...”

Lea said as he tightened his grip of the tail around Gu Mengmeng’s waist, pulling her closer to him. His slender and bony fingers hooked onto Gu Mengmeng’s chin and gentleness scattered in his amorous eyes. His red lips opened and he said, “I also want to see how you look like in the ceremonial dress, you must be so beautiful.”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes and swatted away Lea’s hand. She took a step back towards Elvis’s arms and said, “But I don’t know how to do the sorcerer’s dance.”

Cole took a step forward, drew out a piece of hide from his arms and handed it over to Gu Mengmeng with both hands. He said, “This is another esoterica kept by Sauder, it was said that this was on the Offering Ceremony. Please, Great Messenger, have a look.”

Gu Mengmeng had trauma on the word ‘esoterica’, thinking to herself that it could not possibly be the handwritten version for “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty”?

But she could not let Cole just holding on to the esoterica, so Gu Mengmeng took it over suspiciously. She opened it and almost got choked on her own saliva.

There were two lines sewed on the hide with some unknown thread:

The ceremonial dance: ‘Little Apple’ slowed down sixteen times.

The offering ceremony speech: ‘Little Apple’ lyrics in English.

Gu Mengmeng laughed suddenly. She shook the hide on her hand, turned to look at Cole, then at Lea, thinking to herself, “Do you know that the previous Messenger of the Beast Deity that you respected so much was just a funny and ridiculous person that merely knew how to square-dance?”

How did this dude managed to bluff the entire world? Even after a thousand years and nobody realized it?

“Great Messenger, is there any problem?” Cole felt Gu Mengmeng’s look seemed strange and asked.

Gu Mengmeng laughed and said, “Come, read the offering ceremony speech for me, let’s see if our versions are any different.”

Chapter 403 - The Beast Deity Had an Infinite Depth of Knowledge

Cole nodded his head, before closing his eyes slowly. With two hands slightly opened at the side and chin up, he really had some sort of holy feeling. “Ey pluto ah... sighter farther riga rule ultra awful save route...” Gu Mengmeng could not contain her laughter and chuckled, “I planted a seed, finally grew out of the fruit?”

Cole opened his eyes immediately and looked at Gu Mengmeng in disbelief, he could not contain his excitement. He confirmed that Gu Mengmeng must have knew the offering ceremony speech from the hide that the previous Messenger left behind. He had once doubted whether it was actually possible for the short symbols on the small piece of hide to record down the complete offering ceremony speech. But now he knew, the Beast Deity had an infinite depth of knowledge that he could never try to figure out.

Well, Cole would never know about Gu Mengmeng knowing this unique English version of ‘Little Apple’ from the first week after school had started. The girls in her dormitory had decided to go to KTV to bond. While they seemed like fair ladies at the start, two beers down the throat and they turned into horses running wild with all sorts of stupid acts.

In the end, not knowing who took the lead, the few girls sang the English version of ‘Little Apple’ for an entire night in the KTV. The girls had a strong revolutionary friendship from that time and even set a rule that whoever broke the dormitory rule would have to sing the English version of ‘Little Apple’ three times in the field. Since Gu Mengmeng did not commit to the cleaning sessions properly due to her working part time, she had to sing one round in the field almost every single week.

If not for Gu Mengmeng being very certain that all her roommates were in school attending lessons properly before she disappeared, she would be suspecting that the previous Messenger of the Beast Deity being one of them.

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, “Right, I understood. Isn’t it just an Offering Ceremony? I will be there in a while, you can go there first, alright?”

Cole looked at Elvis whom had a black face the entire time, he maintained the smile he always had, nodded, looked at Gu Mengmeng and said, “Well then, servant will be at the platform waiting for Great Messenger.”

Gu Mengmeng waved her hand as a sign of acknowledgment.

After Cole left, Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and asked, “Hubby, why do you look so unhappy? What happened? Did Cole did anything to you?”

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng into his arms for a long time, only saying afterwards, “If you like foxes, can’t you accept Lea? Not Cole, just not Cole...”

Gu Mengmeng was almost suffocating in Elvis’s arms. Bluffed, she said, “I had nothing to do with Cole, you are there every time I met him, I... I am innocent.”

Elvis still hugged onto Gu Mengmeng tightly and he said, “So you don’t like him, right?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and answered, “I don’t like Cole a single bit, not at all.”

Elvis heaved a sigh of relief and said, “He just sent me a challenge.”

“What?!” Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis with a spooked face.

Seeing how shocked she was, Elvis felt much assured. He heaved another sigh of relief, smiled and said, “He said he wanted to be your beast pet and ‘serve’ you together with Lea.”

“Pfft...” Gu Mengmeng facepalmed and screamed in her head, “Beast Deity, please tell me, the ‘serve’ he meant wasn’t what I was thinking.”

“You have said before, that I can’t fight with any males not approved by you, so I rejected him.” Elvis squinted his eyes, smiled and said, “Besides, I feel, I can ‘serve’ you good enough.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head violently and said, “Yes yes yes, just you alone is enough to take my life away, I absolutely have zero thoughts on letting a wolf into the sheepfold or being unfaithful to my husband.”

Elvis bridal carried Gu Mengmeng up onto the bed and said while tidying her clothes, “If one day I cannot satisfy you anymore, I have no objections to whether you want to find more partners or beast pets, but... just not Cole.”

Gu Mengmeng recalled how Elvis was always full of energy acting like the master on the bed every single time and shuddered at the thought of it. She shook her head and said, “The day would probably never come, stop worrying for nothing.”

As though he could tell what Gu Mengmeng was thinking, Elvis grinned uncontrollably. Proudly, he nodded his head and said, “No matter what, Cole have something up his sleeve, you should stay away from him.”

Gu Mengmeng asked, “Why did you say that? Just because he asked to be my beast pet? But Auretin even asked to be my guardian beast, why didn’t you say that he had something up his sleeve?”

Elvis stopped what he was doing and looked straight into Gu Mengmeng, his expression was serious and solemn. “Cole is on a higher level than me, at least the top of the fourth level or even on the fifth.”

Gu Mengmeng blinked and said, “You are scared you can’t win over him?”

Elvis hesitated before nodding his head and he said, “Being able to breakthrough the third level boundary meant that he has already mated, but he said he would like to be your beast pet, this is so strange... I am worried, what if he has been instigated by his female to come and hurt you? I... I might not be able to win him.”

With a blank face, Gu Mengmeng took a while to understand the whole situation when she finally remembered about the fixed mode of mating to overcome the third level. To someone living in the present world, it was really easy to forget things like leveling up.

Gu Mengmeng asked timidly, “So... is the fifth level, very powerful?”

Elvis nodded and said, “Fifth is the highest level an orc could attain. In the entire Beast World, there are no more than a hundred that could reach this level. Any higher and he becomes the Beast King... There was only one snake beast of unknown origin that made it to that level. So, if Cole do has something up his sleeve, I might not be able to protect you from his sharp claws even if Lea and I work together.”

Gu Mengmeng raised one eyebrow and said, “So Cole is actually the evil boss? What the heck, we are fighting the boss this fast? I am not even prepared.”

Lea wagged his tail and said, “Relax, he dare not stir up trouble.”

Gu Mengmeng turned around, looked at Lea and asked, “Hey there little demigod, why did you say so?”

Lea knew by her expression that ‘little demigod’ was not referring to anything good, probably teasing him again. But he did not mind, tossed himself onto the bed, kneeled behind Gu Mengmeng and started combing her hair. With nimble fingers gathering her hair, he answered, “Didn’t you see Cole almost staring his eyes out when you said the offering ceremony speech just now?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “He looked shocked indeed, but still not as exaggerated as what you described.”

Lea chuckled and said, “He never shows his feelings, just now... was the most extreme I have ever seen.”

Chapter 405 - Call Me Daddy Lea and I Will Tell You

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while and realized that Lea seemed to expressionless most of the time too, especially in front of outsiders where he had the same fake smile, looking like he was being polite but was actually distancing himself from others. When he was together with her, Lea had more expressions, but it was also seldom for him to express outward feelings. Most of the time, it was low key and faint, the type that will be ignored if one was not paying attention. Whether it was being happy or sad, he always expressed it with a smile.

Gu Mengmeng supported her chin with her hand, looked at Lea and asked, “Does your family have this rule being passed down that you have to ‘maintain the fake smile resembling a prince’?”

Lea shook his head and answered, “No... At least my beast Father didn’t teach me this.”

Gu Mengmeng asked, “Then why did Cole and you look like the wax sculptures in Madame Tussaud’s? With the fake smile on regardless of anything that happened?”

Lea paused for a moment as though collecting his thoughts. He replied, “Maybe it was because he was too important to me, that I started imitating him unconsciously.”

Gu Mengmeng thought, maybe... Eldest brother equivalent father approximately equals to a father’s love as great as the mountain?

Lea’s past was covered with too much sadness and Gu Mengmeng did not want to keep rubbing salt into his wounds, so she did not continue asking.

Instead, she returned to the topic before and said, “Maybe he was just shocked because he did not expect me to really know the offering ceremony speech? This does not mean anything, I would also be shocked if someone started reciting the entire ‘Oxford English Dictionary in front of me.”

Lea shook his head, let out a meaningful smile and said, “Did you only see shock on his face?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, recalled carefully and indeed she only remembered seeing some expressions of shock on his face only.

Lea hooked onto Gu Mengmeng’s chin and examined every detail on her face like admiring a piece of art. He suddenly smiled and said, “Well no wonder, not everyone understood him like I do.”

Lea turned his hand to brush against Gu Mengmeng’s small face lightly with his fingertips and said with a seducing tone, “Do you want to know why Cole raised the challenge to Elvis so that he could be your beast pet, even though he clearly had his own females?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, indicating a yes.

Lea’s hand brushed from Gu Mengmeng’s shoulders to her arms, stopping at her upper arm. Drawing some circles on it, Lea asked, “Do you want to know what he wants to do during the Offering Ceremony?”

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while, even though she knew how to do the Little Apple dance and its English lyrics, she would not be sure what other tricks did the previous ridiculous Messenger prepare. Since this ceremony was done yearly, Lea must know the details to it. There was no harm in rehearsing beforehand, in case of embarrassments on stage. So, Gu Mengmeng nodded his head again.

Lea’s hand continued to move downwards, past her elbow, down her lower arm and he grabbed onto her wrist. He asked again, “Cole is the type to never give up if his goal was not met, he must have backup plans after Elvis rejected his challenge... Do you want to know how is he going to deal Elvis?”

Gu Mengmeng did not even give a second thought and nodded her head violently.

Lea moved his hand all the way till he met Gu Mengmeng's fingers. With fingers interlocked, he moved his body nearer until his face was at Gu Mengmeng's nose tip and he said with a densely ambiguous tone, "Call me Daddy Lea and I will tell you."

Chapter 406 - Don't Do It Hubby!

Gu Mengmeng's expression became sullen, she rolled her eyes as she threw out a friendly 'get out', before pulling out her hand, turning around and she left.

But Lea followed closely behind her, wagging his tail and said, "You are clearly interested to know all that, why are you being so awkward? Just say it~ Come on, just a whisper loud enough for me to hear is fine."

Gu Mengmeng turned and said, "I am not interested to find out anymore."

Lea smiled, rubbed Gu Mengmeng's head and said, "Such an awkward and cute little thing. Hey, won't you feel your heart racing when you call me daddy in front of Elvis~"

Gu Mengmeng blushed, turned around to look at her ex-boyfriend who insisted on her calling him daddy in front of her husband. Feeling extremely embarrassed, she roared, "Get out!"

Lea shrugged his shoulders and said, "If you are really shy... then make Elvis say it. If he actually does it, I can accept it too~"

"Pfft..." Gu Mengmeng choked on her saliva and started coughing violently, while some restricted sadistic and masochistic thoughts began appearing in her head uncontrollably.

Something like Lea being love-struck, smiling coldly as he waved his little leather whip in a condescending manner onto Elvis whom was wearing only a bikini. Then, Elvis sobbed as he moaned with a sweet girlish voice, "Daddy Lea~~ Ahhh~~"

Eh...!

Gu Mengmeng started having goosebumps all over and felt really uncomfortable. She could not even look at Elvis and Lea straight in the eyes.

However, Lea just had to walk towards Elvis flirtatiously. With one arm around Elvis's shoulders and fingers brushing against his ears, Lea blew onto Elvis's ears and said, "Mengmeng really want to know, how... Do you want to help her? I will satisfy Mengmeng's little wish if you just say 'Daddy Lea'~"

Gu Mengmeng was screaming in her heart, don't, don't do it hubby!

With a cold face, Elvis turned around expressionlessly and said, "I've got a better plan."

"Eh?" Lea blinked and responded with a single syllabus instinctively. Before he could react, his knee gave way and he was shocked by Elvis's sudden burst of strong pressure.

The difference between the levels was beyond Lea's control, he could not maintain his balance and fell onto the ground funnily.

Elvis stood on the spot and looked down on Lea. He said, "Never go against the orders of the head of our household and never challenge the authority of the first partner, or else you will die a terrible death."

After that, Elvis ceased the pressure and saw Lea pouncing into Gu Mengmeng's arms shamelessly as though he was wronged. Half-kneeling and half-laying by Gu Mengmeng's side, Lea buried his head onto her thigh and covered a huge portion of himself with his furry big tail. He said in an almost crying manner, "Mengmeng, Elvis bullied me again, you have got to protect me... Sobs sobs sobs, I want to mate and level up... Sobs sobs sobs..."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea in shock, took a while to react and she asked softly, "Sorry if I come as rude, but did you graduate from the Beast World Acting Academy? Oscar owes you 10086 Academy Awards."

Elvis walked towards Gu Mengmeng, hugging her up and stepped onto the root of Lea's tail. With one hand turning into the wolf's claw, he said with a cold face, "Answer Xiao Meng's question, or all the fur on your tail will be gone."

All... Gone...

In Elvis's arms, Gu Mengmeng silently lit a candle for Lea.

Chapter 407 - I Could Do It Once in a While

Lea looked up at Gu Mengmeng with watery eyes. Since his tail was stepped on by Elvis anyway, he did not want to get up, but laid on the bed like a drunk imperial concubine.

“Alright, you are the first partner after all.” Lea stretched out his arms lazily and supported his head. He started talking slowly, “Make a guess, how many sons does my mother have?”

Gu Mengmeng did not understand what Lea meant, but since he was already the Ninth Highness, it was definitely more than nine.

Gu Mengmeng vaguely remembered that foxes give birth to seven to ten cubs on average, but only around four survive. Unless the person is masochistic, one usually would not count the dead ones into the ranking...

So, if Lea was the Ninth Highness, it would be around two to three nests of cubs?

So Gu Mengmeng guessed, “Eleven or twelve?”

Lea shook his head, smiled slyly and said, “Nine, I am the smallest one.”

Gu Mengmeng let out an awkward smile, not knowing why Lea was being so proud, was being the smallest in the family something to be proud of? That just meant that you were the slowest swimmer compared to your brothers when you were just a tadpole...

Seeing Lea starting to answer Gu Mengmeng’s doubts, Elvis moved his feet away.

Once his tail was freed, Lea wagged it twice lazily and stood up straight. He looked at Elvis and said, “The next time, come up with a more convincing reason to threaten me, or else I won't cooperate with you."

Elvis raised his eyebrow and said, "You don't think I will really shave all your fur?"

Lea shook his head and said with 'are you an idiot' written over his face, "Mengmeng likes my tail so much, if you really do shave it all.. Well I'm fine with that, at most I will remain in my human form and not show my tail, but Mengmeng will definitely be so disappointed. Will you do things... that will upset her?"

Elvis bit his teeth and coldly said, "I could do it once in a while."

"Tsk, go on." Lea despised him.

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed, sometimes she really wondered how did these two enemies live together in peace in the past? How did Elvis resist his urge of strangling Lea to death with Lea's damned mouth.

Stretching out her hand, Gu Mengmeng signaled a stop sign and said, "Can you answer my question first, we are kind of rushing here, I have got to do the recital on stage during the ceremony in a while."

Lea smacked his lips and went back to the pace, "Then do you know Cole's ranking in the family?"

Gu Mengmeng had an uncertain impression of the Beast World, that many rules here resembled the conservative society in traditional China. So she did not hesitate and blurted out, "The oldest of course."

Lea's expression did not change and he continued smiling, but Gu Mengmeng could sense a little sadness in it.

Frowning, Gu Mengmeng asked, "Why? Isn't he the oldest?"

Lea shook his head and said, "He is the second oldest."

While Gu Mengmeng did not understand where did Lea's sadness comes from, her instincts told her Lea would not ask irrelevant questions.

She then thought of the old rule of passing down in the past: Pass to the oldest and child of the first wife.

If Cole was the second oldest, then wasn't the position of Sauder's Leader not supposed to be inherited by him?

Gu Mengmeng felt a chill down her spine as she asked carefully, "Then... Where's your oldest brother?"

Lea nodded, as though he was complimenting Gu Mengmeng's sharpness, but the forced smile looked so pale and heartbreaking.

Chapter 408 - I Am Not Blaming You, Don't Mind Me

“Died from the punishment of the mating contract,” Lea said calmly, but Gu Mengmeng could see turbulence in his eyes.

“Were you close to your oldest brother?” Gu Mengmeng asked.

Lea thought for a while, shook his head and said, “Not really considered close, but we were taught to be brothers that support each other, so we spent quite an amount of time together.”

Gu Mengmeng did not understand why, out of nine brothers, the oldest and the youngest has to be the best pals.

Lea continued and said, “The oldest inherits the position of the leader, while the youngest, the witch doctor. The arrival of the Messenger of the Beast Deity is a sign of the god, she being born in Sauder is a sign of the land. If my big brother and I cooperated and formed the sign of mankind, Sauder will be brought to the top again and regain its glory.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned, this desired state might be in the public interest, but it would have struck somebody's inner dark side.

The answer to the identity of the person was almost obvious.

“So... Cole killed your eldest brother's partner?” Gu Mengmeng asked.

Lea shook his head and replied, “My eldest brother's partner disappeared on the day my eldest brother died. Nobody knew how she disappeared or where did she go after that. So, there were also no evidence to prove that Cole did this, but...”

Lea did not finish his sentence. Gu Mengmeng paused and continued from where Lea had left off, “But, you are suspecting he planned everything because Cole is the one who benefits the most from this?”

Lea hesitated for a while before finally nodding his head and he said, “You mentioned it before, that perfection... is the biggest loophole.”

Gu Mengmeng somewhat remembered she did say something like that before, but had forgotten the situation that made her say this. But looking at Lea made Gu Mengmeng at a loss of what to do.

Frankly, Cole indeed give people a feeling of distant, but Gu Mengmeng felt like he was not the type to make use of the sister-in-law to kill his own brother. Usually, the personality determined one's features, evil people would always have some characteristics exposing it on his face. But Cole did not have anything that would make others feel uncomfortable.

Gu Mengmeng only knew some parts of Lea's past, she could not tell how much of what Lea was speaking was from his distorted memory due to hatred, but she also did not want to question him regarding Cole and make him sadder. She weighed her words for a while, let out a sigh and said, “Maybe... it was just a misunderstanding?”

Lea did not get mad, but smiled faintly and said, “Yeah, maybe it was just a misunderstanding.”

Gu Mengmeng could clearly felt how sensitive Lea was. This sentence that sounded like approval contained so much disappointment and dismay that could not be described with words.

“It's not that I don't trust what you said...” Gu Mengmeng explained.

Lea held onto Gu Mengmeng's hands, kissed it with his lips and said, “It is reasonable for someone that had lied to you before not to deserve your unconditional trust. This is my fault, I am not blaming you, don't mind me.”

“I... I did not mean it.” Gu Mengmeng was a little panic, she knew Lea's past was filled with blood and tears, if not he would not have said things like ‘you resembled a more alive person than me’ to Elvis. She did not intend to rub salt into Lea’s wounds, but this sentence had brutally torn open his festered wounds again.

“Sorry...” Gu Mengmeng said submissively.

Lea realized that his emotion was putting Gu Mengmeng on the spot and deliberately exaggerated the sadness and disappointment infinitely. He hooked Gu Mengmeng’s chin amorously and said, “You knew that rather than your confession of love or an apology. Why not... Call me ‘Daddy Lea’?”

Sometimes Gu Mengmeng really could not identify when was Lea being serious and when he was not. Seeing that he was playing around again, she pushed away his hand and said, “Stop saying rubbish, aren’t you going to tell me what was Cole going to do? You were just beating around the bush... Why can’t you just go straight to the point?”

Lea’s mouth twitched and said, “You are quite onto Cole, eh? Why, do you really want him to be your beast pet and let him ‘serve’ you together with me?”

Gu Mengmeng glared at him and said, “Swallow the word ‘serve’ down your throat, I hear that again and you will know it!”

Lea nodded and said obediently, “Alright, then how about ‘attend to’? Or... ‘wait on’?”

Gu Mengmeng ground her teeth and screamed in her head: Jesus Christ, there is a fox turned human here. I am not sure whether he had passed the trials? Would you consider striking a lightning bolt on him?

Lea cleared his throat, decided that the joke was enough and continued, “The snow foxes tribe was the servant of the Messenger of the Beast Deity.

Within our tribe, the responsibility of ‘serving’ the Messenger is of the highest priority. In this one thousand years time, there were many tribesmen who mated to break past the third level boundary, including my father, my eldest brother and... Cole. Moreover, Cole did this to the most extreme level out of everyone I knew.”

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and asked, “What do you mean?”

Lea replied, “Whether it was my father, my eldest brother or any other tribesmen that I have heard whom mated to break past the boundary, even if they don’t really like their females that much, they would still provide some form of protection and care for them. Whereas for Cole... there was not a single person in the tribe that knew who is his female, no one ever saw him caring for any female at all. Oh, you are the exception...”

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her temples and said, “So you are suspecting I am Cole’s female?”

Lea shook his head and said, “If you are his female, he wouldn’t have to raise the challenge to Elvis and fight for the position of the beast pet with me.”

Gu Mengmeng, “...” She had nothing to say.

Lea said, “What I meant was, why would someone that did not even care for his own female come and chase after you all of a sudden? To be your beast pet?”

Gu Mengmeng said, “Isn’t this the question that you are supposed to answer me?”

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng with the face of ‘Huh? Really?’ and waited for her to wave her fists at him, before giving a sly smile and continued, “Cole had just mated when I was banished from Sauder and he had broken past the third level. After all these years, he must have gotten a lot stronger, so he was not worried about the punishment of the mating contract and hence could not be bothered about his female for a single bit. While you... I am afraid you are not a female to him, but the key to the highest power.”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “So, you suspect that Cole planned on seducing me to gain the support of the Messenger of the Beast Deity?”

Lea nodded his head and said, “Along those lines.”

Gu Mengmeng laughed and said, “So he thinks he is Emperor Zhou of Shang dynasty and treating me as Daji? He is so certain that I will fall for him?”

Chapter 410 - What Happened to the Pride of Being a Wolf? How Could You?

Lea smiled as he wagged his tail, he laid down with his elbows against the bedside and said, “Don’t forget about the Fox Seductive Fragrance of the Snow Fox tribe.”

Gu Mengmeng froze...

Damn it, she had fallen for Lea’s Fragrance that time when she was in the wild with Elvis. After that, her waist and back were sore for a few days as though they were run over by a train.

Elvis frowned and continued with what Lea said, “Isn’t the Fragrance only for increasing the fun during mating? Could it control one’s mind too?”

Lea covered his mouth and smiled as he looked at Elvis with ‘Oh my gosh you are so innocent and pure’ written over his face until Elvis face turned black and flashed his claws out to shave Lea’s tail. But Lea wagged his tail and dashed into Gu Mengmeng’s arms, stuffing his tail into her hands. Gu Mengmeng rubbed his tail, before realizing Elvis was standing opposite her with a black face as he remained silent.

Gu Mengmeng instantly threw away Lea’s tail as though she was electrocuted. Grinning, she went up to Elvis and said, “Furry is a type of illness and I am beyond recovery, I just couldn’t control my paws...”

Gu Mengmeng stuck out two fists facing downwards like a cat and said, “How about you chop my hands off... Sobs sobs sobs...”

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng and was annoyed but amused at the same time. The jealousy he felt when he saw her being so satisfied by touching Lea's tails was long gone with the sweet words she said. He felt honey spreading in his heart and he held onto Gu Mengmeng's hands, bringing her into his arms. Elvis put his tail onto her hand and whispered into her ears, "When you fall ill, please let me be the first person you think of, alright?"

"Okay." Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Elvis's big tail and nodded her head sweetly, feeling extremely satisfied in her heart too.

Lea looked at Elvis plaintively and said, "What happened to the pride of being a wolf? How could you be selling your looks like others?"

Elvis raised his eyebrow and said, "Talking about pride with my own female? Are you mad or am I mad?"

Lea could not do anything but murmured to himself, "Even you are fighting for attention with me now..."

Elvis could not be bothered with his emotions and continued asking, "You haven't answered my question yet, Could the Fox Seductive fragrance control one's mind too?"

Lea shook his head and said, "The fragrance itself could only add on to one's sense during mating, but if you know how to use it well, the female would believe that she loved the male deeply and hence obeying everything he says."

Gu Mengmeng was stunned for a while, she glanced at Lea with a complicated look.

Lea looked back at Gu Mengmeng with a gentle yet serious smile. There were affection and love in his slender eyes as he said, "I won't use the fragrance on you, I... I also want to wait until the day you say 'I will' with your own mouth."

Gu Mengmeng blushed and lowered her head to avoid Lea's look.

Because she could not accept his feelings for her and also... damn, he really did eavesdrop the day she and Elvis mated.

Lea did not like to see Gu Mengmeng conflicted and troubled and he quickly changed the topic back to Cole. He said, "But Cole is different, he would spare no effort to use the fragrance on you if that means he could get the power."

Gu Mengmeng suddenly felt the crisis of being drugged anytime now, what happened to the wild Beast World being undeveloped and the people being simple and honest?!

“Then... then what should we do?” Gu Mengmeng was a little scared. She had a taste of the fragrance, being allured into the fantasy, not able to resist it.

Lea looked up at Gu Mengmeng with a serious and careful expression, there was no smile but was still assuring. He said, “Don’t leave me, anytime, anywhere. Whatever you want to do, bring me along.”

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea blankly, hesitated for a while and said, “Can I bring Elvis instead?”

Lea shook his head and said, “Only the Snow Fox tribesmen are the most sensitive to the Fox Seductive fragrance, while the whole tribe would much rather you to stay in Sauder except for me. Hence, even if someone realized Cole was using the fragrance on you, they would not remind you. Although Elvis was quite familiar with the fragrance, he would need a lot present to notice it and only when it has taken effect could he sense it before normal orcs. But with Cole’s cautiousness... Do you think he will use a large amount enough to make you uncontrollably pounce onto him in public?”

Gu Mengmeng thought over it carefully and shook her head, approving Lea’s words.

Gu Mengmeng hugged onto Elvis’s tail. Under his punk-feel tail, her small face looked even more crystal clear, her innocent eyes that resembled that of a deer’s looked at Elvis with a little grievance and helplessness as she said, “Hubby...”

Elvis rubbed Gu Mengmeng's head and said, "Don't worry, I will be protecting you together with Lea. We had expected... this kind of situation long ago."

It was only then did Gu Mengmeng remember that from the very start when Lea and Elvis formed Saint Nazaire, they were planning to welcome the Messenger of the Beast Deity and replace Sauder.

She nodded her head and felt much more assured.

Lea continued and said, "There will definitely be accidents during the ceremony later."

Gu Mengmeng turned around and asked, "What? Does Cole want me dead on stage, in front of everyone?"

Lea shook his head and said, "No, he is probably planning on being the hero and saving the damsel in distress. I heard that females buy it a lot."

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched and she said, "Is this a Qiongyao drama?"

Lea smiled and did not answer her. He looked at her and instructed, "Later, be within three step's distance from me and Elvis, no matter what Cole does to separate us, you have to try your best to reject him. If you really can't... You can throw a tantrum, this is an exclusive right for females, even if you are not the Messenger of the Beast Deity, you can still do this."

Gu Mengmeng raised her head high and said, "I am a gentle and well-mannered lady, I would never do such things."

Lea said, "Just use the force you had with you when you were throwing potatoes onto Elvis. No... Just half of that would be enough to suppress the crowd."

Gu Mengmeng facepalmed, dark past, this must be her dark past.

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath and continued asking, "Are there anything else?"

Lea suddenly smile, exchanged a look with Elvis and said, “Just leave the rest to us.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and did not question any further.

Elvis tidied Gu Mengmeng’s clothing for one last time and carried her out of the stone house, while Lea followed diagonally behind him. One white and one black, just like the day and night, with Gu Mengmeng being the Sun that shines in the day while also warming the night, spreading its brilliant aura.

When the trio arrived at the Platform, Cole had led everyone there and waited for a while. Seeing Gu Mengmeng, he kneeled down and said in a devoted manner, “Welcome Great Messenger.”

Chapter 412 - I Felt like Such an Idiot

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng went down from Elvis's arms, but stayed close to him and Lea, letting them escort her up the Platform and walked past Cole without stopping.

After all, she trusted Lea more than Cole.

Standing on the Platform, Elvis and Lea both took a step back and remained an arm's length away from Gu Mengmeng, in case anything happened, they were absolutely confident that they could protect her before she was harmed.

Gu Mengmeng scanned the crowd beneath her and realized an interesting situation developing unexpectedly, everyone had their tails and ears shown, as though everyone that was attending the ceremony was a half-orc...

Gu Mengmeng turned to look at Lea with a questioning look, while Lea shot a glance at Cole whom was under the Platform.

Gu Mengmeng followed Lea's glance and sure enough saw Cole wagging his furry and white big tail with a pair of fox ears on his head, looking like... Tomoe.

Although she did not know what exactly was going on, Gu Mengmeng dared not ask abruptly, since the males in the Beast World had excellent hearing and nothing escaped their ears no matter how soft she spoke.

Resisting her curiosity, Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath and started square-dancing at a speed sixteen times slower according to the stupid hide esoterica the previous Messenger left behind, while reading it as though she was reading a Bible.

Hold it back, cannot laugh...

“Today is a great day...”

What the heck, I felt like such an idiot...

“Pluck the stars give you pulled down the moon for you...”

Hell, can't hold it back no more...

Gu Mengmeng was all red, the more she tried to hold back her laughter, the more she wanted to laugh.

Finally, she could not resist it and really laughed till she bent down and started banging on the Platform.

The people under the Platform was so confused, even Elvis and Lea whom were on the Platform had a blank look on their faces.

Elvis asked Lea with a look, “Did Cole use the Fox Seductive fragrance on her?”

Lea shook his head and replied back with a look, “The fragrance had no such effects...”

Cole was even more dumbfounded, he was feeling the holy aura shining above his head moments ago, why did Gu Mengmeng suddenly burst into laughter?

Gu Mengmeng's laugh made the entire world quiet.

When she was finally done laughter and realized what she had just done, the atmosphere was as awkward as it could be.

It was just like the China Table Tennis Team attending the Olympics, standing on the champion's podium, when the presenter just hung the gold medal over your neck and you suddenly danced 'Gangnam Style'... The event was being broadcasted live to the whole world and you felt so embarrassed you would rather kill yourself.

‘The background music should be: I fear the sudden silence in the air...’

Gu Mengmeng cleared her throat, stood up while forcing herself to be calm and said, “Well... As you all know, my father is the Beast Deity.”

Boom...

A commotion broke out under the stage, even Cole was shocked until he was speechless.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and thought, didn’t she mention this in front of Dumbo the last time? Could it be that he did not spread this when he returned? What the heck, she should have grabbed Dumbo and matched their testimonies. She had planned on making the connections, but now... Damn, the teacher only asked for the reason for not paying attention in class, but you freaking confessed about cheating in an exam...

Chapter 413 - A Troubling Thing for Happiness to Come so Suddenly~

Miscalculation, what a miscalculation.

Damn, if she tried to lie now...

Gu Mengmeng scanned the sea of people beneath her appearing to be so joyous, she could only let out an awkward laugh and thought, ha, how could she bluff them successfully?!

Biting her teeth, Gu Mengmeng decided to treat this ceremony as the surprise version of a mini play in a theme park. That was, the main character was heartbroken, talking nonsense on stage and changing the lines as she liked, while the other actors played along with her on the spot... Surprisingly, that show had a 100% good rating from the audience, saying that it was... Full of emotions and delicacy...

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath and signaled for the crowd to quieten down. She said, "Formally introducing myself, I am the eldest daughter of the Beast Deity, Gu Mengmeng. I am here on the Beast Deity's order to bring you light and hope, food and knowledge."

"Beast Deity~ Beast Deity~ Beast Deity"

There were cheering under the stage, as Gu Mengmeng unintentionally pushed the Beast Deity's lofty image to a whole new level.

After all, according to the knowledge of the Beast World, it was happy and safe by the Beast Deity's side, but the great Beast Deity sent his own daughter here just to make them lead a better life.

So touched!

Sure enough, the Beast Deity was such a holy and sacred being!

Gu Mengmeng suddenly realized how the previous Messenger tricked everyone with just ‘Little Apple’ and “300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty”, damn!

Heck, it really was not about how smart the previous Messenger was, but how gullible the people in the Beast World were... As though they had never been tricked before.

Gu Mengmeng shot a glance at Cole and realized he, too, was looking at her with a worshiping and devoted expression.

Gu Mengmeng thought, did Lea overestimated Cole? He even believed in this type of nonsense that was made up on the spot?

Gu Mengmeng straighten her back and continued, “I laughed just now because my beast Father, the great Beast Deity, replied to my prayers, he said...”

Gu Mengmeng intentionally dragged her words, until all eyes were on her and everyone was holding their breath, waiting for her next sentence. She then opened her mouth slowly and said, “He will bless the Beast World and protect the devoted followers from dangers and ill fortune, turning them into great fortunes.”

It was actually inconsiderate from Gu Mengmeng to bluff people like this, because even the words she made up were not original.

That’s right, she copied the idea from the Yellow Scarves Rebellion.

If you were saved from dangers, it proved that the Beast Deity had indeed protected you.

But if you died, it just showed that you were not devoted enough.

However, such a word trap made the crowd under the stage cheer. The entire scene... was even more exaggerated than the female soldiers crying from not being able to contain their emotions when Kim Jong-un toured the military camp.

Gu Mengmeng maintained the smile of the Statue of Liberty, waved and said, “Since the Beast Deity had already answered our prayers, the ceremony can end here. Everyone go back to what you should be doing and don’t crowd around here. After all, illegal gatherings would be searched by the police.”

The crowd was stunned, perhaps nobody had experienced such an ‘efficient’ ceremony and could not get used to it. It was as though the teacher, who always liked to say “Come students, we will end the class after finishing this question” when the bell rang suddenly grabbed the book and left the classroom before the bell.

Ah, it was also a troubling thing for happiness to come so suddenly~

Gu Mengmeng felt a little despair seeing everyone standing on the spot and looking at her blankly.

She sighed and said, “Since everyone has nothing to do, let’s continue with Saint Nazaire’s mass recruitment session. Among the ten warriors chosen from the last time, six of them had mated with females in their own tribe, while three had their own females. Hence, the recruitment quota are left with thirty-one now.”

Chapter 414 - I Am Not Interested in Someone Else's Husband

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Actually, there were not many orcs who could count, but at least they could understand that it meant the quota was decreasing in number.

Besides, the six males who were single, mated in just a few days... and with the number one beauty in each tribe. This had to be the Beast Deity's blessing.

Just for this reason alone, the males were more hyped up, shouting for Gu Mengmeng to announce the new round of selection criteria.

Gu Mengmeng signaled for them to quieten down, before showing the professional smile of a female senior executive and said, "Considering the family members of warriors, we will set the number of people chosen to be five. The question for this round of recruitment is... this."

Gu Mengmeng took out two chillies, one red and one green, from the pocket of her clothes. Only Elvis and Lea knew this way of sewing pockets on a hide, so when Gu Mengmeng took out two strange fruits from thin air, the crowd was stunned again...

Gu Mengmeng did not realize how an unintentional act was as shocking as performing 'swallow the Tower of Pisa alive' for the crowd, and continued on her own, "Everyone look at this type of fruit carefully, this is the Beast Deity's blessing. Same as the last time, the deadline is before sunset, the five that returns with the highest number will obtain the place to join Saint Nazaire."

With that, Gu Mengmeng threw the two chillies into the crowd and said, "A sample for you."

She immediately regretted her decision right after throwing. Damn, it was just like throwing a piece of meat into a cave of hungry wolves, would there be a stampede accident?

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng up and said, "Since we are done, let's go back to the stone house first."

Gu Mengmeng nodded and looked back at the crowd with a worried heart... Eh? Where were all the people? They were done fighting already? So efficient...

When they walked past Cole, he did not stop Gu Mengmeng from leaving. Instead, he followed behind Elvis and walked in line with Lea.

"Eh? Leader Cole, why are you following us? You stay in the opposite direction as us right..." Gu Mengmeng said.

Cole still had the smile on his face and he asked, "Great Messenger, if... I bring back the most number of Beast Deity's blessings, can I join Saint Nazaire too?"

Gu Mengmeng's mouth twitched and she said, "Didn't we talked about this the last time? Your Sauder is the tribe for the previous Messenger, it's not too appropriate for me to come and steal your land. You should just stay and guard Sauder well."

Cole looked a little depressed and he asked, "Is... Is Sauder being abandoned by the Beast Deity and hence not able to receive the blessing of the Messenger?"

Gu Mengmeng let out an awkward laughter and said, "Every new sovereign brings his own courtiers, it has been like this since the past. Anyone would feel more assured using their own men, I seek your understanding."

Cole's eyes were a little similar to Lea's, but it was not the classic slender eyes Lea had, his was bigger and shorter, looking less amorous but more bright. At that moment, the bright pair of eyes were like transparent glass reflecting the Sun's rays, shining directly onto Gu Mengmeng's face as Cole asked, "Make me the great Messenger's 'own men', can't you?"

Gu Mengmeng laughed dryly and replied, "Of course not, I am not interested in someone else's husband, it's inconsiderate to ruin other families, I will never do it."

"The great Messenger knows that I have mated?" Cole asked.

Gu Mengmeng said, "My husband is a fourth level orc, when he released the beast pressure the last time, you were perfectly fine, this proves that you have broken past the third level boundary, doesn't it?"

Cole lowered his head, stroked his chin and said, “Ah... So this is where I’ve gone wrong. If I had known it earlier, I would have to pretend to faint that time...”

Gu Mengmeng smiled awkwardly and said, “Surely that isn’t the key point?”

Cole looked up and asked, “Then what’s the key point?”

Gu Mengmeng stunned for a moment and suddenly she could not remember what was the key point...

“The key point is, as a mated male, why are you always following our Mengmeng and not going back to your own place to coax your female?”
Lea intentionally stood in between Cole and Elvis, pushing Cole out for a whole body’s length.

Cole looked at Lea with smiley eyes and said, “I heard that the great Messenger likes your tail the most?”

Lea paused, before asking, “Why?”

Cole said, “Then do you still want your tail?”

Lea let out a cold laugh and said, “This time, you want to take away my tail?”

Cole wagged the furry tail behind him and said, “There’s no need to take it away, I have that.”

Lea said in a way as if suddenly realizing, “Ah, I had forgotten, you just enjoy looking at others in pain.”

Cole’s look sharpen and looked down on Lea coldly. The smile still remained on his face, even the curvature was exactly the same and he said, “Wait for the day that you could return to Sauder without relying on the Messenger’s blessing before saying this to me. The present you... does not have the right to.”

Gu Mengmeng patted on Elvis’s shoulder and signaled for him to let her down on the ground.

Elvis hesitated for a while before doing so.

Gu Mengmeng walked to Lea’s side, opened both of her arms as a sign of wanting hugs.

Lea stunned for a moment, then hugged Gu Mengmeng with a gentle smile. He buried his nose tip into her neck and enjoyed the hug that he had waited for ages. As for Cole... he did not matter any more.

Gu Mengmeng hugged Lea’s neck back, looked at Cole and said, “The Lea now is not the Ninth Highness that you could banish however you like. He is my family member now, so please be more respectful when you speak to him. Or else, I don’t mind using the power as a Messenger of the Beast Deity and destroying Sauder.”

Cole looked like he did not expect Gu Mengmeng to stand up for Lea, he was a little surprised, but his expression remained almost unchanged.

With his right hand on his left chest, Lea said respectfully and devotedly, “Yes, as the Messenger’s orders.”

Gu Mengmeng patted on Lea’s back lightly, then turned to Cole and said, “If there are no other matters, Leader Cole, please take your leave. Our family is going back for a meal and we did not prepare food for you.”

Cole tilted his head and smiled, “It’s alright great Messenger, I can just look at you eat.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said with a polite smile, “Didn’t your mother tell you it’s an ill-mannered thing to stare at other people eating?”

Cole shook his head honestly.

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and said, “Then I am telling you now, staring at others eating is an extremely impolite thing to do, you will be looked down upon.”

Cole nodded his head confusedly and said, “Then I will turn around when you eat, I won’t look at you.”

Gu Mengmeng twitched her mouth and said, “But our home also don’t have the air to accommodate you, unless you stop breathing the moment you enter the boundary of my house, if not it would not be too convenient for us to welcome you.”

Lea tilted his face, leaned on Gu Mengmeng’s neck and looked at Cole through Gu Mengmeng’s chin. He said coquettishly, “Mengmeng, I don’t like foxes in our house other than myself.”

Chapter 416 - Mighty Messenger, Are You Biased Towards Lea?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng seemed sorry as she looked at Cole, “You heard it, Lea has always been this awkward, and cannot contain a second vixen in the family. So, I’m sorry, but please do not visit my stone house for no reason in the future.”

Cole tilted his head, asking sceptically, “Mighty Messenger, are you biased towards Lea?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and admitted generously, “Yes, can’t you tell?”

Cole nodded, “I could. I just asked because I wasn’t sure.”

Cole remained silent for two seconds before continuing to ask, “Since Mighty Messenger likes Lea so much, why don’t you mate with him instead of making him remain in the position of a beast pet?”

This hit Gu Mengmeng right in her soft spot.

Although her breakup with Lea had been planned by Lea, she could not come up with an answer. She had always felt a sense of guilt, it was as if she was the one that had betrayed him.

Perhaps, it was because she had Elvis after their breakup, and was living happily while Lea remained single without understanding why, and stayed by her side protecting her in the position of a “beast pet”. However, what can she give back to him today? Emotion is the hardest to calculate in this world.

Elvis went up and blocked Cole’s line of sight, “Who are you to be involved in our family business?”

Suddenly, Cole started laughing. In his eyes, although there were only three people in Gu Mengmeng's family, but they had such a complicated familial relationship that was difficult to comprehend.

Beast pets are nothing but something females play with when they are bored, and usually nobody would be bothered when they are being degraded. However, Gu Mengmeng was standing up for Lea.

Although the first partner would not obstruct the female from mating with other males, but they would usually try to hinder secretly, preventing other males from getting close to their females easily. This is especially so towards the males who are handsome and could possibly attract females easily. For types like Lea, one would usually strongly protect their females from even before mating. Rather than doing nothing, it would have been better for Gu Mengmeng to say things that could agitate Lea so that he would lose all hope and leave.

However, the idiotic wolf from Gu Mengmeng's family... actually came out to Lea's rescue?

Snorting, Elvis ignored Cole's confused expression and was ready to turn around, before Cole suddenly spoke, "I can be considered the second brother of that fox. With this identity, could I perhaps question it?"

Lea's expression was cold as he carried Gu Mengmeng and stood beside Elvis, his shoulder against Elvis', both beside Gu Mengmeng. There was only indifference in his long, narrow eyes. His voice was soft. There was no anger, no growling. He was just like a bowl of still water without any waves as he replied, "I remember the day when Sauder banished me, leader Cole said it yourself that from then on, there would no longer be a Ninth Highness in Sauder, and you would no longer have a brother like me. Now what? Now that you've seen Gu Mengmeng being nice to me, you want to rekindle our kinship? I'm sorry, there is only Gu Mengmeng and Elvis left in my family... I do not have a so-called "second brother"."

With that, Lea turned around to leave with Elvis, and did not turn around to look at Cole.

Gu Mengmeng could sense Lea's body trembling.

Her heart felt a pang of pain from seeing his peaceful face.

Chapter 417 - Series Lived Long Enough To See

Chapter 417: Series Lived Long Enough To See

Will he... continue being like this? Acting like nothing is wrong, and that he can smile and get through everything when actually, Sauder is a scar on his heart. How could it not hurt?

“Sorry.” Gu Mengmeng leaned on Lea’s shoulder and put her arms around his neck, whispering, “Let’s quickly deal with this hiring thing and return to Saint Nazaire. In the future, the beauty pageants shall be held in Saint Nazaire, and we shall never return to Sauder, alright?”

Lea’s body stiffened, raising his head with some difficulty and caressed the back of Gu Mengmeng’s head. His voice sounded like flowing water, he said with slight pain, “The pain of the past is worth it, if it means your heart will ache once for me. Don’t worry, I am fine. I am no longer the person I was back then, the Ninth Highness that could be easily manipulated. Now... there are things that I would want to fight with my life.”

Gu Mengmeng did not say anything. She remembered Elvis mentioning, Lea only had destruction in his eyes back in those days, and everything he did was to ruin Sauder.

However, now he is saying that everything he does is to protect some things with his life.

Her heart, contracted tightly.

Can she say she did not understand? Did not understand what he wanted to protect?

Gu Mengmeng’s grip tightened subconsciously as she bit her bottom lip, replying in an extremely soft voice, “I’m sorry... Lea...”

Lea's smile was so bitter, but he did not have the heart for Gu Mengmeng to be upset. So, he took a deep breath, and faked a smile that looked bright and happy, replying in a flirtatious tone, "You know, I much rather prefer a confession over an apology. If you really treasure me, how about you call me "Daddy Lea"?"

Gu Mengmeng did not say anything, only hugging Lea silently. The whole trip, she lay quietly in his arms, neither struggling nor making any noise.

Lea knew that Gu Mengmeng was trying to comfort him.

He also knew that once they returned to the stone house, Gu Mengmeng would return into Elvis' arms once again and would not let him carry herself like this.

Unknowingly, he slowed down his footsteps. He had hoped that there was no end to this road.

Eventually, they still made their way back to the little stone house.

There were two people standing outside. Gu Mengmeng was stunned, then remembered one of them was the first partner of Ellie, the half-orc from the Snake tribe. As to what his name was... Gu Mengmeng had forgotten about it.

Waving his hands, Gu Mengmeng smiled, "Hey, Official Xu Xian. What brings you here today? Don't you have to serve the Bai Suzhen from your family?"

Ellie's first partner pointed at his own nose, "Official Xu Xian?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded sincerely, "That's right, I wanted to tell you. There are three people that I respect the most in this lifetime. Dong Yong, who dared to sleep with the fairy, Ning Cai Chen, who dared to sleep with the ghost, and Xu Xian, who dared to sleep with the snake. Aiya, I did not expect myself to meet a living one... Tsk tsk tsk, this is definitely part of the series that I have lived long enough to see."

Lea knew that Gu Mengmeng's nonsensical actions were a signal, that... it was time to let go.

Placing Gu Mengmeng on the ground, Lea could not hide his loving gaze. Watching the last strand of hair leave his fingertips as she scurried off, that joyful back skipping towards Darch and patting his shoulder while smiling wretchedly, Lea could not help but raise the edge of his lips.

Although his arms were empty, but Lea felt sufficiently satisfied that he could watch her like this.

Mengmeng had mentioned, the world is such a beautiful place, but you are so irritable. That is not good, not good...

Chapter 418 - Ellie Wants To Join The Sauder Tribe

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Although Darch did not understand what Gu Mengmeng was saying, but the messenger of the beast deity would never be wrong. With a bow, he said, “Thank you Mighty Messenger for giving me this name. From today onwards, I will be called Official Xu Xian.”

“Tsk... Hahaha... Official, what are you here for today?” Gu Mengmeng asked while laughing.

Official Xu Xian patted his forehead, “Oh, right. Almost forgot.”

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ arm, trying not to laugh and asked, “What? Shoot it.”

Official Xu Xian replied, “Ellie wanted to join the Sauder tribe, so... I’m here to bid farewell.”

In the beast world, the male lovers follow wherever the females want to go to. It was a common practice.

Ellie had nine partners, yet today, only this Official Xu Xian and another partner, whose name Gu Mengmeng could not remember despite his familiar appearance, came to say farewell to her. It showed these two still had an emotional attachment to Saint Nazaire.

Gu Mengmeng withheld any laughter and nodded, “Alright, I got it. Although you will no longer be members of the Saint Nazaire tribe, but do not forget that it was once your home. Do you still remember how I taught everyone to store food before the winter? Before this winter, bring along the other males in your family to prepare more food, and don’t make the females eat you all when she gets hungry in the winter.”

Official Xu Xian scratched his head with a bitter smile, “Aren’t you mad at us for leaving Saint Nazaire?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “I would rather destroy ten temples than ruin a single marriage. I can’t possibly force you guys to give up on your own happiness and be bachelors for life in Saint Nazaire.”

Official Xu Xian hesitated before asking, “Can I really use the method you previously taught to store food for the winter? Don’t worry, I definitely won’t teach it to anyone else.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “Of course. It is your choice whether you want to teach it to others. Since I already told you all, I had no intentions to keep it a secret.”

Official Xuxian pursed his lips, as if he wanted to say something but did not dare to. He hesitated for a long while, and even Gu Mengmeng got irritated from seeing that. Giving his chest a slap, she said, “You didn’t use to be like this, just say what you want to say, what kind of man are you? If you want to continue stammering, then don’t tell others that you know me when you go out, it’s embarrassing.”

Official Xu Xian’s face turned even redder from Gu Mengmeng’s slap. Like a child that had made a mistake, he asked softly, “Then... are you still going to let us use the salt for the marinated meat?”

Gu Mengmeng thought about it for a moment, “The salt is the resource of Saint Nazaire. You will no longer be a member of the tribe, so I naturally cannot provide you with the resources for nothing. However, you can use prey of equivalent value to trade with us. As to the exact mode of exchange, I will let you know after I discuss with Elvis later.”

Official Xu Xian nodded hastily, relieved that she was willing to exchange. After all, as the messenger of the beast deity, all the males in the world can provide food for her as an honour. Furthermore, based on Elvis’ hunting abilities... Gu Mengmeng would never lack any food. Thus, her willingness to exchange showed it was just a disguise for her to take care of him.

This thought made Official Xu Xian shed grateful tears, feeling even more guilty about having to leave Saint Nazaire due to mating. He then promised once again that he would never tell anyone the secret of meat preservation, even if Ellie asked, he would not tell.

Gu Mengmeng really wanted to tell him: It is actually fine even if you say it...

However, before these words could come out of her lips, Official Xu Xian had already waved his sleeveless arms and transformed into a beast, running into the distance.

Chapter 419 - You May Have Rabies

The three of them returned to the temporary house after Official Xuxian had taken his leave.

The three of them all never brought up Cole's words again, neither did anyone ask Lea about the past that still hurt him.

Rather, they started to investigate another matter regarding Lea.

Gu Mengmeng, "If Ellie was sent to me by Sauder, wouldn't she have a motive other than tricking nine males from Saint Nazaire to mate with? Although she's a half-orc, but based on her good looks and mannerisms, the males that are willing to mate with her should be aplenty."

Lea replied, "I thought it was strange too. Not only the fact that Ellie wanted to join Sauder but also the Offering Ceremony just now. Cole actually did not try to separate you from Elvis and myself, neither did he create any opportunities to showcase himself. On the way back, he even said some things that may have made you uncomfortable... That was unlike him."

Elvis remained silent without a word, only frowning.

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and asked, "What's wrong, hubby? Are you still annoyed because of Cole?"

Elvis looked into Gu Mengmeng's eyes and nodded.

Obediently, Gu Mengmeng leaned against Elvis' thighs and looked up at his dreamy blue eyes, asking, "Because he said he wanted to be my pet beast? Don't worry, I won't get any pets."

Elvis raised his eyebrows, peeking at Lea with his peripheral vision and laughed, “Why not? Most pet beasts are obedient and tame, knowing how to make you adore them. Unlike me, who always do things that make you angry.”

Gu Mengmeng giggled, “I have already given birth to four obedient and tame males. Hede and the rest are the ones in the world that knows how to make me adore them.”

This made Elvis’ expression instantly gloomy as he furrowed his brows, “Do you miss them already?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded. These few days, she had been so caught up with recruitment that she suddenly remembered that she had neglected Lea’s emotions. Her physical and emotional exhaustion made her want to retreat and return back into the cave where she can hug her sons and cuddle with them. Gazing past Elvis’ tail, she patted it from time to time, “I wonder if they cried while I wasn’t home? Did they eat well, did they miss me...”

Elvis sneered, “Have you seen a wolf cry?”

Stunned, Gu Mengmeng tried her hardest to recall, then proceeded to shake her head.

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng’s forehead, “Although I don’t really like them, but after all, they inherited our strong genes. If they feel like dying just because their mother beast is not around... then there is no need for such trash to exist.”

Gu Mengmeng’s eyes lit up, “Who are you calling trash? You are the trash, your whole community is trash!”

Elvis sighed, “You’re throwing your temper at me because of them again...”

Gu Mengmeng pouted, feeling rather guilty.

Elvis shook his head and rubbed Gu Mengmeng's tiny head, sighing, "The more time passes, the more I dislike them. How about you reconsider Lea, I think interacting with Lea is much easier than with those four little ones."

Gu Mengmeng forced a smile, "Don't be like this, my sons are easy to interact with, really~"

Elvis raised his eyebrows, "Is that so? Then why do I feel so irritated every time I see them?"

Gu Mengmeng muttered, "Maybe because you have rabies..."

Elvis replied, "What?"

Gu Mengmeng immediately laughed, "I will teach those four little ones well, I promise I won't let them make you angry again."

Chapter 420 - You Like To See Me Jealous?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis pinched and wiggled Gu Mengmeng's little nose, replying lovingly, "If only you could share more of your attention to them with me, maybe I would dislike them less."

Gu Mengmeng put both her hands on Elvis' waist, "After all, those sons are your biological sons. Just think about how much I suffered to give birth to them. Just tolerate them, even if it is just an appreciation of my hard work."

Elvis sighed, "That was why I tolerated all these while, neither chasing them away nor biting them to death."

Gu Mengmeng whined, "If you continue saying such scary things, I'm going to get angry."

Helpless, Elvis smiled and replied, "Fine, I won't say it, I will never say it again."

Gu Mengmeng kissed Elvis' cheek with a loud peck, "Good hubby~"

Just this time, Gu Mengmeng no longer dared to express how much she missed her sons in front of Elvis. To cover up her emotions, Gu Mengmeng could only bring the topic back to Cole, "Hubby, you haven't told us why you hated Cole."

Elvis remained silent for a moment, "I can't say why, I just think he's dangerous."

Gu Mengmeng smiled evilly, "You wouldn't simply speak badly of him just because you can't win him, would you?"

Elvis' expression darkened, "Yes, his skills are above mine, and he looks very similar to Lea. You love big tails, and his looks way bigger than that of Lea's. Although he is only one person, he had the combined strengths of Lea and I... So, do you have any interest in keeping him? Hmm?"

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis' expression, but suddenly laughed as she held his face and gave it a loud kiss, "Hubby, you look so cute when you're jealous~"

Elvis was rather stunned by Gu Mengmeng's kiss, but he felt sweet on the inside. His dreamy blue eyes had a hint of happiness, as he placed Gu Mengmeng's tiny chin towards his lips and planted a deep kiss, until her plump lips swelled slightly before he slowly released. Using his thumb to massage her lips, he asked, "You like to see me jealous? Hmm?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded, her face red due to the lack of oxygen from the kiss, making her smile look even more lovely, "You always tell me to accept others as my partner, so I thought you no longer cared about me. But weren't you jealous just now? Although you looked fierce, but I feel that it's very dependable. You finally care that there are other males around me... Also, the way you look when you're jealous is explosively hot."

Elvis could not help but laugh out loud. He clearly remembered how even Lea had to avoid him the moment his expression darkened, having heard numerous descriptions such as "horrifying", "cruel", "bloodsucking", "violent", but it was the first time anyone had such a satisfied smile while saying his dark expression was "explosively hot"...

Elvis asked, "Are you not afraid of me?"

Gu Mengmeng replied, "What for?"

Elvis responded, "I remember once... you were very afraid of me, as if you were in constant fear that I was going to eat you."

Gu Mengmeng shook her shoulders and used her arm to bang against Elvis' chest, grumbling flirtatiously, "You crazy man, haven't you eaten me clean? Our sons are already so old..."

Elvis could not hold it back any longer as he scooped Gu Mengmeng back into his arms, hugging her with a smile. Heaving a sigh of relief, he kissed her tiny cheeks, “For you... I treated every male as my love rival, yet you still thought I wasn’t jealous? Hmm?”

Smiling sweetly, Gu Mengmeng leaned in Elvis' arms, "It's not so exaggerated. At least our four boys won't become your love rivals."

Elvis snorted, "Those four rascals better watch out, they are the best at snatching my wife."

Gu Mengmeng acted coquettishly, giving Elvis' chest a punch before saying, "You have to act like a proper father, can you not always be at odds with your own sons?"

Elvis sighed, feeling helpless that Gu Mengmeng always protected those four little ones. However, the more she protected them, the more he felt that they were obstructions.

After that, the three of them continued discussing Ellie and Cole, and came to the conclusion that it saved trouble for Ellie to remain in Sauder, anyway.

During dinner time, Auretin carried a giant beast that looked like a rhinoceros outside the stone house and hesitated at the front door before finally shouting, "Gu Mengmeng, are you there?"

Elvis stood at the door, blocking all light rays from entrance. When he saw the giant beast Auretin was lugging, he frowned and asked coldly, "What do you want?"

As if his face was paralysed, Auretin stared back at Elvis, "I'm here to deliver food to Gu Mengmeng."

Elvis replied, “I will prepare food for my female, there’s no need for you to do so.”

Auretin responded, “Although you are the first partner of Gu Mengmeng, but you shouldn’t obstruct other males from expressing goodwill and courting her.”

Elvis sneered and slowly started to emit beast pressure. With slow increases in intensity, he watched as droplets of sweat covered the forehead of Auretin, who was lugging the giant beast. Then, once his knees could no longer handle the pressure, they gave way and made him kneel with one knee on the ground. The giant beast fell to the side, and Auretin was using his fist to jab at the ground as a form of bodily support. However, his head remained held high without any expression, looking at Elvis as if he had facial paralysis. There was neither one bit of fear, nor intention to back off.

Gu Mengmeng’s tiny head popped out from Elvis’ waist. With her arms wrapped around his waist, she said cutely, “Do you have nothing better to do other than scare him? This made even Lea feel uncomfortable from inside the house.”

It was then that Elvis finally retracted the pressure, rubbing Gu Mengmeng’s head lovingly, “Someone is here to court you, can I beat him to death?”

Gu Mengmeng peeked at the giant beast that had fallen beside Auretin, and looked up at Elvis, “We should never hit people with good intentions. He brought a present to visit us, what are you going to beat him up for? Isn’t it just about getting a meal? So petty~”

With that, Gu Mengmeng lightly pinched Elvis’ waist before skipping towards the giant beast, lying in front of it and looking at its horn. It really looked like a rhinoceros... and also a little like a hippopotamus... it could also be said that it looks like a hippopotamus with a rhinoceros horn. Anyway, it looked pretty ugly, but that horn looked quite good...

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her hands and looked at Auretin, “You prepared the food, we will be responsible for improvising it. Let’s treat this as if we are sharing a meal, and not me accepting your gift, how about that?”

Auretin looked at Gu Mengmeng, still without any expression on his face as he slowly opened his mouth, without any intonation in his voice, “I can stay for the meal too?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “Of course, this prey is yours.”

Auretin shook his head, “This prey is yours.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned, “If you insist that the prey is a present for me, and not one you brought here for improvisation and meal sharing, then I can’t accept it and you should bring it back.”

Chapter 422 - I'm Afraid I Won't Be Able To Control Myself And Pounce Onto You

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng up and pointed at the horn of the giant beast that looked like a rhinoceros, “You like it?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded without a word.

Without saying anything, Elvis snapped the horn off and walked towards Auretin waving his hand, “This thing, I want it.”

Gu Mengmeng was so stunned by Elvis’ action that she was speechless.

Auretin was expressionless too, as if such things were normal.

Elvis called Lea over and threw the beast horn into his hands, “Go wash it, Xiao Meng wants to play with it.”

Gu Mengmeng placed her forehead in her palms, thinking how did that sentence sounded so awkward? Yet, she did not retort for she had indeed wanted it...

At the moment, Elvis and Auretin brushed past each other, Elvis said coldly, “You can screw off, don’t waste the oxygen in my home.”

Auretin clearly had no idea where the joke about wasting oxygen came from, he only knew it was the first partner trying to kick him out of the house.

After some hesitation, Auretin spoke up before Elvis could take the next step forward, “I’ll share a meal, and prepare my own ingredients, will that work?”

Stunned, Elvis turned around to look at that giant beast and scoffed, “I have already taken away the only thing that prey had that interested us, do you think we will still allow you to stay and share a meal?”

Auretin stayed silent for a moment, then responded, “Oh, then I will hunt for a new one tomorrow and come back to share the meal.”

Gu Mengmeng placed her forehead in her palms, “No need, no need for that. I just want one of that beast horn. Since you have already brought it over, then don’t lug it back and forth, let’s just eat together.”

Elvis frowned, “We don’t have excess oxygen in this home to host a guest.”

Gu Mengmeng signalled at Elvis with a pout, “We already took away his beast horn, and he had already prepared the ingredients... It is not right to not even let him have a meal. He will bring his oxygen, alright?”

Elvis’ expression darkened as he furrowed his brows, “You’re into him?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and laughed while covering her mouth, “Hubby hubby, quickly stop that flirtatious expression of yours, I’m afraid I won’t be able to control myself and pounce onto you in front of everyone.”

Elvis smiled evilly, “Pounce onto me? That’s all I could wish for.”

Gu Mengmeng bumped Elvis’ shoulders, “Stop fooling around, there are people looking at us.”

Elvis glanced at Auretin, then looked back at Gu Mengmeng, “I’ll give off beast pressure straightaway and knock him out, how does that sound?”

Red-faced, Gu Mengmeng put her hands around Elvis’ ear and whispered, “The person going to pluck chillies will be back soon, and I would have to choose five warriors. You also know... that you... don’t have enough time. Furthermore, shouldn’t you let me eat till I’m full to carry out such a physically exhausting activity?”

Elvis grinned, with joy in his eyes, “You can hand the choosing of ... to Lea, but... feeding you till you’re full shall be the priority.”

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis’ neck and gave him a loud peck, “Thank you tribe leader for your understanding~”

Elvis returned a kiss to Gu Mengmeng’s tiny cheeks, finally having a smile on his face. He looked scornfully at Auretin, “Xiao Meng doesn’t like bloody situations, you take that thing to the stream and wash it properly before bringing it back. If you don’t know how to do it, then ask anyone from Saint Nazaire.”

Elvis paused, then continued, “Since you have joined Saint Nazaire, then you should follow the rules here. From now on, you are not allowed to bring a whole prey back. Females..., don’t like that.”

Chapter 423 - Your Looks Make One Sinful

Without asking a word, Auretin carried the giant beast and turned towards the stream.

Right then, Lea was done washing that beast horn and had brought it back. After placing it in his palm and looked at it repeatedly, he asked, “What’s so great about this stupid thing?”

Gu Mengmeng smiled mysteriously, “You don’t know this, but back where I was, it’s considered very good if you can buy a comb made out of a buffalo horn. Sometimes, the ones bought may even be fakes made out of plastic. Do you see this? It’s real, it’s valuable!”

Lea and Elvis exchanged glances, sighing helplessly.

Gu Mengmeng had always been like that. She spontaneously shares the things others treasure at a high value, but values things that nobody would bother to bend down to pick up from the ground. They did not know what she was gesturing about, at times frowning and at times laughing, joyful just like a child.

Gu Mengmeng played with the beast horn while saying, “When the what’s-his-name comes to share a meal later, bring out the biggest pot we have and let’s cook hotpot. Anyway, since we have new chilli tonight, we won’t have to scrimp on the old ones. Just place everything in the pot to make the soup base.”

Lea nodded and followed her instructions accordingly.

Even though Gu Mengmeng did not name any names, but the whole family knew that Elvis could not cook!

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and sat at the entrance of the stone house. The sunset had dyed half of the sky, such that its glow shone over Gu Mengmeng's body, making her look like a tiny sun that was giving off power, warm and scorching, making one desire, want to treasure and incapable of resisting.

"Hubby, can you help me?" Gu Mengmeng raised her head and met with Elvis' mystic blue eyes that were staring deeply at her.

"Hmm?" Elvis replied with a monosyllable.

That made Gu Mengmeng lower her head shyly and swallow her saliva, "Hubby, your looks make one sinful."

Elvis grinned, "Hmm, when we first met you said, it was against the rules to look as handsome as me, so you would not be responsible."

Gu Mengmeng also recalled the scene when they first met. Hooking her arms around Elvis' neck, she said, "Then, I thought you were an elf that lived in the forest. You looked proud and aloof, minding your own business. Who knew you would end up being a "colored wolf" (pervert in Chinese)."

Elvis returned the smile, replying, "Yes, a black one."

Gu Mengmeng then tilted her head asking, "How did you feel when you met me for the first time?"

Elvis didn't say anything for a moment before responding, "Very angry."

Gu Mengmeng pouted, "What... Shouldn't you say that you fell in love at first sight at such moments?"

Elvis shook his head, "Then, you wore a weird outfit, yet it was capable of making one's blood spurt out from their vessels. Even I could barely control myself then. However, you had your guard down, reaching out to someone whom you didn't even know. The moment I imagine that if that person wasn't me, and another male had seen you dressed like that and held your hand... I would feel a ball of fire burning in my chest, and a desire to bite all the males in this world to death just so you would only belong to me.”

That made Gu Mengmeng feel sweet on the inside. She leaned against Elvis’ chest, “Don’t I belong only to you now~ Come on, my darling, my only hubby, help me carve this beast horn. Here here, carve a straight line~ Yes, that’s right, carefully, slowly...”

Chapter 424 - I Will Accompany You Tomorrow

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

That was the exact scene that Auretin had witnessed when he returned — Gu Mengmeng kneeling in front of Elvis, all attention on commanding how Elvis could carve the beast horn. Throughout the whole process, Elvis had been highly nervous, as if that thing he was holding was not a normal beast horn but a highly valued treasure.

The Elvis, who was like the God of Death according to legend, was actually furrowing his eyebrows and had sweat covering his forehead. The Elvis that could identify his prey from hundreds of fierce wild beasts, was actually being so careful that his sharp claws were quivering.

The wise man of Saint Nazaire, snow fox Lea, had been squatting beside the bonfire trying to add more marches while mixing the soup in the pot, occasionally looking up at Gu Mengmeng and Elvis' battle with the beast horn, smiling gently.

Had the legendary resolutely ruthless black and white pair always been... such happy, gentle people that he was seeing right in front of his very eyes?

Lea had noticed Auretin first. Seeing how he stood there without a word, he waved his hand, "Hey, the guy that's sharing a meal with us. If you have washed the ingredients, then quickly bring them over."

"Oh." Auretin responded but did not move.

Could he... also walk into this blissful frame?

"Ah...!" Gu Mengmeng bemoaned loudly, instantly pouting and making her face look like a bun.

Elvis looked at the beast horn that had broken into eight pieces in his hands, and did not know what to do, “Xiao Meng, don’t be upset. I will hunt such prey back tomorrow, and find a thicker, bigger one for you, how about that?”

Heart aching, Gu Mengmeng held the semi-finished products and nodded helplessly, “That’s the only thing we can do. It’s such a shame, we tried for so long and almost could succeed...”

Elvis did not want to see Gu Mengmeng disappointed, so he held her in his arms and consoled her, “Good girl, I will accompany you tomorrow. With our experience today, we can definitely succeed tomorrow. Believe me, will you?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, responding, “Hmm, then let’s dig in, I’ve been starving all day.”

Elvis turned around, glancing at Auretin who still stood rooted in his original position, saying in a displeased manner, “Do you want to eat together or not? If you don’t want to, I will go prepare other prey.”

It was only then that Auretin finally walked over quickly towards Gu Mengmeng.

His heart was palpitating like crazy. It was as if he was in an illusion that he... was also a member of this family.

Nobody was bothering about the inner activities going inside Auretin’s mind. Lea took the meat in Auretin’s hands and frowned, “Who taught you to handle it like that?”

Auretin replied, confused at the question, “I think his name was Lawson.”

Lea sneered, asking again, “You didn’t tell them, this meat was for Mengmeng to eat, right?”

Auretin shook his head, expressing he did not.

Sighing, Lea said, “I knew it. If you had told them this was for Mengmeng, they would not have pranked you like this.”

Auretin frowned, not understanding what Lea meant.

Lea responded, “You see, the lines on this piece of meat is not properly cut. Females have no sharp teeth, so it is difficult for them to consume. Thus, when we handle prey, we would chop them off at the lines so that females can chew better.”

Upset, Auretin lowered his head, “I’m sorry, I... have never taken care of a female, so I did not know such things.”

Lea patted his shoulders, “You are now a member of Saint Nazaire, and you have such great skills. As long as you are willing, there would certainly be nice females who would be willing to accept you. So, you have to learn these and remember them, otherwise your female would not like you in the future.”

Chapter 425 - Do Not Pity Me

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“My female...?”

Auretin subconsciously looked towards Gu Mengmeng and Elvis, wondering if he would one day find a partner like Gu Mengmeng, who would not despise his past history and would be willing to act cute in his arms, even if it was simply doing meaningless things such as carving beast horns, one who could smile as blissfully.

Smile...

Auretin pulled on the edges of his own lips, wanting to recreate Elvis' expression. It was a shame that his lips were too heavy and could not be pulled up no matter how much he tried.

At the corner, Lea was noticing every expression of Auretin's, and proceeded to pat him on the shoulder, “Jealous?”

Auretin nodded.

Lea replied, “I'm jealous too, once... she used to smile like this in my arms often.”

Auretin gave Lea a pitiful glance.

Responding with a smile, Lea said, “Mengmeng did not abandon me, it was me who made a foolish decision. Hence, I am already sufficiently satisfied that I can guard at her side like this. Do not pity me, for I am not miserable.”

Auretin nodded again, “Actually... I envy you too.”

Lea smiled proudly, wagging his tail, “Of course you should, because other than Elvis, I am the most blissful male in this world.”

Auretin looked at Lea’s tail, asking confusedly, “You are clearly a fully evolved orc, why do you always act like a half-orc?”

Lea stared back at Auretin as if he was an idiot, “Of course it’s because our Mengmeng likes my tail.”

Auretin thought about it again, then asked, “Today, everyone in Sauder suddenly started to act like half-orcs, wagging their tails and revealing their beast ears. Was that all to please Gu Mengmeng?”

Lea nodded, “Probably, but those are fruitless labour. Our Mengmeng only likes black tails and white tails.”

Auretin stayed silent for a moment and slowly transformed out his own tail: a white tail and a black tail... doesn’t that refer to his?

Not saying a word, Auretin focused on watching how Lea handled the prey and memorised them all. His eyes darted towards Gu Mengmeng once in a while and noticed that it was as if she could only see Elvis in her eyes.

If, Elvis could become Gu Mengmeng’s first partner because he had a black tail.

If, Lea could become Gu Mengmeng’s beast pet because he had a white tail.

Then, since he has a tail with a color in between black and white, did it mean that... he could become the third most blissful male in this world?

Lea cut the meat into trim pieces then started to place them into the pot.

Everyone was given a bowl and a pair of chopsticks made from tree branches. The water was bubbling, boiling readily. The slices of meat were thinly cut by Lea, so much so that they were cooked the instant they were placed in the boiling water.

Gu Mengmeng, Elvis and Lea had all begun eating, yet only Auretin was holding the two wooden sticks, not knowing what to do with them. He tried to hold the chopsticks the way Elvis and Lea did, but the moment he got nervous, they snapped between his fingers.

Gu Mengmeng looked up and smiled warmly, “It’s alright, Lea and Elvis were like this too when they first started out using chopsticks. You are just not used to them yet.”

With that, Gu Mengmeng scooped some meat into Auretin’s bowl with her chopsticks and asked, “Isn’t this your first time eating cooked food? Give it a try, see if it suits your taste.”

Auretin did not respond, only raising the bowl and poured all the meat into his mouth.

Chapter 426 - Ah, Are You The Beast Deity?

Auretin's face turned red instantly, and it was as if his mouth was on fire. His eyes met with Gu Mengmeng's expectant gaze and nodded forcefully, "Delicious."

However, Gu Mengmeng clearly felt Auretin's forcefulness.

There was no other way to say it, then that Gu Mengmeng was simply evil by nature.

She knew the people of the beast world never eat anything spicy, the two pieces of meat were definitely Auretin's first experience with spicy food, which certainly made her very expectant. However, what was she expecting? Auretin to scream and jump around after being spiced, yet who knew this chap would not have any reaction...

Actually, it was not that he did not, because his eyelids had twitched twice uncontrollably as his eyes, that had no signs of anger, were filled with bloody capillaries, which made him look hilariously hideous.

Not having seen her predicted reaction, she was more or less rather disappointed, but still passed a bowl of water to Auretin out of kindness, "If you can't take the spice then forget it, drink some water and simmer down."

Auretin remained expressionless, only hesitating as he took the bowl from Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng smiled, "Don't worry, it is clean water, there is nothing strange inside."

“Hmm.” Auretin responded with a monosyllable, then downed the whole bowl of water all at once.

Raising his arms, he used his forearm to wipe his mouth and delivered the bowl back to Gu Mengmeng, “I want more.”

Gu Mengmeng wanted to take the bowl, yet Lea waved his tail around and walked over, “Ah, are you the beast deity?”

Auretin did not understand why Lea asked that. It was clear the answer was not, so he shook his head honestly.

Lea placed one arm around Gu Mengmeng’s waist, and the other taking the bowl from her hands and throwing it back to Auretin’s. He then proceeded to forcefully stuff his big tail into Gu Mengmeng’s arms.

Gu Mengmeng subconsciously rubbed Lea’s tail, making him sigh comfortably before proceeding to look at Auretin, “Our Mengmeng is the biological daughter of the mighty beast deity. Other than him, who else would dare to command her to do anything? Let me warn you, if I ever see you trying to order her around again, I will cook you in the pot.”

It was then that Auretin realised what he had just done.

In the beast world, when has there ever been a logic of a female taking care of a male? Even cubs are taken care of by the fathers, yet he...

“I’m sorry.” Auretin lowered his head, with a sincere tone... and an expressionless face...

This made Gu Mengmeng rather awkward, “Aiya, it’s nothing much. He’s a guest and he doesn’t know where we put our things, so it would be rude if her had gone around touching our things on his own accord. It’s normal to get me to take it, no worries, no worries, you don’t have to apologise~”

Gu Mengmeng rubbed Lea’s chest to soothe him down, then proceeded to smile and appease Elvis, who had his fist ready to punch at any moment. She finally pointed at the water tank not far from them, “Hey, the water is all there, you can just go take them on your own, you don't have to be shy~”

Auretin looked up and asked, “Aren't you going to chase me out?”

Gu Mengmeng asked, “What for?”

Auretin stayed silent, as if he was very troubled by the question. He thought for a moment, “I don't know how to say nice things, and I don't know how to play with you nor please you nastily like he did, even ordering you to do things...”

Gu Mengmeng watched as Auretin pointed to Elvis, then Lea, and almost spat when she heard “nastily”. She patted Auretin's shoulder, “Brother, but you are very humorous. You gave a very brilliant, accurate conclusion!”

Chapter 427 - Stare Any Longer And I Would Gouge Your Eyes Out

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Auretin got giddy from Gu Mengmeng's smile.

In his memory, there had never been a female who smiled at him like that.

When he was small and weak, females used to banish him with displeased expressions, not allowing him to get near their territories.

Then, as he gradually got stronger, females started to feel not as displeased towards him. When he reached his peak at third-level, females from every tribe started to smile at him, then requesting to mate. However, he felt that such smiles were disgusting and made him very uncomfortable, so he would usually walk away before even saying a word of rejection.

Later on, he did not know why either, but more and more females started to express their goodwill towards him. It was as if those that had dared to confess were first beauties from each tribe.

Or perhaps... they were really very pretty? Auretin even started to question his sexual preferences, or else why would he only feel annoyed and disgusted when so many females, who are heavily sought after by other males, confess to him? Luckily, the good thing was, he was not only annoyed by females, but by males too...

Even so, he still goes to the beauty pageant in Sauder annually. He did not want to mate, nor join any tribe, he only... wanted to meet someone.

He did not know what meaning there was in his action either, perhaps he only wanted to know if he was a weird one, and that there are other people in this world who had a similar experience and background as him, yet had hacked through brambles and thorns against all odds to stand at the peak of the world.

He started to subconsciously imitate that person's actions and ways of handling things. He had thought he would always remain this way.

He never thought that a change would happen that quickly.

Suddenly, one day, it was as if the ice in that person's body had melted into water, nourishing his dry soul. There were no longer coldness and indifference in his eyes, the curvature of his lips was no longer only killing and bloodthirsty, his world was no longer only filled with destruction and subversion...

Auretin really wanted to know, how did the man once cold as ice turn into this?

Looking up, Auretin fixed his eyes on Gu Mengmeng's smile, and it was as if... he found the answer.

"Stare any longer and I would gouge your eyes out." Lea bore a grudge against him for calling him "nasty". With a sweep of his tail, he brought Gu Mengmeng back into his arms, "Mengmeng, let's not bother with him, we'll eat our meat."

Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud, and nested in Elvis' arms to poke fun at Lea. Lea was not angry, yet he purposefully delivered a piece of meat to Gu Mengmeng's lips "nastily". Gu Mengmeng opened her mouth, but he took back the meat and raised his chin, "THIS is nasty~"

The three of them roared in laughter while Auretin sat there watching while holding the empty bowl. It was as if he was watching a movie with a warm plot, yet he did not dare to insert himself within.

Gu Mengmeng noticed Auretin in a daze, so she smiled and called out to him, "If you are not used to eating chilli, then go get some water and wash the cooked meat inside before eating so it wouldn't be as spicy."

However, Auretin did not do so, only stiffly picking up his chopsticks, picking up a few large pieces of meat and delivering them straight into his mouth. They were so hot blisters could form, yet it was as if he did not know pain, chewing determinedly, then swallowing...

Gu Mengmeng laughed helplessly, "It is just steamboat, why are you treating it like a life or death matter?"

Auretin looked at Gu Mengmeng, then swallowed the meat in his mouth before replying expressionlessly, "Delicious."

Chapter 428 - Still The Original Recipe, Still The Original Taste

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The sky had already turned dark after the four of them were done eating their dinner. Elvis carried Mengmeng towards the altar, Lea barely stood a foot diagonally behind Elvis and Auretin stood slightly behind Lea, the three of them forming an “<” formation. From the front, it was Elvis carrying Gu Mengmeng in the centre, with Lea on his left and Auretin on his right.

It was clearly their first time walking together, yet it was oddly synchronised without any disharmony.

It was when they arrived at the altar when even Gu Mengmeng, who was practically deaf in the beast world, could hear everyone’s whispers.

“Eh? Auretin really became the mighty messenger’s guardian beast!”

“No wonder he had rejected so many females in the past, he had high standards after all...”

“What do you know? He not only has to have high standards, he must have good skills. Look, doesn’t he look similar to Elvis back in the day?”

“Now that you mention it, he really does. Could it be that the mighty messenger likes these cold types? Eh, take a look and tell me if I look like Elvis without smiling?”

“You? Ha... Do you think the mighty messenger is blind?”

“True, I’ve been of age for so long, but I have only been upgraded to second-level beast. How could I possibly be well-liked by the mighty messenger?”

“That’s right. Look at those beside the mighty messenger? The first partner Elvis upgraded instantly the moment he mated, it wouldn’t make much difference he didn’t peak at fourth-level. It would take minutes before he upgrades to fifth-level. Beast pet Lea, known as the first intelligence, Saint Nazaire rose from nothing to everything under his planning, such that nobody dared to mess with them till date. And the Auretin that just joined, he peaked at third-level for a while now. As long as the mighty messenger is willing to mate with him, he would certainly be the second Elvis... Tsk tsk tsk, even if I could enter such a family just to prepare food and not having the opportunity to mate with mighty messenger in this lifetime, it would still be worth it.”

“Pfft, you might want to, but the mighty messenger would not. Furthermore, so what if you do? Out of Elvis, Lea and Auretin, which one can you win in a fight? You can’t even reach the gate to the battle, you only know how to ramble meaninglessly.”

...

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look back at Auretin awkwardly, then looked at Lea and finally at Elvis. She leaned against Elvis’ ear, whispering as soft as she could, “What do we do? Everyone seems to be mistaken...”

Elvis did not take it to heart, responding, “He doesn’t like females, anyway. If no females pester him to mate in the future, he would come thanking you for saving him the trouble.”

Gu Mengmeng’s face changed as she looked at Elvis with enlarged eyes, repeating, “Huh? He doesn’t like females?!”

Elvis nodded, “Almost every first beauty from each tribe of the entire beast world has confessed to him. If he truly liked females, how would he still be single? He could have been someone’s partner long ago.”

Gu Mengmeng’s fujoshi heart started burning, as she started looking at Auretin and Lea from behind Elvis’ neck... Tsk, so much feels. Ya ya ya, aren’t they so compatible? One “nasty” and the other “cold”, ooh, aren’t they the perfect cross between arrogance and overbearing?

Lea felt a weird chill go down his spine. He looked up and his eyes met with Gu Mengmeng's insidious gaze. He squinted his eyes and felt a sense of familiarity.

Ah, still the original recipe, still the original taste.

Isn't this the same damned expression as when Gu Mengmeng thought him and Elvis were a pair?

Chapter 429 - Lea, Don't Be Rash!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lea followed Gu Mengmeng's line of sight as she was barely able to hold back the snicker on her face.

This Gu Mengmeng had gone to the extent of changing his pairing this time?

Grinding his teeth, Lea went up and knocked Gu Mengmeng on her tiny head, "Stop thinking about nonsensical things."

Gu Mengmeng's face turned red as she mumbled guiltily, "When did I? I didn't think of anything..."

Lea raised his brows, "You better. If not, if not I would pair up Elvis and Auretin to satisfy your fantasies."

Gu Mengmeng felt grossed out, staring right into Lea's eyes, "There will never be a future between two enemies."

Lea watched as both of Gu Mengmeng's arms were tightly wrapped around Elvis' neck, as if she was a child that was afraid of her favorite toy being snatched away. He asked jealously, "Elvis is your precious darling, and I'm just the wild grass by the roadside? You just despise me so much and want to push me to someone else? No females want me, so now you are thinking of males?"

Gu Mengmeng merely wanted to satisfy her kinks and did not have any intentions do actually do anything. Of course, unless both parties were willing.

However, she had always felt a sense of guilt towards Lea, so she had always felt too scared to do anything whenever Lea felt like an upset Samoyed that had been abandoned by his owner.

Sighing, “Nothing much, I just thought... just thought about it only.”

Lea bit on his lower lip, looking begrudgingly at Gu Mengmeng, hesitating and hesitating further before he finally slowly opened his mouth to ask, “If... If I was willing to cooperate, would you... be happy?”

“What?” Gu Mengmeng had always been the type to become bolder whenever one feared her, but terrified when one plays for real.

Lea but his lower lip, as if a dense cloud of humiliation had hazed over his eyes. The smile he was forcing would have made anyone feel sorry, “It’s fine, as long as you like it... I will do it...”

With that, Lea turned and walked towards Auretin, his big tail hanging low, just dragging on the floor like that, allowing dust to get all over it. It got black and dusty, yet Lea treated it like nothing.

That terrified Gu Mengmeng to no end. She was just being mischievous, wanting to satisfy her little fantasy, and did not expect Lea to really flirt with Auretin.

“Lea, don’t be rash!” Gu Mengmeng stretched out her Er Kang arm and yelled.

Lea stopped in his tracks, not turning around, but one could hear the sorrow filled in his voice alone, “You no longer like me... anyway... if I could use my body for you to be happy one last time... it would be worth it.”

Gu Mengmeng’s hair all stood up, what the hell? One last time? Was he planning to...?

“No no no, you... I... That... I’ll never think nonsensical things again, you calm down, calm down...” Even Gu Mengmeng felt herself speaking incoherently.

However, Lea shrugged his shoulders, as if he was trying to hide his tears. He raised one leg with difficulty, continuing to inch forward, “Anyway I’m someone who's despised, the fate of a beast pet... is to provide happiness to females... as long as you are happy... anyway, you don't even like me..."

"I like you!"

Gu Mengmeng broke loose in the heat of the moment.

With that, she subconsciously turned to look at Elvis, and it was as if she got caught in bed red-handed with someone else. She wanted to explain, but she saw Lea turning around and looking at herself with tears in his eyes, as if he had just been snatched from the jaws of death, looking at Gu Mengmeng like an idiot who was unsure about what he just heard.

Gu Mengmeng's explanation was stuck in her throat, and could no longer bring herself to say anything that she had planned to say.

Chapter 430 - Like, I Like You!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Mengmeng, what did you say just now? Say it once more?” Lea’s gaze was shining and his affectionate pupils contained tens of thousands of devotion, twining around Gu Mengmeng’s heart.

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips and said, “Stop joking around and come back. Everyone’s watching.”

Lea looked down and gave a heartbreaking and bitter smile. “How thirsty must I’ve been to start hallucinating...how could you’ve said you like me? You clearly...despise me, detest me and everyday, you’re just coming up with ideas to to ditch me....so how could you...say you like me?”

Turning behind, Lea continued walking towards Auretin with much difficulty. Gu Mengmeng felt that she could hear Yuan Hua’s BGM from ‘Goodbye Mr.Loser’ going, “Snow petals drifting...the north wind whistles....”

“Like, I like you!” Gu Mengmeng made up her mind and shouted at the top of her voice, “Lea, I like you so hurry and roll back here! If you dare to take one more step forward, I’ll ask Elvis to break your legs!”

Lea turned back and smiled at Gu Mengmeng. Choking with sobs, he cried, “Mengmeng, I finally hear you say that you like me again...”

After Lea finished speaking, he evolved into his snow fox form and curled himself into a ball. Prosecuting all of Gu Mengmeng’s orders to the end, he really ‘rolled’ himself back to Gu Mengmeng. Lying on the ground, Lea evolved back into human form and stretched his hands out to hold Gu Mengmeng’s little feet up. He landed a kiss on them and said, “Mengmeng, I’m finally...back.”

Gu Mengmeng chest tightened and her heart skipped a beat. She really wanted to retract her feet back.

However, Lea held onto her ankles firmly and refused to let go. Looking up at her, he said, “This time, you’re the one who said you like me and ask me to roll back so...you’re not allowed to push me away, do you understand? Hmm?”

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms tightly around Elvis’s neck. She really wanted to explain to Elvis that ‘this was not what he imagined’ but she could not bring herself to. Shaking her ankles, she said, “You’re Saint Nazaire’s dignified witch doctor, what’s the point of making yourself appear so pathetic? Are you still not going to stand up?”

Lea gave a faint smile and stood up in an enchanting way. After his evolution, that clean and white large tail became so fair that it was free from all dust and dirt. It was fluffy and had a sturdy touch to it, the frequency of its swaying was not fast but every sway managed to draw a pleasant curve.

Standing next to Gu Mengmeng, he said, “Everything you say is correct, I’ll listen to you.”

Gu Mengmeng clamped her lips together and buried her face into the pit of Elvis’s neck, unwilling to lift her head to look at anyone.

The mass whispering under the Platform had already transformed into chatting voices audible from a distance but it was at a stage where one could not properly hear what they were talking about.

Gu Mengmeng felt that her mind was in an uproar and she could not tidy her thoughts at all.

On the other hand, Elvis carried her while standing on the Platform, not saying a word.

Lea was in charge of identifying whether the things the other males brought back were chili. After eliminating a portion of them who tried to pass off fish eyes as pearls, he then compared the quantity of what was left. The five males who brought back the most chili would successfully be rewarded a place to join Saint Nazaire.

However, nobody knew what was chili nor did they know what functions it had so they eventually gave them all to Gu Mengmeng. Auretin packed them all in an enormous beast-skin pouch for her to take them away.

And this day, those third-level beasts who were enthusiastic in joining Mengmeng's family after seeing how Auretin had succeeded, did not dare to apply to join them again.

Lea's tricks was only able to exchange a forceful sentence of 'like'. After the mighty messenger finished speaking, she did not even want to raise her head anymore. Under this kind of circumstances, who would still dare to imagine that they would be able to get the favor of the mighty messenger? Furthermore...would that sneaky fox allow others to find favor with Gu Mengmeng before himself? Tsk, nobody would believe even if they were to get beaten to death.

Chapter 431 - Hitting is Hitting, Punishing is Punishing, You're Not Allowed To Drive Me Away.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

They returned to their stone house after handling everything. Elvis placed Gu Mengmeng by the bed but Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis's neck, unwilling to release him no matter what. She neither said a word nor looked at him. She just buried her head and clung onto Elvis's neck tightly.

Elvis sighed and said, "I'm not angry, don't worry."

Gu Mengmeng lifted her head up and with her tear-stricken face, she sobbed. "How can you not be angry? If it was me, I would've been crazy mad...but I just blurted that out in a moment of heat, I..."

Seeing Gu Mengmeng cry, Elvis became flustered. He did not dare to put her down and could only carry her in his arms while comforting her softly. Wiping away the tears on her face, he said, "I had prepared myself mentally long ago regarding you mating with Lea. In the future, I won't be your only so disappointment is hard to avoid but I'm not angry, really not angry. Having an extra person protecting you is always better."

"I don't want I don't want..." Gu Mengmeng kicked her legs profusely and wept out loud, making a scene. "Other than you, I don't want anyone else, don't want don't want don't want!"

At wits end, Elvis patted Gu Mengmeng's back and consoled her, "Alright, since you don't want, then let's not want it. Don't cry don't cry."

Under Elvis's comfort, Gu Mengmeng regained her composure. Just then, she realized that Lea and Auretin were standing at the entrance while staring at her intently.

Biting her lower lip, Gu Mengmeng avoided Lea's gaze and said softly, "Lea..."

"Saying sorry again?" Lea walked to Gu Mengmeng while swaying his large tail. Smiling a sly but ambiguous smile, he pinched Gu Mengmeng's little face and said, "Seeing how you cried so badly for me, I would've thought that I was going to die."

Upon hearing Lea's words, the tears that Gu Mengmeng took much effort to hold back started falling down her face like a waterfall.

Lea sighed a frantic but helpless sigh as he said, "Alright alright, don't cry. Actually, the person who should apologize is me. I shouldn't joke around with you like that. Don't be angry, alright?"

"Huh?" Gu Mengmeng wiped her tears away and lifted her face up. Her clear eyes resembled the sky that was washed by water, both squeaky clean and transparent.

Lea gave an evil smile and said, "Here, it's all that share-meal fellow's fault. He made everyone's heart tickle until they all wanted to join your family. You're kind and have a soft heart. What if you couldn't resist them one by one and took those nuisances in? What should we do? So, I thought of a method to create a scene and knock those obsessed and silly males awake. If such an outstanding male like me can't even get your favor, I would really tear anyone who dare to snatch your favor away from me alive. Once they're terrified, they'll not come and annoy you anymore. I guess, they're all waiting to join our family after we mate."

Instantly, Gu Mengmeng's mind stopped operating and she stared at Lea blankly, not saying a word.

Lea cleared his throat and said, "If you're angry, just punish me but let's make things clear. Although it's my mistake for joking around with you, you were the one who asked me to ‘roll back’ so hitting is hitting, punishing is punishing, you’re not allowed to drive me away.”

Gu Mengmeng slowly stretched out her little hand out and twisted Lea’s ear, growling, “So, you deliberately tricked me just now right?!”

Lea winced in pain but he neither dodged nor hid from her. He just allowed her to pinch his ear while he cried out in pain and mercy profusely.

Auretin stood at the entrance with his all-along facial paralysis. He really could not understand, was he that scary? Why was Gu Mengmeng this scared whenever Lea stood close to him...?

Lea rubbed his ear while sitting opposite Gu Mengmeng. With a wronged expression, he complained, "When you like me, you asked me to 'roll back'. When you're angry at me, you pinch my ear... weep weep weep, Gu Mengmeng, you're so heartless."

Gu Mengmeng straightened her neck and said, "It was a temporary measure when I said I like you or else, wouldn't such an innocent and good tiger be implicated by you the bad fox?"

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng with a face full of detest. "Didn't I do that to match your gross interest?"

Gu Mengmeng shouted with her arms akimbo, "I don't have!"

Lea gave a charming smile with the three words 'I don't believe' clearly written all over his face. Covering his mouth, he smiled and said, "Alright alright alright, since you said you don't have, then so be it."

Gu Mengmeng's face darkened like coal and she looked up at Elvis, saying, "Hubby, you've got to believe me. I really don't have."

Elvis's gaze was complicated. He glanced at Lea before looking at Gu Mengmeng. "You've got a record."

Gu Mengmeng almost bit off her own tongue...

Jesus Christ, please send a lightning down to strike her to death! Which nerves of hers were paired wrongly back then? Why did she actually confess to Elvis that she suspected that Lea and him were a couple....

"Xiao Meng." Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng's red and swollen eyes and said, "I'll go boil some water for you to have a good bath. After that, you can take a comfortable nap.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head but the next moment, she shook it and said, “I don’t want you to leave me, not even a foot.”

Elvis was helpless and he said, “Why don’t you get on my back and I’ll carry you to boil some water, alright?”

“Yeah,” Gu Mengmeng crawled like an octopus from Elvis’s arms to his back. Circling his neck with her arms, she lied on his broad back and whispered softly, “I won’t let you go even if I die so don’t think of abandoning me....”

Elvis was taken aback. Smiling, he asked, “Fool, why would I abandon you?”

Gu Mengmeng did not say anything and she just bit her lower lip while clinging onto Elvis’s shoulder, not bearing to let him go.

Elvis remained silent and went out to boil some water.

Lea brought Auretin out of the stone house tactfully. After walking into the darkness outside the stone house, he shook his tail and started to emit beast pressure.

Auretin looked at him sideways and asked, “Why did you say that just now?”

Lea turned his head and gave Auretin a surprised smile. “Even you saw through me?”

Auretin nodded his head and explained, “If you wanted to prevent others from displaying their affection towards Gu Mengmeng, directly killing them will be a much simpler and effective method. This move of yours...is too torturous and too troublesome, it’s not the usual style of you and Elvis.”

Lea nodded in agreement and said, “Not bad, your observation skills are quite good.”

Auretin was confused, so he probed further, “So why did you say that?”

Lea stayed silent and his smile faltered. With a miserable tone, he opened his mouth slowly after a long time to reply, “Sauder is a place that made me lose my breath while she’s the only oxygen in this world for me. If I don’t heard her say that she likes me....I might not be able to hold on.”

Auretin had quite some knowledge about Lea being banished. Although it was not detailed, he knew the outline of the entire matter. Without any expression on his face, Auretin placed his hand on Lea’s shoulder stiffly and patted it, like how a robot would, to show his comfort.

Lea looked at him and smiled. “If Mengmeng sees this, her imagination will run wild again.”

Auretin could not understand what he meant. He did not reply Lea and just looked at him while asking, “Since she already says that she likes you, why don’t you take the chance to mate with her?”

Chapter 433 - How Much Does She Hate You

Lea lowered his head and looked at his unclear figure under the moonlight. He slowly said, "I forced her once before and in the end, I lost her....when she was in such a difficult position, only I know how badly my heart ached. I won't force her to do things she doesn't like anymore, not a single thing."

Auretin looked at Lea and said, "But you looked like you're in a lot of pain now."

Lea glanced to his side and smiled. "Compared to watching her cry, this pain doesn't matter much."

Auretin remained silent for some time before replying, "Yeah, she cried really badly just now. How much does she hate you for her to cry that much just because of one 'like' sentence..."

Lea raised his brow and extended his claw, throwing it towards Auretin's face directly.

Auretin was used to living a vagrant life, so he had a natural instinct towards danger. He turned his body aside and successfully dodged the attack.

You normally don't have to ask why males fight because fighting was originally the reason why...

On the other side, Elvis poured the boiling water into the large bathtub made out of stone and then removed Gu Mengmeng's clothes before placing her into the water.

Gu Mengmeng was still holding onto one of Elvis's arms and did not want to release him no matter what. Elvis was helpless too and could only lie by the side of the bathtub while staring at Gu Mengmeng. He asked, "Tell me, why did you cry?"

Gu Mengmeng bit her lip and lowered her head, not having the courage to look into Elvis's eyes. After hesitating for a while, she muttered, "I said some words that I can't take responsibility for so I felt embarrassed; And... saying those words in public made me feel that I've let you down, so I was really scared that you'll see me as a woman of loose morals and leave me in a moment of fury...."

While talking, Gu Mengmeng's tears started to drop again.

Elvis sighed and wiped away Gu Mengmeng's tears gently. "You've... done enough for me. Even if you're to mate with Lea, I won't have any opinion. After all, as compared to other females, you only have me and Lea, that's still too little."

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and grabbed onto Elvis's arm tightly, saying, "Hubby, I know I'm in the wrong, I won't be reckless and shout at you in the future anymore. Don't be angry..."

Elvis ruffled Gu Mengmeng's head and said, "I'm not angry, I'm really not angry."

Gu Mengmeng retorted, "You liar, in the morning, your face was still black and you were clearly jealous. Now, you suddenly want me to take in partners, you're obviously doing this out of spite..."

Elvis smiled and said, "If it's others, I might be angry...but if it's Lea, I think I can. After all...you like him."

The corners of Gu Mengmeng's mouth dropped and she stared at Elvis with her round eyes filled to the brim with tears. Appearing so pitiful, her vulnerable and sobbing look made one heart ache as she cried, "Hubby..."

Elvis stood up and lifted his long legs to enter the bathtub. Hugging Gu Mengmeng in his arms, he placed his chin on her head and said, “Yeah, I’m here. I’m always here, I will never leave you. Don’t worry.”

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis’s waist and leaned her face against his chest, playing with his long wet and black hair. In the water, the strands of hair looked like smudged ink that encompassed a type of inner secret, a type of faint discernibility and a type of difficulty to control.

Gu Mengmeng hesitated for a moment but eventually lifted her head up to take the initiative in covering Elvis’s lips with hers.

Elvis was dumbfounded for a second but immediately, he was captivated and trapped in that sensation, returning her kiss with utmost focus and affection.

In the past, this kind of matter was always the result of Elvis’s hard pestering but this time...it was the first time Gu Mengmeng took the initiative.

Chapter 434 - If I Can't Erect For My Entire Lifetime, Won't You Be The Happy One?

Elvis gently tidied up the mess in detail, wrapping Gu Mengmeng up in a beast skin. Then, he made the flame at the fireplace bigger before turning to exit the stone house.

Lea had long since come back and was squatting by the entrance the whole time.

Elvis glanced at him and asked, "Why did you become like that?"

Lea smirked and said, "It's alright, I was just testing Auretin's skills."

Elvis sighed and sat down cross-legged next to Lea. He did not look at him as he continued speaking, "What's the point of holding it in if you're feeling upset internally? If you said it out loud...Xiao Meng would probably..."

"Don't implicate her in. The less she knows about it, the better it is for her." Lea interrupted Elvis and said, "I just want her to change her mind and like me, not...pity me."

Elvis remained silent. He was having an internal conflict between hoping that Lea would be happy and thirsty to get more alone time with Gu Mengmeng. Silence was his only solution to handle things now.

Lea smiled and looked towards Elvis, saying, "After the rainy season comes, there can be a greater variety to Mengmeng's food and her body will become better than before."

Elvis stared at Lea blankly, not understanding what he meant.

Lea gave an ambiguous smile and said, “The time period of her moaning is a lot longer than before and her volume had increased too. Does this imply that she....has slowly gotten used to it?”

Originally, mating was not a topic that one needed to avoid in the Beast World but whenever they talked about it, Gu Mengmeng would always feel embarrassed and this made Elvis feel the same too.

His ears were secretly tinted red and Elvis looked away, saying, “It’s not good to always eavesdrop on us, be careful you may not get...turned on in the future.”

Lea, however, laughed out loud and said, “If I can’t get erect for my entire lifetime, won’t you be the happy one?”

Elvis’s face flushed red and he looked like a loincloth being flipped open. He did not reply Lea and just stood there, his ears turning redder.

Lea squinted his eyes and said, “Did you notice that you’re becoming more and more like Mengmeng? Looking at the advancement of this trend...if Mengmeng really doesn’t want to accept me, I might really just pair up with you and perform some things she wants to see but don’t dare to admit.”

Elvis glared at that wickedly handsome and ambiguous face of Lea just at the tip of his nose and bared his teeth, growling with a dark face, “Get lost, I’m not interested in males.”

Lea shrugged his shoulders and said, “I’m also not interested in males initially but....I’m interested in Mengmeng’s males.”

As Lea said, he even touched Elvis’s tail affectionately.

Elvis exploded on the spot and he chased Lea around, threatening to beat him.

Although Lea just fought a battle with Auretin, the energy Elvis spent chasing him around was not much lesser than fighting a battle. Moreover, both of them were not bodies meant for putting on a desperate fight so in the end, no winner was born from between the both of them and the battle ended up as a draw. They eventually lied at the entrance of the stone house, sprawled out on their backs while panting out of fatigue. They smiled and smiled and after a while, fell into a sound sleep.

The next morning, Gu Mengmeng felt that her throat was extremely dry, so she wanted to get up and fetch some water. In the end, she witnessed Elvis and Lea sleeping together as if they were filming 'The Story of a Noble Family'tsk tsk tsk, all there was left was a field of sunflowers missing.

Gu Mengmeng stood above where their heads were and used a fluffy grass to tickle Elvis's nose.

Elvis sneezed but did not wake up.

Gu Mengmeng then went and fiddle with Lea's ear. Lea's ear fluttered but then, he went back to sleep again.

"Morning, mighty messenger." With a radiant smile, Cole looked at Gu Mengmeng self-entertaining herself and greeted her.

Gu Mengmeng raised her head and when she saw Cole, she was a little surprised but did not show a too exaggerated expression. She just smiled a meaningful smile and said, "Morning, do you have something to say?"

Elvis's and Lea's eyes opened before Cole said his first word. Elvis flipped himself over and stood next to Gu Mengmeng while Lea supported himself on his elbow and looked at Cole while lying on his side, smiling but not saying a word.

A distanced but meaningful smile was still hanging on Cole's face. He bowed towards Gu Mengmeng before saying, "You don't have to defend yourselves against me like that. Sauder is the most loyal servant of the mighty messenger, we won't do anything that will hurt the mighty messenger."

Lea did not bother patronizing him and just sniggered, "You guys are the servants of the previous mighty messenger, not Mengmeng's."

Cole did not have any expression as he said, "I'm a fifth-level orc and had already reached the peak. Do you think that you two can...stop me if I really were to do something?"

Gu Mengmeng originally did not have a bad impression of Cole but he kept dissing Lea these few days and that made her feel really uncomfortable.

Although Lea and her were not a married couple, they were considered to be friends, right? Even if they were not friends, they were at least roommates, right?

As the saying goes, 'For someone's sake', yeah, Lea was not a husky but one should look at who's the owner when hitting a Samoyed right?!

Gu Mengmeng took a step forward and said, "I heard that Sauder has always been protecting the Flame Devil that the messenger of the Beast Deity had left behind. Then.....if the Flame Devil starts a fire, do you guys have a solution?"

Cole was taken aback and he took a step backwards. Kneeling on the ground with one knee, he placed his right palm over his left chest and gave a bow like an ancient European knight. "Please cease your anger, mighty messenger, Cole has forgotten for a moment that Lea's not the Ninth Highness of Sauder nor Cole's little brother anymore. He's your mighty messenger's beast pet...it's Cole's fault for offending the mighty Lea. Please punish me, mighty messenger and pardon Sauder."

Gu Mengmeng did not reply Cole and acted as if she did not see him kneel there. "Say, what's your motive for coming here? I don't think you came here merely to waste my air right?"

Cole maintained that kneeling position and did not move an inch. He answered her with respect, "A female that the mighty messenger brought has raised an application to join Sauder. Servant can't make a decision so servant's here to seek advice from the mighty messenger."

Gu Mengmeng knew that he was talking about Ellie.

She tugged the corners of her lips and said, "Females have the right to choose the tribe they want to stay in. Even if I'm the messenger of the Beast Deity, it isn't right for me to restrain her. Think over it carefully, if you want to take her in, then take her in. If you don't want, then so be it. You don't have to ask me, I can't control her."

"This...." Cole looked like he was in a difficult position.

Gu Mengmeng could not care much about him. She just snorted and continued, "I'll be announcing the recruitment topic for the round today. Then, I'll choose all the warriors for my tribe in one go. Tomorrow morning, we'll head back to Saint Nazaire. Thank you for your warm hosting this period of time, I was pleased to stay here but... this is eventually not my home so it doesn't feel too good living under another's roof. Saint Nazaire will not join any beauty pageants in the future. Cole leader, do you understand?"

"Living under another's roof?!" Cole looked at Gu Mengmeng in terror.

Gu Mengmeng smiled and nodded her head before helping Lea up. "At Saint Nazaire, this siren of mine can get whatever he wants and is an extremely respected one. But once he came here, you were the first one who beat him back to his original self and after that, he was publicly shamed. Today, he's even threatened and intimidated....tsk tsk tsk, aren't you clearly showing me a dirty look and asking me to hurry and get lost?"

Cole could not lift his head and that smile he always hung on his face was replaced with a flustered one. “It’s all servant’s fault for not having a sense of propriety and giving the mighty Lea the cold shoulder. Servant seek forgiveness from the mighty messenger, in the future... this kind of things won’t happen again.

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “Indeed, this kind of things won’t happen again because... I won’t come to Sauder in the future anymore.”

Cole’s gaze brightened for a moment, making it hard to tell whether his gaze was bright or dark.

After staying silent for a while, he said, “No matter where the mighty messenger is, Sauder will always be following your tribe. When you wish to come here, no matter where you are, we’ll always head out to welcome you. When you don’t wish to come....we’ll stay on the spot without going beyond our boundaries and await the mighty messenger’s mercy on us.

Gu Mengmeng thought to herself, “Oh my, you still have two sides to you, huh?? I didn’t know that you can talk so well when scolding our Lea.”

But thoughts were thoughts, Gu Mengmeng did not say anything out loud and just huddled herself up in Elvis’s arms. She turned her head away, implying that she wanted to ignore him.

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng while saying, “How much more air are you deciding to waste?”

Cole did not lose his temper and just smiled. “That that female...”

Lea slowly stood up and dusted off the dirt on his body. “Didn’t Mengmeng say that it’s all up to you?”

Carl tightened his fist and bowed towards Lea. “Yes, mighty Lea.”

Lea was taken aback and gave a sarcastic smile. “This is my first time hearing this title from you, it’s quite fresh.”

Cole ignored Lea and bowed only at Gu Mengmeng before saying, “Then, subordinate will take his leave first.”

Gu Mengmeng did not care much about him and instead, saw Auretin walking towards them while carrying a large animal.

Gu Mengmeng waved her hands at him in delight and shouted, “Auretin, are you here to share a meal with us?”

Auretin was taken aback and wanted to laugh but did not know what to think about. Read the next chapter on our vipnovel.com

So this was how it felt to have something expecting your return. No wonder, he’s clearly not a family member of Gu Mengmeng’s family but every time he went to her, she would use the word ‘return’ unknowingly.

When Auretin and Cole brushed against each other, they did not pause or reduce the speed of their footsteps even by an inch. However, just within that split second, they still peered at each other with a baffling smell of gunpowder.

Auretin placed the gigantic animal on the ground, then said, “I was scared that I’ll break the beast horn you wanted so I could only bring back the entire animal. Let Elvis break it off for you and after that, I’ll handle the meat. We’re eating hotpot today.”

Auretin was still looking like someone with face paralysis when he was talking. He, himself, did not know when did he stop using facial expressions to express his emotions. Regardless of whether he was happy or sad, he would never show it on his face.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled loudly and patted Auretin's arm, saying, "Hotpot is nice but we can't eat it everyday. We shall eat something else today."

We....

Auretin savored the word, it seemed like... this was the first time he heard this word.

Nodding his head, Auretin said, "I'm not picky, I eat everything."

Gu Mengmeng asked, "Then do you eat bird eggs? Lea likes it a lot but Elvis doesn't."

Auretin thought over it for a while and remained silent before replying, "I think I'll enjoy eating it."

"Think?!" Gu Mengmeng laughed while asking, "Do you not know whether you enjoy it or not?"

Auretin shook his head and said, "I didn't eat bird eggs before... so I'm not sure."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Auretin with some form of pity and sorrow while saying, "You actually did not try bird eggs before?! Those who didn't eat bird eggs before are not complete!"

Chapter 437 - If You're Unwilling To Submit, Go And Snatch It Back

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Auretin contemplated over it in all apparent seriousness before saying, "It's alright, there are a lot of places where my life isn't complete. Although I can no longer make up for some, I think I can try to make up for the.....bird egg eating."

Gu Mengmeng patted Auretin's chest in deep relief and said, "Such aspiration, you're really a good tiger!"

Auretin felt a baffling type of mission he had to complete and with all his heart, he felt that bird-egg eating was a very dignified and holy matter.

Nodding, he asked, "Then I'll go search for some bird eggs. What kind of birds do you want?"

Gu Mengmeng clapped her hands and said, "Young fellow, you still don't quite understand me. Why will our house lack bird eggs? Everyday, Lea will go and steal... hmm... find a few fresh ones to store. As for the manufacturing factory, let's not be too picky because they will give the same taste after they're cooked."

Auretin nodded, not fully understanding her, before pointing to the gigantic beast and asked, "Then do you still want this horn?"

"Yeah, I wanted a rhinoceros horn comb for a long time. Look at my hair, it already started to tangle and no matter how much I wash it, there's no use. I don't even know how much my hair has broken using that wooden comb." Recalling those few wooden combs that Elvis made for her, Gu Mengmeng whined. She originally thought that wooden combs were not bad because a good wood on Taobao was sold for a few hundred dollars. Then, wouldn't a comb made of original wood at an antique level worth several cities? Who would've thought that.....those combs sold on Taobao were soaked in oil while she only had lard extracted from the fats of animals and that could not be used for soaking wooden combs. In the end, the wooden combs were both dry and hard, after its water content had subsided, countless pricks started forming too....

Sigh, only tears were left after saying so much.

Elvis's heart ached at watching his wife suffer and he especially could not bear to see her living as if life meant nothing to her. Thus, he did not say anything else and just stepped forward to break the beast horn off the gigantic beast with a snap. He walked past Auretin while shaking the beast horn and said, "I want this thing."

Auretin had no expression or any reaction on his face....

Gu Mengmeng noticed how the scene in front of her was just almost replaying the scene from yesterday and gave an awkward smile. She patted Auretin and said, "Don't take it to heart, my hubby's like that. He doesn't know how to say beautiful words but his personality is still very good..."

Elvis returned and scooped Gu Mengmeng up from her waist, carrying her in his arms. He sniggered at Auretin and said, "There's no need to explain, I snatched his things away, if you're unwilling to submit....go and snatch it back."

Gu Mengmeng earnestly said in a grave tone, sounding like an old chairperson, "Hubby, snatching someone's things is not right."

Elvis raised his brow and said, "If I can snatch his things, that proves that I'm stronger than him. He can't even protect his own things so he can only blame himself for being useless. Seizing by force is the correct principle, why is it not right?"

Gu Mengmeng did not have anything to retort against him so she blinked her eyes and squeezed out a sentence, "Then the person you snatched from will be very sad."

Elvis, however, smiled and turned his head to look at Auretin; asking him, “Hey, I heard you’re sad?”

Auretin looked at Gu Mengmeng blankly then slowly shook his head and said, “I’m not sad.”

Elvis pinched Gu Mengmeng’s face and smiled. “The males in the Beast World won’t be sad just because they got snatched from. To us, sad is the most useless emotion. We just want ourselves to become stronger and snatch it back.”

Chapter 438 - I'll Accompany You To Oppress The People

Gu Mengmeng was at wits' end as she looked at her slim arms and legs. She whined, "Sigh.....what if my things get snatched away one day.....is my only solution admitting my unlucky streak?"

Elvis sniggered and said with his fierce gaze, "I would like to see who dares to snatch your things away."

Gu Mengmeng felt a warm sensation in her heart and she instantly transformed into her fan-girl mode. With worship written all over her face, she hugged onto Elvis's neck and landed a kiss on his face with a smack. Then, she said, "Hubby, you're so manly, too handsome too handsome~~"

Elvis was brought to laughter by Gu Mengmeng as he threw the beast horn to Lea before carrying Gu Mengmeng to a spot far away from the fireplace so as to prevent the heat from getting to her.

Lea received the beast horn, then used a large bowl to scoop some water and started cleaning it. On the other hand, Auretin carried the gigantic beast while heading outside to handle his prey. The teamwork between the three males did not require any words and they did not even need a gaze.

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and smiled. "If the chambers of the emperor's imperial concubines are as harmonious as you guys, the emperor will live such a happy life."

Elvis tilted his head and asked, "You want to be the emperor?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "I don't dare to imagine it as I wish. Do you think that living with so much blessing is such an easy thing to enjoy? It appears to be an easy-going atmosphere but in fact, it's full of scheming against others, unexpected miserable failures, people rising up the ranks after one falls and ruthless bloodshed. Tsk tsk tsk, luckily I transmigrated here. If I transmigrated into a drama of imperial fights and struggles, oh my, I don't think I can even survive past two episodes."

Elvis didn't quite understand Gu Mengmeng's calculation units, what exactly was the concept of two episodes, he could not explain it clearly. He just liked to see how Gu Mengmeng beaming with joy so he followed her words and asked, "That....other than the emperor, what kind of people can enjoy a blessed life?"

Gu Mengmeng pouted and said, "Actually, ancient men can have around three to four number of wives. Other than noble descendants with imperial authority, rich merchants can also have a bunch of pretty concubines to form his family. Besides those wives with a title, they will also raise many performers for their enjoyment. When they leave their houses, that's even worse. Seven to eight bodyguards will follow them from behind and they will beat up those whom they dislike, that's considered as acting as a tyrant while oppressing the people. Tsk tsk tsk... although it's immoral, it feels quite good and impressive thinking about it, right?"

Elvis thought for a while and pointed at his own nose, saying, "Pretty concubine."

Gu Mengmeng, "...?!"

Elvis then pointed at Lea and said, "Performer."

Gu Mengmeng, "...?!"

Elvis then pointed at Auretin who had just came back with a bunch of cut meat pieces and said, "Bodyguard."

Gu Mengmeng, "...?!"

Elvis smiled and rubbed Gu Mengmeng's little head, asking with a genial expression, "Rich merchant, who do you want to hit? After we finish our meal later, we three will accompany you to oppress the people, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng burst out into laughter, “Pfft....ha ha ha ha....”

Gu Mengmeng laughed so much until she bent over with her smile spreading across her entire face, her eyes not visible at all. Slapping her thigh, she exclaimed, “You three? Pretty concubine? Performer? And even bodyguard?”

Elvis nodded his head seriously and said, “If you don’t have enough bodyguards, including the ones from Saint Nazaire and those who just joined us.....yeah, there should be seven to eight of them.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands and said while laughing, “Auretin the fellow who came to share meals can still forcefully act as a bodyguard but a pretty concubine and a performer are fem...females, do you get it?! Ha ha ha ha...”

Elvis frowned and asked, “Is a rich merchant a male?”

Chapter 439 - I Want To Be The Favorite Concubine Too

Gu Mengmeng nodded.

Elvis roared, “How can a male have so many females? This is being unloyal, he should get on the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment!”

After Gu Mengmeng finished laughing, she slowly opened her mouth to speak, “The ancient period of China is actually very similar to the cultural habits here, just that we have to switch the identities of females and males. If this was in the ancient period, the females who have so many males will have to be drowned in a wicker basket.”

Lea walked over while shaking his tail and after he gave the washed beast horn to Elvis, he lay next to Gu Mengmeng softly and used his large tail to act as a back cushion of a sofa for her. He sat next to Gu Mengmeng in a flirtatious but charming way and pursed his mouth while clutching his throat, saying, “I don’t want to be a performer, I don’t know how to sing or dance. I want to be a pretty concubine, those who specialize in warming up your bed and accompanying you to sleep.”

Gu Mengmeng said a ‘Huh,’ in detest before continuing, “I have Elvis, I don’t need you to warm up my bed and also don’t need you to accompany me to sleep.”

Lea, however, was not angry and he stood upright, lying on Gu Mengmeng’s thighs. “Then, I want to be the favorite concubine, I want to defend the entrance of the house when you and Elvis are mating~”

Gu Mengmeng blushed and almost crashed herself on Lea’s head on the spot so that they could perish together.

Auretin placed the handled prey down and said in a faint tone, “I’ll be the bodyguard, I’ll beat up whoever you want to beat...”

Gu Mengmeng exerted all her strength and pushed Lea away, huddling back into Elvis’s arms. Shaking her head, she sighed while thumping her chest and stomping her feet. “Sigh, it’s alright if the fox isn’t a decent fox but now even the tiger’s led astray....I’m not even a tyrant, why would I go around beating others up without rhyme or reason? I won’t oppress the people either!”

Elvis thought over it and said, “You clearly said it before when beating Nina up that you don’t need a reason to hit her.....”

Gu Mengmeng, “...”

Elvis said, “You always stick together with Sandy and also bully Bode... is that not considered as oppressing the people?”

Gu Mengmeng asked in doubt, “Are you really my husband?”

Elvis nodded and said with a serious face, “Replacement guaranteed if not genuine, we encourage verifying your identification.”

Gu Mengmeng growled with her cheeks puffed up, “I’m not talking to you guys anymore. I’m hungry, I want to eat!”

Lea tilted his head and suggested, “Let me be your favorite concubine and I’ll cook for you.”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes at him and roared, “Damn it, I’ll not let you be anything! If you don’t want to cook for me, so be it, I’ll cook it myself!”

Lea turned around and stuck himself against Gu Mengmeng’s back. He wrapped her entire being from behind gently and squeezed his fluffy large tail into her arms after sweeping it past her waist.

Lea placed the side of his face close to Gu Mengmeng’s ear, his long eyes filled with charm. With a tint of ambiguous mist in his voice, he said in a tone that got Gu Mengmeng fed up, “Why don’t you be my favorite concubine then? I can cook for you and moreover, I won't raise any performer or bodyguards, I'll just treat you as my one and only, alright?"

Gu Mengmeng peered at the large tail in her arms and made up her mind, sending it into her mouth and giving it a huge crunch.

"Ouch~~" Lea gave a loud cry of doom.

Damn it, the howl by that voice scared Gu Mengmeng to death until she stared blankly at him. If you're in pain, you can cry all you want, why are you crying as if you're moaning in bed?! You still hung on to the last sound for such a long time and even gave it some changes in pitch....

Gu Mengmeng struggled to get out of Lea's embrace and turned around to return into Elvis's arms. Glaring with a flushed face, she lightly bit onto her lower lip and hatred was written all over her face.....she wanted to scold the Lea who looked like he was just raped by someone but sadly, she could not find any appropriate words to do so.

Chapter 440 - You're A Tiger, You're Such A Tiger!

Breakfast was very simple, Lea steamed chicken egg custard and ordered Auretin to hit the meat pieces using his fist into minced meat. Then, he squeezed them into meatballs before boiling them in water and adding small potato pieces after that to cook a pot of potato meatball soup. The main dish is simmered sweet potatoes. However, there were only two sweet potatoes, Gu Mengmeng and Lea would have one each because Elvis and Auretin would never eat that thing.

Gu Mengmeng used a small bowl and shared some chicken egg custard with Auretin for him to have a try. This fellow really did not let down his tribe. He raised his head and poured the piping-hot chicken egg custard down his throat. Even though it scalded him so badly until his eyes become bloodshot, no expression could be seen on his face and he still had his usual face paralysis.

Gu Mengmeng poured some water for Auretin while saying, "Are you a tiger? Do you not know how to blow to cool it a little before eating? Sigh....I really can't miss out any words. Let me tell you, my sons have much more experience than you in eating.....I really don't know how you survived until now? Why didn't you get choked to death?"

Auretin drank the water and felt a lot better. After breathing a deep breath out, he replied, "Yes, I'm a tiger."

Gu Mengmeng could not help but slap Auretin's chest, "I know you're a tiger, you're such a tiger!"

Auretin nodded to show his acknowledgment.

After breakfast, the three males accompanied Gu Mengmeng to the Platform. This time, other than males, there were many females gathered here too.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head to look at Lea and Lea whispered to her ear, “One in those five that found the chilli previously and another one who won in the hunting competition had mated with the same female. So, the females started comparing amongst themselves to see who can get more outstanding males from the group of winners.”

The sides of Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched, f, was stamp collecting a trend in the Beast World too?

She shook her head helplessly and noticed that the males did not regard the behaviors of those females as inappropriate and instead, gave a more enthusiastic response.

But it’s true that only males would rack their brains to choose females, where would they see females taking the initiative to choose them? And moreover, it was mass choosing, the winners could choose the female they like from the bunch. It was only something they dared to imagine when they were sleeping and now, it was fulfilled.

Gu Mengmeng counted, the original plan was to accept 50 males. The first batch was to find 10 males, excluding Auretin who became her guardian beast after that baffling sharing of meal, the other nine brought their females along too. Those nine females also brought their original partners over and adding the total number of people in the first batch, it already exceeded their limit. But Gu Mengmeng only counted the winners and their females, she did not count those who trailed along. But the magical thing was that nobody protested against her plan. It was only after a very long time later when Gu Mengmeng knew that they did not have any objection because they did not know how to count....

So, they completely had no concept of how many people was the 50 Gu Mengmeng had mentioned. They only knew that there were still slots left for them to battle for.

There were 19 in the first batch while there were five from the second batch. Three out of the five originally had partners with one of them mating with the same female as another one from the first batch. Another one of them also had a new partner so adding both batches together, there was a total of 28 orcs.

So for this batch, Gu Mengmeng had 22 slots.

Peering at the males burning with eagerness and the females giggling and flirting below the Platform, Gu Mengmeng did not hesitate by the slightest bit that some females would succeed in collecting the stamps. So, Gu Mengmeng bravely announced that this was the last recruitment with only 15 slots left. The topic of this competition was called treasure hunt.

Chapter 441 - Cole Doing His Utmost Best To Please And Woo

On the way back, Gu Mengmeng secretly gave Lea 15 woven little balls made up of rattan. The balls were empty so Gu Mengmeng placed the opened chilli in the balls. Then, Lea handed them to Ian and asked him to send people to hide those balls. The exact hiding locations of the balls were unknown, let alone Gu Mengmeng, even Ian himself did not know.

This was why Gu Mengmeng dared to give 15 slots because she predicted that they would not be able to get back a portion of the balls.

Gu Mengmeng took out a woven little ball from her arms and shook it twice before saying, “There are 15 of this kind of balls scattered across the forest at the back of the mountains. Before sunset, the people who comes back with the balls will be able to join Saint Nazaire.”

After she finished speaking, she threw the rattan ball into the crowd and said, “This is your last chance because after this competition is over, Saint Nazaire will not be recruiting anymore people this year. And tomorrow morning, all winners will be returning to Saint Nazaire with me. Warriors, I’ll be waiting here for a glorious return.”

Once Gu Mengmeng ended her speech, deafening roars of a hundred beasts from under the Platform rang across the skies.

Gu Mengmeng’s little ball created a big ruckus in the crowd but she was not worried that they would undergo a stomping war again. Turning her head and cuddling herself up in Elvis’s arms, she said, “Hubby, let’s go home and make the rhinoceros horn comb. Be careful this time round and don’t break it again.”

Elvis smiled while nodding his head. “Alright, I’ll be very careful, very careful.”

Of course, Gu Mengmeng eventually did not get the rhinoceros horn comb of her dreams because that beast horn broke into pieces in Elvis’s hands again.

Gu Mengmeng’s face fell and she smacked her lips. “Forget it, I don’t want it that badly either...”

Just as she was saying, Elvis suddenly carried Gu Mengmeng up. Although her senses were not as sensitive as males, she could still feel it when the three fellows became defensive instantly. She turned her head and saw Cole standing nearby, leisurely swaying his fox tail that was one size bigger than Lea’s.

The corners of Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched, didn’t she said things clearly the last time? Why is he here again? How awkward will it be for everyone?

Cole, however, acted as if nothing happened previously and he stood in front of Gu Mengmeng naturally and calm. Giving a respectful bow, he called, “Mighty messenger.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled awkwardly and asked, “What’s the matter?”

Cole extended his hand with his palm facing upwards. A delicate rhinoceros horn comb was lying on his palm and appeared gentle and warm when reflecting the sunlight.

Gu Mengmeng was extremely shocked and without thinking, she blurted, “Where did you buy this?”

Cole smiled and replied, “Buy? Oh, this is specially made by subordinate. Its appearance... is made according to the comb your mighty messenger always use, just that I made slight changes to some details.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head, her arms still wrapped around Elvis's neck. She did not take Cole's comb but her big eyes were clearly saying three words 'I want it'.

Cole stepped forward and stretched his hand out. "If the mighty messenger doesn't despise subordinate, please accept subordinate's heartfelt intentions."

Gu Mengmeng pointed at her nose with her finger and asked, "Is it for me?"

Cole nodded to show his reply.

Gu Mengmeng asked in great defense, "What's the terms for this exchange?"

Cole was taken aback for a second before he shook his head and said, "Being able to do something for the mighty messenger is already my greatest honor, Cole don't have the courage to raise any terms with the mighty messenger."

Gu Mengmeng frowned, her gaze filled with defense. She said faintly, “One who is unaccountably solicitous is hiding evil intentions.”

Carl gave a gracious smile and said, “If I must really choose, I’ll choose evil.”

Gu Mengmeng growled internally, “Can you please keep that gentlemanly smile on your face when you’re saying so indecent words? It’s so out of sorts!”

Gu Mengmeng hugged herself tightly around Elvis’s neck and stared at Cole like she’s being wary of a pervert. “Forget it, I don’t want your comb. You can just bring it back and comb your fur.”

Cole looked at his own tail and said, “Thank you mighty messenger for your concern but our snow fox tribe’s fur don’t require any special care. We just need to evolve between our human and beast forms so that the dirt can be squeezed away and our fur will be naturally fluffy. So, I don’t need the comb.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “Then, I can’t do anything about it. You handle your stuff yourself.”

Cole was confused, so he asked, “But don’t the mighty messenger always wanted a comb?”

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes and shook her head. “Sigh, males are always males, no matter how smart they are, they can never understand what a girl is thinking.”

Cole blinked before he suddenly came to realize. “Mighty messenger, please receive this at ease. Although Cole hopes to become your beast pet, if the mighty messenger’s unwilling, Cole will never dare to offend you. Please ignore the words I said earlier and accept this comb.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and refused, “I appreciate your heartfelt intentions but I really can’t accept your gift. Yes, I really want a comb but I want one that is made by my husband.”

Cole was even more confused. Elvis that clumsy fellow had already failed twice and he did not even manage to made a rough shape out of the horn. Although he made a few wooden products before, that quality...nothing good could be described about them. And his was different, regardless of whether it’s the comb’s polishing or carving, he spent a lot of energy on its production. He showed it to the females in his tribe before and even those crafty and haughty females snow foxes loved it so much. So naturally.....ordinary females should not reject it.

“What’s....the difference?” Cole tried to put it in a more tactful tone because he was very clear of Gu Mengmeng’s temper. She would immediately explode if someone badmouthed her family members in front of her.

Gu Mengmeng said, looking like an old professional, “Of course it’s different. The difference is big.”

Cole nodded his head in a half-serious and half-skeptical manner and thought to himself, “Yeah, that wooden block of comb Elvis made is so ugly. The difference between that and the comb I made is indeed great.”

But the clever Cole did not say it out loud. He just continued asking, “Mighty messenger, please tell me. Which part of this comb disappoints you? Cole will head back to change it instantly. Before you leave tomorrow, I’ll definitely make one that you’re satisfied with.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “It’s not the comb’s problem, it’s the person who made it. Do you still not understand? What I want is the heartfelt intentions my husband puts in to ponder over how to make an item and not the comb itself. I like whatever items he makes.”

Cole showed an envious look and he asked with disappointment, “Is it impossible without mighty Elvis?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “If it’s not made by Elvis, I won’t want it no matter who gives it to me.”

Cole glanced at Lea and asked again, “Is it also impossible with... mighty Lea?”

Chapter 443 - I'll Lead Everyone To Live A Well-Off Life

F*! He dug a trap for me to jump into!

Gu Mengmeng growled internally and smiled with a frozen face. “My Lea’s hands are used to treat illnesses and save people, what will we do if they’re injured? That’s a pair of priceless and precious hands, how can he do those kinds of things?!”

Gu Mengmeng enlarged the disdain look on her face, successfully hiding her frozen smile. Cole muttered a “Oh” and did not say anything else. He just placed the comb on a stone outside the house and said, “Since the mighty messenger doesn’t like it, there’s no use keeping it for myself. I’ll just leave it here, whoever likes it....can take it away.”

Gu Mengmeng did not reply Cole as she just said, “If you’ve nothing else left to say, please leave. We’ve been busy the entire afternoon and it’s time for us to start cooking.”

Cole gave a bitter smile, his face filled with a tint of desolation. “Cole knows that you guys did not prepare to entertain my food or my air.....Cole has wasted too much of the mighty messenger’s air today. Cole will take his leave first.”

“Take care, see you~” Gu Mengmeng waved her hands cheerfully and then hugged onto Elvis’s neck for him to carry her into the house.

After Cole had left, Elvis then slowly opened his mouth and said, “Xiao Meng, don’t worry, I’ll definitely make a better comb than his for you.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled. “Actually, I didn’t like it that much either, our wooden comb at home is still usable.”

That night, twelve males returned to the Platform with Gu Mengmeng's handmade rattan balls. Gu Mengmeng ripped them open to have a detailed check and confirmed that they were all her products.

Among the twelve males, four of them originally had their own partners. The other eight were claimed by four females right on the spot. And those four females had also mated with the warriors from the previous two rounds. The four females included Mandy who had mated with two males that were given the right to enter Saint Nazaire.

Gu Mengmeng counted and excluding the family brought along by the females, they were going to recruit a total of 44 orcs. This was around the same as the initial plan of 50 and thus, it was acceptable.

Thus, Gu Mengmeng stood on the Platform and under the pure moonlight, she posed in a 'God loves the world' manner and announced, "Congratulations to the warriors on being offered a qualification to join us. From today onwards, all of you will be Saint Nazaire's fellow tribesman, my relatives, my friends and my buddies. I'll lead everyone in living a well-off life."

Although nobody knew what a well-off life was, this did not have a big influence on everyone's excitement. Clapping was not a habit here so when Gu Mengmeng ended her speech, the males started roaring in a deafening volume.

Gu Mengmeng was seriously shocked a few times before but she had gotten used to it. Maintaining a calm smile and waving her hands to imply everyone to quieten down, she started speaking as if she was a host of the Chinese New Year Gala, "On this happy occasion, I have another announcement to make, that is ——"

Gu Mengmeng's hand swiped past the crowd slowly, causing everyone to hold their breaths and fixate their gaze, focusing their attention all on Gu Mengmeng's fingertips.

Gu Mengmeng's finger eventually landed on Mandy and she said, "Mandy, come over."

“Me.....me?” Mandy was struck with panic, she did not know whether it was a good or bad thing to be called on the Platform by Gu Mengmeng. She was timid but did not dare to defy Gu Mengmeng so she could only be sent to the side of the Platform by her partner before she climbed up herself and stood next to Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng glanced at her with the corners of her eyes and once again, she felt the world’s hatred towards her....

What the heck, how could a female grew until the height of 1.9 meters? Why didn’t she reach the skies?!

Chapter 444 - First Beauty Of The Beast World

Gu Mengmeng sighed as she waved her hands profusely at Elvis. Elvis exchanged gazes with Lea before both of them evolved into their beast forms and slowly walked towards the Platform with leisure and calm steps. Before they reached the top of the Platform, they threw a glance at Auretin which caused the face-paralyzed Auretin to be taken aback. After that, he also evolved into his white tiger form and followed Elvis and Lea up the Platform.

Elvis laid his front paws on the ground, gesturing Gu Mengmeng to climb up his back. Gu Mengmeng was quite surprised, she originally only wanted Elvis to carry her up so that she could reach Mandy's head. However, when Elvis and the other two walked to her in a flashy manner, Gu Mengmeng instantly felt that her class was a lot higher than usual.

She learned from how those gentlewoman in Europe hold the sides of their dresses and then sat on Elvis's back. Elvis stood up straight and peered down on the crowd of males in an overbearing posture. Lea, a white fox, and Auretin, a white tiger, stood on both sides of Elvis like guards and although there no words were exchanged, the three of them emitted a prestige that nobody dared to offend.

Gu Mengmeng was not aware that at that moment, her image in everyone's eyes was like a one and only heaven fairy who had descended to the world. She was so beautiful until nothing could be compared to her and a glowing white halo was emitting off from her entire body, capturing everyone's attention. She was pretty but not bewitching, she was lovely but not coquettish, she was just like a flower blooming on a bold cliff, protected by the steepest and strongest mountains. She was so delicate and frail but could only be admired from afar, nobody had the ability to overcome the three mountains even by a centimetre.

Gu Mengmeng took a flower crown she made herself from one side and placed it on Mandy's head, announcing, "I, the messenger of the Beast Deity, shall announce that the winner of the most beautiful female competition this year is Mandy. She's not only the prettiest female in Saint Naizare, she's the prettiest female in the entire Beast World."

"Wha.....what?" Mandy was so stupefied she could not say a word. She's not the First Beauty of the tribe anymore? She's the First Beauty of the Beast World? And she was even appointed by the messenger of the Beast Deity?!

Gu Mengmeng sat on Elvis's back and lightly hugged Mandy, telling her, "I hope that besides having a beautiful appearance, you can also have a kind heart. Cherish your partners like how you cherish your own body. If you can do it, you'll become much prettier."

Mandy nodded her head with her eyes brimming with tears as she cried, "Mighty messenger, I can definitely do it."

Gu Mengmeng gave a smile in satisfaction and released Mandy's hand, saying, "All fellow tribesman from Saint Nazaire will return to the tribe with me tomorrow morning."

"Yes! Yes! Yes!" A deafening howl replied Gu Mengmeng. She gently patted Elvis's back to let Elvis know that it had ended. He then raised his head proudly and carried Gu Mengmeng on his back down the Platform, heading back to their stone house.

Halfway back, Gu Mengmeng burst out into laughter and said, "Hey, how long are you guys going to persist on your images? There's no one else here so evolve back. You guys look so awkward now, it's as if I'm a beast-master of a circus."

Lea was the first one to evolve back into his half-orc form. He carried Gu Mengmeng off from Elvis's back to let Elvis evolve back into his human form too before Elvis himself took Gu Mengmeng in his own arms. Auretin did not have much presence as he quietly evolved back into human form while standing behind Elvis and Lea.

Lea knew that Gu Mengmeng did not like others exposing some parts of their body so he had long prepared three beast-skin dresses for them to wear immediately after their evolution.

Elvis asked the smiley Gu Mengmeng, “Why are you so happy? Do you want to share it with me?”

Gu Mengmeng fiddled with her nails and broke out into a smile resembling a Parvenu. She exclaimed while sneaking a laugh “16, 16!”

Elvis did not understand her so he looked at Lea and then back at Gu Mengmeng, asking her, “16 what?”

“Females!” Gu Mengmeng kicked her legs in excitement and said, “This time, we earned a big one, oh my god~bringing back 16 females at one go. All of them are complete females and even the First Beauty of their tribes~~oh my oh my, just thinking about it makes me happy.”

“That many?” Elvis was clearly very dumbfounded. He looked at Lea and upon seeing him nod his head, he glanced back at Gu Mengmeng and said, “Xiao Meng, you’re too awesome. I haven’t seen so many complete females in a tribe before.”

Gu Mengmeng used her thumb to swipe past her nose and said cheerfully and proudly, “That’s right, take a look at what kind of person your wife is! The mighty...messenger of the Beast Deity!”

Gu Mengmeng deliberately emphasized on the word ‘mighty’ and she could not help but laugh, causing an NG. Wrapping her arms around Elvis’s neck, she said, “This time, our Saint Nazaire will become the biggest tribe in no time.”

Elvis was confused, so he asked, “Didn’t you just take in 50?”

Gu Mengmeng stuck out a finger and shook it, showing off a 'No No No' expression as she asked, "Guess how many males will rush to mate with the 16 females tonight so that they can trail along with us?"

Elvis shook his head, implying that he did not know.

Gu Mengmeng asked again. "Guess, how many males will be attracted to Saint Nazaire once the news of our tribe having 16 females goes out?"

Elvis shook his head, implying that he did not know.

Gu Mengmeng frowned and commented a 'tsk' before adding, "Why don't you know anything?"

Elvis smiled as he pinched Gu Mengmeng's little face, "I only know that once Saint Nazaire has 16 complete females, we can distract the solo males in the tribe from casting their greedy eyes on you. I'll be at ease if the females can mate with more males and lessen the population of the solo males and settle all the problems of mating in the tribe just by bringing them back."

Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud and said bashfully, "So annoying~ am I that popular? It's not to the extent of the world world liking me~"

Elvis cupped the acting coquettishly being's little face and landed a kiss, saying, "Yes. My whole world only likes you."

Gu Mengmeng's little heart thumped crazily and the expression on her face melted. Her entire being softened into a puddle of water, melting in Elvis's arms.

The next morning, when everyone was about to set off, Cole brought his snow-foxes along to send them off, together with seven to eight beast-skin packages filled with many types of rhinoceros horns. Gu Mengmeng wanted to reject him but Cole said, "This is a present Sauder is presenting to the mighty messenger, it's not just from me so please accept it."

Gu Mengmeng found it hard to decline him so she thanked everyone before handing the packages to Lea for him to ask someone to keep them on her behalf.

But when she turned around...screw them, blood started spewing out from her nose immediately.

In front of Gu Mengmeng, hundred over snow foxes were swaying their furry large tails, twitching their fox ears and fiddling their ears with their little claws or even lightly licking them with their little tongues!

No shit, why didn't they give this welfare to me earlier? They only reenacted 'Strange Stories From A Chinese Studio: The Fox's Seduction' only when I'm leaving, what the hell were they all doing earlier?! Can I say that I want to stay for two more days before leaving...weep weep weep, can that one with that young look, resembling Daji from King of Glory seduce her and call her 'owner' before she leaves?!

Chapter 446 - Do You Think I'm Your Spare Tire?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Mengmeng, our little wolves are still waiting for us at home.” Lea said in jealousy.

Gu Mengmeng looked at the little Daji then thought of her four sons before clenching her teeth and announcing, “All members, out!”

Everyone stared speechless at one another while Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng on her shoulders and howled, “Set off!”

The thick and deep voice opened the ears of the deaf and the eyes of the blind and after a hundred responses, a team of people left Sauder in a mighty formation.

Cole stared at the back views of Gu Mengmeng and her fellow tribesmen until they disappeared, lowering his head and was in deep thought for quite some time. “So, she really likes the fox tail, if I used this trick earlier... maybe I could've let the mighty messenger stay.”

...

On the other side, after leaving Sauder for a short distance, they entered a forest. The trees helped to provide shade, so it was easier for the females to make their way back. Although they walked ‘a little’ more, Elvis was very pleased because he was trying to push back the time they reached the tribe. Once they returned to Saint Nazaire, those four ancestors whom he could not hit nor scold would start snatching his wife, how scary those competitors were. This was the first time in his life he had never gained even the slightest advantage when working with Lea.

Once he got into a dispute with the four devils, his wife would definitely stand on their side without allowing for any explanation, even though she could not even understand what they were talking about. It did not even seem to obstruct her from being bounded by a common hatred.

The thing Elvis regretted the most in his entire lifetime was believing that cursed rumor ———— letting Gu Mengmeng give birth to those four damned rascals just to love him more. Was this to help him snatch Gu Mengmeng's favor? This was simply just to snatch the favor from him alright?! He seeded four love rivals himself, four...!

They did not walk too far off into the forest when a few familiar orcs stood in front of Gu Mengmeng, blocking her way.

Gu Mengmeng raised her brow and smiled. "Oh my oh my, isn't this Ellie? What's wrong, are you're so loyal that you decided to send us off?"

Ellie fiddled with her fingers with a terribly wronged expression and seemed as if she had something to say, forcefully adding some scenes for herself.

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and said, "Alright, you've already sent us off and I appreciate your heartfelt intentions, see you soon~"

As she said, she led her large army and advanced forward.

"Mighty messenger." Darch blocked Gu Mengmeng's path, although he felt very shameful, he raised a suggestion, "Mighty messenger, can you.....let us return to Saint Nazaire with you?"

Oh, I guess everyone can't recall who Darch is right? It's alright, I'm sure you remember his other name~

"Official Xu Xian, didn't your Ellie brought all of you to join Sauder? Then it doesn't fit the rules if.....Sauder's tribesmen returns to Saint Nazaire with me, right?" Gu Mengmeng was replying to Darch but her eyes were all along staring at Ellie.

Darch also knew that his behavior was inappropriate but since Ellie insisted on doing it, he could only put all he had on the line and sacrifice his reputation to lower his head and beg Gu Mengmeng, “Sauder knows that Ellie is a female you saved so they did not want to let her enter Sauder no matter what we said because they were afraid of angering you. So....so....”

Gu Mengmeng was delighted as she said, “Sigh, I say Official Xu Xian, what you’ve said is wrong. Back then, Ellie was bullied by the stray beasts, it was my fellow tribesman from Saint Nazaire who saved her. After that, she just simply turned her head to boot-lick Sauder, but I didn’t even scold her for being ungrateful and treacherous, right? I still generously consented to your request, I’ve done enough as an ex right? Oh, now that your current doesn’t want you, you rush back to find me, do you think that I’m your spare tire?”

Chapter 447 - One Strike and I'm Out

Darch shook his head and said, "Mighty messenger, don't be angry. Ellie didn't mean it that way...."

Gu Mengmeng retorted, "Then what did she mean?"

Darch turned back to look at Ellie and upon seeing how she was going to cry, his heart ached terribly so he instantly knelt in front of Gu Mengmeng and pleaded, "Mighty messenger, everything in the past was my fault. I didn't persuade Ellie properly, causing her to make that kind of decision at a moment of folly. Please, I beg you, seeing how nine of us are males from Saint Nazaire, please just make an exception once, at least.....at least Ellie's a female, no tribe will reject a female."

Gu Mengmeng turned her body and said, "Look behind me, do you think that Saint Nazaire still lacks an ungrateful and treacherous half-orc female?"

Darch glanced at the lineup behind Gu Mengmeng and was instantly dumbfounded. His entire body softened in dispirit and he hung his head in shame.

Gu Mengmeng patted Darch's shoulder and said, "I will never give people who betray me a second chance. Parting peacefully is perhaps the best ending. Don't stick everyone in a difficult position, it's better to leave some reputation for each other."

Gu Mengmeng meant these words for Ellie but Lea's body froze bafflingly.

He's.....like that too, right?

One strike and I'm out....

Mengmeng, you did it right, you won't get hurt like that.

As for me.....

I can hold it in! I can definitely hold it in!

"I've the esoterica the previous messenger of the Beast Deity left behind." Seeing how the tribe did not have the slightest hesitation to leave, she flustered and shouted at the top of her voice.

Gu Mengmeng looked to her side and sniggered. "'300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty', right? I don't even have to look at it to be able to write out a copy for you. If you like it, you can keep it for yourself."

Ellie shook her head as she slid in front of Gu Mengmeng and widened her arms to block her way. "Dream, I know things regarding the dream."

Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes, she really lacked that portion. The things left behind by the previous messenger of the Beast Deity were too broken, it was very difficult to try to piece out some complete information. The only thing she could piece out and understand from those broken information was the word 'dream'.

Was it a coincidence? Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes at Ellie.

Ellie bit her lower lip and explained, "I used to be a servant beside the Snake King before I sneaked out of the Snake King valley because I was playful. Now I can't find the way back, I just hope to have a tribe that protects me and gives me a place to stay."

Gu Mengmeng said, "Discussing a deal with me.....it's possible too, say your piece, I'll see if it's worth to waste the food and air in Saint Nazaire for you."

Ellie clenched her teeth as she took a piece of scale from her stomach and gave it to Gu Mengmeng.

The piece of scale was a very big and it was the size of Gu Mengmeng's palm. There were a few simplified Chinese characters written on it crookedly, at the level of kindergarten students, "When the course of your behavior diverges, the Beast Deity will enter your dream and direct a correct way for you.

Gu Mengmeng did not doubt whether the words on this scale was left behind by the previous messenger of the Beast Deity because nobody in this world could read, even the snow fox tribe in Sauder worshiped '300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty' for a thousand years as a sacred item. And that strange English version of 'Little Apple' was really something way out of one's imagination.

Gu Mengmeng touched her chin and acted as if she was deep in thoughts. "This is a counterfeit item. The mark on it is not left behind by the previous messenger of the Beast Deity."

Ellie was taken aback, she thought that her copy was enough to pass off as the genuine one, after all in the entire Snake King valley, nobody could differentiate her counterfeit copy from the original copy in the Snake King's hands, but Gu Mengmeng.....could see through it just at one glance?

Gu Mengmeng gave a sly smile and leaned her body slightly forward. Looking at Ellie as if she was looking at an idiot, she said, "Do you assume that I can't differentiate the unique mark used by messengers?"

Ellie bit her lower lip and with a ghastly pale face, she stared intently into Gu Mengmeng's eyes and said, "Although this is my counterfeit copy, the information written on it will definitely not be wrong. I drew it exactly the same, if you don't believe....don't believe, you can go to the Snake King valley and compare it to the original one from the Snake King."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and said, "If you, a native born in the Snake King valley, can't even find the way back, how can I, an outsider, find the place? And moreover, if I acquire the original version from the Snake King, why would I still need this counterfeit copy of yours?"

Ellie was shocked beyond words and she said, looking as if she was finally flustered, "Then... you're not willing to let me return to Saint Nazaire?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "That's not it too. Although it's a counterfeit copy, the information on it should be real. Since I've gotten the information, I'll be faithful in my words and let you return to Saint Nazaire. But you've to remember, although the information on this piece of scale is real, it has no value to me. I'm letting you return just purely because of the nine partners you've from Saint Nazaire. If any of them are injured one day... both Saint Nazaire and I will not let you off."

Ellie understood that Gu Mengmeng was not allowing her to treat any of the nine of them as storage food during winter.

Clenching her fists, Ellie eventually still nodded her head in utmost respect and said, “Alright, I understand. Thank you mighty messenger for your benevolence.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her hand and said, “Alright, let’s continue our journey.”

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes with each other. Both of them had an unspoken common consensus to not ask Gu Mengmeng what was written on that piece of scale.

Until that night, the mass mating sound rose one after another to the extent that Gu Mengmeng could not stand it anymore. She asked Elvis and Lea to bring her out and lie low until it was all over. Auretin wanted to follow them but was rejected by Lea. After all, Auretin was not a member of Gu Mengmeng’s family and he had not gotten complete trust from them yet.

“Elvis and I will protect Mengmeng, you stay behind to control the situation. After all, since we’re not present, it’ll be easier for some people to exploit the situation.” Lea said as he pointed at Ellie who was standing at the side of the female crowd and added, “We’ve got to guard against those betrayers who returned.”

Auretin nodded, implying that he understood. Thus, he leaned against a big tree trunk and pretended to take a nap. His entire body, however, was exceptionally on alert towards everything happening in the surroundings, especially Ellie’s movements.

Elvis and Lea brought Gu Mengmeng out to a faraway place and until they ensured that nobody could eavesdrop on them, they then whistled to call Ian out.

Gu Mengmeng took out that piece of snake scale and handed it to Elvis. Elvis frowned in detest and rejected her, “I won’t touch other females’ things, it’s gross.”

Gu Mengmeng then handed the snake scale to Lea but Lea backtracked even more as he said, “I won’t touch it too. Among so many tribes, I hate the snake tribe the most. They’re so scheming and cunning and it’s hard to interact with their strange personalities. Most importantly, they’re ugly-looking.”

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, “Alright, you two can’t recognize the words on it either.”

Ian said faintly, “Why don’t you let me take a look?”

Gu Mengmeng turned around and look at Ian. His thin and frail body looked like it would get blown away by the wind anytime. A tinge of hatred was written on his sickly face, resembling Lin Daiyu by quite a fair bit.

Chapter 449 - My Mengmeng Is So Clever

Gu Mengmeng stretched her hand out and gave the snake scale to Ian, before saying, “Here, take a look.”

Ian turned his head away and said, “I won’t look at it too.”

Gu Mengmeng was speechless, “...”

So, you’re just simply joking around with me?!

She wanted to howl at him but thinking over it, it was quite tiring on Ian too. He clearly came and represented his tribe to establish a blood alliance with them so openly but now, he was made to look like an illegitimate son who was not presentable and had to hide in the dark every single day to protect himself. So, it’s natural for him to lose a little temper. Thus, she held back and did not say anything. She just kept the snake scale and continued,

“The information on the snake scale writes, “When the course of your behavior diverges, the Beast Deity will enter your dream and direct you the correct way.”

Lea was taken aback as he asked, “Are you sure that the information is real?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and said, “The words written on it are simplified Chinese characters that my world is currently using and they’re the same type as the ‘300 Poems of the Tang Dynasty’ book Sauder provided for us. Sauder should supposedly be the tribe who has the greatest exposure to these kinds of words but even they themselves can’t write them. It’s even harder for Ellie to change the information on it.”

Lea asked again, “But you recognized that it’s a counterfeit copy at first glance.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled. “When we were in Sauder, I saw the plaque that the previous messenger of the Beast Deity had written on. Those words were written with some form of foundation and they’re clearly different from the kindergarten words carved by Ellie on the snake scale so it was not difficult to differentiate them. Furthermore, the previous messenger has died more than a thousand years ago, if Ellie’s not Bai Suzhen, she would never have the chance to meet the messenger of the Beast Deity, let alone letting the messenger carve words on her body. If the words are not carved by the messenger on her body, that can only be a counterfeit copy.”

Lea nodded and smiled. “My Mengmeng is so clever.”

Gu Mengmeng turned her head away in detest and said, “There’s such a big loophole. If Ellie still thinks I’ll believe that the piece of scale is the original one, she must be extremely stupid.”

Elvis frowned and asked, “So, did you dream of the Beast Deity before?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “Never before. Before I transmigrated here, I rarely dream. Even if I really do, I can’t remember much of it the second day.....Beast Deity or whatsoever, I completely don’t have any recollection.”

Lea and Elvis exchanged glances with each other before Lea opened his mouth to ask, “If you never dream of the Beast Deity before, this proves that the course of your behavior did not diverge, right?”

Gu Mengmeng did not know how to explain either so she thought over it for a while before nodding her head. “That should roughly be the idea.”

Lea’s expression was pretty complicated. He lowered his head slightly to hide his five features in his shadow and said slowly, “In other words, from entering Saint Nazaire to mating with Elvis, then to giving birth to Hede and his brothers and exposing your identity as the messenger of the Beast Deity when attending the beauty pageant at Sauder before leading sixteen new females and many strong males back to strengthen Saint Nazaire instead of staying in Sauder.....everything is the Beast Deity's order.”

Gu Mengmeng contemplated over that question with much focus and did not notice Lea's little emotions. She just tapped on her chin and thought for a long time before replying him, “In my opinion, if there's really a Beast Deity, he should not have that much idle time in his hands to even control how many kids I give birth to or employ how many employees. The so-called course is just a space. As long as it doesn't influence the main order, other stuff can change flexibly.”

Chapter 450 - I'm Not Willing.

Hmph.

Lea remained silent for quite some time and then, he lifted his head up under the moonlight and gave a smile as gentle as that moonlight, saying, "No, if you've made a mistake, the Beast Deity will definitely direct you a dream. So, the Beast Deity must have agreed with you in accepting me as a beast pet."

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head and felt a flock of crows flying past her head....

Gu Mengmeng ignored Lea and just fiddled with the snake scale in her hands. In deep thoughts, she said, "Should I do something improper to test the information the previous messenger of the Beast Deity left behind? After all....the esoterica she left behind is not that reliable."

Elvis gently placed Gu Mengmeng's stray hair behind her ear and asked with a softened voice, "What do you want to do? I'll help you."

Gu Mengmeng blinked her eyes and replied, "I don't know.....I totally have no clue."

Elvis kissed her forehead and comforted her, "It's alright, just let nature takes its course. When you think of it one day, I'll definitely help you achieve it."

Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes and landed smack with her lips on Elvis's cheek, complimenting him, "Hubby is so reliable."

Gu Mengmeng kept the scale piece before turning her head to look at Ian. "Are there any abnormal orcs in the batch of newcomers?"

Ian looked around and after sweeping past Elvis and Lea, he said, "Isn't the most abnormal one your new sweetheart?"

Gu Mengmeng was shocked as she asked, “What new sweetheart? When did I have a new sweetheart?”

Ian probed further, “Isn’t the one standing by your side together with Elvis and Lea everyday not your new sweetheart?”

Gu Mengmeng suddenly came to realize that Ian was talking about Auretin so she explained, “He’s just here to share meals with us, he’s not my new sweetheart.”

Ian sniggered and said, “Such a big crowd of people call him mighty Auretin so openly, if he’s not your new sweetheart.....what right does he have to be called mighty?”

Gu Mengmeng choked. She knew that everyone misunderstood her relationship with Auretin and thought that he’s her guardian beast but he’s actually not, Auretin’s really just someone who’s here to share meals with them.

If Gu Mengmeng were to mention any special points about Auretin, that would be her always seeing some of Elvis’s characteristics on him so that was why she would exceptionally care for him, that’s all.

“Mighty Ian, I’m calling you mighty now too, does that mean you’re my new sweetheart?” Gu Mengmeng copied Ian’s eccentric tone and asked.

Ian took a step forward and sized Gu Mengmeng up from head to toe before rejecting her, “I’m not willing. Hmph.”

After Ian finished speaking, he spread his wings and flew away, disappearing in the night sky.

Gu Mengmeng was so agitated she waved her fists in the air and fumed, “Running away after talking is so imprudent!”

Elvis stayed silent as he pinched Gu Mengmeng’s chin towards himself. Frowning, he asked, “Did you really take a fancy on Ian?”

Gu Mengmeng sighed and denied, “Hubby, you have to change your bad habit of thinking that I have an affair with everyone. I’m not blind, why would I abandon a tall and powerful you for a sickly person?”

The corners of Elvis’s lips curved slightly upwards, looking as if he was satisfied by Gu Mengmeng’s description. However, he raised his brow and continued, “Then why are you so angry when he flew away?”

Gu Mengmeng explained, “Will you not be angry if someone gives you a blow and escapes before you have the chance to return the attack?”

Elvis thought over it and replied, “Shall I ask Lea to bring out the blood alliance to appease your anger?”

Gu Mengmeng’s mouth twitched and she declined, “There’s no need to go to that extent. It’s not worth it to extinguish an entire tribe and sacrifice Lea just over a quarrel.”

Chapter 451 - Just Accompany Me, Once

When Gu Mengmeng woke up in Elvis's arms the second day, it was already noon.

Lea arranged everyone to hunt while he demonstrated his cooking skills after asking every family to send out a male with the highest level of comprehension in order to learn how to roast meat.

Males did not need to eat everyday because one meal normally could last them a few days. And moreover, the way they ate appeared more rough so they just directly settled their meals straight after hunting their prey before bringing back the better meat home for their females. So, 18 females ended up surrounding a fireplace while watching their own partners roast meat for them.

Those males who could step in front of the females were all their First Partners, except for Elvis.

Gu Mengmeng turned behind to take a peek at Elvis. She found him a little pitiful because everyone gathered together in big families while he sat beside seven to eight packages alone with a beast horn in his hands. He used his claws to carve and polish it in utmost cautiousness and was so focused until he looked like an.....autistic child.

Gu Mengmeng frowned and said, "Go ahead and eat, I'm not hungry."

Just as she wanted to stand up and find Elvis, Lea grabbed her wrist tightly with one hand. With his other hand holding a tree branch with roasted meat on it, he sat beside the campfire and looked up at her, saying, "Just accompany me, once..."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Lea, then glanced at Elvis. Elvis had already heard the commotion so he paused his hand movements and turned his head to look over. Remaining silent for a while, he then lowered his head and continued carving the beast horn, as if he consented Gu Mengmeng to stay by Lea's side.

However, Lea released her and hung his head, giving a bitter smile. "Eventually, I still can't win him. He always spares a thought for you while I always put you in a spot... to put it simply, I'm just too selfish."

Gu Mengmeng sighed and eventually still sat down beside him.

Lea stared at Gu Mengmeng in shock and then smiled like a kid.

Gu Mengmeng pointed at the roasted meat on the fire and ordered, "I want chili and also honey! Two layers, two layers!"

Lea nodded, the corners of his lips curving upwards all along and his vision became a little blurry.

Gu Mengmeng turned her body slightly to the side and lied on Lea's shoulder, holding a bowl of honey in her hands while sipping it in small mouthfuls.

Maybe, in other people's eyes, this was just a beast pet fighting for favor with the First Partner and the First Partner was magnanimous enough to not haggle over it with him. But Gu Mengmeng knew how hard it was for Lea to put on the fake front when in Sauder and even if his heart was made up of stone, it would still be molded into sand by those pasts and to make it worse, he was just a siren.

He needed warmth, he needed comfort he needed someone who could support him and let him breathe.

He was clearer than anyone else that even if he was the one sitting next to Gu Mengmeng together with those First Partners, roasting meat for their females to eat, his identity would never become Elvis, he would always be that 'self-called' beast pet Lea. Besides defending himself against others, Gu Mengmeng would never admit to his beast pet identity.

But even if this was a wish that could never be fulfilled, he was eager to grab onto this imaginary happiness.

Just once, let him take care of her openly like a partner just once, just once would do....

Many females could not understand. Upon seeing how Gu Mengmeng added chili to her roasted meat, they learned from her but as what everyone expected.....the females were all muddled up. They wanted to learn from how Gu Mengmeng used a bowl to contain water but how could they be in time to make a stone bowl now? Thus, they all evolved into their beast forms and rode towards the direction of the water source on their males with all their might.

Chapter 452 - Since You Don't Allow, I Won't Look At It Then

Upon seeing the flustered bunch, Gu Mengmeng burst out in laughter and felt that she was looking at someone tricking the marquess with beacon fires.

After informing Elvis, Gu Mengmeng followed the females to the water source.

The water source was a lake, with its surface as calm as a mirror surface. The females all crouched by the sides of the lake to drink the water, creating glistening sparkles as ripples could be seen at the same time.

Gu Mengmeng smiled like a kid who had succeeded in her prank. She was holding an unknown wild grass in her mouth and biting onto the tip of it, causing it to move upwards now and then, just like a hooligan who did not study and knew nothing from the ancient times.

Sitting on Elvis's shoulder, Gu Mengmeng felt like she saw something on the surface of the lake. She spat the lotus leaf out and patted Elvis's shoulder profusely in excitement, "Hubby hubby, send me to the side of the lake."

Elvis did not know her intention but still did what she instructed.

Once Gu Mengmeng reached the side of the lake, she slapped her thigh all of a sudden and then dropped herself into the lake the next second.

Elvis's chest tightened while his pupils contracted abruptly. The scene in front of him overlapped with the scene when she was preparing to leave through that lake where they first met because of Lea. Elvis's body reacted faster than his brain and he followed her closely behind, diving into the lake with a plop. Then, it was Lea, followed by Auretin. After that, the surrounding crowd who was not aware of the situation also jumped into the lake....

Elvis did not swim far when he grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng and pulled her out from the water by clinging onto her wrist. The water was not deep as it was below Elvis's belly button by a bit.

Gu Mengmeng touched her wet face with her free hand and asked in doubt while staring at Elvis who looked like he wanted to kill someone, "What are you doing?"

Elvis clenched his teeth and growled, "I'm the one who's supposed to ask you that, alright?!"

Gu Mengmeng completely did not know why Elvis was angry, she only pointed at a flower floating on the center of the lake surface and said, "I just wanted to swim over and take a look at whether it's a lotus flower... why are you angry?"

Elvis did not look at where Gu Mengmeng was pointing to as he just frowned and said, "No, there's nothing there!"

After he finished speaking, Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng and headed towards the land. At the same time, he cast a glance at Lea. Lea then secretly went into the lake and squashed that lotus flower from its stalk into pieces before swimming back like nothing happened before.

After they reached the land, Gu Mengmeng faced the three-party joint-hearing of Elvis, Lea and Auretin. The three of them formed a triangle around Gu Mengmeng and trapped her in it. Elvis's face was as black as coal, Lea's expression became cold and Auretin.....he originally had face paralysis so he always had this expression on his face.

Gu Mengmeng clearly felt that she did not do anything wrong but when the three of them stared at her like that, she could not help but feel a little guilty. She muttered to herself, "No.....isn't it just a flower.....since you don't allow, I won't look at it then.....is there a need to be this angry?"

Elvis's face darkened and he stared at Gu Mengmeng in disappointment and sorrow while spitting each word in a rage, "You promised me that you won't leave me!"

Upon seeing how Elvis started scratching his left chest with his claws due to the extreme pain, creating four bloody streaks that were dreadful to one's mind, Gu Mengmeng immediately stepped forward and held onto his wrist, flustered. "What are you doing? Aren't I just going for a swim to look at the flower? I'm just away from you for less than two hundred meters, is there a need for you to dig your heart out and hurt yourself?"

However, Elvis was not swayed by Gu Mengmeng's words. His gaze was so deep until it could swallow everything in this world. His sorrow was engraved in his bones and his voice sounded like it was resonance from his deafening heartbeat. "It's the second time, it's the second time you did it!"

Chapter 453 - I Swear, If I Lie To You, I'm A Husky

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded as she asked, “What second time? Didn’t I just enter the lake....”

When Gu Mengmeng mentioned ‘lake’, she suddenly understood what Elvis meant.

Biting onto her lower lip, Gu Mengmeng gently wrapped her arms around Elvis’s neck and patted his back to comfort him. She said softly, “Dumb hubby, do you really think that I was going to return to my world through that lake?”

Elvis did not say a word while Lea frowned his brow at Gu Mengmeng. Auretin did not know what exactly happened, but he was also influenced by the nervous atmosphere and began fidgeting.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, “Hubby, how should I say it for you to believe me, I won’t abandon you...”

Gu Mengmeng lightly pulled the collar of her dress with one hand, exposing the proud black wolf on her collarbone. With her other hand, she placed it on Elvis’s face and said, “Do you remember what I said to you when we mated?”

“Elvis, I love you. I’m going to give myself to you. From today onwards, I’ll treat you as my pride, my skies and my husband. I’ll stick with you in life and death unless you forsake him. If you’re faced with any imminent danger, I’ll substitute myself for you....”

Elvis’s pupils started shining and he looked like he was still in a state of shock and was just cast away at the same time.

“Xiao Meng!” Elvis could not say anything else and could only pull her into his arms harshly, locking her against his chest. He wanted to rub her in his own body so badly so that he need not worry that she would smile at him while telling him, “Thank you for this period” before jumping into some lake and disappearing forever one day.

Gu Mengmeng let Elvis hugged her like that and despite how painful his strength made her feel until she had some breathing difficulties, she did not struggle or resist. Instead, she lightly hugged his sturdy body back and patted his back from time to time. “I’ll never leave you unless you want to abandon me. Moreover, we still have four sons, even if I don’t want my husband, my sons are eventually still flesh from my own body right? Would I not want them too? There’s no such cruel Mother in this world.”

Elvis frowned and said, “Yes, and they can be found everywhere.”

Gu Mengmeng was very helpless, the females in this Beast World were already used to the distorted perception of ‘I’m the most precious in this world’. There’s no such word as ‘devotion’ in their dictionaries. Regardless of what others did for them, they would treat it as their duty and a matter of fact. So what if they were their blood-related sons? Didn’t Nina kill her own child with her own hands?

Gu Mengmeng said, “If the lake water makes you feel uneasy, I won’t step close to the side of the lake anymore, alright?”

Elvis remained silent and only stared at Gu Mengmeng quietly.

Gu Mengmeng continued, “I was just too excited just now, so I forgot the psychological trauma that I created for you in the past. That flower is a lotus flower, the presence of such a flower means that there’s a lotus. That is a type of food that we can eat. I really grew tired of eating potatoes and sweet potatoes so when I saw something edible, I forgot everything and could not care about anything else. I really didn’t intend on abandoning you, really not.”

“Really?” Elvis spat out one word with difficulty.

Gu Mengmeng knew how much Elvis wanted to believe her and she also found herself laughable for her husband to have such low trust in her but what could she do? Who was the one who had a bad record?

Nodding her head profusely, Gu Mengmeng said, “I swear, if I lie to you, I’m a husky.”

Chapter 454 - The Mighty Messenger's A Coward

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Elvis then slowly decreased his strength and seeing how Gu Mengmeng's fair arm became red due to his embrace, guilt started creeping out in his heart. He rubbed the red mark on Gu Mengmeng gently and said, "Xiao Meng, I'm sorry."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and wrapped both her arms around Elvis's neck. Lying in his arms in delight, she said, "It's my fault for not giving you an absolute sense of security. I'll change it in the future so.....don't be angry anymore, alright?"

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng's forehead before he felt his heart recovering its thump. Blood started to slowly flow and nourish his entire body.

Lea did not say a word as he quietly returned to the lake. When Gu Mengmeng finally realized he was missing, he had already been soaking himself in the lake for quite some time.

"Where have you been?" Gu Mengmeng stood at a shady spot near the shore, attending to Lea who had just been called back by Auretin. His fine snow white and fluffy fur was tainted with mud, becoming extremely filthy.

Lea evolved back into human form just three steps in front of Gu Mengmeng. Leaving a puddle of muddy water behind, he received a beast-skin dress from Auretin gracefully and wore it on himself before walking to Gu Mengmeng. "I didn't find the lotus you just mentioned."

When he finished his sentence, Elvis's nerves started tensing up.

Gu Mengmeng held Elvis's hand in hers and turned around to look at him. "Keep your uneasiness and listen to my explanation first."

Elvis clamped his lips and nodded.

Gu Mengmeng then continued, “There must be a lotus when there’s lotus flower but they won’t appear at the same time. The reason why I entered the lake just now was to ensure whether that flower was a lotus flower and not to dig a lotus because we’ve to wait until the flowers wilt to get them.”

Lea and Elvis stared at her, half-convinced. Gu Mengmeng really regretted jumping into the lake just because she broke up previously. It was just a moment of folly back then but now, how much trouble has it brought onto her?!

Sighing, Gu Mengmeng was at wits’ end too. “How about this, remember this place and until August to September.....which is before winter, we’ll come and dig it again. We shall see whether I’m speaking the truth or not.”

Lea patted Elvis’s shoulder lightly and said, “Mengmeng is the messenger of the Beast Deity, food concerns the survivability of the entire tribe, she won’t make a joke out of this kind of thing.”

Elvis looked back into Lea’s eyes.

The hand he placed on his own shoulder was clearly shaking.

Nodding, Elvis said, “I know, Xiao Meng won’t lie to me.....won’t lie to me.”

Gu Mengmeng was helpless as she could only say, “Before we dig out the lotus, I promise I won’t step close to the side of the lake anymore, alright?”

Elvis nodded his head and they reached a compromise.

The onlooking crowd who had no idea what was going on were all dumbfounded, shouldn’t females.....do what they wanted to do? Why did the messenger of the Beast Deity look like.....a coward? Where’s the power of a female?! Where’s the power of a female?!

Gu Mengmeng stretched out both her arms while standing in front of Elvis in a posture begging for a hug. Elvis said nothing more as he pulled Gu Mengmeng into his arms. Only that distance could make him feel slightly more at ease.

The females did not dare to eat the roasted meat with the chili so in the end, they gave it to the males and then a baffling 908 competition of ‘which female was the least scared of spicy’ started....

Gu Mengmeng lied in Elvis’s arms and looked at the scenery leisurely on the way back. Lea walked next to Elvis, sending fruits and honey water into Gu Mengmeng’s mouth at the same time. Gu Mengmeng also did not reject him as she ate her fill in delight. Upon seeing how adorable Gu Mengmeng was eating her food, Elvis and Lea slowly put their worries down.

Chapter 455 - Your Lives Are Too Incomplete

Chapter 455: Your Lives Are Too Incomplete

After walking for half a day, they exited the forest and chose to rest by a little stream in preparation for the females' dinner before they pitched their tents and take a break.

After all, the females did not eat their fill in the afternoon. Although they ate a few wild fruits on the way, how could those pampered females be easily pleased? They just saw how Gu Mengmeng did not say anything and thus, did not dare to throw their tantrums.

But even though the females did not say a word, will the males' heart not ache at all? Hence, those who went out for a hunt at night were almost all the strongest ones in the families.

Elvis did not join because he knew that Gu Mengmeng had a small appetite and she would not be hungry even if she ate only a small amount. Thus, he ordered Auretin to join the hunt while he and Lea guarded Gu Mengmeng closely, not leaving her by an inch.

To put it simply, they were still restless about the issue.

Gu Mengmeng did not mind them and just let those two fellows, who resembled little tails, follow her from behind in disarray.

“Xiao Meng, where are you going? I'll carry you.” Elvis was aware that Gu Mengmeng knew about his uneasiness so he was quite embarrassed deep down in his heart. He could not even give this little trust to her.....Elvis felt that he really failed thoroughly being her First Partner. But in this world, his only Achilles heel was this matter, it made him worry about his gains and losses, as well as, enormously proud of his success.

Gu Mengmeng pouted and said, “I think I saw a bamboo forest nearby when we came here previously, I want to search if there’s any bamboo shoots.”

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng in his arms and cast a glance on Lea. Lea then secretly whistled before countless black shadows swept past their heads. The sky was originally not very bright either and moreover, the other males were busy taking care of their females so nobody took notice of the movement here.

Elvis asked, “What’s a bamboo shoot? Can it be eaten too?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and replied, “Yeah, bamboo shoots are really delicious. Those who didn’t eat bamboo shoots before don’t have a complete life.”

Elvis remained silent for a while and asked again, “Didn’t you tell Auretin before that those who have not eaten bird eggs have an incomplete life?”

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips together and hummed a long ‘yeah.....’ before adding, “Sigh, your lives are too incomplete. Bird eggs is one part while bamboo shoots another part. Think about it, if I asked you to return to when you did not have any roasted meat, no sweet potatoes, potatoes or fish meat, will you still be used to it? Do you feel that your life isn’t complete anymore?”

Elvis remained silent for a while and he truly felt that it was actually.....still fine.

But looking at Gu Mengmeng’s earnest gaze, Elvis then nodded his head firmly and replied, “Yeah, not complete.”

Gu Mengmeng gave him a ‘Look, I knew it’ expression and continued with fervor and assurance, “Once you tasted bamboo shoots and lotus, you will realize that your happiness level will increase by a few times. In this era where the variety of food is so deficient, every type of edible food is a precious gift. Didn’t you hear of the well-known saying by Confucius? ‘If you’re not enthusiastic in eating, you’ve got a problem with your mentality'. Let me tell you, Confucius said so many words before but in my opinion, this is the one that makes the most sense.”

Elvis nodded his head in puzzlement. Just then, a big bird hovered above their heads in the skies and flew towards a direction after turning two rounds.

Elvis and Lea exchanged gazes before they evolved into their beast forms and followed the bird closely behind with Gu Mengmeng on their backs.

After following the bird for around three minutes, when Gu Mengmeng felt that her hairstyle was all messed up, Elvis then paused his footsteps. In front of Gu Mengmeng was a half-dead Ian and a big bamboo forest.

Chapter 456 - I'll Die, It's Better Than You Dying.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng took a step forward and slapped Ian's chest, exclaiming, "True man, I didn't know that you are still quite capable!"

Ian frowned and took a step backwards. "Just say your words, don't touch others as you wish."

Gu Mengmeng rubbed her palms together and said, "Since you found the food, you're the king, I won't touch you if you don't like it alright~"

Gu Mengmeng left Ian behind her and rushed into the bamboo forest in big steps. She checked the ground in detail with her large eyes. Fortunately, she inherited Elvis's night vision or else she could not see a thing right now.

Elvis and Lea were at a loss of what to do and they did not know what Gu Mengmeng was searching for so they could only follow behind her and wait for her instructions.

Gu Mengmeng walked ten over steps before she suddenly stopped. Then, she darted off in a jiffy.

Elvis and Lea did not know what she planned to do, so they hurriedly ran after her. But, all they saw was Gu Mengmeng squatting in front of a bamboo while rubbing her little hands together and giving off a sneaky smirk, looking like a pervert planning to molest a maidservant.

Lea stepped forward and squatted next to Gu Mengmeng. Pointing to the little bamboo shoots, he asked, "Do you want to eat this?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded before turning around to scan her surroundings.

Lea asked again, “What are you looking for?”

Gu Mengmeng answered, “Hmm.....those things that can be used as tools to dig them out.”

Lea extended his hand and gently pinched the tip of the bamboo shoot. Then, he slowly exerted strength and pulled the bamboo shoot out from the soil like he did not use much energy at all.....

“Dang.....” Gu Mengmeng could not help but shake her head and clap her hands. The roots of the bamboo shoots were grown so deep down in the soil for god knows how many meters but he just plucked it out with his bare hands like that?!

“Stop,” When Lea pulled it out to a certain height, Gu Mengmeng suddenly shouted. Lea stared at Gu Mengmeng, not moving an inch as if someone pressed the stop button on him. Gu Mengmeng roughly measured a position on the bamboo shoot and instructed, “Come, cut it down from here. We just need this portion, there’s no need to pull all the roots out as well.”

Lea followed her instructions and broke the bamboo shoot cleanly before giving it to Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng stared at the thick and soft bamboo shoots, a lustful smile forming on her face. Touching the outside of the bamboo shoot, she looked like she was taking off the damn belly-band of a maidservant.

Elvis stepped forward and without saying a word, he directly took away the bamboo shoot from Gu Mengmeng’s hands and chomped a large piece before chewing it in front of her.

Gu Mengmeng was shocked as she cried out, “You eat potatoes and sweet potatoes raw and now you’re eating bamboo shoots raw too?!”

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng as if he had just eaten faeces. Swallowing the bamboo shoot down with much difficulty, he said, “You can dig the bamboo shoot but you’ve to wait until I’m fine tomorrow before you can eat.”

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded before she reacted to his words after a while and asked, “So you’ve been.....testing the poison for me all this while?”

Elvis replied, “Of course I’ve to try the food that we didn’t eat before being letting you eat it.”

Gu Mengmeng was very touched but worried at the same time. She punched Elvis’s chest and asked, “What if you’re poisoned?”

Elvis smiled and let Gu Mengmeng act wildly in his arms. He casually said, “I’m very strong, normal poisons can’t claim my life. Furthermore, don’t we have Lea?”

Gu Mengmeng glared at him and asked, “What if Lea can’t treat you?”

Elvis kissed the top of Gu Mengmeng’s head and pinched her puffed-up cheeks, saying, “Then, I’ll die, it’s better than you dying.”

Chapter 457 - Did Water Enter Your Brains?

Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and stayed silent.

Not to deny, Elvis's devotion towards her made her really touched but following it was a strong sense of uneasiness.

Gu Mengmeng wrapped her arms around Elvis's waist and pressed her little face against his chest before speaking slowly, "You promised me that you won't abandon me...."

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng back and enjoyed her reliance on him as he replied, "I swear, I will never abandon you."

Gu Mengmeng raised her head and met eyes with Elvis's affectionate pupils. Her brows curved upwards unknowingly, giving off a pitiful look as she asked, "But if you die, aren't you abandoning me too?"

Elvis leaned forward and landed a kiss on Gu Mengmeng's forehead before he comforted her, "Fool, even if I die, my soul will always be by your side."

Gu Mengmeng twitched her lips and said, "Yeah, your soul by my side to see how others bully me?"

Elvis was taken aback and he immediately said, "No, you will never be bullied by others. Even if you don't have me, you still have Lea, Ian and the Eagle-owl tribe, and also Barete, Auretin and the entire Saint Nazaire..."

Gu Mengmeng retorted, "But they're not my husband. Without you, me and our sons will become a widow with her half-orphaned kids, it's really terrible."

Elvis already felt a sense of happiness by Gu Mengmeng's words. He completely did not care whether his sons were terrible or not, but if his death affected Gu Mengmeng's life.....he really could not just die like that.

After staying silent for a while, Elvis handed the bamboo shoot to Lea....

Lea was quite surprised as he received the bamboo shoot with both hands. Seeing how Gu Mengmeng's eyes were sparkling like stars, he asked, "Can I...I test the poison for you too?"

Gu Mengmeng snatched the bamboo shoot away and said, "Sigh.....I feel that we should make an umbrella first, let's place the food matter at one side for the time being."

Lea and Elvis were confused as they could not understand what she meant.

Gu Mengmeng added, "Water is all stored in your brains because you guys don't have umbrellas when it rains."

Elvis and Lea exchanged glances and then shook their heads in unspoken teamwork, even Ian who was maintaining his cold posture the entire time started tilting his head slightly.

Elvis replied, "There's no water..."

Lea joined in and said, "Yeah, I don't hear the sound of water."

Ian commented, "There's really no...."

Gu Mengmeng gave a helpless smile and said, "There's so much water that you guys can't shake out."

Elvis thought for a while and said, "We've been bracing the water since young so it's not strange to have water in our brains. Anyway, we did not feel uncomfortable these few years so it shouldn't be fatal. Just let our brains be filled full with water. There's no need for you to make any umbrella, it's too tiring."

Generation gap! This must be a damn generation gap!

Gu Mengmeng felt that water might have entered her own brain too or else why was she discussing this topic with these three fellows? Clearing her throat, Gu Mengmeng shifted the topic back and said, “Why must you eat something yourself to find out whether it has poison? Can’t we just catch a rat and feed it?”

Elvis and Lea had astonished expressions on their faces as they looked like Columbus who had discovered a new world....

Gu Mengmeng shook her hands lightly and said, “Please keep the worship on your faces away, low-profile, let’s maintain a low-profile.”

Lea said, “Alright, I’ll go catch the rat.”

Gu Mengmeng scolded, “Catch your ass, didn’t Elvis eat the bamboo shoot already? Let’s catch it the next time. And, just catch one at a time, or else Saint Nazaire will become a rat nest in the future.”

Chapter 458 - Do You Want One, Bro?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng was full of suspicion. If she did not give sufficient instructions, Elvis and Lea could have caught all the rats in the area purely based on how wide of holes they dredge to store their food.

Elvis and Lea nodded in acknowledgement, then proceeded to harvest the bamboo shoots.

Elvis was not as good at knife skills as Lea, often squashing the bamboo shoots into bits instead of harvesting them. Later, Lea just told him to stop adding on any burden and just accompany Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng supported her body against a bamboo that was as thick as her arm, looking it up and down and making little gestures while Lea was harvesting the shoots.

Elvis watched as she expressed her interest towards the bamboo, asking, “Can this be eaten too?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “Even pandas don’t eat bamboos this thick, let alone humans.”

“Then...?” Elvis did not understand.

Gu Mengmeng patted the bamboo, “Hubby, cut it open from here, I want this bamboo.”

Elvis replied, “Alright.”

Elvis grabbed Gu Mengmeng’s waist, holding her in his embrace while he transformed his other hand into a sharp claw. With a light wave, that bamboo snapped into two. The bamboo leaves ruffled in the air and fell in the other direction.

With his palm up, Elvis caught the bamboo steadily, then released Gu Mengmeng's waist, "Do I just bring the whole stick back?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, "Put it down first, hubby. Let me take a good look."

Elvis adjusted the angle, then placed the bamboo on the ground.

Gu Mengmeng squatted down and looked at it for a long while, "Hubby, give me another claw, right here."

Elvis did so accordingly.

Gu Mengmeng held up the section that had been cut, smiling extremely happily.

"Come, drink some water." Gu Mengmeng said, "This area of the bamboo joint is solid while the bamboo tube is hollow. As long as you cut at the right area, you can create a ready-made cup~"

Elvis stared at the bamboo that was five metres or so, asking, "Do you need so many cups?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, "Not so much, just 10 would do."

Elvis, "10?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded, "Four for Hede and his brothers, one for each of them, one for each of us, one for Lea and one for Sandy."

Gu Mengmeng turned her head to look at Ian, asking, "Do you want one, bro?"

Ian snorted with his aloof expression, "My eagle-owl tribe only drink dew, I don't need these coarse stuff."

Gu Mengmeng, “Oh.”

Turning back, she said to Elvis, “Auretin seems pretty pitiful, not having any friends besides us. So, let’s prepare for him too, and one more, hehehehe...”

Elvis raised his eyebrows, feeling especially interested towards Gu Mengmeng’s “hehehehe”.

Gu Mengmeng hooked Elvis’ neck like two students huddled together discussing how to cheat during their test later, “I want to take the other one to carry out “The Gu Mengmeng Organisation’s Ethology and Special Encouragement Operation”.”

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng feeling lost, completely not understanding what she was saying.

Gu Mengmeng replied mysteriously, “I have my plans, just do what I said and help me make 10 cups.”

Elvis nodded. Then pointed at the one in Gu Mengmeng’s hand, “Auretin.”

He cut another one and looked at it closely, as if he was not too pleased by it, so he followed up with, “Hede.”

He cut another one, seemingly slightly better than the previous one, yet still could not reach the perfect standard in Elvis’ eyes, so he smiled and said, “Jialue’s.”

Chapter 459 - Then Do You Want To Devote Yourself To Me?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Just like that, Elvis chopped until the seventh one before he finally handed over a perfectly cut, flawless bamboo cup to Gu Mengmeng with satisfaction on his face, “Mengmeng’s.”

Gu Mengmeng smiled happily as she took her own cup.

Elvis then chopped another one, “Mine.”

Gu Mengmeng took the cup that Elvis was holding, closely observing them as she held one in each hand. On the other hand, Elvis chopped a few times without much thought, making the final two cups.

Whipping out the snake scale that Ellie had given her, Gu Mengmeng used its sharp end to carefully carve the three words Gu Mengmeng, then carved Elvis’ name on his own cup too before delivering it to him, “There, now we won’t get it mixed up.”

Elvis took the cup over and stared at the symbol that he could not recognise.

He would never tell Gu Mengmeng that despite not having any markings, orcs would never misidentify their own items. However, the cup had seemed especially different with her marking.

After Elvis was done, Lea had already collected a pile of bamboo shoots that seemed almost like a tiny hill. Gu Mengmeng quickly stopped him, “Alright alright, harvest any longer and there will be nothing left of this bamboo forest. Leave some for others, we’ll just eat what we can.”

Lea looked at the tiny pile and frowned, “So little? Is that even enough to eat?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “It is the monsoon season, hot and humid. Too many and they might go bad, then it would be a waste.”

Lea, “Can’t they be preserved?”

Gu Mengmeng twitched the corners of her lips, “Preserving bamboo shoots? Nevermind... let’s eat some fresh food, we can’t always eat preserved vegetables.”

Lea nodded, “True, we’ll listen to you. Let me know when you want to eat it again, and I will come to harvest it for you.”

Smiling, Gu Mengmeng nodded, then took a cup from her lap and handed to Lea, “Here, yours.”

Lea had been listening to Elvis and Gu Mengmeng’s conversation all along, so he clearly knew one of the cups were going to be given to him. However, when Gu Mengmeng really presented it to him, Lea was still rather excited. After all, it was Gu Mengmeng’s first present for him.

Lea carried the cup in his hands as if he was holding a precious jewel, doing it with caution.

Every gift giver would want their presents to be liked, and Gu Mengmeng was no exception. Seeing how much Lea treasured it, she followed with, “How about... I carve a name for you as well?”

Excited, Lea asked, “Could you? Could you also... carve my name for me?”

Gu Mengmeng fetched the cup from Lea’s hands, “Aiya, isn’t it just a matter of a few strokes?”

Using a snake scale certainly did not look as good as using a pen to write words, but since everyone was illiterate, Gu Mengmeng did not feel embarrassed since they would not know what she was writing, anyway.

After carving the word “Lea”, Gu Mengmeng delivered the cup back to him. However, instead of grabbing the cup, Lea held Gu Mengmeng’s wrist and pulled her into his embrace, “Mengmeng, thank you. I was very blissful... today. When we were eating... and now too... thank you... thanks...”

Gu Mengmeng had left her guard down, not expecting Lea to suddenly hug her. She felt rather uncomfortable at the moment and wanted to push him away... but she hesitated.

After staying silent for a moment, Gu Mengmeng responded, “Elvis made the cups, and you were the one who took care of me... during meals. If one were to say thank you, then that would be me. You have done so much more for me than I have for you, too much more.”

Lea chuckled and slowly released Gu Mengmeng, then used her finger to gently lift up her chin, “Then do you want to devote yourself to me?”

Chapter 460 - The Weak Has No Bragging Rights

Gu Mengmeng warmly replied with a single word, “Scram!”

Elvis howled at the sky, and that shocked Gu Mengmeng so much she shuddered and turned around asking, “What are you doing, hubby? Eh... it isn’t a full moon night today.”

Elvis carried Gu Mengmeng, “Lea and I can’t possibly carry all these bamboo shoots by ourselves. I’m calling the members of the tribe to come do some labour.”

Clearly losing it, Gu Mengmeng responded, “Sigh, this pathetic beast world. Only travelling by foot, communicating by howls...”

Ian snorted, “Ha.”

Gu Mengmeng was about to fire at him, but he spread out his wings and flew away... flew away... away...

“Do you think you’re all that just because you can fly? Do you think you’re an angel just because you have wings? You could damn well be a harpy! Don’t fly if you dare, come down and we’ll compete over who is better!”

Gu Mengmeng had always been the type to roar and act tough, but who knew Ian actually detoured, stopping in midair and transforming into a half-orc. His human body waved his wings while his condescending eyes stared right at Gu Mengmeng. His face had seemed even paler under the moonlight, making him look sick, “Come up if you’re so all that.”

Gu Mengmeng gritted her teeth, pointing at Ian, “You come down!”

Ian raised his brows, slowly descending to the ground and transforming into a human, taking a step forward, “I’m down here now, so what do you want to fight me with?”

Gu Mengmeng took a step back, “Eh? You really came down...”

Ian crossed his arms, “Didn’t you tell me to do so?”

With a ripping sound, Gu Mengmeng said, “Do you have any professionalism in fighting? You clearly know I can’t beat nor catch you, can’t you just let me run my mouth to feel better?”

Ian raised his head, “The weak has no bragging rights in front of the strong. If you can’t win me in anything, why should I let you feel good?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “Fine, if this lady here doesn’t try you, then you’ll think she’s afraid of you, right?”

Ian nodded.

Gu Mengmeng looked in all directions, then smiled sneakily, “You still haven’t mated, right?”

Ian nodded, looking at Gu Mengmeng as if she was spouting the clearly known truth.

Gu Mengmeng hooked her arms around Elvis’ arm, “This lady here has a partner, do you?”

Ian: ...

He was clearly a bird, but why did he feel like a dog in that instant?!

Gu Mengmeng pulled at her collar, revealing her mating mark, “This lady here has a mating mark, do you? Tsk, forget that you, an old bachelor, have no partners. Even if you did, you wouldn’t have a mating mark as cool as mine.”

Ian:...Woof?

Gu Mengmeng leaned in Elvis' arms, looking Ian up and down, "This lady has four sons, may I ask how many do you have in your family?"

Ian:...Woof woof?

Damn, torturing a single dog, and also forming her team of "family set meal"?

Chuckling, Gu Mengmeng took two steps forward and held Ian's neck, "I heard from my hubby that there was not even one female in your eagle-owl tribe. This lady took a few steps out the door and I brought back 16, each one of them a perfect female, the first beauties of their original tribes. I also brought away many of the strongest fighters of numerous tribes. Eh, do you still wanna fight?"

Silent, Ian could not help but feel that Gu Mengmeng had indeed jabbed him at his weak spot.

Ever since he took over the eagle-owl tribe, no females had been born nor were willing to join the tribe, causing it to become the "bachelor" tribe. He clearly did not do well... at the role of a tribe leader."

Chapter 461 - You Don't Seem To Believe In Oaths

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng laughed evilly, then grabbed Ian's neck even tighter, "However, these beauties are already part of Saint Nazaire, and the eagle-owl tribe are also part of Saint Nazaire. So, as long as your fellow tribesmen are willing, they can feel free to woo those females. Flying is a pretty cool additional attribute, so I believe many females would be willing to have someone from the air force in their families. Of course, since we are so close, I will be sure to prioritise you. If you are interested in anyone, I can help matchmake. Look, I matchmade for Sandy and Collin, wasn't his proposal impressive? Don't you want a similar one~"

Ian frowned, looking at Gu Mengmeng. He could not point out what was weird, he just felt that Gu Mengmeng's tone was... hmm... difficult to explain.

Mainly because Ian wasn't a modern person. If he was, he could definitely have responded with an interrogative sentence, "Excuse me, are you a matchmaker?"

"What? Aren't you impressed by my 16 valued women? They are already the best beauties of each tribe..." Gu Mengmeng looked at Ian and asked.

Ian stayed silent for a moment, then asked, "Eagle-owl tribe is your secret power, and we can't see the light of day, how are we supposed to woo females?"

Gu Mengmeng laughed out loud, "So that's what you're worrying about. Brother, you're thinking too much, how cruel must I be for you all to never see the light in your lifetime? It was just the initial stages of my identity revelation that Lea was worried someone would use cheap tricks, so you all were told to hide temporarily. Such tricks can only be used once before they subsequently lose their effectiveness. So... it won't take long before you all can appear before the fellow tribesmen in broad daylight."

Ian looked at Gu Mengmeng, asking, "You really are willing to allow people of the eagle-owl tribe to mate with the females of Saint Nazaire?"

Gu Mengmeng asked back, "Why not? I'm not a twisted crazy person that wants to see others single for life."

Ian, "Once we mate with females, we will become one of their family members and no longer fellow tribesmen of the eagle-owl tribe, and will the females no matter where they go, this would also mean that... the blood oath would no longer be effective."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled, "One would struggle to break free the tighter they are held back. When your blood oath is broken, and you guys are still willing to stay in Saint Nazaire, by my side, then you all will truly be fellow tribesmen of my tribe. Equality, interdependence and mutual support. The kind that you can trust them with everything, such people... cannot be gained with oaths."

Ian looked at Gu Mengmeng quietly, then revealed a tiny smile after a long while, "I lost. You can feel free to shout at me whenever you want to. As long as you're happy."

With that, Ian spread his wings and took off, disappearing into the night sky.

Those that had received Elvis' signal had also rushed over right then.

Gu Mengmeng returned into Elvis' embrace, watching Lea order the crowd to carry bamboo shoots. Everyone was confused, yet nobody dared to ask, "What is that." They only followed Elvis and Lea, walking back neatly and orderly.

Lea wagged his huge tail without looking at Gu Mengmeng. He only fixed his gaze to the front as he slowly asked, "Mengmeng, you don't seem... to believe in oaths, be they Elvis', mine, or... others'."

Gu Mengmeng thought about it, and it indeed seemed like so.

Chapter 462 - I Don't Trust The Human Heart, I Trust You Guys

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng recalled the events that happened after she came to the beast world. Although Elvis and Lea had always been nice to her, but prior to mating, she had never fully trusted them no matter how much they promised or made oaths to her. There had always been an uneasiness present in her heart.

Even on the day she had confirmed her relationship status with Lea, she still thought he would eat her...

After having experienced many things later on, the fact that Elvis was her warmth and companion caused her to open up her heart slowly, to her... "trust" was a luxury, she no longer possessed such abilities.

Smiling, Gu Mengmeng replied, "Don't believe others' words easily, so they don't have the chance to let you down. Don't make promises rashly either, in case you disappoint others. Haven't you heard of that? There's only a thin line between a promise and a lie, the former is the one the one who says that believes in it, while the latter is one who hears that believes in it. So... this is the most unreliable thing, how can anyone believe it?"

Lea tilted his head, looking at Gu Mengmeng and asked, "You don't trust promises, but trust the human heart?"

Gu Mengmeng knew Lea was asking her about allowing the eagle-owl tribe to mate with the females in the tribe, so she smiled and replied, "I don't trust the human heart, I trust you guys."

Lea was stunned, and even Elvis stopped in his tracks to look at Gu Mengmeng.

Shyly, Gu Mengmeng lowered her head, “The both of you certainly have sufficient capability to build Saint Nazaire into the greatest tribe in the beast world. The rise of Saint Nazaire would happen sooner or later even without me. My appearance is just adding flowers to the brocade. A powerful tribe... will never lack loyal tribesmen.

“No.” Elvis gently kissed Gu Mengmeng’s tiny hand, “Saint Nazaire would be nothing but a cold, empty shell without you. You were the one who brought hope to Saint Nazaire, life to Lea and I. You’re not merely an addition of flowers to the brocade, you’re the only key that can open the door to our destiny.”

Gu Mengmeng’s tiny heart skipped a beat from Elvis’ serious attitude. She hugged Elvis’ neck and leaned her forehead against his lovingly, “Silly hubby... did you know? Before I met you, I was celibate.”

Elvis looked at Gu Mengmeng, not interrupting her, only quietly listening to her talk.

“I never really agreed about the concept of marriage, much less trust. I won’t say the reason, you guys know that too.” Gu Mengmeng’s gaze floated to the fellow tribesmen following behind. She had already made up a big lie about being the daughter of the beast deity, so she definitely could not tell others that her parents had divorced. However, she has brought it up to Lea and Elvis previously in Sauder, so she believed the both of them would not have forgotten what she had mentioned.

As expected, Elvis and Lea looked gloomy, heart ache showing on their faces.

Gu Mengmeng unfurrowed Elvis’ brows gently, then continued, “But... you continued staying by my side, doing many weird and even crazy things for me. You see me as the most important, never showing any signs of impatience no matter how unreasonable I may get. You’ve seen my ugliest sides when I cry, yet you still adore me like one would to a princess. Most importantly... no matter what happened, you never wanted to abandon me... never wanted to leave my side. You made me believe that, perhaps there is someone, who can accompany me for the rest of my life, and will not say goodbye at any junction in life.”

Chapter 463 - Mengmeng, Can't You Be A Little Selfish For Me Too?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng lowered her head and looked at the mark on her collarbone, chuckling, “Actually, I’m very apologetic that this marking wasn’t imprinted on my chest, because it proved my selfishness...”

Elvis frowned, not angry, but heart aching. He did not like the expression Gu Mengmeng had on her face in that moment, clearly smiling yet so upset.

Gu Mengmeng said, “When I agreed to mate with you back then, it was partly because the atmosphere back then was too confusing, and also... because I no longer wanted to be lonely. I believed you, that you wouldn’t betray nor abandon me, so... that selfish me wanted to have you, grab onto you, but... was not yet deeply in love with you. If we mated now, I believe your marking would definitely be on my chest.”

Elvis gazed into Gu Mengmeng’s eyes lovingly, his mystic blue pupils making it seem as if all the deep sentiments of the night had gathered on her. He slowly opened his mouth, his voice as smooth and low as a cello, “Xiao Meng, thank you for being selfish. Because it granted me a lifetime of bliss.”

“Don’t you blame me? The marking...” Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and stopped speaking.

Elvis shook his head, “Being able to leave my marking on your body is the luckiest thing that has happened to me in the past three lifetimes. How can I blame you if it is so close to your chest?”

Lea stayed silent for a moment, before finally speaking up, “Mengmeng, I’m sorry.”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, and recalled what she had said to Elvis. Lea probably thought that he was being criticized for the lie he made up for her to accept Elvis.

She wanted to explain, but Lea spoke up first, “After that thing happened, I tried many times to salvage the situation. However... I still owe you a complete apology. I thought too much of myself, always thinking that everything was well-planned, neglecting your feelings and making you hurt once again.”

Lea’s expression was so solemn that it tore Gu Mengmeng’s heart violently.

He was injured all over, devastation filled his eyes. How was she going to plead him, who was in that state, to consider past, present and future for someone he once did not know?

Suddenly, Gu Mengmeng laughed, patting Lea’s shoulder, “Rather than an apology... I would like to hear you confess.”

Lea looked up, with an unbelievably bright spark in his eyes, but he saw Gu Mengmeng’s sneaky grin and knew he certainly thought too much.

Gu Mengmeng, “Because, confessions can be rejected, but I doubt apologies can...”

True enough...

Lea took a deep breath, and went back to looking affectionate as he once did, leaning beside Elvis, hanging his chin on Elvis’ shoulder, big tail wagging in front of Gu Mengmeng, “You clearly enjoy my presence by your side? Hmm?”

Gu Mengmeng snorted, “How is that possible? I can’t wait to find an eminent monk to take you, an evildoer, in.”

Lea did not believe her, “Then why did you call me to “roll back”? You even said that if I didn’t return to your side, you would make Elvis beat my legs till they broke.”

Gu Mengmeng seriously felt worried for her own intellect, regretting the 10086th time that she should not have been rash, falling into the fox’s trap.

Grinding her teeth, she replied, “I was afraid you, a sneaky fox, would take away Auretin’s big cabbage!”

Lea suddenly went silent, pulling Gu Mengmeng’s arm, brooding, “Mengmeng, can’t you... be a little selfish for me too?”

Chapter 464 - This Generation With Lack Of Materialism

Chapter 464: This Generation With Lack Of Materialism

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng tried to retract her hand, but was unable to and could only make a “tsk” sound, “Can’t you maintain a consistent attitude? You’re making it difficult for me to accept.”

Lea raised his head looking at Gu Mengmeng, “Keep me if you like me, hug me if you want, throw your temper at me whenever you want to, and tell me to “scram” when you are annoyed at me! Don’t feel guilty for not mating with me, staying by your side was my own choice... because, obtaining your “selfishness” is all I can ever ask for, so much that it keeps me up at night.”

Gu Mengmeng responded, “Why? It’s the past...”

Lea replied, “As long as I’m not dead, you will never be my past.”

Gu Mengmeng did not know what to say, so she could only remain silent.

However, the crowd at the back was enjoying the show. Eh, that’s gossip.

“Shocking! The Ninth Highness from the previous messengers tribe has downgraded to become a beast pet, is this the fall of morals or a twist of humanity? Please continue watching “Gu Mengmeng vs Lea*AVI””

A small portion of those people were previously fellow Saint Nazaire tribesmen, but the other majority only joined recently.

The new members had no idea about what had happened between Gu Mengmeng and Lea, but it did not stop them from watching the gossip with piqued interest.

Eh, they're holding hands, they're holding hands!

Look, the mighty messenger's gaze is melting. I bet out of the two giant beasts, the mighty witch doctor can definitely take the throne.

No no no, it may not be. Just look at the gloomy aura around the mighty tribe leader, he would certainly not let him get it so easily.

...

...

Right as the protagonists were staying silent, and in the time that the crowd exchanged glances with one another which created a barrage effect, the group eventually returned to their camping spot.

The females surrounded them, feeling weirded out by the items that the males were carrying in their arms. Mandy was considered one of the ones who are more familiar with Gu Mengmeng among the females, so she mustered the courage to ask, "Mighty Messenger, what are these?"

It was only then that Gu Mengmeng collected her emotions from Lea's words, rubbing her face and replying, "These are bamboo shoots, they taste wonderful with stewed meat. Later, let's stew a small pot to try, and those who like it can register with Lea so he can distribute evenly to everyone."

"For eating... must chilli be added?" Mandy was clearly scared by the spice today.

Gu Mengmeng laughed, "We won't add for those who can't take spice, I will just have a small pot for my own."

Mandy lowered her head rather guiltily, "We..."

Gu Mengmeng took out a bamboo cup from her arms and passed it to Mandy, "We found this just now in the bamboo forest, it is just right for containing drinking water. Since you are the first beauty of the tribe, I will gift this cup to you first."

Mandy was over the mood, wiping her hands on her body then taking the cup carefully. She looked at Gu Mengmeng and asked, “Is this... really for me?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded, “Of course, you are the first beauty of the tribe and naturally deserve a reward.”

Mandy was so excited she was on the verge of tears. Both her hands holding the bamboo cup up, she spun around like she could drill a hole through the ground.

Gu Mengmeng maintained a respectful smile, yet was dissing on the inside: This generation with a lack of materialism, how has it forced women? A damned broken bamboo can make her so happy...

She turned around and saw that indeed, the other females were all looking at Mandy, green with envy. Some twisted their fingers, and some of them ran away. For those who were more prideful, then turned into the embrace of their males to wipe their tears...

Chapter 465 - Gu Mengmeng Gaining Fangirls

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

In the end, one can only rely on Lea for cooking.

It was good that he was not hurt by what had happened on the way and had resumed his original condition.

Gu Mengmeng intentionally avoided him, but as if he did not realise, he pestered Gu Mengmeng, “I’m eating this for the first time too, you should at least demonstrate for me?”

Helpless, Gu Mengmeng nodded and took a small step back to make some distance. She called Elvis over, chopping the bamboo shoot into pieces then into thin strips.

Cutting all the ginger during the winter had left a side effect on Elvis, such that no matter what he was cutting, it would be as thick as a slice of ginger. Unless Gu Mengmeng provided specifications, they would all be cut the same, a mechanical production line.

Gu Mengmeng set up a tiny pot, first getting some oil from animal fat, then placing the freshly cut beast flesh inside. Firewood was different from gas, the intensity of fire cannot be controlled, so she could only quick fry it instead of steaming it at low heat. It took some effort, but eventually got it to fry till golden brown before Gu Mengmeng took the meat out, adding ginger slices and chilli into the hot pot to fry until there was an aroma. She later poured the meat back into the pot, adding in some water.

After everything was done, she was surrounded by people. Gu Mengmeng raised her head only to see a pair of eyes staring back at her, with a great desire.

Gu Mengmeng tilted her head, “There’s... chilli here.”

Mandy took a small step forward, “Mighty messenger, I’m not afraid of chilli, could you... share some with me to try?”

Gu Mengmeng returned a friendly smile, “It is my honor, to dine with the first beauty of the tribe.”

Mandy’s cheeks turned red as she slowly walked towards Gu Mengmeng’s side, sitting there obediently. Her eyes filled with adoration as she watched Gu Mengmeng’s back view circling around the pot.

Gu Mengmeng used the beast skin to wrap around the handle, pouring the bamboo shoot into the pot and stir with chopsticks before covering the pot with a stone board.

She turned her head, looking at Lea, “The basic steps are like these, it can usually be done after an hour of stewing, but since the meat of a wild beast takes much longer to become tender than domestic pigs, just let it stew for half an hour more. Add some salt to spice up the flavors before taking it out of the pot... Oh, right, any potatoes left?”

Lea nodded, “Yes.”

Gu Mengmeng, “Then cut two potatoes and soak them in water. Add them into the pot, stew together and that will be great. Don’t touch the water used to soak the potatoes, let the starch deposit then pour away the excess water before pouring the starch sauce over the dish at the end.”

Lea nodded carelessly, looking at Gu Mengmeng. Suddenly, he moved forward, leaning his face against the tip of Gu Mengmeng’s nose, holding it there for two seconds and smiled evilly as he watched Gu Mengmeng’s scared expression, “But, how long is one hour? How long is half an hour?”

Gu Mengmeng cleared a throat, taking a small step backwards, “There’s no need to be that precise, it’s about the same as how long you would usually stew a potato.”

Lea grabbed Gu Mengmeng's waist, thrusting her into his embrace, using his height as an advantage to shroud her under his figure, squinting at Gu Mengmeng, who did not know what to do, and said in a low voice, "I'll teach the method of stewing meat and bamboo shoots to the other males, then come back to eat with you."

Gu Mengmeng tried pushing Lea twice, yet was not able to, and could only look up at Lea while maintaining a very forceful position, "That... Actually you can stay to eat with them, you don't have to come eat with me."

Lea raised his eyebrows, "Even Auretin, the guardian beast can eat with you, yet I have to eat with them?"

Gu Mengmeng laughed dryly, “That... you can make more, then ask Auretin to go over and eat too.”

Lea leaned over, slowly getting closer to Gu Mengmeng. Gu Mengmeng tried to move backwards, pushing the limit of arching her spine until she could no longer backup and could only use her arms to push against Lea’s chest, stuttering, “What... what are you doing?”

Sorrow filled Lea’s long, narrow eyes as he spoke gloomily, “Do you want to push me away more, the more I tell you to be more selfish with me?”

Gu Mengmeng remained silent without answering.

Lea used one hand to gently tip Gu Mengmeng’s chin up so that she could not avoid his gaze, then said softly, “You drew a line that you did not let me cross, so I could only stand at the edge, watching you, whom I couldn’t touch no matter how far I stretched out my arms... Greed and desire made me try to break the boundary one time after another, trying to get closer to you, yet you continue to jump even further away every time I cross the line... I don’t want much, I just want to push the boundary a little closer to you, so I can touch you with my fingertips when I use all my might to stretch out my arms, and I would know my place and no longer cross the line... Just a little, let me get to you... a little.”

Gu Mengmeng pressed her lips together, staying silent for a long while before replying, “Or, the scenery could be better behind you. Perhaps... you should try turning around?”

Lea smiled, but his smile was rather pathetic, asking, “Are you... abandoning me?”

Gu Mengmeng did not reply, only frowning.

However, Lea suddenly made an “Ah” sound as if he had just realised something, “Yes, in your heart, I am no longer the “Daddy Lea” of the past. You never allowed me to be your male, so “abandonment” has... always been a luxurious word to me.”

Lea let go, turned around and stood still.

“I’ll go teach the males to stew bamboo shoots, then stay there to eat with them. You don’t have to send Auretin there because of me, although you don’t adore me... but I am still happy that you have one more person that can make you happy by your side.”

With that, Lea slowly walked away without looking back.

Lea’s body heat was still on Gu Mengmeng. As the night wind blew, it was gone without a trace.

Clearly, the winter season was over but... it was still so cold.

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng from the back and pecked her forehead, “As long as you call for him once, he will return.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, “Maybe... I should give him a way out.”

“Hmm?” Elvis did not understand.

Gu Mengmeng, “Over there, we had a famous quote “If you love, then love deeply. If you don’t, then leave cleanly. Do not flirt, for it hurts others and yourself.””

Elvis stayed silent without a word.

Gu Mengmeng stood behind Lea, watching his back view as he demonstrated how to stew bamboo shoots to the crowd, “Perhaps I should never have let him do what he wanted from the start, giving him any buffering limit. This attitude made him hard to let go, difficult to cut ties and not know what to do.”

Elvis kissed Gu Mengmeng’s hair, “No, you weren’t wrong. If you didn’t feel soft-hearted back then... Lea might not have lived past that winter.”

Gu Mengmeng looked up, not understanding Elvis.

Elvis sighed, recalling, “The snow had sealed the mountains. Without food, even snow foxes cannot stay in the snow for a long time. However, Lea guarded outside our cave for 13 days without food or water, mentally and physically exhausted. I tried to persuade him to leave while you were asleep, but he said... he didn’t want to not hear your voice even as he was dying.”

Chapter 467 - Do You Love Me?

Chapter 467: Do You Love Me?

“If you hadn’t allowed him to enter the cave when I got injured that time... when the ice melted this year, you would have seen a dead fox at the entrance of the cave.”

Startled, Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and could only respond after a moment, “He was at the entrance when the stray beasts were there? Then why didn’t he come in to help?”

Elvis’ face froze, and he lowered his head, “Xiao Meng... I’m sorry.”

Gu Mengmeng frowned, looking at Elvis without a word.

Elvis pressed his lips together, “During the battle, I purposely pretended to faint from injury to give Lea an opportunity to enter the cave... I was afraid you would feel bad to mate with him while I was awake, so... that... don’t be angry...”

Gu Mengmeng looked away, not wanting to talk to Elvis at all.

Like a child that had done something wrong, Elvis followed behind Gu Mengmeng, pulling her hand, “I know I’m wrong now, I shouldn’t have lied to you and pretended to faint to make you worry. However, Lea was on the verge of death... If I hadn’t, he would have died in the snow. I was afraid of regretting, and afraid you would too... So I... I was wrong... If you are angry, then hit me? If not... twist my ears?”

With that, Elvis transformed his pair of wolf ears, then placed Gu Mengmeng’s tiny hands on them while bending down to match her height, “I promise I won’t hide, you can twist them until you are no longer angry, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng sighed, “If I didn’t remember wrongly, we had just mated when the stray beasts barged into the cave? Elvis... do you really love me?”

Elvis was completely frozen. He grabbed Gu Mengmeng into his embrace, holding her tightly, “I know you are angry, I will accept any punishment, but you cannot leave me! No way!”

“Do you love me?” It was a very solemn question.

Because Elvis clearly remembered Gu Mengmeng once saying: If you ever have a change of heart... I will bring my sons back to where I came from, never returning, and make sure you will never ever find us!

Having experienced Gu Mengmeng “jumping into the lake” in the afternoon, Elvis was especially sensitive. He was too fearful of Gu Mengmeng leaving him, and he did not know if Gu Mengmeng, whom took him so much effort to convince to stay, would be disappointed or suspect his intentions because of this incident, and... have her heart waver in her decision to stay.”

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath, “I never said I would leave you, I merely asked you... do you really love me?”

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly, not willing to let go even a little. He was desperate to show how much he loved her, yet he found all languages were so powerless. He did not know what to say for Gu Mengmeng to believe that he only created such an opportunity for Lea only because he loved her too much and did not want her to meet any obstacles.

After pondering for a long while, Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s hand and placed her palm on his chest, “If I dig it out to show you... then don’t leave, alright?”

Gu Mengmeng felt the palpitations from her palms and slowly spoke after a long while. “You don’t have to use such methods to make me stay. My sons are still here, so I won’t leave.”

With that, Gu Mengmeng retracted her arm.

Elvis refused to let go, but he was afraid that Gu Mengmeng would hurt herself during the struggle, so he could only use his other hand to hold his waist, fixing her in his arms, furrowing his brows. Elvis could feel the uneasiness coming in waves in his chest.

“You can’t even tell me that you love me, then what are you doing hugging me?! Let go, let go of me!” Gu Mengmeng wriggled and struggled, kicking Elvis.

Elvis furrowed his eyebrows, sounding hoarse as he said repeatedly beside Gu Mengmeng’s ear, “Xiao Meng, I love you. Xiao Meng, I love you... Xiao Meng, I love you!”

Chapter 468 - Do You Really Not Like Lea?

Chapter 468: Do You Really Not Like Lea?

Elvis' voice was shaking in the rhythm of his heartbeat.

Gu Mengmeng's temperament slowly simmered down with every "love you" he said. It was only when he realised Gu Mengmeng was no longer struggling nor had any intentions to push him away that he carefully created some distance. Elvis got even more flustered as he watched her tears fall like raindrops, kissing her tears and feeling like knives were stabbing at his heart.

"Don't cry, don't cry... I don't know what to do once you start crying. I promise I will never lie to you again, don't cry..."

Gu Mengmeng raised her beautiful weeping face and looked at Elvis, "Lying is definitely wrong, but you were secretly planning on opening a back door for someone else from the moment we mated, which is even more wrong. How little must you have cared about me, that you were willing to create such opportunities for other males?"

Elvis shook his head, "No, it isn't like that, Xiao Meng."

Gu Mengmeng completely did not give Elvis any opportunity to explain herself, only continuing, "Yes, Lea is your close brother, you all have many years of emotional foundation, couldn't you have just told me that you couldn't watch him die in the cold outside? Am I so heartless that I would watch him die without doing anything? If you had told me directly, would I have blocked you from letting him in?"

Helpless, Elvis replied, “Since the end result would be the same... just don’t be angry.”

Gu Mengmeng roared, “Is it the damned same for you to call your brother into the cave to hide from the wind, and for me to call my boyfriend into the house while my husband fainted?”

Elvis shook his head frantically, “Not the same not the same...”

Gu Mengmeng took a deep breath, wiping her tears, “Since you never loved me that much anyway, I’ll leave with my sons the moment we’re back in Saint Nazaire. Since you like Lea so much, you can continue living your life with him.”

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng back in his arms the moment he heard her express her will to leave, “I don’t like Lea, he annoys me so much... really... he really annoys me, I’m not living with him.”

Gu Mengmeng did not say a word, only turning her head away.

Elvis tilted his head too, looking at Gu Mengmeng’s tiny face, “I want just the both of us alone to live in the cave too, not having any outsiders. But I’m just afraid you would get annoyed seeing me every day...”

Gu Mengmeng glared at me, “So you’re blaming me now?”

Elvis shook his head, “No no, I wouldn’t. I was just afraid...”

Elvis stopped his sentence midway, shutting up with Gu Mengmeng’s stare and changing his words, “Do you really not like Lea?”

Gu Mengmeng looked down and stayed silent for a moment, before replying glumly, “Perhaps... I do, at the bottom of my heart. That’s why I allowed him to pester me with all his reasons, for I could have avoided if I truly wanted to. Yet, I let him be... He was right, actually, I did enjoy his presence around me. I rejected him, refusing to respond, yet accepted his goodwill towards me... That is very selfish, like a douchebag.”

Elvis wanted to say something, but did not eventually, only hugging Gu Mengmeng while patting her back gently.

The crowd of people had been really careful due to the awkward atmosphere between the messenger of the Beast Deity, tribe leader and witch doctor, afraid that they might be implicated. For the rest of the two-day journey, the group set off and halted as instructed by Gu Mengmeng, even the most delicate females did not dare to lament.

Finally, the group of them returned to Saint Nazaire on the second afternoon.

Chapter 469 - Eavesdrop And I Will Runaway!

Chapter 469: Eavesdrop And I Will Runaway!

The day they returned to the tribe, Lea was expelled out of Elvis' cave by Gu Mengmeng.

He stood outside the boundary of Elvis' territory, staring straight at the entrance of the cave.

Once, he stood at this position... it was still very cold that day, and he was very much in despair.

Other than Lea, Elvis was also ordered to move to another room, having to move to the cavern nearest to the outside of the cave while Gu Mengmeng and her four sons stayed at the cavern nearer to the inside.

Barete and Collin were handed the arrangements of the people brought back from Sauder. With family as the unity, the 16 valued women chose their living areas where caves would be dug accordingly. However, these small issues were not for Gu Mengmeng to fret over, so she just stayed in the cave with her sons, not having to go anywhere.

However, her not going out did not mean that people outside would not come in.

After seeing Sandy, Collin went home to report to Sandy that it seemed like Gu Mengmeng was not in a good mood. It was not known whether she had fought with Lea or Elvis, but both males looked lifeless, one lying at the entrance while the other laid outside.

Sandy was worried for Gu Mengmeng, so she rushed over.

She spotted Lea first. Indeed, he rode on the tree branch decadently, looking at the cave where he could only see the entrance.

Sandy looked up, asking, “What did you do to upset our Gu Mengmeng?”

Lea had deferential treatment to Sandy, because Gu Mengmeng was very different to her.

Lea jumped down from the tree at Sandy’s question, asking, “I crossed the line she drew, greedily wanting more... So, she escaped.”

Sandy frowned, looking at Lea and threw him a “Can’t you speak human language?” look before leaving.

Lea sighed, climbing back onto the branch again, wondering if Gu Mengmeng would come out to fetch or send Sandy off? That way, he can see her...

Sandy walked past Elvis, looking down at his lifeless body, asking, “You? What did you do to upset our Gu Mengmeng?”

Elvis did not even raise his head, sighing, “Got caught lying...”

Sandy frowned, throwing him a “You deserve it!” look before leaving...

Entering the deeper area of the cave, the four little ones ran out happily, surrounding Sandy and showered her with kisses. That made Gu Mengmeng rather jealous, “Eh eh eh, how many days did I leave for? Ah? You all are closer to her than your biological mother... What? Is it because you know that your aunt Sandy would give birth to your wives in the future, so you are sucking up to your mother-in-law in advance?”

Sandy wasn’t shy either, sitting beside Gu Mengmeng and letting Chixuan jump into her embrace as she grabbed him. She patted Chixuan’s tiny head while saying, “The two of them outside are going to be dried into salted fish, how long are you going to let them hang dry like that?”

Gu Mengmeng pressed her lips together, pulling Sandy's tiny hands then patting her sons' backsides, "Ask your father to bring you guys to play outside, I want to chat with aunt Sandy in private. If you dare to eavesdrop... I will run away!"

Gu Mengmeng was almost screaming the word "runaway", so as slow as Elvis was, he should know that it was a warning.

Although slightly tortuous, it was after all the first time his wife spoke to him in so many days, so Elvis did not dare to take his time. With a signal, he brought the four little cubs away.

Sandy touched her little bear's ears, then looked at Gu Mengmeng and said, "Don't worry, they're far away now."

Chapter 470 - Is It A Damned Convention To Keep Performers?

Gu Mengmeng nodded, finally heaving a sigh of relief. She hugged Sandy's waist, leaning in her embrace, just like how Sandy laid in hers when she was hurt previously.

Whining a few times, Gu Mengmeng looked up at Sandy, "Sandy, I'm so upset..."

Sandy caressed Gu Mengmeng's hair softly, "Both of them know that they are wrong. If you are still angry, then let them both fight, make them beat each other till they are badly battered... then you can calm down and forgive them."

Gu Mengmeng smiled, "This time, they are not the ones in the wrong, but me..."

Sandy opened her eyes wide, "How would you be wrong? You are Gu Mengmeng, the messenger of the Beast Deity!"

Gu Mengmeng rubbed Sandy's little face that had gotten rounder, "Messengers of the Beast Deity are people too, they have times when they are also greedy, weak, helpless and deceitful."

Sandy was incapable of understanding such deep words, but she understood that Gu Mengmeng was really feeling very upset then. She had never seen Gu Mengmeng so low, and could not help but feel her heart ache. Her eyebrows sloped to form the shape resembling the Chinese character of "eight", as she asked gently, "Then, what exactly happened? Can you tell me?"

Gu Mengmeng thought about it, yet found herself not knowing where to start. Laughing bitterly, she sighed, "I mated with Elvis, yet could not forget about Lea... I have both of them at the tip of my fingers, torturing all three of us. Lea did not have a title, so he got belittled by everyone. Elvis was worse, his newlywed wife was unfaithful to him, cheating on him emotionally, yet he not only had to act like he wasn't conscious of it, he cooperated with my deceitful ways in fear of him being abandoned. Two such excellent males are suffering due to my selfishness, yet none of them came to blame me, but pampered, gave in, took care of me, in fear that I would even be a little unhappy...

Sandy blinked, asking, "Isn't that good? Then why are you angry?"

Gu Mengmeng looked up, "Good? What good. My inability to let go of Lea is disloyalty to Elvis; I allowed Lea to fantasize about me, yet I couldn't even give him a title, that is unjustified; I'm neither loyal nor just, so I feel so much guilt when I face those two males daily. The more I wish to make it up, the more I owe them. I have been stressed so much I can't breathe..."

Sandy asked, "Haven't you already given Lea a title?"

Gu Mengmeng looked at Sandy confusedly, clearly writing the four big words "What do you mean?" across her face.

Sandy responded, "Isn't he your beast pet? The whole of Saint Nazaire knows that."

Gu Mengmeng frowned, "What kind of title is beast pet..."

Sandy replied, "How is a beast pet not an identity? Which female does not have a beast pet? It's just that most of the beast pets are half-orcs or disabled beasts that are incapable of transformation, none of whom have Lea's level."

Gu Mengmeng looked at Sandy stiffly, and could not bring herself to say anything in that moment.

Damn... Is it a damned convention to keep performers?

Sandy could tell that Gu Mengmeng did not believe her, so she continued, “The one that Nina used to ride out, is her beast pet; Maya had two beast horns as her beast pet. And for me, I never had a beast pet in the past, but I found the rabbit you bred especially cute, but since wild rabbits do not live for long, Bode helped me to find a rabbit beast to be my beast pet, so I’m breeding that at home. I can bring it out to show you next time.”

Chapter 471 - What Are You Conflicted About?

Gu Mengmeng was utterly shocked, what is this damned practice?
Husbands also help their wives to find... find...

Sighing, Gu Mengmeng expressed her loss for words.

Sandy then continued, “Although we temporarily have not mated with beast pets, and have the possibility of not mating with them for our whole lives, but it does not necessarily obstruct us from being nice to them. Take Nina for example, her 40 over partners are more than jealous about that beast pet. As long as she goes out, that beast pet can definitely accompany right by her. Without even exaggerating, it is easy to say that Nina treats that beast pet much better than all her partners.

Gu Mengmeng thought about it and roughly understood.

Even in modern times, many little girls are way nicer to their own dogs than their boyfriends.

For example, if their dog had bitten their boyfriends, the girls would pretend to hit the tiny backsides of the dogs, then say, “Aiya, bad boy, you are not allowed to bite anyone in the future, you understand?” before acting cute to their boyfriends to defend their dogs...

However, if the roles were reversed and the boyfriends bit the dogs...

Hmm...

She had never heard such a real-life event so far, but it doesn't take much to assume it wouldn't end well.

Sandy drank a sip of water, then continued, “In the beast world, there are so few females, and there are so many males that will never get a chance to even speak to a female in his lifetime. There are also numerous males who will never get to touch their females other than the one time that they mate. In comparison to them, are you still insufficiently nice towards Lea? What do you even owe him? Why do you feel like you are burdened?

Gu Mengmeng replied, “Lea is so excellent, he should have a wonderful partner...”

Sandy smiled, “What? Did you tie Lea up and prevent him from looking for other females? Or did you ask Elvis to use his skills to suppress him, forcing him to be your beast pet? I don’t think so, he talks about how he is your beast pet everywhere he goes, and his tail goes up to the sky every time he hears anyone debating about it... How is he in any way reluctant?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “But...”

Sandy passed her cup to Gu Mengmeng, telling her to drink a sip, then continued, “But what? Let me tell you Gu Mengmeng, the males in the beast world are people with one-track minds, and are not the type to change their mind the moment they see someone new. If they don’t like you, then they don’t, you can’t keep them no matter how nice you are. However, once they are attracted by you and get to know you, then even if the beast deity appears before them, they will never give up. If you really feel that you are upsetting Lea by making him your beast pet, then just mate with him, accept him, and everything would be over. What are you conflicted about?”

Gu Mengmeng bit her lip, “I just mated with Elvis, not even for half a year...”

Sandy glared, asking, “What? Did Elvis object?!”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head hurriedly, holding back Sandy, who looked like she was on the verge of looking for Elvis to confront him, “Elvis did not object. In contrast, he kept on creating opportunities for Lea...”

It was only then that Sandy sat back down, “That’s more like it. It is very unacceptable for males to object females to mate in the beast world, because if a female lacks sufficient partners, then she would not be able to receive the best care. Females have biologically been weaker than males, any careless mistakes and they could die, so they should be fully cared for in all aspects. Furthermore, if the female has too few partners, the lack of reproduction could result in lack of heirs. Some tribes have ceased to exist because of this reason.”

Chapter 472: The First Time I Saw Lea Smiling from the Bottom of His Heart

Gu Mengmeng thought of Ian and the Eagle-owl tribe, instinctively nodded her head.

Sandy mistook this nod as Gu Mengmeng approving what she said, hence continued even more excitedly, “You agreed that this makes sense right? You are the Messenger of the Beast Deity, if you feel that this makes sense, it must make sense.”

Just when Gu Mengmeng was about to explain, Sandy started talking again, “What were you saying just now? Something about loyalty and faithfulness... and what others? I can’t remember, something along the lines of owing Elvis if you accept Lea? Then I got to ask you this, what are you owing him? You are the Messenger of the Beast Deity, you have given him the position of the First Partner and the mating authority to give birth to cubs. Owing? What do you still owe him?! Just look at the whole Beast World, how many of the warriors died without having their own children? While he, someone that had a partner and children just in one winter, is not content with that? Does he want to go to heaven?!”

Gu Mengmeng could not say anything to rebut Sandy, she was starting to regret teaching Sandy all the nonsensical modern slang...

Ever since Nina was gone and she mated with Collin, this girl had a total change in personality, being much more cheerful and straightforward, nothing like how obsequious she was when they had just met.

It was actually not a bad thing, with the exception of when she used it to argue with her.

Gu Mengmeng could not teach Sandy about the modern view on marriages, even if she did, it would be something as wild and unbelievable as the 'Arabian Nights' for Sandy. The modern view on marriages would not fit in here due to the gender ratio in the Beast World, but as a modern person, she would still feel uncomfortable getting use to the view on marriages here.

Seeing Gu Mengmeng not responding, Sandy kept her temper, before continuing again, "To Lea, you don't owe him anything, he voluntarily treats you well, while you allow him to do it is the biggest blessing to him. Why don't you look outside, the number of people wanting to treat you well could queue up all the way from Saint Nazaire to Sauder. But other than Lea, have you given anyone a chance? I am going to tell you this, although nobody knew what Lea had experienced in the past, I could tell that before meeting you, Lea... was like... He was like using an extreme cruelty to waste his life away, cruel to the others and even more cruel to himself."

Gu Mengmeng remained silent, she had only heard a little of what Lea actually experienced from Elvis, while Lea had said some minor parts before. She could piece out a blurry image, but unless Lea was willing to talk about it himself, nobody, including her, would know the minor details behind his past.

Sandy sipped a mouthful of water and continued, "But, after knowing you, he was like a changed man. No, I should put it this way, the old Lea had been living in the night, but you are like the Sun that lit up his life, giving him a new birth. Do you know when was the first time I saw Lea smiling from the bottom of his heart?"

Gu Mengmeng asked, "When?"

Sandy replied, "It was the first time that you said 'our Lea' to me, his eyes were smiling and there was a happy aura around his whole body, making people want to smile along with him. Before that, Lea was always smiling, but never from the bottom of his heart. Man, I don't even know what was I saying, but... you accepting Lea as the beast pet is never considered owing to him."

Chapter 473 - The Real Cruel Thing

Sandy paused for a while then said, “Actually, I have no say in who you want to mate with. But... I feel that you are the happiest when Lea and Elvis are both by your side. I want you to be happy all the time... Will you... think that I am being a busybody?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, leaned into Sandy’s arms and said, “You are my bosom friend, you surely have all the rights to speak up in matters concerning me, because I know... you are the one treating me the best in this world.”

Sandy blushed and said shyly, “Not really, Elvis and Lea treat you well too.”

Gu Mengmeng sighed and said, “Elvis is my husband and my children’s father, he should be treating me well. But Lea... because he was treating me so well, I couldn’t base my happiness on his pain and torture. That will be so cruel...”

Sandy cupped Gu Mengmeng’s small face and looked straight at her with her round eyes. She said seriously, “Do you know, what is the real cruel thing that you are doing?”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned for a moment, before shaking her head, confused.

Sandy said, “Remember when you fell into the river last year? That day, Lea came running into my house, asked me to cook a pot of water shuttle and bring over to you. I was still angry at him that time and could not be bothered to be scared of him, so I took a wooden stick and beat him up, trying to chase him away. He took a few hits without moving at all. If not for Bode stopping me, I might have beaten him to his death that day...”

Gu Mengmeng was so surprised, Sandy would really do anything for her.

Sandy's first time rebelling against Nina was also because Nina was talking behind Gu Mengmeng's back.

Lea... was someone that she was so scared of, she would even take the further path if she met him on the road, yet Sandy was fighting with Lea for her...

Sandy recalled and continued, "I was so angry back then and asked him to get out! I told him to stop acting to be such a nice guy in front of me, if he really cared so much about you, he should have cooked it himself and bring over to you! And guess what he replied?"

Gu Mengmeng thought for a while but could not imagine how Lea would answer in that moment.

Sandy replied, "He said, he doesn't even have the right to shed tears for you, not to mention preparing food for you... I couldn't understand it at that time, but afterwards I heard from Collin that you sang a song for Lea, the lyrics had a line like 'I've already lost the right to shed tears for you'?"

Gu Mengmeng looked down and said softly, "It is 'I've already lost the power to cry over you'."

Sandy said, "Yes, this line. You don't even know how soulless Lea looked when he said it... I was even thinking I could walk straight through his body... There was no liveliness at all and he was just dead."

Gu Mengmeng managed to force a smile and said, "Didn't you hit him with a wooden stick? The stick did not land on air, how could you walk through him?"

Sandy blushed and said, "Hey, that was just a metaphor. Think about him, Lea looked so scary in the past, if he was spreading the intimidating vibes like before, why would I dare to hit him? That day, he didn't even have the frightening feel on him... He was just like a snowman, soulless, yes, soulless."

Gu Mengmeng's heart skipped a beat. So at that time, she was not the only one crying over the heartbreak, Lea the perpetrator did not have it smooth either.

Sandy said, "But after the winter when I saw Lea again, he looked like he had a new birth and looking so lively. Didn't you see how cocky and proud he was when he announced that he is your beast pet in front of everyone? If someone did not know what was going on, he would have thought Lea became your first partner."

Chapter 474: Mating All Depends on the Mood of the Female

Thinking about Lea's expression that day, Gu Mengmeng also grinned.

However Sandy suddenly let out a sigh and said, "But just now... I saw Lea in the half-dead look again, saying some words that nobody could understand, something... something like 'cross the boundary, so you escaped'..."

Gu Mengmeng pursed her lips and kept quiet. She remembered Lea saying the same thing to her on the way back from Sauder, but... She couldn't take it and backed up.

Sandy said carefully, "You matchmake me and Collin and I am extremely thankful for that. Since I am really happy right now, I hope that you can be happy too... Lea is a good male, even if you don't want to mate with him now, don't chase him away. He really could not live on without you..."

Gu Mengmeng bit her lips and said, "But Elvis..."

Sandy sighed and said, "You knew about the battle between Elvis and Lea, right?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded, this had been explained honestly by Elvis during the winter.

Sandy said, "Collin told me that he overheard a conversation between Elvis and Lea by accident once. Elvis said he felt like a thief that stole away Lea's happiness from him. Taking away is not shameful, but stealing is. My guess is that Elvis has always been creating opportunities for Lea because of this. If you accept Lea, then Elvis just owns an extra position of the first partner compared to Lea. To them, there is no difference to who is on this position. But if you reject Lea... It's fine if Lea is able to meet a better female and mate with her, but think about that yourself, does this possibility exist?"

Gu Mengmeng was just about to reply and Sandy did not give her any chance and snapped to reply herself, "No!"

Gu Mengmeng almost bit on her tongue. Seeing Sandy had no intentions of letting her interrupt, she simply kept quiet and listened to her.

Sandy said, "Then, there is only one possibility left. Heartbroken because of you, Lea took his own life, while Elvis would live in regret for the rest of his life, because this happiness belonged to Lea originally, he stole Lea's female, stole Lea's fate, stole Lea's life!"

Gu Mengmeng was just about to correct her on the way of using 'took his own life', but looking at Sandy being so indignant, Gu Mengmeng did not dare to interrupt, she could only nod her head and show that she had understood.

With Gu Mengmeng's response, Sandy nodded her head in satisfaction and continued, "So, whether it was from Lea or Elvis's point of view, you accepting Lea is the best decision for the both of them. You can decide whether to mate as you like, but don't be pressured into doing it just because Lea was treating you well and think that not mating is owing him something. Oh please, it's a natural thing for males to treat females well, if you mate with every single person that treat you nice, how many partners are you going to have? I am telling you that there are no such rules in the Beast World, mating all depends on the mood of the female and nothing else. If I am happy, you can go bathe and lie down and wait for me in bed, if I am not, there is no use even if you lie down."

Gu Mengmeng was spooked, she thought to herself: Sandy honey, can you be more indirect in your words? I am just a baby...

Finishing her sentence, Sandy sniffed and smiled. She looked at Gu Mengmeng and said, “Alright, I have said everything I could to you, if you are still feeling down, you can randomly grab Elvis and Lea and beat them up. My Collin is here to fetch me home, I got to go.”

Chapter 475 - Elvis Being Punished to Kneel Down

“Eh...? You chose guys over friendship!” Gu Mengmeng accused Sandy.

Sandy turned back to look at Gu Mengmeng, before nodding seriously, approving her accusation.

Gu Mengmeng said, “I have nothing to say now since you admitted to it so calmly!”

Sandy blushed and said shyly, “You left your four cubs with me when you went for the beauty pageant. To take care of the cubs, I have been giving Bode and Collin a cold shoulder. I promised to compensate them when you are back... I got to go back now, they are waiting for me.”

Gu Mengmeng, “...”

Sandy turned her body and ran out.

Gu Mengmeng let out a helpless sigh, but was not angry at Sandy.

Sandy had already done so much for her, the sisterhood that she did not get in the modern world had been satisfied by Sandy. It was great that... she could be happy.

“Arhwoo~” The wolf cubs came running and competing who was the fastest. In the end, the fourth brother Kanwu pounded into Gu Mengmeng’s arms first.

Gu Mengmeng instinctively extended her hands to catch Kanwu, before realizing that he had mud all over his body. She said in despair, “What were you doing before this? Why are you so dirty?”

“Arhwoo Arhwoo~” Kanwu stated all the details to what had happened truthfully, but his mother could not understand a single word he said...

Rubbing Kanwu’s head, Gu Mengmeng turned to look at Hede, Chixuan and Jialue who had dashed back, she shouted helplessly, “Hubby, boil water for the kids to bathe.”

“Arhwoo—!” Elvis howled and ran inside excitedly.

“Xiao Meng, you are finally willing to talk to me.” Elvis could not be happier, he took a step back and grabbed the four cubs onto the floor, before hugging her wife with force. Elvis took a long sigh and said, “You haven’t been talking to me for days, if I knew that throwing these four into the mud will get you to talk to me, I would have done it...”

Gu Mengmeng raised her eyebrows and said, “You threw my sons into the mud?”

Elvis said, “Eh... Nope, they jumped in themselves before I could even stop them...”

Gu Mengmeng said, “You promised me that you will not lie to me ever again.”

Elvis kept quiet, before pinching his own years and kneeling by the bed, he said, “Wife, I know my mistake.”

Stunned, Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis being so henpecked and said, “You, stand up now, I said now!”

Elvis shook his head and said, “No, Bode told me that if you make your female angry, you have to admit your fault with a good attitude to stand a chance of being forgiven. I don’t want to make you angry again and give me cold shoulders, so I am admitting my mistake now...”

Gu Mengmeng ground her teeth and said, “Bode taught you that?”

Elvis nodded and said, “Yes, just now when Bode sent Sandy over and you two wanted to talk without us hearing, I went with Bode to take the four of them on some basic training outside.”

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and said, “I will deal with Bode next time, now forget everything he taught you, every single word of it.”

Elvis was stunned for a moment, then he quickly stood up and said, “Alright, I have forgotten everything.”

Gu Mengmeng sat up straight and looked up at Elvis, she said, “My man should be able to hold up the heavens and support the earth heroically, my man would never do cowardly things like kneeling to the wife.

Elvis nodded and said, “Alright, I won’t do it if you say so.”

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head in satisfaction and said, “Tell me, what basic training did you make the four little ones do? To make them this dirty...”

Elvis replied, “Oh, I just threw them into the mud puddle... Wife I knew my mistake.”

Chapter 476 - You Are Just Outright Bullying My Son Because He Could Not Speak

Gu Mengmeng rolled her eyes at Elvis, but did not question further. She looked at her four sons being thrown onto the ground, frowned, pointed to Jialue and said, “Why does the third brother have no mud on him at all?”

Elvis turned around, met the third brother’s eyes and his look instinctively became much gentle. He opened his hand and Jialue immediately jumped onto Elvis’s foot. With his front paw against Elvis’s chest, Jialue licked Elvis’s face intimately and rubbed his head against Elvis’s chin.

Elvis returned with the howling sound that only wolves could understand, Jialue then jumped behind Gu Mengmeng. With his chin resting on Gu Mengmeng’s waist, he laid down obediently for his mother to brush his fur.

Elvis looked at the mom and son gently, he replied, “Jialue’s eyes resembles yours so much like yours... So clean and transparent. Just looking at his eyes and I could not bear to throw him into the mud too.”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head helplessly. She turned around again and saw that although Kede and Chixuan had mud on their body, it was mostly on their hands and feet, looking like they climbed back up after being thrown down. But Kanwu...”

Seeing Gu Mengmeng looking at Kanwu, Elvis snapped to answer before she could open her mouth and ask, “He jumped in to play himself and refused to come back up no matter what... I couldn’t even stop him, ask Bode if you don’t believe me.”

Gu Mengmeng let out a cold laugh and said, “You are just outright bullying my son because he could not speak. Bode? Does he dare to expose you?”

Elvis's smile froze and dared not to reply.

Gu Mengmeng sighed and did not question him further. After all, if she scolds Elvis in front of her sons, Elvis's authority as a father would be greatly reduced.

Taking a long breath, Gu Mengmeng stood up from bed and started naming, "Buns DeXuanLueWu, stand up straight now."

The four little ones did not know what was stand up straight, but knew that their mother was calling them, so they dashed straight to Gu Mengmeng's feet and cuddled there. Kanwu even took the opportunity to rub the mud onto Elvis. Looking at Elvis being pissed off but dared not to punish him in front of his mom, Kanwu's eyes that totally resembles Elvis were full of pride.

Elvis ground his teeth, this Kanwu was surely annoying!

Gu Mengmeng did not notice the mental fight between father and son, she asked the four sons to line up behind her and walked out of the cave.

Elvis had finally gained forgiveness from his wife and the most important thing right now is to make his wife happy, so he could not be bothered to deal with Kanwu, only swiped Kanwu with his tail 'accidentally' when he walked past him, swiping Kanwu from the back of the line to the wall at the side. Kanwu let out a muffled groan, but had the backbone to not shout.

Gu Mengmeng heard the noise and looked back to see Kanwu limping back into the line. She turned to look at Elvis, but the latter just shrugged to show that he was innocent.

Once they were out of the cave, Gu Mengmeng saw Lea standing at a distance away. In just a few days of not seeing each other, he had lost so much weight, looking wasted and full of worries, the pair of slender eyes had a thousand years of expectations condensed in it, spurting out the moment he saw Gu Mengmeng, drowning her in it.

Gu Mengmeng bit her lower lips, before heartlessly turning around. She walked past Lea, but chose to ignore him.

If you love, then love deeply. If you don't, then leave cleanly. Do not flirt, for it hurts others and yourself.

Gu Mengmeng repeated this line in her heart and told herself that she just got to be a little more cruel. Once Lea had accumulated enough disappointment from her, he might just lose all hopes and leave.

Then, maybe...

It would be the best for everyone.

Lea grabbed Gu Mengmeng's arm, but did not pull her close, just remaining in the position of being back to back.

He dared not turn back, afraid of seeing her rejection with his own eyes.

She dared not turn back, afraid of not being able to withstand his pleading.

Lea's voice was a little dry, with a bit of coldness in his hoarse voice, "I... I will go onto the Platform of the Deity's Punishment.

Gu Mengmeng wanted to ask: Why are you going up the Platform of the Deity's Punishment?

But the words stopped in her throat and turned into a faint 'Oh'.

Lea used up all the force he had and slowly released his grip.

He let her go, but she hesitated.

Humans, are selfish and greedy after all.

Lea was right, she was indeed enjoying the care and fawning he had given her by her side.

Gu Mengmeng let out a bitter laugh as she told herself, since she could not give him what he wanted, she should let him go.

Taking her hand out, Gu Mengmeng left heartlessly.

After she had walked away in the distance, Lea could then turn around. He sat on the ground slowly with his back against the tree, he clutched his chest with great force and stared at the direction Gu Mengmeng had disappeared. The left hand that had pulled her wrist remained in the position when she took her hand out. He said, "I was only wrong for that single time in my entire life... But I could not even have the chance of being forgiven?"

Gu Mengmeng brought the kids to the river and was ready to jump down to wash her sons, but was stopped by Elvis.

'Splash, splash'. With Elvis's signal, Jialue and Kede jumped into the river.

Chixuan hesitated for a while, but followed them after being stared by Elvis. Only Kanwu was left standing by the river, full of mud but refused to go down.

Although he was feeling uncomfortable from the mud all over his body, he just did not want to listen to Elvis. The more he asked them to go down, the more he did not want to do it! Tsk, mom is around anyway, what can he do?!

Eh?!

There was a sharp pain on Kanwu's butt and the next second, he landed into the river in a free fall position.

Struggling to come up and fight with Elvis, Kede stopped Kanwu.

Kede used the language of wolf cubs and said, "Can't you see that mommy is being upset right now? Beast Father is thinking of ways to cheer mommy up, don't be a troublemaker."

Kanwu then realized that their mother's expression did not seem right.

Letting out a few howls which failed to catch mommy's attention, Kanwu started washing himself unwillingly in the water, thinking to himself, "I am not arguing with you because of my mom, if not, humph, why would I wash the mud on my body. I will just stand in front of mummy like this and see how you explain to her.”

Elvis knew what that boy was thinking, but could not be bothered with him. He thought to himself, “If not for your mom being upset now and I am busy comforting her for you to stir troubles, do you think I care whether you bathe or not?! Just be the dirtiest one and wait till my wife dislikes you, where I would throw you out immediately.”

The father and son despised each other and did not give a pleasant look, but for the woman that was important to the both of them, they reached an agreement to not look for one another’s trouble in this short while.

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng and made her sit in his arms. He held her hand gently and asked, “Are you really not planning on forgiving Lea?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “It’s not him at fault, he does not need my forgiveness.”

Elvis asked, “Not him?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “Yes, not him, but me.”

Elvis sighed and asked, “Because of you not being able to mate with him?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded.

Elvis said, “Xiao Meng, what are you actually concerned about? If it was because of me...”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head, bitterly smiled and replied, “Not because of you, it was me not being able to get over my mental barrier.”

Gu Mengmeng leaned into Elvis arms, watched her four sons washing themselves in the water quietly, while her thoughts flew back to the past. It was in this exact same river, a fox fairy hugged her and confessed to her: “I swear to the Beast Deity under my name that I will dedicate my loyalty to you in this lifetime. From today onwards, only you are my God, my life, my everything.”

“Oh no!” A scream brought Gu Mengmeng back to conscious.

Gu Mengmeng looked to where the sound came from, it was Oakley.

Gu Mengmeng had not seen him for ages and had almost forgotten about him.

“What’s the matter, take your time to say.” Oakley had a similar personality as Lea and was usually not as anxious as this, but the more anxious one was, the slower he had to say it, or else the words would be jammed and nothing came out.

Oakley was stamping his foot in anxiety, he had to turn three rounds on the spot before saying with heavy breaths, “Lea went to the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment and asked the Beast Deity for forgiveness by burning himself with fire.”

Gu Mengmeng was stunned, before she could think about anything else, she dashed towards the Platform of the Deity’s Punishment.

Elvis transformed into the beast form, grabbed onto Gu Mengmeng's dress with his mouth and flung her onto his back.

Gu Mengmeng did not struggle, she could not be compared to Elvis's speed at all.

In just a few moments, Elvis had reached the Platform. As a fourth-level beast, his maximum speed could be comparable to the bullet train, the burst of speed showed how much he was worried for Lea.

When Gu Mengmeng arrived at the scene, she could see a fire pit burning in front of Lea, while Lea was still acting more branches inside to make it burn brighter. There were a few people lying flat below the Platform, just a look and Gu Mengmeng could see Barete, Collin and some others that looked familiar but she had forgotten their names at that moment.

The injuries on them were not deadly, but enough to make them unable to stand up and obstruct him again.

"Lea, what are you doing?" Gu Mengmeng walked up the Platform and shouted.

Lea froze, but did not turn back. He said quietly, "You don't even want me any more, why are you here?"

Gu Mengmeng said, "You are ending your life just because of a woman? What happened to the ambition you had when you created Saint Nazaire? You don't want to achieve it anymore? What about your determination to protect Saint Nazaire? Also no? How about the revenge on those that had hurt you before? Are you giving those up too?"

Lea paused his action of adding in branches for a moment, but still threw one into the fire pit. He said, "If destroying everything that you say could get me back in time to when I had a battle with Elvis... Then, I am willing to kill the whole Saint Nazaire with my own hands to go back. Even if Elvis was going to kill me, I would not have let go of your hand at that time and result in today's irrevocable situation."

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng, but there was not a single bit of amorousness in his pair of slender eyes and only hollowness and desperation remained. He said, “Sadly, there’s no going back... is there? You will never forgive me, no matter what I do, how I plead and repent... You are giving no chances, I don’t even dream of mating, I only wanted to be beast pet that could hug you, but you just had to push me so far away... Mengmeng, if you really do not have a single place for me by your side... Then don’t save me. Living... in a world without you... is the biggest torture to me.”

Gu Mengmeng clenched her fists with pale lips.

Principles, and Lea, which... is more important? The argument of everything that’s happening right now was how Gu Mengmeng was unable to go against her own set of values, she was greedy but unwilling to admit it.

“If I say, I will never mate with you, will you still want to be my beast pet?”

Chapter 479 - Lea, I Am Here to Bring You Home

Lea was stunned, he smiled in sadness and said, “What I want was just a little space by your side to guard you, that’s enough.”

Gu Mengmeng turned around to look at Elvis and said, “Hubby, I want to keep a vixen in our home, can I? I promised not to mate with him and I promised my love for you will not decrease... Like this, can you accept one more member in our house?”

Elvis walked forward, hugged Gu Mengmeng and said, “I have accepted him long ago, did you forget?”

Gu Mengmeng pounced into Elvis’s arms and murmured softly, “Hubby, I’m sorry, I am an easy woman after all.”

“Xiao Meng, you are not.” Elvis held Gu Mengmeng’s shoulders and said, “I’ve been wanting to say something to you since long ago. Do you remember what Lea had said to you outside of the cave? He said he could die protecting you on the battlefield, but he did not want to see you getting hurt in any way before dying. My thoughts are the same. I can fight for you, I can die for you, but I don’t want to see nobody protecting you after I died.”

Gu Mengmeng looked up at Elvis and said, “If me accepting Lea as our family member could ease your worries and make you risk your life without any concerns during danger... Then I don’t want him, I want you.”

Elvis was stunned, he said, “That’s not what I meant, I just wanted to say... one additional person in the house taking care of you is a good thing.”

Gu Mengmeng clenched her fist, kept quiet and stared straight at Elvis.

Elvis hugged Gu Mengmeng into his arms, sighed and said, "I will never give up my life easily, you know how much I couldn't live without you. Don't worry, don't be scared, I won't give up my position as the first partner to anyone else."

Gu Mengmeng said, "Promise me."

Elvis replied, "I swear to the Beast Deity, I will never leave you."

Gu Mengmeng was satisfied and lowered her head.

Elvis supported Gu Mengmeng's shoulders, turned her around and carried her up the Platform of the Deity's Punishment. He gave her a light push and said, "Go, Lea will really jump into the fire any later if you are not there."

Full of remorse, Gu Mengmeng looked back at Elvis, but she still took the step forward, waved to Lea and said, "Lea, I am here to bring you home."

Lea froze, as though he could not believe what he had just heard.

"You... You have forgiven me?"

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, "In between us, you are not the one at fault. It was me not being used to the rules here, torturing myself, you and Elvis. My greatest concession is to make you my family member, give you love and care, admiration and reliance, but... I will not mate with you and breed children for you. The title of beast pet might become the disgrace of your entire life. Even so, are you still willing to stay by my, a selfish female's side?"

Lea smiled and stumbled to hug Gu Mengmeng into his arms. He felt his heart beating again, he said, "I have told you, your 'selfishness' was something that I dream about in every sleepless night."

It was the first time after their break up the Gu Mengmeng responded Lea's hug, it was so careful, and she was struggling with conflicted thoughts.

But when her hands finally touched him, she felt assured all of a sudden.

She accepted Lea, but... the sky did not fall either.

“Let’s go home, Daddy Lea.”

“Yes, as you wish.”

Chapter 480 - Can You Fool Me for My Entire Life?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When they were back at the cave, Lea still did not want to let go of Gu Mengmeng's hand.

He had been suffering these past few days, always under the fear of being heartbroken, the desperation of losing her till there was no going back to the previous time had been haunting him. The tiniest bit of sweet moments when he moved into the cave during winter had been maximized and became the greatest accomplice in torturing him. The loneliness after experiencing warmth was the bitterest.

Holding Elvis's hand on the left and Lea on the right, Gu Mengmeng stood in front of the cave but could not enter.

The opening to the cave was only this big and would not fit three people in line!

"How about... you two go hand in hand?" Gu Mengmeng asked earnestly.

Elvis exchanged a glance with Lea, as they both raised the hand that was not holding Gu Mengmeng and hit hard onto the side of the cave entrance.

Well, Lea Construction, specialized in all kinds of caves, providing convenient services for your entire family of three with just one punch~

Smiling awkwardly, Gu Mengmeng walked into the cave in the position of three people hand-in-hand. But, how should she put it, she had a strange feeling, something like... daddy and mommy bringing you on a trip to the supermarket.

Damn it, Gu Mengmeng felt the evilness from the difference in height.

Gu Mengmeng looked into the cave and had the feeling of something being missing. She thought for a while, before having a shock, she turned to look at Elvis and asked, “Where is Hede and the rest?”

Elvis was stunned too, he replied, “Ah! I think... they are still in the water.”

Gu Mengmeng glared at Elvis, to which the latter immediately said, “Don’t get angry, don’t get angry, I will go and get the four of them out now.”

With that, Elvis rushed out of the cave.

After Elvis is gone, the cave was left with Gu Mengmeng and Lea, the atmosphere became a little awkward. Gu Mengmeng tried to pull her hand which was held by Lea, not only did Lea refuse to let it go, he even circled around Gu Mengmeng’s waist and he asked, “Are you regretting your decision of taking me in?”

Gu Mengmeng shook her head and said, “I’ve never really get over you, today’s situation was resulted from me being greedy and willing to admit to it. If I had known earlier, I would have honestly admitted my selfishness and greediness right from the start, let whoever wants to scold do it, at least the three of us won’t suffer as much.”

Lea put Gu Mengmeng on the bed and made her sat upright, while he lay sideways on Gu Mengmeng’s thigh. His furry big tail swiped Gu Mengmeng’s waist and he said, “I knew you are lying to me, but I am still happy hearing what you said... Mengmeng, this time, can you fool me for my entire life?”

Gu Mengmeng stroked Lea’s hair lightly, his ivory long hair had an amazing texture that was as smooth as silk. Gu Mengmeng wind a wisp of hair on her fingertip and said, “How am I lying to you? I was really being honest, okay?”

Lea said, “If there is really a place for me in your heart, why would you be so cruel to me? Once I had confirmed that you and Elvis are mating, I came back to look for you immediately, I knew you were angry at being used by me and I expected punishments, but I didn’t know... You even cut away my existence from your heart entirely. You knew Nina and I were not being real, but had to keep saying ‘someone else’s male’ to rub salt into the wound.”

Gu Mengmeng jabbed Lea’s forehead and said, “Why don’t you mention how you rub salt into mine at Nina’s place? I was so heartbroken that I wanted to give up my life and I didn’t see your heart-aching for me.”

Lea held the hand that Gu Mengmeng used to jabbed on his forehead and kissed it, before placing it on his chest. He said, “Why would I not be heart-aching for you? I almost died from it.”

“Then why did you stop me from beating Nina up?” Gu Mengmeng was still angry thinking about that.

Lea looked at Gu Mengmeng with a wronged expression and said, “I was worried that you will dirty your hand and scared that your hand will hurt.”

Gu Mengmeng said, “Well it would definitely have been less painful than how you grabbed my wrist.”

Lea looked down and said, “I knew that it would be painful to grab your wrist. It was a punishment for myself, when you are in pain, I feel it even more.”

With that, Lea placed Gu Mengmeng’s hand onto his chest and said, “Here, it hurts a thousand times more.”

Gu Mengmeng looked into Lea’s eyes, the amorousness never disappear, there was even more now.

“You were the one who abandoned me first, now you are making it seem like I had betrayed you...” Gu Mengmeng murmured unhappily.

Lea said, “If you were more straightforward and willing to accept both Elvis and me as your partner, I wouldn’t have to make up such a big fuss.”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “So it’s all my fault now?”

Lea turned his body and sat up straight, hugging Gu Mengmeng entirely and feeling the completeness of her body warmth filling his arms. He said, "It is not really betrayal, but you owe me my happiness. That time when you said I was your ex-boyfriend and asked me to maintain my gentlemanliness by not disturbing your life again... Cruel Mengmeng, do you know how that heartless sentence made me breathless and almost died in front of you?"

"And you went on to say how you would never touch something someone else touched before..." Lea kissed on Gu Mengmeng's cheek and said with a rich and coarse voice by her ear, "Do you want to check, whether I had been touched?"

"Eh?!" A chill went up Gu Mengmeng's spine and she had goosebumps all over. She said full of guard, "We had agreed on not mating..."

But Lea just looked at Gu Mengmeng with the expression of 'your mind is so dirty' and said, "Who said we are mating? I just want you to check, whether your beast pet... is clean or not."

"No... Never mind... I trust you." Gu Mengmeng blushed and wanted to draw back her hand.

But Lea did not let her, he covered his big hand onto Gu Mengmeng's small one and moved down his chest slowly, while removing his hide dress. He said, "It's better to do a thorough check now than you poking my heart with words like 'someone else's male' or 'something someone else touched before' in the future."

Gu Mengmeng knew that she should 'see no evil', but she could not move her eyes away from Lea.

Lea's overall body was smaller in size than Elvis's, looking slightly alluring yet otherworldly in such a refreshing coquettish way.

He had a smooth line of muscles, without any extra fats or muscles, looking comfortable overall.

Gu Mengmeng really did not have the courage to investigate that special part, she turned her head to one side and said, “Quickly wear your hide dress, or else I will won’t be this nice.”

Lea did not take it to heart, he asserted force with his arm and Gu Mengmeng fell into his arms. Lea laid down facing upwards with Gu Mengmeng on his chest like a puppy, she supported herself with two hands out and looked at Lea smiling ambiguously.

His thin red lips opened slightly as he said with a voice as smooth as a love song arousing one’s heart, “Pleasing one’s female is the main task of every male. As a beast pet, I should spare no effort to do it, right? Or... my body... is no longer attractive after you have enjoyed Elvis’s?”

“En... Enjoy what? Elvis is my husband, not a goddamn dish!”

Lea pulled Gu Mengmeng's collar lightly, his slender and bony fingers brushed past Elvis's mark gently and he said, "The evidence of you enjoying him is right here, you still want to deny it? Yes?"

Gu Mengmeng pulled her collar and said, "Enjoy my foot! Wear your hide dress now or I am leaving."

Lea turned over and pressed Gu Mengmeng under her. He looked down on her blushing face, landed a kiss and said, "It felt so good... You would still get shy and blush because of me."

"I will be shy and blush with anyone standing in front of me naked!" Gu Mengmeng shouted with little confidence.

Lea was a little disappointed, he stroked his chin and said, "I didn't see you blush the other time when Auretin transformed in front of you."

Gu Mengmeng said, "He didn't press onto me from above..."

Lea's big tail covered the two of them like a blanket, he lowered his body, kissed her cheek and whispered softly, "Make a guess... do you know why Elvis went out?"

Gu Mengmeng replied, "To look for our kids, obviously."

Lea smiled suddenly and said, "When we were not at home, the four cubs ran wild around the whole villages, which part are they not familiar with? Is Elvis even needed?"

Gu Mengmeng stunned for a moment and kept quiet.

Lea said, “He was making room for us, wanting me to ‘serve’ you properly.”

Gu Mengmeng slapped the side of the bed and said, “I said I won’t mate with you!”

Lea turned over and laid sideways by Gu Mengmeng’s side, while his furry big tail covered the important part. His slender fingers patted Gu Mengmeng’s shoulder lightly, pinching the soft fats on it and he said, “I know, I am already so satisfied and happy... to be able to hug you, kiss you, talk with you nicely, tell you how much I love you like this, without you hiding, rejecting and being angry at me.”

Gu Mengmeng looked sideways at Lea and asked, “Aren’t you angry? I made you my beast pet but refused to mate with you.”

Lea pulled Gu Mengmeng’s hand to his lips, kissed it and said, “I won’t be angry no matter what you do to me.”

Gu Mengmeng admitted that she was selfish, while Lea’s forgiveness or even how he pampered her made her feel so sweet.

Snuggling into Lea’s arms, Gu Mengmeng rested her forehead against his chest and said, “You still said you won’t be angry? Who was the one that got so angry that wanted to end his life by making himself into a BBQ?”

Lea rubbed Gu Mengmeng’s head lightly while enjoying her taking the initiative to approach him. He said gently, “I wasn’t being angry, I just wanted to know... To what extent do I have to be, to make you leave with no choice but to talk to me because of heartache.”

Gu Mengmeng looked up and asked, “But what if I didn’t come?”

Lea lowered his head, kissed her eyes and said, “That just means that you really don’t want me anymore... Then death would be a relief for me.”

Gu Mengmeng hugged Lea’s waist and rested her face on his chest. She said, “You promised me before that you would not do anything to harm yourself.”

Lea hugged Gu Mengmeng tightly and said, “That was because you will be upset if I hurt myself.”

Gu Mengmeng said, “I will always be upset, so, I don’t allow you to do this kind of thing in the future.”

Lea said, “Mengmeng, I... I really belong to you now, right?”

Gu Mengmeng looked up at Lea, smiled and nodded her head.

Lea said, “I have never really own anything in my entire life, nor being owned by anyone. Mengmeng, thank you... for making me yours.”

Gu Mengmeng said, “Idiot.”

Lea said, “This idiot... belongs to you now, you can do anything to him and... enjoy him as you like.”

Chapter 483 - Mother-In-Law Being Very Fond of Her Son-In-Law

The following night, Saint Nazaire held a grand campfire party.

After Gu Mengmeng stated the central idea once, Lea understood it by heart and went on to execute it.

Gu Mengmeng brought her four sons to somewhere near the venue and played rattan ball with them till they were sweating all over, but enjoyed it so much. After Gu Mengmeng was pounced on by Kanwu for yet another time, Elvis finally got angry. She dashed up and threw Kanwu far away, before hugging Gu Mengmeng in his arms. Looking at Kanwu making a turn in the air but landing perfectly without a sweat, Elvis let out a cold laugh and said, “Pounce onto my wife again and I will strangle you to death.

Gu Mengmeng dusted herself off and said, “I’m fine, I’m fine, he is still small and does not know how to control himself. It wasn’t intentional, don’t be angry.”

Elvis pointed to Kanwu and said, “He had already grown to your thigh’s height, if he continues to pounce on you tactlessly, you will get hurt.”

Gu Mengmeng did not even realize it before Elvis mentioned the matter. She turned to look at her four sons carefully, although the other three were not as exaggerated as Kanwu, they still had the size of a full-grown husky.

How? I felt so proud! My sons are all so tall~~

Gu Mengmeng laughed and said, “Darlings, when I wasn’t at home, what did your aunt Sandy feed you to make you guys grow so well?”

“Arhwoo Arhwoo Arhwoo~” The four little ones rushed to answer.

And...

Gu Mengmeng still could not understand.

Turning around, Gu Mengmeng looked at Elvis and waited for him to translate for her.

Elvis let out a cold laugh and said, “You were born as wolves and yet you eat a female’s food, letting other feed you too, you still have the face to say?!”

“Arhwoo!” The little ones were clearly not happy with what Elvis said and were arguing with him.

Gu Mengmeng quickly tried to ease the situation by asking, “What did Sandy feed them?”

Elvis said with a disdainful smile, “Bode and Collin were afraid to mistreat your sons, so they prepared food for them according to Sandy’s diet, but Sandy was worried that it wasn’t enough for them and asked Collin and the rest to feed them one more time every day...”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, “Haha, the saying of ‘mother-in-law being very fond of her son-in-law’ wasn’t a lie after all.”

Elvis raised his brow and asked, “Do you really want the four of them to mate with Sandy’s children?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “Yeah, what’s wrong? You have any objections?”

Elvis shook his head and said, “Why would I not agree to what you said? But... Sandy had matured into adulthood for such a long time and nothing went on in her stomach.”

Gu Mengmeng patted Elvis and said with a serious look, “Don’t point out one’s shortcomings, Sandy will be upset if she hears it.”

Elvis did not continue, he saw Lea walking over and put Gu Mengmeng onto the ground.

Gu Mengmeng sat on the ground and the four meat buns came running over to circle around Gu Mengmeng. Lea and Elvis could not do anything and they dared not throw the four little ones out in front of Gu Mengmeng, so they had to pretend to be generous and sat on the outer circle, using their big tails to wrap around Gu Mengmeng at each side, preventing the four little ones from bumping into her.

Gu Mengmeng said to Lea as she played around with the children, “I want to sit beside Sandy and Mandy during the campfire later.”

Lea frowned and said, “What about Elvis and me?”

Gu Mengmeng replied, “You two being the Leader of the tribe and the witch doctor, surely have to seize this opportunity and bond the the newly joined tribesmen together with the rest.”

Chapter 484 - Ellie Tried to Divide Us Apart

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The two males exchanged a glance and sighed speechlessly.

If not for Sandy speaking up for Lea and Elvis after Gu Mengmeng got angry and ignored them a few days ago, the two of them would probably be still lying on the doorstep and another outside the garden.

Just accept their fate, Gu Mengmeng would always ignore them when Sandy was around.

Just when they were thinking about that, Collin and Bode could be seen following behind Sandy and walking towards them.

Sandy was clearly furious, she sat right in front of Gu Mengmeng, taking deep breaths but not saying anything, obviously angry.

Gu Mengmeng looked up at Collin and Bode and asked, “What did you two do to piss my Sandy baby off?”

Collin immediately waved his hands and said, “Not me, not me...”

Gu Mengmeng shifted her glance to Bode, whom also shook his head quickly and said, “Not me either, not me either!”

Gu Mengmeng smiled and said, “I figure that you two won’t have the courage to bully my Sandy baby, anyway.”

With that, Gu Mengmeng held onto Sandy’s hand and asked, “Although you still look pretty when angry, but I like it more when you are happy. Now tell me, who pissed you off? Yeah?”

Sandy could not be angry for long every time she was with Gu Mengmeng. Hearing what Gu Mengmeng said, Sandy was a little shy and said, “You keep saying nonsense to comfort me, nothing true comes out of your mouth.”

Gu Mengmeng’s eyes widened as she pointed to the sky and vowed, “If I ever lie to you, I will be struck by lightning and split into two halves.”

Sandy went up and covered Gu Mengmeng’s mouth, she said, “Don’t vow randomly, what if it comes true?”

Gu Mengmeng took back the finger that was pointing to the sky and held Sandy’s hand, pulling it down from her mouth and held it in her hand. Nudging Sandy’s shoulder, Gu Mengmeng said, “Are you worried that I might be struck by lightning? Worrying for me? Yeah?”

Sandy finally broke into a smile by how playful Gu Mengmeng was, she poked onto Gu Mengmeng’s eyebrow speechlessly and said, “The kids are watching how mischievous you are.”

Seeing Sandy had cheered up, Gu Mengmeng stopped fooling around and said, “Tell me, who made you angry? I could even see smoke coming out from your head and that was how angry you were.”

Sandy was still angry at the mention of it, she said, “It was that Ellie!”

Gu Mengmeng squinted her eyes and said, “Ellie? That half-female from the snake tribe?”

Sandy nodded and said as she burned with indignation, “She came to find me today, I thought since we both are the half-females in this tribe, it was reasonable for her to find me, especially because she felt so inferior of herself in front of others. I kindly accommodated her with some food and asked her to attend the campfire at night together. Do you know what happened in the end? She even... She even...!”

Sandy said as she looked daggers at Collin, whom lowered his head innocently in silence.

Gu Mengmeng saw the situation and asked, “What? Did she meet eyes with Collin?”

Collin immediately waved his hands and said, “No no, she didn’t meet eyes with me, she was just saying how I had been chasing you in the past.”

Gu Mengmeng had the ‘understood’ expression on her face and she said, “She came to you and tried to divide us apart, right?”

Sandy nodded her head angrily and said, “She spoke in such a sarcastic way that was so infuriating.”

Gu Mengmeng patted on the back of Sandy’s hand and asked, “What did she say, let me hear it out.”

Sandy recalled for a while, she could not remember the front and the back, so she imitated two sentences, “She said, luckily you despised Collin so that I, being a half-orc, could have him. She also mentioned that if one day your taste changes, Collin would be running to you eagerly to be your beast pet.”

Chapter 485 - : Doing Dirty Tricks Behind People's Back

Gu Mengmeng almost burst out laughing. She held onto Sandy's hand and asked, "Then what did you reply to her?"

Sandy said with arms akimbo, "I told her, if Gu Mengmeng really wants a bear as her beast pet, there is no need for Collin, I will be her beast pet."

Gu Mengmeng said, "Hahaha! That's right, which bear can be as adorable and pretty as my Sandy baby? If I really want a bear as my beast pet, it has to be you~"

The four males shuddered. Lea pulled the side of Gu Mengmeng's clothes lightly and said, "Isn't a fox better? Bear... doesn't have tails."

Sandy heard and could not accept it. She turned into her original form and showed her furry little tail, shaking it and turned back into her human form. She said, "Who said bear doesn't have tails? I do!"

Gu Mengmeng linked arms with Sandy, straightened her neck too and said, "That's right, who said our Sandy doesn't have tails? I saw it last time too, a very cute furry ball, right Sandy!"

Sandy nodded and said, "Yes, very cute!"

Lea felt a strong sense of crisis and desperation ahead.

But fooling aside, Gu Mengmeng linked Sandy's arm and asked, "Sandy, you didn't believe in her, right?"

Sandy replied, "I'm not stupid, I saw how Collin chased after you that time. I am not blind and I don't need her, an outsider, to tell me that. Besides, if you like Collin, you could have accepted him from the start and not matchmake us together. That Ellie is just being evil, she wants us to quarrel and make you upset. I won't fall for her trap! Humph!"

Gu Mengmeng hugged Sandy and swayed with her. She said, "Yes, I know my Sandy is the best and won't fall for other trying to divide us apart. But, that Ellie is not easy to deal with, unlike Nina in the past, try to stay away from her in the future, you got me?"

Sandy tilted her head and asked, "Why are they different? Aren't they just bitches?"

Right... That was what Gu Mengmeng cursed at Nina...

But looking at Sandy not even knowing what bitch meant but still said the word out innocently, Gu Mengmeng felt like she had been a bad influence to the future generation, as guilty as luring a child to steal instant noodles.

Gu Mengmeng laughed and said, "There are different kinds of bitches too. Nina was being bitchy openly and we could just beat her up. But Ellie's way of doing dirty tricks behind people's back, we have to keep our guard up. Today, she could tell you Collin like me and tomorrow she could be telling you I had something with Bode..."

Sandy frowned and turned to look at Bode.

Bode's legs were shivering, he stuttered under the killing looks of the Leader, the Witch Doctor and Sandy, "The great Messenger and I... are innocent... I didn't... I didn't..."

Gu Mengmeng chuckled and said, "That's right, of course I had nothing with Bode. But the people spreading rumors... does not have to see Bode and I, it could be Maya and Bode? Mandy and Bode, Ellie herself and Bode, or even Collin and Bode..."

Sandy looked at Bode in an increasingly strange way and Bode felt that even with a hundred mouths he could not explain himself. He suddenly looked up at Gu Mengmeng and said, “Great Messenger, did I... accidentally... offend you... some time ago?”

Gu Mengmeng nodded and said, “You are not that stupid huh.”

‘Thump’, Bode kneeled onto the ground and asked for forgiveness, “Great Messenger, I know my fault now, great Messenger, you could strangle me now... You can’t wrong me in having an affair with so many people, I am innocent. Never mind the others... But it’s just not Collin...”

Collin also shook his hands seriously and said, "I can't too, I can't too."

Gu Mengmeng placed both her hands on her knees and straightened her neck, looking at Bode. She asked him, "I've heard that you shared a 'Acknowledging One's Mistakes Gains' with Elvis that day?"

Bode thought over it and replied, "Yeah, the mighty tribe leader said that he made you angry. Since Sandy was pacifying you, I taught the mighty tribe leader how to acknowledge his mistake."

Gu Mengmeng probed further, "Do you normally acknowledge your mistakes to Sandy at home like that?"

Bode nodded his head in utmost seriousness and said, "It's not only me, all males normally acknowledge their mistakes at home like that."

Gu Mengmeng believed that Bode did not have the courage to lie to her and moreover, his gaze was too sincere. Since he did not mean it, Gu Mengmeng did not pursue the matter anymore. Waving her hands, she said, "Forget it, I won't pursue this matter anymore"

Bode heaved a long sigh of relief before walking to Sandy. Seeing how Sandy's anger had partly subsided because of Gu Mengmeng's disturbance, he couldn't help but pat Collin's shoulder and said, "Fortunately, you thought of such an idea or else I really won't know what to do."

Collin scratched his head and said, "As long as both of them are together, they won't be that angry."

Gu Mengmeng glanced at Sandy while Sandy looked back at Gu Mengmeng. Both of them smiled at each other without any words exchanged.

Lea was jealous as he swayed his large tail and said, “So I say, you guys have to thank Mengmeng for not being a male or else, hmph....”

Bode instantly said, “Yes yes yes, Collin, hurry and thank the mighty messenger.”

Collin was shocked and did not react in time.

Bode added, “Hurry and thank the mighty messenger for not being a male, or else, do you think that us nine males can win her in snatching Sandy?!”

Collin finally came to understand what he meant. He bowed towards Gu Mengmeng and said, “Mighty messenger, thank you for not being a male!”

Gu Mengmeng gave Lea a slap as she blamed, “How many times do you want to use that joke? Didn’t Bode thank me before previously?”

Lea turned his head to look at Sandy in jealousy before saying, “Sandy, you also have to thank yourself for not being a male.”

Sandy pointed to her own nose and looked at Lea with question marks written all over her face.

Lea explained, “If you were a male and since Mengmeng likes you so much....I’ll definitely be so jealous until I go crazy and kill you.”

Sandy felt a chill down her spine and she shivered, her little face turning pale white.

“And there’s me too....” Elvis spoke with a cold tone as he warmed up his wrist, his bones giving off a cracking sound.

Sandy pounced into Gu Mengmeng’s arms and hugged her tightly as she cried, “Weep weep weep, the mighty tribe leader and the mighty witch doctor are so scary.....Gu Mengmeng, it will be better for you to abandon them and live your life with me.”

Elvis’s and Lea’s faces froze as they clenched their teeth.....and really wanted to squash her to death.

Gu Mengmeng turned around and cast a glance on her Husky and Samoyed before saying, “If you two continue being cocky, you will both sleep outside the cave tonight.”

Lea flew into Gu Mengmeng’s arms and huddled inside her embrace. He circled his fluffy large tail around Gu Mengmeng’s waist and with his devoted long eyes, he pointed at Elvis and scolded, “It’s all your fault, why did you scare Sandy without a reason? Look, you’ve made Mengmeng angry, are you still not going to apologize?”

Elvis’s face darkened. Looking at Lea shifting the blame, he clenched his teeth but eventually, still lowered his head and said, “I was wrong...”

Gu Mengmeng did not probe this matter anymore as she held Sandy’s little hand, asking her, “Besides Ellie, how do you feel about the other new females in the tribe?”

Sandy thought for a moment and replied, “They’re all quite good. Complete females are originally very rare, so it’s already very good for a tribe to have one to two of them. So many of them have arrived in Saint Nazaire in one go, just looking at it makes me happy~”

Chapter 487 - Which Woman Is Not Like That?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Gu Mengmeng asked, “They were all The First Beauty of their own tribes so it’s hard for them to not be spoiled. Did they bully you and Maya by claiming themselves as complete females?”

Sandy shook her head and said, “Sigh, it’s quite weird. They’re all clearly complete females, but their personalities are all so good. Especially the First Beauty you picked, she always smiles at me and talks in an amicable manner whenever she sees me. Yeah....it’s a little strange, they looked like they’re imitating you.”

Gu Mengmeng was dumbfounded but the next moment, she suddenly understood.

In their eyes, they probably saw her, the messenger of the Beast Deity, as an idol star and celebrity, just like how modern little girls fangirl, right?

Yeah, give me an XX nose and XX chin of the same brand.

In this Beast World where they did not sell any noses or chins of the same brand, they could only pick up the same temper, right?

It’s possible too, if the females here could learn from her, it would make interaction with them a delightful one at least. But she did not know how long could they last.

Talking about Mandy, Gu Mengmeng suddenly thought of something and she hurriedly took a bamboo cup from her pocket and gave it to Sandy. “Here, it’s for you.”

Sandy received the cup and was extremely elated. She smiled and questioned, “Huh? Isn’t this the cup you gave the First Beauty? I have it too?”

Gu Mengmeng hooked Sandy’s little face and said, “In my eyes, you’re the First Beauty, no one else can compare to you.”

Gu Mengmeng did not finish her words when she felt a strength on her waist before her entire being was carried up by Lea. Without any form of communication, he and Elvis trapped her in between them in great teamwork and walked towards the main venue of the night campfire party. They said as they walked, “The set-up of the venue is almost done, you’ve to go over and decide where to display the item from earlier.”

In common consensus, Collin also carried Sandy up as he and Bode trapped her in between them before walking back. He said, “Look, how busy the mighty messenger is. You can’t always create trouble her. Let’s return home first and find a place to put this cup or else it’s no use crying if it goes missing later on.”

When the two females finally came to realize that they were forcefully separated, one was at the venue while the other was in the cave.

Gu Mengmeng knew that those two fellows were jealous and blamed her for giving them the cold-shoulder when she saw Sandy and chatted with her non-stop.

But which woman is not like that? There are always endless topics to talk about between bosom friends....

Gu Mengmeng peeked at ‘the item’ Lea was talking about and laughed. “This is called a drum, it’s a musical instrument over at our world. I learned how to make it from an old uncle who sold souvenirs when I was working at the theme park. But my skills are not good so it’s very different from the one the old uncle makes. This can forcefully be used.”

Lea used the wooden mallet that Gu Mengmeng made previously to hit the surface of the drum and chuckled. “Perform the song you played before later, it makes one's blood boil with indignation upon listening to it. I think that it suits the atmosphere a lot today."

Gu Mengmeng received the drum sticks and played with it in her hands, saying, "I did that to help Sandy and Collin liven up the atmosphere previously so that's why I went all out with my throat. Today...since we're welcoming the newcomers, I'll go all out once more."

Lea smiled and nodded his head before asking, "Then, what's the second song you're singing?"

Gu Mengmeng said, "Since Collin had already mated with Sandy, why would there be a second song? One song is enough to warm the crowd up."

Lea appeared disappointed as he said, "I thought that you will sing a song for me.....at least, I've officially become your family member."

Chapter 488 - Is An Internal Conflict Starting?

Gu Mengmeng frowned and asked, “I’ve to sing ‘My Little Happiness’ again? I already have a mental trauma from it....”

Lea shook his head and replied, “You’re not allowed to sing that song in the future.”

Elvis hugged onto Gu Mengmeng’s waist and said, “You just have to sing one song, don’t tire yourself out.”

Lea did not insist any further as he said, “Who’s going to help you carry the drum? Me or Elvis?”

Gu Mengmeng could strongly feel the pressure both sides gave her....

Is an... internal conflict starting? Are they going to snatch this kind of physical labor job too?

For the harmony of her family, Gu Mengmeng suggested, “Both of you will help me lift that drum up to stabilize it, alright?”

Elvis and Lea both nodded their heads, not saying anything else.

During sunset, when the crimson red light filled half of the skies, Gu Mengmeng instructed her tribesmen to smear the oil extracted from the animal fats on a few large pieces of wood. Then, she lightly pointed the fire in her hands and instantly, the wooden pile with the height of a person started burning in flames. Gu Mengmeng turned around and lifted the fire high up, giving a loud cheer. Right after, Elvis led all the males into howling towards the heavens, creating a magnificent sight.

Gu Mengmeng did not change her clothes because she did not intend on performing at all. However, she eventually agreed because she did not want to reject Lea. Her cloak and shorts were thrown away to god knows where and she could not find them anywhere so Gu Mengmeng could only wear her usual clothes while standing on the drum. Although it was pretty weird, the good thing was that...in the standards of the Beast World, which part of Gu Mengmeng was not weird? Thus, that piece of clothing did not appear very important.

Elvis and Lea lifted the drum up steadily while Gu Mengmeng sang and danced on it. Although her movements were clearly not her best as compared to the previous time when she helped Collin proposing, it was already stunning enough for those who just joined Saint Nazaire and were witnessing this performance for the first time.

Soon after, Gu Mengmeng screamed at the top of her lungs, “A ripping sound————!” At the same time, Collin stood up and evolved into his bear form, crazily punching his chest with both his hands before looking up in the skies and howling in madness.

It was just the time of a breath when the original tribesmen from Saint Nazaire realized the situation before they evolved into their beast forms, howling fiercely to coordinate well with Collin.

The new tribesmen were also influenced as they learned from them and evolved into their beast forms too, raising their heads while howling at the top of their voice.

This behavior became a ceremony of Saint Nazaire after this round and when new tribesmen joined them every year, Gu Mengmeng would sing ‘Aliens’ before the messenger’s guards lead the parade of howling at the heavens.

It was said that, “After howling at the heavens together, we’re a family.”

But, Gu Mengmeng was completely dumbfounded.

What had carelessly screaming as they wish and becoming a family got to do with each other? Was there scientific backing? For example after shouting loudly, would the broken DNA result in the genes regrouping and a family forming?

The person who added fuel to the flame of this ceremony was Lea. The explanation he gave was, “The howling sounds that the males give off with all their might would be transmitted to the mighty Beast Deity who came to hear the messenger sing. The mighty Beast Deity will then hear of their unity and they will become the acknowledged fellow tribesmen of the messenger.”

Gu Mengmeng shrugged her shoulders and thought to herself, “This must definitely be him talking nonsense but.....the people in the Beast World all believed him... all believed him.....believed him.....him....”

Gu Mengmeng was supposed to make a motivating speech after Lea and Elvis slowly place the drum down while the crowd was howling loudly. Then, they could start something like a meat-roasting frenzy but all of these suddenly changed when the howling stopped abruptly.

The drum leaned towards one side and Gu Mengmeng clearly felt herself falling towards that side. She looked in that direction instinctively and noticed Lea’s face turning pale white, perspiration dotting all over his forehead. Even though he wanted to support himself with all his might, he eventually could not hold on as he tilted and fell to the ground.....

Chapter 489 - Sudden Change

“Lea!” Gu Mengmeng stretched her hand out to grab onto Lea worriedly but to no avail. The drum fell to the ground, giving off a loud ‘gong’ before rolling towards one side.

Gu Mengmeng thought that she would fall together with the drum but a strength as strong as iron tightly encircled her waist, holding her body in place firmly.

Raising her head, she met eyes with Elvis’s dark blue eyes.

His brows were tightly furrowed and his sweat dropped like a rainfall. He was clearly in so much agony but was still trying to press on.

“Hubby... what’s wrong? What’s wrong with all of you?” Gu Mengmeng completely did not know what was happening and she could only hold onto Elvis’s shoulders with both her hands, staring right into his eyes.

Elvis’s whole body was shivering but he could still control his strength as he placed Gu Mengmeng down onto the ground slowly. Clenching his teeth, he squeezed out some words from the gaps of his teeth, “Don’t run off..... danger.....”

Then, he lied on the ground as if something was squashing him. No matter how much strength he exerted, he could not sit up straight.

This scene....

Is so familiar.

It resembled the scene where others could not sit up straight after Elvis emitted his beast pressure.

Gu Mengmeng stood up and scanned her surroundings but she realized that she was the only one standing. Many orcs were so affected by the beast pressure until they could not maintain their human forms and even those few who had some strength could not get off the ground just like Elvis.

“Arhwoo arhwoo arhwoo....!”

A familiar howl tugged onto Gu Mengmeng’s heart. She turned to look towards the direction of the sound and it was Hede and his brothers.

The four little rascals were trapped in tree vines and were being pulled out of the tribe by someone.

Gu Mengmeng could not care much about Elvis’s instruction as she darted off and chased after them.

But her speed was too slow. When she reached the boundaries of the tribe, Hede and his brothers had long disappeared.

“Hede!” Gu Mengmeng shouted at the top of her voice, “Chixuan! Jialue! Kanwu!”

None of her kids replied her....

Gu Mengmeng plopped onto the ground, her brain exploding with a boom.

She’s such a fing useless messenger of the Beast Deity, she could do nothing but nail-biting under this kind of situation!

Gu Mengmeng knew that crying could not help with anything but all she could do was stand rooted to the spot, not knowing which direction to head to.

“Come up.” A familiar voice rang. Gu Mengmeng raised her head and saw Ian standing in front of her in his half-orc form with his wings spread out, ready to fly anytime. His forehead was dotted with perspiration and clearly, he was so affected by the beast pressure until he had difficulty breathing. A wound on his leg with blood gushing out wrenched one’s heart but Gu

Mengmeng did not have much time to care for him as she leaped onto Ian's back instantly.

When Ian caught Gu Mengmeng, he evolved into his eagle-owl form and flapped his wings, flying into the skies.

The higher he flew, the more stable his condition was. After circling for a few rounds, he started flying towards a direction.

At this alarming height, Gu Mengmeng was almost blind even though her eyes were wide open. She could not see anything. Other than the sound of wind blowing into her ears, none of her other five senses were in use. Now, the only thing she could rely on was the Ian she was riding on.

After flying for two days, Gu Mengmeng and Ian reached Sauder.

Standing in front of Sauder's entrance, Gu Mengmeng was already stuck in a blank state. After two days of flying without any sleep or rest, Ian and Gu Mengmeng were completely drained. The only support Gu Mengmeng had was the belief of saving her sons.

"Are Hede and his brothers here?" Gu Mengmeng asked Ian.

Ian shook his head and said with a weak voice, "When we took off, Hede and his brothers had already disappeared."

Chapter 490 - Calling Reinforcements From Sauder

“Then why did you bring me here?” Gu Mengmeng growled at him hysterically, her tears falling down like rainfall uncontrollably.

Ian supported Gu Mengmeng from her shoulders while trying his best to hold on as he said, “For your wolf cubs, you have to maintain your composure.”

Gu Mengmeng forced her tears back in and stared at Ian stubbornly. She kept reminding herself to be strong because her sons were still waiting for her to save them.

Ian breathed in deeply and said, “The orc who’s able to suppress the entire Saint Nazaire with his beast pressure is at least a fifth-level orc and he’s not the one who just reached fifth-level. He’s either in the middle of fifth-level or even the peak. Under this kind of situation, both of us alone can’t bring the wolf cubs away. We need reinforcements.....fifth-level.....fifth-level....”

Ian could not hold on anymore. Without completing his sentence, his whole body tilted and he fell next to Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng held onto Ian and tried to force herself to remain calm. At the same time, she repeated Ian’s words, “Fifth-level... fifth-level orc? The fifth-level orc I know of.....reinforcements.....Cole!”

Gu Mengmeng suddenly understood what Ian meant. The only fifth-level orc she knew of who was willing to help her and had the ability to was Cole.

Gu Mengmeng supported Ian up with all her might as she walked towards Sauder with each step in difficulty.

When she walked to the plaque, she saw Cole rushing to welcome her while leading a crowd behind him.

“Cole and my fellow tribesman from Sauder welcomes the mighty messenger.” Cole stood three steps away from Gu Mengmeng and placed one knee on the floor, his right hand over his left chest while giving a bow.

Gu Mengmeng did not have Ian’s confidence. When she left Sauder, she was not that friendly to Cole and because of Lea, she was extremely wary against Cole and was quite rude in her tone too.

Back then, she boasted about never coming back to Sauder again. She wanted to establish Saint Nazaire as a new messenger’s tribe blah blah blah.....

Now....would he still be willing to help her?

She bit her lower lip. For her sons, what was the shame? Even if Cole requested her to lie on the ground and bark like a dog for him to provide aid, she would only ask whether he wanted her to bark like a Pekingese or a Teddy!

“Cole.....help me.” Gu Mengmeng’s eyes watered and just from those three words, her tears started dropping.

Cole frowned and stood up, passing Ian over to his people. Then, he said, “Seems like you’re overly-fatigued. Come over to the stone house and settle down to recuperate first.”

His people did not say anything else and directly carried Ian away.

Cole then turned around to gently wipe away the tears on Gu Mengmeng’s face. Frowning, he said, “Sauder is the messenger’s tribe. We are your loyal servants. Cole will definitely execute any order from you. So, mighty messenger, don't cry. You're our God. If you cry, we won't know what to do."

Gu Mengmeng wiped away her tears and glanced at Cole with a grateful gaze. "Someone kidnapped my sons. I don't know who the culprit is. He used his beast pressure to suppress everybody in Saint Nazaire so Ian suspected that the culprit is at least a fifth-level orc. The only fifth-level orc I know of is you.....can you help me save my sons?"

Cole lightly hugged onto Gu Mengmeng and comforted her while patting her back, "The mighty messenger's sons are the sons of God and Sauder's little masters. Those who dare to hurt them is also slaughtering Sauder! Mighty messenger, don't worry, I'll help you save back our little masters. Don't be scared, don't be scared!"

Chapter 491 - I Just Hope That You Need Not Experience This Kind Of Thing Again

The next few days, Gu Mengmeng was protected in a building located in the heart of Sauder. Gu Mengmeng then realized that Cole was not the only fifth-level orc in Sauder. There were three of them.

The three of them took turns to guard by Gu Mengmeng's side to prevent the kidnapper of the little wolves from attacking Gu Mengmeng. The other two would make use of all their connections to search for the location of the little wolves.

It was the third day, Gu Mengmeng had been here for three days already.

Cole pulled his fatigue body into Gu Mengmeng's room. After exchanging information with the one on duty yesterday, the person immediately left the room and continued his search for a job. Cole, on the other hand, walked to Gu Mengmeng and knelt on the ground. Frowning, he used his hoarse voice to speak, "Mighty messenger, please don't worry. No news.....is perhaps the best news."

Gu Mengmeng looked up at Cole. No matter how much she disliked Cole, she already noticed his caved-in cheeks and dark eye circles.

"It has been hard on you.....these past three days." Gu Mengmeng was pretty guilty. She was the one who lost her sons but all she could do now was to sit in her room, waiting for others to search for her sons. She could not help in anything, the only thing she could do was to not create more trouble.

Cole smiled and said, "Being able to service the mighty messenger is Sauder's honor. It's also my honor for you to be able to think of me when you're facing trouble."

Gu Mengmeng cast her glance outside the window and asked with a toneless voice, "Where's Ian? Is he not awake yet?"

Cole answered, "He woke up this morning. Although he was very weak, he still flew away."

Gu Mengmeng turned to look at Cole as she asked, "Flew away?"

Cole nodded and said, "He said he would return to Saint Nazaire to report your situation to mighty Elvis and mighty Lea so that they would not worry too much."

Gu Mengmeng nodded, feeling disconsolate internally.

She ran away in a moment of flurry because of her children. Elvis and Lea must have went mad because they could not find her.

She gently touched her collarbone. There was a black wolf printed there. She recalled how Elvis mentioned that he would rush to her if she punched the mark hard when she was faced with danger.

If she did not punch it, Elvis would at least understand that she was safe, right?

Cole was still maintaining his kneeling position by Gu Mengmeng's feet. He raised his head and stared into Gu Mengmeng's eyes, saying, "Mighty messenger, do you miss mighty Elvis a lot?"

Gu Mengmeng nodded her head and replied, "They must be very worried since I suddenly disappeared."

They....

Cole smiled. "Seems like mighty Lea's also very important in your heart."

Gu Mengmeng nodded and replied, "They're my family members, of course they're very important."

Cole nodded while smiling. "I, as his older brother, is happy for him to be highly valued by the mighty messenger. When the little masters returns, please let mighty Elvis and mighty Lea stay in Sauder. After all.....it's safer here, we can prevent these kinds of things from happening again."

Gu Mengmeng met eyes with Cole's pupils and asked, "Is this your term for helping me find my sons?"

Cole shook his head and replied, "Cole will never raise terms with the mighty messenger. This is just Cole's suggestion. You look too haggard now, it really breaks one's heart.....I just hope that you need not experience this kind of thing again."

Chapter 492 - Rescuing Chixuan, Cole Seriously Injured

Gu Mengmeng did not react to Cole's suggestion so from that day onwards, Cole did not raise that matter again.

After another three days, when Cole staggered into Gu Mengmeng's room, his whole body tainted with blood, Gu Mengmeng was given a huge shock.

Cole walked with unsteady steps towards Gu Mengmeng before kneeling one knee on the floor, holding a ball of blood in his hands. He handed it to Gu Mengmeng and raised his blood-smeared face, saying with the corners of his lips curving upwards, "I brought back the little.....little master..... for you...."

A blood-red mark crept from his eyelashes down to the ground following his forehead, just like a blood tear.

Gu Mengmeng took the blood-tainted ball of flesh from Cole with shaky hands. Without having the time to look at it in detail, Cole collapsed beside Gu Mengmeng.

Gu Mengmeng was so shocked till she was seized with panic as the people guarding by her door hurriedly entered. When they made sure no enemies intruded the room, they then heaved a sigh of relief and said, "Mighty messenger don't worry, we'll carry leader Cole out now."

Gu Mengmeng stared at Cole who was covered in blood and then glanced at the ball of blood in her own hands before instructing, "It's fine, call the witch doctor over and boil some water too."

"Yes."

The people in Sauder had never raised any objection towards Gu Mengmeng's orders, they just executed them.

Not long later, the witch doctor, Dylan, arrived with hurried steps. Once he entered the room, he checked Gu Mengmeng first and after making sure that she was alright, he heaved a sigh of relief before starting to treat Cole.

The orcs guarding by the entrance sent in some boiled water which Gu Mengmeng used to properly clean the ball of blood in her arms. After basins and basins of clear water was tainted full with blood, the ball of blood finally showed his original appearance.

“Chixuan?” Even if he was quietly not moving an inch with his eyes closed, Gu Mengmeng could still clearly identify which son she was carrying.

“Baby, it’s Mother.” Gu Mengmeng tried to suppress her tears as she wiped Chixuan’s little body with a beast-skin. She called softly, “Good Xuan, don’t scare Mother, hurry and open your eyes to look at Mother, alright?”

No matter how much she called, Chixuan lied there, not moving a single inch. If not for his thumping pulse, Gu Mengmeng would have suspected that her son was dead.

She checked Chixuan’s body in detail. There was no obvious wound, so the blood did not belong to him but instead.....it was Cole’s.

Gu Mengmeng walked to Dylan with Chixuan in her arms. She asked, “How’s Cole?”

Dylan shook his head and said, “I don’t know what kind of enemy has the ability to beat up leader Cole this seriously. He broke nine bones and have countless external injuries. The most grave one is this tear on his stomach. I can even see his internal organs and this wound is turning black.....just like he was poisoned.”

Most of the blood on Cole’s body had been washed away, but the wound was too big. Just when they finished wiping off the old blood, new blood would instantly flow out. The beast-skin on the bed was already soaked thoroughly. Judging from this situation, it would be strange if he did not die.

Gu Mengmeng asked Dylan, “Do you have the antidote?”

Dylan looked at Cole’s wound and thought it over. “This poison is not a strong one. With leader Cole’s ability, he should be able to digest it himself. The main problem is to stop the blood now. If the blood can’t be stopped.....I’m afraid he can’t be saved.”

Gu Mengmeng handed Chixuan to Dylan and said, “Help me check him too. Let me try to treat.....Cole’s injury.”

Dylan carried Chixuan over and walked to a nearby table to start checking his body while Gu Mengmeng called someone over to prepare some fish bone needles and washed animal intestines.

Chapter 493 - Is This The Happiness He Always Have?

Gu Mengmeng had some theoretical solutions.

But if you were to say practical solutions.....she only observed how Lea sewed up the wound on Sandy's partner Adali before. But now, Lea's not around and if she just leave the wound alone, Cole would definitely die.

With shaky hands, Gu Mengmeng tried to suppress the terror in her heart while using one hand to hold his flesh and the other hand to start sewing.
